VISIT PORTLAND VISIT PEOPLE

*Greater Portland is a metro area of people.
Some come to work, some to play,
some to meet, some to stay.*

COLLEEN FRANCKE Lobsterman

My favorite thing about Portland (other than the fact that it is a waterfront town) is that it is pretty hip and vibrant, unexpectedly so. You really get the sense that people believe in keeping things local here. I love going out to the many islands in Casco Bay—there's always somewhere new to explore. It is so wonderful living next to this natural resource! I moved from Cape Cod to go to Maine College of Art. But being born and raised by the water, it was only a matter of time before I found myself headed back to sea. I began working in aquaculture with one of the local "sea farms" in Casco Bay, and haven't left since. Now I lobster [for Linda Kate Lobster] year-round and I am in the process of building my own oyster and kelp farm. Besides the natural beauty, I stay here because of the community itself. There's a lot of activity around the arts, local farm-based restaurants, and tourism. On or off the water, this is a great place to be.

KIFAH ABDULLA
Artist / Poet

I consider myself equally a poet and an artist, but large-scale paintings, eight feet or larger, are my passion! I also teach Arabic Calligraphy as an art form at Maine College of Art. I moved directly to Portland as a refugee from Iraq because my two sons are here—now it's my new hometown. I was a prisoner of the Iraq-Iran war for eight years. I became a U.S. citizen on September 16, 2011 and enjoy Greater Portland because of the people, the painting, and writing, and that it is a small city—a visitor can walk easily and discover many interesting things in one place. We have the Arts District centered on Congress Street with the Portland Museum of Art, the Children's Museum and Theatre of Maine, galleries, Portland Public Library, theaters etc. Incredible bars and restaurants put Portland among the top U.S. cities. And of course, I love the beautiful geography and climate.

GREG JUKINS
Deckhand

I can see why visitors come—Greater Portland is a good pace because there's a lot going on, but it is always changing. Visitors are amazed how compact everything is... there's lots to do so close by and everyone is friendly. The water is my favorite thing about this area. I am from upstate New York, outside Albany, where we don't have water like this—I love the ocean! I first came here to attend Bates College. After I graduated I started working at Casco Bay Lines, and once a full time position opened up, I took it. The pace is perfect... if it was always busy or always slow it wouldn't be enjoyable, but the seasonal visitors keep it fun. I work a lot. But in my spare time I'm outdoors playing soccer or at the beach. My favorite island in the harbor is Long Island because it is nice and quiet, it's a great place to walk around, and there's a nice beach most people don't know about.

KATE ALDRICH
Mezzo-soprano

Audiences in Greater Portland are so enthusiastic and have such appreciation for classical music, which makes it a pleasure to work here, beyond being able to work at home (which in my field is a luxury!). As a freelance opera singer, I travel around the world, and after years based between Rome, Italy and New York, my husband and I decided to "come home" to Maine for our daughter. It's nice to be able to absorb all that Portland offers without having to deal with insane traffic, subway crowds, and packed streets. Yet, we are strangely busier living here than in the larger cities. I think most are surprised that for such a small metro area, Portland is so progressive, with many aspects that you could only hope to find in a big city—you can get around town with ease, but you have the amazing restaurants, shops, and experiences that usually only a big city affords.

MBONIMPA EARL-DADOU
Barista

I really like Portland and I do not see myself moving from here. I came here with my mom a year and half ago because Burundi was no longer safe. My sister, who came four years earlier, told me how great Portland is and I'm glad I decided to come. I am benefiting from the education that I am receiving here, and I'm honored to work at Coffee By Design, an amazing coffee shop! I love my work because I get the opportunity to serve and talk to a lot of wonderful customers. Most people are surprised by the weather—people come to Maine for skiing in winter. I like it, too! It was a game changer for me—I never knew snow before I moved here from Burundi. I enjoy listening to songs and dancing, and reading is also something I enjoy doing in my free time. Portland has the best coffee shops and so many beautiful things.

Greater Portland*

GREATER PORTLAND REGION

The bulk of this guide provides info on the towns between Scarborough and Freeport [map p. 86]. Fantastic excursions in other Maine regions are highlighted as well. [p. 74-81]

MAP LOCATIONS

Each business listing contains map references that indicate its position on one of the maps. Map 1 - Maine State [p. 85] Map 2 - Greater Portland Region [p. 86] Map 3 - Downtown Portland [Inside Back Cover]

WELCOME CENTERS

Call or visit our hospitality specialists—locals who can help you with your trip [p. 5].

POPULATION

Portland: 66,300

Maine's largest and most diverse city, with over 40 languages spoken.

Greater Portland: population of 270,000 (one-fifth of Maine's total population).

CLIMATE

Greater Portland's coastal climate provides milder temperatures in winter and summer than inland regions.

Spring: Average 45° - 60° F.

Summer: Average temp is 68° - 82° F, but can reach into the 90s F.

Autumn: Average 60° - 70° F, but can get cooler—be sure to pack a fleece.

Winter: Average 20° - 30° F but can get below 0° and into the 60s.

SNOW

Total average snowfall ranges between 60-90 inches per year, with only 18 days a winter when snowfall is more than 1 inch.

WHAT YOU SHOULD PACK

Summer: Lightweight clothes are comfortable, but bring your favorite bathing suit for the sunny days and a sweater for cooler evenings and refreshing ocean breezes.

Spring + Autumn: Rain jackets and sweaters/fleeces are advisable.

Winter: Boots (especially L.L. Bean!), flannel shirts, ski + snowboard winter jackets are always in style. While casual dress is prevalent throughout the region, top coats and cocktail dresses are also not uncommon for a night on the town.

SMOKING

TOBACCO: In Maine, public settings indoor and outdoor are smoke-free, including Portland-owned parks, playgrounds, athletic fields, trails, beaches, and open spaces. While 18 is the legal smoking age, patrons in many towns, including Portland, must be 21 to purchase tobacco products. Throwing tobacco litter on the ground is prohibited and results in a $100 fine. [smokefree.portlandmaine.gov]

MARIJUANA: In 2017, recreational use of marijuana became legal, however, smokers have to be at least 21 years old and it is prohibited to smoke in public.

NOTE: As of publication, there is still no legal way to buy or sell recreational marijuana.

ALCOHOL

Persons must be 21 years old to buy or consume alcoholic beverages. Hours of legal service are 6am-1am. Photo ID required. OUI laws are strictly enforced.

DIETARY NEEDS

The DINE grids [p. 37-40] identify restaurants that accommodate dietary preferences, including vegetarian and gluten-free meals as well as those with children's menus.

PETS

For pet friendly accommodations, refer to STAY grids. [p. 65, 67, 71, 73, 80-81]

ESSENTIALLY PORTLAND

Maine's largest metro area serves up the classic coast—lighthouses, lobsters, and surf crashing on the rocky shore—plus a vibrant arts scene, gourmet cuisine, and fabulous shopping and outdoor recreation.

ALL ABOARD!

Let the breeze set you free, as you explore Casco Bay by sea. No experience needed as guided tours venture out to explore the fortified islands in Portland Harbor on kayaks or paddle boards. You can charter a sailboat and even learn to sail if you want. Tours ship out of Portland's working waterfront so you can ride beside whales, glide alongside seals relaxing on sun-soaked rocks, behold lighthouses from a sailor's perspective, or dance on a festive party boat under the evening stars. Experience a working boat and haul sails or lobster traps with the crew. Or relax and take in the surrounding sea while enjoying Maine cuisine, pairing wines, or island hopping on America's longest operating mailboat. (More on pages 20-22, 25)

LIGHT UP

No less than six lighthouses line Portland Harbor to protect incoming ships from the area's famously rocky coast. The iconic beacons of Greater Portland are each unique representations of nautical history. Whether fashioned after Greek temples, attached to private homes, or having the distinction of being the first lighthouse commissioned by the U.S. government, these classic structures evoke a romantic sense of the sea.

Portland Head Light in Cape Elizabeth is one of the most picturesque cliff-side towers found anywhere, and its quintessential New England design makes it one of the most photographed lighthouses in the world.
(More on page 41)

CRAFTY CREATIONS

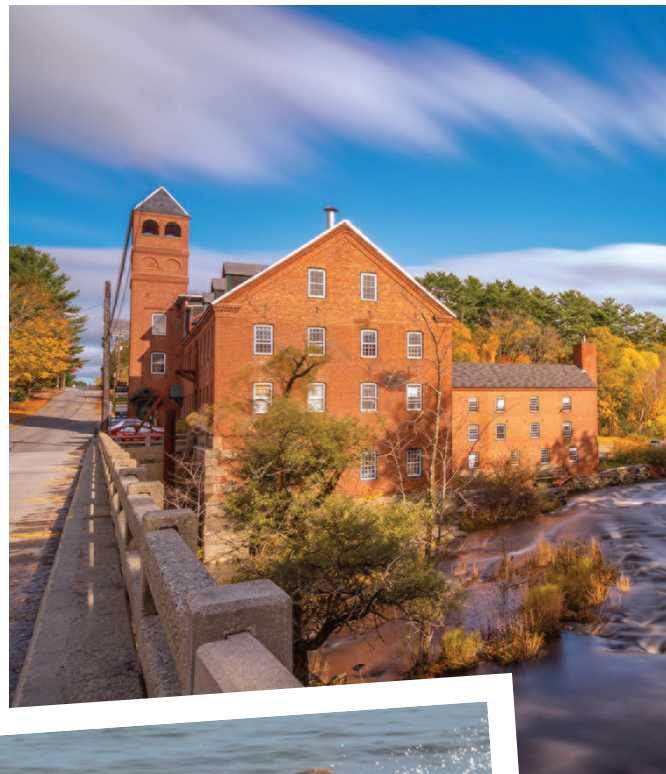

A visit to Vacationland isn't complete without exploring our craft breweries and distilleries. Try a beer flight, local wine, or spirit with a unique twist at any of Greater Portland's many alcohol-inspired businesses. Tasting rooms often have their own small plates or enticing food trucks to pair with favorite sips and suds.

It's exciting to catch a new batch in progress on a brewery or distillery tour. The region's manageable "micro" size allows for ease of travel and ability to explore a surprising variety of local craft drinks. Beer-themed bus and walking tours make indulging in the expansive selection of microbrews and local spirits thoroughly safe, as well as educational.
(More on pages 33, 35)

LOBSTER LOVE

Maine's famous crustacean is the sweetest, most flavorful lobster on earth. Due to an unimaginable overabundance, lobsters were once considered a poor man's meal and served as a regular staple to prisoners. And while lobsters used to wash up on shore in drifts two-feet tall, the once over-plentiful Homarus Americanus has become the succulent, most sought-after delicacy in Maine.

Satisfy your craving with a traditional or exotic lobster roll, dive into some rich lobster mac & cheese or creamy bisque, or savor an authentic Maine lobster dinner with baked potato and corn alongside a view of Casco Bay.
(More on restaurant grids pages 37-40 for who serves lobster rolls and/or dinners)

ARTS AROUND

Creativity in Greater Portland is bolstered by a thriving artistic economy and active patrons-of-the-arts, supporting Broadway-level theatre, two ballet companies, Opera Maine, Portland Symphony Orchestra, a Bach Festival, and dozens of acting and performing arts companies—even the aerial-silk elegance of Circus Maine’s acrobatics. Fine arts also dominate the landscape. Portland’s Arts District is bookended by the popular One Longfellow Square performance space in the West End, and the venerable Portland Museum of Art in Congress Square. Dozens of galleries and studios fill out the robust Arts District and open their doors in a festive celebration of the arts the first Friday of every month. (More on pages 18-20, 26-27)

HISTORY LIVES

Portland has kept its working waterfront, one of the oldest established seaports in the nation, a functioning port that welcomes visitors to witness one of the integral and thriving parts of the local economy. Five centuries of historical impact have shaped the city and surrounding towns into a vibrant destination with deep-planted roots, from the Colonial-era through the wealth and opulence of the Industrial Age. Museum homes and maritime museums chronicle the emergence of the region from a trading and fishing settlement into one of the nation’s most active seaports. Yet Portland, with a consistent attention to landmark preservation, has kept a down-to-earth charm and wears its history openly. (More on pages 22-23, 26-27, 41)

AFTER DARK

Maine’s largest metro area offers many exciting activities to get the party started—or keep one going. Fine dining amid the region’s celebrated culinary scene is a great way to begin any evening, especially during Maine Restaurant Week in March. Then move on to a variety of venues, from small performing arts spaces to venerable concert halls to theaters offering arts experiences spanning the traditional to the avant-garde. Those craving a specialty cocktail, a pounding night on the dance floor, or quiet, romantic banter can choose from dozens of area nightclubs, bars, and music halls. An overnight stay in downtown Portland will position you for a quick and safe walk home when it’s time for lights out. (More on pages 35-40, 42-48)

IN NATURE

Go 10 or 15 minutes in any direction and you'll doubt you're anywhere near Maine's largest metro area. Both surrounding and within Portland, parks and preserves allow access to the tranquil natural beauty Maine is renowned for. Pristine country and forest landscapes lie within striking distance of the city. Cross-country ski alongside the ocean. Discover native wildlife and plants as you canoe through the state's largest salt marsh. Tee off at a variety of courses open to visiting golfers, and pick apples, pumpkins, and berries at local farms. When you're out for a day of shopping, visiting museums and galleries, or touring historic sites, you're never far from places of pure, scenic beauty. Portland, Maine—Authentic By Nature.

GO COASTAL

Whether you are drawn to crashing surf on dramatic cliffs, lured by the lapping waves of expansive beaches, or hypnotized by the quiet tides of salt marshes, getting on or around the sea is de rigueur in Greater Portland. Enjoy the ocean from land while dining at waterfront lobster shacks and restaurants, swimming in a cove, strolling along scenic oceanside trails, even reading a book from the comfort of a hotel balcony, beach, or deck with a moaning fog horn in the background. For a sea change in excitement, get out on the water for sailing, fishing, kayaking, whale watching, or island hopping. Special waterside festivities include tug boat races, tall-ship regattas, and a holiday parade of lights. (More on pages 20-22, 41)

SHOP AROUND

Nationally renowned designers, gourmet chocolatiers, local artisans, and farm-to-table purveyors share downtown storefronts with national retailers in this eclectic city. Poke through shops and galleries lining the cobblestone streets of the Old Port. Maine's largest mall in South Portland is surrounded by well-known chains, and the shopping opportunities extend into neighboring Scarborough. Just 15 minutes north of Portland, a charming New England village belies the many upscale outlets that line Freeport's picturesque streets, including the flagship store of world-famous outdoor outfitter L.L.Bean, open 24 hours every day, 365 days a year. (More on pages 50-55)

ITINERARY

ONLY HAVE 3 HOURS

See a lighthouse! There are six to choose from in Portland Harbor. Portland Head Light in Fort Williams Park, Cape Elizabeth, has the distinction of being the oldest lighthouse in Maine. A cliffwalk offers sweeping views. Commissioned by George Washington in 1787, its iconic status makes it the lighthouse not miss. [p. 41]

Lobster isn't hard to find in Greater Portland, but when on a tight timeline, it's fastest to grab a lobster roll—a toasted hot dog bun heaping with lobster meat, a dollop of mayonnaise or drawn butter, and a dash of paprika. [p. 37-40]

Create a self-guided tour or take a guided tour based on your interests—beer, history, art, architecture, food...whatever—to give you the flavor of the region. [p. 20-22]

Families explore the granite breakwater at Spring Point Ledge Lighthouse

DAY 1 DAY-BY-DAY-BY-DAY

What to do if it's your first—and possibly only—time in Greater Portland.

ARRIVE

HELLO FROM GREATER PORTLAND! Our Visitor Center at Ocean Gateway has friendly locals to answer your questions, help you get your bearings, and provide information about the region. Unwind after your trip here by soaking up the ocean air at the waterside Moongarden or stroll the waterfront on the East End Trail—even cooling off with a refreshing dip in the Atlantic at East End beach. [p. 5]

LOSE YOURSELF BY A LIGHTHOUSE!

The six lighthouses here all have unique aspects that make them must-sees. Find a coastal perch and unplug from the world. [p. 41]

AFTERNOON

LOBSTER LUNCH! Boiled, baked, on a roll, in bisque, or mac & cheese—it seems every pub, restaurant, seaside shack, food truck, and cart has a innovative take on Maine's most famous seafood. Catch one yourself, pack one to go, or savor the succulent treat at a cliffside picnic table with crashing surf as a background melody. [p. 32-40]

WELCOME TO THE NEIGHBORHOOD!

Food, beer, wine, history, art, coffee, architecture, lighthouses, and more—no matter your interest, there is a tour, guided by a local's knowledge and perspective, to enhance your experience and make you feel right at home. [p. 20-22]

EVENING

PALATE PLEASING—The culinary scene's reputation is well deserved and ever expanding. Discover the newest top pick, savor a James Beard Award-winning meal, enjoy a late-night breakfast, or explore Washington Avenue's burgeoning ethnic restaurant and craft brewery & distillery scene. [p. 32-40]

LIVE FROM PORTLAND! Catch a ballet, Broadway show, the symphony, opera, or the artistry of a modern dance company. National and regional performers headline outdoor stages, intimate clubs, and local pubs. [p. 18-20, 42-45]

DAY 2

ENJOY THE WAY LIFE SHOULD BE!

MORNING

LUXURIATE in the comfort of your hotel bed and order room service or venture to a complimentary breakfast in the lobby.

RELAX with some much-deserved self care with a massage, pedicure, or float like a football star at an area spa—that goes for the men, too!

WALK, BIKE, OR CROSS-COUNTRY SKI the streets...Greater Portland has a large interwoven trail system that traverses woods, oceanside paths, rivers, and city streets enabling you to safely explore the region off the beaten path.

AFTERNOON

EAT—Renowned eateries and culinary tours get busy early. Choose from classic breakfast sandwiches to regional faves including lobster rolls, fish ‘n’ chips, clam chowder, and Portland-created Italians. [p. 32-40]

DRINK—Most area craft breweries, distilleries, wineries, and coffee roasteries offer tours and tastings to quench any thirst. There’s even a bus to drive you to drink... locally. [p. 35]

BE MERRY—Retail therapy keeps visitors smiling in downtown Portland or Freeport, the mall, and small-town boutiques. [p. 50-55]

EVENING

DINE FINE—Confirm reservations for a sizzling new hot spot or traditional favorite. Indulge your taste buds when an award-winning chef rolls out their latest innovative dish creation or pairings. [p. 32-40]

NIGHTLIFE—In Greater Portland, this can mean clubbing in the Old Port, taking in a live band, all-night shopping at L.L.Bean, ice skating, dancing, skiing, a play, billiards, finding a speakeasy, watching a meteor, a comedy show, shower, outdoor movies, an art museum, walking a neighborhood, a beach bonfire, rock climbing, and so much more. [p. 18-31, 42-45]

DAY 3

TAKE MAINE HOME WITH YOU

MORNING

BRUNCH IT UP—Find a farm-to-table breakfast at a restaurant or diner. Or keep it simple with coffee and a local favorite—a handmade doughnut crafted from Maine potatoes. [p. 34-35]

AFTERNOON

WATER WORKS—Kayaking, sailing, fishing, or paddle boarding are great warm weather activities. However, cooler temps don't deter, with year-round water taxi and Casco Bay Lines island service. Holiday polar dips and Parade of Lights are other great excuses to enjoy the harbor in winter. [p. 24, 49]

TURN BACK TIME—From colonial days to the Industrial Age, buildings from almost every century are open for exploration. Learn how where we came from shapes where we are today. [p. 22-23, 26-27]

DEPART

ONE LAST LOOK—The towns of Greater Portland each offer something different that make them worth discovering. Before you leave, make sure to get out for a stroll north, south or west of Portland proper. [p. 60-61, 86-87]

PLAN YOUR NEXT VISIT. Make your reservation at your favorite places to stay, or plan your next visit someplace new. Cooler seasons bring completely new experiences—and sometimes more affordable pricing and easier reservations—even at the same places. [p. 62-73, 80-81]

GET IT TO GO. Hold onto the taste of Maine by grabbing an Italian or lobster roll for the road. Or ship some live lobster to meet you at home. Local food can also be enjoyed while at Portland International Jetport or on the Downeaster train home. [p. 52-54]

86 MILLION pounds of wild
Maine blueberries last year.
That's a lot of blueberry muffins!

Blueberry Lovers, Rejoice! Maine Blueberry Stone*

This is a hoot! It's fun, playful, and such a surprise.

Maine is known for a lot of things: moose, lobsters, and of course, wild blueberries. Last year 86 million pounds of blueberries were harvested here in Maine. That's a lot of blueberry muffins. Maine is the wild blueberry capital of the world. So when we discovered this new stone we knew we just had to have it. It's a salt and pepper granite with little blue azurite spheres nestled within.

Cut and polished, the blueberries appear scattered beautifully across the surface as only nature can do...we've never seen anything quite like it. Set in sterling silver with 18" chain. Price depends on size and blueberry distribution.

Every piece is different. Choose on-line or visit our store

HOP OFF

Casco Bay's Calendar Islands
dot Portland Harbor

ISLAND PERSPECTIVE

Casco Bay Lines provides ferry service to seven Casco Bay Islands, including a short cruise up the coast to Harpswell. Each island has its own distinct personality—pick the one that's right for you and start exploring.

PEAKS

A hip, quirky vibe emanates from the thriving artist community on Portland's commuter island. Visit shops, cafes, and museums, and circumnavigate the perimeter by bike or golf cart.

GREAT DIAMOND

Prim and proper, preserving tradition and embracing modern day grandeur. Diamond Cove, an exclusive private community, has its own ferry stop, an upscale hotel and fine restaurant.

LITTLE DIAMOND

The younger sibling, it is only slightly more rebellious. No commerce exists on this quiet island that's only inhabited during the summer.

BAILEY

Historic and stoic, Bailey's has been one of the best kept secrets for 250 years. Enjoy a quintessential Maine lunch with panoramic views.

LONG

A vibrant, independent community, sporting one of the best beaches on the bay. Sparse facilities for visitors, so bring your own bikes or walk from the ferry landing with beach chairs in tow.

CHEBEAGUE

A throwback to simpler times, Chebeague showcases timeless charm with its Greek Revival homes and restored 1920's hotel adjacent to a 9-hole golf course.

CLIFF

Small, yet mighty, Cliff's natural beauty speaks for itself. The only year-round island in Casco Bay with all unpaved roads, much of its property is in conservation land, protecting its rural atmosphere.

ACTS OF CONGRESS

As Portland's main thoroughfare, Congress Street is the cultural backbone of the city. Bordering the Old Port, it's an easy stroll from the waterfront to explore its many museums, galleries, restaurants, and historic sites.

1 LONGFELLOW SQ.
A memorial statue of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, beloved 19th-Century American poet.

2 STATE THEATRE
A classic historical theater showcasing talented bands and musicians from all over the globe.

3 CONGRESS SQ. PARK
A vibrant community space featuring local art, outdoor movies, live events and performances

4 CONGRESS SQ.
The landmark Hay building sits at the intersection of High, Congress, and Free Streets, gateway to the Arts District.

5 PORTLAND MUSEUM OF ART
Admire American, European, and contemporary masterworks, and several interactive exhibits. Don't miss the only other known Mona Lisa!

6 WADSWORTH-LONGFELLOW HOUSE / MHS
Henry Wadsworth-Longfellow's boyhood home is the oldest structure standing on Portland's peninsula. Maine Historical Society exhibits explore the stories of Maine's people and places.

7 MECA & ICA
Maine College of Art is also home to the Institute of Contemporary Art featuring galleries that showcase student projects and several exhibits, which display contemporary art pieces. Located in a spectacular Beaux Arts-style building, these art centers solidly anchor the Arts District.

8 THE PORTLAND PUBLIC LIBRARY
Chartered in 1867, the oldest and largest library in the state underwent a monumental modernization in 2010. Free WiFi, a street front area to enjoy coffee or food, and access to online international libraries makes it a perfect spot in which to read, relax, or people watch.

9 MONUMENT SQ.
Downtown's epicenter! Take a break from your sightseeing beneath the Our Lady of Victories Civil War memorial, in the Public Market House, or at an outdoor café. Enjoy the Christmas Tree and explore the shops connecting the Arts District to the Old Port.

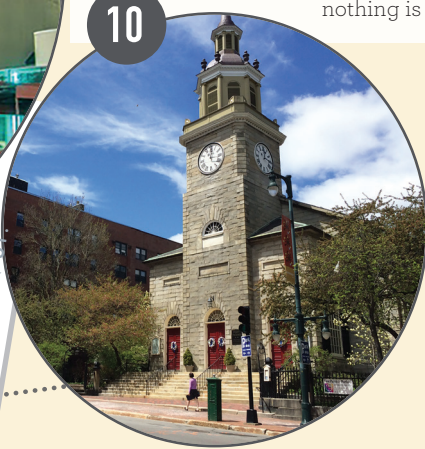

What's in a Name?

Portland's "Maine Street" is steps from the Old Port and connects that neighborhood to both the Arts District to the west, and Munjoy Hill to the east. Recognized as one of the "10 Greatest Streets in the Nation," city settlers simply named it Back Street, as it was once furthest from the waterfront. In Colonial days it was renamed Queen Street. It was changed to Congress Street in 1823 in honor of Maine having representation in Washington, D.C. shortly after becoming a state. Most downtown sites are within a 15-minute walk from the street's Monument Square epicenter, so nothing is ever very far away.

CITY HALL

Built in 1909, City Hall was designed by Carrere & Hastings, the firm that designed New York's Public Library. The elegant building houses Portland's city offices. See shows, concerts, ballets, and opera performances in Merrill Auditorium, a 1,900-seat venue added in 1912. Also home to the Kotzschmar pipe organ.

12

LINCOLN PARK

The city's first publicly owned green space, it was purchased after the Great Fire of 1866 to serve as a firebreak and named after the recently slain President. The pocket park's charming fountain and original design elements are a lovely oasis for the majestic marble courthouses along its east side.

EASTERN CEMETERY

Established in 1668, this landmark is Portland's oldest cemetery. Over 3,500 known graves—and 200 unknown—mark the resting places of Portlanders as far back as the colonial-era. Tours are arranged through Spirits Alive and especially fun around Halloween. Learn the tale of captains Blythe and Burrows, then toast them at their namesake bar in the Old Port.

PORTLAND OBSERVATORY

View a nautical skyline from the last standing maritime signal tower in North America. The 86-foot tall lookout was built by Captain Lemuel Moody in 1807 to alert ship owners when their cargo arrived in port. It survived the Great Fire of 1866 because of the heroic efforts of those pouring water down the sides throughout the inferno.

EASTERN PROM

Known for beautiful views, the Eastern Promenade is a grassy bluff defining the waterfront on Portland's East End. Ideal for soaking in a sunrise, splashing at the beach with your dog, enjoying a free sunset concert on Thursdays, or just a breathtaking walk or run, this harborfront park sits on the east end of Congress Street.

FREE FOR ALL

Here's a list of top things to do in Greater Portland that won't cost you a penny.

ART & ABOUT

On the first Friday of each month, Portland art galleries and the art museum open their doors, and Congress Street is lined with local performers and artists.

SEAS THE DAY

Take a dip or bring your kayak to East End Beach on the Portland peninsula or at Willard Beach in South Portland. Take a day trip to Old Orchard Beach and the Pier or to the sprawling shores of Ogunquit beach.

TAKE A HIKE

Over 70 miles of trails in Portland, South Portland, Westbrook, Scarborough, and Falmouth offer a variety of settings from woodland escapes to waterfront walks.

LEAD YOURSELF

Immerse yourself in architecture and history with self-guided walking tours of four Portland neighborhoods by downloading the interactive maps from greaterportlandlandmarks.org.

GO FLY A KITE

With boundless lawns and a light waterfront breeze, Bug Light Park in South Portland, Fort Williams Park in Cape Elizabeth, and Pine Point in Scarborough are ideal for a soaring good time.

STARS UNDER THE STARS

From July to September, L.L.Bean presents national headliner acts and local favorites at Discovery Park in downtown Freeport.

FLAMING INTEREST

The West End's Portland Fire Museum is filled with artifacts preserving the history of our local firefighters.

A WALK IN THE PARK

Deering Oaks and Payson Park both feature playgrounds. Deering Oaks also boasts rose gardens and a duck pond.

LITERARY LONGINGS

Word Portland hosts a reading of talented local writers and poets on the first Monday of every month.

SUMMER FILM FLING

Enjoy free films outdoors at Congress Square Park on Sunday evenings in July and August or at Bug Light Park on Thursday evenings in July.

GO UNDERGROUND

Find all 16 markers of the Portland Freedom Trail to learn about the Underground Railroad and abolitionist movement in Maine. Download the self-guided walking tour from mainehistory.org.

THE ENCYCLOPEDIA

PORTLAND, MAINE

Portland Expo is home court for the Maine Red Claws

BANNER DAYS

Professional sports dominate Greater Portland's landscape as the world championship all-stars of tomorrow make their mark on their way to the major leagues.

PORTLAND SEA DOGS

Catch a ball at Hadlock Field when the AA Eastern League Portland Sea Dogs are at bat. Baseball greats such as David Ortiz, Anthony Rizzo and Jackie Bradley, Jr. have taken the field. Boston's farm team, with its own green Maine Monster in left field, has claimed 6 division titles, with many alumni making World Series history on the Red Sox and Cubs championship teams.

MAINE MARINERS

Join Mariner Madness as the newest East Coast Hockey League (ECHL) team takes the ice for their inaugural season at Cross Insurance Arena. Action-packed play will soon have AA players on breakways to the NHL.

MAINE MAMMOTHS

Experience fast-paced indoor football played on 50-yard fields when The Maine Mammoths take the field in the Cross Insurance Arena. Joining the National Arena League (NAL), the expansion team will be the first arena football team to call Maine home.

MAINE RED CLAWS

Voted a top destination in the NBA G League, this Boston Celtics affiliate is in their 10th season. Former and current Celtics stars Avery Bradley, Marcus Smart and Terry Rozier have suited up for Crustacean Nation. There is no better place to see NBA-level talent up close than the Portland Expo.

ONCE UPON A STAR AVERY BRADLEY, SHOOTING GUARD MAINE RED CLAWS (2010-2011)

There are no better fans in the league than right here in Maine. When I have basketball camps and I tell kids my story, they're like, 'You played in Maine...?' I experienced a lot, and I feel like it made me not only the person I am today, but the basketball player I am. [Being on the Red Claws] was really, really big for me. And [playing in Maine] did help me gain that confidence within myself.

—Excerpt from ESPN interview

Avery Bradley started his career with the Maine Red Claws NBA G League team before being promoted to the Boston Celtics for seven seasons. He is currently playing for the Los Angeles Clippers.

CUISINE

Upscale eats at Chebeague Island Inn

EAT. STAY. LOVE

Culinary artistry is now Maine's calling card—if food is the way to your heart, then you need to make your way to Maine this year.

Of course Maine is legendary for lobster, and you should have it any way you like—steamed with butter and corn, in rich chowder or bisque, or packed into a toasted roll. But let your taste buds also discover why the region's culinary scene has garnered a national reputation for innovation and style. Farm-to-table, sustainable seafood, community-supported agriculture—in Maine these aren't trends, they're traditions. Fishermen haul fresh lobster and seafood to the docks every day. Organic farms and dairies support year-round farmers' markets with locally raised meats, vegetables, and herbs bursting with natural flavor. And our five James Beard Award-winning chefs and countless other talented food artists in residence use these freshest of ingredients to make gastronomic magic.

Locally-made products are everywhere, from handcrafted cheeses, to prize-winning jams, sauces, and condiments, to artisanal chocolates. On a culinary walking or trolley tour you can sample delectable foods while getting a behind-the-scenes look at the craft makers and their industry. And let's not forget to toast the state's breweries, wineries, and distilleries that give Maine's foodie culture a little extra sparkle with craft beverages that include local ingredients like blueberries, raspberries, and potatoes. Mobile brewery tours will drive you to safely sample the wares from a variety of the region's best brewers.

Whether you come here primarily for the beautiful scenery or for the fabulous food, there's no doubt you'll enjoy both once you arrive—often at the same time!

RELUCTANT TRAIL BLAZER

DAVID TURIN, CHEF-OWNER
DAVID'S CREATIVE CUISINE

As a chef, Portland is amazing for its incredible food from many different sources. Local, organic, sustainable is natural, authentic, and affordable. I think the bigger surprise for visitors about Greater Portland is just how much there is to do, how nice people are. We really do have great hospitality in Maine. Portland is a city feel without all the city hassles—no traffic, people are nice, stuff isn't crazy expensive, and it's gorgeous all year long, through all of the seasons. I moved here against my will, but someone really important to me made me do it. I was mad about it until I got here and I've thanked them ever since. It's been 26 years! I like eating in other restaurants and I enjoy the outdoors...I surf, ski, hike, and bike quite a bit.

HAVE YOU SEEN THE LIGHT?

While glorious at sea level,
the bird's-eye view is the tops!

Saturday, September 8 is Maine Open Lighthouse Day when many of the state's iconic beacons are free for the public to climb. If you miss this annual event, no worries—these year-round attractions are always on guard with flashing beacons and moaning foghorns to enjoy from the ground up. These lighthouses are all within 20 minutes of downtown.

See visitportland.com/things-to-do/lighthouses for a driving tour of all six.

PORTLAND BREAKWATER (BUG LIGHT)

Built 1855. Inspired by a Greek temple, this cast-iron structure stands at South Portland's former WWII Liberty Ship boat yard.

SPRING POINT LEDGE

Built 1897. At the end of a stone breakwater in South Portland, this Caisson-style lighthouse is open for tours during summer weekends.

PORTLAND HEAD

Built in 1791. Commissioned by George Washington on the cliffs of Fort Williams Park in Cape Elizabeth, it is one of the most photographed lights in the world.

CAPE ELIZABETH*

Built 1828, replaced 1874. Best viewed from the shore and The Lobster Shack at Two Lights in Cape Elizabeth.

CAPE ELIZABETH WEST*

Built 1828, replaced 1874. Sister beacon to Cape Elizabeth Light, also viewed from The Lobster Shack (ceased use in 1924).

RAM ISLAND LEDGE

Built 1905. At the north side of Portland Harbor. Best viewed from water or Fort Williams Park in Cape Elizabeth.

Together known as "Two Lights"*

COZY UP TO WINTER

Recently recognized as the 'Coziest City in America,' Greater Portland is just getting warmed up to enjoy the quieter season's many delights.

Greater Portland's transition from autumn to the cooler months of winter is often referred to as the Quiet Season, but nothing could be further from the truth! As soon as the last leaves fall and the first frost glistens across windows, Maine's largest metro area heats up with performing arts, award-winning cuisine, professional sports, delectable tours, engaging exhibitions, gallery openings, late-night shopping, ice bars, and exhilarating winter festivals. And Portland offers great culture at a fraction of the cost found in other cities.

Contrary to the prevalent mistaken belief that our region is exceptionally cold, U.S. Climate data shows that Greater Portland's average temperatures between December and March are only five to fifteen degrees under those in Boston and New York. Pleasant enough to ice skate outside or enjoy downtown shopping during Portland's Merry Madness or Freeport's Sparkle Celebration. Coastal Portland averages 50-70 total inches of snow in a winter season (comparable to, and sometimes less than nearby eastern seaboard states) while the interior areas get more—which is good because that's where all the ski resorts are!

Treasure Hunt

and what we are discovering in the Western Mountains of Maine

Just twenty-eight miles north of our Portland, Maine store, on the banks of the Little Androscoggin, beneath a meadow, lies the richest part of the world...gems. Gem tourmaline has been found: tourmaline the color of spring and the color of the sky, two distinct colors commingled in a single crystal.

From these crystals, our gem cutter has coaxed out their true light and life, creating a gem and a unity of color we call SparHawk Mint Green Teal. This is the color of life; color that moves with swiftness of thought; color that sweeps, darts, and soars; color so precise, so graceful that once chosen it alights upon your hand or nestles safely near your heart.

We are privileged to have the opportunity to offer the new SparHawk Mint Green Teal tourmaline. To see our most recent pieces of SparHawk jewelry, visit us on-line or stop in.

The Greater Portland region supports an active nightlife including a vibrant theatre and performing arts scene that brings national headliners to state-of-the-art venues. World-class museums offer escapes into fine art, science, and history on par with other major urban areas and minor league professional basketball, ice hockey, and arena football present tomorrow's all-stars at family-friendly affordability.

If you're not sure where to start, get things rolling with a tour. All year long you can get a custom introduction to the region, taste your way through town on several foodie tours, have Maine Brew Bus drive you to drink (locally) at many of the area's craft breweries, or indulge in educational tours from anything from food and wine to history—or both.

And dinner reservations are the easiest thing to make during a season with far less visitors. Undoubtedly Portland has a high number of restaurants per capita and they're almost all open through the quiet season, making this a fabulous time to eat your way through town. Maine Restaurant Week, in early March, is dedicated to having food enthusiasts try them all! Eateries at all price points around the state offer specially priced multi-course menus for what is actually closer to a two-week span.

So don't let winter get you down—just show up and we'll show you how to turn the Quiet Season into a rollicking good time!

CRAFTY MAINERS

Our inspirational artisans will send you home laden with treats—leave room in your car!

The very best souvenir is often something handmade, out of materials indigenous to the place. Throughout your stay, look for quality Maine products to bring home that will remind you of your visit to Maine.

From a studio on Portland's Custom House Wharf, SEA BAGS turns old retired sails into fashionable totes strong enough to carry just about anything from provisions for a beach outing to your laptop. The vast majority of ROGUE INDUSTRIES' Made in Maine Collection is crafted from leather tanned here in Maine; this is their 10th year creating elegant slim front pocket wallets and an ever-expanding assortment of leather accessories. EDGEComb POTTERS produces hand-crafted wares inspired by the sea and mountains around us. Choose from luscious shades of pink, green, teal, and watermelon tourmaline at CROSS JEWELERS, which maintains the largest collection of tourmaline jewelry ever assembled—when you bring home a piece of Maine tourmaline jewelry, you're truly bringing home a piece of Maine.

Locally-made specialty foods are a tasty way to bring Maine home with you. STONEWALL KITCHEN's trajectory began with award-winning jams and jellies but has expanded to include sauces, condiments, mustards, and more—all made with high-quality ingredients and painstaking attention to detail. Dozens of delightful products made from farmhouse recipes in small batches are brought to eye at MAINE'S PANTRY; visit them to pick up everything from salt-water taffy to maple syrup to wild Maine blueberry sauce—we're salivating just thinking about it. And at the HONEY EXCHANGE you can learn about bee-keeping while shopping for a variety of honey and beeswax products.

HOMEMADE MARVELS

LISA-MARIE STEWART, OWNER
LISA-MARIE'S MADE IN MAINE

There is always something to do! I enjoy spending time with my family, painting, dining out, visiting our breweries and traveling the state visiting places we have never been. Portland has a homey feel that makes people enjoy it more than a big city. Our customers often comment on the cleanliness of the city and its historic charm. I was born and raised in Maine and I wanted to raise my children here and have a place to specifically promote locally Maine-made products all year round.

LIFE AS WE KNOW IT

Greater Portland tops other urban areas around the world with excellence in food, quality of life, and even beer. Who knew? (We did.)

You may think Maine is just a vacation spot, but it's not. Greater Portland has been attracting young entrepreneurs who find the progressive region large enough to be interesting, yet small enough to develop a supportive community. Relaxed enough that you can follow your interests, while also developing your career. On liveandworkinmaine.com you'll meet real people who fell in love with Maine, moved here, and have great jobs. They love the quirky mix of outdoor adventure and city culture. They value the live/work balance they've achieved here. Take the time to listen to their stories and perhaps you'll discover that a move to Maine makes sense to you too. For those considering a lifestyle change, another invaluable source of information is CreativePortland, where you can connect with other energetic and creative people who are planting roots in our region.

If you're just visiting, pages 58-59 may still be beneficial during your stay.

IT'S A LIVING
KATHLEEN PARKER, IT RECRUITER
PRO SEARCH, INC.

Originally from California by way of St. Louis, I was looking for the kind of life I had growing up, close to the beach with a certain kind of energy you can't find in the Midwest. When I first visited Portland I loved the energy, I loved everything about it, and said, 'I'm going to move here!' I live very close to Willard Beach in South Portland. Every evening after work the dog and I go for a jaunt on the beach and to Spring Point lighthouse. I'd say the most important thing is to visit Greater Portland...go to the beach, walk around downtown Portland, experience fresh lobster right on the water—it'll hook you! No one here is in a rush. They put in their work—and work hard—but they also enjoy their off-time. Employers respect the work/life balance.

OVERNIGHT

SLEEPING IN

Wherever you choose to lay your head, you'll know you're in 'Vacationland' from the fabulous service you receive in Maine.

From coastal chic to urban elegance, our hotels, inns, and extended-stay properties are as varied as our landscapes. Have your heart set on an oceanside resort with world-class amenities? Check. A rustic lakeside cabin? Naturally. Intown digs with in-room fireplace? Got it. How about knowledgeable hosts at a cozy bed and breakfast to help you live like a local while you're here? Done. Wherever you choose to stay, you'll experience traditional New England hospitality—we're glad you're here and we're going to show it.

BOOK AHEAD

To ensure your comfortable stay, we suggest making reservations before you arrive in Maine! Room availability can be limited, especially during the peak summer and fall seasons.

ON THE HUNT

The grids on the following pages will help you narrow your search by highlighting amenities on your wish list, such as pools, hot tubs, and water access or views.

PET FRIENDLY

Many of our hotels welcome your four-legged friends; look for the dot under the 'Pets Welcome' column.

BREAKFAST

Hotels often offer packages that include breakfast in the room rate. Grids indicate stays that regularly include a complimentary continental or full breakfast.

MEMORABLE STAYS ON ANY BUDGET

Camping is always a popular choice for keeping costs down, but those seeking a roof not made of stars will find a selection of affordable motels just outside of the downtown action. Some provide on-site cottages or kitchenettes and grills, allowing you to cook many of your own meals. And staff are helpful when it comes to suggesting affordable options for local dining.

An easy way to nab a bargain is to visit in the quiet season when prices are up to half of what you'll find during the summer and early fall. Also look for mid-week specials and packages for couples, groups, families or singles; packages may include breakfast or dinner, holiday shopping, or local activity discounts.

visitportland.com/where-to-stay/deals-packages

On our website you'll find a list of budget-friendly accommodations that offer room rates under $150 during peak season, everything from Bed & Breakfasts, to cottages, to hotels and motels. And with everything so close to town, staying off the Portland peninsula isn't a hardship at all—you'll find the same superior hospitality that Greater Portland has become known for.

GO BEYOND

Take day trips and overnight excursions throughout Maine for more great cultural and recreational adventures—Vacationland awaits.

MAINE BEACHES

With everything from nature walks along 30+ miles of sandy coastline to Broadway-level entertainment, tasty seafood shanties, and a beachside amusement park, the whimsical towns of this region offer fun for the whole family. Lighthouses and welcoming places to stay dot the seascape amid elegant sea-captain mansions and cliffside hotels. Fine dining and engaging nightlife complement great shopping in antiques shops, local boutiques, and outlet stores. Enjoy a trip to this popular region south of Greater Portland.

MID-COAST

Northeast of Greater Portland, this region's culture and heritage is strongly linked to its sea-faring history, brought to life through maritime museums, tall-ship regattas, lobster competitions, and lighthouses. Meandering paths through botanical gardens burst with blooms as the walls of the world-class Farnsworth Art Museum explode with art featuring the work of the Wyeth family and Robert Indiana. Transportation museums showcase the history of planes, trains, and automobiles while the Amtrak Downeaster makes the Mid-Coast region accessible with rail trips to Brunswick, where you can dine in style and take in a Broadway-quality summer musical.

MAINE HIGHLANDS

Adventure is in the heart of Maine—literally. This central region north of Greater Portland invites you to unwind, unplug, and choose the path less traveled. It might be your desire to reach the northernmost point of the Appalachian Trail by scaling Mt. Katahdin in majestic Baxter State Park, or fishing in 40-mile long Moosehead Lake renowned for its landlocked salmon, brook trout, and togue. If rafting, snowmobiling, and interacting with Maine wildlife is more to your liking, this expanse of wilderness offers some of the most exciting outdoor activities of all. Bangor, the area's commercial and cultural hub, features world-class concerts and events on its riverfront.

MAINE LAKES + MOUNTAINS

Western Maine is a year-round recreational destination combining family-friendly non-stop adventure with lazy, idyllic comfort! Enjoy some of the best golfing and snow sports in the East—with Rangeley's Snodeo not to be missed. Or choose to canoe, kayak, and chill out on hundreds of crystal-clear rivers and glacial lakes. Experience moose up close in the safety of a preserve or from a wilderness cabin. Steeped in history and pop culture, visit world-famous sites including Poland Spring and Sabbathday Lake Shaker Village. The urban center of Lewiston-Auburn offers fine dining, entertainment, and the annual Great Falls Balloon Festival.

BREEZ UP THE COAST

METRO BREEZ GREATER PORTLAND METRO BUS

As the newest public transit service, with WIFI and extra storage, I'm the favorite—I get to run around Greater Portland's northern coast with express weekday and Saturday service, back and forth between Portland, Yarmouth, Freeport...even Brunswick. I make limited stops just steps from downtown attractions, restaurants, and hotels. I like connecting with my METRO siblings intown to bring folks throughout the region. My passengers can easily walk to Thompson's Point events when I stop at the transportation center. Plus, it's so fun when I greet people who are excited to be here, from Boston and beyond! I like showing people around the city, especially when I go to the airport and near the Casco Bay Lines ferry so they can visit the islands.

LOCAL TAKE

PARK IT HERE

Don't stress! On-street parking, surface lots, and garages in Greater Portland have you covered.

PARKING IN PORTLAND

PAY STATIONS

Parking pay station receipts, visible on dashboards, can be used at any metered space throughout Portland, and receipts are valid even if the car is moved to other spots. However, posted time limits for spaces apply regardless of expiration time on the receipt.

METERS

$1.25 per hour, with most allowing a two hour maximum. After posted time limits, the vehicle must be moved to a new spot. Vehicles with a visible handicap tag can stay four hours at a meter.

MOBIL PAY

Keep your eyes peeled for Passport Parking signs posted in designated parking zones and meters. All you'll need is a smartphone and the PassportParking app. Notifications are sent when time is running out, so you can extend your time remotely! Posted time limits are expected to still apply.

FREE ON-STREET

All on-street parking in Portland is free 6pm until 9am Monday-Saturday, all day Sunday, and on major holidays.

PARKING LOTS + GARAGES

City or private garages rates: $1.75-$4 per hour.

Unified Parking manages many parking lots in the area. They strictly enforce parking policies. Download the app parkbytext US to easily track your time and avoid fines.

PARKING IN GREATER PORTLAND

WESTBROOK—Free 1- or 2-hour street parking in most areas. Downtown lot signs designate free 6-hour /all-day public (shared with city employee) parking.

FREEPORT—Free 1- or 2-hour street parking in most areas. Free unlimited parking at Freeport Village Station and L.L.Bean.

SOUTH PORTLAND—Free unlimited, except permit areas, and no on-street parking midnight to 6am from Dec 1-April 1.

OTHER TOWNS—Free unlimited street parking unless otherwise designated. Please check with towns for local ordinances.

SNOW BANS— Please check towns for local times, snow ban procedures, and free or discounted lots. Town ticketing, towing, and storage fees may be assessed.

CAMPER—WalMart and Wassamki Springs Campground.

BOAT TRAILER—Portland's East End Beach and South Portland's Bug Light.

BOAT—Harbor marinas in Portland, South Portland, Falmouth, and Freeport. Area yacht clubs also welcome visitors.

ELECTRIC VEHICLES (EVs)

EV charging stations can be found at select area hotels and stores. For area locations: visitportland.com/transportation/EV

PORTLAND'S FIRST AND FINEST HOTEL

IN THE HEART OF THE HISTORIC OLD PORT

WINNER OF BEST HISTORIC HOTEL OF THE YEAR 2014! HISTORIC HOTELS OF AMERICA

The Premier in Luxury, Comfort and Elegance

Discover a unique historic getaway at The Portland Regency Hotel & Spa, where modern comfort meets old New England Charm.

All of our rooms and suites feature complimentary Wi-Fi, plush bathrobes, flat-screen TVs, iPod docking stereos, room service, luxurious marble bathrooms, and premium bedding. Guests will find lovely architectural flourishes, such as alcoves and turret windows, which have been carefully preserved from the original 1895 armory building. Let us pamper you with nightly turndown service, complete with chocolates on your pillow, and morning coffee or tea delivered directly to your door.

Mountain Laurel
North-South (medium)*
Blue Sapphire Ring

Spring Always Returns

... and with it, hope, dreams, wishes, and desires, sunshine, and warm temperatures.

You know what it feels like, not by calendar, but by a deep soul-felt knowing in your heart... a real spring day, the smell of newly mown grass, the scent of budding flowers, the good earth, warm soil in hand, filtering between your fingers.

We understand and have created the Mountain Laurel ring for all who love spring. 14K yellow gold, as shown above.
