Glitter IS THE NEW BLACK

Twinkling Has Never Been More Trendy

BY KATY DANOS

Sequins, sparkles, and all things shiny—the glitter trend is here to stay. From delicate twinkles to serious swarovski, shimmer and sheen go with everything. Dazzling embellishments and smoldering crystals bring glorious glam to accessories and decor like never before. It's a case of disco ball fever and the temperature's rising.

TABLETOP DESIGN BY KATY DANOS + TOM CIANFICHI

There's an art to planning a perfect dinner party guest list and the same can be said for setting an imaginative table. It's all about that elusive magical mix of old and new with tried and true, accented with something unexpected. For Hanukkah, a stunning tablescape is created by blending several patterns of fine china and crystal with a menagerie of Herend porcelain animals collected over a lifetime. The grand William Yeoward cobalt centerpiece, festival of candles and lights, and elegant touches of silver and gold infuse layers of family history into a special holiday evening. With Great Aunt Jane's Tiffany silverware and Waterford champagne flutes from the in-laws, you can rest assured—the conversation is guaranteed to be lively!

For a charming children's Christmas table, go with the mantra "if you build it, they will come." It's amazing how well children behave when they feel invited rather than banished. The key is to set the little darlings up for success. Melamine dishes, wipeable linens and acrylic "fancy" glasses allow the tots to practice their manners without breaking things along the way. Use your sterling salad forks, teaspoons, and butter knives to scale things down to size and go with unbreakable but intriguing decorations such as whimsical felt mice and dramatic faux candlelight. A simple game of eye spy should help keep the volume down and don't be surprised to find an adult or two at the kid's table. You know the conversation is bound to be better!

TRIM YOUR TREE IN STYLE

BY KATY DANOS
PHOTOS BY SARA ESSEX BRADLEY
STYLED BY TOM CIANFICHI

The holidays are all about tradition and at Hazelnut, the shop I own with Bryan Batt and Tom Cianfichi, there are some we hold quite dear. We go to Commander's Palace every Christmas Eve to salute the end of the shopping season and we help each other get holiday decorations up at our homes before the madness even begins. It's a fun way to share some time with our fellow "nuts" as we deck and bedazzle our own halls.

Tom is a stickler about the lights—two thousand nine hundred fifty, to be exact, are on their tree. He carefully wraps each branch from the inside out and I have to give it to him; it's pretty spectacular. A lifetime of ornaments, each with a special story, are sorted and placed with great care. Bryan's grandmother's Tyrolean spheres, Broadway divas, Liza and Babs from the Broadway Cares fundraisers and the brand new Radko Santa we designed for the Tricentennial are all part of this big happy family. Of course, there are sentimental ones like Lumiere, a role Bryan played on Broadway, and many Place an assortment of larger solid balls deep within the tree to create a layered backdrop for all of the specialty ornaments to take center stage.

REVAMP YOUR WREATH

LOCAL STYLE MAKERS SHOW US HOW

BY KATY DANOS | PHOTOS BY JOSHUA BRASTED

Wreaths have a long history of symbolizing new growth, unity, and everlasting life. Without a single word, this beautiful decoration speaks volumes. Whether traditionally fashioned from winter foliage, ribbons, iced cones, and berries or totally personalized with a favorite theme or design, this holiday decoration welcomes friends, old and new, to your home. Four local style makers show us imaginative and inspirational ideas that are sure to deliver the season's festive spirit of community straight to your door.

CYNTHIA KOLLS | ARTIST ►

Cynthia Kolls is known for her whimsical and colorful artwork that is inspired by the joie de vivre so prominently on display in New Orleans. She cut her wreath design from MDF fiberboard, then sanded and primed it for a celebration of shotgun houses which she painted with enthusiastic detail. A close-knit neighborhood of houses completes this custom piece.

While they may share lofty haint blue porch ceilings and tall slat shutters, each home has a different holiday style. Even so, I imagine these neighbors come together to celebrate the season

-CYNTHIA KOLLS

KENDRA FRANCE | DESIGNER ►

A rustic wreath of grapevines gets the glam treatment from Kendra France when she decorates it with sparkly ornaments, gold angels, and custom holiday paper coasters from her daughter's new store, Hilltop Shoppe. Co-owners Mary-Martin France and Rosalind Jenkins have decked their halls with happy treats that are easily incorporated into holiday decor. It's a great idea for mixing children's handmade ornaments with fancy ribbon, and is customizable year after year with your own family favorites.

A wreath is a welcoming symbol that sets the tone for the space you enter. We wanted ours to be cheerful and classic with a modern touch.

RON CARRIER | LIFESTYLE BLOGGER

Kaki Foley's paper feathers and mixed media door boughs are loosely fleur de lis-shaped and deeply rooted in New Orleans sentiment. She scours second hand shops and estate sales for ordinary images and materials that can be repurposed into extraordinary works of art. She adds bits of gilt and pieces of ribbon and twine that elevate humble papers into sophisticated things of beauty.

I love the spirit of the holiday season where love, mystery, and wonder are celebrated. I find these qualities in nature which is sacred to me and in our inspirational city so rich in history.

-KAKI FOLEY

Each wreath I create is not only symbolic of the season but is a statement of hospitality that welcomes our guests and brings good cheer to every passerby. It's important to me!

-RON CARRIER

In keeping with his signature magical-forest style, Ron Carrier's wreath is all about natural elements. His holiday wreath features gilded magnolia leaves and faux sprigs of cedar, pine, and cypress accented with pheasant feathers, antlers, and red berries. It's the perfect mix of relaxed elegance with regal touches. Handsome, warm, and wonderful, the wreath welcomes friends all season long.

LOCAL NOLA

FIVE NEW ORLEANS ARTISANS YOU NEED TO KNOW

BY KATY DANOS

New Orleans is like no other American city—it is steeped in a cultural heritage that crosses generations and draws inspiration from so many diverse groups of people. In such a rich environment, it's no wonder that creativity abounds. There's joy in every artistic expression from music, to food, to a second line, or a parade. We're unabashed about our devotion to the Crescent City and equally proud of our home-grown talent.

BENE HANDBAGS

OWNER | ELEANOR SCHWING

Designer Eleanor Schwing brings passion to her collection of luxury handbags that are crafted in Italy of the finest vegetable-tanned leathers she hand selects. The classically-inspired designs are lined with avant-garde fabrics made from original artwork by local female artists. It's a celebration we are accustomed to here—elegance meets a bit of homegrown funk. With beautiful hardware and luxurious details, these statement bags are meant to last a lifetime.

Sisters-in-law, Allison and Julie Hoffman developed a krewé of natural nail polishes that are vegan and free of harsh chemicals. The long-lasting lacquers come in an array of on-trend hues as well as the classics that locals adore. Their "little bottles of joy" come with clever names New Orleanians love—red dress run, neutral ground, and hot sauce—and the mini snowball shades for tweens are the perfect stocking stuffer.

We're capturing the passion we have for the Crescent City in little bottles of wearable art.

KARIN BURT CERAMICS

OWNER | KARIN BURT

Karin Burt was born in London and trained and worked there for many years, but it was here as a young student at NOCCA that she first fell in love with ceramics. She lives in New Orleans now, running her own business and teaching beginners as well as advanced potters her craft. Karin throws on the wheel as well as hand-builds vessels, and her works of art feature charming shapes and stunning glazes—simply beautiful.

Everyone is looking for something special during the holidays. I love to make gifts that have a practical use as well as being beautiful in the home.

KAT KING TAPESTRIES

OWNER | KAT KING

As a small child, Kat King's mother taught her to crochet and she grew up loving yarn, fabric, and textiles. She appreciated everything about the craft—the process of creating art and perfecting each and every stitch. Nicknamed the Crochet Queen, Kat went on to teach herself how to weave on a loom, something she finds immensely rewarding. She sells her finished works in her Etsy shop and also produces custom pieces upon request.

The amazing festivals, art markets, and culture-rich city influences my work. It's inspiring to be around so many talented and diverse artists. I'm living my dream.

THE HOLIDAY Spirits

Three local bartenders share seasonal cocktails of their own creation

BY MISSY WILKINSON | PHOTOS BY JOSHUA BRASTED

Trim the tree, wrap the gifts, and roll out the bar cart—cocktails are the ideal vehicle for the season's scents and flavors. "Holiday drinks are super special, because they're tied to nostalgia," says Abigail Gullo, head bartender at Compère Lapin. "It's a wonderful thing to make these drinks for people, because you give them a taste of home."

Here are three unique holiday cocktails created by bartenders at the city's finest watering holes. Mix up a drink (or all three), and have yourself a merry little time.

COMPÈRE LAPIN

► 535 Tchoupitoulas St

1

Spearmint and pine needle flavors mingle in a sweetened, blended sherry that tastes the way a ski lodge feels after an afternoon on the slopes. Though this alpine scene might seem foreign to New Orleanians, Drew Gosslin created the drink with nods to the Vieux Carre—which includes the name. "Maison Blanche is the classic, iconic department store on Canal Street that created the Christmas legend for New Orleans," Gosslin says.

MAISON BLANC

1.5 OZ. TIFFON XO FINE CHAMPAGNE COGNAC
 .5 OZ. EAST INDIA SOLERO SHERRY
 .5 OZ. ZIRBENZ STONE PINE LIQUEUR
 .25 OZ. DOLIN GENÉPY DES ALPES

Stir all ingredients in a beaker and strain into a Nick and Nora glass. Garnish with a rosemary sprig.

EFFERVESCENCE

► 1036 N Rampart St

2

Hot drinks go hand-in-hand with the holidays, but in subtropical New Orleans, when the air conditioner might be blasting well into December, beverages themselves must sometimes supply the frost. “Instead of drinking a hot cup of coffee in a cozy sweater, I thought people might enjoy a cold brew beverage,” says bartender Vivienne Dersin, who created the drink. Pecan and chocolate add notes of festive flavor. Bottoms up!

CAFÉ OLE

1.5 OZ. REPOSADO TEQUILA

1 OZ. COLD BREWED COFFEE

.5 OZ. SFMATO AMARO

.5 OZ. PECAN SYRUP

3 DASHES OF CHOCOLATE BITTERS

CREMANT DE BOURGOGNE

SPARKLING WINE

Combine all ingredients except the sparkling wine and shake in a shaker. Pour into a coupe glass and top with Cremant de Bourgogne. Garnish with three coffee beans.

BALISE

► 640 Carondelet St

Jesse Carr created his cocktail with a holiday feel in mind. “It’s basically an eggnog variation,” says Carr, bar director at Balise. “The spices themselves—cinnamon with a smoke aspect lingering in the background—make me think of having coffee and cinnamon cake on Christmas morning.”

P.S. For everyone who’s squeamish about mixing a raw egg into your cocktail, Carr has the following advice: “The egg is the perfect vessel, so there’s only a .001 percent chance something could go wrong. Once you add alcohol, it kills any enzyme that could have lived in there.”

BALISE NAVIDAD

.75 OZ. DEL MAGUEY VIDA
CINNAMON-INFUSED MEZCAL
.75 OZ. HOODOO CHICORY LIQUEUR
.5 OZ. BENEDICTINE HERBAL LIQUEUR
.75 OZ. HEAVY CREAM
1 EGG
A GENEROUS 1/4 OZ. ORGEAT

Combine all ingredients and dry-shake them (no ice) in a shaker. Add ice and shake again. Strain into a small, stemmed wine glass. Top with grated almonds or cinnamon.

Feathers & FUR

FEEL THE FLUFF

BY KATY DANOS

There's power in the plumes and fun in the fur. Whether faux or real and in colors not found in nature, feathers and fur are the accessory and trim to fly right with this season. It's unexpected, fabulous, and flirty. Uber feminine, fresh, and frivolous, exaggerated downy details are everywhere from shoes, to handbags, to jewelry. And fur will always be sensuous, sophisticated, and solid. Indulge your inner old-school hollywood fancy or amp up your glamour quotient with an irreverent nod to playful and strong elements of style in home decor, fashion, and accessories. Back to nature has never been this posh!
