Introduction
(Novembre, 2003 - Auroville)

Dans les années tourmentées de l'adolescence, j'avais plusieurs fois voyagé en Afrique du Nord.

Comme de l'océan, que je pouvais contempler inlassablement de mes falaises bretonnes, j'éprouvais le besoin de la lumière, du soleil, de l'étendue libre du désert, et j'aimais la densité précise et fluide à la fois des regards et des corps nourris et définis par ce silence et cette lumière.

Deux au moins de ces voyages se firent en compagnie d'O., la jeune femme qui m'initiait à toute une culture et une manière de vivre. Juive Arabe, sa famille avait émigré de Casablanca à la banlieue de Paris. Farouche et guerrière, s'échappant du carcan elle avait plongé les yeux ouverts et sans recours dans le milieu complexe des marginaux, où elle avait appris à survivre, développant ses propres codes et sa propre marque identitaire. Sa beauté singulière pouvait devenir effrayante selon ses humeurs changeantes, mais il émanait d'elle toujours une sorte de lucidité solidaire et l'énergie de ceux qui savent trouver les ressources de vie en eux-mêmes et rebondir de chaque impasse.

Mais il y avait ce besoin qui me faisait tâtonner sans relâche, jamais satisfait, incapable pourtant de se formuler ; une tension qui ne trouvait que des fragments de réponse, des bribes de sens, des indices, insuffisants.

Je regardais les cartes, vers l'Orient, j'interrogeais mes propres forces, cherchais le courage. Je crois que le terme le mieux descriptif de cet état de tension que j'éprouvais constamment, est le sentiment, et plus que le sentiment, la perception, le sens même d'être incomplet, de l'incomplétude, d'un manque dimensionnel.

Je pus enfin réunir assez d'argent pour partir seul sur la route – c'était le printemps de 1968, mais je n'étais pas conscient d'appartenir à un « mouvement », j'avais quitté l'école à l'âge de 14 ans et n'avais gardé aucun contact avec le milieu étudiant.

Dans mon seul sac de voyage, j'avais choisi d'emporter comme un symbole et une sorte d'offrande, un exemplaire de « la Critique de la Raison Dialectique » de J.P.Sartre, dont j'avais moi-même tissé la couverture ; c'était un gros et lourd volume et il ne restait de place que pour quelques vêtements de rechange.

Du côté de Téhéran, ma bourse me fut dérobée ; je n'avais plus que ce que j'avais gardé dans mes poches.

C'est le jour de mes 18 ans, le 9 Avril, que j'arrivais à Mashaad ; toute la ville semblait s'être massée le long de la voie principale pour encourager un long cortège d'hommes vêtus de noir qui marchaient en se flagellant vers la mosquée.

Plus tard, au Pakistan, sans que je demande rien, un homme riche m'emmena dans sa grande voiture américaine jusqu'à Islamabad et me donna 50 roupies. Ce fut un dernier geste d'hospitalité avant le choc brutal de l'Inde.

Une vastitude puissante, innombrable, que je ressentis comme un gouffre.

J'étais déjà malade mais ne le savais pas encore. J'étais traité par la foule comme un chien errant, pire qu'un paria. C'était une incapacité comme une paroi impitoyable.

Une hépatite. Le bout de la route.

Un bon petit blanc perdu dans le grand monde.

Je me rendis à l'Ambassade, d'où l'on télégraphia à C. de m'envoyer un billet d'avion et l'un des membres de la mission m'offrit personnellement de quoi vivre jusqu'au départ.

C'était la mi-Mai quand je revins à Paris. Cette effervescence, le sens qui lui était donné, l'aspect revendicateur, les slogans faciles, les discours inutiles – cela ne m'attirait pas. Je fus, comme un animal blessé, penser mes plaies dans le silence de la Bretagne.

Puis, d'Israël, je reçus d'O un appel au secours ; égarée entre la drogue et la loi, elle ne savait plus comment revenir d'Haïfa. Je la retrouvai à Jérusalem, sur l'avenue qui ceignait les remparts et nous vécûmes dans la ville arabe et, plus tard, sur la plage d'Eilat, comme tant d'autres, face à l'Égypte.

Il me manquait un ressort pour passer.

Ce ne fut qu'au début de l'année 1969 qu'une flambée de joie solaire se mit à crépiter sans bruit dans certains regards et certains gestes ; je n'étais plus seul – il y avait un Sens.

Et cela, sans mots, pouvait se partager.

Cette sorte de présence/absence au-dessus devenait comme un gonflement dans la poitrine, une sorte d'aise et de tranquille allégresse.

On pressentait un chemin, et une communauté de chemin.

Les moments, les rencontres, étaient pris dans un même rayon, animés d'un même courant.

Mais persistait comme l'appel d'un centre, d'une source, pareil au magnétisme qui oriente l'aiguille de la boussole.

Il fallait que je reparte, vers l'Est.

L'Inde d'abord ; dépasser cet échec. Puis, peut-être, le Japon, les monastères ?

Je voulais rapporter une clé manquante, le contact d'un axe de travail, pour qu'on puisse s'organiser, que nos actes en soient éclairés.

Pour gagner l'argent nécessaire à ce nouveau voyage, il me fut confié un travail de recherche documentaliste, sur le thème de l'athéisme et des diverses approches du divin dans la culture occidentale – que j'accomplis comme une tâche ironiquement propitiatoire.

Mais l'argent ainsi acquis, je pus le donner à A.F, qui s'était logée dans ma vie un peu comme une épouse, quand l'heure du départ approcha. Car, par mon ami C.V, je venais de rencontrer S.B : la cascade d'une lourde chevelure rousse, un grand corps incertain, un visage sans pareil, aux plans immobiles, désespérée mais offerte, pleine d'une attente bouleversante. Héritière d'une grande fortune, elle errait de lieu en lieu avec pour double discipline de distribuer l'argent à des groupes révolutionnaires et de ne porter que les vêtements qui lui étaient offerts.

Elle ne trouvait guère mes élans crédibles, mais elle me « voulait du bien ». Et elle m'accompagnerait un bout de chemin, juste parce qu'on était bien ensemble.

Je ne voulais pas refaire la même route ; j'avais choisi de repartir par le Liban, la Syrie, l'Irak, de revenir à l'Inde depuis ces terres ancestrales. Mais où, dans l'Inde, irais-je ? Je n'en savais rien.

Quelques semaines avant le départ, un garçon que je venais de rencontrer, L.de D, un peu déséquilibré dans son ouverture et son besoin de sens, m'introduisit à son amie, une très jeune fille, grâce silencieuse, dont le langage était geste et sourire, à la fois presque trop disponible et presque inaccessible ; cela fut tout de suite important – presque sans mots.

Quand elle connut mon intention de me rendre bientôt en Inde, elle m'informa qu'elle y allait souvent, car sa « grand-mère » y dirigeait un « ashram », et que nous pourrions donc ; si je le souhaitais, nous y retrouver début Décembre. Avec l'adresse elle m'apporta un jour un petit livre, l'« Anthologie de l'Amour », que je ne fis, je crois, que feuilleter.

C'était Septembre quand nous nous sommes rencontrés. Je partis début Octobre. S.B me retrouva à l'aéroport. Nous n'avions chacun qu'un sac à l'épaule. D'une Beyrouth encore intacte, nous traversâmes les forêts de cèdres pour atteindre la Syrie. Nous vécûmes quelques jours d'une intensité partagée dans la ville ancienne de Damas. Alors S.B ressentit que ce chemin sur lequel confusément je m'avançais n'était plus, n'était pas le sien. Vêtue de la tunique chatoyante que je venais de lui offrir, elle me laissa.

J'étais seul à nouveau, tourné vers l'Inde, retournant à l'Inde. J'étais comme un nœud à offrir. Echoué un moment sur les sables rutilants de Kuwait City, je tentais de me rassembler pour le saut qui m'attendait. Puis ce fut la moiteur de Bombay, la matrice, la créatrice d'une infinité de formes et de véhicules pour le Soi. Dans le sommeil d'une nuit, j'eus cette expérience : « Entre, mon enfant ! ».

Je suivis les repères de la route, rendis comme un dernier hommage à un mode de vie qui avait peut-être ses vertus mais me semblait comme une paralysie, en passant par les plages de Goa. Puis, les montagnes du Deccan. Une qualité de rondeur dans le silence. L'empreinte de vies, d'une époque où l'équilibre, la proportion entre la capacité des consciences et leur nombre, était plus propice à l'harmonie. De l'autre côté dans la plaine du Tamil Nadu, un sâdhu dont le regard attentif m'avait tenu compagnie, sans rien me dire fit arrêter l'autobus à l'entrée de l'ashram de Ramana Maharshi et, en un geste d'une douce fermeté, m'ordonna de descendre. Ce furent là quelques jours et nuits de paisible décanage, où je pus apprécier la grande présence de cet être incomparable, dont la trajectoire comme une rivière de métal en fusion ouvrait à cette réalité comme une émotion de l'âme, son mouvement de flamme donnée qui transcende l'espace et le temps.

Je parvins à Pondichéry le matin du 2 Décembre. On m'indiqua le bâtiment principal de l'Ashram et, de là, la résidence de Françoise (que Mère re-nomma plus tard Purna Prema), un bel espace aménagé en haut d'une vaste demeure coloniale, ouvrant sur une grande terrasse à demi couverte ; un gentil homme, le serviteur Tamil, me fit asseoir dans la fraîcheur ombrée, où je fumai l'une de mes dernières Gitanes. C'est ainsi que Françoise me trouva, ignorant des règles ; mais au moins j'avais, depuis Kuwait, le cheveu ras. Fière, somptueuse, quelque chose d'Égyptien dans le visage et le port, pommettes hautes, de grands yeux verts, les cheveux noirs ramassés en un chignon roulé ; altière mais légère, joueuse aussi ; une longue robe blanche comme un fourreau laissant ses bras nus.

J'appris que Fabienne n'était pas encore arrivée.

Je logeai ce soir-là dans l'une des « Guest houses » de l'Ashram, dûment instruit du code de conduite en vigueur. Pas d'alcool, pas de tabac, pas de sexe.

Quand Fabienne arriva, un ou deux jours plus tard, nous dûmes emménager dans une autre Guest house qui n'appartenait pas directement à l'Ashram

Ces premiers jours je me rebellais à la vue de tous ces messages partout, ces photographies comme des icônes, tout cet immaculé.

Mais j'étais en même temps habité par une pression, une sorte de lent, d'irrésistible dévoilement, la découverte d'un Fait que je n'avais pu qu'appréhender obscurément – perceptions sourdes, reflets, échos, notions « inadmissibles » - et c'était comme un ensemble de conditionnements qui se mettait à fondre, à tomber par lambeaux, comme si la vision exacte était par à-coups restituée, libérée des poids et des épaisseurs qui l'avaient occultée.

Et un après-midi, assis sur le muret de la digue devant la mer, je sus, sans qu'aucun doute ne puisse demeurer, irrévocablement, je sus que c'était Elle, que c'était Sa Force, et qu'à Cela j'appartenais.

La conscience m'était rendue, cette dimension qui avait tant manqué, sans quoi l'on était comme amputé.

Un autre jour de cette première semaine, Fabienne me retrouva dans la rue, son sourire et sa marche de danseuse vers moi : dans sa main, une rose rouge, envoyée par Mère.

Je pourrais La voir le 9 Décembre.

Ce matin-là, il pleuvait des trombes.

Nous attendîmes sur les marches de Son escalier intérieur, assis près de Champaklal qui préparait tranquillement des petits sachets de papier coloré.

Puis je vis Françoise soudainement rassembler ses affaires, tout poser sur un plateau, dans un geste fluide et concentré, et se lever toute droite en un souffle. Et, derrière elle, nous entrâmes dans la chambre de Mère.

Je suivis Fabienne et m'agenouillai devant Elle.

Il y avait autour de ce silence souverain le vacarme de la pluie, il y avait Françoise et Fabienne, il y avait toute cette accumulation de tension en moi.

Mère me parla de la façon la plus ordinaire, la plus rassurante :

« C'est la première fois qu'on vient en Inde ? »

(Non, Mère... je balbutiai quelque chose.. !)

« On vient en Inde pour trouver le soleil, et voilà... (geste indiquant le déluge) »

Puis, alors que je m'ouvrais à l'abri de ces mots et pouvais enfin un peu recevoir Son regard, Elle ajouta, me vouvoyant :

« Alors, si vous voulez rester ici... »

Nous sortîmes, parce qu'il fallait bien sortir, d'autres attendaient.

Mais tout avait changé.

Ou bien c'était ce changement que j'avais éprouvé qui était désormais confirmé, rendu concret.

Mais les formations que l'on a faites, les plans que l'on a formés, ne se dissolvent pas si aisément ; même si leurs motifs s'éteignent, leur force de propulsion demeure encore.

Je n'avais pas prévu de tout trouver là. J'étais sur ma lancée qui ne savait pas que ce serait là.

Le mouvement du voyage était trop inscrit. Fabienne et moi souhaitâmes aller nous promener dans le Sud, et demandâmes Sa permission.

Elle nous reçut encore ; Fabienne, Son arrière petite-fille, avait besoin encore de cette expression d'affection simplement humaine ; après tout, c'était là sa famille physique, Françoise était sa tante, et j'étais l'ami qu'elle avait choisi et présenté...

Mère nous donna Ses bénédictions en disant :

« Bien. Alors, j'espère que vous verrez beaucoup de choses intéressantes... »

Nous partîmes tous deux en un pèlerinage rapide aux grands temples du Sud, en passant par les réserves sauvages du Kerala, où Fabienne m'attendit deux jours dans une maison forestière : vêtu de noir, écharpe et « longi », un groupe de pèlerins pareillement vêtus se méprirent sur mes intentions et insistèrent pour que je me joigne sans tarder à leur marche jusqu'au petit sanctuaire d'Ayappa au fond de la forêt.

Longeant l'océan, reposés par l'atmosphère plus contemplative, presque japonaise, du temple tout de bois de Trivandrum, nous rejoignîmes l'extrême pointe de l'Inde, au Cap Comorin, la foule dense et joyeuse dans les vagues des océans au soleil couchant, avant de nous arrêter un peu à Rameshwaram, sa presque île silencieuse, animée comme un inspiré par les colonnades de son temple.

Le Japon, oui, c'est là, ou plutôt jusque là, que j'avais prévu d'aller.

Comme un aveuglement qui subsistait, qui tenait encore les rênes.

De retour à Pondichéry, je crus ainsi qu'il était temps pour moi de repartir, de continuer, muni maintenant de la dimension manquante, comme pour poursuivre ma récolte, le glanage dont je rapporterais les fruits à ceux que j'avais laissés...

J'écrivis à Mère mon intention, Lui demandant Ses bénédictions.

Le 8 Janvier 1970, Elle m'écrivit en retour, dans une enveloppe marbrée de rose, marquée « à Didier » de Sa main, que Françoise me remit :

« Chacun porte le Divin en lui-même ; un Divin qui voit et sait tout quoi qu'Il soit invisible ; un Divin qui est prêt à devenir le guide infallible si on apprend à L'écouter.

Bénédictions. Mère. »

Je fis mon sac.

On me souhaita bon voyage ; avec beaucoup de gentillesse, d'amitié, et peut-être quelque chose d'un peu moqueur dans les regards, un amusement très discret, chaleureux aussi.

Je pris le bus pour Madras, où j'espérais trouver un bateau en partance.

Sur la route deux choses se produisirent.

La première : l'expérience qu'il n'y a rien d'autre que le Divin, ou, positivement, de la présence concrète du Divin, du Seigneur, en toute chose, en chaque atome - indubitable, indiscutable, radicale.

La deuxième : la réalisation - un peu honteuse mais soulagée - de mon imbécillité, de cette ridicule vanité qui m'avait fait persévérer sur « mon » chemin de gnome, ce crétinisme obstiné insistant sur ses propres termes obtus alors même que la porte s'était ouverte sur tant de vérité et que le vrai travail m'avait tendu la main.

Je pris le prochain bus de retour.

Honte, embarras. Mais surtout la joie, la joie de l'enfant qui revient enfin.
 Et le sourire réconciliant de ceux qui venaient de me souhaiter bonne route.
 Mais alors il fallut s'organiser, et trouver où se donner, comment fonctionner, regarder tout cela autrement, à long terme, commencer de saisir les termes de l'aventure, ses niveaux ou degrés d'engagement – la vie de l'Ashram, ou celle d'Auroville, et cette mouvance d'êtres et de tendances qui gravitaient vers Elle.
 Je décidai d'abord de louer une maison indépendante, qui vite servit de repaire et de refuge aux uns et aux autres, pionniers de ce grand plateau aride et rouge qu'Elle avait nommé Auroville.
 Et Fabienne et moi eûmes la permission d'occuper une hutte à « Forecomers », et d'y aider à la construction d'un premier barrage dans les ravines.

Il y avait un brassage constant, de tous les instants, de contacts, de rencontres, de mouvements, d'expériences dans la veille comme dans le sommeil, une tension multipliée d'obstacles, de résistances et de réceptivités, un défrichage comme un chantier interne, des moments si pénibles et des moments si pleins, des angoisses presque insupportables et de grandes ondes de confiance et de bien.
 Il me fallait aussi communiquer, à C., à ceux qui avaient été mes compagnons jusque là, la nature de mon engagement ; et considérer aussi d'autres facteurs, tels que le service militaire (qu'une inscription tardive à des cours par correspondance m'avait permis de remettre à plus tard).
 Et je lisais, lisais, tant que je pouvais, les mots de Mère, les écrits de Satprem (Fabienne et moi avions emporté « l'Aventure de la Conscience » dans notre voyage, nous le lisant l'un à l'autre dans nos chambres d'hôtel le soir venu), et je commençais à entrer dans l'œuvre de Sri Aurobindo, avec « La Synthèse des Yoga », développant en même temps ma compréhension de la langue anglaise.

Et j'avais tant de questions à poser à Mère, lourdes, maladroites, encombrées.
 La perfection physique, l'exactitude de la transmission physique, de la relation du corps à la conscience, à la vérité intérieure, était une préoccupation dominante.
 Ainsi je Lui écrivis : (« Mère, est-ce égoïste, est-ce inutile, que de vouloir le corps, l'image, clairs, vivants, lisses, exacts, que de vouloir ouvrir le physique et l'image afin qu'ils transcrivent dans leur propre harmonie posée, formelle, la lumière encore immanente ? J'ai l'impression que je ne pourrai aller réellement plus loin, plus haut, plus complètement, que lorsque cette frontière, qui est le véhicule ici, sera assez perfectionnée pour attendre dans une danse calme que tout l'être se réalise. Il y a, à mes yeux, dans l'apparence individuelle, comme un langage pur, presque théorique et, pour qu'il devienne tangible, il faudrait dissoudre une à une toutes les imperfections qui s'y greffent et s'en nourrissent en l'altérant, appelées par quelques correspondances internes qui la trahissent. Investir de l'attention, de l'énergie dans cet effort, est-ce gaspiller, est-ce errer ? »...)
 Ici, dans la marge, Mère écrivit :
 « Non, c'est très nécessaire. »
 (... « Comment faire ? Mère, de quoi le corps, de quoi le visage sont-ils l'image ? Quelle est cette force négative qui s'y attache et y retient parfois prisonnière une part de l'être sans laquelle on ne peut voyager plus avant ? L'égo, le vital, mais qu'est-ce précisément ? Mère totale, voudriez-vous me dire aussi comment, parfois, je puis me sentir si proche de vous, comment vos paroles, votre manière peuvent me sembler familières, du moins ce que j'ai pu percevoir de vos écrits ou de votre action ?... Est-ce seulement une projection de l'égo ? »...)
 Mère souligna ce passage et marqua une croix dans la marge.

(... « Merci infiniment, Mère, j'ai tant de bonheur d'être arrivé là, j'en ai tant encore devant le travail futur. Didier. »)

En bas de ma lettre, à côté d'une nouvelle croix, Mère écrivit ceci :

« C'est l'éveil psychique qui a cet effet sur la conscience, et c'est par cet éveil que le corps peut être éclairé et transformé. Avec mes bénédictions. Mère. »

Graduellement, imperceptiblement, par petites touches quotidiennes d'une expérience à l'autre, quelque chose au-dedans pouvait se détendre, apprenait à s'offrir, et cet amour qu'Elle donnait comme des flots de puissance amie surgissant du dedans et circulant partout et pressant doucement d'en haut si bien que nous étions comme dans un cocon de lumière dont la réalité concrète dissipait les frontières entre l'extérieur et l'intérieur, la matière et l'état spirituel, petit à petit, telle une couvée timide, hésitante, le sentiment croissait d'une intimité, d'une proximité vivante avec Elle, et d'une liberté de don de soi.

Je pus découvrir ainsi la vérité de la gratitude.

Cette possibilité qu'Elle me donnait de m'adresser directement à Elle, ce soin dont Elle m'entourait comme l'un de Ses enfants, cette acceptation de ce que j'étais vers ce qu'Elle voudrait faire de moi : tout cela devenait le canal d'une compréhension qui mûrissait et grandissait dans la sécurité de Son amour, porté par l'énergie de Son travail de chaque seconde, une Action qui était comme une marée de conscience.

En Février, le jour de Sa fête, Mère donna Son Darshan du balcon de Sa chambre, et je pus éprouver là, dans la foule silencieuse assemblée, le pur déploiement de cette Grâce immobile, intemporelle, l'instant de la Rencontre. Tout était là ; sans mots. Le sens même du Travail.

Mais, dans les actes et les mouvements du quotidien, la Pression qui était posée sur chacun s'exerçait sans la moindre pitié ; comme un grand phare de conscience, intransigeante, instantanée, elle éclairait précisément et directement la nature et l'origine de chacun de ces actes et ces mouvements, qu'ils soient visibles ou subtils. C'était un tamisage sans merci.

Tous ceux qui comme moi vinrent à Elle durant cette période sont ainsi passés par ce crible, à la fois chargé d'un amour qui sait et comprend tout, et d'une exigence comme d'un glaive de feu.

Car nous étions tous et chacun reçus là, chaleureusement parfois et parfois froidement, comme dans un corral invisible, un espace d'attente et de tri, dont il y avait trois sorties : la vie de l'Ashram, avec sa discipline particulière et sa concentration rigoureuse sur la sadhana individuelle ; la vie embryonnaire d'Auroville, avec toutes ses demandes et ses promesses ; retourner « dans le monde » en apprenant à écouter Cela au-dedans de soi.

Et ce processus d'orientation ne répondait à aucun de nos critères connus, mais à une loi et à des nécessités intérieures en chaque individu dont on était soi-même, le plus souvent, encore inconscient.

Cette action traitait directement avec l'âme et la possibilité évolutive de chacun et leurs besoins correspondants, étrangère à toute considération extérieure.

Pratiquement, il était impossible à Mère de répondre physiquement à chaque question, à chaque nécessité du nombre chaque jour croissant de ceux qui se tournaient vers Elle et devenaient conscients de Sa présence.

Le privilège de recevoir un peu de Son attention physique, du temps de Son corps, quelques mots, la pression de Ses mains, l'absoluité de Son regard, était comme un trésor sans prix qu'il fallait apprendre à chérir et respecter à l'abri de toute vanité.

Une fois, alors que je craignais un retour de jaunisse, Mère m'envoya le message de prendre une poudre ayurvédique confectionnée à l'Ashram, le « Sudarshan Churna », dont l'amertume se chargea pour moi de toute la sécurité qui me venait d'Elle, avec le sens grandissant d'une relation profondément établie, au sein d'une dimension libre de la vie comme de la mort du corps.

Avec C., ma mère physique, s'était au cours de mes années développée une relation dont j'avais pu dans la vie des autres vérifier l'exception, faite d'une confiance inconditionnelle et pourtant lucide et réaliste et d'un sens vivant de l'harmonie, du respect, d'une communication qui ne triche pas et ne rejette rien.

Je tentai, par lettre, de l'introduire à cette expérience pour laquelle il n'y avait dans notre passé commun aucune correspondance et aucune référence, autres que certains de mes propres tâtonnements, des « impressions » que j'avais eu parfois l'occasion de lui faire partager. (Il faut préciser ici que C., ma mère, et F., mon père, étaient chacun résolument athéistes, par souci de liberté et essentiellement comme une forme d'intégrité et de respect de l'autre.)

Elle accepta de venir.

Nous étions en Mars. J'écrivis à Mère : (« Mère totale, à propos de la visite prochaine de ma mère – et peut-être d'une femme amie – en Inde et à l'Ashram ; il m'a semblé préférable d'aller chercher ma mère à Bombay, en tant qu'intermédiaire entre elle et Toi, entre elle et ce que Tu éclaireras de son être. Elle et moi avons, je crois, un rapport très positif, déjà assez libre, et dont l'équilibre repose sur un bonheur intérieur commun et une sorte d'amitié profonde et indestructible. Mère, veux-Tu me montrer quelle doit être mon attitude ?... »)

Ici, dans la marge, Mère écrivit :

(« ... J'ai un peu d'appréhension. Mère, chaque jour Tu me permets d'avancer dans un bonheur dynamique – je désire tant Te servir - ... et tout ce que je puis Te dire sans l'écrire, dans une confiance toujours croissante, je comprend mieux ce qu'il y a à changer dans cette nature que j'ai reçue. Je souhaite devenir un moyen fidèle et conscient, dans un être transformé. Merci à chaque instant. Pardon à chaque instant. Didier. »)

En bas de ma lettre, Mère écrivit :

Il semblait que Mère doucement orientait Fabienne vers le rythme plus rassemblé, plus protégé des désordres et des excès, de l'existence quotidienne dans l'Ashram.

Je partis seul à Bombay.

Je décidai qu'il faudrait pour amortir le choc d'un passage si abrupt à une humanité si autre, le grand luxe, et je réservai une suite à l'hôtel Taj. Cela nous donna le temps de retrouver un souffle partagé, cette amitié tendre, attentive et complice.

A Pondichéry Mère arrangea une chambre pour C. chez Redge.

Ce confort et cette harmonie lui permirent de traverser une première période bien rude, où il lui sembla que j'allais disparaître dans une sorte d'entreprise à la fois incompréhensible et inacceptable ; elle y voyait une sorte d'injustice foncière, mais en même temps se savait tenue de respecter mes choix, quels qu'ils soient, et de tenter de m'y accompagner tout en restant elle-même, si toutefois je le lui permettais.

Puis, sans bien s'en rendre compte, elle commença de se libérer de tout un poids de préconceptions et d'idées reçues, d'une morale à rebours qui juge sans comprendre, et à prêter attention à un aspect de l'amour de Mère, essentiellement direct et pratique ; elle se sentit plus légère et en mesure de regarder cet horizon si autre avec moins d'appréhension.

Ce serait bientôt ma fête ; j'aurais 20 ans le 9 Avril.

C. serait là, et ce jour-là, Mère la verrait aussi.

C'était le moment-charnière de cette vie.

J'avais remarqué qu'un certain nombre de gens avaient reçu de Sri Aurobindo et de Mère un nom nouveau, leur nom spirituel, marquant leur nouvelle naissance psychique et spirituelle. Mais toutes les demandes n'étaient pas satisfaites et certains devaient attendre longtemps. Françoise elle-même, qui était toujours mon intermédiaire auprès de Mère, Lui avait déjà plusieurs fois demandé un nouveau nom, sans réponse – « plus tard », avait dit Mère.

J'avais conscience aussi qu'il fallait essayer de ne pas déranger Mère avec nos demandes égoïstes et nos questions sans fin auxquelles nous ferions mieux d'apprendre à discerner directement les réponses.

Mais il y avait ce besoin dedans d'une confirmation de ce passage, de cette expérience intérieure, de ce retournement de conscience – non pas une confirmation du fait de l'expérience : cela était souverain, irréfutable, la seule certitude. Mais une confirmation de la direction que devait prendre ma vie, et presque de sa fonction.

Françoise m'encouragea à demander mon nom.

Et je préparai pour Mère les deux questions qui étaient les plus importantes, les plus déterminantes.

Je sus presque tout de suite que Mère avait accepté et choisi mon nom. Et que je devais bien comprendre, me dit-on, combien il était remarquable que Mère m'ait pris pour disciple. Et on m'offrit l'explication spirituelle du nom que Mère avait choisi : « Celui qui donne le Jour ». L'un des plus anciens disciples, Udar, ajouta que, du point de vue du travail à faire, cela signifiait : « Celui qui change l'obscurité en lumière ».

Car ce nom est le nom du soleil au moment où il se lève dans le ciel visible, le soleil qui surgit à l'aurore.

Ce jour-là, le 9 Avril, nous fûmes 4 aux pieds de Mère.

Françoise et Fabienne se tenaient à Sa droite, C. devant Elle, tandis que je me tenais un peu à Sa gauche, et Mère s'occupa d'abord de mettre C. à l'aise, lui offrant des fleurs et des bénédictions, s'enquérant doucement de son séjour.

Puis Mère remit à Fabienne et à moi chacun un médaillon d'or portant en relief Son Symbole d'un côté et celui de Sri Aurobindo de l'autre et pouvant contenir un sachet de bénédictions.

Alors Elle me tendit une grande enveloppe, l'enveloppe de ma fête, sur laquelle Elle avait écrit avec un gros fusain noir :

« Divakar ».

Et Elle me dit :

« Voilà. Une nouvelle naissance. Pour ta fête. Les réponses à tes questions sont dedans. »

Ainsi, en présence de ma mère physique, Mère me re-nomma.

Le temps pressait, beaucoup d'autres attendaient de La voir, nous devions partir. Me redressant, encore à genoux, je voulus Lui demander, devant C. : (« Mère, pourrai-je rester ici ? »)

Mère tourna Son regard dans le mien, et ne répondit rien. Nous sortîmes de Sa chambre.

Voici ce que l'enveloppe contenait :

Une double carte sur laquelle Mère avait écrit :

« 9.4.70 Bonne Fête à Divakar avec mes bénédictions. Mère. »

Puis se trouvaient les deux cartes que je Lui avais envoyées, photographies d'Elle au dos desquelles j'avais écrit mes deux questions.

Au dos de la première, en grandes majuscules (on m'avait prévenu que Mère traversait des épreuves physiques et qu'Elle ne voyait plus clairement), j'avais écrit : (« Mère, veux-Tu de moi pur la transformation ? »)

Mère écrivit, juste sous la question :

« Oui.

Mais de ton côté tu dois avoir l'endurance
bénédictions

Mère. »

Au dos de la seconde photographie, j'avais écrit : (« Mère, seras-Tu toujours dans mon cœur ? »)

Et juste sous la question, Mère répondit :

« Oui. Mais tu en seras conscient en proportion de ta sincérité bénédictions

Mère. »

C. repartit en France.

Le temps de butiner venait à sa fin. Et mon visa aussi allait bientôt expirer.

Les choses devenaient un peu plus sérieuses, les conditions de l'engagement un peu plus tranchantes.

Il y avait entre Françoise et moi une certaine attraction et de l'amitié ; et je lui étais très reconnaissant des soins qu'elle avait pris, et de l'accès qu'elle m'avait permis de trouver, par elle, à Mère. Mais peut-être attendait-elle plus de moi, ou bien s'est-elle méprise sur mon attitude, voyant de l'arrogance là où il n'y avait que la tension de ma lutte envers mes propres contradictions.

Par elle, j'écrivis bientôt à Mère : (« Douce Mère, dans l'état actuel, je ne puis rien dire de ma sincérité, mais, es-Tu d'accord pour que je demande, par Kiran, une prolongation d'un an de mon visa, malgré le fait que j'aurai probablement à retourner en France pour essayer d'obtenir la réforme du service militaire, soit en Août, soit en Octobre ? Veux Tu donner Ton accord écrit, ou en faire part à Françoise. Mère, je veux T'obéir pour toutes choses. Je sens un besoin, une volonté impératifs de rester ici, tout à Toi, et d'apprendre par Toi à Te rejoindre au fond de mon cœur, pour T'aider et Te servir. Gratitude. Divakar. »)

Au bas de la lettre, Mère écrivit :

« C'est bien

bénédictions

Mère. »

Muni de cet accord écrit de la main de Mère, je me rendis au bureau d'Auroville pour que Kiran fasse les démarches nécessaires.

Une semaine plus tard, je revins la voir. Tout embarrassée, la mine triste et me signifiant son impuissance, elle m'apprit qu'un contrordre avait été donné ; elle ne pouvait me dire ni comment ni pourquoi, mais la permission de rester m'était refusée.

Le malaise m'envahit.

J'allai tout de suite trouver Françoise, qui me reçut avec une froideur déterminée, se montrant offensée de mon insistance, et refusant de me fournir la moindre explication. Sa porte se fermait et, par là même, c'est l'accès à Mère qui me devenait interdit.

Quelques jours s'écoulèrent dans une sorte de stupéfaction, une brûlure qui m'étreignait.

Il m'était récemment arrivé à plusieurs reprises que quelqu'un que je connaissais à peine tente de m'avertir ; ce fut une fois une jeune femme, mère de l'un des premiers enfants nés à Auroville, qui m'interpella pour me mettre en garde, me disant qu'on cherchait à me jouer un mauvais tour.

Au cours des années précédentes, on m'avait souvent défini alternativement comme un ange ou un diable, et j'avais tendance à en prendre, sans en comprendre clairement les termes, la responsabilité ; avec elle venait un sentiment de culpabilité que tantôt je rejetais, qui tantôt m'étouffait.

J'étais conscient que ma présence ne laissait guère indifférent, il y avait là trop d'intensité, mais je ne me connaissais aucune mauvaise volonté.

Je me sentais surtout trop aveugle, trop ignorant, trop divisé entre mes désirs et mon aspiration, le désespoir et le besoin de servir.

Et là, je n'avais pas la moindre compréhension de ce qui se passait, de la cause ou des causes de cette obstruction, de ce rejet.

S'il m'était possible de deviner le rôle de jalousies ou de dépits personnels, je ne pouvais pas saisir en quoi cela pourrait influencer sur la décision de Mère.

Je me sentais comme un condamné que l'on aurait jugé à son insu.

Un soir, alors que je me tenais debout à mon poste habituel près du Samadhi de Sri Aurobindo, Paola s'approcha de moi et demanda à me parler. Je savais seulement d'elle qu'elle était la mère d'Aurofilio, un tout petit enfant, le premier d'Auroville je crois, dont j'aimais toujours rencontrer le radieux sourire et la reconnaissance immédiate du regard. Elle me dit qu'elle travaillait comme secrétaire pour Nata, qui était lui-même un intermédiaire auprès de Mère, principalement pour les Italiens ; et que Nata l'avait chargée de me dire qu'il m'avait observé et qu'il était touché par ma sincérité et triste de ce qui venait de m'arriver, et qu'il s'offrait ainsi que sa compagne Maggi, elle-même l'une des secrétaires de Mère, à remettre à Mère mes lettres et mes questions si je le souhaitais.

C'est ainsi que je rencontrai Nata et Maggi, chez eux.

Ils ne purent, ou ne voulurent, rien m'expliquer non plus. Mais leur bonne volonté était tangible, et c'était pour moi le sauvetage.

Je ne voulais pas déranger Mère. Nous savions tous combien, parfois, Elle peinait, là-haut, dans Sa chambre, même si nous ne pouvions mesurer l'ampleur et la portée de Son travail, et ne soupçonnions pas l'horreur de ce qu'Elle devait parfois seule affronter.

Maggi et moi convînmes que, si Mère en avait le temps à la prochaine entrevue qu'elle aurait avec Elle, Maggi Lui demanderait simplement de dire ce que je devais faire.

A cette période, Mère demeurait le plus souvent en transe – du moins c'est ainsi que les uns et les autres choisissaient de définir l'état de concentration dans lequel Mère était de plus en plus plongée.

Je précisai à Maggi que je ne demandais qu'un mot, oui, ou non, et de faire savoir à Mère que, quelle que soit Sa réponse, je la prendrais comme Sa Grâce – il me semble que c'est à la suggestion de Maggi que j'ajoutai cette dernière donnée de ma requête, mais je me souviens y avoir adhéré de toute ma volonté, car je ne voyais pas d'autre attitude digne et décente et offerte.

J'attendis longtemps dans la petite cour en retrait du Samadhi.

Enfin Maggi revint de la chambre de Mère.

Elle me raconta ceci : qu'elle avait posé ma question à Mère ; que Mère s'était très longtemps concentrée ; puis que Mère avait demandé à Maggi :

« Il a bien dit que ce serait une Grâce ? »

Maggi confirma qu'en effet, c'est bien ce que j'avais dit.

Mère Se concentra encore un long moment, puis Elle prit un petit bout de papier, sur lequel Elle écrivit :

« Non »

Maggi me tendit ce petit papier et je sortis dans la rue, débordant d'un chagrin qui me fit sangloter longtemps, seul et nulle part sur ce trottoir, jusqu'à ce qu'un ami, F.Ga., m'y trouve.

Cette journée s'achevait et c'était comme s'il n'y avait plus de sol où poser le prochain pas.

Alors je m'en suis allé jusqu'à la digue, devant l'océan, où je savais pouvoir retrouver Satprem. Je le rejoignis là et m'assis près de lui, déchargeant un peu ma peine.

Il me dit : (« C'est quand tout va mal que le yoga va le plus vite... crois-moi, j'en ai l'expérience !!! On se reverra... ! »)

Ces mots de lui me permirent de tenir : « On se reverra »...

Les choses s'arrangèrent pour mon départ. J'obtins une extension limitée de mon visa. Un jeune menuisier Français, G., avait décidé de repartir en France avec sa petite voiture, une « 2 Chevaux », laissant à Auroville tout son équipement, et cherchait un compagnon de voyage.

Mais comment pourrais-je repartir sans La revoir ?

Je priai Nata de demander à Mère si je pouvais La voir avant de m'en aller.

Mère lui donna la date du 10 Mai.

Dans la maison que je louais dans le quartier musulman, M'zali (que Mère nomma « Krishna » plus tard) venait souvent dormir ; notre amitié était très puissante, presque éprouvante par son intensité et la force qui nous unissait nous propulsait parfois dans des domaines inattendus.

C'est ainsi qu'une nuit j'eus l'expérience de descendre avec lui, à grande vitesse ; dans une région du subconscient profond, et nous étions tous deux comme entourés d'une lumière intime et chaleureuse, mais le choc de la descente brisa comme une limite. Quand je revins à l'état de veille, j'eus la sensation que quelque chose s'était produite avec le sachet de bénédictions que je portais scellé dans mon médaillon.

Je l'ouvris et trouvai le sachet calciné.

C'est le lendemain que je devais voir Mère.

Je pris avec moi une coupe d'argile que, sur le chemin, je remplis de pétales jaune d'or de « Service », y déposant une fleur corail vermillon d' « Amour Divin » et quelques fleurs, roulées comme des coquillages d'un bleu profond et lumineux, de « la Conscience de Radha ».

Je rejoignis Nata à l'Ashram et montai avec lui l'escalier de Mère.

Nous n'attendîmes pas longtemps.

Je suivis Nata dans Sa chambre, mais il s'écarta sur le seuil et me laissa entrer seul, gardant la porte.

Mère était assise dans Son grand fauteuil, le dos à la porte, si bien qu'Elle ne pouvait me voir marcher vers Elle.

Pourtant, avant même de me voir, alors que je m'avançais jusqu'à Elle, d'une voix grave et forte et ferme, Elle commença de me dire :

« Tu verras, tu sentiras, tu comprendras, dans quelques temps, que c'est la meilleure chose à faire... »

Et, alors que je m'agenouillai devant Elle, Elle ajouta ce mot :

« L'avenir... »...

qu'Elle laissa suspendu dans le silence.

Elle était vêtue d'une simple robe brune, d'un brun un peu brûlé comme la terre, Ses bras découverts.

Ses yeux plongèrent au fond de « moi », ma main dans les Siennes, blanches et fraîches et chargées de cette Onde, et ce moment s'inscrivait entièrement et pour toujours ; je posai brièvement ma tête sur Ses genoux et Ses mains et Son sourire soudain me bénirent encore.

Puis je me souvins de ce que je voulais Lui demander, je touchai mon médaillon pour Lui signaler ce qui était arrivé ; sans un mot Elle me tendit un paquet de bénédictions.

Puis je Lui remis un exemplaire du petit livre de Sri Aurobindo « La Mère », que je voulais emporter avec moi.

Elle prit un stylo sur la tablette à côté d'Elle, ouvrit le livre et écrivit sur la première page :

« Bénédiction. Mère. »

Alors... bien que Nata gardât la porte de Mère avec une détermination qui exprimait à la fois son amitié pour moi et son adoration d'Elle, je ne me sentais pas le « droit » de rester plus longtemps, de « profiter » de ce privilège – et, à ce moment, il n'y avait plus de mots, plus de pensées ; il y avait ce silence seulement, dans lequel Elle venait de laisser le mot « avenir »...

Comment s'en aller ?

Il fallut bien pourtant physiquement m'éloigner, sortir physiquement de cette chambre, physiquement cesser de La regarder.

Vint le jour du départ.

G. avait gardé sa voiture devant le bureau d'Auroville, juste à côté et en face de l'Ashram. Plusieurs messages d'amitié étaient posés sur le pare-brise.

Nous roulâmes à travers l'Inde, sans hâte, jusqu'à Bombay puis, traversant le Rajasthan, jusqu'à Delhi. Le plus souvent possible au volant, la conduite m'aida à recouvrer un rythme un peu libéré du désespoir, un peu plus de courage. Et je respirais l'Inde, m'en imprégnais de tous les pores, absorbais, me nourrissais de ses dimensions, comme si je voulais me charger à bloc avant de lâcher prise.

A Delhi, nous nous séparâmes. « Voyager » en-dehors de l'Inde n'avait pour moi plus de sens. Je retournais sur mes pas, mais les bras emplis du plus beau présent du monde – comment pourrais-je communiquer un peu de Cela qui m'avait été donné sans le trahir ?

J'éprouvai là une appréhension physique : quitter l'Inde, c'était comme tomber.

Alors je voulus une étape, une transition lumineuse : je télégraphiai à mon ami et compagnon C.V de venir me rejoindre à Copenhague, dans la clarté limpide du Nord, lui et moi seuls et loin de tout ce que nous connaissions.

Nous vécûmes là sur un bateau amarré au quai, quelques jours d'un intermède que nous avons pu dérober à l'inexorable nivellement.

Puis nous redescendîmes.

C'était concrètement, là où le corps et l'être intérieur s'étaient trouvés et unis, comme une culbute dimensionnelle. Dans l'air même, il manquait l'essentiel.

Mais il fallait vivre, comme tout le monde, et apprendre à partager autant qu'il serait possible.

Je retrouvai les « miens ». Ce que je ramenaï en moi-même, cela aurait-il pour chacun d'eux un sens ?

Je dus bientôt régler cette question de service militaire.

Nanti d'un certificat rédigé par un ami médecin et psychothérapeute, je me laissai volontairement couler dans un état de vulnérabilité psychologique extrême et me présentai ainsi à la commission médicale. Je fus de suite exempté. Ce n'était pas mentir ; de leur point de vue, ma seule bisexualité leur aurait posé problème et je leur épargnai, en fait, bien du tracass.

Il sembla que la démarche la plus évidente serait une vie commune, apprenant à s'organiser et développer notre conscience avec Elle et Sri Aurobindo comme base et comme guide.

Chaque fois que je servais de relais pour mettre quelqu'un en contact avec Mère et Son travail, je me sentais rassuré, utile. Quel que soit le résultat apparent de toute rencontre individuelle, quiconque entrait dans l'orbe de ce grand labueur terrestre, entrait aussi dans la protection exacte de ces grandes ailes de vérité dont l'onde transformatrice était prête à agir dans tous les cœurs.

Deux amis, qui m'avaient rendu visite à Pondichéry, avaient acheté un petit château délabré du côté de Vézelay dans la forêt, avec ses champs vallonnés et son ruisseau et sa grange.

On y emménagea petit à petit, colmatant les toitures, comblant les brèches, arrimant nos tentes de nomades devant les grands âtres de pierre, faisant nos nids dans les combles, essayant de rassembler utilement nos capacités diverses.

Certains ne faisaient que passer tandis que d'autres choisissaient de rester, mais tout semblait répondre à une logique souriante et joueuse qui articulait la coïncidence jusque dans le détail et l'instant, comme si cette vaste Présence bienveillante et rigoureuse en même temps s'offrait comme un nouveau milieu – une autre atmosphère se faufilant, s'imbriquant dans l'atmosphère terrestre.

Mon ami C.V décida lui aussi de faire le voyage jusqu'à Mère, et j'en informai Nata. De mon côté j'éprouvai vite le besoin d'une réassurance, de la perspective plus ou moins éloignée, mais sûre, de mon retour, pour mieux me concentrer sur les changements nécessaires. Je communiquai ce souci à Nata, en Août.

Il ne put me répondre que le 19 Septembre.

Nata m'écrivit ainsi : (« Mon cher Divakat. Oui, Mère n'a pas été très bien pendant le mois d'Août. Elle a reçu seulement les disciples les plus intimes. Maintenant Elle est assez mieux, au point tel que j'ai pu lui lire votre lettre du 9 écoulé. Mère a dit que pour le moment il n'est pas question de revenir à l'Ashram. C'est trop tôt. Elle vous avisera. Elle m'a donné pour vous le sachet de bénédictions ci-joint. Je suis content de l'arrivée de votre ami Christian. Il faut qu'il sache que maintenant c'est très difficile d'être reçu par Mère. Avez-vous reçu ma lettre du 30 Août ? Bien, mon ami, je vous souhaite la paix profonde. Nata. »)

Une sorte de communauté se formait, dans les ruines de ce petit château, et la douceur de l'automne nous permit de nous préparer à l'hiver. Etablir nos rythmes journaliers, nos tâches, un rassemblement minimal de ressources, chacun contribuant selon ses possibilités. Ramasser le bois mort, cuire le pain, récupérer des tissus et des vêtements chauds pour tous, nous approvisionner et nous équiper pour quelques activités artisanales, telles furent les priorités au cours de ces premiers mois.

Il n'y avait pas de discours particulier, pas de programme, pas de théorie, chacun portait et partageait ses questions, ses découvertes.

Plutôt qu'une communauté définie par ses buts, ses projets, ses principes, ou un enseignement quelconque qu'il se serait agi de mettre en pratique, c'était une sorte de fluidité qui s'exerçait là, s'élargissait ou se concentrait au gré des rencontres, des mouvements et des passages.

La seule référence tangible était la présence et le travail de Mère et Sri Aurobindo, et les fragments d'expérience que certains d'entre nous avaient déjà récoltés.

Une tension persistait en moi, car il me semblait comprendre combien il était impératif que je sache me dégager de tout attachement. Ma nature était telle que j'entrais profondément dans les êtres qu'il m'était donné de rencontrer, ce que je percevais comme une capacité vraie, mais l'égo et l'inconscience s'en mêlaient inévitablement et pouvaient en dévier la portée, en corrompre l'utilité. Le plus souvent, d'intenses attachements étaient ainsi formés, qui pesaient et secrétaient de la douleur, comme une misère qui devenait intolérable.

Je pressentais que, avant que cette capacité puisse vraiment servir, agir au service de la vérité, libre de tout mélange, un long travail de purification serait nécessaire – pas une purification morale, mais une purification du poids et de l'emprise de l'égo. Un début, au moins, de transformation psychologique.

J'étais souvent moi-même, et depuis l'enfance, la première « victime » de cette force d'attachement, quel que soit son « objet ».

Même envers Mère.

En Novembre, j'écrivis de nouveau à Nata, pour Elle.

Le 18 Novembre, il me répondit : (« Cher Divakat. J'ai lu à Mère votre lettre du 9 écoulé. Voici sa réponse : un cœur avec sa photo et ses bénédictions. Vous faites très bien à écrire avec fréquence : cela vous permettra de vous tenir dans la conscience physique de Mère pendant les instants que je lui lise votre lettre. Elle se souvient de vous très bien et chaque fois se concentre assez longtemps. Je me rends compte que le grand désir qui vous domine de revenir à l'Ashram crée en vous une sorte de complexe. Tâchez de n'y pas penser. Soyez sûr que le moment venu, Mère ne manquera pas de me dire : Nata, écris à Divakat qu'il vienne. L'attachement à n'importe quoi ne pourra pas vous faire du bien, mais seulement retarder votre avancement sur le sentier de la transformation. Je me souviens de vous avec amitié et affection. Nata. ») (Nata, d'origine Italienne, n'avait qu'une maîtrise approximative de la grammaire française.. !)

Le petit cœur contenu dans l'enveloppe, découpé probablement dans un carton dur et recouvert de soie peinte, se composait en fait de deux cœurs articulés, s'ouvrant pour révéler la toute petite photographie de Mère, en face de laquelle Elle avait écrit, en tous petits caractères :

« bénédictions

Mère »

C'est Champaklal qui avait peint les deux motifs, l'un d'une rose rosée, épanouie, l'autre d'un lotus rose tout ouvert.

Parmi ceux qui avaient un jour débarqué dans notre havre, une jeune femme, M.S, était arrivée avec un tout petit enfant, Cyril ; le père, un garçon brillant mais plutôt déséquilibré, que j'avais un peu connu, lui avait indiqué notre adresse comme un refuge possible ; avec cet enfant, qui ne marchait pas encore, un lien se forma presque immédiatement et, avec ce lien, le sens accru d'une responsabilité. Mais je me voulais comme un relais seulement ; il me semblait que la seule chose de valeur que je pouvais offrir, passer aux autres, était la conscience de la présence de Mère, de Son action – et il y avait Auroville qui s'ouvrait au monde, à tous ceux qui souhaitaient tenter l'expérience.

Peu de temps après mon départ de Pondichéry mon ami M'zali avait lui aussi demandé un nom à Mère. Originaire du Sud du Maroc, son père était venu des peuplades nomades sub-sahariennes, et son physique remarquable était plutôt celui d'un peuhl. Mère l'avait vu plusieurs fois et accepta de lui donner son nom. Elle lui écrivit sur une petite carte :

« J'ai clairement vu et entendu : il devrait s'appeler Krishna. Bénédictions. Mère. »

Krishna, ainsi, m'avait envoyé cette nouvelle et m'écrivait que je lui manquais et qu'il souhaitait venir me rejoindre.

Quand il arriva, un projet s'était déjà formé en lui, comme une mission qu'il se donnait au service de Mère, avec toute sa passion : il voulait traverser le continent de l'Afrique dans sa plus grande largeur, d'Ouest en Est, afin qu'à travers lui, à travers sa naissance d'Africain – enfant de la Mère – cette grande masse vibrante d'expérience humaine soit offerte et portée à Ses pieds, pour l'avenir de la terre.

Quand nous étions ensemble, il nous semblait que tout était possible, nous éprouvions l'incandescence d'un amour qui semblait pouvoir tout embrasser, tout rencontrer.

Je l'emmenai bientôt dans le Sud Ouest, rendre visita à mes frères, puis nous retrouvâmes près de Bergerac plusieurs de nos amis, dans la maison de Rakhal, lui aussi nommé par Mère, qui avait habité avec nous à Pondichéry.

De là, Krishna et moi traversâmes seuls les Pyrénées jusqu'à Montserrat, au lieu de la Vierge Noire. Puis nous rejoignîmes A.R et mon compagnon C.V à Barcelone – la cathédrale inachevée...

Krishna s'en fut, seul, vers le Sénégal.

L'hiver nous attendait, dans notre mesure de pierre.

Mais il ne fallut pas deux mois à Krishna pour parcourir la distance du Sénégal à l'Éthiopie. Il lui sembla alors que l'expérience demeurait incomplète si je n'y participais pas, si notre amitié n'y était pas présente.

Il m'appela.

Je pris l'avion pour Adis Abéba. Nous avons rendez-vous dans le Sud, et je le vis s'avancer sur le quai de la petite gare, vêtu à la musulmane, une ample gandourah blanche et or, un turban – et pourtant toujours je le retrouverais dans les foules, lui en qui je pouvais loger comme il pouvait loger en moi.

Nous partîmes sur les routes, à pied, notre sac à l'épaule.

Nous marchâmes jusqu'aux grands lacs d'Ouganda, et gravirent les collines du Rwanda, puis du Burundi. Notre couple ne pouvait guère passer inaperçu : parfois l'on dansait pour nous, mais parfois aussi nous suscitons l'intolérance, ainsi au Burundi où nous fûmes arrêtés et brièvement emprisonnés selon les ordres d'un pauvre et obscur officier Belge.

L'Afrique vibrante, profondément vitale, comme une subconscience sans frontières, une avec sa terre, ses plantes, ses créatures, bruisante et silencieuse demeure d'une sagesse secrète parce que la pensée ne peut la capturer, nous nous imprégnions de sa vastitude vivante en chaque instant de la veille comme du sommeil.

C'est au Congo que vint le moment de mettre un terme à cette randonnée.

Nous retournâmes vers l'océan, jusqu'à Mombassa. Krishna se sentait mieux préparé à se donner au travail d'Auroville.

Pour moi la porte était encore fermée.

Un soir pourtant, d'une ruelle de Mombassa, par une fenêtre entr'ouverte je vis les photographies de Mère et Sri Aurobindo – et j'en pleurai, comme je pleurais d'entendre, tout à coup, dans la ville, des chants de l'Inde.

Mais Krishna rentrerait seul. Je l'accompagnai au bateau.

Puis de nouveau sans argent, comme un mendiant, je revins à Nairobi.

Je reçus là l'aide nécessaire et un peu plus tard pris l'avion pour Rome.

De Rome je postai une lettre pour Mère.

De retour à Paris, Sa réponse me parvint. Nata m'écrivit : (« Cher Divakat. Merci de votre lettre de Nairobi envoyée de Rome. J'ai lu à Mère votre lettre et voici sa réponse. Vous devez savoir que pour Mère ce n'est pas facile écrire quelque chose : pour cela et pour les mots qu'elle vous envoie, vous devez vous considérer comme un privilégié. Je fais cette lettre recommandée et je vous embrasse avec affection. Nata. »)

Dans l'enveloppe se trouvait une feuille de papier sur laquelle Mère avait simplement écrit :

« Divakat. Sois sincère et fidèle. Bénédiction. Mère. »

Ainsi, Mère Elle-même avait écrit mon nom avec une « erreur », un « t » à la place du « r ». Parce que Nata le lui avait dicté ainsi ?

J'avais souvent l'expérience, depuis longtemps, d'être comme assiégé par une sorte d'adversité diffuse, malveillante, qui voulait positivement « me » détruire, ou s'attaquer à mon corps. Si je me laissais convaincre d'incapacité à répondre à la lumière, je devenais d'autant plus vulnérable. Dès que le doute s'installait dans ma conscience, cette adversité devenait active et pouvait s'exprimer à travers des proches comme au travers de mes propres mouvements (j'avais une fois déjà, jeune adolescent, tenté de me « suicider » en me tailladant les artères du poignet, et on m'avait sauvé de justesse).

C'est ainsi que je fus très ébranlé quand Cyril, le petit garçon dont je m'occupais de plus en plus, qui avait parfois beaucoup de force rebelle, m'appela un jour « Divakat », en soulignant le « t » avec une étrange intensité, comme une méchanceté.

Je n'étais pas du tout certain de la validité de cette tentative de vie communautaire, moins encore du rôle que je pouvais y jouer.

Je demandai à Nata de m'envoyer une photo récente de Mère, ce qu'il fit. Mais elle ne me parvint pas.

J'allais régulièrement, lorsque je passais à Paris, rendre visite à Janine, la petite-fille de Mère et la mère de Fabienne, chez qui je pouvais lire le dernier Bulletin de l'Ashram avec ses « Notes sur le Chemin ». C'était mon ballon d'oxygène.

En Août, 1971, Nata m'écrivit : (« J'ai bien reçu avec grand retard votre lettre du 4 Juillet. Je regrette la perte de la photo de Mère. Je répète l'envoi. Abandonnez-vous au Divin : faites le don de vous-même, sans rien cacher, sans rien retenir dans les profondeurs de votre vital, mental et physique que tout ira bien. Il ne faut pas passer son temps à se demander si on est ou si on n'est pas sur le bon chemin. Ce sont des influences mentales qu'il faut éloigner. Si vous arrivez à vous ouvrir avec toute sincérité, des profondeurs de votre être arrivera la réponse exacte avec l'indication de ce que vous devez faire. Vous pouvez rester dans la communauté où vous êtes maintenant sans vous préoccuper si elle va grandir ou non. Restez là en toute humilité, faites votre travail de karmayogin et laissez les portes ouvertes à la divine Volonté. L'entraînement physique que l'on fait à l'Ashram peut être fait n'importe où. Ecrivez-moi. Je vous embrasse. Nata. »)

Cette adversité qui tentait souvent de m'accabler était une force déterminée, comme je le compris plus tard, qui savait employer les moyens les plus inattendus comme les plus détournés. Ainsi j'appris plus tard, par exemple, que l'une de mes proches s'était, pour suivre mes pas, rendue à Pondichéry où elle s'était conduite de manière plus que provocante. J'appris aussi que cet ami par qui j'avais rencontré Fabienne avant de venir à Pondichéry, L. de D, s'était lui aussi depuis rendu à l'Ashram, où il avait retrouvé Fabienne, et qu'un incident s'était produit : Fabienne avait été retrouvée droguée sur la plage. Or cet ami avait comme moi les yeux bleus, et son intimité avec Fabienne étant égale à la mienne ; un certain nombre de gens de l'Ashram qui ne me connaissaient pas personnellement nous avaient tous deux confondus. C'est lui enfin qui – André, le fils de Mère, me le racontera plus tard – avait, par jalousie peut-être, écrit à Mère que j'étais un « Asura » - lettre que Mère avait commentée, selon André, en disant avec humour : « Il est toqué ! ».

Je ne savais rien encore de ces incidences. Mais j'éprouvais presque constamment une sorte de menace, de pression diffuse qui brouillait, trompait, alourdissait, obscurcissait, malgré toute la Grâce qu'il m'était tout de même possible de vivre et de sentir.

Je souhaitais beaucoup que tous ceux avec qui une reconnaissance s'était établie, un contact de partage ou d'amitié, reçoivent la protection de Mère et s'ouvrent à Son travail.

En particulier, je souhaitais alors que Cyril, l'enfant, soit dès que possible entouré de l'atmosphère de Mère, que ce soit à l'Ashram ou à Auroville.

J'envoyai d'abord une lettre de M.S, la mère de l'enfant, à Nata, et Nata me répondit en Septembre. (« Cher Divakat. Aujourd'hui j'ai parlé à Mère au sujet de M.S et je regrette de te dire que Mère a refusé. Elle ne veut pas que M.S vienne à Pondichéry. Je te retourne ses photos et je retiens ses lettres pour mon classeur. Bien à toi. Nata. »)

(Il est à noter ici qu'il nous a fallu plus d'un an, à Nata et à moi, pour nous tutoyer.)

Les choses se durcirent.

Je redoutais trop de ne plus pouvoir revenir, d'être « condamné », je perdais trop confiance. J'écrivis encore à Nata. (Je ne gardais aucune de mes lettres, ne faisais aucune copie.)

Mi Octobre, Nata me répondit : (« Cher Divakat. J'ai lu à Mère votre lettre du 8 crt. Elle ne veut pas que vous veniez à l'Ashram. Elle n'aime pas que vous veniez en Inde. Comment vous faire comprendre cela ? De venir ici vous trouverez toutes les portes fermées. L'Ashram ne vous recevra pas et moi-même, en vue de l'attitude de Mère, je ne pourrais rien faire en votre faveur. Excusez-moi d'avoir été si brusque mais je pense que ce soit la seule façon de vous faire comprendre. Bien à vous. Nata. »)

Ce fut la confusion, le désarroi, un autre bouleversement.

Je dus, pour seulement survivre, m'en remettre à cette flamme de certitude consciente de Cela, qui se tenait malgré tout, sans vaciller, au centre de ma conscience, et y trouver le courage et un peu de paix.

Je ne sais plus ce que j'envoyai pour Mère à Nata, quelque chose que nous avions faite de nos mains.

Mi Novembre, Nata me répondit, et pour la première fois il écrivit mon nom correctement, avec un « r ». (« Cher Divakar. J'ai remis à Mère votre cadeau. Elle est restée très contente et m'a prié de te remettre les bénédictions annexes pour toi et pour tes amis M.S et Cyril. Je t'embrasse avec amitié. Nata. »)

Quelque chose se détendait.

Une autre amie, E.B, s'apprêtait à partir pour Pondichéry.

En Inde, c'était la guerre encore, dont la cessation donna naissance au Bangladesh. Cela avait beaucoup préoccupé Mère.

J'écrivis à Satprem – que se passait-il ? Comment comprendre ces contradictions qui obstruaient le chemin ?

En Décembre, Satprem me répondit : (« Divakar. Tu la reverras quand tu seras convaincu que tes propres forces ne peuvent rien et que tu auras besoin d'Elle comme de la seule chose nécessaire... Satprem. »)

Je commençais de comprendre que seule Mère pouvait saisir objectivement la vérité de chaque être et y répondre directement.

Elle seule. Et Sri Aurobindo.

Chacun, autrement, ne comprenait l'autre, ne comprenait le monde, qu'à travers le filtre réduit et limitant de sa propre expérience.

Je n'aimais pas le rôle que j'étais amené à jouer parmi les autres, je ne croyais pas que nous pourrions parvenir à un équilibre collectif suffisamment clair. Je choisis de partir.

J'allai me réfugier peu après en Bretagne, dans la maison de mon enfance, où je pourrais à nouveau contempler la mer depuis les falaises.

Je savais que c'était égoïste, que je devais cesser de demander pour « moi ». Pourtant, j'écrivis encore.

Début Février, 1972, Nata me répondit : (« Cher Divakar. J'ai reçu et lu à Mère ta lettre du 17 Janvier. Toujours la même réponse : « Je ne veux pas qu'il vienne à l'Ashram. » Je regrette de n'avoir rien de mieux à te dire. Ecris-moi et reçois les sentiments d'affection de Nata. »)

J'insistai. Je ne demandai plus qu'à La revoir.

Le 7 Février, Nata m'écrivit : (« Cher Divakar. J'ai lu à Mère aujourd'hui ta lettre où tu demandais de venir la voir et repartir quand elle voudrait. La réponse a été encore « No. Je ne veux pas qu'il vienne. » Je regrette d'être toujours le porteur de mauvaise nouvelle... mais je dois bien transmettre ce qu'on me dit ? Je t'embrasse. Nata. »)

Avec le séjour d'E.B à Pondichéry, une autre vague de confusion s'abattit. E.B était très attachée à moi et déterminée à réaliser un couple avec moi. Mais elle rencontra aussi beaucoup d'affection et de compréhension à l'Ashram, et Mère la reçut et l'aida. Nata fut aussi son premier intermédiaire auprès de Mère. A travers elle, comme par d'autres voyageurs, je continuais de recevoir des informations troublantes et contradictoires, et je restais incapable d'élucider l'énigme de ce qui s'était passé pour moi à Pondichéry, comme du rôle que Françoise (à qui Mère avait depuis donné le nom de Purna Prema) y avait joué, et continuait d'y jouer.

Il me semblait aussi que Nata ne me disait pas ce qu'il savait, pas entièrement. Je lui écrivis pour lui demander de m'aider à comprendre. J'avais d'autre part cédé à l'attrait d'une vieille formation, celle d'« avoir » un enfant...

Nata m'écrivit d'abord : (« Mon cher Divakar. Tes relations avec Mère sont placées sur le terrain de l'incompréhension. Ce n'est pas que Mère ne veut pas de toi comme disciple, mais elle sait que ta place n'est pas ici, mais ailleurs. Pour faire quoi ? Ton être intérieur doit te suggérer. Elle t'aime, je sais qu'elle t'aime, mais ce qu'elle a choisi pour toi ne correspond pas à ce que tu veux. C'est tout. Accepte donc avec discipline sa volonté et cesse d'insister de venir à l'Ashram. Le moment venu, elle te fera savoir, n'en doute pas. Au sujet de l'enfant que tu veux avoir avec E., Mère n'a pas répondu. Ecris-moi chaque fois que tu en sens le besoin ou l'envie et reçois les meilleurs sentiments d'amitié de Nata. »)

Les lettres de Nata exprimaient les mêmes contradictions qui me tourmentaient, dont l'intensité me labourait sans répit. Je devais me « soumettre » et accepter, et en même temps il m'était permis de croire et d'espérer.

Quelques jours plus tard, fin Février, Nata m'écrivit à nouveau : (« Cher Divakar. J'ai reçu ta lettre sans date. J'ignore ce qu'E. puisse penser et t'avoir dit. Je peux t'assurer qu'il n'y a rien de personnel contre toi de la part de Purna ni de la part de Fabienne. Comment peux tu imaginer que Mère se laisse influencer par telle ou telle autre personne ? Si Elle ne veut pas que tu viennes à l'Ashram a ses raisons occultes et sûrement pour ton bien. L'obéir sans discuter c'est une façon de faire son « surrender ». Je ne peux pas te dire pourquoi E. préfère être près de toi au lieu d'être ici à l'Ashram. Peut-être est-elle poussée par le désir d'avoir une famille à soi. Toi-même dans ta lettre précédente m'avais dit que vous vouliez un enfant. Bien à toi. Nata. »)

Nata était vraiment devenu mon ami ; il servait sa fonction auprès de Mère avec beaucoup de cœur. Je le harcelais de mes lettres mais sa patience demeurait généreuse.

Début Mars, 1972, il me répondit encore : (« Cher Divakar. Je réponds à ta lettre du 14 écoulé. Tu reviendras sûrement un jour. Je ne peux penser différemment. Tu es un enfant de Mère et ta vie, un jour ou l'autre, sera ici. Quand Elle voudra. Au sujet d'E. je ne peux rien dire. Cela dépend du lien qui t'unit à elle. Je veux dire, du type de lien qui t'unit à elle. Tâche de ne pas perdre contact avec nous et reçois les meilleurs sentiments d'amitié de Nata. »)

Je me sentais responsable, et mal à l'aise, de la décision d'E.B de revenir pour être près de moi. Alors que tout lui avait été rendu possible pour un chemin aux pieds de Mère. Il y avait là comme une injustice à l'envers : ce qui m'avait été refusé lui était offert et c'est elle qui le refusait pour s'attacher à moi. C'était absurde.

E.B revint donc. Chargée de choses précieuses, infiniment : des pétales touchés par Mère, des photographies de Mère signées par Elle, les dernières « Notes sur le Chemin », et une grande bouffée de l'atmosphère physique qui me manquait tant. Mon frère J.Y était parti à son tour à Pondichéry.

Un autre de mes amis s'était logé tout près dans ma vie, et je souhaitais pour lui aussi qu'il trouve Mère directement.

J'écrivis à Nata qui me répondit : (« Cher Divakar. Mère a répondu que ton ami O.P peut venir à l'Ashram seulement comme visiteur. Pour le moment l'acceptation des disciples est arrêtée. Bien à toi. Nata. »)

Ce n'avait pas été facile de quitter la petite « communauté », et quelques-uns avaient voulu venir avec moi. Mais non seulement le poids des attachements déviait de la réceptivité si nécessaire, mais aussi c'était une situation qui m'exposait, me rendait vulnérable aux attaques les plus matérielles. J'avais eu deux accidents durant cette période : le premier fut comme un avertissement, je conduisais et, alors que nous traversions une petite bourgade pour rentrer au « château », d'une rue latérale soudain surgit un autre véhicule qui enfonça ma portière. Le deuxième « accident » fut plus sérieux, par l'action qu'il révélait comme par le résultat : j'étais en train de colmater l'un des toits de notre demeure, et A.F se tenait près de moi avec toute cette attention excessive qu'elle aimait à tourner vers moi, et j'étais gêné, sans trouver le mouvement juste ; et soudain je perdis prise et commençai de glisser le long du toit, et me sentis pris dans une paralysie subtile qui m'empêcha physiquement de réagir et je restai comme hébété tout le temps de la chute jusqu'au choc de la douleur, cette suffocation imbécile ; il fallut me transporter à l'hôpital le plus proche, j'avais une fracture d'une vertèbre et d'un disque, et je dus rester quelques semaines immobile.

Quelques temps après mon départ du « château », alors que j'étais déjà en Bretagne, il y eut un incendie ; les lieux avaient été plus ou moins désertés pendant l'hiver et je ne sus jamais comment ce feu avait pris ; mais les propriétaires se sentirent lésés et, peut-être par un effet de rancune, cherchèrent à m'attribuer la responsabilité des dommages.

J'écrivis de nouveau à Nata, qui me répondit, mi Avril : (« Cher Divakar. Je t'ai télégraphié au sujet de l'incendie du château où tu habitais. Si tu peux prouver que tu étais en Bretagne, tu n'as rien à craindre. Même s'il y a une certaine responsabilité de ta part, il n'est jamais utile de s'enfuir. Au sujet de l'enfant que tu voulais avoir avec E., Mère n'a pas répondu. Je pense que la dissolution du groupe duquel tu m'as parlé, c'est une vraie Grâce ! T'a évité de prendre une fausse attitude qui pourrait très bien t'amener des chutes très difficiles à surmonter. Tu demandes d'avoir conscience de tous les êtres. As-tu conscience de toi-même ? Je ne crois pas. Plus que la foi et de l'aspiration, c'est le « surrender » qui aide à repousser l'impulsion sexuelle. Il ne faut pas se décourager, ce que ne peut être fait aujourd'hui, on pourra le faire demain. De la Foi d'abord, de la Foi, s'écriait Sri Aurobindo !! Je t'embrasse. Nata. »)

Nous avons, en Bretagne, la vie d'une famille élargie, dont Cyril, le seul enfant, était un peu le petit roi. Chacun vaquait à diverses tâches, je tissais, travaillais le cuir, j'aimais à faire des vêtements ou des sacs pour l'un ou l'autre de mes amis...

Mais cela ne satisfaisait pas le besoin de servir, de participer à une œuvre à laquelle Mère aurait donné le sens, et qu'Elle utiliserait pour Son travail de transformation. J'écrivis et, mi Juin, Nata me répondit : (« Cher Divakar. Aujourd'hui j'ai lu à Mère ta lettre du 6 crt. Elle a écouté attentivement, s'est concentrée et m'a donné le sachet de bénédictions ci-joint. Elle n'a pas dit un mot. Non, je ne suis pas fâché. Je suis ton ami, un ami qui regrette de ne pouvoir faire quelques choses de plus. Je t'embrasse. Nata. »)

Un jour je retournai à Paris et me rendis à l'Association pour Auroville, espérant pouvoir y travailler un peu, y être utile ; j'y fis de nouveaux amis, qui servaient là Auroville, chacun comme il pouvait. Pour gagner un peu d'argent, nous faisons ici et là des travaux de peinture. Je commençai de passer une partie des journées dans les bureaux de l'Association, où je me mis à taper toutes les « Notes sur le Chemin » publiées dans le Bulletin de l'Ashram en un seul document.

Quelques semaines s'écoulèrent ainsi. Là encore, ma présence évoquait des réponses divergentes ; certains m'accueillaient et me donnaient leur amitié et leur confiance, tandis que d'autres ressentaient un danger. La « directrice », au cours d'un bref séjour à Pondichéry, fit son enquête à mon sujet et revint munie d'ordres négatifs, qu'on ne me montra pas.

De son côté, Nata m'écrivit : (« Cher Divakar. Sur demande du chef de l'Association pour Auroville en France, j'ai demandé à Mère l'autorisation à que tu travailles dans cette organisation. La réponse a été négative. Je regrette de donner une si mauvaise nouvelle, mais pense toujours que la volonté de Mère voit plus loin de nos petits désirs et points de vue. Bien à toi. Nata. »)

Je me retirai donc.

Ce fut comme une béance.

Mais l'amitié que j'avais connue là ne me déserta pas, et resta vivante.

Où me tourner ? Comment marcher ?

Quelque chose collait à mon existence comme un mauvais destin.

C'était aussi, je le sentais, le creuset d'une forge, il me fallait contribuer du courage et, comme Elle me l'avait écrit, de l'endurance.

Mais je n'étais pas capable de repousser l'horreur de ce rejet, ni le vertige d'un désespoir qui revenait à l'assaut.

J'écrivis. A la mi Septembre, Nata me répondit, sa plus longue lettre : (« Cher Divakar. Je te prie de m'excuser si je réponds avec tant de retard à ta lettre du 3 crt. J'ai quelques choses à te dire et je te prie de m'écouter avec beaucoup d'attention et de patience. Pour le moment je ne peux pas insister avec tes lettres auprès de Mère. Tu as assez écrit et la réponse a été toujours la même. Un homme comme toi, qui a connu Mère, qui a reçu d'Elle un nom spirituel, qui a été capable de se maintenir fidèlement malgré toutes les difficultés, il ne doit pas, il n'a pas le droit de se décourager si pour un certain temps ou pour toujours il ne pourra être en communication extérieure avec Mère. Recevoir le sachet de bénédictions, s'agenouiller devant Elle, est sans doute très beau, mais à quoi ça sert si on est fermé à son influence, ou on ne s'ouvre pas à sa conscience ? Si tu as Mère dans le cœur c'est plus important que n'importe quoi, et c'est quelque chose que personne ne peut pas toucher. Tu me diras, pourquoi ne veut pas me voir, pourquoi Elle ne veut pas répondre à mes lettres ? Il n'existent pas des raisons que le mental comprenne, qui soient accessibles à sa compréhension ; on sait bien que dans la vie spirituelle le gourou interdit certaines choses à un disciple et autorise la même chose à d'autres. Pourquoi ? C'est de l'injustice ? On peut répondre que cela appartient à la vision que le Maître a des nécessités de ses disciples, et que on doit accepter ce qui vient du gourou avec la foi que c'est toujours pour le mieux. Mère t'a fait la grâce de ne pas répondre à tes lettres, il faut maintenant que tu acceptes avec gratitude sa volonté, sans te sentir vexé, humilié et surtout sans penser qu'elle t'a abandonné. Interroge ton être intérieur, avec sincérité, dans la caverne de ton cœur et tu sauras ce que tu dois faire. S'il y a dans cette lettre quelque chose qui ne soit pas claire, écris-moi que je ferai de mon mieux pour t'expliquer, mais tâche de ne plus insister avec tes lettres à elle. Mon cher ami accepte le témoignage de mon amitié et affection. Nata. »)

Je savais que Nata avait raison, que je devais trouver la confiance dans ma propre relation intérieure directe avec Mère, à Sa Présence.

Et je ressentais comme une nécessité devenue impérative de me retirer de l'énergie des liens, de me rassembler dans le silence d'une activité concentrée, de m'entourer d'une atmosphère sûre.

Adolescent, j'écrivais beaucoup, de la poésie, et j'avais rédigé deux petits livres – que j'ai plus tard détruits – qui étaient comme des récits intériorisés sur les rythmes du poème. Il y avait là une capacité que je pouvais peut-être offrir.

Je me retirai dans une petite chambre à Paris, avec mon exemplaire de « Savitri » et je me mis à la tâche de traduire en essayant de ne trahir ni le sens ni les rythmes et la beauté de l'œuvre de Sri Aurobindo.

Cela me permit d'entrer de plain-pied dans les réalités de l'expérience.

E.B allait enfin repartir à l'Ashram. Je lui demandai de bien vouloir emmener Cyril avec elle, et de veiller à ce que tout se passe bien pour lui.

J'écrivis à Nata et lui envoyai la traduction d'un premier « Canto ».

Fin Novembre, Nata me répondit : (« Cher Divakar. Je te prie de m'excuser du grand retard à te répondre. Beaucoup des choses ont changé à l'Ashram. Mère ne s'occupe presque plus de la marche de l'organisation qui a été confiée presque entièrement à André, son fils, le père de Purna. Sont rares les personnes qui la voient encore. Grâce à Dieu je suis entre elles. Tu peux dire à E. qu'elle peut venir à l'Ashram quand elle veut. Pour ceux qui ne sont pas à la charge, il n'existent pas de limitations. Elle peut aussi amener l'enfant de M. Au sujet de la traduction de « Savitri » je crois que ton travail est beau, mais il faut demander l'autorisation à André, chef du Comité des Publications. A propos de E. il faut lui dire que je ne peux pas lui garantir d'obtenir la garantie de l'Ashram pour le visa d'un an. Elle peut rester les six mois concédés par les autorités indiennes, bien sûr. Je regrette mon ami de ne pas pouvoir te donner des meilleures nouvelles. Je t'embrasse. Nata. »)

André revint à Paris. Il refusa de me voir à propos de « Savitri ».

Janine, sa fille et la sœur de Purna, me gardait pourtant sa porte toujours ouverte. Comme elle s'en allait à son tour à Pondichéry, je lui remis une lettre pour Nata.

Mi Décembre, Nata m'écrivit : (« Cher Divakar. Janine m'a remis ta lettre. Je savais qu'André n'allait pas te recevoir. Les choses ont beaucoup changées ici à l'Ashram. Petit à petit que Mère abandonne la direction physique de l'Ashram, le terrain qu'elle laisse libre vient tout de suite occupé par des gens qui n'ont pas sa grandeur. Peut-être que cela te fera comprendre beaucoup des choses que pour le moment te résultent incompréhensibles. Aussitôt que je verrai Satprem je lui parlerai de ta traduction de « Savitri ». Ne l'abandonne pas. Il n'a aucune importance qu'elle soit publiée ou non. Tu en tireras un grand avantage avec ce travail. Ecris-moi et reçois mes meilleurs sentiments. Nata. »)

Mon frère J.Y revint de Pondichéry, où il avait passé presque un an. Chargé de trésors. Je le retrouvai dans le Sud pour quelques jours, en compagnie de notre plus jeune frère, tous trois environnés de choses et de signes de Mère.

L'année s'achevait, et peut-être toute une étape dans la relation avec Mère.

J'écrivis à Nata. Fin Décembre il me répondit : (« Cher Divakar. Merci de ta lettre avec ta bonne année. Cela m'a beaucoup touché. Je peux te dire que tu es un vrai sadhak, peut-être mieux de beaucoup de ceux que nous sommes ici à l'Ashram. Tu as la Grâce de Mère sur toi et tu sais en profiter. Tu as compris ton rôle, tu connais la voie à suivre. Je t'embrasse avec beaucoup d'amitié et d'amour. Nata. »)

Je me plongeai de plus en plus dans « Savitri ». Parfois, selon la difficulté intérieure, je devais m'y astreindre comme à une discipline rigoureuse ; et parfois c'était mon refuge et ma nourriture.

Je continuai d'envoyer chaque Chant à Mère, par Nata.

Mi Janvier de l'année nouvelle, 1973, il m'écrivit : (« Mon cher Divakar. Voici un sachet de bénédictions que Mère t'envoie au sujet de ta traduction de « Savitri » que tu lui avais envoyé. Mon opinion, très personnel, est que tu dois continuer le travail de traduction de « Savitri ». Tu le fais très bien, plein de rythme et de beauté. Il y a la vibration ! Tu travailles pour le Divin, par pour d'autres personnes ou êtres. Tu as bien dit. Que la confusion durera longtemps que notre nature d'ignorance ne sera pas vraiment transformée. Sous un certain aspect tu es un privilégié, car tu es en train de démontrer une intégrité digne d'un vrai yogi. Je t'embrasse. Nata. »)

Peu de temps après, Nata m'écrivit de nouveau pour me demander d'essayer d'aider une jeune Italienne en difficulté à Paris.

Simultanément à la concentration consciente que « Savitri » me permettait de pratiquer, j'étais saisi par des vagues d'expérience qui étaient plutôt rudes. Comme un précipité.

Et il y avait ce changement de position que je sentais s'opérer en Mère.

Sa Fête arrivait. Je voulus Lui envoyer quelque chose.

Fin Février, Nata me répondit : (« Cher Divakar. J'ai bien reçu les cadeaux pour Mère qui ont été remis dans ces mains. Comme je t'avais dit dans d'autres lettres, les choses ici ont beaucoup changées. Mère est presque toujours absorbée en transe et pour cela pas très facile communiquer avec elle. Aussi ont été créés des bureaux qui s'occupent en détail de ce qui était auparavant sur les épaules de peu de personnes. Pour cela je te prie de ne plus envoyer par mon entreprise des cadeaux à Mère, non plus m'envoyer les traductions de « Savitri ». Pour ton ami A. tu peux écrire à Mr. Shyamsunder – Auroville Office si ton ami veut aller à Auroville, ou à Madhav Pandit s'il veut rester à l'Ashram. Je te conseille, si tu as des difficultés pour te faire recevoir par André, de parler avec Janine, la sœur de Françoise. Seulement en te réconciliant avec cette famille tu pourras avoir des chances de retourner à Pondichéry. Je t'embrasse. Nata. »)

Ainsi, près de deux ans après, Nata confirmait le malaise que je n'avais cessé de ressentir, malgré même ses propres démentis.

Mais quelque chose en « moi » commençait de se libérer un peu, d'émerger de ces gangues lourdes et dramatiques qui entravent longtemps le progrès de la conscience. J'apprenais la nécessité de se référer directement à la Présence au-dedans de soi, sans aucune interférence ni influence.

Krishna m'écrivit que je lui manquais, qu'il était temps pour moi de rentrer....

Pourtant je trouvais difficile de continuer le travail de « Savitri » si je ne pouvais même plus en envoyer les Chants à Mère comme une offrande concrète.

J'écrivis à Satprem, me souvenant aussi de ses mots « on se reverra ! ». Mais sa réponse, que je reçus début Avril, ne fit que me renvoyer à ... moi-même ! (« Divakar. Seule Mère peut te dire si tu es prêt à revenir ou non. Ton travail sur « Savitri » est une excellente façon de rester dans l'atmosphère, à condition que tu le fasses pour toi, sans aucune idée de publication ni de résultat, sauf le résultat intérieur... »)

J'avais espéré un peu de cette compréhension par identité, qui lui aurait permis de saisir ma vraie question, de m'accepter en lui comme je l'accueillais en moi.

Alors, c'était comme si je me trouvais privé de béquilles. Il me fallait donc apprendre à discerner « tout seul », me casser la figure sans doute, me relever, développer la confiance qui naît de la conscience vraie.

J'appris à tout offrir, même mon « besoin » de revenir près d'Elle.

A me délester.

Et, en même temps, à croire à ce qu'il m'était donné de percevoir, dans certaines conditions que je commençais à reconnaître.

Je passai le premier mois de l'été dans le Sud avec mon père, sa compagne, et mes frères.

De retour dans la ville, je terminai cette première traduction de « Savitri ».

Alors ?

Serait-ce Auroville ?

D'Auroville, c'est le Matrimandir qui me touchait, ce que j'avais pu en pressentir.

Mais Auroville, c'était le travail physique, et je n'avais guère d'entraînement ; je doutais plutôt de ma capacité à soutenir le rythme d'une activité physique intensive.

Pour garder l'équilibre dans le progrès, j'avais depuis un an commencé de fréquenter un gymnase ; mais j'y rencontrai surtout les lâchetés, les peurs, les contractions qui étaient logées dans le corps.

Ainsi je décidai de me joindre à un chantier de travailleurs volontaires en Provence. Il s'agissait de débroussailler puis de remblayer une grande pente qui abutait à la rue principale d'un village haut perché.

Cela prit quelques semaines de labeur ; il y avait deux dortoirs comme dans les collèges, et les moments de « récréation » se passaient pour moi à jouer au ping-pong.

Puis je m'en fus marcher dans les collines et les garrigues, des jours durant, cueillant les fruits mûrs aux arbres abandonnés par des fermiers en colère.

En moi, lentement et comme par étapes, en dépit de tous les moments d'obscurité, de confusion et de doute, se confirmait la décision de rentrer à Pondichéry – et adienne que pourra.

Je ne me faisais pas d'illusions. Mais une joie doucement croissait au-dedans. Cette joie me donnait du courage.

Je ne redoutais plus le regard ou le jugement des autres, quels qu'ils soient. Je n'éprouvais plus le besoin de prouver quoi que ce soit, selon ces critères de dualité qui ont miné jusqu'à la substance même de nos corps.

Je me sentais prêt à rentrer.

D'un regard extérieur, je me heurtais à la crainte, l'appréhension et le doute ; mais dès que je me tournais au-dedans, il n'y avait plus qu'un élan à la fois tranquille et impérieux.

Fin Octobre, j'allais prendre mon billet quand mon père, F.J, reçut l'offre soudaine de conduire, pour la télévision française, un entretien avec ses fils au sujet d'Auroville et de sa fondation. J'étais réticent, car tout d'un coup il me sembla que chaque jour comptait. Mais l'occasion d'offrir ensemble, dans l'amitié et le dialogue, nos engagements respectifs, était belle et juste.

Tout s'arrangea en quelques jours, et F.J, mon père, J.Y mon frère et moi tentâmes de ne pas dire trop de bêtises sur Auroville et sur Mère devant les caméras attentives et respectueuses d'un studio de télévision à Paris.

Le 9 Novembre, 1973, j'écrivais dans mon journal quotidien : « ...ne jamais oublier qu'il faut être simple, noble, intrépide et vaste et plein d'amour, pour porter toute notre obscurité dans la lumière... ».

Le 10 Novembre au soir, C. ma mère et amie, J.Y mon frère et T une tendre compagne, me laissèrent à la borne de sécurité de l'aéroport ; je quittai Paris et la France et l'Europe et l'Occident – et n'y reviendrais que 27 ans plus tard.

Je choisis de rester deux jours à Delhi – comme pour laisser une peau et retrouver la respiration de l'Inde.

Le 13 je pris l'avion pour Madras ; j'avais acheté une de ces bandes dessinées qui retracent les histoires du Mahabharata et du Ramayana ; celle-ci disait le conte de Sita qui prie la Mère de l'engouffrer dans les entrailles de la terre si elle a menti – et un sanglot sortit de tout mon être, comme le sceau brûlant de la vérité qui seule donnait un sens à cette vie.

Le soir du 13 j'arrivai près de l'Ashram. Je n'avais qu'un sac à l'épaule, un sac de cuir que j'avais moi-même coupé et cousu, contenant mon exemplaire de « Savitri », mon enveloppe avec les choses de Mère, quelques vêtements de rechange. Nata n'était pas chez lui. Je laissai mon sac sur le trottoir devant sa porte et m'en fus à l'Ashram. A peine entré, au bord de la cour intérieure du Samadhi, c'est le sourire de Fabienne que je rencontrai, immédiat, paisible, dans la mouvance tranquille de tous ces êtres qui formaient ma famille de toujours.

On entendait la voix de Mère par les fenêtres ouvertes de Sa chambre au-dessus des branches de l'arbre de « Service » ; parfois comme un gémissement.

Quand je retournai à la maison de Nata, Maggi et lui étaient rentrés ; leur affection, leurs bras tendus. Nata me dit qu'en voyant le sac, serti de galets de l'océan, il avait de suite deviné que j'étais rentré. Il était tard. Il m'envoya dormir dans une maison près de la mer qui servait de relais et de reposoir pour certains de ceux qui travaillaient à Auroville. Un autocar s'apprêtait juste à partir, pour conduire au Matrimandir un groupe de volontaires pour un bétonnage continu de plusieurs jours qui avait commencé le jour même.

Je restai dormir là, sur le toit, veillé par un paon.

Ce n'est que le lendemain matin que je me rendis à mon tour au Matrimandir.

Presque 4 ans plus tôt, à nos premières rencontres à Pondichéry, 4 d'entre nous nous étions tellement reconnus qu'il nous avait paru évident que nous avions ainsi été guidés dans l'accomplissement d'une promesse ancienne : M'zali, que Mère nomma Krishna, F.Ga, G.M et moi.

Quand j'arrivai au Centre ce matin-là et m'approchai du bord du cratère dont ne dépassaient que 4 tours de bois, c'est simultanément dans la vérité physique absolue du Matrimandir et dans les yeux de G.M que je plongeai et fus accueilli.

Il n'y avait plus de question : « que ferais-je ? ». C'était là.

A la fin de cette première journée je rentrai à Pondichéry.

Nata m'annonça que Purna, qui tenait toujours cette sorte de restaurant à étoiles, avait coupé ses vivres. Il était puni de m'avoir bien reçu.

Et Maggi se tourna vers moi, toute grave et intense, et me livra cette formule : « Je n'ai jamais vu de telle opposition ; si tu es capable de rester, je te le dis, je me mettrai à tes pieds !! »... Ce qui nous fit rire tous les trois.

Mais voilà, une part de ma situation s'était donc précisée sans tarder.

Je pris une chambre à l'une des Guest Houses de l'Ashram.

Chaque soir, j'allais m'asseoir près du Samadhi, sous les fenêtres de la chambre de Mère. C'était l'heure du repas que l'on obligeait Mère à absorber, et chacun pouvait l'entendre protester, et gémir, à l'intérieur d'un silence incompréhensible tant il était chargé de conscience.

Je passais chaque journée à aider au Matrimandir.

Le bétonnage des quatre piliers et de la première dalle qui les joignait ensemble au bas de cette sphère à venir, se termina le soir du 17.

Quand les vibrateurs s'éteignirent, il faisait nuit. A la lumière des grands projecteurs, éclaboussés de béton, nous regardâmes l'heure : 19.25.

Je retournai à l'Ashram.

Bien avant l'aube, il n'était pas encore 4 heures du matin, P., un jeune Ashramite qui s'occupait de la Guest House, vint frapper à la porte de ma chambre :

« Divakar, come at once to the Ashram, Mother has left Her body... ! » (Divakar, viens tout de suite à l'Ashram, Mère a quitté Son corps.. !)

Ces mots étaient inacceptables. Ils ne pouvaient pas être.

Et pourtant, ils venaient d'être prononcés.

Je me rendis à l'Ashram, me joignis à la ligne silencieuse des Ashramites.

Et depuis ce moment jusqu'au 20 la foule défila inlassable, sans répit, jour et nuit, dans la chaleur immobile, sans un mot.

Aucune de Ses instructions n'avait été observée.

Mais Elle absorba tout le drame, et fit l'impossible, jusqu'à insuffler une sorte de joie tranquille ; certains des petits enfants d'Auroville disaient, presque en chantant, « Mère est dans nos corps !!! »...

Mais quels mots pouvait-on même penser ?

Nos sentiments mêmes étaient une insulte, tant ils étaient déplacés, hors de propos.

Rien en nous n'était à Sa mesure.

Nolini pourtant fit distribuer une déclaration. Qui disait peut-être quelque chose et peut-être ne disait rien. Comment pourrions-nous le savoir tant que nous ne serions pas unis à Elle, conscients d'Elle, dans le corps ?

Trois mois plus tôt, Mère était sortie sur Son balcon, le soir du 15 Août, pour la Fête de Sri Aurobindo. Tenue par Pranab, Elle avait marché jusqu'à la rambarde, qu'Elle avait saisie de Sa main si forte. Il pleuvait. Elle avait « regardé » quelques moments.

D.D avait pris quelques photos d'Elle, là, et m'en avaient donné des copies.

Maintenant, Son corps était devant tous, plus assis qu'allongé, le dos soutenu par des coussins de satin blanc, la nuque penchée en avant, le visage émacié ; et c'était une expression tout entière de détermination, d'une concentration si farouche, si totale, et si parfaitement immuable.

Il y avait à la fois le sens d'une formidable Erreur, et celui d'un mystère qu'Elle nous demandait d'abriter au plus profond du cœur, à l'abri de toute ignorance.

A deux reprises encore je passai et m'arrêtai devant Elle.

Le 18, à la tombée du jour, je marchai jusqu'à la mer et trouvais Satprem, assis sur le muret du Tennis Ground, seul, et le rejoignis un moment ; je le revoyais, comme il me l'avait promis – mais comment ?

Il se tourna vers moi, posa un doigt sur ses lèvres ; ses yeux étaient des gouffres d'une lumière qui Lui appartenait, ils étaient comme de l'océan condensé dans un appel et une offrande et un cri de fidélité à Elle.

Quelques moments plus tard, j'allai tourner le coin de la rue de l'Ashram, dans la lumière apaisée du soir, quand surgit C.V – mon compagnon de toutes ces années. Sans rien me dire, il avait décidé tout à coup de faire le voyage et il venait d'arriver : et c'était la première fois qu'il La voyait physiquement. Allongée devant la foule. Une impossibilité.

J'emmenageai dans une chambre plus modeste d'une loge tenue par un disciple, G., un homme aussi gentil que discret.

Je fis bientôt, par acquis de conscience, ma demande formelle auprès du « Comité » d'Auroville, composé alors de Navajata, Roger A., Prem Mallik – et je fus refusé.

J'étais entré en relation, distante mais respectueuse, avec la promesse silencieuse d'une sorte d'amitié, avec Shyamsunder, qui à cette époque s'attachait plus particulièrement au Matrimandir. Je le tenais informé de mes choix et il me voyait lui-même, directement, évoluer.

Un jour j'étais avec G.M et quelques autres sur l'une des plateformes de l'échafaudage dominant le plateau aride, et nous avions entre les mains une petite carte d'Auroville qui venait d'être imprimée. Sur cette carte, je vis le nom d'un lieu : « Sincérité ». Et je sentis comme une petite fusée de joie sûre dans le cœur ; je dis à G.M « c'est là que je veux vivre.. ! Où est-ce ? ».

G.M me montra, à peut-être trois cent mètres vers le Nord, les silhouettes de trois ou quatre arbres d'un vert sombre. C'est là que J.M un Américain qui avait depuis quitté Auroville, avait construit une hutte – il avait demandé à Mère Son autorisation et L'avait priée de nommer le lieu ; Mère avait accepté, et écrit :

« Sincérité ».

G.M m'expliqua que cette hutte était en mauvais état mais que, si nous la réparions ensemble, elle pourrait bien abriter plusieurs d'entre nous.

C'était « oui » tout de suite.

C'était LA, sans le moindre doute.

Je serais plutôt allé vivre dans l'un des villages qu'en aucun des lieux d'Auroville que j'avais pu visiter.

Nous nous occupâmes ensemble de refaire la toiture de cette grande hutte à étage, et je l'aménageai de telle manière que plusieurs pourraient y vivre sans se déranger, chacun disposant d'un espace indépendant.

A l'ombre de ces cinq arbres – un manguier, trois jacquiers et un neem – trois autres petites huttes avaient été érigées par des travailleurs du Matrimandir. T.G, l'un d'entre eux, avait commencé de planter un peu, mais il n'y avait ni puits ni électricité et l'eau y venait par une conduite posée depuis le Matrimandir.

J'informai Shyamsunder de mes décisions : simplement, servir le Matrimandir et vivre à « Sincérité ». Je ne demandais rien.

J'étais maintenant dans une situation « irrégulière », sans garantie légale et sans visa. Mais le choix s'était formé clairement. Quelles que soient les conséquences, j'apprendrais à me donner, sans attendre rien des autres.

Silencieusement, Shyamsunder me donna son soutien et parla à André.

Tous les deux obtinrent pour moi la garantie d'Auroville et mon visa fut finalement régularisé.

Dans Auroville, les énergies entraînent en conflits.

La croissance d'Auroville serait aussi une arène.

Chacun désormais était laissé à sa propre capacité de discernement, de courage, d'engagement, de don de soi, d'endurance, d'honnêteté...

En 2000, j'ai retrouvé ma fille, ou plutôt ma fille a eu le courage de me retrouver.

En Mai, 2002, j'ai vécu une expérience physique brutale, restée jusqu'à ce jour sans explication « médicale ».

Le 14 Octobre, 2003, mon équipe au Matrimandir a été officiellement démise de ses fonctions, la victoire d'une coalition d'intérêts regroupée autour de Roger A, l'« Architecte » et Kireet Joshi, le « Chairman », qui s'acharnait depuis quelques années à nous faire lâcher prise, particulièrement Arjun et moi, car nous osions remettre en question la position de l'« Architecte » à l'égard de la réalisation matérielle des Jardins de Mère et, par association, bon nombre de positions et de directions officielles d'Auroville, et refusions de nous soumettre.

Du jour au lendemain, après beaucoup d'années d'un engagement quotidien ininterrompu au Matrimandir, je me retrouvai donc soudain privé de ce sens de service, ce sens organique de participer au fonctionnement progressif, évolutif, d'un corps collectif.

Cet ensemble de faits, entre autres, explique peut-être ce besoin que j'ai alors éprouvé de « mettre de l'ordre », de rassembler tous ces fragments en une sorte de témoignage.

Il m'arrive souvent de lire des romans, des « nouvelles » contemporains, qui retracent autant d'itinéraires individuels ; la littérature anglaise et américaine est riche de ces trésors, de ces offrandes, ces contributions uniques – expressions de l’infinie variété des faisceaux de la conscience individualisée dans son évolution et sa marche vers la manifestation d’une présence au monde toujours plus vraie et plus entière.

Que cela nous apprenne tous, et vite, à ne plus juger, à ne plus comparer, à ne plus condamner, mais à apprécier et discerner l’origine, la qualité et la vérité de chaque mouvement et de chaque être, sans prétention – dans la conscience que rien, rien n’existe, ne peut exister « en-dehors » du Divin. Par conséquent... !!!

J’ai donc entrepris de sélectionner des extraits, des passages, de notes et de journaux rédigés au cours des années, dans les deux langues, français et anglais. Selon les périodes, l’accent est soit sur le cheminement et l’expérience « personnels », soit sur les données et les processus collectifs.

Tout cela Lui appartient, déposé à Ses pieds, absolument.

Note écrite le 15-10-80, en préambule :

Le Surhomme, sans l'homme, ne s'incarnera pas.

L'homme, sans le surhomme, ne s'accomplira pas.

Le Seigneur a Lui Même posé les conditions de Son propre progrès.

C'est Lui-même qui recherche à tâtons la clé secrète de Sa propre intensité de douceur.

Derrière l'impulsion sexuelle il y a une vérité, le miel d'une extase vivante et calme, pour laquelle le monde n'est pas prêt, mais sans laquelle le Surhomme ne serait jamais que le corps diaphane d'une Lumière qui n'aurait pas recouvré son pouvoir.

C'est la responsabilité de chacun de ne pas abandonner le fil informulable d'un certain secret équilibre dans la transition d'une espèce à une autre, d'un état d'être fragmenté à une conscience une et entière.

Sur le chemin, des sages et des gurus ont laissé s'ériger des principes, par souci peut-être de ne pas laisser se refermer la forêt sur leurs pas. Mais un principe qui n'est pas re-découvert dans sa propre substance est la mort certaine du chemin même.

Autour de Mère aussi, ce phénomène s'est produit.

Mais Mère n'a pas disparu au bout du chemin.

Elle est devenue le chemin.

Les pages qui suivent forment un témoignage, entrecoupé de notes à rebours. Les hésitations à partager ce témoignage sont compréhensibles, elles sont faites de scrupules et de questions ordinaires... : quelle est la valeur pour autrui d'une expérience individuelle ? A quoi bon tenter de communiquer la distance parcourue quand on n'est pas soi-même encore parvenu à ce point où la substance et la conscience nouvelles se sont suffisamment établies pour que leur présence soit devenue indiscutable et indissociable de cet « agrégat » particulier.. ? A quoi bon, enfin, ajouter au gaspillage et au bavardage général ?

Cependant, si c'est au terme d'un premier cycle que ce besoin de communiquer, de témoigner, se produit, pourquoi en discuter la validité ? Ne sommes-nous pas tous sur le chemin ?

O Mère,
 Tu nous apprends à coups de Force
 Et de douceur
 La simplicité
 D'être conscient.

Octobre 1969, Damas :

S.B n'est plus à côté de moi. Peut-être pour longtemps. Mes lèvres ont du mal à sourire et ma pensée est orientée vers la sienne, mon sexe vers le sien.

La ville se termine toujours au flanc de la montagne. Pourtant un vacarme, un bruit trouble de personnes, les sons du travail et la fumée des machines, clament une agglomération humaine. Les différences entre les quartiers aussi, les possibilités de commerce autour de la personne, le désordre qui survient tout à coup lorsque surgissent des rangs de soldats, marquent l'empreinte d'une société mouvante mais connue, impliquant des repères et des règles admis par la plupart.

Le muezzin égrène ses termes piègeurs et court les terrasses, lente tétanie, d'un minaret à l'autre. Tout, alors, disparaît.

 Le désert alentour se fait sentir et l'immense, une, Arabie - labyrinthe dimensionnel. Aimant du vide dont l'entrée est la surface moirée, phénoménale, d'une terre effritée au long des millénaires.

Je retrouve maintenant facilement mon chemin, et ne m'égare que lorsque je le désire. Il y a parfois des places si belles. L'impression d'être là, en ce lieu, à cette heure, mais n'existant pas tout à fait. On m'a offert le thé peut-être huit fois. Un homme m'a appelé par mon nom, près du grand souk ; il l'avait entendu à la poste ; il doit me procurer une boîte ancienne - un oiseau ? - pour y mettre le « khôl » (ici, « kahali »). J'ai acheté aussi un « cheikh » (turban) en bonne soie plissée.

Hier, après plusieurs heures de marche autour des ambassades, en compagnie de deux nouveaux amis, de très beaux jeunes Arabes, l'un Syrien, l'autre Jordanien, je me suis endormi, dissolvant une dernière fatigue due à la mescaline. J'avais envie de bouger dans le ventre de S.B. Dans la soirée je suis allé manger sur la terrasse que nous avons découverte ensemble. En repartant, j'ai baisé la main de l'une des prostituées - un enfant animal ou une femme assez laide ; elle a semblé déconcertée et un peu heureuse. J'ai attendu longtemps pour que le sommeil revienne.

La fabrique de mes rêves est dans un nouveau fonctionnement. Les relations avec mon image prennent un aspect transitoire, un peu irréel ; je suis attentif à cette transformation. J'ai parlé à S.B. de ce long chemin douloureux jalonné de fulgurances et montant dans l'amour, pour vivre complètement, librement, et commencer à travailler, en complétude avec l'autre...

Je suis content de me retrouver seul, mais un peu désorienté, comme après un rétablissement brutal.

Aller, réfléchir, suivre les mouvements, écouter, regarder mes marches de la lumière, entendre sans camouflages, reconnaître qu'il y a dans mon corps un être qui reçoit, qui transcrit, et que c'est moi-même – et le guérir ?

J'ai entrepris cet autre voyage pour m'apprêter.

Ici, il n'y a pas de « beatniks ». Je n'ai vu que quatre ou cinq touristes. Le plus difficile dans cette ville et qu'il n'y a pas de place, de café où l'on puisse rencontrer des gens de toutes sortes. Mais plus chère aussi est l'amitié que l'on acquiert – quelquefois spontanément, quelquefois après bien des examens, des regards, des offres et des demandes à peine découvertes faites avec une sorte de malice, certes, mais sans l'inhibition fourbe que l'on trouve en Occident.

Mais je n'aimerais guère rester ici plus longtemps, bien que la ville soit assez belle et comme ouverte sur le ciel, telle une gerbe animale au fond de l'océan. Il y a, comme partout en Arabie, une sorte de luxe quotidien à la portée de tous qui fait se demander par quel défaut nous avons créé tant d'objets de confort pour mener une vie aussi déséquilibrée, aussi étriquée...

Ce que je ne parviens pas à comprendre, c'est s'il existe vraiment une guerre actuelle... Des nouvelles arrivent de soldats morts dans des batailles entre nations arabes, les gens parlent beaucoup d'Israël ou de la manière d'accéder aux pays voisins, par le désert, afin de les attaquer, il y a de nombreux déplacements de militaires, des manifestations brèves et peu violentes de la part des étudiants, mais personne ne semble savoir exactement quelle est la guerre menée dans cette partie du monde. Il n'y a pas non plus cette agressivité envers les étrangers dont on m'avait parlé... peut-être en Irak ?

Ecrire... Je ne l'avais pas fait depuis des mois. Ecrire, comme je le ferais à une personne vivante, mais pas tout à fait... Ne plus osciller entre la folie, l'angoisse, la connaissance limite, ne plus maltraiter la mémoire, ne plus hurler sur le fil tendu de désespoir vers le surhumain, mais simplement connaître et quérir la possibilité d'aimer quiconque...

Je ne sais rien... Si, je sais ce qu'il faut combattre, je sais que la vanité est mauvaise.

Ce que j'ai vu, je ne puis pas le dire... je souhaite le vivre, et apprendre de l'autre, mais surtout le vivre et l'apprendre avec l'autre.

Je pressens une existence jamais accomplie, une possibilité de bonheur et de salut communs. Je ne vois pas seulement la nécessité d'aboutir au « salut » individuel afin de se fondre dans l'harmonie du fait de l'univers, je vois autre chose, une sorte de lutte lente et consciente, faite à plusieurs, pour conquérir la liberté du côté de l'existence déclarée, formalisée...

L'homme a toujours eu peur dès qu'un embryon social s'est déclaré. Je crois que pour l'idée homme, pour l'homme virtuel contenu dans le sperme de l'homme vécu, il n'y a pas de culpabilité. Mais nous avons encore le pouvoir de l'étouffer, peut-être à jamais. C'est pourquoi nous devons l'accompagner en le devenant afin qu'il prenne place en nous et dépasse notre souvenir.

Je n'ai pas peur de la mort, bien qu'encore je la désire... L'enfant doit trouver sa démarche seul, sans altérer celle du père, enfant de lui-même. Le vieillissement est solitude, conscience du besoin de la nature de recouvrer infailliblement les êtres qui d'elle se sont dressés et ont parlé.

Mais si nous faisons confiance à notre pensée en comprenant peu à peu les places qu'en elle nous avons divinisées, si nous étudions par la vie les facultés multiples qui sont au fond de chacun, comme en attente, et celles qui en découlent au long des temps, si nous ne chargions plus le langage de nos craintes, de nos désirs de malades, si nous nous entendions, alors nous parviendrions à nous dégager ensemble de la roue impossible – chaîne, douleur de l’humanité.

Tout est à découvrir en s’aimant. Ceux qui inventent et affirment n’apportent que le trouble et la négation de l’idée qu’en eux ils ont portée. C’est pourquoi tant de belles philosophies sont restées si proches de la mort, du néant de soi et de la méfiance. C’est pourquoi les structures se sont renforcées jusqu’à devenir presque impénétrables à moins de souffrance, contrairement au sens même de ce qui vit...

Nous sommes à une frontière. Il est possible – logiquement – que nous disparaissions en modifiant quelque peu la disposition des corps de l’univers.

Mais, si nous la passons, nous apprendrons à vivre heureux.

S.B. me manque intensément.

J’ai pris un billet pour Bagdad. Encore deux jours ici.

Ce matin, quand je suis sorti, j’ai assisté à un immense défilé qui regroupait presque toute la ville. Des soldats aux visages très jeunes tenaient de larges banderoles, les jeunes filles de l’Ecole Militaire, en tenue kaki, pantalons, tuniques serrées à la taille et fichu, scandaient les phrases, accompagnées par les écolières du couvent franciscain. C’était une manifestation pour les résistants palestiniens, à l’occasion d’un heurt entre les troupes libanaises et syriennes. Désormais la route entre les deux pays est coupée. Il y eut ensuite un « meeting » assez violent sur les hauteurs de la ville. En revenant du quartier des ambassades, j’ai vu la foule se disperser ; les uns riaient, d’autres semblaient graves et il émanait d’eux une sorte d’agressivité que, sans doute, ils ne comprenaient qu’à demi. Je crois que la majorité des jeunes hommes a été réquisitionnée.

Demain, j’irai sans doute passer la journée à la campagne ; ce sera vendredi. Les paysannes que l’on voit ici sont fort belles, vêtues de robes cintrées, de couleur mauve, violette, bleue, à plastron brodé, et coiffées de turbans noirs desquels retombent des cloches de soie.

La fièvre qui me tenait s’en va lentement, laissant des migraines brusques et fatigantes. Je marche tant que les muscles des jambes me font mal. Je ne sais trop où j’en suis... Des itinéraires fascinants s’égrènent dans mon crâne, des rêves pénibles me rejettent hors du sommeil. Je ne veux rien oublier.

Hier mes deux amis m’ont offert, l’un une petite broche portant l’initiale de mon nom, l’autre un portefeuille en plastique. Jamil m’a posé des questions sur mon voyage ; il a quelque difficulté à envisager les raisons qui me poussent à désirer vivre ainsi, en Inde ou ailleurs... Pourquoi, en effet, alors que dans « mon » pays, je peux travailler, me marier, apprendre, concevoir, prendre une maison et me nourrir des choses que j’aime, ai-je besoin d’aller me rendre malade dans des pays où la vie quotidienne exige tant de privations, de renoncements ? A cela, il n’y a rien à répondre. Sinon que, peut-être, ce n’est pas si grave. Je suppose que chaque être doit trouver un champ de sécurité suffisant pour être apte à la marche, où qu’elle le conduise, en reconnaissant dans chaque chose, dans chaque évènement, une familiarité, une similitude... La peur survient vite, mais la peur anticipée est plus envahissante encore.

Voir aujourd’hui et ne penser aux lendemains que comme à des pierres vivantes bordant un chemin infini sans lequel chaque jour serait une impasse...

Mon psychisme est prêt à croître, je le sens immobile après tant d’ébranlements, se reposant derrière des fatigues passagères.

A Jewish Buddhist is coming into my head through a new Christ and he is a complete man... Growing people dancing around dusty memories... a sunny sex is entering your moony hand, bloody old race... griffonner des absurdités, poser des intentions de savoir, alors que seul le temps fait l'homme se mouvoir, percuté par la vitesse... j'aimerais pouvoir me situer dans mon empreinte de lumière afin de voyager tout au long des univers...

Je crois quelquefois que si nous allions jusqu'à l'extrême possibilité prise dans l'idée de Dieu, nous nous regarderions et la vraie vie serait communiquée à tous...

L'homme qui a atteint l'autre rive du schème bouddhiste est paradoxalement le seul à pouvoir considérer l'autre en vérité mais aussi le seul à ne plus participer à la vie en aucune manière ; s'il a passé au-delà, il ne peut concerner chacun qu'en tant qu'exemple du salut réalisé. Le fait d'exister reste une illusion et Maya subsiste en toute chose...

Or, je ne crois pas que l'existence humaine n'ait pas à se réaliser communément – en communion avec l'autre – et à dépasser la mort.

J'ai envie de S.B., de son corps, et d'elle-même.

Ca ne va pas très bien... je ne suis pas content d'être seul, et pourtant je n'aimerais pas beaucoup ne plus l'être... j'ai envie de retourner au Maroc, d'y acheter une maison et de faire l'amour... Ce soir, c'est la pleine lune – « amar ».

J'ai passé une curieuse journée. Au réveil, des versets du Coran étaient presque hurlés de par la ville, s'abattant depuis les minarets. J'ai pris un autobus pour aller à quelques kilomètres dans un village de la montagne. J'ai voulu marcher, mais plusieurs enfants se sont mis à me suivre en criant, le soleil embrasait leurs voix et le désir de silence et de quiétude me tenait... Plus tard, à l'entrée du chemin, une voiture s'est arrêtée, mais j'ai continué. Elle est revenue près de moi, et son conducteur m'a invité à monter. C'est un commerçant Syrien qui, comprenant que je ne voulais de mal à personne, m'a proposé de m'amener dans la montagne, du côté opposé. Après quelques minutes de conduite, nous avons marché un peu, puis nous sommes étendus sur la pierre, la plaine cernée de massifs devant nous. Il a semblé heureux de notre rencontre. Nous avons parlé un peu. Il est père de famille, il travaille beaucoup ; il aime la liberté. Puis nous sommes revenus à Damas, il m'a offert quelques gâteaux. Se plaisant avec moi, il m'a emmené de l'autre côté de la ville.

« Oui ».

J'ai pris le volant et nous avons roulé longtemps dans le désert, vers l'Irak. Au retour, il conduisait de nouveau ; il s'est arrêté près d'une chaîne de montagnes et m'a demandé si je voulais marcher, j'ai dit « oui ». Nous avons gravi les éboulis d'une colline dominant les autres, il était essoufflé mais content. Désormais, m'a-t-il dit, il ira chaque vendredi marcher longtemps et regarder la nature. Nous nous sommes assis pour attendre le coucher du soleil. Des oiseaux se parlaient autour de nous.

« Les hommes, quand liberté, comme oiseaux, pas fatigue, pas difficile... ».

Nous avons partagé sa grande écharpe, car il faisait moins chaud.

« Votre tête, belle. Pourquoi cheveux pas d'or, avec yeux bleus comme mer ? »

« Je ne sais pas »

« Ah ! Malish... »

Il m'a raccompagné, nous nous sommes dit au revoir, il était pensif.

Je crois que je verrai mieux les choses quand je serai en Irak. Aujourd'hui, depuis les hauteurs, le vent portait le parfum de la mer, et j'ai eu si fort l'envie de la contempler.

Si je ne savais Fabienne devoir m'attendre à Pondichéry, je ne sais si je continuerais dans cette voie. L'Éthiopie me tente aussi. Je crois que ce qui manque aux Arabes du Moyen Orient est le sentiment de la pleine Afrique, de la terre mère bruisante et sauvage, miraculeuse et béante. La sensation du sable sur la peau, des mouvements des corps par les dunes, souvenir mêlé de prescience. Je n'avais pas plus aimé les Turcs de l'intérieur, ni les Iraniens. Les Afghans sont différents, ils forment une race noble, hautaine, conservant une extrême indépendance qui leur confère une sorte d'aristocratie. Ils sont d'une contrée que seuls ils connaissent.

Ma tête, dans la solitude, est obnubilée par des détails de déplacements, de transport, d'argent. J'ai du mal à concevoir cette liberté encore relative. Il est vrai, au loin se tient immobile un point noir, une obligation relevant de l'irréel, du social, du monstre... régler mes affaires militaires... Mais est-ce objectivement, en termes de vraie vie, un obstacle à ma course, à mon évolution ? Ne puis-je pas l'envisager comme un incident parmi d'autres prévisibles et qui n'engage qu'un moment de moi-même ? « Inch Allah ! ». On verra.

Ma mère... demain peut-être une lettre d'elle... je la sens si attentive, si aimante, et moi aussi je l'aime tant. Parfois je suis inquiet, je crains que R ne l'épuise ou qu'il lui arrive quelque chose. Ce n'est pas étranger au désir que j'ai de sa disparition, envisagée comme une « raison » suffisante pour couler, « mourir » afin, peut-être, de la rejoindre ?

15-10-1980, Auroville :

Mère, Tu dis que les souffrances, qu'elles soient morales, psychologiques – affectives ou émotives – sont toutes dues à un mauvais fonctionnement du mental... qu'on peut les classer dans le domaine du mensonge... Rétablir le vrai fonctionnement et la possibilité même de la souffrance disparaît...

Mais voilà, cela prend déjà un tiers peut-être d'une vie « naturelle », avec Ton Aide, et on est déjà sur le versant de l'usure quand le vrai travail peut commencer...

Pourtant, par la Grâce, les choses ne sont pas si rigides... il est une multitude d'expériences qui, si elles se situent en deçà du seuil des formules, posent cependant, inéluctablement, les bases d'une vie nouvelle, ici, et sont pour la conscience des signes évidents de la transformation qui s'accomplit.

Octobre, 1969, Basra :

L'Irak... que d'histoires... ! Une première nuit passée dans le vieux quartier de Bagdad à me défendre contre les agressions sexuelles d'un Indien arabisé qui m'avait emmené dans une sorte de cave où il dormait – j'étais arrivé tard dans la nuit, avais déjà dû subir plusieurs contrôles d'identité, sa proposition me rendait service - ; il parlait un Anglais mêlé d'Hindi, ainsi je sais que « tik, tik », signifie

Mais le peuple semble assez hostile aux étrangers, un fanatisme durcit les traits. Les femmes sont extrêmement belles, étrangement longues, aux visages de grecques anciennes noircis par le soleil, aux yeux souvent très rapprochés, très noirs, une expression de personnages fabuleux. Elles portent de longs voiles noirs et, souvent, un anneau d'or serti d'une pierre précieuse à une narine.

Bagdad est assez attrayante. Depuis elle jusqu'à Basra s'étend un immense champ d'herbe rase ponctué çà et là de palmeraies très denses. Par endroits le fleuve décrit une boucle et s'élargit, c'est alors un vaste étang dont la surface très pure est cernée de roseaux. C'est une vision radieuse, infinie, comme au large de toute césure de l'existence. L'on voudrait d'enraciner parmi les branches et vivre cette lumière.

Un peu avant notre arrivée, le soleil s'est couché sur la droite, noyé dans la fusion de ses couleurs. La nuit tombe très vite ici. Je voulais dormir près de la mer.

J'ai changé mes chaussures contre des sandales, j'ai vendu ma veste. Puis j'ai marché le long de l'estuaire en suivant les palmiers, sur quelques kilomètres. Cela m'a valu cinq heures d'attente, d'un bureau de police à la caserne et de la caserne à un autre bureau, entouré de militaires comme une personne dangereuse. Je m'étais aventuré dans une zone interdite...

Ce soir, en rentrant, j'ai été suivi par un homme qui a plus qu'insisté pour que je marche avec lui... « Just give me your hand, I love your eyes, let me do, just your hand, I don't touch you, I am a good man... ». Je me suis moqué de lui gentiment, il n'était pas mauvais. C'était un mouvement d'aide, comme à l'égard d'un mutilé. Je pensais à mon homosexualité qui semble disparaître peu à peu. Lorsque je suis près de S.B., je n'ai pas envie des hommes, je sais alors que leur corps est semblable au mien et les jeunes garçons ne m'attirent plus qu'en tant que catalyseurs de la tension sexuelle immanente à tout groupe d'êtres. Loin d'elle, je pense à son corps, à sa parole, à la géométrie fantastique de sa figure, mon sexe lui est destiné, sans regret, sans consommation... Cet homme, ce soir, lorsqu'il a joui seul dans le vide, avait une expression de souffrance. Il posait la tête sur mon épaule en me remerciant, je n'ai pu que lui frapper doucement le visage en riant. L'économie du sperme est une chose bien pénible pour un homme seul.

Je sens la fatigue sous les yeux, j'ai envie d'obscurité, de penser les choses jusqu'à les dormir. J'ai hâte de retrouver l'Inde et de savoir si j'y tiendrai.

Fin Octobre, Kuwait :

Je ne sais comment je parviendrai en Inde. Pour obtenir un visa, j'ai dû me couper les cheveux. Je me sens mieux.

Les habitants du pays sont comme des enfants. Ils sont sortis du sable pour monter dans des voitures somptueuses, cliquetantes de gadgets. Parfois un de ces hommes très riches, sortant de sa fabuleuse automobile, la tête couverte de la coiffe blanche plaquée par le cerceau noir, me regarde et me salue, comme de puissance à puissance.

Hier, j'ai rencontré un jeune Arabe des Etats du Golfe. Nous sommes devenus amis. Dans l'après-midi un vent violent s'était levé de l'intérieur, fondant les rues et les terrasses dans un flot de poussière, puis l'orage a enflé jusqu'à la nuit, pour éclater pendant plusieurs heures. Des maisons et un hôpital ont été détruits.

Aujourd'hui le ciel est pur. Je suis retourné avec Sead sur la plage qui se trouve près du petit port où sont ancrés les voiliers du Golfe.

Je peux maintenant me tenir assis contre un mur, le soleil ajourant les surfaces, et penser simplement.

Je sens C.V, vivant aussi ; sa pensée ne s'éloigne pas de la mienne, et je tâcherai de ne pas lui devenir étranger.

Les cheveux ras, je me sens dégagé d'une équivoque importée, chargée de malaise. Je peux alors assumer l'équivoque qui m'est propre et laisser mon corps danser de lui-même.

Je voudrais tellement être sûr que S.B. viendra encore vers moi, et bientôt.

Pour C.V, je n'ai pas peur, je ne crains pas qu'il se détourne. Je crois que nous nous sommes approchés l'un de l'autre avec beaucoup d'amour et d'honnêteté, que nous nous sommes tenus debout l'un contre l'autre sans douleur et que, désormais ; nous sommes frères.

Lorsque Sead, ou un autre, me disent leurs projets, et les efforts qu'ils ont déjà faits, seuls, pour apprendre un métier, je me sens un bon à rien, un veinard, une putain de dilettante... Il me semble que nous avons tant d'effort à faire pour nous garder en vie, chacun de nous et notre espèce, et conserver notre forme actuelle en l'orientant vers une forme meilleure et moins égoïste que, constamment, nous sommes attirés vers la poussière, vers la terre retournée, vers le nul qui succède au mal de l'esprit.

Le temps de mon voyage, ici, est retenu en un nœud immobile. Coule au-dedans un sang qui se transforme.

Parfois je perds confiance. J'ai alors l'impression que je ne fais ce voyage que pour employer un temps qui me faisait peur. Mais si je regarde vers l'Occident, je réalise qu'il y a bien en moi une trajectoire intime, et qu'elle me mène là où je vais. S'il y a facilité, c'est-à-dire paresse, vanité, s'il y a piétinement, alors je me trompe. Se développe en moi une joie, une vaillance. L'esprit de difficulté doit être confondu. Je ne crois pas beaucoup à la notion de combativité, de performance face à l'obstacle. Il n'y a pas d'obstacles, mais des symboles, mais des éclatements à résoudre, mais des blessures à guérir. Il n'y a pas à lutter contre un nœud, mais à comprendre ce qu'est un nœud. Un être qui vient au monde se désordonne au contact de l'extérieur et des autres. Le travail consiste d'abord à rétablir l'équilibre, et c'est un dialogue constant de point à points, d'instant à instants.

Les mots m'échappent et je reste crétin, les doigts en l'air et un peu gourds, cherchant autour ce mot qui, tout de suite, annonçait sa présence, pour s'enfuir en laissant un vide étrange, une possibilité de sens attendant une possibilité de nom, et s'ouvre soudain un horizon déployé tel un soleil blanc dont chacun des rayons est un sens encore inconnu, un sens étranger menant à un nom étranger... Faut-il suivre le rayon à sa source et disparaître vers un autre horizon jusqu'à devenir cet étranger, ou faut-il chercher au bout du rayon un point présumé, une vie non identifiée, un prisme impliquant une Loi, une structure et des groupes et des familles et des associations et une vitesse et une lumière et une densité et s'y engouffrer comme un météore pour échouer là ; mort et dissocié de ses contraires, et de ses compléments, attendant combien de temps d'être inclus, intégré, de par la force de ces choses étrangères...

Tout travail a besoin, comme d'une garantie, du regard de l'autre pour trouver la vie et le mouvement. L'autre est pour sa propre pensée et sa propre démarche la matrice indispensable sans laquelle cette pensée et cette démarche ne conduisent qu'à un surhumain intime et incommunicable – qu'il est bon d'avoir connu mais dont il faut revenir si l'on cherche l'amour et ce que le mot « bonheur » recèle en son écho.

Je ne veux rien parier et ne suis sûr de rien... j'ai moins confiance quant au fait de parvenir moi-même à cet état de disponibilité.

Les envies se mêlent dans ma tête... Descendre marcher, la main de S.B. dans la mienne, caresser de ma tête nue sa gorge et sentir sa fabuleuse chevelure, entendre son rire, jouer de mes doigts sur ses doigts et savoir que dans la chambre, tout à l'heure, nous attendrons que le désir nous vienne ensemble et agirons la complétude de l'homme et de la femme... Je suis là. Et S.B. est ailleurs. Serons-nous là de nouveau ?

Everything is equal, my body is going through the zones and the light is reflecting lights. Enjoy yourself, get up to the goodness and sleep as a grain of dust, of dusty kingdom... A student, if you need some, take my consciousness, take it and I'll go without any thought to the skies... everything is equal; don't make me think of the differences... Just the metal, no sharpness, no form, no sense, no way, just a piece of metal somewhere, no more waiting for the life... But, if something happens among men, if some happiness was coming in man's worlds... well, take it easy and try to be ready...

Ici, j'ai épuisé toutes les ressources d'aventure... Seule m'attire hors du marécage et m'emmène l'aventure du ciel et sa présence maîtresse ; un niveau de nuages, même instables et en mouvance, et l'on croit pouvoir atteindre le soleil. A ces moments merveilleux, où tout l'art que l'homme social a voulu s'approprier se réalise, se chante et se déroule en plein évènement, l'acte, lorsqu'il se fait, se suffit. Il n'est point besoin de figer ce spectacle, car une partie de l'être qui l'a contemplé, dans le saisissement, s'y est reposée et, revenant plus tard d'un long voyage, offre par un regard de nouveau entier les présents et les possibles, avec le souvenir de cette beauté...

Par moments, j'ai peur ; je sens mon ineptie.

Quelquefois je voudrais raconter mon histoire avec O.B. Elle est riche de tous ces attrait mystérieux du destin, du lien, du mal... Mais, de nouveau, je la sens. Peut-être viendra-t-elle, cet hiver, en Inde ? J'ai rêvé d'elle, et de L.de D. aussi... est-il sorti de l'hôpital psychiatrique ? Fabienne sans doute m'en donnera des nouvelles.

Ce journal est un joint entre deux cycles.

Je me sens reculé des choses.

Mon roi, quelle est votre peine ?

J'ai engendré une fleur inerte...

Je lis Flaubert, c'est étrange d'avoir ces lectures, d'y ronronner comme un chat qui retrouve son panier, alors que les bruits environnants n'y sont aucunement reliés et les paroles que j'entends empruntent des musiques et des syllabes si autres...

Je ne sais quoi faire pour Sead, et cela me rend triste ; si l'hypothèse d'une arrestation est fondée, il est vraisemblable que les fonctionnaires de la police me refuseront tout éclaircissement ; et son cousin, même mourant et réclamant de lui une présence continue, n'aurait pu l'empêcher de m'envoyer un mot... je n'ose songer à quelque chose de plus définitif. Et naturellement je pense à mon « mauvais œil » et culpabilise en dedans... J'espère que Sead m'écrira en Inde.

La mer ce soir était si calme, si pérenne, que la surface, comme densifiée par les reflets du soleil couchant, semblait une plaque de métal animée ; les bateaux y semblaient des maisons et de petits poissons d'argent en jaillissaient par espaces, telle l'aiguille d'une couturière.

J'oscille de la fatigue à la joie, de la lassitude au plaisir d'être seul et de marcher en quiétude. Ma main demande d'autres offices... modeler, donner des caresses, tenir une barre, cueillir des grappes ou fouiller une rizière... j'ai besoin d'exercice.

A l'aube, les muezzins ont retenti et, dans la pénombre de ma chambre, j'ai ressenti avec émotion la grande, la seule Arabie. La voix principale modulait longuement, versant les mots dans le flot du jour naissant et les sables du désert et les horizons de la mer semblaient répondre à ces lentes exhortations d'un peuple, d'un passé, d'une foi, réunis et conduits par la voix d'un homme fils qui, à la frontière du noir et du blanc, à la levée du rouge et des ors, montait vers « Allah qui est Un ». Les lieux s'épanouirent de l'assemblée des hommes qui, dans l'isolement de leur corps, au lever de cet autre jour, allaient dire le lien unique qui les joint à l'éternel. L'égalité des individus est alors totale.

Dans mes rêves se croisent ou se retrouvent les femmes qui ont gouverné mon enfance et mon adolescence. Cette nuit Mammy, infirme, tentait de transporter en les soulevant à chaque pas pour les reposer devant elle deux légères bassines d'eau dont elle avait besoin... et je comprenais, en la découvrant ainsi aller dans une cour, que je devais être constamment près d'elle car j'étais seul à pouvoir la secourir, dans les gestes mêmes du quotidien. Puis ma mère, et Ch., la seconde femme de mon père, et Lily ma marraine, dansaient pour moi, un rire complice les unissant, avec des attitudes de joie et d'amour contenu, comme une offre qu'elles me faisaient de leur jeunesse inaltérable de femmes mûres dont la beauté ne s'éteint pas mais se transforme.

Il y a, chez le jeune Indien que j'ai rencontré, une grande carte du monde et nous sommes restés longtemps à la couvrir de nos désirs, y pointant d'un doigt souverain les régions que nous avons déjà traversées et caressant, anxieux, celles que nous voulions parcourir

...Toujours pas de bateau en partance... j'ai décidé de prendre l'avion pour Bombay ce soir même...

Demain, l'Inde.

9-11-1969, Bombay :

...Un peu avant que la nuit se dissipe, l'avion s'est posé et la porte s'est ouverte sur une tiédeur pénétrante... je suis resté quelques temps à la sortie de l'aéroport, hagard, ébloui...

J'ai retrouvé l'extrême beauté des visages, la science gestuelle un peu douloureuse des femmes...

L'Inde.

Corbeilles de fleurs, couleurs portées, mouvantes sur les corps, jambes nues, chevelures, enfants blottis sur une couverture, vieillards à la démarche vive, rien ne s'arrête, chaque être est une force. J'ai dormi. J'ai marché longtemps avant de trouver un plat de riz sans épices. La sueur coule, j'ai maigri.

Je ne sais rien.

Tiendrai-je ?

...La nuit, des groupes de mouettes marquent des fuites blanches jusqu'aux cris de la forêt. Le jour, les corbeaux les rejoignent.

Le sel et le soleil ont délassé mon corps. J'ai une chambre en bois dans une maison en bois. Le sable s'étend au devant des arbres, la ville est silencieuse, des croix de pierre se tiennent entre les branches, la façade pâle de l'église accueille le voyageur par de vastes escaliers que les siècles ont brunis. J'irai alentour, dans les villages, la forêt, je verrai les temples. Les visages ont une calme douceur. Je me fais faire mon habit d'Inde et m'apprête pour les mois à venir.

Là, la mer arabe et les voiliers aux multiples flammes blanches ; là, les rivières, le bleu devient gris, l'eau charrie des mondées de sable, les arbres reçoivent la lumière.

J'ai croisé quelques « beatniks », les yeux baissés tels des vierges, trop sales et trop semblables.

Il y a deux nuits, j'ai eu un rêve étrange : une voix me disait « Entre, mon enfant ! », tandis que je sentais le sang monter dans ma tête, mon cœur s'arrêter et ma conscience quitter mon corps... je décollais... ; j'ai eu le réflexe de respirer très profondément et je suis revenu.

Novembre 1969, Colva Beach:

Quelques gouttes de pluie effleurent les palmes et un arc en ciel s'élanche en auréole, cernant la maison, puis se dédouble et son reflet présente l'envers de ses couleurs. Le soir, la boule de feu approche de l'horizon : à l'instant du contact, un voilier se profile sur la ligne dernière de la mer et traverse la fleur flamboyante ; il la quitte alors qu'elle s'enfonce au large du visible. Alors les couleurs montent à l'encontre de la nuit et la foule blanche de la mer se renouvelle, la vie bat sur le sable autour des mares d'or rougi.

Au milieu du jour, de longues files de femmes, leurs têtes supportant de larges panières, avancent sur la grève, croisant des files d'hommes vêtus de pagnes, leurs corps blanchissant la poudre de sable, qui soutiennent d'immenses filets. Sous les cocotiers, des hommes se groupent autour du cadavre d'un grand poisson ; ils le dépècent, et des tâches pourpres s'affirment dans la douceur de l'ombre. Vers l'intérieur, les rivières cessent leur cours pour s'étendre entre les roseaux, des nénuphars et des lotus en jaillissent, les buffles s'y tiennent immobiles.

Au bord de l'estuaire, une fleur de pierre : un temple.

Puiser l'eau dans les jarres, rentrer dans la maison, la fraîcheur du sol après la brûlure du sable. S'étendre la nuit venue sur une natte, la bougie reculant la clarté de la lune à la limite du mur. A Panaji j'ai rencontré un Danois, immense front pâle et des yeux qui sourient avec une sorte de douleur, avec sa jeune femme et leur bébé. Une nuit blanche sur la plage de Calangute, les bras le long du corps, l'intérieur s'émeut et quitte peu à peu la pesanteur, s'élève vers les étoiles, voyage parmi elles, agglomérats soudains ou lignes écartées, géométries stables des mirages dimensionnels ; l'océan accable la plage de son vacarme et la forêt donne à la nuit tous ses bruits ; pour trouver le silence, il faut accompagner la fusion des sons dans un rythme régulier qui devient celui du sang.

J'ai passé avec mes amis les premiers jours de leur vie nouvelle ; leur maison est pareille aux autres, au bord de l'ombre, face à la mer ; le vent en caresse les palmes séchées. Nous avons parlé et nous sommes écoutés. D'autres aussi sont venus, apportant le plat de riz, la bourse de haschich et le shilom. Ils sont là, nombreux, se réfugiant en la niant dans une sécurité stérile, piétinant dans leur similitude. Ils sont venus du Népal où ils se trouvaient plus encore, ils ont traversé l'Inde jusqu'ici ; les uns sont là depuis des mois, ils ont perdu leur passeport et n'ont plus d'argent ; d'autres arrivent pour l'hiver et l'envoûtement commence ; les jours passent, la nature est si belle, c'est un lieu de transition sur le chemin qui mène au paradis ; sans bouger, il ne fait pas trop chaud, les poissons ne coûtent rien et le riz, si peu ; les noix de coco désaltèrent ; il y a le minimum et juste assez de force pour marcher sur la grève. Un sommeil appauvri altère leurs traits.

C'est drôle de voir, réunis par maisons, les occidentaux qui sont dans leur pays considérés comme des aventuriers, se retrouver entre eux, les Français avec les Français, les Américains avec les Américains ; et, par leur inaction, entretenir plusieurs familles d'Indiens... Le quotidien est si prenant ; il s'établit au fil des jours une connexion entre le rythme de la nature et celui d'une pensée qui devient passive et se satisfait de son éloignement que l'égo considère comme un recueil et une purification...

Certains, après quelques mois d'Inde, trouvent en eux-mêmes des qualités de prophète ou de visionnaire et exhibent un accoutrement de sagesse ; d'autres sont simples, ils sont venus, ils voulaient sentir, ils restent eux-mêmes et n'ont pas cette inhibition qui consiste à avoir honte de sa pensée. Et puis Joachim, et quelques autres, là, au hasard, seuls ou ensemble, vivent et marchent.

J'ai quitté Calangute, pris un autobus, un bateau, deux autres autobus, et suis arrivé ici, sur cette plage plus vaste et plus belle encore, plus féconde, et moins fréquentée. Des types, bizarres, des individualistes. J'ai marché un peu, suis entré dans une maison claire... un couple d'Anglais, ils m'ont accueilli ; je me suis baigné et, à mon retour, ils m'ont proposé d'habiter avec eux. Tendresse discrète. Maggy et Lee. Ils m'ont prêté un sac de couchage.

J'ai rencontré dans l'ancienne Goa, dans une institution catholique dont les bâtiments entourent une église blanche, habitée d'ors et de marbres, une femme religieuse, venue d'Espagne. Elle m'a donné de l'eau fraîche et m'a parlé simplement.

Voilà. L'Inde. Le regard parfois se cristallise. Le profil d'une femme dont l'oreille est piquée de pierreries. Les yeux d'une femme, leur vitalité. Les gestes des mains. Une épaule qui offre sa surface vivante, sa brune présence, le désir se coule contre elle, objet d'amour ? Le corps tout entier peut être gainé de l'étoffe noire d'un sari, ou pourpre, bleue, or, l'épaule en devient le symbole, et ce symbole suffit. Les vieillards sont parés de leur propre élégance. Les membres sèchent, la peau se tire, le cou s'allonge encore, la main est plus noueuse et les dents sont tombées, mais le visage, mais le corps peuvent se tenir à la lumière ; la vie fait son chemin, l'esprit ne se plaint pas dans les notions de déchéance, de déclin, de sénescence.

Pourquoi suis-je venu ? Je n'ai pas envie de « enjoy myself »... Je ne sais pas.

Je ne sais comment sortir de ce dédale. Le soir, j'ai des sueurs froides et mes mains sont brûlantes. Mon sommeil est agité de rêves désordonnés. Ce journal est un peu l'histoire du Petit Poucet...

Bientôt je serai à Pondichéry, auprès de Fabienne. J'ai entendu dire que l'Ashram était très grand, comme un village, et qu'il y avait une multitude de Français, ce qui ne m'inspire pas vraiment...

Il faut que je comprenne mieux l'agression, ce que la solitude en fait.

Ce journal est celui d'un état... Il faudrait avoir le temps d'en rédiger plusieurs à la fois. Tant de choses se passent que je ne puis dire.

Cette nuit, j'ai fait plusieurs rêves très complets ; dans l'un, R, le compagnon de ma mère, possédait le secret de ma guérison, qui semblait fort simple, et je comprenais qu'il n'avait jamais voulu me le communiquer, par haine ; l'enchaînement me conduisait dans un hôpital où j'avais à faire face à toutes sortes d'obstacles, parfois humiliants. Un autre rêve avec mon père, que je retrouvais dans une fabrique de faïence et métaux, entouré de sa famille, et il passait dans nos gestes une nouvelle entente, c'était fort... Un troisième rêve où Mammy partageait avec moi de graves risques et nous avions à faire des escalades très périlleuses en haut d'immeubles en ruine, et A.F, « ma femme », tentait de nous aider à parvenir à sa chambre, sous les combles, dans laquelle elle était cloîtrée...

Hier soir, j'ai fumé le shilom avec quelques autres et, après m'être allongé dans l'obscurité de la petite pièce où je dors, j'ai senti une présence féminine qui venait me donner le bien, la paix. J'ai craint que ce soit un désir de sécurité fœtale, puis j'ai « entendu » A.F qui venait vers moi, avec sa douceur et ses délires, comme elle voudrait toujours venir dans la vie, et j'ai tenté de lui répondre le plus tendrement possible ; mais au moment où nous allions nous rejoindre, O.B. est apparue, et sa structure, sa force, m'ont étouffé d'angoisse ; je l'ai ressentie comme une puissance mauvaise... je me suis souvenu de notre vie commune et de notre rencontre – j'avais 16 ans à peine – et je sais combien A.F la craint et ressent en elle l'obstacle qui revient infailliblement nous séparer, alors que c'est enfin possible... ; je connais O.B. si bien, elle est ma passion et, auprès d'elle, aucune autre ne subsiste, et je l'aime mieux qu'aucun autre aussi, bien que je ne l'estime pas réellement ; je l'ai aimée avec patience, endurance, et je le pouvais...

Je crois qu'un vide s'étend, qui est en même temps un tamis au travers duquel ne passeront que les grains... et il n'y a jamais autant de grains que l'on croit !

J'ai joué avec les cartes, seul : la mort se tient sur mon chemin en tant que puissance... une fois parvenu au cœur, je dois me tourner à nouveau vers la mort et la comprendre en vivant les éléments d'une honte que j'appréhende... jusqu'à ce qu'elle s'achève, s'étant ouverte et déroulée à sa plus haute place... ; alors je peux acquérir la connaissance et le temps n'a plus d'importance car la « chance » et la mort ont disparu de mon évolution...

J'ai contemplé le symbole du soleil, écouté le message de la nature... j'ai vu l'or flamber et le feu pur se tenir en un fruit.

Il me semble avoir reconnu quelqu'un que j'avais longtemps recherché, sans trop y songer, mais je ne suis pas sûr... Pour le seul plaisir de laisser mon corps libéré recevoir les rayons du soleil et brunir contre le sable, je resterais ici plus longtemps ; mais je sens d'autres modes, d'autres forces ; je partirai dans quelques jours.

Hier au soir, j'ai eu une expérience pénible... les symboles peuplaient l'obscurité, je suis parvenu devant une petite église blanche, fermée par une porte de bois bardée de fer, devant laquelle on avait allumé six bougies, trois devant chaque battant ; je ne savais plus de quelle source j'étais né ; je me suis senti chrétien et mes genoux m'ont emporté vers la terre ; ma pensée s'est concentrée sur la porte de l'église, de gros insectes sombres ont traversé sa surface ; j'avais un besoin obsessionnel de situer la mort et ne pouvais m'assurer de rien, était-elle silencieusement existante, enclose dans les murs de l'édifice, ou bien se tenait-elle éparses alentour... Lorsque je suis revenu à moi, j'ai vu un chien couché près de moi, dans une attitude d'écoute ; je me suis levé et le chien est parti de son côté...

Ce matin, les occidentaux que je rencontre tous les jours sur cette plage me sont apparus autrement ; je m'apercevais de leurs tares et voyais chacun comme un malade ; celui-là, ancien splendide jeune Américain aux cheveux d'or, avait le corps couvert de boutons craquelant sous le hâle, le ventre enflé et les yeux injectés de sang et vides d'humanité ; celle-là, en sécurité dans l'opulence de sa chair, ses gros yeux bleus protégés par les verres de ses lunettes, ne cessait de parler ; une autre, bouffie de graisse, les dents cariées, pratiquait un sourire étrange et son regard était veule, comme amputé de l'idée ou du sentiment qu'il aurait dû exprimer... C'est une atmosphère malsaine ; l'image d'un marais dans la chaleur presque immobile.

Demain je préparerai mon départ.

Novembre, 1969, Colva Beach :

Cette nuit j'ai rêvé de Joachim : nous étions les seuls, au jeu de la balle, à pouvoir la poser au bon endroit du cadran solaire – emplacement du zénith – qui se trouvait près de la jonction des deux cours.

J'ai regardé les pêcheurs halier leurs filets. J'ai longtemps rêvé au monde. J'ai pensé à ceux que j'aime.

Novembre, 1969, Mar Gao :

Je me suis levé très tôt, endolori, mes désirs se portant vers la vie et le personnage d'un rêve que je venais de faire... ; le thème qui en ressort : la tendresse, l'amour, l'amitié, forment la seule sécurité dont l'être a besoin.

Hier au soir, j'ai joué aux cartes avec mes amis Anglais ; j'ai senti une paix, une joie, à leurs côtés, nous avons parlé un peu, tranquillement. Maggy, sous une apparence de bouledogue, est très fine, et j'ai rarement rencontré une gentillesse aussi libre.

Je suis parti sans bruit, ce matin, dessinant sur le sol, avec des objets, des mots pour eux.

J'ai rencontré une femme Indienne, assez âgée, au corps maigre et noir ceint d'un sari jaune, le chignon de sa chevelure rehaussé d'un nœud de ficelle ; elle avait un regard extraordinairement chaleureux, mêlé de cette intransigeance que donne l'expérience. Cela m'a plongé dans la mélancolie.

Il y a des moments où tout va mal, tout se présente dans le mauvais sens.

A Pondichéry je verrai le soleil se lever sur la mer.

Novembre, 1969, Bangalore :

A la gare, un homme m'a donné une brochure brahmaniste, qui m'a fait longtemps réfléchir... J'ai dit en plaisantant, un jour, à S.B., qu'il faudrait tuer les révolutionnaires dès qu'ils ont atteint leur but car, une fois que la bataille a cessé, ils deviennent des exemples ; or lequel d'entre eux, individuellement, est libre ? Aucun. Leurs moyens de conviction ne sont effectifs que dans l'exaltation...

Mon souhait, mon « désir » : pouvoir un jour discerner la vérité et la transcrire fidèlement ; apprendre à aimer. La Clairvoyance. La Vue Claire.

Comment ? Je ne sais pas. Mais je sens que, comme on dit enfant, je « brûle »... !

Ce matin, j'ai marché pendant quatre heures à travers la ville.

Des êtres, toutes sortes d'êtres.

Dans le train, quand je me suis éveillé, j'ai vu, depuis la banquette réservée aux bagages où j'avais réussi à me faire de la place, une femme très belle, son visage si doux cerné de cheveux blancs, un tissu blanc recouvrant son sari bleu et or et retombant sur sa peau brune. Elle me regardait souvent, avec beaucoup d'attention. Je suis descendu de mon repaire et suis allé m'asseoir non loin d'elle, près de la vitre. Elle a voulu savoir ce que j'étais, à quelle religion j'appartenais. Dans l'après-midi elle est descendue du train ; comme elle passait le long du compartiment, nos regards se sont rencontrés une dernière fois. Elle a souri et, parce que je levais la main droite, paume vers elle, pour la saluer, elle a posé son sac à terre et, l'air interrogateur, a fait de même. Nous nous sommes souri. Elle est partie.

Tout à l'heure j'ai vu un film Hindi racontant l'histoire d'un orphelin qui parvient indemne au large de tous les obstacles et douleurs de l'existence, grâce aux bonnes actions qu'il a commises ; le salut lui vient d'un milliardaire et le film s'achève sur la photographie de Gandhi... ; j'ai été stupéfait par l'extrême agressivité des représentations de types réels ; les acteurs sont prodigieux d'exactitude et leur expression est absolument convaincante. Que ce soit l'enfant malheureux ou le petit mendiant vulgaire, la belle gourmande et odieuse ou la jeune fille douce et méprisée, le mari saoul ou le père vulnérable, chaque personnage est d'une violence presque insupportable. Les réactions des spectateurs sont aussi déconcertantes, qui rient et applaudissent lorsqu'une bande de gosses ravage un quartier de la ville, pillant les aveugles, frappant les vieillards, bousculant les infirmes, renversant les paniers des femmes... Et on n'a le droit de sortir de la salle qu'une fois l'hymne au drapeau Indien terminé... !

Novembre, 1969, Thiruvanamalai :

Joie. Paisible.

Une rencontre, longue, complexe ; un homme, que j'ai trouvé dans le dernier autobus, avec lequel s'est produit un rapport d'énergie ; son beau visage de maître, son regard inoubliable, ironie, tendresse, force ; puis j'ai découvert qu'il était infirme et j'ai eu honte de m'être affirmé. Il a fait arrêter le bus un peu avant la ville, devant le portail de l'ashram, afin que j'y descende. Nous ne nous sommes rien dit. Je suis entré.

Une atmosphère d'étude, de recueillement. Un courant passe.

On m'a donné une chambre ouverte de quatre côtés sur le jour ; la porte la sépare d'une terrasse de même taille, couverte d'un auvent de palmes ; sur une étagère, des livres, des paroles simples. Le temple de l'ashram n'est pas un objet ; il vit ; les offrandes sont vraies.

Je sens Fabienne. Tous les êtres que j'aime sont en moi, je leur parle, ils me répondent. Je ne suis pas prisonnier.

29-11-1969, Thiruvanamalai :

Hier, avant la venue de la nuit, j'ai gravi le sentier de la Montagne, jusqu'au rocher ou Sri Ramana Maharshi passa vingt années d'hermitage. Chaque geste, en Inde, porte un nom, chaque parcours a sa correspondance. Ainsi, ce chemin était long et dur. Il m'a dit une chose : « Va vers chacun comme tu vas vers moi, regarde-moi, j'ai tous les visages. »

Je suis revenu, le corps et la pensée détendus. Je faisais son chemin.

La journée se passe dans le cœur, à l'ashram. Nul n'est là pour apprendre d'un autre, il n'y a pas de guru. Chacun, respectant la paix de la communauté, poursuit son travail ; la conscience ne peut se relâcher, car l'environnement témoigne incessamment du bien-fondé de la quête spirituelle. On ne ressent aucune fatigue ; les visages sont clairs et disent un bonheur proche de la sérénité. Le corps des brahmanes vibre d'une vraie jeunesse.

Je suis conscient de ma vanité, de mes désirs de pouvoir.

Ici, l'humilité est comme immanente. Pour chaque être que je croise, un salut. Chacun est humble devant la force de l'autre, car chacun est unique.

Aucun individu en Europe, exceptés ceux que l'on s'est empressé de qualifier de « saints », n'a pu et ne peut mener aussi loin que les Indiens une volonté d'expérience, laquelle, chaque fois, est originale...

La pluie tombe encore, les champs alentour sont inondés, les singes se réfugient sur les toits.

Je réalise le danger et l'inanité de l'ego, et comme il peut se nourrir de tout.

Je me rappelle avoir dit à ma mère, il y a plusieurs mois, que je sentais en moi un Maître, qui était un être plus vaste, une source pérenne et immuable au-dessus, auquel je devais me soumettre, dont j'étais le disciple... ; je craignais, en formulant ceci, d'exalter cet ego... Mais je vois maintenant que, peut-être, je sentais juste.

Je suis frappé par l'extrême indépendance de chacun, dans l'ashram. Nul n'est astreint à des règles sociales.

Deux paons dont la gorge bleue a la vivacité du saphir, marchent dans les allées. Il fait frais et les feuilles retiennent encore des gouttes d'eau.

J'ai tant de choses à faire... Chaque nuit je fais un rêve homosexuel...

Je me demande ce que je vais trouver à Pondichéry, à l'Ashram de la Mère...

1-12-1969, Thiruvanamalai :

J'attends le bus pour Pondichéry... Des questions se bousculent dans ma tête...

Hier, la Mère a donné à Fabienne une rose jaune, « la Paix », et pour moi une rose rouge, « la Passion humaine changée en Amour pour le Divin ».

Je n'ai rien écrit depuis une semaine, tant j'avais à lutter contre un flux d'impressions négatives. Enfin, je suis passé au-delà.

La Mère est venue en moi.

J'ai souhaité, j'ai voulu, j'ai demandé avec toute l'ardeur et la soif qui me tenaient, depuis mon épuisement, que la Mère me guérisse...

Je sors peu à peu, douloureux, du piège qui m'avait saisi.

L'être psychique...

La Mère ne reconnaît que deux voies : la recherche intérieure, obstinée, allant se purifiant vers la délivrance et l'union totale au dessein divin ; le laisser-aller, l'abandon complet, sans compromis, dans la confiance, à la Mère divine, comme le chat qui est porté par sa mère et n'oppose aucune résistance car il sait qu'elle a raison d'agir ainsi, même s'il ne peut en comprendre toujours les motifs et les buts...

J'ai soupçonné la supercherie, partout alentour et au centre.

Elle doit nous recevoir mardi et je crains de faire l'imbécile...

Tout est en Elle aujourd'hui, tout dépend d'Elle.

Ce qu'est l'Ashram... quelle importance ? Son aspect m'a déprimé jusqu'à maintenant, et pourtant, lorsque Fabienne est arrivée, nous n'avons cessé de sourire, aux murs blancs, pâles, lumineux de calme, à la mer, aux visages, et les contacts se sont établis sans heurts, directement et sainement.

La Mère est là. Partout où Elle me mènera je pourrai, si vraiment j'y aspire, La retrouver et La sentir.

Je doute encore, cependant... Il n'est pas mauvais de douter, disent les Yogins... Mais la Mère est un plus grand Yogin encore. Et Elle aime les hommes et les connaît comme chacun s'imagine un Dieu les connaissant. Mais il n'est pas question de Dieu, ici.

9-12-1969, Pondichéry :

Je ne pourrais écrire que des prières. J'ai le désir de reposer ma tête sur la grande plage.

Je lis les prières de la Mère, celles qu'Elle écrivit au début de ce siècle mouvant ; je les entends au fond de moi-même, elles me sont connues, mais je ne puis les vivre, je ne puis les recevoir sans éprouver une angoisse diffuse.

Lassitude extrême, troubles physiologiques étranges, sentiment d'être enchaîné, puis de couler comme en une matière intermédiaire. J'oublie ce que j'ai su, car tout me le rappelle avec douleur ; je ne suis pas prêt à le ressentir ailleurs.

Parfois un couloir se creuse dans ma tête, départageant la sphère douloureuse, mais je ne puis le prendre calmement, mon hystérie y engouffre ses cris qui sont ma vie. Tandis qu'à côté de moi Fabienne ressent le vide, désespère d'un contact avec l'autre, et son corps lisse de danseuse s'emplit de sanglots incompris.

Je ne sais d'où j'ai jailli, je ne sais dans quel rêve je fonctionne, mais je sais que je suis retenu par des liens qui me deviennent à chaque instant plus intolérables, mais je sais que la Vie coule et se vit, là, tout près, et que je ne puis l'atteindre... et je tourne et me débat dans ce moi exigü...

J'ai peur... Quelle naissance ?

Dans quelques moments la Mère sera là, proche, visible, Son corps de vieille dame devant le mien de jeune homme.

Qui suis-je ?

10-12-1969, Auroville :

L'être vital est parfois pris de terreur...

La Mère : Ses yeux sont l'onde suprême.

Cela est sans forme, sans couleur, sans chaleur, sans mesure, Cela est privé de sens.

Cela est le sens.

Je ne sens plus que l'animal qui s'éreinte, recouvert par une marée de rêves...

Voir cette Vie sublime qu'aucune parole ne peut dire émaner d'un corps vivant par le flot de l'Amour continu, inaltérable, réalisé... je n'ai pu qu'ouvrir grand mon cœur et, une rose rouge à peine ouverte serrée dans ma main, La quitter, retrouver une à une les difficultés du vécu et du vivre...

Voici, je veux la Mère pour seul guide, Sa Volonté sera mon effort...

J'ai besoin d'une première aide...

Je T'ai trouvée, Mère infinie, Tu es venue à moi et je n'aurai plus qu'un désir, c'est de Te retrouver pour toujours.

20-12-1969, Cape Comorin :

J'ai totalement confiance. La Mère est là.

J'entrevois un être futur. J'entrevois la paix.

J'ai trouvé le but de l'homme. Je sais ce que j'ai à faire et ma seule peur est de l'oublier, m'épuisant dans la poussière.

Elle est là. Et il nous faut grandir, il nous faut vivre à la mesure de l'univers, il nous faut Devenir.

Fabienne et moi avons fait le pèlerinage aux temples du Sud. Nous vivons ensemble des suites de transformations internes, souvent pénibles, mais toujours nous nous rétablissons dans la joie et le rire.

Ecrire... J'ai l'impression d'être un peintre obstiné devant une vague lumineuse qu'il ne pourra jamais reproduire, car il ne peut que la devenir ou se voiler les yeux pour ne plus la voir que dans un clair-obscur favorisant la représentation à laquelle, finalement, il tient le plus...

Et puis j'ai rencontré à l'Ashram, grâce à Fabienne – qui, décidément, est mon ange – le seul livre dont j'ai besoin sur la terre et dont je n'ose même poursuivre la lecture tant ce que j'ai déjà lu me paraît l'expression de quelque chose d'inaccessible, d'encore inaccessible...

23-3-1978, Auroville :

C'était dans la fumée et le bruit, à ce temps-là. A l'extrémité d'un mouvement de l'homme. Une extrémité qui n'avait pas, qui n'a toujours pas, fini de s'intensifier, comme la corde d'un arc universel... mais la flèche jaillira du cœur.

Car c'est le cœur qui appelle.

Seth dit qu'il y a eu d'autres civilisations, qui ont échoué... On échoue seulement lorsqu'on n'est pas entier, lorsqu'un exclusivisme domine et tous les éléments ne peuvent s'exprimer. Alors l'échec est la sauvegarde du progrès. Et on recommence. C'est bien ainsi.

Maintenant le temps est venu. Tout est là. Tout est présent, et tous les éléments sont représentés. Et le Force veut, la Force consciente.

Seth aussi est conscient, c'est pourquoi je le crois ; c'est plus que seulement croire, c'est écouter et reconnaître, retrouver. Pour Seth, il n'y a plus d'opposés, plus de contradictions ; il y a les éléments qui, peu à peu, inéluctablement, appellent leur place juste, leur mouvement juste, leur rythme juste ; et cet appel fait l'histoire, et toutes nos histoires. Et les illusions, une à une, se défont.

Dans cette fumée, ce bruit, il y avait une petite plage claire : deux êtres qui aimaient l'équilibre. C'est là que je suis né.

Pas si facilement... on hésite, quelquefois. Même après j'ai hésité, pendant longtemps ; je ne savais que faire de ces poids, de ces contradictions vivantes, de ces obscurités ; j'étais pris et ne savais plus que c'était un partage, un travail, que c'était le chemin.

J'étais bien pris, il faut le dire ! Mais les yeux étaient ouverts, même si le sourire semblait tué et la perversion victorieuse.

Non, l'ignorance ne connaît pas de victoire. L'ignorance n'est pas une, elle se nie à ses propres dépens. Elle est seulement l'arrière de notre progrès, elle est tout ce que nous n'avons pas compris, elle est l'indice de notre manque, et l'instrument de Ce devenir.

La victoire se trouve dans la permanence. Quand je me suis tourné de tous côtés, me suis heurté, blessé, abîmé à la limite du tolérable, quand j'ai vu et senti et perçu le silence se couvrir, s'enlaidir, s'assombrir de la séparation, de l'égotisme et des fausses créations... et quand je fonçai de plus en plus vite dans le noir, méSut la force autant qu'il était possible – mais peut-on jamais vraiment la trahir, c'est elle qui tient les rênes... -, cette Permanence était là, qui filtrait doucement, gardait la base, répondait au cri de sa présence infaillible. Et quand j'ai dit « Oui, c'est ça, Oui, Oui » et suis parti chercher Son corps, le moyen de La toucher, d'entrer en relation avec Elle, c'est Elle qui était déjà là, qui déjà me donnait la clé, le moyen de L'atteindre, et c'est Elle qui m'attendait, comme toujours, pour toujours, une fleur à la main. Sans insistance. C'était tout.

Un choc, tout de même. Et des années d'une stupidité dangereuse, dans l'illusion d'une lutte, sur l'illusion d'une corde raide, étouffant de culpabilité, l'aspiration mal située, la puissance des contraires. Car la valeur de l'illusion est concrète. Matérielle.

Mais quelque part, l'ouverture de Sa douceur, et la densité d'une gratitude souveraine.

Elle aurait pu, d'une pression de Ses doigts, écarter ou dissoudre tout le « mal ». Elle ne l'a pas fait. Elle a tout laissé là, intact, ou intouché. Mais Elle m'a donné un corps à Son Aide, un visage à Sa Présence. Et, légèrement, s'appuyant sur ma compréhension intérieure et directe, Elle m'a poussé dans le vide, dans l'enfer...

Jusqu'à ce qu'il n'y ait plus de vide, ni d'enfer.

Pour voir clair il faut deux choses – le regard qui voit et la lumière qui éclaire.

Et c'est le premier Yoga, en quelque sorte. Un Yoga dont nul ne peut se dispenser, malgré qu'il semble parfois un gaspillage. Tant que le monde est infirme, on ne peut y échapper. Alors, on peine. On gaspille, oui. Sans pouvoir encore ne rien y changer. Une pure dépense de Grâce. C'est le coût de la situation.

Oh, on peut aider, bien sûr, à limiter les dégâts. Mais pour aider, il faut déjà être un peu plus clair, un peu moins recroquevillé...

Mâ.

Il faut que j'apprenne à Te parler, pour que Ton silence vienne.

Aujourd'hui j'ai tourné le dos à l'océan qui me sépare de Toi.

Le dernier bateau a quitté le port et Tu ne m'as pas rappelé.

J'ai appris que je devais bannir tout désir de retourner là où Tu rayannes, et que ce lieu béni entre tous sur la Terre devait être pour moi un objet d'adoration et de contemplation dans le détachement tranquille d'un enfant libre, d'un serviteur silencieux chaque jour plus conscient de Ta Présence...

Sois Kali, sois Durga, brise cet être mental si vain et satisfait, Mère, cette chose qui bouge et s'affirme sans cesse, cette médiocrité installée qui fait tant de souffrance, alors que les monceaux de Ton Amour, des cascades de lumière attendent là, au-dessus, physiquement posés à l'ouverture de la tête... ; que cet animal de ténèbres abdique et se tourne vers Toi pour être dissous, que ce mental se taise... !

O Mère, un peu qui descend, une goutte de cette vie divine, et c'est cette certitude totale, claire, pure, infinie, cette certitude ouverte, qui voit, libre, lumière sur la Terre, dans la Terre...

Ce rire vers lequel des millions d'années ont peiné.

Alors il faut écarter les côtes, ouvrir sa poitrine, offrir son ventre, apaiser ses jambes, appeler doucement, aspirer dans la paix du cœur pour s'unir, dans une sincérité qui se répand, à Cela qui touche et transforme, surveille, organise et conduit chaque parcelle, chaque détail, chaque forme de la vie...

Montre-moi, je suis enfermé dans la cave de mon corps et ne cherche plus à en sortir ; quelque part le choix a été fait de rester dans l'obscur, identifié à l'obscur, pour T'y appeler et m'y tourner vers Toi...

Mais, cela : Tu es là, toujours, Tu baignes mon cœur, l'emplis et le contiens, Tu es là, parfois si puissamment que je Te sens dans le corps entrer et pousser, travailler. Puissance inconcevable qui peux Te ramasser en un point de Toi Même pour lutter contre le passé ignorant et le transfigurer...

Toi qui charries la lumière par tous les mondes et travailles l'univers entier, Tu Te tiens et tout Ton Amour dans le cœur et la vie de chacun de Tes enfants...

Je voudrais pour chaque instant, pour chaque geste quotidien, m'unir à Ta Volonté ; je suis là, comme un aveugle et un infirme, me demandant à tout moment ce que je dois faire, pour chaque acte arrêté devant l'alternative : agir pour Toi ou agir pour l'égo. Et je ne sens rien et je vais errant et pourtant sûr que Tu me conduis, le nez et les pieds dans ce marasme, Toi toute Une de Vie me couvrant dans mon inconscience, m'apprenant à travers chaque circonstance Ta leçon.

Que ma gratitude s'exprime par mon devenir...

26-4-1971, Nairobi :

Mâ, je veux naître à Toi par tous mes sens, croître vers Toi, jaillir en Toi, que ces secondes qui coulent soient des marches franchies... et là, attaché à Toi par le cœur, mes bras d'animal gémissant tendus vers Toi, je reste incapable, ce vaurien qu'habite un enfant divin...

Si peu en moi veut, si peu se donne...

Tant de parts sont encore closes, qui persévèrent dans la poursuite de leurs objectifs morts. Que mon cœur et Ta Présence en lui se répandent comme un fluide magique en tout ce qui vit et se meut, imprègnent toute cette nature et impriment en elle la joie de l'offrande et la volonté parfaite...

Lorsque je regarde au-dessus, je sens comme plusieurs présences, plusieurs êtres que Tu contiens...

Je sens la Force impersonnelle que Tu as appelée sur la Terre, radieuse et infiniment puissante dans les détails, travailler sur tous les états de l'être, harmoniser toutes les circonstances de telle manière qu'elles contribuent à la réceptivité d'en bas, à l'ouverture de la matière. Une onde qui vibre dans le physique, une onde qui est simultanément regard et acte.

Et Toi, au centre du Travail.

27-4-1971, Nairobi :

Je comprends maintenant que le don de soi, c'est Toi, Mère, qui le pratiques parfaitement, et Toi seule ; car Tu Te donnes entièrement à chacun de Tes enfants, et Tu les attends au cœur même de leur être, avec la patience, la sûreté, la pureté inaltérables du divin. Nous ne te voyons, Te touchons, Te sentons, ne T'aimons qu'à la mesure de notre étroitesse...

29-4-1971, Nairobi :

Douce Mère : le désir d'être vu et reconnu, admiré par les autres, changé en offrande sincère et intégrale de tout son être au Divin...

Le vital est froid, indifférent, tout cela l'amuse et le distrait, et que le Divin soit de la partie met un piment à ses plaisirs... Je sais pourtant qu'au fond de son activité, il y a une sorte de présence consciente, qui collabore à Ton travail... « Si Tu ne veux pas de moi, Tu n'as qu'à me laisser tomber, de toutes manières je suis un zéro de conscience, alors il ne fallait pas me choisir... ». Et tout de suite après, l'envie de pleurer... Encore le singe, l'indomptable, l'inégalable copieur !

30-4-1971, Rome :

Krishna dit souvent que nous ne comprendrons tous ces déplacements que dix ans après peut-être... Ma Mère adorée, rien ne peut faire que je cesse d'avancer vers Toi, n'est-ce pas ? Ne me laisse pas... !

La divinité que Tu veux en nous est si étrangère au mental de l'homme, et pourtant si centrale à l'être...

Il est impossible de comprendre Ton action.

Il est impossible d'être compris lorsqu'on s'est donné à Toi...

Ils sont là. Dis-moi que faire.

4-5-1971, Paris :

Mère, tout le passé T'était dédié, tout l'avenir T'appartient et le présent est le lieu de Ta victoire...

Eux, chacun d'eux, ce sont Tes enfants... Permet que je les serve selon Ton Sens et Ta Volonté, sans heurt, sans hâte et sans retard... Inscris en moi l'attitude juste...

Que la danse soit silence, que l'ouverture soit silence...

Combien de refus, combien de trahisons, de glissements, de rejets à vivre et à dissoudre ?

Tu es notre Reine à jamais. Ton enfant soleil.

7-5-1971, Paris :

Il faut que la sincérité vraie emplisse tout mon être, la sincérité et, pour l'exprimer, le calme.

Je sens que c'est leur être intérieur qui les conduit à se livrer à moi, au regard qu'ils trouvent en moi, mais cela veut dire qu'ils dégagent à chaque fois un contingent d'inconscience ; et cela, je ne sais pas comment l'éviter, ou le recevoir...

Que cette vanité soit brûlée par la simple joie d'être un instrument pour Toi, quoi qu'il arrive.

En T'écrivant, ce sommeil m'appelle encore.

La voie fidèle à Toi est silencieuse... Je ne sais ce qui cherche à s'abattre sur moi...

Eveil... Eveil constant...

8-5-1971, Paris :

Mère, fais descendre la Force, profond et durablement, pour que le centre sexuel soit illuminé ; je sens qu'une fois cette transformation accomplie, toute une grande clarté de l'être s'ensuit, une grande netteté, et que tant de possibilités d'erreur seront annulées. Alors le corps, ce corps merveilleux, saura Te répondre et s'unir à Ton corps divin...

Il me semble qu'une sorte de déclic presque inconscient doit se produire pour tous les éléments de cette drôle de communauté et qu'alors une nouvelle ligne d'action à Ton service commencera de se tracer...

Mère, affirme-moi dans le juste.

L'Unité qui doit se manifester, Tu es seule à la connaître.

Je veux T'être plaisir.

La Force fait une douce pression, continue, au sommet de la tête mais, curieusement, je ne la sens pas pénétrer ; j'essaie de m'ouvrir plus, mais rien n'arrive. C'est aussi une impression merveilleuse. C'est là. Cela regarde, observe, et alors la question de la sincérité se change en un effort tranquille d'obéissance souple...

10-5-1971, Paris :

Tout va de travers... ce sommeil qui veut s'abattre sur tout l'être.

Je ne sais comment lutter. Cette lourdeur est une gêne constante. Et je Te sens si proche. C'est difficile.

Liberté consciente...

Tout est brouillé. Mais je sais ceci : je ne veux plus de souffrance ; souffrance est mensonge ; le progrès réel se produit et s'accomplit dans la joie, par la joie. Une joie qui s'élargit, se propage, coule en chaque artère et en un flot continu et invincible noie une à une les profondeurs de l'inconscience...

C'est par Ta joie que tout se fait et se fera.

Aide-moi à la connaître, à l'accepter, à la recevoir...

11-5-1971, Paris :

Aujourd'hui, je n'ai guère de place ; le plan sexuel se découvre, avec sa soif immense qu'il paraît impossible de dissoudre.

Je touche peut-être, depuis quelques heures, la contradiction réelle de ce destin, et je me sens faible devant Toi.

Je ne sais pas ce qui est décidé dans Ta vision. Toute évolution T'appartient, je ne veux pas mettre en avant la prétention de Te servir, mais je n'ai qu'un désir, c'est celui de Te satisfaire, Toi...

Je pose ma tête entre Tes mains et Te demande, Mère, de me prendre intégralement pour la construction divine.

12-5-1971, Paris :

Je reçois ces volées d'inconscience et d'angoisse et je suis encore si loin d'être vrai... et c'est Divakar que je veux être, Ton enfant vrai... c'est lui dont je sens la présence de lumière au fond de moi, lui que je suis depuis si longtemps... je le cherche, Ton enfant, et n'aime plus souffrir pour le trouver... je veux me consumer dans son feu qui est Tien et que de ce brasier jaillisse une matière nouvelle et pure et qu'il existe, comme Tu le veux, pour Te servir.

Que sa lumière issue de Toi naisse au monde et soit.

Prend-moi, fais-moi vrai pour que je Te voie.

1978, Auroville :

Chacun de nous, en naissant, prend sa part dans l'économie de l'univers. C'est la loi du travail, de l'évolution. Chacun hérite d'un lot de contradictions ; on peut dire, d'obscurités, non pas en termes théologiques ou moraux, mais en termes pratiques. Les mouvements, les états, les énergies qui font obstacle à la libre coulée de la Conscience et de la Joie.

Selon la capacité intérieure, l'amalgame est plus ou moins complexe, les contradictions plus ou moins nombreuses. Et le débat plus ou moins intense.

Parce que les substances sont lourdes, parce que les conditionnements de la vie humaine accaparent presque totalement la conscience physique et tendent à voiler de plus en plus hermétiquement, à mesure que le corps grandit, la réalité que l'on est vraiment, il semble que l'on s'enfonce dans une négation inévitable, que l'on soit condamné à la fausse vie, à se soumettre à des nécessités dont pourtant, de tout son être, on questionne le fondement.

Et même si un jour on accepte, on se rend, on fait « comme tout le monde », quand vient l'heure de mourir encore, de quitter le corps, l'on regarde et l'on sait : « non, ce n'était pas ça ! ». Là non plus, l'ignorance n'est pas victorieuse ; elle a seulement dévoré un corps de plus, une vie de plus, mais elle n'a pas dominé l'âme, elle ne se l'est pas acquise.

Parce que les êtres qui nous entourent, qui s'occupent du corps lorsqu'il est petit et s'attachent à la vie de l'être qui l'anime et l'habite, sont rarement capables d'expliquer la situation réelle, ont rarement réalisé en eux-mêmes ce que diable nous faisons tous là, même s'ils ont de la bonne volonté et de l'aspiration et un grand besoin, alors cela prend du temps, on erre et on se cogne et on souffre.

Et pendant des années, il n'y a guère d'alternatives : la révolte ou le désespoir, l'obéissance ou la fuite, la foi ou le cynisme... Si le climat est favorable, déjà « orienté », alors des qualités plus profondes peuvent affleurer et donner une certaine valeur à la vie extérieure, ainsi le dévouement à un idéal, le service, ou la créativité. Mais cela demande déjà des circonstances encore exceptionnelles. Et puis, quelquefois, c'est comme si, malgré même la bonne volonté de l'entourage immédiat, il y avait une volonté lucide de plonger, une attraction du contraire, un besoin presque de détruire tout ce qui peut être détruit en soi-même, comme pour rejoindre par un raccourci un peu... sévère, l'appel essentiel, cette place quelque part, là, où l'on manque, où l'on sait que ce manque est la seule vérité, l'empreinte brûlante de la vérité...

Et puis il y a ceux qui, peut-être parce qu'ils l'ont déjà compris une fois, ou même beaucoup de fois, portent avec eux une tranquillité plus humble, comme habitée presque en dépit d'eux-mêmes et des choses par une confiance qui les aligne à un rythme plus clair et les guide, d'un hasard à l'autre, jusqu'au point de reconnaissance. Mais même pour ceux-là, les difficultés ne sont que reportées, elles ne sont pas supprimées.

Décembre, 1971, B. :

La sincérité est toute petite, flamme lointaine au sein de ces actes un peu confus, et pourtant, chaque seconde, s'exprime le manque de cette aspiration, en moi et dans les autres...

A présent j'éprouve une joie pleine et entière à méditer profondément ; il semble alors que la vie, même dans son état actuel, ait une merveilleuse raison d'être ; alors l'aspiration est régulière et la Force est présente comme un Ami parfait. Je T'appelle moins souvent. Depuis que j'ai repris le tabac, il m'est presque impossible de rester au plus haut. J'essaie surtout de présenter à la lumière une certaine qualité obsessionnelle qui me rendait la soumission trop pénible pour être joyeuse et tranquille comme Tu le veux.

Parfois je m'arrête devant un vertige : celui de ne plus Te voir... Ma nature doit devenir forte et vaste, puissante dans son accueil, afin que Ton devenir soit possible.

Tu sais, je cherche surtout, depuis quelques temps, le secret pour progresser sans que le progrès dépende des expériences – je crois que c'est surtout l'aspect vital des expériences qui me heurte et me révolte...

7-12-1971, B. :

Depuis quelques jours je me sens constamment mal, tendu... une aspiration dense et solitaire, un état diffus, informulable. Toute une partie vitale préfère ne pas Te trouver, ni Te voir.

Rien ne change, et le temps passe.

Peut-être le mental cesse de juger et de croire qu'il comprend...

8-12-1971, B. :

J'ai de nouveau l'envie de partir, de m'éloigner d'eux pour un temps. Je crains parfois, dans cet état de médiocrité, de renforcer le doute qui pèse sur eux.

Je ne cherche plus de « grandes choses » ; je refuse désormais toute cette publicité vitale sur Ta vie, Ta loi, Ton amour... Tu es là.

Ecrire, c'est un peu Te tromper, ou cabotiner devant Toi, car Ton sourire immense sait et devant Toi je suis seul.

Mère infinie, je ne sais si un jour Tu me permettras de quitter ces ténèbres, un jour simple, le premier vrai jour à Ton service... je ne sais, mais je le crois.

9-12-1971, B. :

A nouveau je me trouve dans cet état où toute l'existence est un cauchemar ; un cauchemar de tous les instants, un mensonge continu.

L'incarnation... Le psychique ne souffre pas, est-il dit... pourtant je crois que la conscience réelle connaît une sorte de douleur. Je n'ai pas à examiner ces choses. Tout cela T'appartient.

Le premier maillon du désordre, il me semble, est cette visite à l'Ecole spirituelle des Rose Croix... ; d'autres choses se sont passées... je ne sais plus.

J'essaie d'arrêter le tabac.

Je met devant tout mon être Tes mots : « Sois sincère et fidèle ».

16-12-1971, B. :

Ma conduite de surface est gaie, légère, inconsistante mais, ce qui est paradoxal, semble finalement aussi sincère que l'est probablement cette demi souffrance sourde que j'endure constamment, comme au seuil de l'être intérieur...

Je pense à Toi. Je T'appelle.

L'inquiétude est plus ancrée. Je sens que la lumière travaille à résoudre cela.

Il y a une telle carence de bonne volonté dans le vital...

17-12-1971, B. :

Aujourd'hui la guerre s'achève, là-bas... l'âme de la Terre... une étape de Ton progrès est accomplie chez les hommes, et Tu as travaillé visiblement aux yeux de tous.

Ici, petit grain de Toi, je peine. J'essaie de comprendre Ta Volonté...
Et ce jour, dans la ville, une solitude dans laquelle je ne sais pas m'agenouiller

18-12-1971, B. :

Un pas en arrière, une chute, ne signifient pas que Tu m'aies rejeté.

19-12-1971, B. :

Je ne me sens pas digne de Ton sourire, aussi je n'ai pas l'élan pour aller le trouver ; je dis « je voudrais » au lieu de vouloir et d'aspirer dans la confiance.
Les jours nous enchaînent à leur rythme, les nuits bavardes nous rejettent inaccomplis...
Douce Mère, prend-moi dans la vérité.

30-12-1971, B. :

Satprem m'a répondu : « Tu La reverras quand tu seras convaincu que tes propres forces ne peuvent rien et que tu auras besoin d'Elle comme de la seule chose nécessaire. »

Voilà. Pour le mental, c'est de toutes manières incompréhensible.

Malgré moi, je retiens surtout le fait que Tu aies permis ces mots : « Tu La reverras... ».

J'ai peur de ne pas Te trouver, de ne pas comprendre ce qu'il faut faire pour que Tu sois contente. Suivre l'exemple de Krishna, ou de Satprem, ou d'un autre, ce serait tricher ; il me faut Te trouver, et Te garder...

D'un côté je n'aime pas ce que je fais ici, je n'aime pas le rôle que j'y ai, il me semble mensonger car je sais bien que si Tu le veux, en un jour un être peut se tourner vers Toi pour toujours... Je ne veux qu'une chose, marcher vers Toi, marcher, marcher, jusqu'à ce que Tu me veuilles à nouveau avec les autres, unis en Toi...

De l'autre côté je sais, je vois, que c'est Ta Volonté que je sois ici, et y persévère...

-1972-

6-1-1972, B. :

L'animalité, l'humanité sont relatives ; seule la Conscience est réelle.

Je sens que la Volonté supramentale est implacable et que les opérations de la Force sont, même pour la conscience intérieure la plus évoluée, incompréhensibles dans leur ensemble.

Dans le corps lui-même, de toute éternité, les secrets du futur étaient préparés. Hier j'ai reçu un message de Krishna qui m'a d'abord été pénible, à cause de sa forme sans doute ; puis j'ai compris encore une fois que Te demander de me rappeler vers Toi, c'était encore demander pour moi, et qu'il me fallait cesser.

Je les ai quittés hier ; je ne sais pas si Tu veux vraiment que je continue d'être avec eux, dans cette position.

Finalement, la seule manière d'être sincère, aussi longtemps que l'on est « dessous », c'est, lorsque Tu le permets, de rester concentré sur l'action de la Force et sur l'ouverture à elle.

7-1-1972, France... :

Dés que, dans ma nature, je suis prêt à rejeter les actes et les attitudes suggérés par l'ignorance et le désir, je sens monter un enthousiasme, une volonté si joyeuse de collaborer, de se donner, qu'alors tout semble pouvoir aller très vite.

Mais lorsque je suis de nouveau englouti, repris par l'attrait et le désir, une tension angoissée revient m'occuper.

T'aimer sans prétendre. Etre sans chercher à être.

Le corps, cette image, sont Tiens ; ils doivent pouvoir exprimer la beauté, la joie, la lumière... et le vertige de la destruction continue de me ronger.

13-1-1972, B. :

Encore une fois, j'ai voulu partir et Tu m'en as empêché. Je me sens perdu, atteint de tristesse et d'impuissance.

Toute cette difficulté s'est concentrée dans le tabac et la nourriture.

Constamment, depuis quelques jours, je ressens une pression pénible au milieu de la colonne vertébrale, à l'endroit de la fracture de l'année dernière.

L'amour, l'amour des êtres... est impossible tant que je ne serai pas divin.

Je hais la nature humaine, j'en suis blessé et j'ai peur. Je ne sais que faire, ni où aller ; je ne crois plus à l'amour, à notre niveau, je retrouve ce qui était ma dureté et mon indifférence. Il faut être divin, c'est le seul but et le seul intérêt de la manifestation.

Je suis incapable de comprendre pourquoi Tu veux cette réunion de personnes ici, mais je ne suis pas soumis, je ne veux pas rester, je sais que ce sont Tes enfants, comme je le suis, mais je ne puis rien et ne veux rien avec eux ; je veux que Tu me donnes la force d'aller vers Toi...

C'est du mensonge que je T'écris... je suis confronté depuis quelques jours, d'une manière très précise et très constante, à cet être vital, créature de l'obscurité, qui tire toutes les ficelles de la douleur et de l'errance ; être sordide, petit dans ses moyens, mais habile et cautionné par un état général, humain ou vital terrestre, fait de profit, de jouissance et de satisfaction dans l'ignorance... Démasqué, il continue d'agir, car je continue de consentir à sa présence par tout ce qui est engrangé dans l'inconscient de mon incarnation. Et vraiment il ressemble à un chat qui s'agrippe au corps et a tôt fait de remonter au coeur ou à la gorge pour s'y nourrir. En fait la majorité des actes quotidiens lui appartiennent, tous les conditionnements sont sous son règne. Il sait comment se soumettre une partie du mental qui lui servira à se justifier si cela est nécessaire.
Les heures sont précieuses et je souffre de leur prix...

Toutes ces informations contradictoires qui me parviennent créent un cauchemar. J'ai toujours cette impression pénible d'être rendu coupable de fautes ou de mouvements que quelque chose qui me ressemble aurait faits sans que je m'en rende compte et d'être jugé d'après cela ; cette question à laquelle je suis plus âprement confronté depuis que je T'ai retrouvée : qu'est-ce qui me fait bannir, qu'est-ce qui fait que je suis jugé, soit adoré soit haï, y a-t-il une part de mon vital qui agit à mon insu ?... Cette ombre de la Présence qui me trahit et me déguise là où il me faudrait la paix... Il y a un obstacle qu'il me faut connaître et franchir. Je redoute tant que les interprétations des intermédiaires m'éloignent de Ta conscience.

Ne devrais-je pas cesser de réclamer et me soumettre sans bruit et sans réticence, avec la certitude que c'est seulement par mon aspiration que Tu seras consciente de moi ? J'ai un ami près de Toi et j'ai confiance en lui.

21-2-1972, Saint B. :

Comme un film qui se déroulerait en profondeur ou au-dessus, je vois celui que je devrais être et ce que je devrais faire et, au-dessous, un autre personnage m'attire, menaçante présence d'un être sexuel, roi satisfait dans l'ignorance... Pris entre les deux, impuissant, à peine ouvert à Toi, sans que rien ne semble se convertir qui donnerait de la vigueur et de la puissance à l'aspiration...

Mâ, la terre entière me manque, car je ne lui donne rien et ne remplis pas ma fonction véritable, en m'attardant à me satisfaire, en me laissant tirer vers le bas, en ne Te servant pas, en ne me soumettant pas... La Terre...

Fais de ce petit être recroquevillé dans la complexité des douleurs un serviteur large, sûr, pétri de lumière... !

Pardonne-moi si, à chaque fois que la souffrance viendra j'oublierai l'endurance que Tu m'as demandé d'avoir et quémanderais Ta douceur.

Je sens que toute cette longue et lente et pénible transformation est nécessaire pour ne pas être brisé par trop de lumière.

4-3-1972, Saint B. :

Il faudrait qu'à la place de cet appétit que rien n'assouvit naisse un Goût extrême de Toi, un Goût intense de la lumière et de la présence supramentales.

8-3-1972, Saint B. :

Aujourd'hui Nata m'a écrit que je suis Ton enfant et qu'un jour ou l'autre ma vie sera près de Toi, qu'il ne peut pas penser autrement...

16-3-1972, Saint B. :

Voici les pétales de la rose rouge et de la fleur de « Transformation » que Tu as fait donner à E.B avant son départ de l'Ashram... J'ai lu les entretiens de Satprem avec toi, j'ai regardé Tes dernières photographies ; j'ai senti une grande bouffée de Ta présence dans le matériel, comme là-bas, comme auprès de Toi, comme agenouillé, ma tête posée contre le marbre du Samadhi...

Mâ, j'ai confiance, et c'est nouveau, j'ai confiance que Tu ne devras pas quitter le corps, que Tu vas être Mère béatifique, sur la Terre...

18-3-1972, Saint B. :

Le Même Divin est au-dedans de chacun. Le Même Divin est en haut. Nous sommes le Même.

Pourquoi sommes-nous différents les uns des autres ?

Pour réaliser l'Ananda sans fin de l'expérience éternelle, pour la manifestation de la joie d'être, de l'éclatement, du jaillissement puissant, irrésistible et éternel dans l'infinité des formes, de la joie d'être...

19-3-1972, Saint B. :

Lorsque Ta Présence augmente, alors seulement tous les désirs sont satisfaits...

20-3-1972, Saint B. :

Combien d'années cela prendra-t-il avant que le vrai travail puisse commencer ?

Me terrer dans un coin, dans la foule, n'importe où, seul avec mes appétits, mes impossibilités et ma souffrance ? Mais cela c'est la vieille route, c'est la voie obscure...

24-3-1972, Saint B. :

Je suis comme une loque ; fondre et que l'horreur soit dissoute... !

Les nuits sont chargées d'évènements que je ne cherche plus à comprendre, dont je ne veux plus me souvenir ; quelquefois mes bras, mes membres, mon corps, cette matière où j'existe, sont animés par Ton feu, quelquefois ma tête est Tienne...

Il y a Ta solution, que j'ignore...

La gratitude est la seule manifestation de la conscience humaine qui soit libre de l'ego.

Comment naître si bas ?

25-3-1972, Saint B. :

En haut, il y a une sorte de combat.

Quelque chose d'hostile peut-il encore exister ?

27-3-1972, Saint B. :

Comme ça, avec cette lucidité pauvre du mental isolé, si je regarde autour ou en arrière, je suis seul dans la foule, il n'y a rien qui Te ressemble...

O Mâ, je veux aimer, j'aime, j'ai de l'amour, et cet amour est avili par le marasme inférieur.

Laisse-moi trouver la vraie fleur que mon cœur vivant déposera devant Toi !

J'ai besoin d'un chemin plus parfait, où toutes les expériences sont des grains d'or passés au cou de la Terre, une offrande concrète et acceptée chaque jour, un dialogue vivant d'amour du petit, de l'imparfait à l'immense, au Suprême... ; que nous puissions sans honte aucune, sans que rien ne Te soit dissimulé, s'agenouiller au grand jour et Te chercher...

Ce qui paraît être une conscience inférieure, petite, nouée, limitée, impuissante, enchaînée, c'est peut-être la Même Conscience infinie, libre, vaste et puissante, absolue et omniprésente, mais ramassée, réduite, inextricablement divisée, tapie, ramifiée, immobilisée qui, pour Se rappeler à Elle Même, renaître à l'Existence suprême depuis l'inconscience, fait appel à la Force, déléguée depuis l'Origine, afin de la libérer en tous ses points jusqu'à la libération ultime et toute-puissante, la libération physique et matérielle...

J'ai envie de retourner à la maison, de m'étendre près d'eux, de ramener des roses pour lui et pour elles, de dormir, de le regarder, de l'aimer... Et je n'ai rien résolu !

J'ai peur qu'ils soient tristes, qu'ils se méprennent... mais, si je leur étais néfaste, je crois bien que Tu ne les laisserais pas près de moi...

C'est la première fois que je pars seul depuis deux mois. Donne-moi la force de l'accompagner comme il est bon et juste pour lui.

Ouvre-moi à la sincérité et à l'intransigeance véritables.

28-3-1972, Saint B. :

Je sens bien que tous les besoins profonds de ma nature sont satisfaits progressivement et qu'à leur place peut venir l'épanouissement d'une libre conscience.

C'est la surenchère et l'insatisfaction fonctionnelles du vital qui prolongent la difficulté et la répètent sans se lasser...

Mâ, l'amour que Tu portes à chacun de Tes enfants est un secret plus profond et plus parfait que le miel de Dieu, c'est l'amour unique de Mère divine et aucun amour, si haut et si pur soit-il, ne pourrait supporter ce que Tu supportes.

29-3-1972, Saint B. :

Mâ, j'étais dans Ta chambre, comme au jour il y a presque deux ans où Tu m'as dit : « tu verras, tu sentiras, tu comprendras, dans quelques temps, que c'est la meilleure chose à faire... l'avenir... » Et c'est Ton regard, Tes yeux qui m'ont suivi jusqu'à ce jour...

11-4-1972, Paris :

Douce Mère, ce matin je T'ai écrit pour Te demander une aide particulière pour la fixation sexuelle qui me hante. Maintenant il faut qu'elle se résolve. C'est l'ombre de toute cette vie...

J'essaie d'aller au fond, tranquillement, en me détachant de l'angoisse due à la présence de l'autre ; il me semble que cela vient de bien loin, du moment même de ma conception et je n'ai toujours, depuis plusieurs années, que le même souvenir, lorsque j'étais âgé de trois ou quatre ans peut-être. Toi, Tu sais, car Tu vois.

15-4-1972, Paris :

Quelques secondes de dévotion, ce matin, comme par accident... des moments où je voudrais remonter à la surface et respirer un peu, une nullité complète et complètement démontrée ; et puis j'ai peur, sûr de rien, parce que j'ai lu qu'Il disait que le Purusha pouvait ne pas se soumettre à Ta Grâce... !

Bref, je ne sais pas du tout où j'en suis !

17-4-1972, Paris :

J'ai comme la perception, ténue, très silencieuse quelque part dans tout ce vacarme, de ce que Tu veux de moi, de Ta volonté centrale en moi, et que tout le registre de mes attitudes est comme une épaisseur mensongère à laquelle Tu restes indifférente, et aucune lamentation, aucune croyance, aucun trucage, si habité, si vécu soit-il, ne saurait Te faire bouger de Ta divine neutralité.
Il faut que je vienne à Toi, il faut que je me rende à Toi.

23-4-1972, Saint B. :

Je n'ai plus d'amour, rien qu'une répulsion froide et violente pour notre nature humaine, je n'ai d'élan, de goût, de force, d'aspiration pour rien ; lourd d'un sommeil plein de petitesse... j'ai besoin de changer, ou je préfère renoncer, quitter la vie... C'est comme ça depuis l'enfance : besoin de changer, certitude de changer, puis l'ego et, quand ça ne va pas, le désespoir et le désir de ne plus vivre...

Je suis d'une trop petite trempe

Je ne veux plus rien faire sans joie. Croire à sa propre sadhana, c'est satisfaire .un ego peut-être encore plus redoutable...

Si au moins à la place que j'occupe il pouvait y avoir un être conscient de Toi, de Ta Grâce, qui ne réclame ni ne proteste, alors cela ferait comme une petite joie, une petite flamme permanente sur la Terre, et ce serait bien utile...

24-4-1972, Saint B. :

Je ne crains pas trop d'avoir encore des années et des années à vivre dans cette conscience semi ordinaire, en transformation progressive, sans rien de vraiment concret ou établi ; ce que je crains, au fond de moi, de je ne sais quel moi, ce qui me hante, c'est cette peur bien générale que je ne parviens pas à repousser, cette peur contre laquelle je peux lutter clairement devant l'autre mais que je ne parviens pas à anéantir en moi-même, cette peur que Tu doives quitter le corps : que ferions-nous ?

Pourtant il me semble que cela ne peut pas se passer ainsi ; que nul ne peut savoir mais que, ce qui est certain, c'est que cela ne se passera pas ainsi, qu'il n'est plus question de la mort du corps, que le corps a passé... Mais il reste cette crainte, que la conscience humaine ne soit pas apte à Te suivre, que Tu ne puisses plus Te montrer à des natures non transformées...

25-4-1972, Saint B. :

C'est dans la vie même qu'il faut gagner la foi. C'est ici même qu'il faut Te trouver. C'est un drôle de chemin. C'est Ton vrai chemin.

1980, Auroville :

Il y a des secrets que nulle formulation ne peut communiquer – ce sont de réels secrets... seule l'expérience les dévoile, et ce sont alors les plus simples vérités, les fondements d'une perception directe de la Réalité...

Certains mots parfois éveillent la reconnaissance de leur présence au-dedans de soi. Certaines couleurs, certains instants, certains accents ou accords.

C'est le chemin.

L'ésotérisme était la protection mentale d'une élite encore effrayée par un monde divisé. Le bien et le mal, l'obscurité et la lumière, la volonté de pouvoir et la sincérité. Les ombres d'un passé d'auto destruction semblaient porter loin en avant sur le chemin et l'on s'avance avec extrême prudence dans un climat d'incompréhension et d'hostilité, avec le sentiment intérieur d'être nécessaires pour préserver la Vérité.

Mais une réalité diminuée n'a pas de pouvoir.

Elle et Lui sont venus transformer.

Ils ont porté la compréhension véritable, celle qui ne rejette rien, ne condamne rien, ne sépare rien, mais perçoit la vérité de chaque élément, de chaque mouvement et leur place dans la manifestation du Suprême. Et leurs relations justes. Pour libérer le monde et la matière de l'illusion qui les étouffe et révéler le sens d'être manifeste.

Il n'y a qu'une Réalité, c'est Sa Conscience.

Nous sommes hypnotisés ; dans l'illusion. Mais l'illusion est mince.

26-11-1972, Paris :

Ta Victoire...

Que Ta Victoire soit. Silencieuse, mais définitive.

Inconnue du monde mais irréversible.

Le monde saura lorsqu'il sera temps de savoir.

Mais il faut que Ta Victoire SOIT.

27-11-1972, Paris :

Ce pouvoir de mensonge, de décentralisation, de dissolution, secrète une tension nerveuse comme une vibration constante et tremblante, très pénible, qui donne l'impression affreuse que le temps passe en un éclair sans qu'on ait du tout l'occasion de faire un progrès, tranquillement centré dans la conscience de Toi...

Ce pouvoir d'obscurité, c'est celui de la Mort qui agit pour empêcher l'homme de trouver l'Éternité dans le Temps ; ses instruments principaux sont le désir et la volonté de réaliser ce désir, mais il sait se saisir de beaucoup d'autres sentiments pour son usage – la crainte de mal faire, par exemple. Tout ce qui n'est pas, en fait, tranquille et profonde conscience de Toi, conscience présente, spontanéité réalisatrice, il s'en empare. C'est donc, d'un certain point de vue, une aide.

Quelle que soit la chose à réaliser, quel que soit l'obstacle à franchir, c'est Ta Force seule qui peut l'accomplir en moi...

1-12-1972, Paris :

André, de retour, a refusé de me voir à propos de « Savitri », bien que Nata m'ait écrit de m'adresser à lui. Mais je sens que je dois continuer la traduction.

Je porte le mensonge : le double, l'ombre.

Il faudrait peut-être aussi que j'accepte la dimension du guerrier...

Cet être, qui ne veut qu'une chose, le pouvoir, est prêt à se servir même de Toi pour agrandir sa puissance, affirmer son empire sur les autres et s'ériger en parfait et en idole... Je dois le regarder, prendre Ton parti avec la résolution de toute ma nature et, le regardant, appeler Ta Force et Ta Grâce pour le vaincre et l'amener à Toi...

Je ne dois plus avoir honte de ne pas être un ange.

Il me faut être un fils de l'Inde, digne de mon devenir et de mon nom, un fils dont Tu sois satisfaite, je dois être franc et déclarer ouvertement ma guerre d'amour.

Permet que je me souvienne constamment de ma résolution.

Je sens qu'il y a quelque vérité dans ces mots, je sens Ton approbation, et comme loin et faible le chant simple et familier de tous Tes enfants qui luttent pour Te servir.

3-12-1972, Paris :

J'essaie de comprendre mes rêves. Ils sont tellement multiples. Je n'ai pas encore dans ma conscience de rêve de lien avec ma volonté consciente de veille... c'est comme si j'assistais à une part de moi-même : je ne peux pas être, dans celui qui rêve, conscient de l'aspiration que j'éprouve à l'état de veille...

J'attends le Bulletin de Novembre, j'attends de pouvoir Te lire, Te recevoir, avec cette force qui me rétablit toujours dans Ton présent et éclaire tout ce qui était incompris et précise et montre l'effort à faire.

4-12-1972, Paris :

Il faut de la patience et accentuer mon mouvement de dés identification et d'observation profonde, en restant conscient de Toi ; je comprends désormais que, tant que cela ne sera pas fait, Tu ne me permettras pas d'entrer dans un mouvement plus actif et une vie plus vraie.

La seule crainte que j'ai, c'est que ce soit refoulé ou s'enfuit profond et se cache... alors, il faut beaucoup de lumière !

Je traduis un passage de « Savitri » assez éprouvant... n'est-ce pas le récit de Vos deux sadhanas et de l'intégration progressive de toute la réalité du monde dans la conscience de vérité ?

5-12-1972, Paris :

Il n'y a rien d'autre à désirer, rien d'autre à vouloir que TOI...

Alors je serai sûr d'agir selon Ton harmonie, d'être un morceau de Ton corps que rien ne peut retrancher de Toi...

8-12-1972, Claouey :

Demain cela fera trois ans que, pour la première fois dans mon corps, je me suis agenouillé devant Toi...

Ici près de mon frère qui revient lui aussi de Toi, tout plein de Toi, l'enthousiasme à parler de Toi, les choses... tout est brouillé un peu... mais je sens beaucoup que Tu m'aimes, c'est-à-dire, quelque chose en moi s'est beaucoup rassuré...

Je pressens comme s'il y avait une sorte de plateforme, de base supérieure à côté de moi et que je devrais parvenir à y sauter, avec mes pieds pour ainsi dire, à y bondir, ou me tendre et m'y trouver, enfin, debout sur cette plateforme, et qu'alors tout serait uni et clair. Est-ce la perception d'une expérience pour une partie de l'être seulement, ou pour tout l'être ?

Aussi j'aspire à ce que, pour l'Ashram et pour Auroville, vienne une grande et forte période de calme et de silence, même peut-être une baisse des activités et comme un « oubli » ; j'y aspire parfois très fort. Peut-être quelques mois, ou une ou deux années. Mais que l'effervescence se dissipe, que les écumes se retirent, que la curiosité s'éteigne et que les cœurs viennent plus forts en avant, goûtant le sens de la vraie épreuve, que les désirs d'expansion et de réalisations s'éteignent et que Ton seul Cœur puisse, en sa tranquillité toute-puissante, en sa rapidité suprême et silencieuse, lentement monter et emplir tous les êtres de son eau limpide, de sa joie, de sa vérité, de sa certitude qui est connaissance, de son amour tout créateur de beauté.

Douce Mère, j'aspire à ce que tous le sentent – que rien de vrai, d'éternel, ne pourra se faire si les conditions d'harmonie ne sont pas remplies, si la tension et les rapports de force subsistent et restent admis.

Pourtant tout cela est inévitable, bien sûr, il faut accepter de travailler dans ces conditions... mais pas trop longtemps !

Quelle joie, quel rire de parler de Toi, de penser à Toi avec mon frère qui T'aime !

La victoire de Ta Présence en nous sur toutes les ombres qui séparent et divisent.

Tout ce que Tu donnes, tout ce que Tu nous donnes, tout ce que Tu donnes à la Terre, tout ce que Tu fais pour la Terre, Et Tu es seule...

Cela, souvent : Tu es seule.

Alors, le désir, l'aspiration à T'aider, à Te servir...

12-12-1972, Paris :

Lorsque je comprend un effort à faire, un progrès, un obstacle à surmonter, alors je cherche une attitude pour Te servir ou pour vaincre ce qui me sépare de Toi ; mais tout cela est calcifié, fossilisé, et le tout continue de vivre et Tu dois attendre que je revienne à un instant de vraie aspiration pour de nouveau verser un peu de lumière...

14-12-1972, Paris :

La conscience du corps. C'est une conscience qui existe en elle-même. Elle possède des qualités qui lui sont propres, parmi lesquelles un humour très doux, un humour d'identité avec tous les corps, un enthousiasme constant pour le progrès, un sens très exact des besoins et des possibilités et une certitude que je ne parviens pas à définir... Lorsqu'on entre dans cette conscience, on entre en même temps dans une sincérité très simple et totale et dans une joie qui est une sorte de jubilation tranquille et spontanée.

Cette conscience affleure parfois en moi comme un élan à l'effort physique, un besoin de progresser avec mes membres, comme en jouant, comme l'enfant progresse en jouant et se nourrit d'amour et d'énergie en donnant sans compter.

Mais pour parvenir volontairement à cet état de conscience si différent, il faut faire un effort physique très soutenu pour transcender le vital et surgir dans cet enthousiasme que rien ne semble pouvoir éteindre dans sa propre conscience.

Le vital est l'obstacle majeur à cette expérience, avec la peur, le désir et l'inertie.

Ce que j'ai compris, c'est que l'éducation physique est seulement un moyen – le moyen le plus pratique dans l'état, justement, de notre conscience vitale – pour atteindre cette conscience du corps. Mais que la conscience du corps n'a pas grand-chose à voir avec l'état des muscles, la souplesse ou les divers résultats sportifs, quoique la plasticité du corps physique, ou sa faculté d'obéir tranquillement, soient très appréciables.

La certitude du corps est, je crois, que tout est possible – absolument tout est possible ; je crois que ce qui ressemble vraiment beaucoup à la conscience du corps, c'est la conscience psychique. Toutes deux ont la même certitude du progrès et de la joie, de la lumière, toutes deux ont la même connaissance spontanée des éléments et des termes du progrès.

Le vital semble être décidément le berceau du mensonge, de l'ignorance, la force du refus de l'Inconscient à la lumière, au progrès simple et joyeux de la divinité sur terre.

Mais il sera converti, il collaborera, l'Inconscient sera compris et livrera son secret.

Ici, au gymnase, il y a un jeune homme qui semble vivre spontanément dans cette conscience ; lorsqu'il trouve une identité dans l'autre, sans aucune préférence, ses yeux s'éclairent d'une joie qui est vraiment la joie du corps, que rien ne peut imiter ni tromper. Je le regarde maintenant comme un exemple de Ton Yoga.

Aussi, je crois que le corps perçoit les autres corps selon une « psychologie » qui lui est particulière ; de même il peut y avoir des affinités entre les corps qui ne correspondent pas du tout dans les autres consciences de l'être.

Je comprends un peu mieux maintenant, avec justement une sorte de mouvement physique, ce qu'est la position correcte. Cela se passe simplement : il y a une pression en haut ; je me recule autant que possible, jusqu'à ce qu'une aspiration réponde au cœur ; alors se forme une zone comme entre deux aimants et là je dois rester en Te sentant, constamment, et cela peut être très merveilleux.

De cette position tout m'apparaît plus clairement, le vital n'a plus prise, je ne peux plus être projeté dans les attitudes, les activités et les singeries de l'ego. C'est comme si je comprenais enfin quelle porte Tu veux m'ouvrir.

Quel moyen béatifique de progresser... !

15-12-1972, Paris :

Douce Mère, quelque chose en moi a le sentiment de l'irréremédiable... ! C'est bon signe !

18-12-1972, Paris :

Il y a cette nature de mal qui monte sans cesse et salit tout et bafoue et corrompt, qui n'a de respect pour rien... ; je veux changer, devenir beau, vrai, sincère, un guerrier d'amour et je n'ai pas de force, je ne peux pas me donner à Toi, je ne trouve au fond de ma nature qu'un refus obstiné qui me tire en bas ou secrète son mal dans ma tête et mes sentiments... A partir de la poitrine et jusqu'en bas c'est une masse qui refuse Ta Force et c'est une tension constante.

Ce soir j'ai reçu une bonne lettre de Nata qui m'encourage à poursuivre la traduction de « Savitri ». Il me parle de la situation à l'Ashram et que Tu abandonnes la direction physique. Je ne dois pas chercher à comprendre. Je sais que tout sera fait, et plus grand que nous l'espérons.

Je sais ceci : Tu ne peux pas partir. Ce n'est pas Ta Volonté.

Ta Volonté est d'assumer toutes les transformations, ici, sur terre.

Alors, il faut que nous nous fassions tout petits, des corps aimants sans ego, à Ton service, sans rien Te demander que la lumière et la force de Te vouloir.

19-12-1972, Paris :

Je sens que je ne peux plus me reposer sur Toi de la même manière, mais que je dois Te trouver plus intérieurement, plus concrètement, plus dans le présent.

20-12-1972, Paris :

Après ce film qu'ils ont passé (à la télévision) sur la ville, sur l'Ashram, sur Ton Darshan, sur Matrimandir... j'étais sans comprendre pourquoi Tu me voulais encore loin de Toi... j'aurais tant voulu servir Matrimandir...

Puis, un frère est arrivé, et une expérience avec lui que je ne comprend pas.

Puis-je T'offrir tout ce mélange ?

C'est comme une mer qui se bouleverse, je ne sais que T'offrir... tout est depuis quelques jours une incohérence, et inexprimable...

... « Dis-moi ce que tu as le plus peur de me dire... » Tu le sais, j'ai parfois essayé de Te l'offrir... cela monte de cette partie de moi qui se veut le centre du monde et croit à son propre rayonnement...

21-12-1972, Paris :

Ma tête est une bouillie brûlante assaillie sans cesse. Je suis tout tremblant.

Toute la nuit était cette lutte. Au début, les ondes de désir provoquaient un choc électrique qui soulevait mon corps. Puis quelque chose de mécanique a commencé de réciter en Anglais des vers de « Savitri », durant plusieurs heures ; lorsque le désir gagnait de l'adhésion en moi, cette mécanique perdait la mémoire et m'obligeait à me concentrer à nouveau sur « Savitri », jusqu'à ce que les vers reviennent dans leur ordre ininterrompu. Lorsque, par usure, ce désir a gagné, j'ai basculé. C'est là que j'ai senti que, de toutes manières, maintenant on allait monter, comme un nageur qui a touché le fond.

Enfin, c'est tout de même une zone pénible. Il vaut mieux ne pas avoir peur.

Je me suis rendu compte aussi que la peur du jugement que les Ashramites pourraient porter sur moi a un peu... timoré ma nature !

Un soir dans la rue, alors que je marchais sous la première neige très fine, une femme américaine s'est retournée et a semblé heureuse de me voir ; elle a dit « c'est beau de voir comme le soleil avec toutes ces couleurs... ! », parce que j'étais tout vêtu de rouge et c'était la nuit... Cela m'a réconforté...

Combien ma nature est peu généreuse !

23-12-1972, Saint B. :

Aujourd'hui la traduction de « Savitri » m'apparaît presque comme une entreprise impossible et vaine. J'ai une grande difficulté à reprendre. Si j'y parviens, il faudra veiller à ne plus l'interrompre pour plus d'une journée.

... Je ne vis pas dans le Vrai et le Simple...

25-12-1972, Saint B. :

L'année s'achève. L'angoisse du temps qui passe, pour rien semble-t-il parfois, ou si peu de progrès accomplis. Maître, mène-moi à ma juste place... !

29-12-1972, Saint B. :

Ta Force est là, qui rend la moindre chose difficile et féconde. Ne me quitte pas.

30-12-1972, Saint B. :

Ces forces sont immondes peut-être ; mais leur désir impitoyable, leur connaissance subtile, nous obligent à T'offrir l'intégralité de notre être. S'il n'en était pas ainsi, peut-être Tu ne pourrais vivre que dans une tête et une poitrine d'homme...

Ta réalisation... Ta victoire... dans le corps, le rire éclaté du Divin...

Ce soir, N. et C. viennent nous retrouver ; je suis content de cela, mon émotion est profonde.

La joie de se trouver réunis, quelque chose s'est allumée. Mais quelque chose s'est brouillée. Je reste avec une soif de vérité.

Mère, je voudrais Te voir.

Maître, devant Toi ce soir, je viens porter les cadeaux que j'ai reçus.
 Un mot d'amour de Krishna. Une confirmation de Nata.
 Ceci, je ne puis le comprendre, c'est inestimable.
 Mère, je sens que c'est Ton cadeau, que Tu as choisi pour moi...

6-1-1973, Saint B. :

Que puis-je Te demander ? Il faut d'abord que je sois sincère et fidèle dans les conditions que Tu me donnes.

Te voir, Douce Mère, Te voir.
 Cela seul je le sais. Je ne sais que cela.
 Mon désir de Te voir. Mon amour de Toi.
 Te voir, Douce Mère. Etre à Tes pieds.

18-1-1973, Paris :

Je vais, sûr que bientôt je Te rejoindrai, comme au bout d'une glissade à laquelle Tu m'as poussée. Tout ce qui résiste s'est levé en moi. N'est-ce pas le signe encore de Ta lumière ?
 Les seuls instants de silence que j'aie connus ces derniers jours sont quelques secondes précieuses passées devant les fleurs...

20-1-1973, Rapperswil :

J'ai besoin de Toi. J'ai besoin de Dieu !

Une lettre de Nata est arrivée avec quelque chose de Toi, Douce Mère : ce sont Tes Bénédiction pour mon travail de « Savitri », et un nouvel encouragement de Nata.
 Il me dit aussi que je ne travaille pour personne, mais pour le Divin seul.

25-1-1973, Paris :

Il y a l'inertie. Il y a les armes de l'adversité : la tristesse, la peur, le désir, il y a encore les traînées de mon propre mensonge...

Je Te demande de m'aider à ne plus rien vouloir pour moi ; et pourtant, n'est-ce pas pour moi, pour mon propre bonheur et ma jouissance égoïste que je Te désire et demande à Te voir et à Te sentir...

27-1-1973, Paris :

Son Amour doucement appuie et pénètre. Mais je ne sais Lui répondre.

Seule se lève en moi une aspiration triste et intense, une aspiration blessée qui Te cherche et voudrait pouvoir aimer, une tristesse d'être petit et séparé.

Toujours c'est cette tristesse qui revient... n'est-elle pas un obstacle à Ta venue ?

Pour « Savitri » c'est une difficulté qui va presque, parfois, jusqu'à la douleur physique.

Mais aussi j'apprends à retrouver un peu de Sa Conscience au-dedans de moi, je reconnais des mouvements, des élans, des qualités qui sont les Siens.

28-1-1973, Paris :

Je crois que les seuls instants où j'approche de la Vérité sont ceux où, à l'état de veille et dans ma conscience physique, je suis conscient de Toi, de Ta Force, de l'aspiration. Tout le reste est mensonge. Et tout le reste, c'est beaucoup, Douce Mère... !

Mère innommable... mon Amour au monde... Cœur du monde...

30-1-1973, Paris :

J'ai trouvé que pour garder courage et endurance il me faut d'une part ne regarder que l'instant présent en un double mouvement d'appel et d'offrande et d'autre part me souvenir constamment que c'est Ta création qui se fait en mon être et que, par conséquent, je ne puis, je n'ai pas le droit de douter des résultats... Mais il y a un désir de Te revoir. Alors, si je regarde un peu plus loin que demain, je perds courage.

Une lettre de Nata : il me demande d'aider une jeune fille dont il me donne l'adresse...

Où puis-je trouver la force d'être digne de Toi ?

5-2-1973, Paris :

La Lumière est derrière, autour, au-dessus. Concrètement.

Mais le « moi » de ma conscience, c'est ce cauchemar, cette absurdité.

Je me sens comme dans un nœud d'obscurité tout entouré de lumière.

Comme si l'erreur se perpétuait en moi, l'erreur de se tromper de conscience, l'erreur de ne pas être Toi...

Tout va de travers. Quel effort ? Que faire ? Douce Mère, que puis-je faire là-dedans ?

Ce matin, une lettre de Krishna : il me dit de revenir, que Tu lui a confié une terre, que le feu brûle, qu'il voudrait que je sois avec lui...

Peut-être est-ce le début du retour ?

21-2-1973, Paris :

Toute seule, Douce Mère,

Toute seule portant le Suprême dans Ta Force,

Toute seule, pétrie de l'Amour divin,

Toute seule, Source du monde, Source de l'Etre,

Toute seule, Tu remportes la victoire.

Notre Mère. Notre Présence. Notre Secret. Notre Origine.

Notre Union. Notre Pouvoir.

Mère.

22-2-1973, Paris :

Cet après-midi c'était Ta Force, Ta Présence, c'était brûler dans le jour, avec un frère, enfants joyeux de Ton Feu bienheureux...

Et ce soir c'est le mensonge, l'incertitude, la brume, les miasmes de ces pauvres forces à la mesure de notre cœur si petit, si petit, mais qui ont encore tant de pouvoir sur la vie du corps...

Douce Mère je ne veux pas que Tu sois seule.

Je veux m'unir à Toi, que nous tous nous unissions à Toi et que Tu sois pour toute l'éternité du progrès notre Mère bienheureuse et notre Guide...

26-2-1973, Paris :

Quelque chose en moi depuis longtemps souffre d'être lié à l'expérience pour la nécessité du progrès ; cette partie voudrait que toute expérience naisse et réponde à l'ânanda de l'union, au lieu qu'elle soit un instrument douloureux employé aux fins d'un progrès mélangé et aveugle...

Pourtant, c'est évident, j'ai besoin pour m'éveiller de cette pression dans les circonstances, de ces chocs psychologiques...

1-3-1973, Paris :

Il y a quelques temps, un frère m'a rapporté ce que Satprem lui avait dit de moi : « Il a beaucoup de qualités, mais un énorme ego... ». Peut-être est-ce bien cela en effet qu'il faut dire... En l'entendant j'avais senti comme si Satprem avait trahi notre amour... Mais n'est-ce pas cet ego qui me fait désirer mourir et me terrer dans un coin, loin de tous avec ma douleur et mon impasse ?

Je n'ai que Toi pour vaincre et changer...

L'ego est tout. Mais il n'est pas les fleurs du « Samadhi » et il n'est pas l'escalier qui monte à Ta chambre...

2-3-1973, Paris :

C'est Toi seule qui portes l'amour suprême pour changer le monde et c'est Toi qui m'as fait naître et contracter ces liens.

C'est pourquoi le travail que Tu fais en moi est comme une opération très pénible, c'est pourquoi Tu m'as demandé d'avoir de l'endurance et c'est pourquoi j'ai tant de mal à me soumettre...

Lorsque je regarde avec ces yeux – ceux d'une nature asourique qui éprouve une intense admiration et dévotion pour Ton atmosphère – je ressens quelque chose d'unique. Tous, nous sommes petits et médiocres. Seul l'Amour divin aime, est réel. ... Toute chose me vient comme Ton Aide pour que j'assume ma nature et T'en fasse l'offrande, et c'est avec quelle tendresse, avec quelle douceur, avec quel don de Toi Même, que Tu m'entoures et m'aides à vivre les jours...

5-3-1973, Paris :

Je voudrais bien parfois que Tu me parles un peu, que Tu me dises ce que Tu attends de moi...

Ce matin une lettre de Nata, qui me trouble beaucoup. Il me dit que Tu es presque toujours en transe et qu'il n'a pu Te demander ; mais il me dit aussi que si je veux revenir, je dois me réconcilier avec André et Purna... Mais, Douce Mère, c'est eux qui sont contre moi et non le contraire... c'est seulement par Ta Grâce que leur attitude peut changer... Il me dit aussi que je ne dois plus lui envoyer mes traductions de « Savitri », qu'il ne peut plus s'en occuper... Sa lettre est très différente, j'y sens une froideur... Je ne sais rien. Que veux-Tu que je fasse ?

7-3-1973, Paris :

Je suis comme à la dérive... Mes efforts sont dérisoires pour repousser toutes les suggestions qui m'arrivent ; je suis comme le défenseur d'un fort assailli de tous côtés, je ne suis pas l'habitant de la demeure...

Quelque part il y a comme une toute petite certitude joyeuse, un rire d'évidence, un œil qui se moque de toutes ces difficultés et ces mélanges et ces épais malentendus si sérieux, un rire qui rie à l'avance des difficultés à venir, si sérieuses ; une certitude que je verrai, c'était ridicule tous ces problèmes et ces dilemmes... ridicule !

13-3-1973, Paris :

Pour tous les progrès qui sont à faire je trouve que j'ai besoin de Toi, d'être dans Ton atmosphère. J'abandonne cette volonté coupable de repousser les pensées de mon retour : j'ai besoin de Toi, j'ai besoin de m'ouvrir.

Ce soir j'ai compris – une compréhension d'une seconde – combien merveilleuse devait être l'aspiration du corps.

Aussi il me semble percevoir que le mental physique terrestre commence d'admettre, comme possibilité actuelle, la transformation de Ton corps, la continuation et l'immortalité apparente de Ta vie physique : n'est-ce pas le signe que Ta victoire est certaine ?

14-3-1973, Paris :

Mère adorée, je ne puis retenir une joie si grande, si folle, celle d'un enfant libre enfin de courir vers sa mère, vers son foyer, à l'idée que je vais rentrer...

A côté, des choses viennent murmurer que le moment n'est pas venu, qu'il me faudra attendre bien longtemps loin de Toi, que les racines de la volonté de pouvoir sont loin d'être extraites, que je suis loin d'être capable de Te servir...

Quelle est Ta Volonté dans tout cela ?

16-3-1973, Paris :

Au milieu de la nuit j'ai eu un long rêve où une force adverse prenait Ta forme et Ta fonction ; vers la fin elle m'a dit par Ta bouche que je ne reviendrais jamais.

Douce Mère, lorsque je me suis réveillé, bouleversé, j'ai mis un certain temps à m'assurer que ce n'était pas Toi : ma soumission était malheureuse, je n'éprouvais pas la dévotion du cœur à Ton contact, ce n'était pas Ta Présence, Ton Amour.

Je suis resté très troublé : deux frères assistaient à tout ce qui se passait entre cet être et moi et allumaient des cierges ; ils semblaient trouver normal et presque plaisant l'état de diminution dans lequel je me trouvais. Au réveil, je n'avais plus confiance en rien, ni en personne.

Ce que je ne puis comprendre, c'est pourquoi ces forces continuent-elles d'exercer librement leur empire ? Ne savent-elles pas que Tu es plus forte, plus puissante que leur totalité réunie ?

Il ne faut pas s'enfuir dans des états meilleurs, mais descendre, les yeux ouverts, et regarder, guidé par Toi, et T'offrir tout ce que je vois.

17-3-1973, Paris :

La transformation de la nature égoïste demande tant de soin et de patience et d'attention et d'amour ; permettez que de mon côté je développe les qualités nécessaires de soumission et d'endurance...

25-3-1973, Paris :

Il se produit dans chaque individu ce qui se produit dans le monde...

1980, Auroville :

On va en enfer, consciemment. Le mieux c'est d'y aller debout, vivant, sur la terre, dans un corps.

On va en enfer. On n'en ressort jamais. Il n'y a nulle issue de l'enfer.

On peut croire que l'on est sorti. Mais on se ment à soi-même. Nul ne peut en sortir. Nulle grâce, nul secours ne peuvent jamais vraiment délivrer de l'enfer.

Il n'y a qu'une réalisation : l'enfer n'existe pas !

Un état que l'on ne peut imiter, auquel on ne peut prétendre.

Consciemment on accepte la loi de l'enfer. Lorsqu'on aspire à ne plus tricher, mais qu'on n'est pas encore capable de liberté.

On éprouve l'enfer.

Et, un jour de ce temps, de cet espace, ou d'autres espaces-temps, on accepte que ce soit fini.

L'enfer s'invalide. L'adversité se défait.

On a appris.

Que l'on existe. Que l'on peut choisir. Et, le sachant, que l'on peut offrir et unir son choix à Cela qui est.

27-3-1973, Paris :

Aujourd'hui l'atmosphère s'est apaisée, le brouillard s'est un peu retiré.

Il m'a semblé que ce que j'avais vécu était comme l'illustration à ma mesure de la réalité des forces qu'Il exprime et décrit dans ce passage de « Savitri » que je viens de traduire.

J'essaie de progresser avec la Force sans poser de questions ou, du moins, en adhérant le moins possible aux questions inutiles. Tout cela me fait envisager des aspects, des réalités, comme par des fenêtres orientées dans beaucoup de directions que l'on ouvre un instant puis referme. Tout est à faire.

Je ne puis pas Te dire aujourd'hui que j'ai toutes les difficultés, mais que toutes les difficultés sont là.

Je ne comprends rien, je ne sais rien. Toi seule existes, Toi seule es réelle.

1-4-1973, Paris :

Ces jours-ci j'ai traduit deux chants de « Savitri », « La Descente dans la Nuit » et « Le Monde du Mensonge », qui m'ont beaucoup aidé. C'était, c'est très important pour moi.

Maintenant, beaucoup de mon passé, beaucoup de ce que je suis, s'éclaire.

Presque tout, en fait.

Avec cette phrase de Toi, disant que le vital est indispensable à la transformation et à la manifestation divine et que c'est pour cette raison que les forces adverses s'en sont presque totalement emparé.

Alors, toute la culpabilité s'en va de moi.

Comme à chaque fois que je ressens l'aide de Sri Aurobindo, c'est un élargissement, la perception profonde que tout – le mal les difficultés, les adversités, les résistances – est compris dans un immense embrassement d'amour et de clairvoyance, sans aucun jugement.

Alors, c'est comme un être blessé en moi qui doucement ose relever la tête et sourire et croire, comme si j'étais caressé par la main d'un Ami qui ne me juge pas et me conduit et me montre la charge qui m'est échue.

Mais cela ne vient pas dans la conscience extérieure. Là c'est le désordre, la confusion, un imbroglio de faux mouvements.

2-4-1973, Paris :

Ce matin, la réponse de Satprem, très froide, quelque chose comme une trahison du rapport que nous avons eu. Je comprends que Tu veux que je m'en remette à Toi seule. Il me dit : « Seule Mère peut te dire si tu es prêt à revenir ou non. Ton travail sur « Savitri » est une excellente façon de rester dans l'atmosphère, à condition que tu le fasses pour toi, sans aucune idée de publication ni de résultat, sauf le résultat intérieur... ».

Voilà. Cette lettre m'a semblé à côté, je ne sens pas quelque chose de Toi qui me soit vraiment destiné... Je ne pourrais jamais faire ce travail pour « moi », ça me dégoûterait... Je ne suis pas intéressé par mon propre progrès. Ce que je fais depuis le début, c'est de Te l'envoyer comme une offrande, en espérant qu'elle sera utile, comme tout travail que Tu me donnerais à faire si j'étais à l'Ashram. Mais je ne m'attache pas du tout à ce qui sera fait de ce travail, cela m'est égal. C'est dans cette mesure que j'ai pensé souvent que cela aiderait certains de pouvoir lire « Savitri » en Français. Et lorsque j'avais commencé ce travail, c'était venu en réponse à mon aspiration à être utile, à servir à quelque chose...

3-4-1973, Paris :

J'en arrive à la conclusion qu'il faut, même si c'est seulement pour moi, que je continue « Savitri », parce que cela m'est nécessaire, parce que j'en ai besoin... Que vas-tu me faire encore accepter, Douce Mère ?!

Sans Toi je serais une bête, sans autres désirs que ceux d'une bête...

5-4-1973, Paris :

Douce Mère, depuis deux jours, Tu es en moi, comme si nous étions seuls dans Ta chambre. Mais je n'arrive pas à devenir silencieux et soumis pour T'écouter et T'obéir.

Je voudrais pouvoir Te dire intégralement : « je m'engage à continuer le chemin, coûte que coûte, même si Tu me dis que Ta Volonté est de me garder éloigné et que je Te trouve et Te serve ici ou ailleurs et non à l'Ashram ou à Auroville... ».

Et puis, quelque chose qui n'arrive pas à croire.

C'est difficile. Aide-moi à comprendre.

Mère, je veux aller à Auroville.

6-4-1973, Paris :

Tranquillité, tranquillité... même si je suis sûr et voudrais crier de joie et de plénitude... Que le mental n'en profite pas pour moudre.

Se préparer.

« Les choses ne se réalisent que lorsqu'elles sont l'expression d'une vérité intérieure... ».

7-4-1973, Paris :

J'ai lu hier qu' « une foi inébranlable en la réalisation de quelque chose est le signe de la sanction du Divin ».

Alors je suis sûr que je rentrerai.

8-4-1973, Paris :

... « Mais si vous découvrez en vous une ombre très épaisse et très profonde, soyez sûr, quelque part en vous, d'une grande lumière. A vous de savoir utiliser l'une pour réaliser l'autre... » !

Douce Mère, être avec Toi ma Bien Aimée, ma Mère totale, seule Habitante de mon secret, Source et Cible divine de mon offrande et de ma vérité...

9-4-1973, Paris :

Est-ce que cela peut aider le monde, lorsque l'offrande est belle ?

12-4-1973, Paris :

Je comprends que le besoin est plus fort et plus réel et plus sincère que la volonté...

17-4-1973, Paris :

Je sais que si le Divin vient me voir ainsi grimaçant et défiguré, c'est pour éprouver ma foi et mon amour, et c'est qu'Il m'aime aussi.

Que faire, il n'y a rien d'autre à faire qu'aimer le Divin dans son cœur, qu'il soit Toi, Douce Mère, ou Toi Sri Aurobindo, ou mon frère, aimer, aimer le Divin, un jour Il me mènera à Vos pieds, comme aujourd'hui Il me fait pleurer.

20-4-1973, Paris :

Les arguments de ces forces de division sont méchants et stupides, et si nous leur sommes réceptifs et malgré nous soumis, c'est que nous sommes bien petits, beaucoup d'égoïsme et bien peu d'amour.

Cela semble sans issue... un guêpier innommable, un traquenard dont je voudrais sortir les jambes à mon coup et me précipiter lâchement du côté du Samadhi, sans avoir rien résolu... Mais c'est bien dans ces conditions qu'il me faut être sincère !

Toi que rien n'est digne de nommer, je Te demande de m'accorder le discernement et la force de ne pas adhérer.

Je ne veux pas rejeter, car le rejet fait toujours mal à celui qui est rejeté ; mais ce lien vital nous lie au mensonge. Alors, c'est la rose rouge...

Permet que cela ne fasse pas de mal... Ce qui est vrai sera gardé et grandi et libéré, rien ne doit faire entrave à la Vérité...

Je crois que j'ai compris... j'ai mis le temps : Quelle aide !

Quelle expérience !

Le temps du Surmental est fini ! Le Divin veut vivre !

C'est à Lui de vivre !

13-5-1973, Paris :

Mère d'Amour, Mère éternelle, nos âmes toutes réunies chantent Ta victoire, elles T'accompagnent et T'entourent d'un chant de silencieux triomphe...

Nous ne pouvons pas savoir ce que cela doit être, car la Vérité naît d'Elle Même, et c'est toujours en nous ce qui n'est pas encore Elle qui demande à savoir ou comprendre.

« La puissante Mère prendra naissance dans le Temps. »

14-5-1973, Paris :

Rien ne me rend plus content, plus sûr, que lorsque Ta douce pression se pose et s'installe et me couvre et me protège : alors, malgré le tournis, malgré le brouillard, je sais que tout est possible et que tout sera fait puisque Tu le veux.

24-5-1973, Claouey :

J'ai trouvé une occupation merveilleuse : penser à Ton nouveau corps, et comment la Vérité organisera le progrès de chacun, comment chacun sera vraiment, absolument aux pieds de la Vérité et dans la nécessité absolue de la sincérité...

Douce Mère, je mène une vie heureuse, je suis comblé...

9-6-1973, Claouey :

Je sais maintenant que Tu ne vois plus personne depuis quinze jours...

Je relis toutes les « Notes sur le Chemin ».

Parfois, tout semble évident et simple, et aussi ce que Tu attends de nous...

J'essaie de comprendre, de m'ouvrir.

Par exemple ceci : toutes Tes cellules sont conscientes de la Conscience : ainsi peuvent-elles consciemment, matériellement, s'unir au corps formé par le psychique, lui donnant ainsi la qualité matérielle nécessaire de fixité et de densité, et laissant la peau du corps actuel, les éléments et les organes qui sont inutiles au nouveau fonctionnement – sûrement, c'est beaucoup plus merveilleux, infiniment plus.

Mais ce qui est sûr, c'est qu'aucun de nous n'échappera à la nécessité de la sincérité, n'échappera à ce qu'il est, proportionnellement à la Conscience, c'est-à-dire que chacun ne Te verra, n'aura de contact matériel avec Toi, qu'à la mesure de son propre progrès...

La Conscience a travaillé en nous tous et nous a menés à un état d'être, en quelques mois, que nous n'aurions jamais accepté ou cru possible...

13-6-1973, Claouey :

Je crois que, du fait que nous sommes liés au désir et à l'ego, c'est-à-dire au désir d'exister séparément, pour sa satisfaction indépendante, nous sommes liés aussi à la notion de la nécessité de la souffrance et à la conception d'un dieu qui punit.

Cela, je le sens terriblement – à cause de la perte des cheveux : c'est dans le corps, c'est-à-dire, le mental et le vital du corps, sentir le divin comme punissant...

Je m'en suis rendu compte ce matin parce que, pour la première fois, il m'est venu l'idée que, peut-être, Tu voulais la beauté et l'harmonie, même plus que je ne le veux moi-même, mais que ce que Tu refusais, c'était le désir de la satisfaction égoïste... Alors j'ai senti comme une fermeté dans le corps, une attitude saine qui se réveillait et qui pouvait, du dedans, volontairement, remettre l'harmonie, par un mouvement de force spontanée. Mais je n'y arrive pas...

22-6-1973, Claouey :

Qu'est-ce que la durée d'une vie humaine ?

Est-ce la conscience d'immortalité qui presse ainsi ?

3-7-1973, Paris :

Si je regarde bien, je trouve que Tu es là et que Tu me fais incroyablement heureux. Chaque instant, Tu mets devant ma conscience la chose ou le mouvement qui sont contraires à Ta Présence ; ainsi il me suffit de faire à chaque instant l'effort nécessaire, sans plus s'occuper de l'instant suivant, ni même du résultat de l'effort...

Qui a dit que la transformation serait difficile ou douloureuse ?...

Ainsi, c'est tout le contraire, c'est une aventure merveilleuse, immense, comme le plus beau jeu qui soit déjà possible, une aventure qui porte en elle le fruit d'extase...

6-7-1973, Paris :

Rien n'a de sens ; tout apparaît comme une énigme ou une impossibilité...

Qu'est-ce que cette chimie de l'ignorance, cette chimie de l'égo, sur quoi repose-t-elle ?

Il y a quelque chose que j'observe depuis longtemps : cet être vital inférieur, qui est un mensonge permanent et que rien ne semble pouvoir convaincre, ni même atteindre, tant il est « naturel » et si bien installé à sa place, un gnome accepté de tous, jouissant de toutes ses aises, cet être, pour peu que je ne sois pas vraiment concentré, jaillit comme un diable dans mes yeux dès que la lueur de sa présence apparaît dans les yeux de l'autre, ou simultanément – dès qu'il y a le moindre mensonge... Il semble être derrière tous les rapports humains, quels qu'ils soient, et il est le même en tous. Bien souvent, même chez ceux qui se donnent à Toi, je le vois dans leurs yeux. Bien souvent sa présence crue est recouverte des mélanges particuliers à chacun, qui font que l'on n'est pas exactement conscient de sa présence.

J'ai cru noter que, selon le développement de l'individu, il se manifeste et s'exprime sur une gamme plus ou moins grossière de vibrations – du très vulgaire et bestial au violemment brillant -, mais que, dans son « essence » et sa « qualité » il est le même, invariable, immuable, royalement établi et se moquant de tous nos efforts et manoeuvrant beaucoup de ficelles.

Je ne connais absolument personne ici chez qui, soit immédiatement, soit après une légère insistance, il n'apparaisse pas : il est là, tapi ou prélassé au-dedans, prêt à briller dans les yeux de chacun, assis énorme et satisfait devant une table chargée d'atouts faciles. Lorsqu'il y a dans l'être un certain type de sincérité vitale, une certaine aspiration, alors sa présence, lorsqu'elle surgit, provoque une souffrance ; mais d'une manière générale, c'est certainement lui qui occasionne et produit, sinon provoque, toutes les douleurs affectives et psychologiques de la majorité des hommes...

Voilà. Je sans que sa conversion est la clé de beaucoup de trésors...

Tu me fais comprendre que la transformation n'est pas changer quelque chose en quelque chose d'autre ; mais que chaque point, chaque mouvement, chaque élément, chaque force, prenne conscience de Toi et que sans Toi rien n'existe, que tout est Toi... Alors c'est Toi qui dois naître, Te manifester Toi-même en Toi-même, pour la joie de Toi-même, au rythme de Toi-même...

C'est drôle à découvrir...

Je crois que seulement maintenant sur la Terre, grâce à Douce Mère, on commence à Te comprendre et à comprendre ce que Tu veux, à comprendre que c'est Toi, qu'il n'y a que Toi...

Comme Tu dois aimer Douce Mère ! Comme Elle et Toi vous devez aimer !

7-7-1973, Paris :

La grisaille de la conscience physique inchangée... quelques pensées malades qui tournent, un ego animal grossier, bien persuadé d'exister et que tout existe comme lui, sans aucun goût pour autre chose, ne croyant absolument pas à une autre réalité... « ...l'esprit, la lumière, Toi-même oui, peut-être pour Vous, de l'autre côté, un rêve, mais moi je n'y crois pas... ! »...

Dehors aussi le ciel est gris.

Tu feras ce que Tu voudras.

8-7-1973, Paris :

C'est notre amour qui change mon être, Douce Mère... !

11-7-1973, Paris :

Ma Douce Mère, je T'aime.

Si Tu le veux, un jour je serai digne de Toi.

14-7-1973, Paris :

Il y a quelque chose, en haut, qui ne se fait pas, quelque chose qui ne se donne pas et me garde lié à d'autres déterminismes... Je ne sais pas, je Te dis cela comme à tâtons...

16-7-1973, Paris :

J'essaie de me tourner vers la Grâce, j'essaie de comprendre que si la Grâce ne pouvait pas annuler toutes les conséquences et effacer tous les contrats, la transformation ne serait pas possible, ou elle prendrait un temps infini...

J'essaie de me tourner vers Toi, Douce Mère, et d'avoir confiance...

19-7-1973, Paris :

En commençant de lire « Le Sannyasin », j'ai été très mal à l'aise, le sentiment d'être happé dans un univers personnel... Maintenant j'y suis, et je m'y reconnais tout à fait bien... Je le comprends vraiment, c'est pareil, c'est la même histoire... Mais si je regarde comment cela se passe pour moi, toujours je vois que l'Ombre était là : mon morceau de mensonge, mon morceau de « non », de refus, et cela ne m'a jamais quitté, je n'ai jamais eu d'expérience sans avoir conscience, même très subtilement, de l'ombre ; jamais. Et tout s'efface au fur et à mesure, je ne me souviens pas comme Satprem se souvient, tout semble retourner à Toi, peut-être... je ne sais pas...

L'Ombre doit céder sa lumière.

Ce qu'il y a, pour moi, c'est que l'ego refuse absolument l'abandon – ça ne peut pas passer. La seule chose qui peut passer, c'est l'amour de Toi... Toutes les autres expériences, c'est comme si elles venaient jusqu'au bord et là, l'ego les enregistre et les emporte dans sa tanière, mais l'être ne les vit pas vraiment : je sais, je sens, je comprend, mais je ne vis pas. L'expérience n'atteint pas la puissance du changement, ça se passe autrement... autrement, je ne saurais pas le dire... ça change, mais pas comme ça... je ne sais pas l'expliquer...

22-7-1973, Paris :

« Le Sannyasin », c'est la première histoire vraie que je lis et rencontre... elle est vraie parce qu'elle dit vraiment comment Tu viens, comment Tu es en nous, comment Tu nous ouvres les yeux, comment Tu nous appelles et nous emplis : nous sommes vraiment frères sur le même chemin, dans les mêmes bras, habités par le même cri de Toi – chacun sa note de Toi...

Bien souvent j'ai senti que Satprem était comme notre représentant auprès de Toi : c'est ainsi que je le trouve au-dedans de moi, dans notre hiérarchie d'amour...

Ce livre, c'est comme une offrande pure à Ta venue.

Voilà. Un jour je Te ferai mon offrande ; c'est plus loin sur mon chemin, il faut que l'égo s'en aille – mais je Te la ferai, je Te le promets... !

25-7-1973, Paris :

J'ai dans le mental une forte puissance de formation, c'est capable de construire toute une vie comme ça, tout comme, avant, c'était capable de bâtir toute une maison jusqu'au moindre ourlet de coussin, en deux heures – ou un film, ou un livre... C'est une force qui doit être très utile si elle est mise au service de la Vérité, mais actuellement elle se met toujours en travers de ma soumission... Comment lui faire comprendre : « Ce que Tu veux ! »... ?

Il y a tellement de progrès à faire à la fois, et tout s'en mêle !

Un chaos de fragments, happés comme ça entre les heures...

Ca ne fait rien. Tu es là.

26-7-1973, Paris :

C'est un tombereau de roses rouges qu'il me faut !

28-7-1973, Paris :

Une drôle d'impasse... Je voudrais bien Te vouloir mais je ne peux pas, parce que je ne veux pas... !

Et pourquoi je ne veux pas ? Je ne sais pas !

Je sais, je sens que je ne veux pas. C'est tout.

C'est absurde, c'est petit, dur, noué.

Et, derrière : il faut que je m'active, que je m'active...

Ouf !

En même temps, dès que ça devient inutilement pénible, Tu me donnes la chose dont j'ai besoin.

« Si nos âmes pouvaient voir, aimer, étreindre la Vérité de Dieu,
Son infinie radiance s'emparerait de nos cœurs,
Notre être à l'image de Dieu serait recréé
Et la vie terrestre deviendrait la vie divine. »

29-7-1973, Paris :

Il y a la Force, la Lumière, qui presse doucement, comme une extase continue.

Il y a dans le cœur une flamme qui attend de jaillir à Sa rencontre.

Lorsque les deux s'unissent, l'être T'est offert, tout est possible.

Quelque chose s'interpose, empêche la colonne de se former : « je veux manger tout à l'heure, je ne peux pas m'annuler comme ça, qu'est-ce qui arrivera, on oubliera de manger !... »...

Cela fait des mois et des mois que ça dure... !

Je suis au pied du mur et c'est peut-être le bon mur, mais ce n'est pas le bon « je » !

5-8-1973, Paris :

Je crois que je suis en train de passer mille petits examens et que j'en rate la plupart... mais je ne suis pas sourd à certaines leçons !

Tu es là, je ne comprends pas comment...

Quelquefois je ris avec Toi, parce que vraiment Ta Grâce est pleine d'humour...

Quand je commence à vraiment m'enfoncer, c'est comme si Tu me donnais une petite pichenette, très ambiguë, de quoi me relever pour retomber à côté : et Tu regardes mes indignations, mes pauvres efforts de boîte fermée, mes paniques et Tu ris doucement, et Tu aimes.

Moi aussi je veux aimer, être capable d'aimer – mais cela, Tu le veux encore bien plus que je le veux, c'est Ta Volonté !

Parfois j'ai quelques secondes de gratitude... et puis, bien souvent, je suis désespéré, le mensonge me reprend avec son drame ; alors aussi Tu es là, Tu m'aides : là aussi, Tu aimes.

7-8-1973, Paris :

Maintenant que j'essaie de me défaire à l'état de veille de ce mental formateur et de son incroyable activité, je m'en retrouve le prisonnier pendant presque toute la nuit ; je comprends mieux certaines choses... Ta Volonté n'est sûrement pas de mutiler, de supprimer ; mais alors, où est la place de cet instrument mental ? Il me semble que le mensonge n'est pas vraiment en lui, mais plutôt qu'il est comme une faculté très immédiate et très puissante, qui fonctionne sur l'impulsion de forces assez diverses... Quelle est la juste place de cette faculté, comment, à quel service doit-elle fonctionner, et pour quels résultats ?

Je voudrais que Tu me montres, je sens que c'est une clé très précieuse...

8-8-1973, Paris :

Je suis seul, je suis libre, je n'ai aucune obligation, je puis vraiment m'offrir tout entier et, au lieu d'être tranquille, je panique à l'idée de passer cinq minutes sans rien faire... !

10-8-1973, Paris :

Il me prend l'envie de me battre avec ces forces malignes qui tirent par en dessous, qui rentrent comme chez elles, invulnérables, tellement surnoisées et sûres d'elles.

Mais elles ont une qualité, une utilité : elles obligent à appeler un pouvoir plus conscient, plus direct, plus central – Ton Pouvoir – pour finalement changer vraiment les conditions de la vie terrestre...

Eh bien, je ne suis pas réceptif au Pouvoir, pas encore... Mais je suis bien réceptif à ces chimpanzés qui jouent aux billes avec nos natures d'hommes « supérieurs »... Comment s'ouvrir en bas, tout en bas ?

« La Prière du Vedantin »

(Traduction libre de l'Anglais original du poème de Sri Aurobindo)

« Esprit Suprême,
 Toi qui rêves dans le silence du cœur,
 Lueur éternelle,
 Toi seul demeures !
 Ah, pourquoi de cette obscurité suis-je voilé,
 Ma part ensoleillée
 Par les nuées assaillie ?
 Par le désir ainsi défiguré,
 Divisé, halé,
 Mordu par la flamme
 D'accès passionnés, de Ta quiétude expulsé
 Dans le tournoiement
 De toute rafale ?
 Livré au malheur, d'épouvante frappé,
 Captif du vice ?
 Ne laisse pas mon passé
 Maculé de sang repousser Ta pitié
 Ni même
 La retarder,
 Souveraine,
 O seule vérité !
 Ni les dieux spécieux qui T'imitent encore
 Tromper ma jeunesse.
 Apaise les clameurs ;
 Car je veux entendre Ta voix et connaître
 Ta Volonté.
 Ce brillant spectacle
 Encombre le seuil de l'éternité,
 Dissipe-le – consacre
 Le regard délivré,
 Le cœur rajeuni et clarifié – blâme,
 O Seigneur,
 Ces espoirs criards
 Qui m'assourdissent,
 Dissous mes siècles souillés, restaure
 Ma pureté.
 De la Connaissance
 Ouvre la porte cachée. Que la Force
 Te manifeste !
 Que l'Amour
 Se répande ! »

Sri Aurobindo

19-8-1973, Paris :

Quelle est cette chose qui nous fait tricher ?

Quel est ce singe qui monte dans nos yeux et nous fait mentir ?

Cela fait des mois que j'essaie de comprendre son mystère et de trouver son logis ; et de quoi il est fait et le secret qu'il dissimule.

C'est le singe qui nous est commun à tous – tous les hommes et les femmes de la terre et tous les enfants sont habités par lui, il est le même en tous : qui est-il ?

Mais je suis encore trop sa victime et sa marionnette ; parfois je le hais et parfois je le trouve finalement plus acceptable que toutes nos saintes attitudes qui sont autant de jolis manteaux ; parfois j'ai été son allié et parfois j'aurais bien voulu en être débarrassé... comme tout le monde !

Il faut que je monte très haut pour sentir qu'un être peut l'avoir vraiment transformé en lui... Satprem peut-être, Pavitra, Nolini, d'autres ?... Mais si je redescends, en la plupart même des sadhaks je suis sûr qu'avec une petite insistance et au bon moment... il resurgirait tout pareil et en pleine santé !

Il fait honte à tous nos efforts !

Mais ce qui le rend finalement si mystérieux, en tous les cas pour moi, c'est qu'il semble impossible de le trouver en soi lorsqu'on est tout seul – pfft ! endormi, caché dans sa chambre, et où est sa chambre, je ne sais pas... Et puis, le moindre rapport, le moindre échange et il est là, instantanément... !

26-8-1973, Paris :

Parfois je sens – j'ose à peine croire – que je suis mené petit à petit, infailliblement, vers un être spirituel pleinement éveillé, qui est « moi ». Mais cela c'est comme une Grâce que je n'ose croire, tant je m'en sens indigne ; quoique ce sentiment d'indignité, en même temps, m'apparaisse bien inutile !

27-8-1973, Paris :

Sri Aurobindo, je veux me donner à Toi. Tu es Celui que j'ai toujours cherché.

Sri Aurobindo, Tu es la Vérité, la simple Vérité entière que tous les cœurs ont attendue à travers les siècles...

Tu as assumé notre vérité, Tu es venu, notre émissaire, notre verbe, notre aspiration et notre certitude victorieuse, et Tu as parlé et Tu as appelé.

Et Mère, Douce Mère, a répondu, Elle est venue Te donner la Force et réaliser.

28-8-1973, Paris :

De toute cette machinerie qui s'est greffée sur mon être depuis ma naissance il reste surtout cette première liaison au mensonge : cette force qui m'a lié à cette obsession sexuelle particulière, à l'origine de tous mes contrats obscurs.

J'essaie, surtout en marchant dans la ville, grâce aux mille petites occasions qui font vibrer ce vieil attachement, de ne plus y répondre ; mais c'est long.

Parfois dans la journée j'ai cette impression de baigner dans le mensonge, que presque toute ma nature extérieure est reliée par une quantité de petites connexions à l'univers du mensonge.

2-9-1973, Saint B. :

Je Te disais dans ma tête « je voudrais être avec Toi, marcher avec Toi, être toujours conscient de Ton Progrès, de Ton Présent, ne pas être à la traîne... », puis ça s'est un peu déchiré et j'ai vu clairement l'effort, le bond qu'il me faudrait faire pour Te rejoindre et me tenir à Ton Rythme, porté par Toi, et j'ai pensé : « mais c'est un effort surhumain ! ». Et en même temps j'ai vu, j'ai senti que c'était possible, que je pouvais le faire. Et, à cette seconde, je T'ai entendue me dire : « Si tu veux le faire, mon aide est avec toi ! ».

Alors j'ai su que non seulement c'était possible, mais que ce serait fait.

Puis, la seconde d'après, quelque chose a glissé et je me suis retrouvé dans mon ego mental, comme un voile était retombé. Je ne pouvais plus être sincère, même si mentalement je ne trichais pas et voulais honnêtement comprendre quel était cet effort.

Et maintenant je ne retrouve plus cet état de conscience, où je vois l'effort à faire et, en même temps je peux le faire, si je le veux, parce que Ton aide est là...

Lorsque le voile est retiré, c'est tout clair, la sincérité est une chose concrète, un mouvement réel et Ton Aide est tangible et l'effort à faire est presque comme un bond physique.

Et lorsque le voile retombe, alors tout est trouble, ambigu, un jeu de miroirs, une succession d'échos, et tout progrès se mesure dans le temps, et la joie en est presque absente...

12-9-1973, Barjols :

Je comprend bien maintenant que la première et essentielle condition pour être sincère et désintéressé dans le travail, pour que le travail à Ton service soit bon et vrai, est le silence et la paix du mental.

Sans cette paix, cette tranquillité du désintéressement, le travail est difficile, s'accomplit au prix d'une lutte constante contre l'inertie, manque d'efficacité et de continuité et ne peut rien changer en soi.

Et puis je veux Te dire ceci : chaque fois que je vois un endroit harmonieux, une belle demeure, revient cette vieille formation d'une communauté à Ton service – soi-disant – et de moi éclairé, que toutes les expériences passées n'ont pu, il semble, encore déloger... J'ai peur de cette formation, soit parce qu'en y étant encore réceptif Tu ne pourras me reprendre près de Toi, soit qu'elle contienne quelque vérité et qu'elle doive se réaliser loin de Toi – là, c'est presque un « non » de répulsion !

Les heures où je ne travaille pas, je vais manger les fruits sur les arbres, comme quand j'étais petit...

J'essaie d'avoir confiance.

Je T'aime.

15-9-1973, Barjols :

La pression est parfois si forte que je suis repris de vertiges. Il y a tant d'insincérité dans mon être...

Douce Mère, je sais que Ton Corps est plein de lumière et de Vie – même si Tu ne peux pas parler ni Te mouvoir, Ton corps est si plein, si absolument consacré...

J'ai des images de Ton Corps, si plein de Vie, si plein...

19-9-1973, Barjols :

Je voudrais trouver ma conscience centrale, le dénominateur commun de toutes ces parties...

Hier, Tu étais toute en blanc, Mère d'Amour, si belle...

Je ne sais pas où j'en suis. Suis aveugle encore, et comprend si mal et si peu ce que veut la Force.
Rend-moi plus conscient dans le cœur, Mère divine...

24-9-1873, Barjols :

Il faudrait que ma conscience physique ait vraiment confiance en Toi, et deux choses empêchent cette confiance : d'une part cette culpabilité de ne pas avoir à trimer comme le terrien le plus obscurément nécessaire ; d'autre part le manque d'endurance nerveuse.
Maintenant tout est brouillé. Porte-moi...

27-9-1973, Barjols :

Tous les chevaux ne Te regardent pas encore.
Je ne sais rien.

30-9-1973, Lyon :

Que puis-je ?
N'est-ce pas Toi qui m'as mené jusque là ?
N'est-ce pas Toi qui me prendras dans le Yoga ?

3-10-1973, Paris :

Cette joie que la pensée du retour fait venir en moi, cette joie est puissante : il me faut être tranquille, paisible et vaste pour en recevoir beaucoup, afin d'être plus près de Toi et d'avoir plus d'amour.
C'est cette joie je crois qui peut donner le pouvoir d'aimer.

5-10-1973, Paris :

Je suis encore le pantin aveugle que manipulent les forces du désir.
En même temps une joie plus profonde attend pour s'exprimer que l'être soit en accord avec Ta Volonté.
Je Te sens, Douce Mère, comme si Tu me rassurais et m'apaisais, en disant :
« Calme, calme, sois tranquille, c'est sûr, je Te prend, c'est sûr, sois tranquille, laisse-moi faire, laisse faire le Seigneur... ».
J'ai soif de Te croire, j'ai soif de certitude.

6-10-1973, Essises :

Si je pense à Auroville extérieurement, j'ai peur d'y retourner, peur d'être refusé, ou de ne pouvoir m'y adapter.
Et si je regarde intérieurement je n'ai qu'un geste, qu'un mouvement, qu'un élan : rentrer.
Voilà.

10-10-1973, Paris :

D'un côté c'est presque comme si j'avais décroché et recheté dans une conscience très ordinaire, où il n'y a de progrès que celui de la nature ; et de l'autre côté je crois sentir que c'est bien, que j'en finis avec tout un mensonge...

1979, Auroville :

Qu'est-ce qui se passe quand on n'a plus de famille, de clan, de parti, de nation ni d'idéal, quand on n'a plus de rival ni d'ennemi, quand on n'a plus rien à fuir, à rejeter ou à combattre, plus rien à affirmer, à prouver ni à détruire, plus rien à prendre, à voler ni à servir, qu'est-ce qui se passe quand on est tout nu, seul avec d'autres aussi nus, sur la terre nue sous le ciel nu devant un avenir nu ?

Quelques mots seulement résonnent dans un silence encore incompris :

« Nous voulons une race sans ego ! ».

Cela ne se fait pas en un jour.

La racine de l'illusion demeure, prête à repousser au dehors à la moindre occasion, au premier geste séparé.

Et elle repousse. C'est « normal ».

Mais les justifications sont retirées. On voit la chose à vif.

On la vit directement, à la seconde.

La séparation. L'ego.

Elle se coagule partout, en chaque acte, en chaque pensée. Crue. Sans fard.

Le problème.

Alors on y est. C'est maintenant.

Il y a un lopin de terre.

L'Aide est tangible.

Il faut passer.

O Mère, Douce Mère,
Toi si pure
Qu'Il T'a confié cette tâche
Mère, Douce Mère
N'es Tu pas Son Bien le plus intime,
Sa Source la plus vive,
Sa Bien Aimée ?
O Mère, Douce Mère,
C'est Lui dedans
Qui T'aime infiniment...

3-11-1973, Paris :

Un jour viendra je le sais,

Ton silence descendra

Dans mon être

Pour toujours.

7-11-1973, Paris :

Le monde est par Toi
 Peu à peu maîtrisé.
 Mon cri vers Toi
 N'est qu'un gémissement égoïste.
 Quand Tu donnes tant et tant
 Ma foi est si mesquine.
 Je suis né pour T'aimer.
 Cet amour est la clé du destin divin.
 Par cet amour les hommes et le monde je connaîtrai,
 Par cet amour je deviendrai vrai,
 Il est ma récompense à chaque progrès,
 Mon refuge et ma nourriture et ma certitude,
 Il est ma loi, ma lumière, mon bonheur,
 Il est ma base et mon équilibre et mon but.
 T'aimer c'est s'ouvrir à Lui, T'aimer
 C'est l'aimer Lui,
 Cela qui est Suprême, Lui que Tu nommes, que Tu aimes,
 Lui que Tu réalises, Lui que Tu dis.
 Mère, Tu me rejetteras encore et encore et ferais marcher sur moi les foules, Tu ne peux me retirer Ton Amour et c'est cet Amour qui rend mes yeux clairs.
 Même si le noir étouffe le soleil, même si la haine
 Règne encore,
 Ton Amour est là qui m'habite et m'étreint
 Et me fera digne de Lui.

9-11-1973, Paris :

Oh, dans le silence
 Te trouver
 Te parler
 T'écouter
 T'aimer...
 Ne jamais oublier qu'il faut être simple, noble, intrépide et vaste et plein d'amour pour porter toute notre obscurité dans la lumière...

13-11-1973, Pondichéry :

De la ville en passant par les hommes je suis revenu à Tes pieds.
 Mère, Douce Mère
 Quand pourrons-nous vaincre
 Les forces qui perpétuent
 L'ignorance, la souffrance et L'égoïsme.
 Comment parviendrons-nous à ce Pouvoir ?
 Ne faut-il pas se hâter
 Si notre terre doit être sauvée ?
 O Mère, d'abord en moi-même,
 Résous cette obscurité en
 Sa lumière
 Que toute chose soit comprise,
 Aimée et illuminée.

14-11-1973, Pondichéry :

Que la Terre trouve par nous la force de se délivrer...

16-11-1973, Pondichéry :

Matrimandir,
Porteur d'Union,
Donneur de Joie,
Que la Terre soit ta maison.
Mère, Tu nous combles de Tes présents,
Tu nous entoures et nous emplis
De Beauté, de Force et de Joie
Et d'Amour pour Toi
Et Tu enfantes doucement
Malgré nos manques, nos désirs,
Nos subterfuges, nos résistances
Celui qui est
Cet Etre divin en chacun de nous
Et Toi seule Tu fais...

17-11-1973, Pondichéry:

And we shall have the force to recover the earth for the Divine.

«Comment saurais-je ce que Dieu veut de moi?

Je dois rejeter de moi l'égoïsme, le chasser de chaque repaire, chaque terrier

Et baigner mon âme nue et pure en Ses œuvres infinies ;

Alors c'est Lui-même qui me révélera Sa Volonté. »

9-12-1973, Pondichéry :

Le désir de manger, seulement ça : manger ; et rien d'autre.

C'est revenu dès les premiers jours de mon retour ici et maintenant je n'ai plus que cela à T'offrir : ce désir et rien d'autre.

14-12-1973, Pondichéry :

Tant de bonheur, tant de bonheur

Bien Aimée.

29-12-1973, Pondichéry :

J'ai besoin de Toi.

Toi seule peux me changer.

Toi seule Tu sais.

PART TWO

-1974-

1-1-1974, Pondichéry :

Je traîne ma peine à chaque pensée : ne serai-je jamais accepté ?
O Mère, être moi-même... à Tes pieds.
Apprend-moi, délivre-moi.

9-1-1974, Pondichéry :

Le singe. Toujours lui.
Lui qui jaillit au moindre regard, qui se regarde lui-même et se déniche dans le regard de l'autre, quel que soit l'autre... Lui cette omniprésence anti-divine, ce violent satisfait qui surgit comme une douleur affreuse avec son feu obscur et grimaçant, mais imbattable, insaisissable, incontrôlable..
Lui que, je l'ai bien compris, j'ai si bien engraisé par le passé, possédé et malmené comme je l'ai été. Lui qui est peut-être plus installé dans mon être vital et ma conscience physique, un roi plus à l'aise, tant j'ai cédé et cédé toutes ces années, qu'à présent je ne puis être nulle part sans qu'il se réveille lui-même en tous ceux que je rencontre comme une étincelle courant sur une seule mèche ?
Lui qui me tient par cette obsession sexuelle à laquelle je suis encore si bien ouvert.
Lui, mon ennemi ? Et est-ce le seul ?
Ce singe, dont mon corps même a pris la maladie qui, depuis quinze jours, a la gale !
Pour le moment je persévère.
Je crois. J'attends Ton Aide.
Ego encore clos, bien rond comme un refus poli et dur, j'attends que Tu agisses, que Tu délivres ma conscience.
Que faire d'autre ?

10-1-1974, Pondichéry :

Douce Mère, je vois que leur Mère n'est pas ma Mère et, pourtant, ma Mère est leur Mère.
C'est encore la jungle. Mais la conscience est descendue dans la matière, on ne se tue plus comme avant pour des lambeaux de vérité !
Trouverai-je bientôt le vrai mouvement que Tu attends de moi, celui qui consacrerait notre union, Mère bien aimée ?
Ecarteras Tu un peu toutes ces barrières pour frayer mon chemin en Toi, à Tes pieds ?
Mère, je ne sais pas, tout doit me venir de Toi.
Je ne dois rien prendre, c'est vrai, mais où Te trouver ? Viens me chercher !

11-1-1974, Pondichéry :

Sûrement ce vide n'est qu'un borbier à passer, une vieille forêt subconsciente, bientôt je trouverai une piste nouvelle et la force de me donner, de Te chérir et de T'adorer.

15-1-1974, Pondichéry ;

Si les forces d'échec, de renoncement et d'inertie qui me tirent vers le bas et volent les heures me semblent si acharnées, c'est peut-être bien qu'elles redoutent la victoire que je porte ?

Que le Soleil roule dans mon être, qu'Il
Me fasse oublier mes attaches...

25-1-1974, Pondichéry :

Douce Mère, gratitude, gratitude,
Ce bonheur, Gratitude...

6-2-1974, Pondichéry :

Mais je sais que Tu es là, que Tu veux ; et que l'obscurité, le « Non », la dureté et même les miasmes, les adversités de la fange qui s'abattent sur moi parfois ou remontent et s'infiltrant et m'obsèdent, je sais que toutes ces choses sont les formes de Ta Bénédiction pour que mon aspiration soit vive et vraie et n'oublie rien dans son élan et permette un vrai changement...

15-3-1974, « Sincérité », Auroville :

Le miracle constant de Tes harmonies...

J'ai tant et tant de progrès à faire. Etablis-moi dans la conscience éternelle – par la joie de mon âme et sa confiance infinie.

« Que tes pas marchent en ton Seigneur,
Que ton sommeil et ton éveil
Soient un sacrifice à Krishna. »

« Change-toi toi-même si tu veux changer le monde.

Prouve par ta transformation intérieure qu'une conscience de vérité peut prendre possession du monde matériel et que l'Unité Divine peut être manifestée sur la terre. » (23-8-1952, Mère)

21-3-1974, Auroville :

La médiocrité, le plus grossier égoïsme, l'obscurité épuisante de la nuit et l'inertie, la grisaille annihilante de la conscience physique quotidienne, l'incapacité de se hisser ou de jaillir au-dessus et de voir, d'être conscient, de se retirer des désirs, des obsessions, de vraiment se donner à Toi sans calculs et sans réserves, l'incapacité d'élargir sa conscience, de l'épandre hors de ses présentes limites, l'incapacité de recouvrer l'état naturel de l'être vrai au-dedans, au-dessus, au centre ou au-delà.

Et, pour soulever tout ça dans la lumière, pour offrir tout ça à la Force, pour soumettre tout ça à la Conscience, pour ouvrir tout ça à la Présence, une seule faible aspiration et, parfois, des larmes intérieures qui me tendent dans Tes bras, une rage aussi, de Te trouver sans pouvoir Te vivre, une rage d'être petit, petit et gris, d'être enchaîné, étouffé, ou une profonde douleur qui est un appel, de T'aimer sans pouvoir donner ce que Ton Amour demande.

24-3-1974, Auroville :

Tous ces mots sont inutiles ou trompeurs.

Comment ferai-je le moindre progrès si je ne puis m'ouvrir à Ton silence ?

26-3-1974, Auroville :

Tout m'échappe. La Matière est manipulée, dominée par des forces que je ne vois pas, ne connais pas, ne maîtrise pas... Lorsque je me retire de l'égo, je suis nu et impuissant, victime de l'inertie. Je ne vois pas Ta Volonté en ce qui me concerne, par-delà les hommes. Je ne sais s'il y a une place que Tu peux, que Tu veux me donner, que Tu me vois capable d'assumer.

Les hommes Te cachent à ma compréhension. Je cherche à comprendre, à comprendre. Nu comme une sorte de bête impuissante avec un cœur divin, devant le Fait : ce qui est, ici. Tout ce qui est et fait obstacle à Ta Vie.

Les hommes, tous les hommes se trompent et Te trahissent. Seules nos âmes savent.

Mais mon âme n'a pas encore trouvé la force de Te servir. Elle n'a que la force de Te chercher.

Je ne sais plus ce qui est bon, ce qui est juste...

Je Te demande de me désigner ma place dans le temps, dans la marche du Progrès, là où je puisse être et travailler, dans l'harmonie d'aujourd'hui...

Douce Mère, d'où vient aux hommes la force de vivre ?

8-4-1974, Auroville :

Dans quelques heures j'aurai ces 24 années de vie. A Tes pieds, au cœur de Ton travail, maladroit, impur, un petit ouvrier dans Tes bras, avec mes frères, bénis entre tous les êtres...

14-4-1974, Auroville :

Tout mon être est misérable... Mais par je ne sais quel miracle Tu demeures en lui et veux l'illuminer, le transformer... Aussi, malgré la douleur et la peine d'un nœud trop bien serré, je ne puis qu'espérer.

Et, en vérité, tout le chemin est extase et n'est que Cela, parce que Tu es.

21-4-1974, Auroville :

La force d'un brasier, la clarté d'un cristal et la constance d'un soleil.

22-5-1974, Auroville :

Je me rends compte que le courage de vivre et de progresser doit venir de ma propre sincérité, je ne puis Te le demander...

A quoi sert-il de geindre ?

Je T'appartiens et Tu le sais mieux que moi.

A quoi sert-il de s'arrêter dans le fossé de mon impuissance ?

Je suis né parce que je l'ai voulu et choisi, sûr et conscient de ce Possible.

Je suis toujours tenté par un vieux désespoir et, si n'étaient les autres que je crois aimer, il me serait facile d'y céder...

Ce sont les autres, et cet Amour, qui m'ont forcé à Te retrouver ici, sur notre Terre, c'est par eux que Tu m'as gardé...

Ne suis-je pas un peu de Toi ? Ne me quitte pas.

30-5-1974, Auroville :

Maintenant le désir a brouillé ma compréhension, ce désir qui forme des existences entières, minute après minute, heure après heure, à forces de projections, à force d'accaparer et d'envahir le futur encore vierge...

1-6-1974, Auroville :

Tout, tout, plutôt que le cauchemar et l'horreur d'une vie sans Toi... !

13-6-1974, Auroville :

Mère, permet-moi de tenir, et de passer... Y a-t-il quelque chose de plus beau que Ton sourire ?

25-6-1974, Auroville :

Le Glouton, le Morne, le Vautré, l'Inutile.

La Vérité doit être bien forte pour percer cette inertie, cette lourde résistance... !

Parfois un évènement survient qui rouvre une fenêtre de l'âme... Où es-Tu ?

Y a-t-il un autre être que cette médiocrité insincère ?

Un être entier ?

26-6-1974, Auroville :

Où es-Tu, que fais-Tu, Douce Mère ?

Sans Toi toutes les vérités forment un vide...

10-7-1974, Auroville :

O Mère, je viens encore user de ces mots qui limitent et enterrent sans rien contenir, parce que j'ai encore besoin de marquer le progrès, comme pour creuser le lit de la rivière, pour plus de fidélité...

22-7-1974, Auroville :

Mon passé piégé de pouvoir et de sexe me poursuit ; dans la lumière ses formations sont toujours vivantes...

28-8-1974, Auroville :

Toutes les attitudes que l'on prend lorsqu'on fait effort pour sortir de la conscience égoïste sont elles-mêmes toutes imprégnées de l'ego, de son sens séparatif, de ses fonctionnements de rejet ou d'accaparement et je crois bien qu'il est impossible de sortir de ce vaste piège aussi longtemps que l'on n'est pas devenu Toi avec assez d'intensité, Toi avec assez de présence, Toi avec assez d'évidence et de force pour que Tu puisses gouverner harmonieusement toutes les parties de l'être et les rétrir selon le rythme et le flot de Ta Vie.

6-9-1974, Auroville :

C'est cette volonté de pouvoir, de suprématie, qui reste liée à mon être, à son progrès, comme une traîne d'obscurité, sa propre coulée de Nuit. C'est cette présence occulte qui attire dans les circonstances et les êtres la réponse ou la réaction du même degré d'obscurité ; et tout ce jeu est vu, progressivement compris par la lumière qui est au centre, par le regard.

Et l'ego est dessus, dur et heurtant qui, dans la pauvre clarté saccadée du mental physique fait de toute chose une erreur, une déformation de la réalité.

Mère, je touche le radeau avec mes mains, je le sens, je le sais, le reconnais, je me souviens parfois d'avoir toujours été cette conscience libre, juste, vaste et voyante, près de Vous, à Vos pieds.

11-9-1974, Auroville :

Cette joie est revenue, plus forte encore, plus entière, ce sourire triomphant, se moquant de l'obscur petiteesse qui s'obstine... Et pourtant j'ai pensé : « est-ce que la Force a vraiment le contrôle sur les décisions humaines ? »...

Lorsqu'on connaît les éléments qui Te servent d'intermédiaires et que l'on éprouve leurs limites, alors il est moins facile de rester confiant.

Mais cette joie vient me montrer, par sa riante certitude, que tout cela n'est qu'un piège de l'ego, un trucage sans profondeur et, aussi, une présomption.

13-9-1874, Auroville :

L'inquiétude, la révolte, le rejet ne sont pas plus purs que le doute ; tous ces mouvements sont des armes employées par les forces qui se satisfont du monde égoïste pour garder nos consciences liées à la division, inaptées à vivre l'unité divine. Le seul mouvement de notre nature qui semble être digne de Toi est celui d'un amour qui accepte et embrasse sans rien retrancher, qui s'ouvre et se donne sans compter...

Unification de tout l'être autour du psychique.

10-10-1974, Auroville :

Quel que soit l'état de ma conscience, quelle que soit ma condition dans l'économie subtile, quels que soient les jugements des autres, si « haut placés » soient-ils, je sens que j'ai décidé irréversiblement de m'accrocher : plutôt brûler au cœur de la vérité et disparaître en trop de lumière que le lent cauchemar suicidaire d'être à nouveau rejeté loin de Toi, du Matrimandir...

Je ne puis pas croire que je suis tout entier obscur, faux... comment pourrais-je T'aimer ?

25-10-1974, Auroville :

Douce Mère, ne devrais-je pas plutôt Te dire, et penser, avec force, confiance et enthousiasme : « Bien Aimée, il y a tout ce mensonge que je PEUX T'offrir pour qu'il soit transformé... ce mensonge n'est pas mien, il n'est pas mon être éternel, mais il est une part de l'universelle obscurité à laquelle je suis identifié pour pouvoir la porter à Tes pieds... ! » ?

Ainsi je ne devrais plus avoir de honte, ni craindre le jugement d'autrui.

26-11-1974, Auroville :

Ici est une grâce exceptionnelle de venir à bout de cet enfer – qui n'est pas seulement le mien. Un nouvel exil ne résoudrait rien.

29-11-1974, Auroville :

Longue éclipse de lune.

Couleur orangée.

Sortons de l'hypnotisme terrien.

Naissons à la libre perfection de Ta Vie.

Ta Promesse.

Vérité.

2-12-1974, Auroville :

Il y a Matrimandir.

C'est toujours cette phrase : il y a Matrimandir.

Alors, on peut T'attendre.

On peut attendre et progresser jusqu'à là, jusqu'à ce qu'il soit entier.

Qu'est-ce que le Divin ? Qu'est-ce que Le réaliser ?

Qu'est-ce que le Divin sans cette Conscience que Tu es devenue, sans être agenouillé à Tes pieds, blotti dans Ton étreinte, noyé dans Tes yeux, vivant par Toi ?

Il faut attendre et continuer, ne pas s'arrêter pour se regarder.

Et être sincère, à chaque instant.

1979, Auroville :

Lorsqu'on a pu vérifier dans l'expérience – celle d'hier ou celle d'autres vies dont le passé reste parallèle à ce présent jusqu'à ce qu'il soit compris – les effets d'ambitions séparées et qu'on a vu et senti et compris ce qu'on est en vérité...

Alors c'est Cela seul dont on a besoin.

Et c'est ce besoin qui fait tout.

Car il est en lui-même sa réponse. A mesure qu'il croît et s'intensifie, Sa Réponse devient plus tangible, Sa Présence plus inévitable, Son Sens plus immédiat.

Et l'on ne peut que remercier.

5-12-1974, Auroville :

Il y a ce qui semble être une forte menace sur Auroville.

Les termes semblent être toujours les mêmes dans la lutte entre ce qui s'oppose à la nouvelle création et ce qui est à son service. Mais cette lutte même doit se changer en autre chose.

C'est à cela que nous sommes collectivement confrontés aujourd'hui.

Quel est le chemin ?

Le chemin appartient au Futur. Seul le Futur sait.

Je sens que Tu es là, très active, très présente, très concentrée sur ce petit conflit qui symbolise et porte tous ceux du monde. Mais nos mouvements d'ego, nos jugements d'infirmités, notre pauvreté d'être, nous empêchent de nous unir à Toi et de vivre avec Toi, en Toi, la joie de progresser vers la victoire.

7-12-1974, Auroville :

Je me souviens que Tu disais « le Divin est ce que vous voulez qu'Il soit »...

Et souvent c'est le Divin qu'ils voient qui devient écrasant... !

11-12-1974, Auroville :

Je sais que nous nous sommes trompés, je sais que ce que je sentais, ce que je sens, est vrai et que nous n'avons pas répondu à la possibilité plus divine qui était dans ces circonstances.

Mais que puis-je faire ? Tout d'abord me libérer de l'ego, aspirer à la libération.

Alors peut-être je comprendrai.

Il n'y a pas de joie. Je suis aveugle.

27-12-1974, Auroville :

Le monde avance très vite vers son point d'impossible.

Ne faut-il pas nous hâter de surgir dans une vie plus vraie ?

Douce Mère, que toutes les forces Te reconnaissent et Te viennent en aide

Au service de la Vérité.

23-1-1975, Auroville :

Ce qui est ennemi de Ta Vie, de Ta création, est partout.

C'est en soi-même d'abord, puis parmi nous, et autour de nous.

Aucune situation n'est tranchée, tout est mélangé.

Et il semble que pour que la victoire soit vraiment à la vérité, il faut que nous fassions un progrès considérable pour surgir hors de l'égo. Un progrès qui ne peut guère se faire en quelques jours.

Douce Mère, notre nature humaine n'a rien d'un vêtement de bonheur. Mais on dirait que plus, individuellement, cette constatation devient intense et plus la conscience s'approche du vrai pouvoir...

Mais les mots la plupart du temps ne font que servir le mensonge.

... Fasse que je progresse sans cesse dans la compréhension et la réalisation de la sincérité...

27-1-1975, Auroville :

La vérité des choses est passionnante ! Que la Force travaille ! Sans trêve, sans indulgence, et nous mène en un constant progrès vers toujours plus de conscience... Que la Force travaille !

« Chaque instant de satisfaction de soi est une offrande à l'autel des seigneurs du mensonge. »

4-2-1975, Auroville :

J'avais presque compris, hier, que mensonge et petitesse d'être vont inéluctablement de pair et qu'une conscience assez vaste, assez libre, assez tranquille, assez réellement équilibrée et établie dans la simplicité de Ta Présence ne peut plus mentir, ni répondre à aucune force de mensonge...

Et, insensiblement, je me suis retrouvé dessous. Encore.

Je comprend maintenant pourquoi il y a cet acharnement à garder la conscience concentrée sur un seul point noir, alimenté subconsciemment : c'est qu'ainsi tout l'être conscient demeure lié à l'obscur et réceptif à ses impulsions...

Quelle merveilleuse différence il doit y avoir entre se concentrer librement sur un obstacle ou une question ou un point de résistance en appelant le calme, la vérité, la lumière et la paix, et être concentré malgré soi sur un point de son être en étant incapable d'être conscient de quoique ce soit d'autre... !

6-2-1975, Auroville :

N'y a-t-il pas un Vivant quelque part au-dedans, pleinement conscient de Toi, pétri de Toi, créateur de sa propre intensité de Toi, irradiant sa lumière unique de Toi ?

N'est-il pas là, fort et concentré, ardent de Te manifester ?

19-2-1975, Auroville :

Devenir capable d'un amour vaste et compréhensif, réel, constant, sans jugement, un amour qui sache se donner et se retrouver dans toutes les formes et s'adapter à toutes les expériences...

Aujourd'hui un corps brillant a porté dans le ciel du couchant une longue forme bleue qui nous a souri jusqu'à la nuit.

Je suis souvent fatigué.

O Douce Mère, Tu es partout et la Force et la Conscience travaillent partout sur la Terre ; mais nous qui Te connaissons, qui avons conscience de Toi, nous Te donnons tant de mal et T'opposons tant d'obscurités résistances...

20-2-1975, Auroville :

La fatigue physique est intense. Mais demain est Ta Fête et, malgré toutes les résistances, la nature même des choses vient Te porter ce qu'elle connaît de meilleur...

Peut-être approchons-nous du moment où ; au moins ici dans Ta ville, nous comprendrons et accepterons collectivement et consciemment que nous sommes limités et ignorants et insuffisants, et qu'en même temps nous entrerons en contact conscient avec Cela qui peut nous guider et tout prendre en charge...

Que rien ne fasse obstacle à Ta Force, que tout obstacle inévitable serve un plus grand Bien.

L'Avenir nous attend. Quand nous saurons ce qu'est l'unité, quand nous la vivrons, alors Auroville pourra grandir...

21-2-1975, Auroville :

Nous ferons Ton Travail en jouant.

Nous serons unis en l'amour de Ta vie.

Nous aurons même oublié que tant d'ombres furent possibles.

26-2-1975, Auroville :

Je sais qu'il y a un long, long travail, un long et lent réveil, une longue et laborieuse infusion de conscience et de force, avant que je puisse réaliser mon but et entrer dans la vie nouvelle...

28-2-1975, Auroville :

Je suis toujours heureux, en vérité ; mais je ne serai heureux vraiment, certainement, que lorsque je sentirai dans mon être et ma vie que Tu m'utilises réellement et selon Ta Volonté. Alors je suis sûr, lorsque ce moment sera venu, je connaîtrai ce qu'est la vraie joie de vivre – d'exister.

1-3-1975, « Golconde », Pondichéry :

Je suis responsable de mon être comme de l'un de Tes jardins sans nombre où Tu dois croître selon Ton plaisir et Ta Volonté.

4-3-1975, « Golconde », Pondichéry :

Le passé cru et brutal que j'ai connu dans ce corps, avec ce corps, sans répit me poursuit et la même partie du mental toujours en rappelle le souvenir...

13-3-1975, Auroville :

En parlant avec cet homme chrétien ce soir, la constatation m'est revenue avec force, impérieusement, de notre trahison. Combien nous nous sommes agrippés à une dévotion étroite pour abriter derrière elle nos peurs, nos faiblesses, notre refus de croître dans le Seigneur et pour Lui, notre mauvaise volonté.

Comme nous avons su réduire Votre grandeur spirituelle aux termes d'une conscience physique.

Comme nous avons fait de votre exemple vivant un paravent pour reconstruire notre petitesse et prolonger les sectes de l'égo.

Comme nous T'avons défigurée, limitée, comme nous T'avons menti, comme nous avons profité du Don de Toi-même, inconditionnel, pour rester ce que nous sommes, des hommes égoïstes se sentant glorifiés par le contact de la divinité, qu'ils ont trahie.

Mais Auroville, comme j'ai pu le lui dire, existe. Elle est.

C'est une création divine, venue au moment juste de l'histoire universelle pour réaliser le progrès de l'humanité dans son ensemble ; et tous ceux qui ne voudront pas grandir et Te servir plus haut et plus loin devront quitter, car Auroville doit se manifester et se manifestera, en dépit de toutes les limitations que l'homme tel qu'il est encore veut lui imposer.

Nous avons cru confortablement, parce que Tu nous avais acceptés près de Toi, que nous étions « ceux de la vérité » à l'exclusion de tous les autres et sommes parvenus à si bien voiler notre conscience que tant de Tes mises en garde sont venues en vain.

Mais peut-être le temps vient où nous devons grandir et devenir vraiment des êtres spirituels si nous voulons subsister et Te suivre.

16-3-1975, Auroville :

Mère, je crois que de construire ici et maintenant ma petite maison est contraire à l'esprit d'Auroville et pourrait aussi favoriser beaucoup de pensées négatives. Aussi, malgré que j'aie si intensément cette attirance à vivre seul dans mon petit temple pour Toi, je comprend que je dois plutôt me concentrer dans l'effort intérieur qui lui correspond et attendre avec confiance que Tu me donnes Toi-même le moment juste et les matériaux justes...

Ce qui me trouble c'est que parfois je sens que Tu voudrais Toi-même, Tu serais Toi-même contente que je réalise ce souhait dès maintenant ! Il y a tant de faces différentes à la Vérité ! Peut-être que je ne suis pas appelé à vivre longtemps ?

C'est difficile de savoir quoi faire !

29-4-1975, Auroville :

Cet ennemi qui me ronge et m'obsède et pervertit ma perception de la réalité et des autres... et ces forces qui toujours veulent me réduire au désespoir...

Mais Tu es là et, peu à peu, très lentement, malgré toutes les rechutes, ma conscience se défait de leur emprise...

7-5-1975, Auroville:

When life comes to me with good-will I feel grateful to You, Mother...

Ca entre par le centre sexuel puis, à l'aide de pensées, monte dans le vital et, peu à peu, fixe l'affectivité sur l'objet du désir sexuel. Et un beau matin je me retrouve prisonnier, isolé, attaché à l'objet du désir comme à un piquet de torture ; je perd toute conscience de l'unité, de la liberté, je me sens séparé des autres et, en même temps, lié.

Cela pousse à argumenter, influence la volonté, veut s'emparer de l'action et précipiter tout mon être physique dans la démarche du désir... et s'ensuivent souffrances et mensonges sans fin...

Bref, il faut tenir et ne pas Te faire l'injure d'un tel gâchis !

12-5-1975, Auroville :

Aujourd'hui c'était le désespoir, le renoncement négatif et ce sentiment terrible d'une impasse qui m'a habité si longtemps, fondé sur la connaissance intérieure qu'il est impossible de cesser d'exister, où je me sens donc condamné à une éternité de difficulté d'être, sans élan de vie, sans joie, comme forcé et par conséquent incapable de faire le progrès nécessaire : vivre – vivre.

Et Tu es là, l'Amitié divine est là, et le partage, toujours tout est là pour une extase de bonheur qui semble ne jamais finir de soulager, de guérir, de calmer cette étrange blessure. Mais la vie, où est la vie, comment est-ce que l'on vit ?

En s'oubliant, c'est vrai... et le travail est là ; pour mieux s'oublier... !

Je comprends qu'il faut beaucoup d'humilité et de courage...

14-5-1975, Auroville :

Pourquoi en fait, pourquoi le Seigneur n'est-Il pas le maître entier de Sa demeure ? Il n'y a pas de réponse.

Il y a seulement une autre conscience en laquelle cette question n'existe pas.

Parfois je pense que j'ai dû venir sur la terre avec la possibilité d'une liberté formidable pour que quelque chose de si laid et si dénaturant se précipite ainsi dans ma vie et ma conscience...

20-5-1975, Auroville :

Plus je Te parle ainsi et plus je suis écoeuré ; ce n'est pas ça, ce n'est pas ça, c'est encore en plein dans le mensonge, c'est cette attitude malsaine et fossilisée dont je ne parviens pas à surgir... être Toi, aller vers Toi, en Toi, c'est autre chose, Autre Chose...

29-5-1975, Auroville :

19-8-1975, Auroville :

Douce Mère, c'est vraiment une drôle d'expérience, et difficile aussi, d'être si près de Toi, si fait de Ta substance en certaines parties de mon être et pourtant si démesurément éloigné de la vérité de Ta nature en toutes les autres parts !
 Mais c'est ainsi.
 Et il n'y a qu'une chose à faire, c'est de persévérer, même sans comprendre.

C'est comme si, constamment, lentement et progressivement à la fois, tout, absolument tout, conduisait à réduire la densité de l'égo, à amincir sa présence, à « évanouir » ses bases.
 Je ne sais pas s'il y a encore des gens qui croient progresser par eux-mêmes mais je comprend bien, je sens bien maintenant que je ne serai jamais rien de vrai que ce que Toi Tu seras, de Ta propre impulsion, par Ta propre force et Ton propre pouvoir.

"Only were safe who kept God in their hearts:

Ce n'est pas ce que Tu attends de moi que je devrais Te demander de me montrer, parce qu'à vrai dire je ne crois pas que Tu attendes quoique ce soit de quiconque – Tu es toujours prêt à Te donner, à Te déverser à emplir, à illuminer, à changer, à rétablir, à guérir, à délivrer, à devenir enfin.

Je crois plutôt que ma prière devrait rester sans mots, mais se concentrer dans ce besoin de Toi qui est lui-même comme la main que l'enfant éperdu peut enfin serrer – dans la pénombre et le froid la chaleur de la vie, de la vérité...

5-10-1975, Auroville :

Je cherche, j'aspire à ce que ma vie, le fait que je sois envie, Te soit utile... Parfois même je l'implore.

Et pourtant il semble que ce soit le contraire qui se produise et que c'est toute la présence, toute la beauté, l'harmonie, la qualité que je suis capable de percevoir, qui me sont utiles à seulement survivre... !

Toute ma vie jusqu'à présent s'est déroulée dans des conditions si exceptionnelles, si belles dans un sens, si conscientes aussi, que toujours je me sens en dette, en quelque sorte, et c'est cela souvent, bien souvent, qui me retient de couler.

Quand me montreras-Tu, dans la matière, le bout du fil qu'il me faudra saisir et qui me permettra de réaliser mon offrande en même temps que de Te servir ?...

7-10-1975, Auroville :

Tous ceux qui sont ici, en Auroville, jouissent de la liberté la plus absolue que l'on puisse trouver sur la terre : liberté d'action, liberté de service, de développement, de progrès, d'expression, de compréhension, liberté même de faire les erreurs nécessaires à la croissance de la conscience, liberté, enfin, de puiser indéfiniment aux sources les plus hautes et aux forces les plus pures.

Et pourtant qui, ici, se sent libre ? Qui est conscient d'être libre ?

Personne.

Ainsi vraiment, réellement et pratiquement la seule, la vraie liberté ne peut être connue et vécue que lorsqu'on est libre de l'ego...

25-10-1975, Auroville :

Pour la première fois de ma vie j'ai conscience d'être heureux plus de quelques instants : c'est que j'ai la pleine possibilité de « servir à quelque chose »... il m'est possible d'être utile, au moins matériellement et pour Ton travail, et mes jours, sinon mes nuits, en sont éclairés.

Je sais que probablement cette condition est encore fragile, mais même le calme et la paix, dont j'ai tant besoin, je les trouve enfin au milieu même de l'activité matérielle, et j'en suis reconnaissant.

29-10-1975, Auroville :

La confusion demeure tout autour, tel un mouvement de vagues qui obscurcit – mais la joie reste, même dans le noir : s' « ils » croient qu' « ils » pourront longtemps Te bafouer... « ils » ne font que Te servir !

4-11-1975, Auroville :

Souvent, le jour, monte cette joie, cette gratitude joyeuse du corps, roulé par les vagues et jeté sur le sable encore et encore, riant de bonheur, épuisé et humble, couché heureux sur le corps vaste, le corps brutal et doux et total de la Matière, le corps de la Vérité.

Ce bonheur d'être et d'aimer ici, dans le corps, dans la matière, retrouve maintenant sa réponse, son pareil, sa source, sa plénitude, sa raison d'être.

Mais c'est lent, cela prend du temps, c'est entrecoupé d'inconscience, de laideur et de pauvreté d'être, et parfois cela semble aspirer vers une autre position, une autre conscience, également dans la vie et dans la « mort », ici et au-delà d'ici...

6-11-1975, Auroville :

Il y a la conscience d'être unis, de se connaître par identité, de marcher sur le chemin dans cette douceur et cet amour profonds... mais cela est difficile à vivre physiquement ; il y a comme la nécessité de passer seul au-delà de l'égo, d'oublier ses propres rancœurs et exigences et, puisant à Ta source, de trouver la vraie capacité d'aimer ; il y a, enfin, le geste continué de la vie qui se donne et se perd et puise en elle-même et se mélange à nouveau, comme sans mémoire et toujours neuve, pénétrante et englobante, mouvante, intarissable...

11-11-1975, Auroville :

Dans ces actions qui sont prises actuellement à Auroville j'ai cherché à percevoir la lumière ; j'ai seulement senti que quelque chose de nécessaire, à quoi nul n'était capable de donner la forme juste, était en train de se faire et que c'était en relation avec l'action de Ta Force...

Une chose que le travail ici nous apprend est ce qu'est la consécration : pour que la consécration se réalise il faut d'abord atteindre un certain équilibre qui permette la paix dans l'action. Ne pas céder d'un côté aux mouvements de dépression, de retrait chargé, de mauvaise volonté, d'insatisfaction de soi, de tristesse ou d'abandon et, de l'autre côté, ne pas utiliser l'énergie que l'on reçoit d'une manière dévorante, accaparante, dominatrice ou avilissante, désordonnée, abusive.

Et lorsque parfois l'on entre dans ce juste équilibre, alors, en même temps que le repos dans l'action vient la conscience de la consécration : et c'est la véritable Utilité.

C'est alors, alors vraiment, que l'on Te sert.

Mère, chaque fois que je dis « sincère » cela prend un nouveau sens ; il n'y a pas de limites à la compréhension de la sincérité.

23-11-1975, Auroville :

C'est comme si je touche la limite de l'univers mental, comme si j'effleure la surface de la coquille, percevant l'immensité qui l'entoure et la baigne, mais incapable d'y surgir et de m'y mouvoir. Je sens, je devine la vérité, mais je n'en ai pas la compréhension directe, spontanée ; je crois, je reconnais, mais ce n'est pas Ta certitude vaste et vibrante.

De même quelque chose m'empêche de pénétrer plus profond dans le cœur pour connaître la vérité ; comme s'il me manquait quelque force de propulsion pour établir le lien conscient, ouvrir le canal de lumière et de présence...

Auroville d'aujourd'hui est bouleversée : ceux à qui elle s'est donnée sont divisés et impuissants devant le rythme du temps. Je ne crois pas que le mental puisse savoir, aussi nous faut-il continuer comme des infirmes et cultiver notre foi et nos éclairs d'intuition en attendant la vraie conscience, et priant de toutes nos forces et de tous nos actes qu'Auroville ne soit pas trahie.

L'égo divise et morcelle la vérité.

Tant que l'égo subsiste, la vérité ne peut pas gouverner.

28-11-1975, Auroville:

And, from heavy sleep to restlessness,
The days and the nights go by,
With flashes here and there
Of light.

20-12-1975; Auroville:

Je vois bien maintenant que les choses sont très simples :

On est, individuellement, dans le mensonge, dans l'ignorance, dans la fausse vie aussi longtemps et autant que l'on est conscient de soi ; et on est dans la vérité, on existe réellement, autant que l'on est conscient de Toi, plongé, absorbé, concentré dans la conscience de Toi, de Ta Vie, uni aux rythmes de Ton cœur...

Et cela ne trompe pas, on ne peut pas tricher, on ne peut pas imiter cet état, c'est la seule chose que l'on ne peut pas imiter : c'est la vérité.

27-12-1975, Auroville :

L'activité, le travail, emplissant tout le jour et même, parfois, les rêves de la nuit, sont comme un grand et puissant cheval qui m'emporte à travers tous les obstacles vers une conscience et un état d'être plus éclairés ; je comprend maintenant, par expérience, ce que signifie la purification des énergies.

Notes sur l'artisanat.

L'artisanat était pour moi depuis des années une part importante de l'harmonie dans l'existence physique ; j'aimais particulièrement tisser, pour le rythme, la concentration, l'espace de réflexion active et tranquille, le mouvement régulier comme celui du monde, comme pour la beauté, le langage des couleurs, l'utilité profonde de l'acte ; j'avais aussi beaucoup travaillé le cuir, en confectionnant des sacs, des couvertures de livres, des étuis, pour les uns et les autres autour de moi ; et j'aimais beaucoup tisser des perles, et combiner ces deux ou ces trois techniques pour réaliser des objets qui devenaient alors des compagnons.

D'une manière générale, l'activité de l'artisanat, quelle qu'elle soit, était pour moi toujours une sécurité, la sécurité d'entrer dans une relation équilibrée, vivante, respectueuse, aimante et créative avec la matière et le monde.

C'est probablement au cours de l'année 1975 que j'écrivis ce petit texte, en réfléchissant au rôle et à la place que pourrait, et devrait occuper l'activité d'artisanat dans la vie et l'espace collectifs d'Auroville.

L'artisanat est un moyen d'utiliser les matériaux que la Nature, spontanément, et le travail de l'homme nous proposent, afin d'établir une beauté et une harmonie et de rendre possibles la présence et la manifestation de la Vérité dans, et à travers tous les modes d'environnement de l'individu et du groupe.

Cela comprend et exige l'étude progressive et profonde de toutes les activités présentes et à venir de l'individu dans son mouvement de devenir un être conscient, incarné en un corps conscient, en relation avec une matière en cours de transformation.

L'homme est entouré, couvert, soutenu, porté par des « choses », des objets qui sont trop souvent privés de leur sens profond, car leur aspect extérieur et leur expression ne signifient pas leur réalité interne en tant qu'agents dynamiques d'une existence terrestre harmonieuse.

A cause de cela l'homme est incapable d'entretenir une relation claire et vraie avec tout un univers d'objets, de présences coupées de la vie, qui le conditionnent et sont à leur tour conditionnés par les projections subconscientes ou semi conscientes, c'est-à-dire mentalement et vitalement ignorantes qu'il fait sur eux.

Ces objets à présent coupent l'homme de la Nature, car ils ne correspondent pas dans leur manifestation actuelle au rôle essentiel d'agent complémentaire et unificateur dans l'existence de l'individu comme du groupe au sein de la Nature terrestre.

Ainsi l'homme, pour retrouver la Nature, est-il obligé de se détacher des objets et de rejeter son environnement, ce qui l'amène à une régression intérieure, car il retourne alors à un rapport à la Nature qui est antérieur dans l'évolution de la conscience.

Le travail de l'artisanat consiste ainsi à retrouver et à manifester sincèrement et exactement le sens profond et harmonique de chaque objet, sa présence vivante dans le monde, qui symbolise un acte précis et n'a de raison d'être qu'en relation directe et immédiate avec cet acte.

C'est-à-dire que chaque objet doit se transformer en correspondance avec l'évolution de chaque acte qui lui donne son sens, au sein de la conscience universelle.

L'artisanat est donc d'abord une étude d'approche et de compréhension de tout objet et de tout environnement, puis une tentative progressive de recréation permanente des objets, relativement à l'individu et la société qui sont soumis et offerts à un processus de transformation.

Il faut parvenir, par exemple, à ce qu'un individu puisse vivre le Yoga dans une liberté qui soit en harmonie avec l'environnement physique et matériel. Chacun doit donc découvrir comment manifester son rapport réel et unique avec la matière et l'environnement, c'est-à-dire avec la terre qui porte et vit la même évolution.

Ainsi cet individu porte des vêtements, habite dans un espace construit et utilise des objets qui, par le fait qu'ils sont en relation épanouie avec sa propre manière d'être dans l'univers, expriment et émanent une harmonie parmi tous les autres éléments individuels et collectifs de la société dans laquelle il se meut et qui se meut autour de lui.

Il s'agit alors, d'abord d'une sorte de création individuelle puis, lorsque ceci est réalisé, d'une création collective, progressive et sujette à une transformation continue.

Ici l'artisanat est une grande aide, d'une importance essentielle.

Et l'on peut concevoir que, dans la société que nous nous efforçons de réaliser, en harmonie et en ordre avec la conscience divine, un certain nombre d'individus entretenant des rapports conscients avec la Matière et sachant travailler ses différents éléments – tels l'ébéniste ou l'orfèvre futurs – soient disponibles aux membres de leur communauté pour la création d'objets qui correspondent à la conception présente de chacun.

L'objet est à présent l'esclave de l'ignorance.

Il doit manifester la conscience intérieure dans toutes les activités, dans une société qui évolue vers une union intégrale avec le divin.

L'adaptation progressive de l'objet aux besoins de la conscience est un moyen réel et efficace d'atteindre à la transformation de la Matière.

De vrais objets sont des objets réellement utiles qui manifestent la beauté, l'harmonie et l'ananda de la conscience divine.

Utilisez un objet vrai et l'acte qu'il vous permettra d'accomplir aura une valeur consciente, parmi tous les actes et les mouvements de cet instant universel.

Avec la nouvelle année est venue une sorte de fatigue, un retour à la tristesse, ou bien simplement la tension d'une naissance parmi les jeux d'influences...

Quelque part il m'a semblé être conscient d'une histoire universelle, de l'Histoire Vraie, être conscient de ce qui se passe...

Dans le mental les termes de la croissance apparaissent contradictoires.

Mais ce qui croît, c'est la conscience et toutes les contradictions s'effacent un jour ou l'autre dans plus de conscience...

Je sens l'extrême fragilité de l'être humain qui toujours se brise, se trompe ou dénature Ta Présence.

4-1-1976, Auroville :

Il me faut me délivrer de cette féminité sexuelle dévorante, cette soif sexuelle qui m'a suivi et m'a conditionné et m'a déterminé dans ces cercles de souffrance, de recul, de défense, de faux équilibre, qui m'a poussé à faire une création fausse... Il me semble parfois que si cela n'était pas entré en moi quand j'étais si enfant, je n'aurais jamais eu de « difficultés personnelles »... mais tout, tout est nécessaire certainement ou, au moins, utile...

11-1-1976, Auroville :

On n'est rien, on n'est rien, figé, malade, on n'existe pas... ! Mais où est donc la possibilité de s'unir consciemment à la vraie réalité du monde et des choses ?!

14-1-1976, Auroville :

Il y a deux choses dont j'ai beaucoup de mal à me délivrer :

La première est cette fixation sexuelle qui reprend force à chaque fois qu'elle retrouve un support ;

La deuxième est cette constante insincérité qui consiste à faire les choses – les gestes, les actes corporels – « pour la galerie », c'est-à-dire comme les paons ou les coqs !

24-1-1976, Auroville :

Je vis pour moi-même et pas pour Toi ; et même si ce que je fais peut T'être agréable, comme c'est toujours moi le premier satisfait, j'intercepte toute possibilité de changement ou de rapprochement – et c'est cela qui me ferme de tout et des autres, de Toi en les autres -.

26-2-1976, Auroville :

AUM NAMO BHAGAVATE
VERITE

1-3-1976, Auroville :

Ce sont toujours les mêmes mécanismes qui opèrent.

Dans la lumière l'ego apparaît, comme un double hideux ; j'essaie d'offrir cela, mais quelque chose reste trop identifié et il y a une souffrance ; cette souffrance me met dans une position vulnérable ; il me semble sentir un jugement à travers les autres ; puis quelque chose se passe qui me fait croire que ceux qui sont « de la vérité », ceux qui sont « les plus proches de Toi » me condamnent et me rejettent comme un mensonge... me fait croire que je suis ce mensonge et qu'ils me rejettent de leur atmosphère ; la souffrance devient très intense et je suis rendu plus vulnérable encore ; alors quelque chose d'autre se produit par l'entremise de quelqu'un de proche à ce moment-là, un mouvement obscur de rejet ou de brutalité... et c'est le coup qui achève !

Toujours le processus est le même.

Je m'accroche alors au souvenir de Toi – que Toi Tu ne condamnes pas, que Toi Tu es Toi...

Et alors, petit à petit, je comprends que j'ai été joué, que c'est encore un de ces pièges, cette pression fausse qui me veut écrasé sous la souffrance et la honte la plus noire.

Je dois rester neutre, tourné vers Toi.

Oh si seulement je pouvais avoir cette simple sincérité mentale de rejeter les formations !

Moi aussi j'ai jugé, du haut de mon ignorance, moi aussi je juge... !

Puisse cette ignorance s'écrouler dans la joie de Te connaître et la plénitude d'être conscient de Toi !

3-3-1976, Auroville :

Ce n'est pas ça !

Il y a un être vaste et libre et conscient.

Il y a autre chose que ces reflets prisonniers, ces échos, ces morceaux brisés.

Il y a autre chose.

Je suis autre chose. Je peux autre chose.

Mais où trouverai-je le courage, la sincérité, l'aspiration pour entrer en cela, ou quitter ceci ?

Je ne sais rien – j'ai vu aussi combien j'étais encore orgueilleux... ! Qu'est-ce que cela peut bien faire si je n'y arrive pas maintenant, si je dois m'écraser, aller à la dérive, quitter cette belle gloire, m'effondrer un peu, défigurer la belle vitrine, avouer mon impuissance enfin ! Qu'est-ce que cela peut bien faire si c'est vrai, si c'est bien là où j'en suis devant Toi ?

22-3-1976, Auroville :

Cette main qui voudrait s'abattre sur Auroville, qui voudrait entraver cette percée de l'évolution ou la dévier, la dénaturer à son propre profit... nous la connaissons tous, n'est-ce pas ?

Toutes nos petites ombres en sont issues !

Ainsi c'est vraiment la bataille entre Toi et celui qui s'est séparé de Toi, qui T'a reniée.

Nous ne sommes rien.

Nous n'avons pour Te servir que nos êtres psychiques, si toutefois nous sommes assez sincères.

27-3-1976, Auroville :

Lorsqu'à la suite de petites disharmonies consécutives, de petits manquements à l'unité, de petites négations, je me retrouve dans cet état de tristesse que je connais bien, alors, et à chaque fois plus fort, se dresse ma seule vraie question, mon seul manque... Je ne sais pas comment l'appeler, c'est quelque chose que je regarde comme un impossible et qui me manque affreusement... La base, le fondement de la vie.

Tout ce progrès qui est à faire, tout ce qui est dit, enseigné, parfois accompli, m'apparaît seulement comme un lent et difficile retour à la « normale » ; mais où est le vrai Progrès, le vrai Sens de Ta Vie ?

Quand l'homme, l'âme humaine, est sorti de sa prison d'ignorance, quand il Te veut consciemment et ne veut plus que Toi, il est alors mené vers un nouvel équilibre, certainement supérieur à celui d'une nature aveugle... Mais après ?

La manifestation est là ; c'est une constante activité – une obligation.

Pourquoi ?

Où es-Tu ? Que veux-Tu ?

Alors la question grossit, s'intensifie : une incompréhension qui se charge.

Et il n'y a qu'une réponse, qui marque pour ma conscience un Inconnu, dont la réalisation est un mystère total, et pourtant la seule chose désirable, la seule chose utile, la seule chose réelle : cela se nomme peut-être la Joie d'Être – ou ce mot : Ananda.

Alors s'il en est dans ce monde qui ont réalisé cela, qui sont devenus cela, qui sont tellement cela que pour eux la Manifestation est constamment comprise, aimée, harmonieuse, utile, une expression naturelle, évidente, consciente, de cet état fondamental, de ce secret, de ce cœur – eh bien, ils ont trouvé la solution de mon problème !

Il n'y a que Ca qui doit exister car sans Ca rien ne tient, rien n'existe, rien n'a de valeur ni de sens.

Il faut que Tu prennes pitié de ces pantins, que Tu rentres en possession de Tes demeures !

Aucune force, aucun être, aucune intelligence ne peut créer ou produire cette seule chose nécessaire : Ta Joie d'Être !

Et il me semble être seul avec ce vide, cette béance.

L'ego n'est pas forcément ce qu'on croit... Je suis sûr que l'on peut être un modèle de droiture, de générosité, de constance, d'humilité même et être pourtant vide de Toi – une imitation, une création fautive, inutile.

La morale de l'Asura est puissante dans le monde de l'ignorance – mais devant Ta Réalité, elle est impuissante absolument.

Il est vrai, je pourrais me laisser aller et couler encore une fois, retourner dans l'ombre humaine y enfouir ce désespoir, et je suis sûr qu'au bout de ça c'est Toi, seulement Toi que je trouverais... Mais quel gaspillage et tant a déjà été gaspillé, abîmé, réduit, brisé...

Je ne refuse pas de voir – au contraire je veux voir clairement, sans défaillance.
Mais je refuse d'être écrasé.

Il me faut trouver la force de poursuivre et de travailler demain et tous les jours, avec mon corps, pour Toi.

C'est le moment de ne plus juger, de ne plus céder, de ne plus trahir.

30-3-1976, Auroville :

Comment donc peut-on Le servir autrement qu'en devenant Lui ?

Comment être l'instrument conscient d'une puissance étrangère ? Inconnue ? In vécue ? Quelle vanité !

Toute la vie est un mensonge, un vide, une caricature, un cartonage, aussi longtemps qu'on n'est pas Lui.

Pour l'égo et l'ignorance la seule chose concrète et tangible, la seule expérience, c'est la mort et le désir.

Mais pour l'âme la seule expérience, la seule réalité, le seul fondement, c'est Lui.

« O human copy and disguise of God
Who seekst the deity thou keepest hid
And livest by the Truth thou hast not known,
Follow the world's winding highway to its source.
There in the silence few have ever reached,
Thou shalt see the Fire burning on the bare stone
And the deep cavern of thy secret soul. » moment en est encore distant, je l'appelle et l'implore et, lorsque l'heure est venue, comme un animal je me refuse.

Matrimandir : D.M est tombée !

"One went to the door of the Beloved and knocked.
 A voice asked: "Who is there?"
 He answered: "It is I."
 The voice said: "There is no room here for me and thee."
 The door was shut.
 After a year of solitude and deprivation this man returned to the door of the Beloved. He knocked.
 A voice from within asked: "Who is there?"
 The man said: "It is thou."
 The door was opened for him."

La seule chose qui me tirerait hors du chemin serait l'impulsion à la vie sexuelle, « purement », crûment... cette vie sexuelle qui a été pour moi comme un second destin – cet état de l'être qui approche sexuellement tous les corps n'a pas renoncé à sa propre réalisation, car il n'a pas encore compris quelle serait la nature du changement ni en quoi cela le concernait directement ; il se sent plutôt concerné jusqu'à présent par un progrès qui consiste à s'accepter de plus en plus pleinement et trouver en soi-même une sorte de joie d'être ce qu'il est, se délivrant des peurs d'une morale honteuse et coupable...

une vie nouvelle, une création nouvelle, une réalisation nouvelle. La joie doit s'établir d'abord dans la conscience, ensuite la transformation matérielle aura lieu, mais pas avant...

... C'est avec l'adversaire que la souffrance est venue dans le monde. Et c'est seulement la joie qui peut le vaincre, rien d'autre – le vaincre définitivement, finalement. C'est la joie qui a créé, c'est la joie qui accomplira. »

Pour le moment j'ai l'impression d'apprendre à vivre sur le haut de la vague ; le travail et l'activité m'aident à m'y hisser et la constance me permet d'y rester en équilibre. C'est ainsi que j'ai l'expérience de la joie – la joie d'être uni à un rythme de progrès, de s'oublier et de servir. Mais ce n'est pas un bien réel, ce bien qui est sujet à se changer en son contraire...

19-10-1976, Auroville :

C'est drôle, la seule chose qui semble exister réellement en moi est cette gratitude pleine, entière, d'être ici, que ce soit vrai, près de Matrimandir, ici, dans Ca – de pouvoir aimer Ca, les arbres dans Ca, le ciel dans Ca, Matrimandir dans Ca, et Te faire mon offrande physique dans Ca... cette gratitude qui touche à l'extase quand je suis rendu conscient de Ta Force... Et c'est tout.

Est-il possible, O Divin, Réalité, Toi, quoi que Tu sois, est-il possible de devenir vrai, pour de bon, entièrement, sans déficience, sans insuffisance, sans déséquilibre, est-ce possible de Te réaliser totalement ici même, libre de toutes ces maladies, ces distorsions ?

Je ne sais pas la réponse.

La seule réponse est : Sri Aurobindo – Douce Mère...

Qui ne garde quelque part une étroitesse, une dureté, une vieillesse ?

Qui EST ?

Et quand je relis certains de Tes mots sur Auroville, je ne peux plus les accepter pour « toute la vérité »... Ils ne sont pas un absolu, comme l'égo qui s'y attache le prétend. On ne peut plus se servir de Tes mots, on peut seulement Te trouver directement, par l'union de la substance. C'est tout.

Le reste, tout le reste, équivaut à une faillite.

La nuit dernière j'ai encore eu l'un de ces rêves qui laissent une impression plus affreuse encore qu'un cauchemar, car c'est comme s'ils mettaient en présence d'une duperie fondamentale : je rêve que je trouve une femme qui est Toi, qui se dit Toi ; elle est en général assise parmi d'autres ; cette nuit, elle donnait quelque chose, je ne sais plus quoi, à tous ceux qui entraient dans la pièce, comme Tu l'aurais fait ; je m'approchais d'elle, m'agenouillais, voulais me donner à elle avec des larmes intérieures, et puis je m'apercevais qu'elle n'avait pas ce contact direct avec moi que Tu aurais ; elle disait mon nom mais elle était comme une étrangère, je ne comprenais pas, j'étais perdu, et c'était aussi comme si je me manquais à moi-même, il n'y avait pas d'identité. Il n'y a rien d'adverse de manière évidente, elle ne cherche rien de moi apparemment ; mais quand je me réveille, je sais que ce n'était pas Toi et je souffre de m'être encore laissé tromper ; c'est une impression très pénible, comme si j'étais seulement capable de toucher une ombre qui Te ressemble...

... More and more I feel the only action, activity, situation wherein I am not given to death is when I am on Matrimandir. All the rest goes like a theft of life and possibility, a waste or a ruin, a blank, nonsense.

Everything is ready it seems for the concreting: it went so fast, I don't understand, I hope it's true. It looks straight, like a necessity of Yours or one step of Your unknowable Rhythm.

At 2.15 pm, go to Matrimandir, for the pouring of the next section of the South West wall. We finish at 6.15 pm. Still I feel this restlessness, impurity, opacity...

I don't accept this; we have to stand up. To-morrow I'll go see the people, see what we can do...

15-5-1977, Auroville:

Right after breakfast I start for "Sharnga". My two ideas are: Satprem comes to Auroville, we guard him; people of "Aspiration" start making arrangements near the Centre... B.B tells me of his meeting with Satprem yesterday and how it was announced that he and Sujata would leave on the 17th and how Satprem said that everything was in Mother's hands, he was surrendered, Her child, and that we were close to the darkest period and we only had to go through it with confidence and be one... It is all quiet; nothing in any of us seems to indicate that there is something for us to do in order to change the event... I do not feel any tension.

Afternoon, Shr and Yus come in with the open letter to the Prime Minister to be signed by all Aurovilians, asking for the Charter to be entirely respected by legal means... I sign; we talk of the words to be changed.

At 2.15 pm, I go to work with D.M.

At 8 pm GI gives me the answer from Patrizia Norelli-Bachelet to "my" open letter to her, which was our response to her booklet "What's wrong at Matrimandir"... Madanlal brought the answer; it's another test for me... She is right, she can only be right as long as it is a question of rigorous logical argument... Still, life is full of elements that do not fit into this rigorous pattern; is it to say that things are altogether false, to deny all progress, all advance? People like her, and also quite a number of us here, are fit for this type of action, are good instruments for the roles that have to be played. I am not fit for that. The asuric part in me that still pushes its head up to make me enter into a role is too much hampered by the other need: the need of You...

Yet each time the lesson is given me, I think and believe that I have understood and each time the occasion comes not to throw myself out in action but to keep quiet and remain faithful to the truth of my being, I miss it and fail!

My place is given me, my material work is given me, everything I need and much more is constantly, precisely, completely given me. And yet I want to take...

But it's also very easy to get into excessive self-criticism.

When I wrote this letter, there was certainly some sincerity and who can say it did not serve You, who can judge? It was spontaneous and uncalculated, there was no bargain, no expectation of any result; but there was much ignorance.

I have found within my true relation with what is called Matrimandir. It was made so clear. What am I looking for then? Can't I just keep quiet and grow in the limits, these wonderful, loving limits that You have drawn for me?

I do not want to cost anything.

In many respects I feel like a waste, a lie, because of my sheer incapacity to exist.

But I know there must be within a great possibility. And that is Yours.

And I have to become that, purely that, and I will be Yours, purely Yours.

Still, with GI, this lovable, this jewel of GI, we laughed so much: we cannot do anything, we are powerless... and we should drop all pretence to fight on their level.

We have to BECOME. That is what You want from us.

And let them do and see and think they do rightly and see rightly!

Our way, our dharma is to become!

22-5-1977, Auroville:

At breakfast I read F.'s letter about "Fidelity" which he'd posted yesterday after the incident with P. Somehow I found it crude and almost false and I'm unhappy about it as it can only bring more negative reactions and reinforce the division. As I tried to understand, words came and, back here, I wrote an "open letter" to the "Fidelity" group, speaking mainly of the dangers of forming a closed group within the collectivity of Auroville... I felt better having written it; some tension is around me, though, but whatever the consequence I have chosen to do it... I told Annappa I'd made another folly, he at once went to read it and seemed to be happy...

25-5-1977, Auroville:

Concreting of the next section of the South West wall. We work till 5.45 pm. Half-way through, black clouds gathered again; on my way back here, walking and looking up at the sky, feeling the earth breathing, I had at once a feeling and an image of You, Sri Aurobindo – Your body, Your Consciousness from within the sky holding out Your golden Symbol towards us, so gently... I remember when I was a child and had this feeling of a Consciousness and a Face at times... was it you?

... Difficult dinner, I suffer from the noise and loudness people choose; by nature I'm foreign to this need most people seem to have to be crude and loud, and I always feel it as violence and an insult to the truth of things... But here it makes me so sad, as in front of some mystery I cannot understand: why here?

26-5-1977, Auroville:

I borrowed Krishna's cycle to go to the "Pour Tous" meeting at "Douceur"... It lasted till about 11.45 am; a step forward, but also difficult, mostly because, I think, the majority are French and several parts of Auroville aren't well represented. Shradhalu is very unclear; Savitra, although he says things one can only agree with, revolts me, like another sort of disguise... The French of "Aspiration" are "clear", positive... Today both Auroculture and M.P. were asked to leave the community, while Jacqueline was asked to stop her relationship with Kiran: the matter of "Fidelity" was brought up by F. and Savitra; Alice and Navoditte's case was also mentioned; the SAS has announced they would put the bus back on the road – a proof that, among us, they still hold ground! Finances are bad, not even enough to provide bread, and most of this week's wages are likely to be withheld... There I can see my resistance coming up, if it means the regular work at "Sincerity" has to be stopped... But the choice is the truth of the Future, even if it has to break down all we have and are today; I feel this is perhaps the only way that the true thing may later manifest without being distorted...

At lunch met Daniel, we fixed a time tomorrow to look at the work on the dams in the canyon...

At 2.15 pm, went to Matrimandir: no one is there from the day-team except David S. and it is quite messy; later our night team comes up and we start working at the panels; I feel a bit depressed, seeing how little constancy and perseverance and discipline we seem to have and how easily we drop our work for You because we demand things from others... It's not even that: I suffer each time I see that people stop coming to work at Matrimandir for some reason when it is, I feel, a most needed discipline, not to mention the thousand gifts it pours on us, for Auroville as a whole: that some of us at least are fully engaged in building Matrimandir...

I don't know how to say, it's a most difficult period, and those who have an active mind are the most dangerous now...

I pray, Mother, that You give us the quiet dedication and the selflessness needed to go on with the work. I don't think there can be happier things in Auroville now than the moments, the hours spent on Matrimandir when we can work together. And that is a great force...!

31-5-1977, Auroville:

Something is going on inside me about the general situation; something that has to do with equilibrium, progress of all the elements together, without moral or affective or material compromise, because a total sincerity must be there, on every point, without losing one's aspiration for the truth one can grasp or feel or unite to – something which is at the root of my inability to go completely into the movement generated by Satprem through “Pour Tous”, something that again and again makes me hesitate in identifying with it. It is related to the feeling I have of a Consciousness that is utterly ‘cold’ to our so-called needs but is all-wise and materially omnipresent, yet that can be sort of understood in different ways and at different levels... On the level where most of my nature lives, I must take the stand of complete refusal of the SAS’s influence, it’s the only healthy thing to do and it’s positive. But immediately behind it is another level, a need not to interfere, not to identify with one way or another, not to be influenced even when it is most attractive with the purity of an absolute and the conviction of a leap taken together into the unknown...

I still have a feeling – I can only call it respect – towards the fact that all these elements have been PUT here and that the way is so clearly shown: the real progress that can take all of us together into a possible change is resting on a basis of integrality, all the elements being present together through an evolving situation, under the guidance of a Force that certainly has no sides and no sentiments and is wholly concerned with the truth of the Manifestation.

And I find myself in this strange position where at the same time I can easily be a carrier of the flag of an Auroville without the SAS, daring to be alone with the Supreme in the midst of the world, refusing all imposed influences, and yet something in me keeps me away, like saying: “look, this is already done everywhere, it does not change anything, it is just below the level where the only true change is possible!... ”

And I found this from You:

« ... Et l’état véritable... c’est une totalité qui contient tout, mais au lieu de contenir tout en éléments qui s’affrontent, c’est une Harmonie du tout, un Equilibre du tout. Et quand cet équilibre sera réalisé dans la création, cette création pourra continuer à progresser sans rupture... »

But then comes the real problem. For that to be possible, a real and constant sincerity of aspiration must be there. And if it is not there sufficiently, then things take another turn and it seems one has then to accept certain necessities of rejection and division in order to keep oneself on the right track...

The question then is: are we at such a moment when insincerity has led us to the necessity of cutting off part of the whole, or is it an illusion and one just has to go through the situation as it is?

And that quote continues:

« ... N’est-ce pas, le Pouvoir est limité par les oppositions et les négations (le pouvoir le plus puissant, c’est celui qui domine le plus, mais c’est une imperfection complète!). Mais il y a un Pouvoir Tout Puissant, qui est fait de la fusion des deux – ça, c’est le Pouvoir absolu. Et si Ca c’était réalisé physiquement... probablement ce serait la fin du problème !!!... »

2-6-1977, Auroville:

This afternoon I kept concentrated on: “what to do, what can we do, is there something we can do?”...

And today the fatigue comes also from my being in the wrong attitude...

Later, somehow, I broke through this exhaustion because, to my question, comes only one answer and it is always the same: to build Matrimandir.

You have given us Matrimandir to build, as soon as possible, and You will use it to receive and radiate Your Force, as You have said. And it is only Your Force that can help us out of the difficulty and bring the true change; left to ourselves we can only pull the thing down into semi-ignorance and damage Your work...

This answer brings joy and a vast movement of progress with much quiet and strength: we must work towards the gathering of all of us on the city territory, whether in the green zones or near the Centre; we CAN work together; we have something to do together and this is the very means You have given us: we can build Matrimandir together, the Gardens together, the green zones together, the first functional buildings together. We can do it. This is our strength, the thing that has the power to reveal our unity upon earth, in spite of everything...

It is towards that the efforts of the past year were tending, to form services, working teams... Only, it must happen on the ground of the battle, we must physically gather in a concentrated area...

The energy came back, we worked till 11 pm.

The moon is full. I feel happy again.

I keep thinking that if all of us here were really sincere, we would not need to reject anyone; our need of You would be so intense and constant that it would draw the power of Your truth-consciousness right here!

... At about 7.30 am the village owners of that land I have unwittingly fenced across came to me; we went together to the spot and a long discussion followed; there was no marking-stone and the land had not been cultivated for very long. I said I'd first see our plot numbers. These people own several pieces of land, one of which is very near Matrimandir, and they want to sell them all at a very high rate.

Later I went to see Shradhalu who explained the situation with land-purchase; the maximum allowed has already been purchased by the SAS and to purchase more requires a legal clearance of Auroville's status, or else to take some risks in the names of individuals...

So the only thing that remains is... to move the fence!

Somehow it brings me back to a state of anxiety, of non-understanding or disagreement with what is taken as our present direction...

At 9.15 am I went to Matrimandir; V. was already there. I was so preoccupied that at first I couldn't work and she tried to help me formulate what I felt... It's difficult... I don't want only Satprem's Auroville and I don't want Navajata's Auroville neither Shyamsunder's... and neither mine!

I want to respect the conditions laid by the Supreme in order for humanity – and the equilibrium of all the forces – to make the needed progress: that progress the Lord sees as needed, that He Himself needs!

I don't believe in the arguments used by the Aurovilians and I have no trust in the SAS either.

I only feel on one hand a deep unity already there, since ever, with most of the people involved in Auroville's independence, but no affinity with their mental positions; on the other hand I feel the imperative need that all the forces here may have the chance to grow and change, that they may participate in the building of Auroville.

I do not believe that we have come on earth only to realise something we already know on an inner plane. I believe we have everything to learn, to discover, that we have to grow out of every limit through all that is different...

Meanwhile individual aspirations must be sustained.

It is not up to others or through others, it cannot depend on some psychic group-affinity – this may help, it also may not, the logic of it is not what we think!

I found some pictures of You and a drawing of the sun in an old review and read this sentence of Yours that is quite important to me:

"... Far from seeking to fill up your heart with frivolities in order to distract it, you must with a great stubbornness make it empty, absolutely empty of all things, great and small, so that the power of that great emptiness may attract the marvellous Presence. One must know how to pay this Supreme Grace the price It deserves...!"

I see this image that often comes to me : You are back in a visible body, among us... everyone goes to You to get Your touch, Your love, to see You and be seen by You. But I stay aside, I don't want to go, I am not worthy to go to You; You have to call me if You so wish... Then it's like: no, You are not outside me; You are not what they make of You. I do not want Your blessings or anything from You – You truly are WITHIN. You are the One who exists in me, and only then can I see You, when this is clear, when You sanction it... How, I do not know, by a gesture or a call or a subtle move to draw me to You: that You are, outside, the One who is inside, within me, the very Same, and not what they make You to be, what they tell me You are. And then come tears of blood...

A letter from C. relating her meeting with Satprem in Paris. What I had hoped has happened, she's met him and he has done something with her, in her, many things are swept away; I'm very grateful.

I see that I am inside Your arms, that the fact that this contrary, this antagonism is raised in my consciousness DOES NOT take me away from Your arms, it happens there itself, and I just have to look straight into it, WITHOUT FEAR, courageously and quietly, with the aspiration for the true consciousness.

8-8-1977, Auroville:

We stayed the whole night on the road by the entrance to the Gardens, quietly preventing the SAS people from entering the area, and again we stayed there the whole day until after 7 pm. Then we all leave. It's been a powerful day for all of us, something really happened, within and without.

Officials came and went, the Collector came but would only answer with the "law"; yet later we made it clear that we would use no violence under any pretext, but that for them to pass through and reach Matrimandir they would have to enforce it upon us physically, we would do "satyagraha"... We all became completely silent, sitting all of us on the road, the policemen in front of us and, right behind them, the SAS people. They were actually unable to take the decision to force their way. I felt inner tears surging up; the situation was very deep for a while, all fear was just wiped away and we were clear and looked straight ahead, without any hatred – just the certitude of the need for truth.

Followed a long wait, and the Collector went away.

Later Fred came to tell us of CPN Singh's advice on the phone, that we must break no law and should disperse. There is some hesitation but it seems we must accept it as this comes from the man whom Satprem has introduced to us as chosen by You to help Auroville...

In the evening the Collector's orders came that the SAS people may pass.

Their entire group walks between two lines of us, looking so serious and... "funereal"! And we are being so "trivial" and "unspiritual"... So, while they meditate at Matrimandir some of us quickly rehearse some catholic funeral song and, when they come walking back, everyone is standing holding a candle stick and loudly singing, with so much laughter!

What matters to me is that, when we were sitting on the road, having stated our position clearly and refused any further talk, concentrating, I knew that it was worth doing – that one can be sincere anywhere upon earth, yes, but that this force, this claim, this influence has to be rejected, opposed or brought to change; and I was really ready to go through whatever might have come...

I had some difficulty not to be pained at Fred's show – again – when he chose to come and impart the news to us when he had refused to join us earlier... But does it matter?!

11-8-1977, Auroville:

I walked with G.M. over to Auroson's for the Pour Tous meeting; group after group people kept arriving till after 9.30 am, even H.I. and Dietra were there.

It is then decided that a small team will go at once to "Fidelity" and tell Jagdish to move out with his belongings. When we arrive he isn't there, though the door to his hut is open; Jorgen, J. and the ladies, as we're hesitating, come and lock the door before us. But soon some of us smoothly break the lock open, enter and move the things out. I try to tell Juergen and J. not to worry, but then a few of their group make a show against G.M, saying that his power rule has come to an end; they have received the occult message in the night... We laugh at this nonsense... Some police joins in, called in by them, and they are also laughing and they take pictures of the whole scene... Ram and Ramaswamy come by, even Roger and Pashi come, and leave, disgusted! But among us it is joyful!

Satprem and Sujata have returned yesterday, Nicole has seen Sujata this morning; it seems that the message from Kireet and CPN Singh to us on Monday was "ill-translated" by Fred: we were within our rights to remain on the road!

On my way to Matrimandir I spoke again to Juergen, repeating that we have nothing against him, J. or the others, we just have to see Jagdish out of Auroville now. Ravindra also came by; I got shouts from Mir. And a preaching from Karen, but I didn't mind, I actually like them all!

12-8-1977, Auroville:

We all decided that we'd start today working around "Fidelity", digging pits for new bushes, moving the fence ; B.B brought a cartful of compost with Ram Singh ; the people of "Fidelity" tried to oppose it, threatened to call in more police and villagers to beat us, but we worked on happily... B.B and others started to fill the pits, but Mir came in, vulgar and hateful: I was just about to pour a basketful of compost, but she stood there; I put the basket down, she grabbed it and threw it at me, insulting me in the crudest way, called me a "homo"... The others continued working, gently joking; she then incited two of the policemen who lost control and began to oppose us violently, but it ended in a general laughter and the police asked to be forgiven!

The "Fidelity" group along with some members of the SAS have filed a case against 35 Aurovilians...

22-8-1977, Tindivanam:

We heard that A.B. and Yus have gone up to Delhi.

Tall G. arrives saying we were called to meet with the police, at the Matrimandir office. They asked us to explain our position; then they put out a list of 22 of us they are going to arrest now – I am on the list. We answered that they have played a trick on us, and dispersed. Everyone was called to join us: it is not 22 they'd have to arrest but all of us, by force! On the road, in a car, the "Fidelity" group with Jagdish was waiting to see us taken in the police vans...

We ended up sitting under the Banyan tree, about 60 to 70 of us, very close to one another. The police vans drove up to the tree; the children were with us, and the dog! Others still stand outside the perimeter. The police has the order to arrest us by force... some of us start uttering the mantra... they seize G.M first

A few of us are still atop Matrimandir, watching intently; we hold each other's arms; I am sitting by GI; they seize rapidly more of us; I feel very quiet, no fear at all; I just observe that quick pleasure when the "trouble-makers" are carried away – the SAS people must believe they are winning the battle! Somehow they never come near me.

Then, as many have been carried to the vans, the rest of us suddenly feel like standing up and running into the vans to join them; I leave GI and run straight into one of the vans, pushing the policemen aside; we laugh quietly; others are repelled.

It is after 5.30 pm when the vans leave, for Tindivanam.

We stop once on the way, some of us are shifted from one van to another, they confiscate my spanner, lighter, keys, measuring tape; they force Krishna down on the roadside and leave him there – it seems they thought he was a tourist!

There are 39 of us, it is a very small space in the Tindivanam jail; we get very little sleep. Aurovilians come to bring us blankets and mats, some food... I feel very close to Matrimandir.

24-8-1977, Tindivanam:

All day a complete confusion reigned. We first refused to give our names, till Toine and Johnny persuaded us; but it created even more confusion as the authorities had now to form new lists. Many came to visit us and some would rather have stayed with us.

The complaints against us are filled with lies, it is treachery...

I'm still upset at our noise, our jokes, attitudes, but it doesn't matter.

In the evening they divide us in groups; I am in a group of 12, with Annappa and Arjun; after a grotesque episode at the Court, we are taken into the very cell where 8 of us had been kept last July.

Jean, Johnny and Toine take care of us with the help of an advocate called Radhakrishna who seems to be a good man, very involved in our situation.

The French Consul comes and is willing to help. In Auroville, Diane and Anita gather all our passports and put them in the French Consulate's safekeeping, regardless of nationalities...

Later Fred came in, volunteered to sign his name and was formally arrested, and so did Jacqueline; the police was completely bewildered! Jacqueline replaced Cl.B who had to go for the children, so that makes 40 of us now. I could arrange, through Marc-A., for the workers' wages and he is also keeping the house.

25-8-1977, Tindivanam:

All day long Johnny, Toine and the lawyer ran here and there against time to prevent the police from moving us to Cuddalore where the SAS's influence is much stronger.

We got news from Satprem who says that what is happening is very good, that he has sent messages everywhere. The other group of us have been to Villupuram.

We are released in the evening, and spend the night in a lodge.

26-8-1977, Auroville:

We had to wait till lunch hour to go to Court and get officially released on bail (villagers giving guarantee). Then we rushed by bus over to Villupuram to see the others; we're allowed to enter the jail and stay all together a while.

Again I felt tense, I don't know why... something in me makes me have an attitude slightly different from the others' attitude, it's not clear yet, I lack confidence in my own contact and I still try to be like them...

We reach Auroville at about 7.40 pm; everyone is waiting for us down the road from "Aspiration", joy and warmth as if for a great feast...

27-8-1977, Auroville:

At 8.30 am the taxi comes and several of us pile in to go back to Villupuram and be with the others; we have to stay there the whole day, till all are released and about 50 of us return in a long file of taxis and a van, reaching "Aspiration" at 7.30 pm; the dinner is ready for all; we're tired but full, and sure... Our house is Auroville, its air, its spirit, presence, the house of Your children, Your work. Your Home!

I don't hold on to life. I need THAT and I find a bit of IT here and this is my way, but I'd rather "die" than leave the aspiration or cover the need for the purpose of what they call "togetherness"...

Mother, is it possible for me to become CONSCIOUS in this very life?

I don't want to have illusions!

Sometimes I think I am not evolved enough and sometimes I think I have done with all the experiences! But then, why do I remain so empty, so elementary, and so hollow? I guess I am not ready to be filled up by the true thing, by That, it would break me down! So I must simply aspire for purity, to be sincere... And... You exist!

1-10-1977, Auroville:

I feel more and more that here at the Centre is not the place to seek for a collective experience or growth, but to concentrate on the specific task of building Matrimandir, and that's all.

I hope I'll be able to bring this up, because really the situation and all the problems here are wrong, wrongly seen...

Today I was made aware of my contradictions, of this remnant of will to have control over the others' movements, of this death in me that refuses the rhythms of life when they do not go a certain way, of this impuissance to be wide enough, to have enough love or generosity...

4-10-1977, Auroville:

We learned that Indira Gandhi has been arrested yesterday!

65 of us had to go to Court today...

I feel like I'm about to get sick, in a decomposing atmosphere; I got disgusted and angry when some of us started to openly mock a transvestite who was passing by...

This satisfied vulgarity in us!

The only good thing that happened to me today was what I saw, and experienced, inwardly – there was a Presence in it, a flow of consciousness that gave me gratitude -: I was at the Samadhi, Your "box" was opened and I came close to You, pushing my way quietly among the others, and took Your body in my arms and carried You; I was so happy, You know, and I went with You up to the door, in spite of the others' reactions, and by the gate I saw a big luxurious car come in, and then no one could see us any more, but the door of the car opened, I let You in, there was Sri Aurobindo sitting in a dense golden reddish light, powerful, I had His Darshan, and with Your Lord You made me understand that I could not go with You... The driver was a free being, a Conscious one; the presence of Sri Aurobindo was very strong for me, very important; I realised something; I wanted to go with You, I felt it was possible, and I started to understand what sort of change was needed in me, and it made me learn something... Then it slowly ceased.

A rock in the head, I kept in bed all day...

In the evening P.V comes asking whether I know what Nolini seems to have declared today, that "You have left the terrestrial plane and the Work is postponed indefinitely..." My first reaction was to laugh... Then it gave me the feeling that this is the last attempt to block, before Your Centenary, the door or passage You have left between You and here, and it led me back into that certitude, which I've had for quite some time, that we absolutely must remain here, in Auroville, whatever happens, keep the ground, with our faith in You. We must not accept, under whatever guise it may come to us, the suggestion to leave. We must be faithful, in spite of everything, even if we have to pass through the darkness of obscurity here; this is our commitment to You; this is the only thing we can do, offer to You, Since You are the One who acts and works; but his much we MUST DO...

Before 8 am I went to Matrimandir, first to sweep the rainwater from the slab. R.O. came and we waited for the others; he told me that Patricia might not come, that she'd said she didn't feel like going on when there is no collective effort and the responsibility lies always on the same few people... I gave me a shock and I meditated on it hard... Is it not this kind of reasoning and attitude, very much in favour in Auroville now, which comes straight from death? If You'd had this attitude, it is long since You'd have left men and the earth to their own crookedness and mediocrity...

It's like a great cry in me, we're going wrong here; we do not help You!

Then a sort of will settles in me: it's too bad if we do not collaborate, even when You have created the ideal conditions for a progressive and positive effort, it's too bad if we only seek opposition, difficulties, tension, refusal and conflict...; but there are beings for whom the divine reality is concrete, who know that the true world and the conscious beings who belong to it WANT to manifest on earth and WILL manifest, whatever is the resistance to it...

26-10-1977, Auroville:

E.B. talked to me about a theft in her house... I never like people talking about thefts and thieves because I sense it is a contagious vibration and there is something in everybody that wants to pass it on, like saying – but not openly of course -: “they have stolen my things, why not yours!?”. It’s frightening how much we can damage and poison and disturb and spoil through mere speech!

... We waited in Tindivanam the whole day... I spend a long time with Gl., communicating to each other our experiences at present... There is no need to explain, we understand each other very well, have the same reservations, live the same solitude at the moment and suffer from the negativity in Auroville in the same way...

On our way back, we saw Matrimandir emerging from the trees in the far distance... I know clearly that it is only That Force, That presence I want to serve; only That can help, That stands beyond enemies, parties, positions, influences, tendencies, paths. That has no partiality; That alone is CONSCIOUS...

I have been feeling all along that we were like aiming below the mark, that Satprem’s movement was a little too limited, that it was no more the Equilibrium that alone can save us and do... And I feel so sorry to be caught in a partial view, almost anguished to be obliged to loose this opportunity to be with That, no matter what happens, in the midst of all influences a free servant of that free Presence, that Consciousness that alone can comfort me and fill me with certitude and gratitude.

And I prayed to be freed from other influences, however great and deep their beauty or sweet their attraction; I want to be with That, to serve That, of which Matrimandir is the living symbol...

I know that the most difficult, the most terrible contradiction would be that the people here, the inhabitants of Auroville, by their refusal and negativity would render the work impossible...

I do not know where to turn, I find myself empty, null and impure, caught in processes I do not believe in... Perhaps what I say now is all weakness and lack of confidence and surrender, I don’t know...

But I know this: if this time the work is not to be stopped, it must be organized around the highest Balance, the real Equilibrium – and only Matrimandir comes from That, belongs to That, all the rest is... lower, or limited, or in contradiction: That is whole, one and Conscious.

And I want to serve That and only That.

I feel so much in this their destructive attitude; I am amazed and feel lost... what can we do together on earth?

1-11-1977, Auroville:

We worked till 11.30 am; today I am full of energy and of tenderness for everyone... At 2 pm I went back to Matrimandir with V., we worked with R.O, Th., Andy, Gab. Ruud, till 4.30 pm; it is all ready for the next part of the scaffold but the couplings haven't come yet. Back here, worked in the garden. Pierre has come to stay for a few days.

V. and I had a late dinner, cleaned up, boiled the milk and did the usual chores; she seems to be more and more at my side; on the way home, we lay on the sand pile watching the moon rise... I think I wanted to let the sweetness of the body express itself and not the energy of sexual desire, so the desire came and went for a time; we lay naked, I watched the movements of the mind, how all the problems exist in the mind, by the mind... Later the desire moved us. I let out the semen but I believe I was careful enough...

We worked on the scaffold and cleaned clamps till 4.30 pm. Then V. and I went walking through the fields to Auroson's Home to visit with Piero and Gl.; Piero showed me his latest drawings on Matrimandir and its surroundings; one of them is extremely beautiful, showing Matrimandir without discs or petals, surrounded with an earth form covered with grass in the midst of trees and small rivers, just as I have always prayed for; I felt deeply happy and grateful to see it, the image of this living wonder we carry within us through Matrimandir...

But I can't forgive this inertia in my mind, and that I'm probably so presumptuous that I don't put up the correct effort of understanding and rigorous observation...

1-12-1977, Auroville:

At 9 am I went cycling to Auroson's Home for the Pour Tous meeting: financial situation (Rs.25, 000/ deficit this month), the only way to reduce the expenses is to cut down on food... Is it possible without harm, just with a little more care and balance? I feel clearer about what to do in the Kitchen here so as to cut our expenses and I want to study it today.

But then I got a chit, unsigned, asking me to a meeting about the "Tamil workers"... This wasn't happy, but heavy, with this same mixed and arbitrary note as in the past when this "problem" had come up. Dealing with such issues with the mind, artificially, instead of the direct contact – often despised as "feeling" or "sentiment". I know what they want, that all "paid workers" stop eating their lunch at the Kitchen – that both Rad and Nat. are sent away and told to bring their own tiffins, when it was their own choice to receive less wages in order to share food with us, since more than 2 years now...

I am on the defensive, and sad, because I had felt so clear about working out with Noh. And V. a new; more economical diet...

V. came with me to this meeting, at the Matrimandir office, after 1 pm. I explained the situation, and that it is a matter of progressive relationship..., but Toine pushes their decision as "an experiment to be made"; I cannot agree to this and it worsens as they all turn on me saying that I am the only one to hold that view; I probably express myself in blunt terms, in my reaction to what I feel as an escape to avoid the real issue and a destructive attitude erasing a long, slow but steady progress that has been done... I say then that, if such is their final decision, I'll have to remove myself from the Kitchen as well...

V. and I sat by Matrimandir... I felt crowded with mixed energies, something heavy on me, a sense of rejection and of the lack of any harmonious effort towards a TRUER solution...

I remember that You have said:

"Once you have started to give them food, you cannot stop!"...

V. and I agree that if Rad. and Nat. are indeed told to stop eating in the Kitchen, we'll also stop and eat with them at home, and ask Yv to arrange a food basket for us independently...

I feel a conviction that their attitude is wrong but I do not want to cling egoistically to any position, and I see the need not to put myself in the middle of it but rather to truly offer it to You, so that You may put Your Force on it and a greater harmony may come and more truth in our actions... Yet somehow I doubt... This situation here is very tricky, and opaque; when such problems arise, something heavy seizes on us; already so much has happened that has obviously rendered Your work more difficult, Your work that is not of the mind, but is everywhere at every moment for a more integral manifestation...

2-12-1977, Auroville:

V. and I have decided that until this matter is dealt with in a Pour Tous meeting, we will not accept the decision and we will ourselves bring their food to Rad. and Nat.

I have been keeping quiet with V; I guess she thinks I am unclear these days, she doesn't like R's presence here; but I refuse this exclusivism. I remain gentle but I do not want to bargain, human relationships always seem to be one-sided... But what I have always sought is a full giving and sharing in every relationship, without any exclusivism; whenever I see it in myself I suffer; whenever I see it in others I reject it. What to do, I don't know, but I have faith that what I aspire for, this fullness, this wholeness in diversity, is possible, that it can exist and will exist...

But I have seen that I am very much like an animal and little like a man... It is this distance between the animal and the god, this distance called "man", which is really obscure, filled with suffering, misleading, debased, abnormal...

Tall G. came to tell us that Monique had been attacked by 7 men on her way back from Pondy, who had stolen her bag with her passport and money in it... Some of us had already gone to the road, but it seemed rather pointless, the men having been seen on the run towards Edayachavadi village.

We meet outside with Krishna and Pas.; it is clear we must do something now, to at least catch one of these men and keep him with us until we learn who is behind all this, and we are shown what the next step is to be; and we have to do so without the police interfering with its dubious good-will! Vibrations of fear are already pushing their way in and that is no good; we must stay calm, take it in the right way and make the necessary progress both in attitude and in action... Tonight R. is keeping watch near G.M's and Pas's houses while they are patrolling the entire area...

20-12-1977, Auroville:

V. got up early today; as I remarked happily about it, she replied that it was because of R's voice and presence, that she'd been disturbed by it; and she asks him to move out!

I feel a flow of sadness, as if something had been torn that could have been cleared with a little love, and I miss R....

Outwardly I'm quiet, silent, but I find myself weeping inside, like a small child with a heavy sorrow going to his mother's arms and falling asleep...

21-12-1977, Auroville:

We worked till 4.30 pm, R.O., Patricia and I. From Patricia I learnt that Abhay Singh had been "released" of his functions by the Ashram Trustees, and that Champaklal is no longer allowed into Your Rooms...! So perhaps the "imaginings" I sometimes get at the Samadhi, projections of future scenes, are to some extent founded after all...

You once said that The Lord alone will decide the Ashram's destiny... How to follow it now? One is too small!

This put me in a strange state. I sense all these forces that shrink, shrink, reduce the place where You ought to stand and radiate, to the meanest negation of Who and What You are...!

Later I went down to the Nursery to look for a flower for Martandar, Claudine's baby son, yet to be born!

22-12-1977, Auroville:

After dinner B. came to tell us of the letter Satprem has just written to us all, saying that he is leaving, that the body cannot stand anymore the pressure of so much bad will, and that he is with us and we are all in his heart, that he now truly is in another world...

I only feel that I would like very much, perhaps even more than I know at the moment, that he comes to Auroville; that we build him a house and guard him and protect the atmosphere that is needed around him for the work You are doing in him... Where else can he go now?

But perhaps You see that certain things are yet to happen here and that it is not yet safe enough for him to be here?

Martandar is born tonight at 9.35 pm... "The sun within the darkness"!

25-12-1977, Auroville:

This contrary pull, this contradiction, rather intense, this lack of centeredness as it occurs at certain times of one's life, concentrating all the past difficulties in a few days or a few hours – and all the quiet, the inner tranquillity I have learned to identify with in the previous months remains now as my only tangible help...

I grope for security in Your arms, in the flow of this life and service to You, in the forms of that Truth, today and tomorrow, I want to trust life when You stand in its core and guide it through every moment and event...

Yet I feel pulled apart and confused and I would just sleep and sleep as a child who needs to assimilate before the dimensions of a problem or a question he knows himself unable to solve or answer...

I just have to go on and endure and then I'll find my place and attune to its rhythm, its pulsation, and it will show me how to love, how to be...

26-12-1977, Auroville:

The water level is steadily rising under Matrimandir, now that we have stopped pumping: clear water from an underground adjacent source...

B. intends to move soon to one of the houses in "Fidelity"; both V. and I feel this may indicate that the time has come to take down this hut and start building a new house in its place, more solid and harmonious, for the soul of this place which You named "Sincerity"...

In the night I had several nightmares and I must have screamed because twice tall G. and V. got up and called me awake...

29-12-1977, Auroville:

Shradhalu, who left his work in the Matrimandir Gardens, has now decided to settle with Anita in Kodaikanal ; he has come to visit ; we embraced ; he said that they felt me to be very close to them ; I know it is so, and that sometimes those ties or this sharing are best revealed in a physical distance.

AUM NAMO BHAGAVATE

AUM « Se prosterner à Ses pieds dans l'abandon de tout orgueil,
Avec une humilité parfaite :
Que Ta Volonté soit faite et non la mienne. »

NAMO « Déployer son être devant Toi, ouvrir son corps tout entier,
De la tête aux pieds comme on ouvre un livre,
Etalant ses centres afin de rendre visibles tous leurs mouvements
Dans une sincérité totale qui ne permet à rien de rester caché.
Ce que Tu voudras, ce que Tu voudras... »

BHAGAVATE « Se blottir dans Ses bras, se fondre en Lui
Dans une confiance tendre et absolue.
Je suis à Toi pour l'éternité... »

« Si l'on était répandu en toutes choses, si toutes les vibrations qui viennent ou qui s'en vont exprimaient le besoin de se fondre en tout, de s'élargir, de croître, non pas en restant dans ses limites mais en sortant des limites, et finalement de s'identifier au tout, on n'aurait plus rien à perdre, parce qu'on aurait tout. Seulement, on ne sait pas. Et alors, comme on ne sait pas, on ne peut pas. On essaie de prendre, accumuler, accumuler, mais c'est impossible, on ne peut pas accumuler. Il faut s'identifier. Et alors, le petit peu qu'on a, on veut le récupérer : on donne une bonne pensée, on s'attend à de la reconnaissance ; on donne un petit peu de son affection, on s'attend à ce qu'on vous en donne... Parce qu'on n'a pas la capacité d'être la bonne pensée en tout, on n'a pas la capacité d'être l'affection, la tendresse en tout. On a le sens d'être comme cela, tout coupé et limité, et on a peur de perdre tout, on a peur de perdre ce que l'on a parce qu'on serait amoindri. Tandis que si l'on est capable de s'identifier, on n'a plus besoin de tirer. Plus on se répand, plus on a. Plus on s'identifie, plus on devient. Et alors au lieu de prendre, on donne. Et plus on donne, plus on grandit. »

I feel since about two days that part of my vital is rebelling against so much happiness and that it would be wiser not to insist on this aspect for some time!

In a way I understand it, since equality, true equality, is more precious as a basis for progress than sheer happiness; also my body has to keep steady...

... It's interesting that the most dissatisfied people around here, who grumble the most about the Kitchen and the lack of joy and community life, are the ones who don't participate and yet demand total freedom...! Today again Dadu was all alone for the cooking, and yet everybody does come to eat!

4-1-1978, Auroville:

I went at 8 am to Matrimandir. Patricia soon came with the news: Satprem and Sujata are back! I felt so happy I would have jumped around all morning like a child, and so did Patricia...

What happened is that they had gone to the mountains and were staying there, all alone, not knowing what to do next; they had told absolutely no one where they were going. But suddenly a man came to them with a letter from the Ashram Trustees saying that they were expelled from the Ashram!

They could not accept it; they went to Delhi and fetched R.T. there and flew back at once, arrived in the night and found the house at "Nandanam" all locked-up with new locks; they called some of us in "Aspiration" to come and break the locks...

So it is starting... and we now shall be together...!

R.T returned and we were told it was not necessary for us to go to "Nandanam" for a night shift; that things had calmed down... I feel it is not very good or balanced that only the people of "Aspiration" take position; other parts of Auroville should have to come into it. Satprem's fight is our fight, the work You are doing in him must be welcomed here in our midst, in the body of Auroville... It is very strong in me that it is almost a danger for Auroville that only "Aspiration" should be involved with Satprem now; but I have to trust that the opportunity will be given to share and reach a true balance...

6-1-1978, Auroville:

We read this article by Udar on "soil-less cultivation"... I wish that all these possibilities are taken up here and everywhere and we all come out of this damned hypnotism to suffering, effort and death!

7-1-1978, Auroville:

We have finished the main carpentry work... It worries me that, as we are about to receive here the marble for Matrimandir, the purest, whitest, most precious marble, we are not united about it, we do not understand and many of us, like in "Aspiration", look down on it, despise it...

D.D. came; as she has vertigo, I chose to help her up so she could take her photographs... I notice that with certain people I appear to become a little sad, while with others I'm able to express unreservedly the joy that is within... funny!

9-1-1978, Auroville:

Today was my shift at "Nandanam", from noon onwards, with F; we stayed in the garden under the trees, and only saw Satprem from a distance; I become more aware of how important it is to keep to one's place, to respect it, and dedicate oneself to it...

I learnt that Surendra had come to make trouble at "Aspiration", to rouse the workers at the Hand-Made Paper Factory and incite them to beat Aurovillians with sticks and clubs; Gupi and another have been hurt, but the police, called by Jean P. and Serge, was witness to it...

10-1-1978, Auroville:

Fr. came up on the structure to talk to me; he'd been entrusted by the "serious ones" to inform me that the decision had been taken to stop Nat. and Rad. From taking their lunches at the Kitchen, and to put all of the workers' wages uniformly at Rs 5/-. How am I to fight this alone? I feel that people like Toine and Michael T. are spoiling something that was useful, harmonious and progressive, for the sake of that "democratic", all-on-one-level equality – the rule of the little mind. I have to trust that the day will come, one way or another, when it will break and something more conscious and more alive will be able to breathe at last!

18-1-1978, Auroville:

I'm aware there's still something wrong in my relation to others, that element of controlling will, wanting them to fit in with my demands and to behave as I think they should, this persisting inability to accept them as they are and in their own terms without the desire to interfere but with instead more concentration in my own aspiration to realise the truth I feel...

A newcomer, French, whose name is C.E. E, and whose features and presence feel very familiar to me, came to ask me whether he could build a "capsule" over here (a small single unit bamboo and palm structure raised on 3 or 4 stone posts)...

Madanlal and SSJ have encountered some difficulties in the Madras Harbour to get the marble released, as the SAS had officially claimed that we aren't entitled to import it and that Matrimandir is their property... Toine has gone there. I had been worrying over just that, for the past few weeks, to the extent that both R.O. and Patricia had to tease me about it...!

I'm reading "Seth" and I have begun to love this being, to grow attached to his humour, his sweetness, his humility and precision... It has clarified to my awareness many things which I could only sense in confused terms.

20-1-1978, Auroville:

I went back after lunch to attend the meeting in the Matrimandir office... After the usual show/speech by Roger A. stating his position – his conviction about the discs and the petals -, we learnt from Ajit that studies were almost completed for a light tubular structure for the sphere and earth-filled brick-covered structures for the petals... We felt rather silly to be informed of it only now by people who never even show up here and who only have an external approach to Matrimandir...

I had a look at M.K's paper on Auroville and on his project of a town in Germany called "Mirrapuri"; the vibration reminded me of old creations, a sort of spiritualised Atlantis – but not THAT!

C.E has already started to build his capsule in the casuarinas grove and it feels alright.

There's something tough today; perhaps it came with Roger A's visit, some outside influence always trying to gather support in our midst; I had images of Navajata. Yet Roger A. is likeable in some ways... It isn't very clear where all of this really stands...

The first lorry of marble has arrived; we had prepared the place for unloading it days ago; considering the technical aspects, unloading 5 tons crates with just a few crow bars and some steel pipes to roll under them, it's a small feat; we worked late into the night; some of us insisted we postpone the opening of the crates till tomorrow; I feel bad and regret our French team of last year, we'd have done it all!

23-1-1978, Auroville:

Every morning R. wakes me up sweetly at dawn by lighting two candles... Today we have to move that special, large crate over to the Workshop; the huge white marble cube is in it...

The last of the lorries arrived at 11 am; in it were the huge panels for the doors to the Chamber; we worked through the night.

29-1-1978, Auroville:

I am upset: I seem to have become stone or dead wood, and cannot find the capacity to move forward; perhaps I have been too satisfied and proud and now I have lost the contact? I need to be HUMBLE! I could go roving like a mad man knocking my head against the walls that have come up while I was unaware!

5-2-1978, Auroville:

It is funny how in the last few days a part of me has risen that wants to express itself, to pull me out of the nets of this personality... and it has black eyes; it has an intensely centred vital, not like mine, cracked and full of fears! I feel like I'm wearing a shirt that has become too small, too tight, inadequate...!

7-2-1978, Auroville:

We have all agreed to arrange a room under the amphitheatre for the reception of visitors, displaying the models, maps, etc. Piero then showed us his new model, with one single entranceway starting from the Urn and going underground to emerge into a circular gallery in the lower part of the sphere, and it is just as You had said at the beginning... If this could be accepted by all the "parties", many problems would be solved!

9-2-1978, Auroville:

I cycled down to Joss's and found him right in time as he was just with the man who usually locates the water-sources – a local water-diviner. We arranged for him to come over tomorrow and Joss will send the entire crew in a few days... Then I went to Kenneth and he explained to me about the casings, the slotting, the work of the crews, the things to watch for... I felt encouraged – that You really want that well and pump here and I only have to follow the thread...

It is such a relief to be in that condition where one is acting for something You want and needs not believe in one's own efforts but just has to be attentive, quiet, and perseverant and let it all happen...

As the first half of the house is slowly being taken apart, the sense of the new space comes more and more and the atmosphere needed to make it sweet and beautiful, in harmony with the garden, seems to grow steadily...

10-2-1978, Auroville:

We worked till 5 pm. I had a clarifying talk with Piero.

Returning here I found Sakravarthy, the water-diviner, waiting; we have an immediate contact, almost intimate. I had already sensed a particular spot, but I only showed him an area which I think would be most appropriate. Nat, Rad and Yel are still there and we wait together at a distance, in silence; the atmosphere is quite beautiful: Sakravarthy takes off his clothes, keeping only his loin-cloth, washes himself, plucks a small bunch of "neem" leaves and moves in concentration over the area and around it; it only takes him about 5 minutes to find the spot; it is close to our new store-room and far enough from any large tree not to damage any root-system; he drops the "neem" leaves right on it and calls for Yel. to mark the spot properly. Follow a conversation between them all in Tamil - we all are so happy that we shall soon have our own source of water; we feel the trees growing already!

18-2-1978, Auroville:

Guru Prasad of the SAS has sent an open letter to all of us, along with a booklet, calling upon us to admit our mistakes and turn back to the true path, saying that You have withdrawn from Auroville and from Matrimandir... At first it felt like dust, then like poison... It is only at Your feet that I have seen such falsity, such lying... I still cannot believe that one can lie so much and so continuously, I am bewildered, what is going to happen?

Marc A. and F.G. brought the petition Savitra has written, to the Government, regarding the situation on the land with the SAS leasing even trees... I sign it too, although I dislike the self-gratifying tone of the letter; I can't help sharing this feeling with Marc A., but I feel bad and want to tell Savitra directly...

19-2-1978, Auroville:

I started with V. marking the foundations for the first unit of the new house; we have to check several times to make sure it faces Matrimandir and is correctly sized.

The team has come for the drilling of the bore-well; they call me for the concentration before they sink the first bit into the soil...

21-2-1978, Auroville:

We are preparing for the concreting. As we are reacting to the kind of "religious" scene some people still wish to have on Your Birthday, we're having some fun, just so as to keep the balance! Some policemen showed up, to keep "law and order" ...!

Then we saw the tract that the "Aspiration" people have printed yesterday for distribution among the visitors today: it is alright where they explain the situation, where it is mainly informative – this, I also believe, has to be done, it is correct; but then there is a whole rambling on how we have sweated and suffered and been victims in our good faith – and that makes it disgusting, false and pretentious and silly and it shows clearly that we are not fit for any serious endeavour! The opposite of what is intended...

My heart jumped when I saw a crowd of people gathering at the Banyan tree for a meditation; then I saw that SSJ was among them and surmised these may be devotees who perhaps contribute to the building of Matrimandir...

I went down to the mixer; it's after 3 pm when we can start, Piero is hovering about me, impatient... Little by little a joyful energy replaces the apparent chaos...

As it is our first try in casting concrete on an incline, a steep slope, it takes time for us to find the right technique; we work non-stop till 7 pm, I stay at the mixer, Nar and V. help me. When it's over, V. and I brought the remaining concrete over here and poured it in the foundations of the house with Nat. who'd been waiting.

23-2-1978, Auroville:

At the end of the meeting Fred read a statement he had printed to protest against the Ashram Trustees' decision to expel Satprem and many of us want to sign it; I'm happy with it.

We worked till 4.45 pm. There is talk about this other paper we found out about, called "Matrimandir Letter", a news sheet to be printed regularly at Madanlal's initiative, with SSJ and Seyril, without ever having consulted with the workers; none of us knew about it till this morning! It would be alright, though, if it were just to give news of the work to all those who are interested and to the donors and contributors, but there is also a short excerpt of Your conversation with Paolo and Satprem, which, thus taken out of context, mainly aims at Roger A. and makes a fool of him; and this is unfair and does not represent at all what we perceive or experience here. Some of us will try to convey this to SSJ – to Seyril, it'd be pointless...

I feel there is now a delicate situation with "Aspiration"; by their absolutism, they make it a tighter and tighter movement that is sometimes destructive: instead of taking up every activity in order to change it, they tend to suppress, erase, reject. Bound by a sort of mutual love, they get the impression of moving nearer and nearer to a point where they could jump into a different world, a world of light and truth where You reign, and they abandon or reject anything that is not "clear", anything that may drag them back, confusions, and activities too difficult to offer... And so they cut themselves more and more from the movement of life, its richness and diversity, and their attitude provokes reactions that might lead to their being separated from the rest of Auroville and from any constructive effort.

I feel that, in a way, this is another disguise for a mere escape from life's difficulties, just like reaching for "nirvana" is. Yet it is a fact that I can find in myself the same attitude; only, to follow it exclusively would somehow feel very wrong.

I want something more complete, more integral, even though it might be slower to come or the process of reaching it more tedious...

I don't know... They would surely say it is my "mental", that I want to keep my mental ego! I really don't know! I don't want to be cut off from them but I need the rest also... and I want to grow integrally, as far as You can make me progress in spite of my resistances...

24-2-1978, Auroville:

Fred revealed to us the work that has been done in Delhi by Kireet, CPN Singh and Habu to create "The Mother's Institute" and obtain for it a 50% tax exemption for the channelling of funds to finance many of the Auroville projects; already Rs 40,000/- have come to "Pour Tous" and this is how we have come out of the pit... I recollected the dream I'd had a week ago of R.T and Fred counting large bank-notes on a big table, and this reminded me of the need not to judge but to simply to the work You have given one, in a growing sincerity, just as these people have been doing without our knowing it, for Your sake alone...

27-2-1978, Auroville:

When I accept that I have also been woman in the past, it all becomes much simpler and my problem with the presence of sexuality in every relationship becomes more "natural"...

Today the first stones for the walls of the new house were placed.

2-3-1978, Auroville:

I cycled over to "Certitude" - this the new name for the complex of houses that has grown around Auroson's Home - for the meeting... Two new Trusts have been formed: "Mira" (the Mother's Institute of Research) and "Auromitra" with Satprem as one of the executives...

4-3-1978, Auroville:

The boring of the new well is over : the men called me early this morning, they had reached a depth of 154 feet and the water-level had risen to 17 feet below ground-level, everyone was happy.

Toine has been helping me to figure out all the steps, how to select the pump, when to get a compressor in...; I'm quite ignorant of all these things and I surrender and let myself be carried along, with the trust that You arrange everything.

P.V came to inform us that Ben had just burned his whole house, coolly watching the fire while sipping his coffee; but the trees around it have been saved; he wanted to warn us that Ben might decide to come over and try and burn more houses! I like Ben, though! I guess that, as none of us was paying any attention to his megalomania, he had to do something spectacular...

The whole afternoon we cleaned the small hut for C.E to move in.

Mother I hope it is useful to Your work that Your children are happy, because the more I go the happier I grow!

6-3-1978, Auroville:

I went to Narad for plants and we ended talking about the choice that seems to be put before us all, between Roger A's concept and Piero's. I feel quite lost: how could You say "Yes" to such different options, how could You bless such opposites for the same task?! This remains a total mystery to me...

What do You want, Mother, I don't know.

You seemed to be surrendered to Roger A., to Navajata, to Pranab... who made You suffer all the more and who clearly show today through their actions where they stand!

Why? Why?

R.O is moving to E.B's house – she has moved to "Douceur" – and is very happy about it.

I took C.E's cycle to go to Piero's about the work; while on my way I had time to look at some of my insincerities and also to ponder all those contradictions that You have accepted in Your work and I could see that, if I look at them with my mind, I can only get desperate and loose faith, while if I keep confident in what I experience with my heart, which guides and helps me all along, then I can remain here and try to serve You better and loose more of the ego-consciousness...

With Piero it was alright. I saw his latest model for the Gardens and entrance but I didn't feel anything this time: the access by the Urn is fine but I don't like his shifting of the Oval, so I really cannot say... Again it is mixed; he is too complaining, too bitter. Regarding the sphere, the "skin", etc, he seems to be very clear and practical and I appreciate it; I have more trust in it than in Roger A's easy dreams that – sorry! – look like "camelote", "junk", to me!

There is a secret in all of that.

I don't know. I just feel we must go on with the work without trying to impose any conception or persuade anyone...

7-3-1978, Auroville:

After the work I again went to Piero's, to see with him how best to utilise the energies available; we saw the details for the work of the coming days; then he told me of his idea of forming a small group of action, made of people permanently involved in Matrimandir, to see everything as it comes and make all the choices that have to be made. After a moment of reluctance I admitted that it might actually be necessary in order to come out of this uncertainty now prevailing, of all these misunderstandings, judgements and frustrations... if only it could remain a simple work-oriented team! But that has to be seen!

He also gave me good advice for the pump and the tank here.

12-3-1978, Auroville:

I was tending to V's foot – my cactus treatment works! – when... Piero arrived on his bike! I went out to greet him, a little surprised, not guessing the reason of his visit. He just said that he'd come to make a "demonstration" and pulled out of his bag a hammer and a chisel and started to break the wall (the outer protection wall of granite stones)!. In shock I returned upstairs to V.'s room and told her what was happening and had to sit a few minutes to recover... V. went out – she's Italian-born, as Piero is -, I followed, watching while V. tried to talk to him, but it's no use. When my body felt a little stronger I went down the last few steps and stood between him and the wall, but he went on, careful not to hit me... We moved in this way for a while. V. went to fetch R.O but, when they return together, Piero had stopped to rest, so R.O left. Then, Piero resumed his breaking, and this time R.O came to stand by my side and Piero had to stop, remarking with sarcasm "here is your right arm!" He left, saying he would come again to break the entire house. All the while, Nat., Rad and Yel and Raj had kept working quietly, which I appreciated very much.

Both V. and R.O feel that everyone should be informed; I too feel that but I do not know how to go about it. I explained to them Piero's position regarding the planning of the city, told them about the various attempts that were made to provide people with cleaner and more harmonious housing and how he blocked them all... Their sweetness is a help to me. I had known that this destructive force was trying to make me loose my trust and courage, but I can also consider this event as something pregnant with a greater clarity...

V. insisted that we should meet with a few others this evening, it went on till past 10 pm, with R.O, Pas, Pala, G.M, Ina, Jerome, V. and C.E... Hesitantly, but it has been quiet and positive. All felt that Piero couldn't be allowed to act in this way.

I feel very tired.

13-3-1978, Auroville:

I got up at 5.45 am feeling very sad, questioning myself and all I have ever felt...

I had to go to Pondy today, mostly to the Bank to get the money for the work here; twice there I happened to see John V and the second time he was standing right near me at the counter and spontaneously I smiled at him but, dark and filled with an accumulated feeling of vengeance and rancour, he said "you can smile but you will pay very heavily for what you have done!", meaning my participation to the collective decision that the group around Jagdish must disband... I couldn't help answering "I don't think when I smile, John!", but he repeated "you will pay heavily!"...

I looked at the effect this was trying to produce in me: fear! So I rejected it...

When I returned here early afternoon, I found Arumugom waiting for me and saw that Piero had come and broken more of the wall; then V. told me what had happened: Piero had come, this time accompanied by D.D and Rakhal who each stood by to take photographs while he hammered at the wall; Nat had gone at once to call G.M and others, and it was Pas who came and took the hammer from Piero while two others stood in front of the wall. Piero said then that he would come every day till he'd broken down the whole house; V. told him that he must stop coming and on our side we would stop building till the matter was taken up at a Pour Tous meeting. At that he left.

The whole incident took place exactly at the same time as I was having this exchange of words with John V at the Bank...

I feel that it is all beyond me, that I have no grasp and no clear indication on how to act next...

14-3-1978, Auroville:

C.E tells me his dream of last night, that we were flying together, very close to each other, very united and very free; and then we had to go down through the layers, dense and denser with their conditionings that were spoiling that loving reality, and he woke up at that point...

Everyone here wants to have a "Centre" meeting before we attend the Pour Tous meeting...

We had the meeting this evening after the work, at the Matrimandir office; it started quietly, remained quiet and ended at 6.30 pm. The general feeling seems to be that Piero was wrong to impose his will in such a fashion; that it is a fact we do not know yet how the city will be like and probably will not know until the Centre – Matrimandir and the Gardens – is materialised; that it is therefore wiser not to start any permanent construction on the city territory till that time; but that there are no objections for those who are already there and working to re-build with better materials, provided they are willing to vacate when the "real" city comes that way...

V. and I kept mostly silent. (Initially, once the attempts to build simple and clean structures for group-housing had failed to meet with everyone's agreement, I had started to make designs for a house here; my first design had been for a raised concrete structure, a simple rectangle resting on concrete pillars, and GI had actually finalised, in her professional way, the elevation drawings, without Piero knowing about it; it was her gesture of trust in me. But then, seeing all the resistance and the drama, I opted for a ground-floor structure using only granite cut stones which could be re-used, and no concrete except for the buried foundations, with a ferro-cement flat roofing as an experiment; I designed it then so that it would be most discreet and fuse with the vegetation around it and the protection wall which Piero first assaulted was meant to be covered with vines so as to screen the house.)

V., C.E and I seem to be reaching, little by little, a good, happy balance...

16-3-1978, Auroville:

At 9 am V and I went to the PT meeting; almost everyone from "Aspiration" had come and most of them have just shaved their heads, it is a rather funny sight! When Piero spoke it became obvious to everyone what his problem is... Finally it was proposed and agreed upon that the house could go on, that "Sincerity" does exist, as the Field exists, but that nothing else should be started from now on without first referring to the whole community...

31-3-1978, Auroville:

There is a call in me: I start wondering like an idiot why, why every time one feels and is filled with sweetness and tenderness, one nears something good and beautiful, then shadows come and obscure movements spoil it all... Why? What advantage is there in it? What purpose does it serve? No! The world is NOT such! This world is Yours! In You there is no shadow, only pressure for progress and growth of consciousness!

I can't believe anymore in "darkness"! There is a trick, a vast, huge illusion.

These things in us, these movement are not, cannot be what they appear to be. I must withdraw my sanction to their apparent existence. There is no contrary, there is no obscurity. There is no evil intent. NO!

Somehow I come to two conclusions: the real perversion of the consciousness lies in the acceptance of suffering – the very way one accepts suffering, is perverted. And this is linked to the second conclusion: one is a fool to consider oneself as guilty, the sense of culpability is a gross trick played to and through the ego.

And both can only happen because of a lack of joy, of inner trust, of centeredness...

"The best way to express one's gratitude to the Divine is to remain always simple and happy!"

Yes! This is the way!

2-4-1978, Auroville:

I have felt the need to write to Satprem again, to try and find out how he feels about Auroville, about Matrimandir now...

As usual I hesitated a little before taking my letter to "Aspiration"... As Nicole wasn't there, I left the letter, a flower and a message for her in her hut. I feel she is my anchor there and that I could love her and be with her; I even fancied that if I were to leave the work here I'd ask her to take me in!...

John H. has come to stay with me until he gets a room in the Camp...

At night we lay down, gazing at the sky; V told me she needed a more material expression or movement of what unites us... Then something good happened: I took her in my arms and held her very tight and little by little as I closed my eyes and the thoughts vanished, I started seeing You: I see that You have not left, that You are waiting, doing something very essential, which we are not able to grasp, because our need is so small and so poor; I feel You with the body, with the embrace of the body, it's like an answer to my questions... As if by holding each other, by being body and soul only and calling for that love and presence, we could best allow You to do Your work... This is nearly impossible to say with words... As if by holding one another, all of us, like that, and looking at You, something would be done!

And that all the rest is... beside the point!

17-4-1978, Auroville:

Before 8 am I went to Matrimandir and sat alone waiting for the others, with time to look at things, and a strange formation came to me, it said: "look, I'm getting older, what if I don't succeed in progressing fast enough, in entering fast enough a true consciousness, and cannot become Yours and have a true function and a true working-place in Your work? Then I shall be like a wanderer, a beggar, a good-for-nothing, a burden on anyone I meet, too old to find even an ordinary place!"...

Just as the team was getting together Noh came to call us: something had happened at Bharat Nivas, Fred, Narad and David had just been beaten up by some villagers and it was bad... We rushed there, the police came... Some 50 villagers had been paid by the SAS to beat us; Rakhal and Bill took pictures of the scene, with Fred bleeding profusely, etc.

I felt nothing much, everyone was alright actually. There was some humour in it, though, this comedy perhaps reaching an end with the SAS having done the very thing that could drive them out of here; Fred was smiling and looking very proud...

V. told me today that she has come to the conclusion that she needs to be alone for some time so as to find her true place here and not be drawn to an action or a role just because I am there... It is good, I think.

But it is strange how I myself never seem to have this problem, this need not to get influenced by someone else, as if I didn't care!

Later, C. told me of herself and how touched and moved and disoriented she feels... It was very pure and very deep. Such a jewel she is!

18-4-1978, Auroville:

It seems that David had to be transported again as he kept vomiting, perhaps due to a brain concussion; we also heard that both Ramaswamy and Prabhat have been arrested.

I have received a sweet answer from Satprem: "La seule solution c'est d'essayer encore et encore!"

A need in me is becoming more obvious and precise, the need to become conscious of eternity, in the physical consciousness, in the body.

It is clear to me that I am not meant to realise anything on the "heights", it has to be here, right here in the body that I must find it and open to it.

Everyone seems to be half asleep, distracted and I'm faced with my perpetual problem in the work, of having to say what must be done and to check that nothing goes wrong, and I'm reluctant to do it, both because I wish it were not necessary and because my ego is still in the game and gives it a wrong vibration...

As we walk back here, C.E tells me he understands my position, that it is not easy to do scaffolding work with only inexperienced people, but that it ought to be possible to deal with the situation without getting bad-tempered and upset...! How right he is! Then we decide to plant the small fir tree together, and it is happy again!

When I have made mistakes and understand that I have, how can their effects be changed also?

I know this: to see, to accept, to offer and to trust the Grace sincerely.

But is it enough?

I want that no one else but me is affected by my mistakes; but I guess this may not be the rule of the game, as there is only the Lord, and One Body! One Being that suffers, endures, grows and becomes!

21-4-1978, Auroville:

At 2.45 pm as I start back for Matrimandir, I see Pala on the path, some distance away; unbidden a feeling comes of being very, very far from whatever she is into; then as we're about to pass each other she asks me, rather tensely, whether I had closed the valve to the second tank yesterday; I couldn't remember exactly, I might have done to make sure it didn't overflow; I feel then as if I had entered a dense cloud and each of my world was taken into some whirlwind, she is so full of an accumulated resentment directed at me; it stupefies me, as I never think of her, am actually seldom here and hardly ever see her, yet she has built up such an anger and frustration towards me, she says she just wants to hit me as I can't even recognise the effect I have on her... I try to calm her and ask her what I can do practically, but it is such an energy that I turn silent...

How is it that even now people focus on me such a large part of their problems or place in me the cause of their disturbance?

22-4-1978, Auroville:

The masons tell me that, for some reason I don't quite understand, they will fix the top of the door – the stone lintel with Your symbol engraved in it – only on Monday. I realise then that it will be the 24th and tell them about it...

As I was preparing to go, suddenly V came to me with a flower and kissed me and thanked me... which left me as surprised as the scene with Pala had left me yesterday, only it's the other way around! I had no idea why she thanked me, as I had no idea why Pala was so upset with me!

After the work we walked back together with John H; this is a very present guy, very sweet, and I seem to sense his inner being again, as when he was so very ill...

V showed me what she had done in the garden today; it's good; I suggested some improvements, on her request; she seems to be finding some joy now in doing these things and perhaps she will gradually become stronger...

23-4-1978, Auroville:

At dinner Dadu told me that the Collector has announced we must evacuate Bharat Nivas by noon tomorrow; the police are already there and some heavy confrontation seems to be expected. Even though it concerns all of us and I would like to be involved with the others, yet I remain blank, nothing in me seems to go that way!...

24-4-1978, Auroville:

Early this morning Kenneth told me that a phone call had come last night from CPN Singh in Delhi advising strongly that we resist and remain inside Bharat Nivas. As this is not a "cultural program" but an action that seems to be necessary, I feel a little more concerned.

When the masons arrived, they called me with Nat. for the "puja" before placing the door lintel, they especially called for C!

Then C, C.E and I walked all the way down to Pondy, nearly two hours walk, passing near "Nandanam"...

25-4-1978, Auroville:

We started with Piero loosening the props under the Chamber roof; something is drawing Piero and me to be together again; he joined us later in the tea-house and explained the next works very gently...

Meeting Myrtle and others, I learned that 10 of us had been arrested and had started a fast in Kottakuppam jail, while others started to fast under the Banyan tree; I went to see them there, but I cannot join them while C is here. In the evening the 10 who had been detained were released and joined the others under the Banyan, there are now about 30 of us there.

26-4-1978, Auroville:

It rained in the night and everyone had to take refuge in the Kitchen! A bad joke for a fast!

On my way to work I brought them flowers and stayed with them awhile; then I went up with C.E to the Chamber.

28-4-1978, Auroville:

Early this morning clouds started to gather with a strong wind and I hurried to the Banyan tree to help them to collect their things under the amphitheatre; then C.E. and I worked in the Chamber till noon.

I have a question: "Mother, do You still want to use Matrimandir for Your work? Will You give a clear sign that You want it to go on and be completed?"

I'm happy with the attitude of those who fast; there is joy and simplicity...

30-4-1978, Auroville:

I suggested that C goes with V to the Banyan tree and waits there, rather than leaving from "Sincerity" with all her luggage; both V and C.E came with us to the airport. C could hardly eat, so moved she was to be leaving again; just before the Customs doorway we hugged a long time, it is so deep and good a love that unites us...

2-5-1978, Auroville:

I am in a strange condition today : it is not so much that my body is tired, but my vital has perhaps taken a vacation and I wonder at every moment how I manage just to stand on my legs, I have to resist quite hard not to fall in a heap, into sleep or withdrawal.

I am stuck between the pressure on and through the head and a resistance in the rest of the being which I can't understand, which has no cause I can trace, except that something is being done – and perhaps it matters little whether I struggle to stay on my feet or let go and swoon into a ten-day sleep...!

Mother please, do whatever has to be done, take me out of this longing sorrow within into the true joy that triumphs tranquilly...

3-5-1978, Auroville:

I feel exhausted, dragged down and empty, without any resources or anything to rely on, my body just wants to lie down and be alone. Yet, as we finished the work right after 5.30 pm and the evening came, quite suddenly I became lighter and happier, as if purified!

When we returned here in the night, we found that someone had entered the room, taken the two alarm-clocks and my bag containing all my papers, passport, etc, has also disappeared... So, no more papers!

4-5-1978, Auroville:

Searching all around Nat has found, lying scattered under the big « neem » tree, all my papers and the leather pouches ; the odd thing is that I'm quite sure I passed this very place while plucking flowers earlier this morning... No clocks, of course!

V has gone to Kodaikanal for a few days... Stupid to say, but I feel a little like a child when the parents have gone for a trip...!

Krishna has brought me another belt that he's made, perfumed even!

5-5-1978, Auroville:

Heavy with fever, the intestines painful...

After the work we went for a long walk over to "Fraternity", as I had to bring to Yvonne A the thesis that J.Y has written; she and Medhananda welcomed us, we saw the monkeys, C.E did not know them... I felt stronger on the way back...

The fast is ending today, except for Kenneth who wants to continue; he's the only one who has kept going from the start, others have stopped, been replaced, or joined in mid-course...

7-5-1978, Auroville:

Watering the plants, searching for a piece of hose, I find that a valve, almost new, is already worn out, which reminds me sharply that we are still in the Kali Yuga when dishonesty and carelessness are masters in Matter.

I went later with Nat and Yel to Pala's to see with her what work is to be done there; as she has many things to tell me, I sit with her for more than an hour; she speaks calmly this time, saying she has worked a lot on herself to be clearer; I find it alright, not tiring, I have the impression of building something...

C.E has made a beautiful drawing of Your face, in China ink, which he offers to me as a surprise!

13-5-1978, Auroville:

I went straight to C.E and sat beside him. He told me that the right thing for him to do is to go, alone. Then, it was this powerful and sweet pressure all through me, this deep intensity of something happening. I kept quiet and silently listened to him... It is Matrimandir who does all this, who keeps me here, I belong to it, it is Matrimandir who made us meet, who makes us walk and grow, and who allows me to love by giving me a friend who loves too... I have sorrow that he leaves, I miss him already, but I can understand and I must not cling – I must trust that when he returns he will find his place truly. I prepared the things he needs, in a bag, and brought it to him.

14-5-1978, Auroville:

At one point Piero came in to get something and, right at the sight of him I got like a hit in my breast and my body trembled for a moment... Later, this came to my mind: he wants power and will accept much in order to get it, because this experience hasn't yet been fulfilled in him and he cannot surrender it yet... As for me I have known power and have gone the other way around, struggling to withdraw from it and to offer it...

15-5-1978, Auroville:

Neither the force of will nor the energies generated by ideals last very long, or else they fail, when one comes to the body, to the Fact.
The joy of existence would be much more helpful there, if it included the thirst for progress – such a union with the Lord that one becomes His own need to manifest...

18-5-1978, Auroville:

Part of me refuses to draw vital energy because of the blinding effect it has on my consciousness; and yet I am not able to receive energy directly from You, nor joy, so what am I to do?

When I get vital energy and spend it vitally and physically, I do open to some joy and warmth, but in a blind and egoistic way; and if I don't, then I am left with the little capacity I have to live psychically, and my body feels deprived... But I can only persevere, I guess...

... Patricia is going back to the hills to be with R.T, Satprem and Sujata; she told me how SSJ had secretly been trying to get the funds for Matrimandir through the Ashram Trust; she feels that SSJ is now a real danger to Auroville...

When shall we learn the lesson? When the threat becomes so obvious and we realise that the Soul of Auroville is going to be taken away from us, then we will know?!!!

19-5-1978, Auroville:

We carried another section of the ramps over and down to the structure, and it took time and discussion, these are heavy items! I am being very tamasic and find myself in the very same attitude of inert dependency that I so resent in others whenever I have to be leading a team... At the same time, this other position I'm in at present, of being just one helper, is an opportunity to catch hold of a real movement of progress...

26-5-1978, Auroville:

After tea-break, I saw that SSJ was in the office ; after some hesitation I went to him and asked him to tell me frankly his position; he said that in his view we have gone lower even than people from "outside" and that he clearly saw he cannot participate in the present collective movements... What could I say? There is nothing to argue about; it seems to me we are all missing the essential...!

27-5-1978, Auroville:

V is worrying about her brother in Italy and she asked me to help her get to Bombay where she will try to get help from her Consulate...

Tonight, after curing its roofs, I went inside the new house, dreaming with it... V soon joined me, coming into my arms, and we stayed a long time immobile, quiet; it is so clear that the Grace is there, so concretely, and I don't know what to do better than to be simply grateful and to progress and grow...

1-6-1978, Auroville:

Early this morning I met with SSJ in his house; we sat facing each other and he started telling me his feelings and of his past trials and his position today... Our contact is very quiet and there is this aspect to it of a family relationship or bond; all the time I have the impression of nearness, openness – if only we could remain on this level of inner poise. Of course this is only one "side" of him, as it is one side of me...

Then I went to "Tapoloka" to attend the Pour Tous meeting... Towards the end, F.Gr brought up the matter of the funding for Matrimandir... I would have just kept quiet but for a remark Al.B made about SSJ, which made me feel obliged to say I had talked to him myself; and I thus got caught in a tension due to the reactions, mostly from the "Aspiration" people... I am quite sick with all this reacting just now, and I then tried to say there might be another way, not so "anti", not so negative, to approach the matter at hand; I related some of my conversation with SSJ, but it was pointless and I felt very sorry...

It was anyway decided that a group would meet SSJ and ask him on behalf of the "community" that the funds for Matrimandir be, as a gesture, channelled through "Pour Tous"...

3-6-1978, Auroville:

After our night work at the Kitchen, we walk back in silence and come to cure the roofs... While opening the tap, I see light in C.E's house and understand that he has returned; seeing his silhouette seated in the veranda, I feel shy to go to him.

... I sit close to him leaning against his chair, we give each other a little caress, slowly he tells me of his journey; he is like a small brother and I wonder if he has done what he'd set out to do... Several times he asks me to say something, but I just tell him about his plants; I bring him his mail; little by little I realise that he is back, that he is here... I can be happy with him, Mother?!

I cycled down to "Tapoloka" for the special PT meeting, called to elect a representative body for Auroville. Some proposed themselves, others were designated. Fairly soon 12 names were listed and agreed upon.

In the evening when I came in and entered the room I found on my bed a pile of all the things I have given to V since she is here... A strong movement of division; I kept quiet, not willing to get under it, and went up to her room, but she wasn't there; I wrote to her a big card asking her to take back all her things, saying that such a movement cannot come from the heart and does NOT exist and that with all my heart I ask her to erase it with me...

But she didn't take her things back.

There is a kind of anger: what is this "love" that puts conditions as in a bargain, ready at the first occasion to reject, cut apart and divide? It is worth nothing!

Mother, at times I really feel and believe that I am a tiny part of You, made of Your own... But how can I ever say that when I am so filled with impurities, confusion, inertia? Yet I do believe that, somehow, it is so.

Before going to bed I decided to myself bring all the things back to V. It seemed the best thing to do.

12-6-1978, Auroville:

At breakfast Narad told me he'd had a very good meeting with P.G and F.Gr: it seems that the same thought has occurred to several of us, that Auromitra should purchase a first piece of land in the name of Auroville, for humanity; and that piece should preferably be near Matrimandir, where the "mountain" is to come, between "Sincerity" and the Nursery...

13-6-1978, Auroville:

When I went for my evening bath I found that V had cleaned the bathroom, washed all the clothes and left one bucket for the 3 of us to use! Isn't this how one can rely on the Grace to arrange everything!

Now G.M and Ina have moved to near "Fertile", R.O and Gab have moved to G.M's house here, and Dennis and Christiane have moved to R.O's house here...

21-6-1978, Auroville:

Our dog was bitten by a cobra a couple of days ago (Krishna had found the dead cobra); even though his wound appeared to be healing, he was not recovering; this evening, as we were feeding him honeyed water, he died in our arms, just like that, quietly, trustingly...

22-6-1978, Auroville:

More and more I can see that one is actually unable to say one single true thing, because no expression can sum up all the sides or aspects into one single helpful formula, and a partial expression is bound to call reactions. And so the power to act together on the basis of a common, integral understanding is blocked, is lacking...

There is much confusion and uncertainty in the work. Sometimes I feel that perhaps Piero is mad, of a very reasonable but very cracked kind of madness!

After the work I walked over to the Nursery to see Narad and ask him, if things go on in that way, whether I could shift to some work in the Gardens - cleaning, pruning, composting. He looked happy and told me that the Banyan tree needed a complete and thorough cleaning of all the dead wood... I liked that!

23-6-1978, Auroville:

Shradhalu told me of the latest drawing Piero has made, showing a construction zone and a ring road passing just over "Sincerity"! (We had proposed earlier to build better collective housing in that very area, as it was marked then as a green zone, which could thus have been developed by the people living there.)

I feel that he and others like-minded are pulling a dangerous unreality over things here, it is heavy, and will remain heavy as long as we are not IN Matter; then we shall laugh and harmony will be spontaneous and natural...!

The only thing in the world that makes me feel true, that fills me with sense and purpose and gives me the ananda of existence is when the Force flows – when I'm concretely aware of its flowing...

There is the inner pain, a kind of conscious pain, at others' solitude, at each one's solitude, at our impuissance in our condition to find and to live the Presence, to be filled with the Presence always...

29-6-1978, Auroville:

After seeing the work here I went to "Unity" to meet Narad ; he came a little late, we looked at most of the trees around there, I showed him what I had done and intended to do ; he approved and seemed to trust me pretty much and we understood each other well enough ; he demonstrated some techniques for pruning...

Then I went to the PT meeting. After a few topics were gone through, we all went over to Piero's to see the model and drawings he is displaying on Matrimandir; then we all returned to "Tapoloka"; the topic was now Matrimandir, what to do next; Piero spoke; F.Gr also... I got very disturbed by Piero's approach, by a kind of mental dishonesty; I could have pointed out several "arrangements" that were near to lies; later I felt compelled to speak also, and I did it with concentration, effortlessly... On the way back; Ruud caught up with me to tell me he liked what I'd said, but I felt he was interpreting it... It seems to me that things are not ready...

2-7-1978, Auroville:

In the evening after the work I walked down to the Nursery to ask Narad for the address in Madras to get those chemicals to line a pond. I found him all worked up. He'd just seen that someone had wildly pruned a young tree in the Gardens; he couldn't believe it had been me but was anxious to see me and find out... I don't know who did that but, if I continue working there, I'll have to be more attentive so that such things do not occur... I plucked some flowers for Krishna's birthday and went over to his house, then. As he wasn't yet back home and I saw that the plants there were very dry, I started watering them all, to make him a surprise...

3-7-1978, Auroville:

V has moved to Dennis's while they are away and I'm considering moving there as well while the old hut is taken down and the new house is getting ready...

4-7-1978, Auroville:

I went to V at Dennis's and saw with her how to place my things there... There is less tension between us and a more "respectful distance" now...

5-7-1978, Auroville:

After our bath, C.E and I started moving my large book-case over to V's; P.G was there and helped us. Then I stayed awhile with V, putting things in order; she is a little tight and rather possessive; she asks me to sleep there, so as not to leave her alone with all this "wealth"... But I'd rather stay in the garden for the time being!

7-7-1978, Auroville:

In the evening, after washing the clothes and blanket, I saw the masons and was a bit stern with them, as they've been talking way too loud, disturbing everybody. Then I went over to V's to stay there while she went for her dinner; this is a rather beautiful house that E.B had built, with its large windows looking out over the land, the trees and the hills in the distance, the sunset is blazing, and it is all spacious and warm and comfortable...

When V returned I went to bring biddies to the masons on my way to the Kitchen; I'd asked V to inform F.Gr I wanted to talk to him, so he was waiting for me with Patricia; I told them that, for the last two days, I'd been feeling a clear urge to break through this blockage related to Matrimandir and that we should simply, somehow, tell everyone that the work on the shell is now starting, and end this false search for a so-called "collective direction"... They seemed to be feeling the same. We figured we could announce in the next PT meeting that the work is indeed starting on the concrete shell and that any other decision regarding the Gardens, for instance, would be premature, that drawings and studies are needed first from Piero and whoever is interested; that energy is required from everyone to do the work now...

12-7-1978, Auroville:

When I returned in the evening I heard the shouts of the masons yelling at each other. I have asked them so many times to quietly concentrate on their work and not to disturb others - I feel bad imposing this racket on everybody here. So I decided to be a little firm and told one of them to stop; as he was going on shouting, I told him abruptly he could take his leave; then another of the masons declares that he will also leave, and so do 3 of the helpers; I say "fine, you can all leave" and wait while they pack their tools...

V and I have another argument, as I still feel to sleep in the garden rather than move in; I end up telling her that we must acknowledge we do not understand each other and are unable to express outwardly any real friendship; but that I do not wish to talk any more about it...

On my way to the Kitchen, later, I saw that none of the men had left, they were all talking quietly; I sat with them and, in my poor Tamil, explained to them what I expected of them so we could all be happy together and the atmosphere and the vibrations would be good for the building of this new house; they told me then they were ready to work if I said so...

V was still waiting for me, I saw her rigidity and felt like a boy who's gone to the movies despite his mother having forbidden it, and it stiffened me: she asked me bluntly to leave the house tomorrow...

Today, being caught again in the demands of relationships, I wondered if it was really worth it, if one should not rather concentrate in solitude and move away from any relationship that is not clearly given by You...?

13-7-1978, Auroville:

Once again V asks me what I have decided. As I reply that I do not know, she declares that if I do not leave, then she herself will have to go...

C.E joins me later in the Kitchen, we eat and do the clean-up with Dadu as usual, but I am oversensitive, ready to take anything C.E says as a blow... On our way back we sit awhile in the sand-pile and I tell him about V and he explains to me what he understands of her needs and difficulties, and it eases my mind and I feel light again and ready to move my things out of her place and leave her alone.

Then C.E offers to me to move over with him and to sleep on his veranda... He speaks to me on what he feels towards the collectivity here...

I go back to V's to fetch my blanket and tell her that I now understand and am moving out, to which she replies that it's not enough for me to "understand" – meaning, I guess, that I somehow "owe" her and ought to do more...

In the middle of the night, she comes over to C.E's and wakes me up, wanting me to go back to her house right away, all sweet and loving, though still very tight and tense... But I tell her that we must at least follow one movement to its end...

14-7-1978, Auroville:

I woke up at 5 am, far from rested... and the memory of V coming to take me "home" is stronger than the memory of my dreams...

I arrange my things in C.E's house and on his veranda, we sweep and clean.

Later I worked with Narad, we spend some time pruning a "Service" tree together, he makes some useful comments and criticism; on Renate's request we then see some work to be done on a large "neem" tree at the Camp and this takes us till noon, and I don't feel tired at all...

15-7-1978, Auroville:

I have a sort of anguish tonight: I am not enough aware, I am too caught in life's play...

Back to C.E's at night, we find V waiting there, all sweet and close, to take me back; but I refuse to go. I too must find my true position towards her, both in silence and in activity, and it is difficult, I do not know yet.

16-7-1978, Auroville:

... I sit quietly on the veranda while C.E is painting; being so near to him now, I open to another rhythm of living – I could also paint or write or weave again, or just... I don't know, just live? I never knew to do that, it seems...! I was not missing it, though, as far as I know; what I need is in You, in the pace of Your Force. But it is as if You were giving me all this unasked-for happiness and I receive it with gratitude and wonder and it fills me with sweetness...

I want to grow from the soul only and no longer from my own formations or partial understanding of what it is or should be... Even difficulties, even aspirations tend to give a form to the progress to be made, and I am now learning that I must not give it any form but follow with confidence the path that is being opened step by step...

18-7-1978, Auroville:

I am going through quite a lot... I see my own vanity. And it is vanity that opens one to this illusion of the "adversary", although this is hard to recognise!

To live with C.E instead of living alone is a question to all of my actions; it opens up a whole different life with its different attitudes and responses. In a very short span of time I see many of my defects, ugliness, facts of "me" that must be offered as they are and for what they are... And simultaneously there is anguish that I shall not be able to make it and the intense gratitude to be given such a thing!

I met Ruud at tea-break who told me of the latest developments regarding Matrimandir matters and invited me, with some insistence, to a small meeting this afternoon with him, M.T, Toine, Al.B, Jacqueline, Ajit, but without Piero! I listened to him, but didn't feel at all like going. I feel too much out of it now or too incapable to discern a way forward...

C.E seems to be pulled by his own contradictions, he is tired and somewhat cynical; I tease him a bit... I would embrace him, he is so dear.

Big clouds are massing. V meets me at the new house and we watch from the roof till the wind rises, driving dust before it and bending the trees down; we run then and put everything away, and a big, dense rain comes at last...

I asked C.E whether he'd rather like to be alone; I do not want to be a weight on him... I have so much to learn these days and yet it looks like nothing is happening!

With a full bag of vetiver grass and some other plants I'd just collected, I stopped by at "Tapoloka" to see what was happening in the PT meeting; the topic of Matrimandir was up again, Piero introduced it and Savitra spoke at length, and I felt like going out... I don't know how to explain... We seem to be reaching nowhere, we keep onto the same old lines, rejecting and condemning and being offended or so self-satisfied with our "collective process", our so-called unity... But what I need is more consciousness, that's all! And at present I feel I'm more likely to find it by going within - within myself as within the things I touch and experience -, than by persisting with this "collective attempt".

Yet it is also a question of love. I want to love, to know love.

...I found that the carpenters here had made a mistake with the staircase despite my warning them twice; so I have to change its position and modify the floor levels, which fortunately aren't yet plastered; it bothered me at first, then I adapted to the situation and found a way out which might actually be quite harmonious...

Michael T told me there was no money at all today and the workers couldn't be paid; as I left I met Shyama downstairs and teased her about her survey of the economics of each community and we started talking... What is the true way onwards? To cut, to reduce, that can't be it. To simply rely ignorantly on Your Grace isn't it either. And any cut first falls on the land, then on the materials and on the villagers working with us... I could only say with some clarity that I felt the real issue is in the need for us to open to the central Force of Auroville, its power of cohesion which seeks to manifest through Matrimandir...

I'm preoccupied with the situation in "Sincerity", for which I'm largely responsible, with 5 paid workers... Would it be truer that we, who live here, do all the work ourselves? But then we would just be a community of Westerners in the middle of South India doing our comfortable, self-justified sadhana... I don't know, I cannot see the truth with my mind, but I do not feel a call to obey this kind of pressure...

24-7-1978, Auroville:

We swept and cleaned the house together. C.E too seems to be disturbed, I guess for the same reason: yesterday night we went through an area where sexuality was involved, and desire was present; even though it was just a slight influence, it took us down and we have got now to deal with it; we speak little, it will come in its own time...

Ay night I went to see the masons, while they were finishing the floor, to offer to them one day of paid-leave before starting the next phase of the work, and to start it only if they were happy to do so; they seemed to understand and took it very well and asked me to come for a "puja" later, when they were done.

I went to "Unity" to get a wheel-barrow and, along with Marimuthu, to the Nursery to load new compost for the pits in the Gardens. I wasn't too happy with this work at first; as we reached, I saw Narad from a distance and thought of asking him from which pile we should take the compost, but remembered he had said "yes" for the first pile when we had earlier talked about it; but as we started to fill the barrow I noticed the dung was still very hard and the pile very hot, but my mind didn't go further... Then Narad came and got very upset that I couldn't figure this compost wasn't ready and its heat would kill the plants; he showed us then the right pile and we loaded from it. We laughed over it but it gave me a lot to think: I often find myself in such situations, not out of bad-will but out of a kind of lazy ignorance and a coarseness of my ego. Usually something happens to show me my mistake before it bears any results, but it is time this attitude changes or disappears; I can see how it still plays around me with fears or the desire to save an image, it is petty, poor and mean. Then, to push the full barrow up to the Gardens was hard for me, as I had neither the muscular strength not the happy energy for it...

As I was plucking jasmine by the house I suddenly heard Yel shout and the sound of a fall. I ran inside the house, found him lying down under the broken door, full in the water from the curing... I removed the door and when I touched him I got an electric shock and saw then that he was stuck with the electrical cord in both his hands and his whole body was filled with current. I ran back outside and switched off the main, and carried Yel, unconscious, to the easy chair under the tree. I had then a moment of panic as his heart stopped beating and he wasn't breathing any more... I massaged his heart vigorously until it started again and I continued a while longer until I was sure it was revived. Yel opened his eyes and recognised me, and then he lost consciousness again, to wake up a little later, asking what had happened...! I let him rest there, asked Pala who just passed by to go and fetch some milk for him; I watered the plants, saw the work here and when the carpenters arrived I showed them the broken door. Later I brought Yel to rest more on the bed on C.E's veranda, heated up the milk, told C.E what had happened; he was sweet and helpful about it.

6-8-1978, Auroville:

I feel bad with my own attitude of demand towards C.E, and sad like a child, because there is not enough reciprocity and not enough balance; I had hoped to do all these little works with him but he is busy in himself and probably finds me too pressing, too heavy... I have to turn all this to You and reject depression.

I went to work alone. At the Nursery I found that Narad had broken his arm! But we fixed for tomorrow to plant some more trees together in the Gardens.

I am trying to see what's wrong with me; there is a strong pressure on my ego this morning, it feels uneasy at being unveiled; this is increasing...!

As I collected some fruit for C.E and I, R made some comment on "collective principles" to which I reacted and it got a little harsh; yet I knew he was right. He referred to Dadu, who would never refuse me anything because of my influent ways... Yes, I must change! I certainly need to become more humble, truly humble, and to withdraw from any power I might still have over people; I never mean to, actually, but it's still there as a fact and very much part of the image and formation people have of me in our life here – the individualistic, dominating attitude...

Later I got an acute belly pain and it was so bad I had to lie down twice in the afternoon...!

7-8-1978, Auroville:

I went to the Gardens and counted the pits where trees are missing: there were 40! When I told him, Narad decided that we could only plant 5 trees a day, as he needed to do some study for such a large number... As he proceeded to select 5 saplings that had overgrown on the cement tables, I felt hesitant and a little doubtful about planting such tallish rootless plants; he got upset and defensive, taking it as a personal criticism; I kept quiet and smiled back at him and we carried the saplings over to the Gardens and planted them together... He's got such an orthodoxy in his ways, he's bound to get upset with me now and then, though he'd never admit to his heavy judgement on me, "for the sake of harmony"!...

Today at the Kitchen I stayed in line with everybody like a good boy... Does this help me to become really humble and simple?

11-8-1978, Auroville:

Last night was active, my dreams filled with people. But I woke up with a heavy heart, because I'm forced by C.E's reservations to discriminate against parts of myself; I become unbalanced and faced with conflict, and I find that it is not desire itself that produces conflict but the concealing, the separation or suppression of one part, one element in our togetherness, that brings a fight against desire; and it becomes too important or exclusive, it starts weighing more and more – and it wouldn't have if we'd been able to give simple expression, on all levels, to what we are to one another. It lingers like a kind of sorrow... It is the shutting off of possibilities or fields of expression that brings about conflict and loss of balance... I want to be myself and to love well where I can love, where it is given me to love...

... P.G came to tell me that Micheline and Pierre Etevenon were visiting tonight and that he thought of bringing them here, but I know that C.E would feel very uneasy and I'm not enthusiastic either about this kind of social interaction; then he asked us both, and particularly C.E, if he intended to move to the new house with me once it is ready, as he himself would then like to move into C.E's hut... Funny how little by little everyone has begun to see C.E and I as inseparable and, of course, made formations about it, and assume we'll be living together when we ourselves do not know it...!

12-8-1978, Auroville:

Early this morning I prepared the payments and did the accounts. We kept silent. C.E is a little distant, as if he'd taken some resolution, and I can't help being anxious over it!

... I had seen that Shradhalu had been digging some pits where I had always meant to keep an open space, because of the beauty of this lawn and the perspective onto the large trees, so I stopped by his house; Anita was also there; I asked them whether they intended to plant big trees there, as I'd planned that no mass should block the view; Shradhalu started to come out with me but, all of a sudden, made up his mind and told me with a violent tension that he will do as he likes. I just said that I didn't know he was in that state and I left at once and went back to the Gardens to do some pruning there and take photographs of the "Prayer" flowers blooming on a hill...

I was uptight with this sense of people turning against me, of being rejected by both C.E and Shradhalu today, but I centred and pushed the fear away and turned into the Presence and felt alright again.

As I was walking back to Matrimandir for tea-break I saw Shradhalu coming towards me across the hills and felt a burst of love and the impulse to run to him and embrace him; he was serious and wanted to tell me of his past, and of his aspiration to serve Beauty in a place he would feel as his home, and that he'd felt he'd found such a place now, at "Sincerity", and yet people were getting upset at him, like Anita and me; he said that he'd been crying often in the last few days... I reassured him that this was nothing but a simple matter of harmony...

... At night, after our work at the Kitchen, we sat in the sand-pile quietly as we often do... I was getting ready for anything C.E might have to say, but he started with a surprising comment on our rigidity, then slowly told me about my pressing him, waiting for him or calling him and remaining turned towards him, that it disturbed him... I felt terrible because I had been trying all I could precisely not to do that and it seems my efforts have only intensified it... I am faced again with that movement which escapes or eludes my control; but, as it needs a relationship to occur, I suppose it works both ways and that there is C.E's side to my own pressure...?

13-8-1978, Auroville:

I am tired as if from too long a storm... I think I have sometimes seen those little beings that do their mischief in me. Won't You pluck them out?

I want to open my whole being so that You can put everything in order and remove these things that stick to my consciousness like parasites...

... While working, I tried to look for the root of it all, to find what has to be done and the capacity to do it; at times it was like a meditation on the phenomenon itself, the obstacle it represents in the advent of true relationships; but at times it was just pulling, exhausting, gnawing, blind, resisting like a stone of ill-will...

But I want to have no shame about it.

I have seen in past relationships that this always happens when there is a withholding, an excluding, and a keeping away, or a movement of preserving in the other...

... I saw V pass and stand dreamily gazing at the house, a load of cut bamboos in her arms, like a lovely little girl; I was reminded of how we had suffered from this very lack of reciprocity when it was me, then, who didn't have the same yearning... How to get to the true life – life true to the Presence within?
I want to reach equilibrium and have no egoism.

14-8-1978, Auroville:

We laughed over my bad night: my sleep was so agitated that I fell off the bed! Yet when it came to agree on walking back together from Pondy, it became all tense as if there was nothing we could do together any more...

I tried to locate in myself that little door to the Supreme that every born being has access to... Out of schedule I came upon C.E in the street and we finished the shopping together and he decided he wanted to come with me to Paolo's (yesterday Paolo had come while I was at work and left a note of invitation for me to meet him at lunch today). We stayed there till 3 pm and it was light and happy. C.E's presence helped me to observe how I am still prepared, or still used, to being courted, but also that, with Paolo, a need for a more real and substantial friendship has developed.

... I have received another letter from J.F.A and, at night, on the sand-pile, I tell C.e about this peculiar relationship, and of the "problems" it evokes as one addresses another person in a mystical way or dimension...

15-8-1978, Auroville:

Sri Aurobindo's Birthday and India's Independence Day...

I have found my prayer, the prayer I can make at all times, it is the little door to the Supreme that each one has access to within oneself and through which He can step and begin to manifest – so that little by little I can put all the energies into that prayer... For; what else matters than the Supreme taking conscious possession of Its instruments, Its bodies, of the physical and material worlds...?

... Tonight as we were preparing to sleep, at a sign in C.E's way of moving, I felt it was time for our bodies to meet, I went to sit by him and we embraced... I could have wept; it was like the parents' arms when one is a child... We lay together and it was hesitant and happy and intense and playful...

Yet I stayed awake for a long time wondering if by my fault I have exposed us... But then I fell asleep and dreamt that we were making a garden and planting flowers with a great depth of meaning...

16-8-1978, Auroville:

While at work we were each dealing with the "after-effects" of our experience, but it wasn't heavy. And tonight when we lay down again, we told each other what we'd been going through during the day and it was quite simple and there is a happy trust, a confidence that rises from being aware that we are nothing and can do nothing, that we rely on That alone to take us forward...

19-8-1978, Auroville:

I feel steeped in confusion, just like the air today, grey, heavy and sticky, I don't know how to shake it... Then as drops of rain start falling I propose to C.E that we go running, let energy out with earth and sky : we follow the "Fertile" road and run till we reach the big pond, orange water against the red soil, silent, intense and wide... We take a long swim and play with mud and watch the birds. Our bodies feel more at home with each other now.

Tonight we stayed a long time together, getting closer and freer; I feel mute, a sort of awe before such a gift...

20-8-1978, Auroville:

We worked till noon. I want to get our lunches at the Kitchen and, on the way back, as I reflected on the graceful happiness in which we live, my mind recalled the possibility of a dispute, of a misunderstanding and, at once, I sensed the small energies that are always ready to make one say the wrong word or have the wrong movement that could start the dispute or cause the misunderstanding... I pondered this phenomenon for a while and got into a rather amusing "dialogue" with these little beings that seek to have fun by pushing people into conflicts...

21-8-1978, Auroville:

... Something happened. There was this wavering in our contact, nothing could be said without worsening a sort of ambiguity and I was not conscious of the actual issue, something important was eluding me, I only knew it was about Auroville and my attitude towards the "collective" and the work... Then C.E started speaking from a deep impulse, with the strength of accumulation; I listened and, quite of a sudden, a big wall of my ego was knocked down, I felt as if the roots were torn out, it was so concrete that I couldn't raise my eyes. I was seeing, so tangibly how, behind this "attitude" of mine the ego, its falsity and its hardness, had hidden so securely... I was terribly ashamed. Then I felt quite lost, devoid of any capacity for simple love, unable to live and give myself, or anything worthwhile. I had been caught for so long in this illusion, trapped into the false existence of the ego, looking at things from this separate, hard viewpoint, and it had kept me ensnared by the arms of fear and guilt...

22-8-1978, Auroville:

This evening, alone, I was planting trees, 25 trees, meditating on progress. Suddenly I caught in my mind a rapid thought, all mine in the sense that it translated a deep-rooted attitude of my own ego, something very ugly, detrimental and contrary to love and truth; it would have escaped me at another time because it is one of those formulations one is so used to have "underneath", that the "good mind" pays no attention to it anymore... This part is what feels itself as an "Aurovilian" and considers C.E with a slightly disdainful pity, seeing his "problems" and weaknesses and weighing the slim chances of his making it! So crude, so self-satisfied! And I felt how much this ego is a lie, a terrible lie...

25-8-1978, Auroville:

Early this morning I watered the plants abundantly. As I went to move the hose-pipe over the wall, it fell onto a flowering yellow bush and split it; I felt awful, as if confronted with the material result of the confusion that has got into me...

Returning here this evening I felt overwhelmed with gratitude for this place...

I realise I now exist in three fields: Matrimandir, "Sincerity" and the relationship with C.E, and all three belong to You.

Krishna has returned from Delhi; he sits with us tonight for a while. Later, when C.E has finished writing his mail, he turns to me very sweetly and lies down next to me and we hold hands and at one I become aware that... I am hard like a stone and my heart is veiled and there is only a mechanical expression of tenderness over a big hard wall, something so hard and so satisfied to be hard and indifferent, something that has never wondered, never questioned itself, that has no respect for anyone else's existence... I tried almost desperately to see it dissolve into a deeper movement of love, but nothing moved...

27-8-1978, Auroville:

At noon I returned to C.E's with a pressure from above going deep inside and lifting my heart with inner tears and intense yearning; and I saw this movement taking place as if someone, the Help, was letting down a rope in a big dark well reaching for the soul and holding tight and little by little pulling it out of the dark, out of the ego...

I wanted to explain to C.E what was happening but he prevented me sharply saying that I do not have to justify or explain, that we are together and it is enough... I looked at a sudden turmoil, trying to see through it; and I found that... here it was, the ego! It had gone lurking, acting even in the transparency of that silence, it was there, hard as ever, like death itself, and it had every intention of making C.E feel how great I was and how I deserved homage for what was happening in me – that he had a lot to learn before he could even hope to experience such a thing... Like light focussed on a pin, the Pressure was showing me... the ego!

I feel I must go on, but how can I trust what I am?

30-8-1978, Auroville:

As we were about to start back for Matrimandir, F.S came by shouting my name and that he wanted the use of a barrel; as C.E was coming out after me, F.S began, in his typical aggressive humour, to denigrate everything that's being done here, the water-tanks, the pump-house, the "castle" as he called it, reminding me that he had only given me his support for the building of a "temporary" structure, not of a palace... Somehow, this hung with me as we worked the rest of the day, chipping the roof of the Chamber, and I wondered whether I was using C.E as a refuge, hiding in our relationship, turning away from the general pressures...

Stopping at 5 pm, tired, as we go down the scaffolding I hit my head on a clamp and get a good-size bump for it... C.E and I had some steel to cut by the workshop but we got confused, it went all wrong between us... I told myself that it couldn't be worse, and this calmed me down at once; we had to sit under the Banyan tree a while to recover, though.

As I was asking within which way I should be going, to stay or to leave, to remain with C.E or to move away, and put this mental alternative before You, I realised that the truth is not choosing to move either left or right, this way or another: the truth is to be true! To be true in one's consciousness, in one's being, at every moment and in every circumstance; and right there and then, a smile returned in the air!

31-8-1978, Auroville:

C.E got up late today...

As we clean and arrange the house, I tell him my dreams and we laugh...

I see three movements in me, overlapping one another: one is loving, silently active; another is narrow, judgemental and wanting control and upset at details; and the third is hesitant, wondering, and eager not to impose oneself...

I cycled down to the Nursery to get some more tree seedlings; Narad is sad, upset by all the controversies around Matrimandir, feeling ill... He shows me the record of the conversation he had with Nolini on his birthday... We arranged for further planting from Monday on...

1-9-1978, Auroville:

While I was at work, alone, chipping at the roof of the Chamber, I found myself physically connected to Matrimandir, as I used to always feel earlier: this communion of the body with Matrimandir. And my heart rises in joy and the yearning returns in me for this life where we all give ourselves to our maximum, working for the Soul and yet waiting on each other, giving ourselves wholly to It and waiting on each other always...

This evening we had about 30 more trees to plant; I had a rather precise idea of the position for each of them and didn't want it to get confused, so I did not offer to C.E to choose himself and unwittingly got disassociated from him and found myself shut up in my old solitary persona; it happened in a wink and I couldn't get out of it; C.E remained quiet, with a strange expression of crude irony, or revolt.

... It is a strange experience we are all having, to oscillate between the tendency or urge to be alone and to deal with things from one's solitude and organise oneself accordingly, and the call to be together and to throw everything in that breath of progress and companionship, not keeping anything to oneself, not making any reservations...

2-9-1978, Auroville:

While working in the Chamber, I meditate on discipline, will-power and the element of ego in them, and on consecration and on togetherness. Sometimes it clears up and it is joyful and I visualise a collective discipline, freely chosen and without egoism, without imposition or arbitrary pressure on those whose movements are still uncertain and tentative, and I experience it as a formidable force of unity – very far ahead it seems, and yet very close...

... C.E says to me: "I like that you can return to me even when I am repelling you...!"

And I see that what in us feels rejected or wants to reject, feels imposed upon or seeks to impose upon, is only the ego. While the actual experience of togetherness leads to the door of a great mystery...

4-9-1978, Auroville:

I went to Krishna's to pick up the cycle and found V there! She has just returned from Italy!

... C.E wanted to sleep closer to me so we don't have to part in the night and wake up separately, so we end up spreading all the bedding directly on the floor, facing out... He tells me that, when we move and live together in the new house, he wants to keep nothing to himself, he wants to give himself completely...

5-9-1978, Auroville:

We were taking our afternoon nap, I was dozing, following a series of images, when I was jolted awake by V's voice. She asked me to come over to Dennis's and take my things immediately – the book-case, the chair... I got it right in the solar plexus and it made my body tremble, so I just told her to do what she liked and she left...

C.E was helpful and light about it... We went later with the men to carry everything away and they all were amused by this latest scene...!

Sometimes I feel a bit as if the Lord had always been watching all my "efforts", and all the times I fell on my nose and all the conflicts I got myself into, ever with a smile, ever holding my inner being with a firm hand...

In the night later, unexpected in the still air, rain began pouring, straight down, steadfast, and plentiful and it went on till dawn...

6-9-1978, Auroville:

I had a mental, moral dilemma this morning: whether one has the "right" to ask for the light when one does not use properly what is already given. This is the old, persisting notion of "sin", betrayal of the divine, etc.

I saw that I was not going to come out of it by arguing and felt the way lies in the very tenderness one feels, simpler and truer than all these divisive notions. As self-giving increases, confidence also grows and anxiety vanishes and we are able to look at life with more consecration and balance...

It all must become a ground for Your feet...

... When there is the yearning not to be led by desire but to be transparent and given to You, there is also the fear of being abandoned by You because one might have failed to fulfil the conditions, because one might have yielded once more to desire... And this fear is basically an ugly movement, it is false; it was given to men by religions with their concept of a God who judges and condemns, separate from the creation, outside of Nature, a God who is not what we are.

And isn't this precisely what we must fight to free our consciousness from!

The Lord is all. The Lord is everything. And it is the Lord Himself who yearns and wills to change His own conditions of manifestation in order to bring more of His reality into it.

The Lord does not judge or condemn, He grows through Love and Truth and Light...

8-8-1978, Auroville:

Collective suggestion seems to say that our relationship is "against nature" and that by the very force of nature each will return to "natural" relationships... But I don't think that one often meets in human existence such richness and freedom of contact and expression that can allow each person to live equally one's feminine and masculine elements and where it ceases to mean anything exclusive... Yet, that would be truly natural!...

I feel anxious as if we had to shake something off that weighs on us, to go out in the wind, to do something strong and positive... I am aware that my insistence only aggravates C.E's withdrawal, that we are drifting apart, ego making our positions antagonistic... And I am as if paralysed by this condition of separation; he becomes harsh, his eyes are full of this separation, as if painted by it; he says that I am not sincere, that this is just a play of forces, a knot we must untie, that it is the same situation as with V... And I see that all I could say or do would be in vain.

After a first movement of wanting to "kill myself" as I used to years ago, I quietened and regained some balance...

Tonight, C.E said that perhaps it might be good to take some distance and not to see each other too much for a while; and as he spoke I felt we were now two entities, no more one movement... And how the yearning for togetherness is itself a divine breath.

In vain I asked him to stop, to come back... There is nothing I can do.

The question is: what to do when the contact gets veiled – even so slightly, for it is not sudden, it starts very subtly -; one senses the difference but feels secure in the outer movements, and then it is too late... What should one do?

To keep quiet, to look within oneself for the insincerity, to call You, to part?

C.E said we had to call You, as if we were attacked.

But somehow I am tired now of looking at the world in two contrary halves; I want to realise the Divine in ALL of His being and that includes the “adversity”, since nothing exists without Him, nothing is but Him...

We kept silent, then.

I thought that to part was a kind of political move, an arbitrary way to “deal” with the difficulty... I fell asleep while the rain was driven by a cold wind.

When I went out this morning to pluck flowers, C.E was half-awake, but distant. I went and sat under the tree, wrapped in a blanket, and wrote several pages of my diary to You. When I returned to C.E’s he was all sweet, it was over. We embraced.

10-9-1978, Auroville:

Working in the garden here, I ponder this matter of reciprocity, of mutuality, of equal commitment – the mystery that lies therein and the innumerable failures in men’s lives to achieve a balance. The more I go the more mysterious it seems to me and I feel the key to this mystery is truly in the Lord’s hands...

It would seem that I merely got lost in the dependency to an exclusive relationship and have thus gone astray, but I feel it goes beyond that, it touches the core of the human knot and the secret behind the apparent contradiction between multiplicity and oneness... Or between unity and the formation of individual egos and the need thereof to pass on to a truer condition...

In the process, withdrawal from contacts into one’s consecrated isolation may be wise strategy, but temporary: for it all remains unfulfilled.

Yet the opportunity must be given by You, otherwise one is likely to miss the Help necessary to overcome all the obstacles, and that is why one must learn true surrender, so that one’s demands, incapacities and contradictions do not come in the way...

... I watched as C.E applied varnish on our paintings. Later something unexpected happened: C.E went to the new house to fetch some tool, returned after a while and told me he had felt that we should move right away to the new house. This took me by surprise and, as the day went, it all started rising, full, happy and positive...

At 4 pm we went to attend the general meeting at the amphitheatre. It seemed almost everybody had come. F chaired. We listened to the text of the resolution that was passed by the SAS, then to the answer prepared by Auroville and we were asked to find and agree upon a common position.

But what I understood inwardly was that we should all by now, each and all of us be able to respond and to act according to the light and presence in our hearts, SAS or no SAS; and if we were not, that nothing could help us.

I feel uneasy with C.E. The thing is that, as long as we believe that a division is possible and might occur some time, then it will return, again and again... It is a lack of faith, love and sincerity for, with faith, love and sincerity, one KNOWS that division does not exist!

I feel unwilling or reluctant to give myself when the next moment I might be rejected. We cannot be spending days of negation waiting for the night to bring us together again; my nerves are weakening...

20-9-1978, Auroville:

I was concentrating in my work, a bit worried about my nervous capacity to endure, when suddenly came Gordon calling for help: a band of men from Alankuppam had just come to break the dam that Joel G had built last year...

Later, as I was preparing to go down to Pondy with Shradhalu, P.V all excited came to ask us to inform the Kottakuppam police on our way; but no officers are there when we reach and we can only leave a note. In the evening when we returned Pas told us that P.V had been beaten up by a large group of villagers – and a whole dream came back to me from the night before...!

21-9-1978, Auroville:

I was working on the compost pile when two villagers, owners of several pieces of land in the area, came to tell me they wished to sell some of them; I fixed an appointment with them in the afternoon...

There is a sense of a cry, behind the surface, a feeling that we are not answering, not doing what You expect us to do; it is like a knot collectively tied and the worst of it is an inertia that is used to repel the Help we need...

By 3 pm the villagers came and I took them to the Matrimandir office... And there I learned that, by the end of this month, SSJ will have merged into the SAS – something I had not understood! We arrive in the middle of an intense discussion; several of us are there along with Toine, some have come from "Aspiration" to try and make him change his mind, as it seems he has chosen to go along with the SAS resolution and to hand over to them all the Account books of Matrimandir within a few days... I listened to the arguments and, in this way, got a perspective of the whole situation without asking any questions. It does not look good! I quite agree with what is expressed by B.B for instance, but I can also appreciate Toine's faithfulness to what he believes to be the truest; it is an interesting moment, but it goes on and it becomes obvious that I won't be able to do anything for those villagers, besides which there is no money in any case either at Matrimandir or at "Pour Tous" and we can't even pay the electricity bills... So I send Ramalingam to verify the options and postpone the talk with the land-owners...

On my way back R asks me with some force to come tonight with him and P.G to see the villagers who have beaten P.V and try to communicate directly with them; I feel happy with the simplicity of his conviction but I have no wish to participate...

Back here I come upon a new scene: Krishna seems to be now staying with V and there has been some dramatic exchange with A who now needs another place to stay and has been directed to move to C.E's hut, as Dennis is about to return home... But somehow it feels quite good that more of us want to stay here...

25-9-1978, Auroville:

Pala, C.E and I have gone to Madras, mainly to receive Dennis, Christiane and Rita at the airport. Yesterday evening for the first time Pala had come in to visit and she apologised for everything she has said to me or about me in the past several months... We went to the city for some purchases and to the Nursery to select some plants, before going to the airport; but our passengers did not arrive... I proposed we wait till the evening flight lands, and we spend the time drawing; I make my first portraits of C.E, he does some funny cartoon-like studies, Pala comes and goes; at 7 pm we go back to the receiving barrier and wait a while and, here they are!

... I dreamt again that C.E and I are building a garden with much concentration and we use everything, every movement, every word and find how to turn each into an element of this garden...

... I watch the cat in its troubles, a participant audience: he is sitting high up in the tree, surrounded and besieged by dozens of angry crows while the dog is barking up at him, awaiting... I end up chasing the dog and the crows disperse, but then the 7 sisters come in and begin their racket...

R tells me there's an unannounced meeting, kind of secret, called at the Matrimandir office... And when I bring the cycle to the workshop I find that many people from "Aspiration" have come as well; I sit and listen as more of us try to persuade Toine to change his decision... But I don't stay till the end; I keep getting the feeling that as long as the whole of Auroville doesn't fully support the building of Matrimandir, nothing genuinely true can manifest here, in us... Perhaps I have to try and write it down, in simple terms...

... P.G has finally moved into the small hut (where C.E was staying).

27-9-1978, Auroville:

I called C.E to come upstairs and look at my drawings of Your face – not very good! We laugh. We get into one of these talks that suddenly open to an intense comprehension... I seem to touch the essential difficulty, with a great intensity, which is: how to reach and unite to the real joy of being, the Lord's Ananda, and how this joy is necessarily one with His love; how this is surely the key to all problems of existence, because what we all miss is the joy of progress, the joy of becoming, of manifesting ever more fully. We miss this crucial joy, we cling to those forms that have revealed to us in a moment of time an aspect of the Real, we cling to them and we have bitterness; we have so little confidence, we give ourselves so little, because we are not able to surrender joyfully to the flow of the Lord's becoming... We only know tricks to make life bearable, we have only learnt somehow to endure or else to be indifferent; or we adore and worship, but we are too narrow to BE...

And so we don't have His joy and we don't have His love, we are powerless, negative, apprehensive, retracted...

29-9-1978, Auroville:

When we reached Matrimandir this morning we saw several motor-bikes parked by the office and found that, following yesterday' PT meeting, which we hadn't attended, a new team had taken over all the office work and Toine and Jyotiprem had both withdrawn. The new team is composed of G.M, Piero, and Fred... I feel no joy about it... It just seems to be another power thing and I have little trust in that, it is contrary to everything I have understood so far... there is a sort of disgust in me that is not easy to put aside...

30-9-1978, Auroville:

On my way to Matrimandir to see for the week' payments, I meet Jyotiprem: he tells me how he's been pushed out from the office by Savitra and others. Then he hand me a dirty piece of paper, prepared by SSJ, asking each person working at Matrimandir to sign in agreement to the SAS resolution... Since it is obvious I am not going to do that, we laugh over it...

When I reach the office, I find G.M, petit P and A there, sitting like 3 suburban gangsters, and it feels as ridiculous and of as much poor taste as SSJ's paper...! I don't quite know whether to get angry, to cry or to just smile and go on...

This whole situation is rather repelling...

How to spend the energy for You?

I don't know the way. I just feel the need to continue to go every morning to Matrimandir as a discipline; only; if C.E is too unhappy about it, then I may not be able to go ahead with it...

... I was still out working in the garden at dusk when Pala passed by; I said to her I had just received some seeds and asked her for one clay pot (I had seen she has many); but she refuses; and she starts explaining "her situation". I kept quiet.

How to understand this? When she has criticised and aggressed me so heavily and yet has kept asking me for all kinds of material things which I have never refused, and now she cannot give me one single clay pot?! What is wrong with me that I find myself faced with such behaviour?

... Tonight, waiting to do our clean-up duty at the Kitchen, C.E and I took a walk, hand in hand, over to Matrimandir; Yan and another fellow were sitting on the first slab playing guitar, unaware of our presence; it made me a little happy, gave me some confidence that perhaps, in time, all will begin to feel Matrimandir as their home and want to serve it together...

1-10-1978, Auroville:

... I went upstairs to do some painting: I had wanted to do a face and thought it would be a sweet and feminine face; but what came out was a surprise: a strong, powerful, joyful, manly face that could be that of a black man with deep piercing eyes, and a kind of exhilaration and, as it appeared I wondered: could it be "me" in a previous life?

8-10-1978, Auroville:

Walking back with C.E from the "Fertile" pond in the evening light, I "think" of You... things rise from the past... And I see that there's still a warp in my nature, a basic cowardice and a vileness that allows these losses of balance and responds to fears. But, seeing it, I become centred and feel a quiet strength, generous and tranquil – and that is good!

Later, I read a passage of "Savitri", "The Mother of Might" and it comes to illustrate the dilemma I am in: I am revolting or, rather, I am fighting within myself to be rid of this concept, underlying all experience until now, that the world is a battle-field and the Lord is only half at home in it. I refuse it. And I am slowly beginning to see that the root of all disharmony and suffering is this very warp in man's consciousness. One may, and does, attribute this warp to an Adversary's making or interference, multiplying itself as the species propagated, but: isn't it time one found out WHAT has allowed such deformation to take place? And to what end?

Not out of guilt and the seeking to be "saved", but from the yearning and the will to unite with Him, to become what He is, to EXIST!

Yet, it is a fact that You have suffered the hell of hells in Your body. And that is unbearable.

But the reasons given are not helpful.

One cannot fight against oneself too long. One must become divine. One has to BE! I of course can be mistaken, Mother, but I can only love this world when I can feel, more and more, that it is all the Lord for the purpose of a progressive revelation, of a consciously evolving manifestation; and adversity co-exists or is concomitant with that inner warp: one has to find and straighten the warp and the evolutive value of adversity is gone...!

9-10-1978, Auroville:

The men tell me they absolutely need 4 bags of cement to finish the final plastering of the roof already started, so I have got to go right away and somehow find this cement... I meet Kannan by the office and he gently accepts to drive the van down to Pondy again even though he hasn't yet eaten. We drive to Coco Gardens first, see the man in charge: no cement, they only have what they need for the running of their factory. I keep quiet, offering it to You to see whether this roof is to be completed or broken down! The man also keeps silent for a moment. Then he says he can give me... 4 bags!

We meet Li Mei and B.G who ask us to fetch and load some planks for them, which delays us further, but we're back here by 3.45 pm and the men are happy...

... R came to ask me to go and get the milk at "Sharnga", so this evening I cycled over there, and met B.B and Cl.B. B.B tells me he'd planned to see me about the incident between P.G and one of the masons here, Subrayan, the other night (P.G had come to the house while Subrayan and his team were concreting the roof and shouted to them very crudely about their causing disturbance for everybody around and Subrayan had hit him. I had done nothing about it, really. Only, C.E had gone out to calm everyone down; but I had clearly heard and felt P.G's tone and manner as disrespectful and quite insulting even and his anger to be unwarranted). Then B.B discloses to me that this story has gone all around and there has been talk of stopping the work at the house until the matter is seen at a PT meeting, as it is unacceptable that I have "allowed" a mason to beat P.G, an Aurovilian, and moreover let him continue work afterwards. I remain quiet and firm, and B.B alters his attitude and begins to tell me how he feels about solidarity and the need to support each other unconditionally, whatever may be our rights or wrongs, simply by virtue of the fact that we have come together for this work, each one's carrying one's share of the contradiction; that we must stand together every time... Both of them bring up Satprem, of course... I do not argue. We part with a smile.

... It all works itself in me as I slowly cycle back. First I begin to feel again that I'm all wrong and so is the building of this house and so is the relationship with C.E...

And my disagreeing with most of the "movements" taking place here in Auroville, doesn't all this say that I'm false?

I try to be very quiet so that the truth of each position finds its place in me without jarring and so that I may realise where I must change... It is urgent that I centre myself in a true vital, because I am too weak and I keep falling under the force of depression, presenting me with such extremes that the actual need is covered like under a cloak.

But the real and actual need is to change and to trust. The two go together. One can progress only when one is aware of the truth of one's being and able to rely straight upon it!

11-10-1978, Auroville:

We were resting a while after lunch and I was drifting off when I suddenly saw a face – my own face, eyes wide open, my own eyes, but it is all different, these are the face and the eyes of my own soul! It is me, exactly me, how I feel myself deep within, it is filled with my soul, the eyes are full of it, a wonderful expression, Mother, and it makes the eyes just a little darker, a deeper blue, more intense, the expression is magnificent: sweetness, a loving smile, a clear presence, a whole soul is there, Mother!

It came in a second, just in front of me, perhaps a little to the right, facing me, and to its own right there was something solid – like a wall – on which it was leaning a little, but I did not see the body. It was all so intense and sudden that it left me with a moan and a shiver...

It gave me a measure of the difference, and explained why for so many years I have been feeling as if empty, an echo, wind passing, always missing, missing, when it should feel, it ought to feel like one is filled to the rim, one is brimming...

Feeling like an empty shell, sometimes traversed, or transfixed by all kinds of currents and waves, but empty, empty... yet subtly, miraculously tied to this other "me", this full being...

It is not a vaporous, airy thing, it is entire; it is real and full of love and unique.

Am I bound to go on empty, parallel or suspended, a miserable caricature tossed about helplessly at the end of a thread?

... Later, as we lay a moment, after the work, on top of the Chamber roof against the concrete rib, I experienced once more the death of a soldier on a battle-field, with the blue sky above as a last smile, ready to travel away...

... This evening we found a strange atmosphere in the Kitchen... I ask Noh and R what is happening. They tell me that SSJ has got the carpenters to sign a paper, convincing them that they are the rightful builders of Matrimandir and should relate to him and the SAS and take charge of the construction... So here comes an ugly attempt, again, to rouse "locals" against "Aurovilians"... under a nice cover, with Your symbol on it!

16-10-1978, Auroville:

The carpenters have indeed signed SSJ's paper, and now Piero refuses to give them any instructions; there is no cement for the next concreting, there is no money in "Pour Tous", scrap steel is being sold just to be able to continue... SSJ has offered money for the cement on the condition that his people would be there to receive it... Those who have been working on the structure do not mind receiving the cement this or that way, but those who now work at the office will of course not accept anything from SSJ....

SSJ has also offered money to Narad for the Nursery work; Narad hesitated, went to see Nolini and seek his advice and Nolini seems to have said: "No! This is all false!"...

I felt that, in the event of a conflict occurring if and when the cement sent by SSJ would arrive, I would just watch: not an easy choice, but the only one at the moment for which I find some supporting joy.

... I fell asleep during my afternoon rest and dreamt that Yel and the others had discovered an underground passage just near to the house and had already begun excavating; curious, we followed in and found ourselves in a house that is the original source of the one we are building above ground... not as if we were building its replica: this is its richer source, more complex and wider; elements of it, though they are perceived here from a different, practical angle, are making up what we are building, but materials are identical and the feeling is the same; odd details which I have felt to include such as some "strange" openings or jutting stones to hold a flower vase, have their raison d'être there, correspond to the needs of an inner life...

19-10-1978, Auroville:

Every day I follow more or less the same routine: I get up at dawn, take a bath, write to You in my diary, trying also to note down all the dreams I can remember; then I go to the Kitchen, have an early breakfast, pluck flowers on my way back, carrying C.E's tiffin with me; I arrange the flowers, sweep the house, etc.

And I still do not understand why, inevitably, every day, the first hour feels light, joyous, ready, forward and clean, and as the second hour begins I get tired, tense and loaded – even though I am careful not to grind thoughts, not to open to "worries". This happens every day, a mystery.

22-10-1978, Auroville:

I realise that, through all my relationships in life, things point at a position I should be having: asking nothing from anyone, being a brother and friend to all, comprehensive, always available, calm, present, fully turned towards You yet emanating tenderness and nearness to the others. But part of me resents this as too great a solitude and still yearns to have at least one equal and mutual relationship...

After a long time of not attending the PT meetings, I felt like going today. It took place in the Matrimandir office....

The main topic is that, as "Pour Tous" has ceased to function, is not anymore borrowing any money, another way must be found; a phase is ending and another is opening, but which is it? The people of "Aspiration" have come with a proposal, based on an experiment they have been making for some months now, and on a principle You followed in the Ashram: it is an "envelope" system, for each need an envelope, with no transaction between different envelopes; money given for one cannot be used for another and an empty envelope means one must look deeper into the reality of the need itself and correct what must be corrected. Simple! It feels quite alright.

But all kinds of objections are raised by people from other communities. I feel in this much closer to "Aspiration", yet I remain aware of being in a different situation and it is almost as if I was nowhere really; I love Matrimandir but cannot adhere at the moment to what is happening there; I love "Aspiration" as one loves a being and yet I am not part of it and have no yearning to be... Just this: I am in Auroville, with this need and this love that is in me – but quite unrelated to the surface movements. And I also see that I am still somewhat under the shock of what has happened with Piero earlier this year...

23-10-1978, Auroville:

I had sent Nat looking urgently for a mason, so the remaining lime is used before it spoils, but it seems the only one available is at "Udavi" and I must get permission from Nata; this gives me the opportunity to meet him after long. I cycle over there and find Nata and Guy together; Nata is happy to see me as I am to see him and it's real and sweet and near and it does me good. And it is full of You for, without him, I would never have been able to see You again, Mother.

Incidentally he says that just a few days ago he had looked again at my translation of "Savitri" and found it very beautiful and felt that I should continue... Am I to take this as an encouragement from You?

He also relates to me how he had to separate from the SAS and join the Ashram with his unit and could not help Auroville because of the taxes; he happens also to mention, recalling some past incident, Piero's difficult character!

I return here with a happy heart!

Patricia tells me that Yan fell from a platform in the night during his watch at Matrimandir and was taken unconscious to Jipmer! Why? And why Yan, who came with such a simple good-will? Paying for what?

But this evening we got the news that he had recovered and was speaking and no serious damage seemed to be there...

R speaks to me again about this Ashram girl, called Mira, whom so many people appear to have taken very seriously; she is reported to claim that she is doing Your work, that You have given her a large responsibility in the transformation... R shows me a whole bunch of recordings that he has obtained... I don't know; there is an atmosphere around it and it is presented in ways that are not too clear...

31-10-1978, Auroville:

On the way to fetch the milk in the evening I wanted to stop at Matrimandir and go up to the Chamber to concentrate in its empty space for a moment; C.E decided to come with me... While he sits quietly leaning against one wall, I start pacing in the silence and the image comes over it, with a whole scene and its feelings, of a monk pacing back and forth in the courtyard of a monastery and this monk is dreaming of the day, with a deep yearning, when it will become possible to embrace ALL LIFE and turn it to THAT, for THAT to live and to manifest upon earth... And I open to the dynamism of that "dream", ideal, which has at last come true and after such labour with Auroville...

And yet here we are before the greatest possibility ever given humanity... and we sleep and we shrink from every difficulty and from every blow and narrow ourselves down... I feel that power, that force to conquer, to move forward, to face and to overcome, to grow, and in this power is real love... One must not shrink. But I do, too often!

1-11-1978, Auroville:

... I joined Patricia and R.O at the scaffolding under the structure; if I can work with them every morning, it will be alright. But I understand from F that things are still unclear, there is still competition and rivalry with the plans for the completed sphere... I want to be vigilant and not to commit myself too far lest the weight of the work falls on me again as before, I want to remain as a helper and wait till more of us participate – which isn't yet the case, as no one else really has joined...

2-11-1978, Auroville:

At 9.30 am I cycled over to "Certitude" for the PT meeting. It seems that, in those last weeks, everyone has tired of being exclusive; and the very people, especially in "Aspiration", who were rejecting whatever wouldn't fit into their "feeling" are now calling for free and open sharing and participation; about the "Coop" for instance, Diane speaks with simplicity of the real meaning of it and that people are actually cooperating in every field and activity and so there is no need to "fix" arbitrarily any group...

Afterwards I want to find Kannan; he was repairing the blue van and willing to drive it down if only we could get it started; we pushed; it started and we came here and I asked the older mason to come with us down to Pondy to look for cement. It was too late already for "Coco Gardens"; we went to a place the mason knew: all the stock had been sold overnight. We went to another place where I'd left my name, just in case: no more stock either. I insisted to get even black-market addresses and one of the men there reluctantly gave me the name of a shop; we drove there quickly, the address wasn't quite correct but, from that to another and another again, I found a dealer distributing the last of his stock, good cement at a regular price and I could buy 5 bags from him; we retrieved the van and rushed to the dealer's go-down and reached it just as the keeper was about to leave with the keys...! We met Eliane who had some glass to be picked up and Michael T. who needed some wood to be carried back and we all have a late meal together. Eliane gives me news that moves me: Kiran has asked Auroville to allow her to join; she is even ready to move to "Aspiration"! This is very courageous of her and most encouraging too, for it means that whatever the difficulties, even the most rigid situation or opposition, if there is sincerity in the being, You can still do Your work and with time inevitably things find their true course... This, along with the lessening of exclusivism I have witnessed this morning, gives me some positive energy...

3-11-1978, Auroville:

As R.O and I are waiting by the office for the others, F comes and hugs me and tells me that today we can start removing the scaffold from under the walls of the Chamber as Piero has, just now, finally got confirmation from the engineers. This was the very job I had started to do 6 months ago with "my" team, that had raised that heavy scene with Piero – which still lies in my stomach!.. And now we are doing it and nothing else has happened in between but for the concreting of 2 small beams in 2 of the 4 ribs... It is like a gentle smile given to me that I now return to the very same work, and we have a good team: R.O, Patricia, Al.B, C.E., red P, and Gl... That last is somehow the sweetest of all, that Gl has come back to work and we find ourselves together again, with all the love we haven't been able to express for almost a year now...

At noon I cycle fast down to Pondy to reach the Bank in time. Later, as I sit writing with some lunch, Eliane joins me, she tells me of the Agenda 2 that she had got while in France and of the name she received in a dream, "Aurelle", and of what Satprem told her about it...

I cycle back in the heaviest of the rain, the road is flooded with torrents of red water pouring down the canyons, both a grace and a devastation, so much land being washed away to the sea year after year and nothing done about it; even in Auroville so little as yet has been done and the road up to "Aspiration" is itself a gully, when all this water could be kept into the soil!

Back here I find C.E sponging a bucketful of water from the floor: the wind had blown so fiercely from all sides that the granite walls got drenched and begun to drip; it is quite funny, like a cavern by an underground river. This is our night watch at Matrimandir tonight and it pours and pours till dawn...

5-11-1978, Auroville:

It is obvious I am no longer in the same condition, I have changed, C.E has changed, things have changed and therefore reactions cannot be the same; and it is an interesting moment when, from a little truer position, a little more conscious, one looks at the recurrence of mechanisms that used to throw one into a depression, one sees them and understands better the process, with more quiet and more firmness; yet one senses, minutely, delicately that, were the mind dwelling on it a little too long, that whole atmosphere would re-form and re-enter one's consciousness and experience and one would be in it again!

6-11-1978, Auroville:

Whenever I read certain things about "the adverse forces" I ask You within, Mother: "You who have the Love, the true Love, You who are the One who loves, You must love them too and through Your Love open their unique knowledge, they will show it to You and the whole world will come together..."

But even now, were I to say this aloud, what names I would be given!

... At night we meet, for a long time, intensely, giving ourselves fully, quietly and deeply, with a silent mind, concentrating without fear... I had not experienced it so completely and it didn't leave me empty. In the past, there had often been like a taste of ashes and the sense of having been robbed. Not this time. Not at all.

At one point, very concretely, my physical mind got the suggestion that I was playing in the hands of an "adverse force"; but, centring, I realised that if this suggestion could come at all it was only because I had started to watch my movements with my mind, I was no more given, no more into them: it is this self-consciousness which creates the gap through which such suggestions can come in... It was interesting to see this and, because I kept confident and calm, it didn't last more than half a minute or so. I understand that the inner attitude is so essential... It isn't a question of setting a theory, it is my experience, on my own way to the Lord, in the Lord and it is only valid for me...

13-11-1978, Auroville:

I am wondering about the kind of pressure to progress one puts upon oneself just so as not to waste time BECAUSE life has an end and what is left undone in this life will have to be taken up in another, BECAUSE of death... Isn't that itself feeding the very roots of illusion? I feel the need to search within for the truer motivation for progress, for growth, REGARDLESS of death, a movement that rises and expands whatever the conditions are, in "life" as in "death", in a body as without a body... Then this truer need will be the guide and the light...

17-11-1978, Auroville:

The masons finish the last plastering of the floor late into the night – white and red polished plaster. I make them mix marble powder with the oxides.

I read Your Agenda, the 2nd, most of this evening.

I had not planned it this way, but the house is completed tonight, this very day 5 years exactly after You “left”; it happened of its own momentum, what with the various delays, the shortages... This house has a presence; it is a gift of Your Grace...

When I fell asleep, right away I found myself alone in a room; at once I am attacked, directly, a long thin snake striking at me, aiming straight for my sex and biting... As the venom enters through my loins I keep very quiet and, with all my trust, raise a cry to You: “Do what You want, this is happening...!” But, almost at the same time, my nerves weaken and my breath panics and it wakes me up with a start...

18-11-1978, Auroville:

I understand that in a sense I cannot be free; I have given myself to this context of togetherness, of growing together and, just as it is within me when there’s a difficulty, so it is in contacts and relationships. I can’t simply be “above” it; I must face it and go through it.

But this makes me realise that actually none of us can possibly have given themselves completely to Auroville, for that would surely be unbearable, none of us has the capacity to bear the entire range of the difficulty; parts and elements of our natures do aspire for Auroville, but we are not capable of facing it entirely...

And this also gives me some measure of the hell you have lived when You gave Yourself with Your full consciousness into Matter, You gave up Your freedom, You gave up everything...!

21-11-1978, Auroville:

R tells me that many people have stopped coming to the Kitchen since the “envelope” system has started, probably preferring to buy their own food. Later, at work, I ask F why he isn’t participating and he tells me plainly how he feels and about his attempts to find means of generating income, using the labour force we have here and forming business contracts with the US; that he has already got an order from Dilip K... I feel some interest as I have an affinity with handicrafts and do anyway some weaving at home almost every day and there would be room and time to do more now, at least afternoons...

At night, in one of my dreams, I enter a room which is full of animals of all species, from the insect to the largest mammal and they all have to come to me, each in their own way, and there are some “dangerous” ones like those strange small coloured scorpions, but I remain calm and even start laughing when one of them insists to stay at my neck... There is also a child there...

24-11-1978, Auroville:

... As we move the rest of the furniture from the small house where P.G is now staying, to the completed common room in the new house, carrying each item through the garden, we recall we did it the other way just a few months ago and with the image, the condition we were in at the time is evoked and I am struck for a moment with a kind of simultaneity – what we are now, growing more balanced; what we were, striving and yearning; what we shall be... It is all one and yet it evolves... there is an increase in accuracy, in confidence, in simplicity...

... Toine came to see the house for the first time; he was impressed and liked it a lot, I think. He said that the 3-phase connection for the pump may take a few more weeks but that he is following it up... We started the building of this house on Your last Birthday, 21st of February, which is also Toine's birthday; and we really ended it all today, setting it up with the furniture, and this is a Darshan day, 9 months later – like a human child!

At "Sharnga", fetching the milk this evening, Cl and B.B tell me, laughing – they were just returning from some meeting – that it had just been found that all those who had chosen to buy their own food rather than participate in the "envelope" system were actually getting their bread and tofu from the Bakery for which the "envelopes" had paid already!

We have now a fairly large scaffolding team and the work goes well and fast; but I find myself caught up again in some kind of leading role, despite my resisting it... So I decided that, if Patricia doesn't come tomorrow I just won't work, rather than going on telling others what to do, although I also understand that this is simply more practical for most of us...

The garden is radiant, a feast of leaf and grass, there is hardly any breeze, the air is soft and filled with birds' songs, the sounds of tools in the distance muffled by the trees, voices calling... Perhaps one would be crushed if one would truly realise the perfect miracle it is to be material, the Grace it is... This meeting point of all movements in the Lord... I know it is there pulsating in "me" since ever and that, little by little, the needed strength, balance, wideness and equanimity are being built...

We were both weaving, this afternoon, when the door opened and V came in. She first asked for a saw; then she asked C.E when he will show her his paintings; then leaves... I became tense; it roused almost an anger in me. I wish the whole thing was open and frank! Then C.E decided to go with his paintings to V and he too left...

5-12-1978, Auroville:

As I was about to leave for "Fraternity" this afternoon, I made a remark which I note here, as it is significant of my ways and of what has to change in me for good... I said to C.E that I'd try to be back in time to wash all the clothes, but I implied that it'd be nice that he does it, so I wouldn't have to hurry...! And in this second meaning of my words was a vibration close to ordering him, but in an indirect manner, putting him in the situation where he'd feel obliged to do it, lest he'd be guilty of not doing it! This is a trick quite often used by me, I am aware of it; I do it purposely. But as it is not a cold blunt thing and it is tempered by other feelings of sharing, I let it be and am rarely struck by the callousness of it. But today I had this aspiration to see precisely what makes C.E so resentful, in order to change it, and this attitude of mine appeared clearly into the light; as I cycled down, I felt that it couldn't be tolerated and also that, if I was faced with it in another person, I wouldn't accept it...

I went to Nicole to arrange about the cassettes of the Agenda – I have felt to offer to all those who wish to hear You to come twice or thrice a week to the house and listen together to the cassettes, and C.E was happy about it too...

Later, I went over to "Revelation" to see Ar about his equipment and a notice to be posted, and see P.V about an amplifier; then P.G and H arrived there and it became confused, as P.G said the house here is too private and people will not feel welcome; I answered that there is no reason at all to see it as a private domain and that it is more appropriate than the Kitchen; his attitude altered then and it became alright and we're now ready to announce it; it will take over a month to hear the 25 cassettes for the year 1961...

C.E tells me that he would like me to help him build his own unit here, because he cannot feel himself fully at home in our present arrangement where my own atmosphere dominates and he cannot behave as he would if he was on his own.

I try to say that it is a matter of trust: that both our atmospheres can adjust if we really choose so, that it is not a thing of rivalry... Even though this problem is, I think, unreal at a deeper level of perception, it does play such a role in our lives that it can't be ignored... I'd be ungrateful to now let myself go in depression; I love C.E too much to be egoistic: if such is the need he experiences, then it must be answered. But then he revealed to me that this very morning he had gone to Dan who had offered him to have his plane ticket to France, which must be used before the 12th ...!

... Something in me is withdrawing. I refuse the insult that pain does to the love I feel... I don't want this love to be crippled...

I know nothing. I had believed we were both up to breaking through an illusion, that we both knew within that our togetherness was meant for that, for this breaking through...

I feel deeply shaken and lonely.

But I want to stand up; I shall not crouch and crawl under suffering anymore. I shall keep my love alive in the deeps of my heart, where it is secure in Your Presence.

... We had the first session of the Agenda this evening, it lasted over an hour. Not everyone is able to follow Your voice, but most stayed till the end.

I feel like I have suddenly been pulled back to the old ground, to the satisfied realism of the human condition...

But... I want to be what the Lord wants me to be. I want to live what He gives me to live...

Reaching Matrimandir this morning, I found that some sort of meeting was going on in the office: M.KI, Cristl, Th, Toine, Ruud, Patricia, as well as a few others, were there... It is perhaps the first time that this particular group is expressing their views openly; it is a little weird, but I feel to sit and listen; it appears that they are determined to receive funds from the SAS again and to take their own decisions...!

What to do but laugh!

It rains heavily for a while and then the scaffold is too wet and slippery, we can't work on it and there is a feeling of anticipation, or expectation of something to happen in these next few days... I walk part of the way back with P.G and, for once, rather than his usual monologues, we have some more natural and quieter talk.

... But when I reach back here, I also step back into the void of the relationship with C.E as it now stands... I do not know how it is going to evolve: I'm fully aware of my impuissance.

... In the afternoon, between silent stretches when we are both weaving, C.E. smiles like a kid who has returned after a big revolt: a bit sheepish, tender... He wants then to show me where he'd like to build his own unit: it is right next to the spot I had chosen for C...!

... V comes in, while C.E is giving his French class, with a painting she has made just for us; it represents a leaf, made of three spheres, falling gently to the earth yet still invisibly held to its origin...

What I still miss and need is this capacity of joy, this inner unshakeable trust. Instead I still go into self-destructive questioning of the very foundation of my being and reality and it only makes me very vulnerable...

I cycle down to "Aspiration" to find Nicole, change the Agenda cassettes and see with her how to send FJ's book (my father's latest book) along with a letter from me to Satprem; I explain to her my "idea" about FJ meeting Satprem... (FJ and Satprem are of the same age, they both had a terrible experience when they were 20, they are both "progressive" seekers, each in their own way, and lovers of this world, each wanting to wrestle meaning from it, although in very different terms...)

Nicole then talks to me of the changes in her, particularly since she came back from a stay with Satprem; that she now finds herself free from the "clan" and looking at things from another perspective...

18-12-1978, Auroville:

I've got negativity again...! How can we build Matrimandir at a rhythm of mere survival? And what the hell are all those nice speeches for?! Where is the commitment, where is the sincerity, nay, the honesty of it all?! A sort of anger rises at the thought of those wonderful speakers, like Savitra and others, who gargle themselves with their words, criticise everyone else, understand everything, and never apply it in action!!!

19-12-1978, Auroville:

At tea-break I say to F that really I don't care any more where the money comes from, I just see that the "community" means nothing at all for now and I don't want that they make of Matrimandir another unfinished structure going to the weeds... That if it stays too long exposed to the weather, much of the work will get spoilt, the steel attachments and parts of the concrete will be damaged, and I don't want this to happen...

... I see that C.E is in the garden preparing to join some hose-pipes to water the young trees and I react - what with the rain till yesterday it should be obvious to him that no trees will need watering for some time... But then I must watch my temper more than his actions, for there is again that matter of my "controlling ego" that I'm still gratified with...!

... After seeing the work in the canyon, we sit inside. I'm overwhelmed, grateful with the sweet intense beauty and intimate presence in the house, the flowers in their vases, the fire, the oil lamps, the play of light on the stones, the life of the wood...

... Nat comes up to sit with me quietly and asks whether I think it will be possible for him and his family to move here in a few months' time...; this has matured in him for a while; he suggests that I fix the open garden house for them...

... When we go to the Kitchen in the evening after the audition of the Agenda, we find many people gathered there attending some kind of a healing session conducted by an American visitor: J.G is lying on a table for the "demonstration"... Even before reaching the door I feel disgust; there is something repulsive in the atmosphere, and in this "tamasic" attitude that welcomes anything "interesting" without any deeper discrimination or discernment... The healer guy is not himself to blame, yet I feel like punching him! This wide, blank "opening" in us here is... discouraging!

22-12-1978, Auroville:

After most of the day in Pondy – a rodeo to get my driving-license, doing purchases with C.E, loading the cart, arguing and twice getting reconciled and laughing -, I returned the bike to "Abri". Walking back home, I met Patricia and F.Gr on the way; F.Gr tells me that, now that he has completed his model of the Matrimandir area with its gardens, Piero is raising all kinds of objections and doubts and uncertainties...; I can only advise him to concentrate and do it for its own sake and not to worry about anyone's fears...

25-12-1978, Auroville:

For the first time in my life I can live this "desire" without shame and it is not humiliating any more – it is open, straight and quiet and leaves no stains; both of us learn to live everything in the light, to free ourselves from subconscious pressures that pervert the perception of the whole and of That, the Real... I do not know how it will evolve or change; how could I know?!

I cycled down to "Aspiration" again and found Nicole in her house; we talked quietly; she tells me that she now realises that this "Aspiration movement" with her presence in it to guarantee Satprem's seal was partial, limited, narrow and actually detrimental... To hear that from her is quite a relief. We have all suffered from this. But I was myself so entangled in my own lack of trust in my own perceptions that I could never respond to it with enough confidence...

30-12-1978, Auroville:

You have said that sleep, in the life of the human body, is meant for everyone to go up to Sat-Chit-Ananda for a moment and draw there the energy one needs... All my life this need has been conscious, to be able to reach that and be filled again at the One Source and return to the daily life with it, look at things in the real way, see in them their real purpose and meaning and be ready... Like someone who has subsisted for ages on too poor a substance, to be fed again by the Real...!

Will You help me to go there consciously? The only support I am aware of drawing is either through psychic contact in the waking state or through some more luminous flow of vital energy, but it is never as pure, as substantial...!

... These days the situation with some of the villagers and land-owners has worried me and made me think more deeply and I have prepared a short text, like a statement:

“Who abandoned the land, left it to death, depletion and ruin? And who is slowly, steadily bringing it back to life and plenty? We are working to make this land beautiful because She wants to use it for Her work. Her work of transformation of the human consciousness. We came here because of Her, for Her. We would go anywhere on earth because of Her, for Her, and anywhere else in this life or another. She has chosen this place, by the choice of the Lord. And so we came and we remain here and work. We are worth nothing, we pretend nothing. We are only Her children. Right now She hides Herself; yet She guides us, She is with us. And this land will grow beautiful and no one will prevent it from being what it is meant to be, as long as it is the Lord’s Will. We are willing to find a simple and harmonious solution with all of you, but you must also have good-will. And you cannot claim a land which you had abandoned...”

I see that all the time one is being robbed; there is like a reminder coming every few minutes, to show that the need to concentrate is constantly being stolen or diverted or mired by the grinding of the physical mind, around nothing in particular, around anything, just so as to create this false tension and reduce time to dust...

On the 29th Satprem answered this, which I received today:

« Divakar, j’ai lu ta longue lettre. Je comprend bien ton idée et j’apprécie la démarche intérieure de ton père, bien que je sois tout à fait ignorant de ses oeuvres et de son action – depuis 1943 j’ai vécu quelques mois en France... En outre, je ne lis plus du tout depuis qu’un jour, il y a longtemps, j’ai décidé que je voulais toucher un autre moyen de connaître et de communiquer. Je lis seulement un journal tous les jours pour me tenir au courant des faits extérieurs, et les articles d’ordre « scientifiques » qui me sont signalés). Le courrier est si volumineux qu’il m’est difficile de trouver le temps de faire mon vrai travail. Je ne vois guère la possibilité de rencontrer ton père dans un avenir prochain, tout au moins. Je dois m’occuper non seulement des volumes français de l’Agenda, mais de l’anglais et de pas mal d’autres choses. En fait, je crois que ton père pourrait très utilement « dialoguer » avec Auroville, sans que je m’en mêle. Il ne manque pas de dialogues là-bas. Il y a des périodes d’expansion et des périodes de concentration et de préparation. J’ai dialogué autant que j’ai pu l’année dernière en France, avec qui voulait ? Maintenant, il faut FAIRE. C’est dans le silence qu’on fait. Tu seras déçu, mais je crois que tu me comprendras. S’il y a une vraie nécessité ou aspiration chez ton père, je suis sûr que les circonstances s’arrangeront en temps voulu pour que nous nous rencontrions. Bon travail. Dans la simplicité du cœur. Early morning, the air is bright, cold and sharp. As I turn on the light, the plug blows off! As I go out, I find the she-dog crouched in the seedlings! From afar, I see men working by Tess's house; then I see Tess in the garden and ask him what's happening: he simply is having those men remove one of the bunds that protect the field and keep the rain-water from running off... I explain to him the purpose and function of these bunds and tell him there is always a way to harmonise one's needs to what is already existing instead of taking away some good work... When I go later to see Dennis and ask him to send all the empty cement sacks, I see that he has planted in one section of the field, just one meter apart, saplings of huge forest trees... I become dizzy... And this went on the whole day!

I'm dealing again with that rotten physical mind that keeps drawing idiotic images, brings forward false perceptions, gnaws and picks up the worst of every movement, this wretch, this poor automaton of material remnants of energy...

I am being ridiculous as a rooster in this vastness' eye!

Mère, ce qui produit la déformation, ce qui pervertit et fausse la réception de la vibration, c'est le sens de la faute, c'est la culpabilité. Parce que chacun de nous, automatiquement, se sent identifié à ce qui refuse la Lumière ou la Vérité. Alors cette culpabilité nous fait tout recevoir – tout ce qui vient d'en haut – comme potentiellement accusateur, condamateur, justicier. Mais, à la base de ça, c'est une incompréhension fondamentale de la Réalité.

A warp that has been fed and sustained by thousands of years of human thought and "culture". A complete miscomprehension, misperception of the Real!

As long as something in my being holds the belief that the Supreme might be willing to punish me so that I learn and grow, the weaknesses in the body itself will not heal.

And it is not enough to go on repeating that the Divine is Beauty, is Harmony, is Truth, is Love, because as long as we are made of this stuff, these attributes call their opposites...

One must succeed in PERCEIVING the Divine while having the will and the capacity to change and to grow...

Whenever I hear You speak about the links or bridges between the different planes, the individualisation of consciousness all the way through... I feel discouraged! I sense myself so tremendously far from any possibility of becoming conscious! Yet when You also say that Sri Aurobindo experienced everything through consciousness alone... I believe I know what it means and it gives me confidence...!

... This implacable movement of time, day after night, night after day, like a huge horse dragging us behind, with only one choice: to ride it or to be stunned and submit blindly...

AT 8.30 am I reached Matrimandir and had to wait, no one was there yet.

Then Th showed up but he didn't want to do the platform, so we started on the new scaffolding. Later Andy and red P came, then a few more, seemingly as slowly as they could, almost reluctantly... P.G came only at 9.30 am; everyone was as heavy as could be, asking time and again for the same explanations, waiting to be pressed, pushed or pulled, and so on... I got rather bad-tempered, feeling quite ridiculous too, and lonely, in an absurd situation...

I don't understand whether this is all the Lord's Will and I must grow more plastic so as to adapt to this constant variation, or else it is all nonsense and it is pointless to believe that Matrimandir will ever be built by us... I don't know.

I feel my own limitations concretely, but I also feel that most of us here seem to have lost the aspiration, and it is only that aspiration that could enable us to build it together, through all our differences, contradictions and distances... with a smile! Now it is gone. Will it ever return, developed and strengthened, in the same people? I yearn for the possibility to do it with people who are willing, but it seems to be impossible – those who at present would be willing are the ones who... who don't understand, Mother, they only want to use You...!

I'm sorry. I know this is all the mind still, but, Mother, I love Matrimandir, I want it to be manifest, with all that Beauty and Grace around it, that atmosphere of Truth which is ready, just behind the veil.

But if I have faith in that world, in that atmosphere and in the Lord's Will and Power, shouldn't I trust and give up my demands and judgements and prepare myself for it as best I can?

... Listening to Your music I saw a greenish golden shape, like a living transparent oval containing, or enclosing, a person's face, similar to Yours when You wore the veil...

C.E shows me that the chrysalis I'd found on a leaf in the garden has opened up and a large black yellow-spotted butterfly has come out of it and is hanging immobile at the edge of the leaf, waiting for its organism to be ready for the first flight... It is impressive, this silent act, this waiting stillness in the metamorphosis from one state to another. It reminds me sharply of the wish You had expressed to go into a trance and wait for the other body to emerge, immobile and withdrawn for however long it might have taken; but they didn't let You do it... Or else it is the Lord who saw a better way...!?

4-1-1979, Auroville:

I cycled over to "Tapoloka" for the PT meeting; Myrtle came to me to apologise for not having spoken to me the last time... Cl.B sits with me... The last and main topic is the matter of the Coop accepting Shradhavan as one of its members, all the arguments for and against – the intensity of the choice to be made between the attitude of rejecting, reacting and identifying individuals with forces, with danger, with poison and contradiction, and the other way, to trust the growth, to cling to That, to have faith in the material Divine, to give up fears and doubts...

It is one of those few meetings that give their value to all the others, where each of us is asked to be at the best and the highest of oneself. There is wavering and attachment to the old way of condemn, and all these intricacies of ideals and arguments... And there is something else, the way to a real cohesion, strength and realisation... For once I speak up several times, as briefly and truthfully as I can...

It is one of those instances when one can measure one's individual progress and acquired balance and clarity of perception, as well as the collective progress, the light we are able to hold as a group, the degree of our opening.

At one point, after a heavy thrust of negative questioning, it looks like this will just be one more attempt that fails; but somehow it straightens up again, alive, with perhaps a little deeper and firmer determination to follow the thread till we outgrow this climate of distrust and ambiguity...

Last night my first dream was so difficult, that I woke up immediately after. There is a room representing the earth and someone in it is having an experience; this room is just like our little room upstairs; this person I am, but it is also a woman; she enters the experience about the earth: how, in what state it was created and for what... And I become anxious because someone is approaching from the outside and trying to see inside. I hide myself, holding the curtain, and going on living the experience, trusting in my integrity and the protection it gives me, until that person outside really tries to enter and starts pushing the curtain. It is an awful sensation, of such an extreme intrusion... I shout. And the scene tips over; there is only a man in an indifferent space... As I now write it down, I am aware of missing the sense of it...

... I can't overcome this... As if someone or something had full right and power to ruin and demolish my dream of beauty... What is it?

I want to be among people who are rich in their bodies, whose substance is coherent, inhabited, pulsating, warm and strong, whose eyes and smile say their soul's love and nearness... O Mother, how crippled is the human fact...!

I love Matter and I am disgusted by the influences that play on it and make it so often and so much a hell.

I need to FEEL that all this substance is Yours, belongs to the Lord, so that no distance is left and no play may interfere, deform, debase, pervert...

... I abandoned myself and slowly turned to him and we met in full light, a transparent, confident sharing and release...

I don't quite know what people mean by "self-control", but to me it seems that it must mean to be centred, ready and awake and to live, instead of being lived...!

C.E is lying by the fire sweetly like a child; I go beside him; it feels like we are on a boat, letting it be carried by the current and basking in the sun, a light breeze caressing us after so many struggles and heavy storms and holding on to one direction...

... My heart vibrates with gratitude for the presence of the Force, it comes intensely when we reach here and see the house, so preciously set in the trees, glowing, simple and yet secret, a living being; and each tree, each plant seems to answer to and radiate the Presence... what a gift of Grace to be here...!

Everything in the world of human mind and life is motivated; the determinism of mind is so crude and gross compared to the movement of consciousness, the intensity of conscious existence in which immediacy and eternity are one...

... I don't want to be wasted away and – at a precarious end – weep over stolen time and substance...!

... From this to That how many worlds, universes, aeons, how many bodies...? But all will gather in an instant of consciousness when it is done...

13-1-1979, Auroville:

The same perpetual question – anguish or amazement – at the process of living : of getting life-vibrations, movements and impulses to carry one onward and open and widen and meet and touch and grow, and yet, behind, this hesitation, this persisting insatisfaction, deep like a void. Why this compulsion? Is this really the whole of it? To live and experience and to constantly labour in order to be moved by energies and to learn out the movements? Is there not another way?

Can't one be filled directly, be it in stillness or in action, by something else more real, more conscious, something one would unite to for ever, something that will not let one down?

There are so many ways to perceive the question, so many ways to need and to aspire...

To jump into the flow of life, uniting with the urge to create and the joy of manifestation, yes... but when the impulse retires for one reason or another, one is left hanging in a meaningless void, looking to death to end it...

As for the advice to withdraw from the world?! No!

The only answer is: That. The material Supreme. That. That. That.

This extraordinary situation we are in upon earth at present, all those different developments, civilisations, behaviours and beliefs, all those ways to touch Matter and – the fact: being alive in a body with a soul. And what?

When one has finished with one society or another, has done with human experience in so many lives, with ideals and religions, with greeds and ambitions, the mind's passions and interests and the life's thirsts; when one is naked and there remains only the question: how to BE?

How does one pass from this to That?

At dinner I understood from the discussion between P.G, G land Piero that, at today' Coop meeting, Shradhavan had been made to leave; P.G is vehement in his protest, and I agree with what he says, all the more when I see both Piero's and Gl's hardened faces... Later, as John H is there cleaning up, I ask him to tell us how it went; he says it was M.D, Gl and Yus who forced her out; that it had been exhausting...

I feel that they have lost a great opportunity, and "they" includes Shradhavan as well, because she could have helped, she only had to stop taking money from SSJ and she could have held on her inner position and represented it... And now it is spoilt.

For once I had felt represented by this assembly of 12 people – not by anyone of them, but by the fact of these 12 approaches and viewpoints working together; we were touching something more real which cannot yet be found anywhere else on this earth. And we've missed it, we're back to the level of parties, of for and against, it is again the same old misery...

But the chance is bound to return because this IS the way and we've got to understand it, to realise it in our very substance; and that will be the basis for future growth.

17-1-1979, Auroville:

I read in the papers today that the Shah of Iran has relinquished his power and left with Farah to the States. This is the end of the last dynasty. It evoked a strange state, melancholy and homage for all this relative grandeur in this aspect of humanity, this greatness our earth has borne on her breast for ages, that is now only losing its hold and its function as the future enters our present and breaks down the human values.

I cannot simply, blindly attune to an easy sense of triumph – triumph of what? – to see this power yielding at last, defeated... Rather, it is like something that has been real enough merging into a greater or wider real. It is surely not today' ignorance replacing that ignorance from the past that can or will bring comfort to anyone...! But never shall we again witness such a transition, just as the disappearance of "prehistoric" creatures was witnessed only once. I wish we would live through all this with love rather than with this vengeful and fearful fanaticism...

At night-watch, Al.B tells us that Shradhavan has returned to today' Coop meeting saying that she now wants to remain as "so many people have told her she shouldn't have left"... This doesn't feel very genuine: peer pressure, political pressure, group pressure, there is somehow something a bit disgusting about all these movements...

.... Later, as I feel talkative, I tell C.E about the book, like a long poetic prose, which I had written when I was about 17, telling the story of two friends, whom I had named Cleïm and Sémon, and of their bond and experience; and that it had been actually our story... (I have destroyed most of these early writings during my last "exile").

Trouver le Seigneur dans ce qui Lui résiste comme dans ce qui Lui est identifié, qu'il n'y ait enfin plus que le Seigneur et la joie d'exister...

... When we return up into the Chamber after the tea-break, we find the other team – Th, D.S, J and others – already at work dismantling the last level of the scaffold and I see at once that the way they go about it is unsafe. I try, with Gl's help, to suggest a better way, but I do not have enough confidence and I don't insist.

I sit by the central opening and watch quietly with Gl. A while later John H comes to me and asks whether I would start the larger section and do it the way I feel it should be done. I accept and Sj, Arjun and others join; it goes smoothly and it is calm on our side and we are nearly finished, when the other team starts again at one end taking down the main lines – and the entire scaffold starts leaning... I ask them to either wait or to secure the junction points with diagonals... We continue a while longer.

Just as we are putting the pipes away, Gl calls; I look up: the whole part of the scaffold that is still upright, more than half of the full circle of the Chamber, has begun to fall...! I step back; some of us are still under; I focus my gaze on Arjun and Sj with a prayer... It all falls in one piece to the right, there is a great noise, one great sound fills up the Chamber and everyone stands up, amazed: no one is hurt, no pipe is bent, nothing! The act of protection is so clear, so vivid and so absolutely harmonious... We're all overwhelmed and uplifted, it is a very pure moment; we're like children, we laugh, grateful, feeling at once comforted and silly and stunned...

Then we put everything away neatly and we all just sit there, each one where they are, and become silent... It is very strong and very sweet in the Chamber, suddenly emptied by such an act – and in us the need, the need of You, the need of Consciousness...

C.E's birthday... I managed to leave without telling him, borrowed M.T's bike and drove to Pondy. At the Samadhi I prayed for the progress of his soul and that I shouldn't be an obstacle to it...! Then I went into the town to find gifts for him. I like making gifts; if I could I would be making gifts to everyone all the time... I found a small symbol and a small photograph of You, an agate ring, a wooden holder for his biddies which he is supposed to use moderately, some perfume from the bazaar and three garlands...

Today the Madras engineers have come and we are to run the test for the ramps. It takes us the whole day. There are over 50 of us, besides the many sand bags; we have to gradually load each hanging spiral ramp in turn to test its strength and flexibility. The test is positive.

There has been havoc in Pondy for the past two days, with complete curfew... Cl.B and Fr.V come by with Kripa and Vrata and Ritam is also there, I make everyone a drink and they tell me that even the Ashram gardens have been wildly ransacked as well as some of its departments and factories...

This morning Rajan and Poddar came to the office to inform that houses had been burnt down at "Far beach" and that there was a threat of an attempt to come and "burn Matrimandir"... It brings a very unpleasant vibration of fear in the atmosphere here...

This evening also Mangini came to warn me that some people in Alankuppam were now intent on causing some harm here...

31-1-1979, Auroville:

It is very quiet this afternoon, yet the pressure is very strong and constant and I experience more and more the difficulty in opening my physical consciousness... It is hard to describe. It is not that anything in particular distracts or disturbs or contradicts the need and aspiration; it is rather like a persisting veil, or contraction: every few minutes, part of the physical mind remembers: "oh, I must concentrate, to open, to receive, I have to concentrate...", and the mechanics go on and another few minutes pass and again: "oh, I have to concentrate, I have to do it now, it is NOW!"... And so on and on... And yet all the time the pressure is there, absolutely stable, steady... And the two remain. And nothing ever seems to be done.

When I am doing some work, am in some way active, I wonder if that activity is not making it tighter and I then yearn for long moments of immobile concentration, but whenever I sit quiet and undisturbed, then I am faced with the poverty, the nullity of the stuff I'm conscious of... no light, an empty greyness, not even a single interesting thought comes to the brain, nothing, worse than nothing... But if I look at the house, gaze at the trees, the birds, the light, then it rises and rises like an almost painful ecstasy, a grateful, intense perception of beauty... There is this yearning to be taken in by the flow of the Force, into its every being and its every movement and its every cell, this entire fact of the universe... This need is concrete; the words come afterwards, when I want like now to write...

I have somehow the sense of an attitude – not a mental attitude but almost a physical one – that would be less of an obstacle or a vain effort; it is a question of simplicity really, and it has to do with the unity of the being, of all its parts through the one Need, and with tranquillity and with trust...

Riding my cycle towards "Tapoloka" this morning, I see the position of science in human consciousness at its present stage of evolution, and how it could truly help, if the being was united, to simplify life, to allow and support the growth of true consciousness here upon earth and ease the new birth... If only things were in their place... It absorbs me and could go on for a long time, even formulate itself in such a way as could be communicated to scientists, technologists, researchers... And how You want to rescue science from the death it is calling and what a great and unique opportunity is given to men and earth at present...

... Tous ces mots sont si maladroits, si impropres. J'éprouve, à certains moments de façon si aiguë, comme un cri : c'est maintenant que l'on peut Te rejoindre, c'est maintenant, dans l'instant et à chaque instant, que le voile peut se déchirer et que l'on peut réaliser Ta Présence, la Présence de Cela, que tout est possible. Non plus ce faux mouvement toujours par devant, toujours projetant la même condition inchangée dans un futur déjà hypothéqué, niant le vrai possible du présent et laissant le passé irrésolu ; mais une marche consciente, vers rien en particulier, seulement parce que la Force marche, le Seigneur marche et, en marchant, Se réalise et Se découvre Soi-même...

Constamment la conscience physique tend à situer ce qui lui manque dans l'après, dans le mouvement suivant – que ce soit le repos ou la joie ou la nourriture ou tel ou tel changement. Et de cette manière le présent est volé de sa substance et la Force et la Présence restent comme parallèles à la vie physique.

Il faut alors des chocs, des bouleversements pour secouer cet hypnotisme et imprimer dans la matière une approximation un peu plus précise du mouvement juste...

Mais ce n'est pas facile. Même si, dans certains moments plus favorables, on peut soi-même, seul, réaliser cela, pourtant tous les autres, ou presque, toute la mécanique, continuent ; on est impuissant à communiquer ce que l'on a touché et on est contraint d'accepter la perpétuation de ce même hypnotisme collectif et cela produit une grande tension...

Douce Mère, n'est-ce pas ainsi ? Ne T'ont-ils pas tous jusqu'au dernier instant de Ta présence corporelle tangible obligée, forcée d'accepter cette mécanique ?

... Cela semble urgent et cependant comment cela peut-il se faire en si peu de temps ? On n'est plus à l'époque où l'on pouvait s'embarquer dans le Yoga comme dans une aventure de plusieurs vies ; c'est d'autre chose qu'il s'agit maintenant.

Today G.M has come back to work, apparently resolved to come every morning again, and Jacqueline too has joined. Perhaps, little by little, the construction of Matrimandir takes shape in our substance and, in a slow but actual process, others will join and it will become – like a real inevitability – what You have meant it to be. It is amazing what we all have to go through before these simple things become possible; one could have grown centuries old in those few years of intense resistance, drawbacks and contradiction and yet here we are, smiling and happy, doing it! But D.M, she, Mother, is still paralysed, her body is still crippled...!

12-2-1979, Auroville:

It took me a while this morning to focus correctly onto the task of marking, but it came out alright. As I go down I see, climbing down the South ladder Sushilla's sister and Auroculture and a third woman unknown to me – SAS people – and, stupidly, I remark to GI about it; she at once wants to go and tell them to leave, but I see then that Th is talking to them and I do not want to aggravate the sense of division; but GI just goes ahead; I follow behind... It all becomes confused and ridiculous, others join in and everyone seems to have become silly and... oh! I don't want to become a fanatic! I try to guard Th and take his hand, he is trembling. All this makes me so uneasy, I leave...

Later I ask C.E to hand over to Th a short message, asking him to come and talk; but, towards the evening, I feel not to wait for him to come but rather to go to his house at "Certitude".

It is uncomfortable at first; I am not sure what to say, actually, except that I do feel for him and that it is not a matter of division but one of clarity and commitment, simple and direct. He speaks then, of how limited we are and how strange it is to observe, to listen and to find that, with practically no exception, what we expect or demand from others are the very things we are too weak to do ourselves... I don't know... For several years now I have been associated with attitudes that do not fit inwardly and yet I have been led to them by a yearning which is deep and true: how to say any of that?

I have not liked myself this morning; I judge myself: it was a weakness on my part to tell GI, it was cowardly to hurt Th thus, and to stand alone then, incapable of expressing myself honestly...

Shradhavan joined us in Th's room; she was moved and intense; she insisted I must stay for dinner, but C.E was waiting for me, and I felt myself still unclear... I'd better stand on my own, with my own faith, and grow up!

14-2-1979, Auroville:

Mother, Lord, may I grow and learn without wasting, without damaging anything on this earth!

This is the most horrible feeling in all the worlds when one is faced with the consequences of one's shortcomings in the very body of the earth, when one can but see, with the most acute of all pains, the suffering inflicted to the body of the earth...

Let the Lord rise in us and give us the force not to destroy, not to spoil, not to bring suffering and ugliness into His body...!

16-2-1979, Auroville:

I can see how deeply this sense of guilt is still anchored in the substance.

I can see how much clarity and strength are needed to dissolve it for good...

When I find myself in an attitude I dislike, whenever I am discontent with my actions, whenever I see movements that have to change, instead of offering them up with trust – the trust that it can and WILL change and that the Help is there -, instead of that, there is fear and worry and the expectation that the consequences will bounce back: the sense of punishment!

... When Sri Aurobindo says that, even long after the central choice is taken, one still has to experience the consequences of harbouring desire in any of its forms, in being taken out of the conscious peace and quiet and wideness one has reached and received: that is the right and just learning...! But I cannot bear that it may hurt the body!

I can't bear that my own weakness in harbouring fear may bring about a betrayal, a disruption of the body's harmony... My body wants to be strong and full and solid and plastic, it wants to express beauty, grace and harmony, it knows these to be there, it has devotion and gratitude for these things...

... Je veux devenir ENTIER, Douce Mère, pour m'offrir entièrement à Toi.

Je ne veux pas T'offrir un être divisé, infirme, dont une part se détourne des autres, amputé, s'accrochant à Toi et incapable d'agir entièrement... J'ai vu trop d'exemples de ça et, même si on ne le veut pas, on Te trahit... A part Satprem peut-être - ? - je n'ai jamais encore vu un être entier à Ton service... : ce n'est pas la peine !

Mon âme ne demande pas à être sauvée ! Sauvée de quoi ?

Mais j'aspire à Te faire cette offrande, d'un être entier, simple, réel... !

This morning I don't feel like working. Perhaps it is because many of us have to submit to this Government Census and Patricia is to stay in the office to prepare for it. But I am also disturbed, I feel that things at and around Matrimandir aren't looked after properly, I feel bad to be there only half-days, to have withdrawn from any responsibilities, I feel bad that so few of us care and give... Yet I do not want either to resume the life I had, working there full-time and suffering from the lack of commitment, regularity and discipline, unable to rely on anyone and becoming negative... And I am disturbed by the intrusion of the Government's ways of dealing; with our lack of consecration; with my own impuissance to manifest at all what I feel to be true and worthwhile...

23-2-1979, Auroville:

I'm off-centred, on an unreal speed; and inside me I'm just struggling for breath and endurance, as one who is carried by too strong a current, just relying on the trust that one will somehow be taken back to the shore...

The time we spend, C.E and I, in the goldsmith's house, is pleasant, because of the simplicity of its atmosphere and the detached attitude of this old man who has seen so much, worked so much and yet has never asked anything for himself, for his own comfort; it teaches something and gives the measure of the difficulty of our path where we have to tend things, be the caretakers of material wealth, to help create an integral environment for the integral life and yet never lose the concrete awareness that nothing of it is "ours"...

This morning at work I am quite distracted. I miss Patricia, who has gone to Delhi with Arjun to meet some Government officials; I cannot find the plans, others are very late; I feel as if something heavy has happened.

Then F.S and John H arrive and relate that yesterday a special meeting was called, on invitation, with Navajata and other members of the SAS, along with Talwar, at which Joss, Th, Shradhavan, Cristl, Ruud, F.S were present; that it became clear to everyone, including Talwar, that Navajata had no intention of changing his ways... They also tell us that a rich man from the North is calling a meeting today as he wishes to donate funds for Matrimandir but asks for the guarantee that it will reach Matrimandir and not go into anyone's pockets... And to top it all there is this morning the formal visit of Roger A accompanied by Ramanathan...

... At dinner John H tells us of another meeting that took place this afternoon with Navajata, Joss, the "Fidelity" group, Th, etc, at the close of which they all asked to be allowed to participate in Auroville's birthday celebrations on the 28th...

... Cyril came home for the night – he'd come earlier, from the Tibetan centre where he now mostly stays, to read M.S's letter addressed to both of us.

With P.G and C.E's help I prepare a statement for tomorrow...

26-2-1979, Auroville:

As we come down from the work at noon, Piero arrives with the news that SSJ has apparently stepped back and come around to accepting our proposal that monies donated to Matrimandir be handed directly to the team working on-site against some Utilisation Certificate checked by the Chartered Accountant, which could free us from the clutch of the SAS and allow for the work to pick up momentum...

3-3-1979, Auroville:

The atmosphere at work is weird. I become alert and attentive: there is whispering and hiding. Bit by bit I am able to piece it together and to get red P to say openly what has been going on and we finally learn that a meeting has been called for this afternoon at 5 at the Nursery, at first secretly, then more loosely, of all those of "good-will" who feel frustrated with the situation... I caught D.S trying to lure Narayana in without my knowing...! Both P.G and I feel that we should attend as well!

Within me I pray "Let the true Force sort out what is real and what is not...!"

But I am also aware of an impossibility: the Truth cannot reign, the Reality cannot be manifested, at this point, simply because... the sorting out would tear each of us apart...!

... This afternoon, as I'm writing to You, concentrating a little, Th comes: he has come to tell me all about this gathering, which he himself has organised and called for – his wording is "to all those who believe in an unconditional collaboration".

Even though I am glad that he has come and I feel that I shall indeed attend, I also see that he somehow keeps avoiding the issue and ignoring his own contradiction...

... I walk down there quietly; SSJ is there, openly kind to me, there are about 30 people, all those who have despised every collective effort and process, from the perspective of their "spiritual aspiration"... Only R is with me; we keep silent; P.G comes only briefly. Th plays a tape of Sunil's music for Your message "Blessed are those who take a leap towards the future".

I remain attentive not to get caught and return with flowers I pick on the way, feeling like laughter at this whole entire story... And then what comes up in me is an even stronger refusal of this twisted and warped "collaboration": something HAS to go from us, a confusion, a mixture that has to drop!

R, who stayed on after I'd left, tells me later that several people had remained behind to talk further and that Joss had begun to tell SSJ that the time had come for them "to organise" themselves...!

5-3-1979, Auroville:

At work Th comes to me and asks if he can join me; I welcome him. The others seem to accept it gently, but for G.M who reacts heavily and asks me to send Th away; I refuse. Then G.M calms down and we go on working all morning.

C.E and I left early to Pondy, had our lunch there at E.B's..

Returning home in the evening, P.G comes and tells me pell-mell all that has happened after I'd left...: that Piero had come with a draft of a proposal he'd prepared on his own, to the SAS, stating that he and Yus would replace Talwar and Dayabhai as the SAS agents for the construction of Matrimandir so as to unblock the funds and move ahead with the work; but Yus withdrew and sent him to talk to the others and Al.B responded bluntly and Piero got furious and jumped on him and they both got into a physical fight till G.M, P.G and Yus were able to separate them...! Somehow this incident seems to have released in the open the sort of mad ambition that is still active in Piero..

P.G then tells me that he and G.M have a strong feeling to go out and fund-raise directly for Matrimandir. So I explain to him my old "idea": to have a number of regular donors contributing monthly, while large one-time expenses, such as for the Crystal, would be funded by single donations from wealthier individuals... But to go out and ask for money is still, with our present attitude and condition, either a begging act or a terribly presumptuous and pretentious demand made on people; we're not yet able to do it really for You, in the true spirit; we're still, I feel, too noisy!

... For the second time I was told today that F.S and Lila are planning to leave Auroville... It upsets me...

7-3-1979, Auroville:

Today we have our first meeting of the "Auroville Guard". There are 14 of us: Ar, Marc A, Al.B, P.G, R, Flore, Jacq, G.M, Gupi, Vivek, Andy, F.Gr, Phil and myself.

We shall be available for whatever emergency, to control or prevent any violence and, in our function, we will stand by no opinion and no "side" and will act as a unit and a team...

I went later to "Certitude" to meet Shradhavan, hoping to find her alone, to ask her to tell me straight what is happening for her and their new group. She welcomes me and talks to me openly, quietly, for an hour or so; she also listens attentively to what I have to say. She says she has understood a great deal in the last few weeks, has been liberated of a limiting attitude and of a number of prejudices. She speaks of a proposal they have, to form a group with 5 members of the SAS and 7 Aurovilians to administer Auroville: Navajata, Guru Prasad, Surendra, Karen and the Bharat Nivas engineer for the SAS; and for Auroville: herself, Joss, Cristl, Igor... and they are looking for the others and... she actually invites me in!!! Isn't that the funny part?

9-3-1979, Auroville:

At work GI brings fresh news from Delhi – M.D and Prem have returned already: the message is that we must hold on to our position regarding the SAS at least until the end of this month, which is also the end of the financial year, as the SAS Accounts are under scrutiny and their various frauds have become widely known; and that we ought to use "Auromitra" for channelling funds and, meanwhile, start collecting small contributions directly, and present Matrimandir's needs in a clear manner. Also, that all the "Quit-Notices" – 10 by now – are being frozen for the moment and "Auromitra" has made a representation to become recognised for the issuing of guarantees for the Visas... A way forward seems to be opening, at last...

14-3-1979, Auroville:

As I walk around Matrimandir in the evening, I see a young woman walking her cycle and somehow feel drawn to her... As I come nearer I see it is she whom I have seen twice already, from a distance, clad in a rose sari, at the concreting and at Auroville's birthday, very lovely... This time she wears a simple long skirt... The feeling of her lingers with me as I return home...

15-3-1979, Auroville:

The young woman attends the PT meeting at "Tapoloka". Her name is Miriam, she is American. Our eyes often meet. Afterwards I just ask her if she is staying with us; she replies: "for a while", and I leave it at that, wanting and needing to offer it...

16-3-1979, Auroville:

Another "silent gathering" has been called by the same group, at the Banyan tree, on the theme: "the true spirit of Auroville is collaboration".

I attend it in a way, standing nearby, while about 40 people sit silently, more or less the same people, with the addition of big J this time, and small J and Chris and the young woman, Miriam, has also come, and M from "Aurogarage".

Th plays a tape of the 1973 New Year music with Your reading of Your message in a broken voice, and quietly I think: "yes, we all want true collaboration and solidarity, in feeling, words and action but, as long as in your mind you imply that we must collaborate with the SAS who have clearly shown their will to dominate and enforce, how is that possible? A truthful and unified movement towards the future, yes, but submission to the will of a few?"

After everyone has left, Miriam lies down in the grass complaining of a severe head pain; I sit near her, she curls up and cries a moment; then she asks to go up to the Chamber; I let her go by herself and only later climb up to see whether she is alright... She gave me her Hopi ring... Again I offer it up, whether we have to come closer or not, whether it is helpful to both...

In the evening I write it all to You; I also tell C.E fully about it. I am so thankful for this gift of friendship and companionship...

18-3-1979, Auroville:

It is Sunday. P.G and I cycle down to F.Gr's house in "Certitude" to meet Patricia; F.Gr shows me his garden and the model he has prepared for the Matrimandir area and Gardens. Patricia says she has met with Piero earlier, he'd had another meeting with Talwar and Dayabhai and he is now ready to go up and meet Kireet in Delhi and place all the questions before him – all that receiving funds for Matrimandir entails at this juncture; we look together at my text for a presentation of Matrimandir and everyone likes it...

19-3-1979, Auroville:

C.E is troubled because he's been feeling an attraction towards V and doesn't know how I will take it... I tell him only two things matter between us, that we do not hide anything from each other and that we do not use our relationship as a replacement for other needs we each may have. He seems to be relieved.

20-3-1979, Auroville:

In the evening I tell C.E how I felt about Dennis's letter regarding the relationships with both "Findhorn" and "Arcosanti" communities: how, beyond a first impression of sweetness, I felt strongly that it's not it, not at all, that we all seem to be sleeping; that we are here because Your Force is here, we were born for a real Change, not for any of those self-satisfied efforts at community awareness and what not... O Mother, were it not for Matrimandir, I'd be in utter despair here, wouldn't know where to go...!

21-3-1979, Auroville:

This morning at work, just as I was about to, for the first time, openly request P.G and Al.B to please stop talking and focus on the task at hand, F.Gr came up asking for help to start something in the Gardens; he wants to begin work near the Banyan tree. P.G and G.M are willing to help him; I do not feel this is a very clear beginning as F.Gr has somehow not wanted to see it all with Narad; and I resent a little the role P.G tends to play by G.M, negatively supporting him instead of helping him to concentrate...; but I have no say in any of this.

27-3-1979, Auroville:

I am pondering my dependency on energies... For instance, every week I start early on to look forward to the next PT meeting and it is obviously linked to a need for a certain type of energies; yet I do not like, have never liked nor been comfortable with this constant exchange, this give and take, this trading we are compelled to as human beings. I wish rather that I would always be giving and never have to draw from the others; that I would be able to constantly receive from You, from the Lord, by practice of the correct positioning... But here I am, in-between again!

... It is difficult in Auroville today to find a work that can be a real service to You, to which one can really consecrate oneself... One would yearn for hierarchy! But I see that ego and greed for power still make true hierarchy impossible – unattainable; even a thing to be rejected! However nothing seems to be able to replace it: this “psychic” or “divine anarchy” requires wakeful individuals, accurately conscious of their real souls... We have a lot to go before that becomes a fact, don't we?!

28-3-1979, Auroville:

We're still unable, collectively, to agree on how to channel the needed funds for Matrimandir... We found out that, before the price of steel goes up, Piero is thinking to go back to Madanlal for money : at this both Al.B and Yus get furious, in a way that makes me wonder and step back. There is something off there as well!

Yus, in his fanatic way, goes on a diatribe against “Marwaris” – Navajata, Kishorilal, Shyamsunder, and Madanlal are all “Marwaris” – and I just have to go away... We can't be together on this basis! Patricia and I return to work, determined to concentrate on it even more...!

29-3-1979, Auroville:

Today is the first day the new pump at “Sincerity” is running; after weeks of waiting, and good advice from several quarters, it was all checked up finally yesterday; the water is still murky but the pressure is good and we can begin to organise the care and tending of this whole place with some independence. And today is the anniversary of Your first meeting, Mother Sri Aurobindo...!

.. Tonight, looking at my own impurity, I touched perhaps the means to change it...! It is no more a struggle against the physical mind, or the sexual impulses, or out of the hell created by conflicts between different parts or elements and the compromises reached out of weakness and ignorance... There is something else, something more, a direct, kind of objective perception of the impurity, which contains, or is one with, the sense of the movement that is likely to help; it is a new sense... but it too requires perseverance and fidelity...!

« Il nous semble nécessaire d'exprimer une fois de plus ce qui nous semble être une loi fondamentale de l'expérience que Mère a nommée « Auroville » : toute personne qui se sent appelée à vivre cette expérience et à tenter de s'y donner est la bienvenue. Mais nous devons refuser l'entrée d'Auroville à quiconque s'affilie à un groupe ou une organisation qui revendique un droit de propriété ou de contrôle sur Auroville.

I have understood concretely, realised, that I am fully responsible for the harmony of my being and the condition of my body, and this understanding is now with me like a new strength. It is my responsibility to send to my body messages that carry harmony instead of disorder and contradiction; this is my own field of work!

This I knew inwardly, but I have touched it now.

... I heard today from Manju that Miriam has been staying with Purna Prema all these days! How odd that these two women should come together, Purna who was so important to me and became my sworn enemy, and Miriam for whom I have felt such an attraction even though I hardly know her...! And also that she is planning to leave on the 7th...

Piero came to Matrimandir at noon with the news that Madanlal has finally agreed to donate one lakh of rupees thru "Auromitra", at our convenience, and trusts that we will spend the money to buy the required steel before the price of it goes up on the 9th.

This afternoon several of us worked in the office on the new brochure/presentation for Matrimandir, using the text I have prepared...

5-4-1979, Auroville:

After attending a very tamasic PT meeting, the worst I have been to in a long time – and this was the one C.E had to attend! –, we drove to Pondy to see Robi at the Ashram Press for the printing of the Matrimandir brochure; I am very touched by his simplicity and his transparent dedication and, within me, I bow to him and to the likes of him... I am ashamed before You of what we are here, of what I am; but what is the use of being ashamed? One has to grow!

In town we came upon, quite suddenly, Miriam, who waved at once, very direct and forward and spontaneous. I introduced Miriam and C.E to each other; she was or looked different, more expansive and city-like, she wore a bright red dress, with that sort of passive elegance I had found attractive in her; it was somewhat refreshing to see this woman there, in these settings...! She said she might delay her departure for a week, and had looked for me in Auroville...

6-4-1979, Auroville:

... Patricia tells me that the "agreement" with Madanlal is frozen, as what Yus and Piero had intended to do was actually a sort of manipulation of "Auromitra", not a straightforward use of it, and that M.D, who is its "field officer", had refused to process it. So a better way must now be found...

We communicate a little on the lack of the psychic sense in us all – that spirit of service, the discreetness, the gratitude, and the quiet discernment that replaces all judgement, the genuine respect of the truth lying in everyone and everything...

7-4-1979, Auroville:

... Today Patricia tells me, before we start working, how madly angered Piero had been with her when she also refused to sign the clearance for the cheque until Kireet agreed to this use of the "Auromitra" channel, how she was threatened by him that she would be responsible for the "fall of Matrimandir"... We had to laugh! It has now become quite clear that Piero is not the right person to deal with money!

Later, feeling bad that we hadn't yet told Yus directly how we feel about all this, I went to him and talked with him; his view is that we now have to deal with another outside agency ("Auromitra") seeking to impose its ways on us and that P.G and M.D are almost traitors and that it is actually "Auromitra" that has brought enmity among us...! He is quite strident about it, there is no use arguing...!

Today is my birthday. V brings me a small cactus in a golden pot, a flower and a card saying she thanks me for being born...!

Later, D.M sends me her message...

During the tea-break this morning, even though Piero stubbornly believes that he alone can see what is right for Matrimandir, we are somehow able to agree on what we must communicate to Kireet in Delhi, and we draft the text of a telegram which I am to post from Pondy this afternoon.

10-4-1979, Auroville:

Our "extraordinary" meeting was supposed to start at 9 am in the office, but only Arjun and Narad are in time and we wait a long while for everyone else to arrive. About 25 of us, including the members of the Coop, slowly gather. M.T begins with the questions he needs to have answered before he and Piero go up to Delhi. I read the text that Patricia and Narad have drafted and everyone likes it and signs it. Then I go to the workshop and talk to Th, Ruud and the others there and tell them what we are doing and that it would be good if they would at least see the letter we are about to send and express whatever disagreement they may have in an open way... They agree to come to the office. And after a while, some resistances naturally melt away and several among their group sign the letter; Th and Ruud do not oppose it, but do not sign it either.

13-4-1979, Auroville:

I have disciplined myself since a few days to make way for C.E. to find out freely, without any pressure from me, what he really wants with us two. It seems to have helped him to come out of this obsession of rivalry, dominance and compulsion.

I understand better now that, between human beings, there is a wide variation in degree and quality of the closeness and directness of the contact.

It is only when two souls feel with complete evidence and simplicity that they are at home with one another, unreservedly, even though there may be still some necessity to struggle through outer differences, it is only then that the essential basis is there.

And that, in itself and by itself, is not love, although it does demand from each one the highest, noblest and purest to honour this bond... But Love, Love is impersonal, can never be bound to any form, it is the supreme Energy... One can only aspire to become a vessel for it, without interference, preferences or demands...

As for the rest, all the rest, where there isn't even the trace of this recognition from within, it is only a play of attractions, with no other effect or result than a slow individual progress and possibly a greater refinement or precision in the collective awareness...

16-4-1979, Auroville:

When everyone has arrived, we gather in the office around Piero and he shows us all the work he has done, the drawings and calculations, and he explains the main points and how to proceed with the erection and construction of the entire space-frame for the sphere. One is impressed and touched by the quality and the sheer amount of work he has done while being preoccupied with so many other issues and aspects of the work. I salute him within myself and I bow to You who have drawn such a service to You.

We are all left a little stunned before the magnitude and the complexity of the task before us – and the lack of funds and, above all, the lack of people!

19-4-1979, Auroville:

C.E and I spent the day in Madras doing purchases for "Sincerity", for the Nursery, for the Kitchen, for Shyama... C's plane is delayed by several hours in the evening and we try to escape the hell this whole area has become and wait it out in a cheap hotel nearby. Back at the airport we meet F.S who is leaving; we hug and hug: I cannot well adjust to the fact of not seeing him perhaps for years to come...

C arrives at last, in the night, with the second plane...

21-4-1979, Auroville:

I find myself heavy, dull and dragging. It is again this strange condition that, pushed further, would be dissociating: a massive pressure and, in or very close to the body, a sense of impuissance, of sheer inability to hold on, a weakness like a hole, and then this movement as if to go out and away from the body through the head... I have to struggle to remember and concentrate in the heart.

And it's hot, so hot we seem to be evaporating...!

The whole afternoon C sits with me; she has all these questions she has borne within herself and it is as a great part of our shared evolution and of our bond that she puts these questions forward to me, trusting that I shall find the words to open new doors before her... She is so receptive and so ready to progress that much of what I was able to understand or realise this past year simply goes to her; she tells me of her own work too... I have only gratitude to the Lord for all this...

24-4-1979, Auroville:

When I ride back to the Nursery in the afternoon to see about the cart, Narad wants to give a special orchid, as it is Darshan Day; he selects the plant, emphasizing its rarity, its cost... Then, as we talk about cork-trees, he tells me of an experience he'd had when he had used a large section of a "Transformation" tree, along with other woods, to make charcoal and, after 5 days, in place of that log, he had found gold! He had taken pieces of it to Nolini, who had confirmed it was gold, the result of transformation... Then he takes me inside his house and shows me a piece. And what I see is mica, of a kind I have often seen, mica unmistakably...! I don't know what to do or say, not being attracted anyway to this kind of "miracle", but it leaves me with a strange feeling... I just ask him how mica normally forms, but that is all I can say, since Nolini himself has, according to him, confirmed it!

Later in the evening, C, C.E and I walk hand in hand over to the Banyan tree for the "meditation". There are about 30 people there and I am not at ease with the attendance; but soon I begin to feel that there is some of Your help available to concentrate correctly. I sense my own atmosphere and what it is in Your Light and Presence and I realise again what it is that I want, that I seek, that I grow to: to unite with Being, free of the human modes, free of the slow mind, the slower and heavier feelings and sentiments and movements; to flow with states of consciousness, in the inexhaustible wealth of conscious existence, here in Matter itself...; outgrowing the limits of humanness, a free sovereign being...

Too soon people start moving and talking...

I tuned to C.E, hoping to share with him in silence, but he isn't available and instead makes some comment on a "nice shirt" a woman is wearing and at once I'm caught, well caught, in ... too human a movement!

Yet my body remained under the influence of that Calm and openness.

I know "I" cannot do anything about it; that there is only one way, to be more and more given and united to the need...

27-4-1979, Auroville:

While collecting flowers early this morning, I hear an airplane flying over and I suddenly remember a very vivid dream that I had not at all recalled when I tried as every morning upon waking to note down my sleep-activities – and it makes me wonder how many such dreams I "lose"...: I am standing on a sea-shore, just like in Pondy; there is a crowd of people massed along it until far into the streets that lead to it. There is anxiety written on every face and the sky becomes gloomy and the light is as of lightning's and we see, going northward parallel to the shore and far into the sea, dozens and dozens of warships of different sizes, some very large, moving together as a herd, in an ominous silence. A man nearer to the shore starts informing everyone, as if he'd picked up the meaning of it in the air, but it felt true, that this is an action taken by India to show Thailand how to behave... I think I am with a small group of friends, or at least there are a few people to whom I feel closer compared to the crowd... It is a very striking dream...

... The other day, in Pondy with C, I had "accidentally" met Miriam in a shop; she has not yet left, obviously. Later, to Al.B who was searching for someone who could take brochures to the US, I'd mentioned her eventual departure any day. This evening Al.B came to ask me to ride down to Pondy with him and see Miriam and ask her... He sits a moment with C while I prepare, they are doing well together.

Then we leave on his bike, both feeling rather happy, I believe, with the friendship that has been growing between us. We find Miriam at "Golconde"; she has changed her plans and will stay another month, which she wants to spend mostly in Auroville; she moves me very much, vitally and physically, but I am not aware as yet of a deeper thing...

29-4-1979, Auroville:

C has been in a state of near-immobility, hardly eating, hardly talking, content, assimilating...

1-5-1979, Auroville:

At work G.M tells me he had a few hours yesterday, after we left, of a peace and strength he had not experienced for a long time... (I'd been driving C around on M.T's bike when it broke down and we had to rest a while at G.M's in "Dana" before walking back home in the evening.)

Patricia and the others soon join us; our team is well-balanced now: Kiran has joined, Jacq is there every day now, so is P.G, and Al.B, and Marcia, sometimes Arjun and red P... Patricia and I go on with the marking, using a new method, while the rest take care of the platforms and reinforce the scaffold. Piero comes later to check some measurements with us; we have found this morning that our difficulties in getting accurate points were due to a small difference in the positioning of the pillars...

3-5-1979, Auroville:

The heat is like a load of lead. Our corporeal reality makes me sad and depressed. Sometimes, especially when I have to stand in line at the Kitchen to fill our lunch tiffin (!), I can't bear this substantial soup of flesh, uncleared sexualities, subtle subconscious smells and vibrations, bodies sweating, disharmonious, awkward – it is sometimes repelling to be human...!

5-5-1979, Auroville:

Today we fixed the first precast beams in place. And it became self-evident: we are looking at a minimum of 5 full years of work just to install the space-frame...!

6-5-1979, Auroville:

It is Sunday and it is C's birthday!

Early morning we place all the gifts we have prepared for her in the room downstairs and call her in... C.E has made a most beautiful and vivid painting of You; there is a young plant of "Eternal Youth"... C has tears in her eyes... I love to make her happy...!

In the evening C.E and I return with lots of jasmine garlands and fresh fruit and incense; E.B has prepared everything for dinner and Nat and Yel join us, it is all very calm and poised.

At night, when C has gone to rest on the terrace, I play at the small harmonium for a long time – both C.E and C tell me later it had been like going to the discovery of a far-off land...

8-5-1979, Auroville:

C's need and will to progress has become so natural, constant and alive that it is a profound joy to be with her. I am grateful for knowing her, for the bond between us. And I appreciate and enjoy the rightness of her attitudes and responses, the harmony of her womanhood; I am proud of her and also a little awed...

E.B has invited us for dinner at her place and I take C, leaving C.E here with the opportunity to relax and enjoy some solitude. I had also resolved to talk straight to E.B as she's again been slipping into an affective demand towards me, but I didn't have to: she was already upset with herself and blamed me for not warning her in time...! Despite her pain and distress, she wants to overcome the obstacle; she is open to the understanding that will help her to do so and she cares for our friendship to become truer... In the past such situations used to make me feel guilty and wanting to disappear... Now I seem to have gone a little way...!

At night when we return, C.E tells me that Miriam had come looking for me...!

10-5-1979, Auroville:

I feel an urge to concentrate, to re-examine everything, to make the choice anew. My mind wants to have a clear picture of the movement of progress and the other parts believe still that they cannot do without it... It all seems impossible. A true Mind, which does not operate through opposition and comparison, has yet to be established; but for that to happen, I need to open to more consciousness!

... The sky is greying, it feels like rain is trying to come our way, there is the subtle scent of it and the trees bend toward it... C is cleaning the house while I arrange the flowers, C.E smiles; my anxiety is relieved.

... C has a tough time controlling her emotions and accepting the fact of her leaving again. But we have clarified that she will be back next January, in less than a year... We leave late afternoon and spend the night in a hotel in Madras; C.E and I sleep on the carpet rather than sink into these mattresses...!

13-5-1979, Auroville:

Sunday morning... As we pause for tea under the tree after our gardening work, Miriam surprises us... She walks in, quite naturally, clad in white and gold, tranquil and joyous, humorous too, and even more charming... C.E is relaxed and flows with it; she doesn't seem to mind moments of silence, there is no tension...

14-5-1979, Auroville:

I first meet Miriam at "Golconde"; there is a little hesitancy, she is a little afraid to become attached. Then I take her to Amal Kiran's and we agree to meet later on by the sea.

In the evening, waiting for her, I have a moment of fine tranquillity, like a relief; as if I was liberated, made free from bondages and new to life; even in my body I feel lighter...

One could take this as a revenge of Nature but it is her sweet teaching that I find in it, not her harshness; one could take it as a test from the adversity but I experience it as a gift for me to become fuller, simpler and straighter...

We talk a little, laugh a little. I drive her to her appointment with Arindam Basu and we part. I have a yearning for another occasion, with more time before us; there is something there that wants to unfold...

16-5-1979, Auroville:

A few days ago we got a she-kitten from Hilde. She has now adopted us, which means she sleeps on me and, when she decides time is up, is merciless about it... This morning it was 5 am and I couldn't quite appreciate it and was only able to jot down the last two dreams, uninteresting...

The work goes well; Patricia and I perfect our new tools and are able to fine-tune the adjustment of the first beams to the millimetre...

At lunch Miriam arrives and stays with us to rest awhile in the house; she falls asleep with a lotus bloom on her chest.

... Narad tells me he would like us to join the two gardens - "Sincerity" and the Nursery - with a first line of trees this year...

17-5-1979, Auroville:

C.E has been very tense the whole night. I am feverish with a bad cold and have to struggle to get into the rhythm of the day. Miriam understands and, when we have our food together, she is equally forward to both of us and the response is flowing; her femininity is harmonious, mastered and reposed.

When Patricia sees Miriam approaching, she has this instinctive reaction of coming closer to me, which, kind of egoistically, I enjoy: even though Patricia and I do not live together, we are a couple in the sense that our work and daily sharing is important to either of us and precious, and I like her to show her care in these ways sometimes... Tomorrow she is to go to Delhi again...

18-5-1979, Auroville:

La Grâce et la gratitude sont les deux mains qui me conduisent pas à pas...

Mother, You give me ceaselessly, ceaselessly, You are my divine Mother!

I drove to Pondy to pick up Miriam and took her over to "Far Beach", to the little house she will be staying in for a while, helped her settle her things, and fixed the hand-pump for her with the help of Judith's worker. A sweet little kid, Aurore and Volcan's son named "Pavitra", followed me everywhere, so tender... With Miriam I am at rest; it is not superficial, there is no rush, no eagerness, but a deep ease, a sense that it can all happen in its own time, with respect. I discover her more and more, and the truth in her beauty, and I can taste her without reservations...

21-5-1979, Auroville;

Patricia hasn't been able yet to go to Delhi, all the trains have been cancelled for several days, and the whole country seems to be in a sort of chaos.

Yesterday I had not gone to Miriam because of C.E.'s reaction, not wanting to hurt him in anyway or to endanger our relationship; I went this afternoon and stayed with her; we both went through many states: at first there was a certain dissociation, I couldn't feel supported either from within or from above, but I kept quiet and tried to offer it; I also had this impression as if I had remained inwardly besides C.E, here at home... We drove to town for her shopping; we went to the Samadhi for a moment, and there I felt like a child full of tenderness for everyone and for everything... Back at the beach, there was in me a yearning for the deeper presence and toward her spirit; she at times was happy and amazed, at times frightened, shy and humble and then angry, revolted, then again perplexed and anxious; and then she was open... For long I was deprived of desire, that energy couldn't enter; I had only tenderness and a longing for balance for her, for me, for the meeting itself; we both learnt... Later, at the beginning of the night, we actually met; it was brief, almost unexpected and it was like a stepping-stone. Further into the night we met again: this time I wanted her to be fulfilled and that only a sweet memory would remain, a gift that would be in her heart like a smile and a token of her own spirit and growth. She felt that I knew her.

It was very late when we finally slept and I had a dream of having to fight some beings to deliver her, to bring her back to freedom and her own self and rhythm, and I did it... I woke up when the moon rose from the sea; and, later, at the point of dawn... And all the time I also remained with C.E...

23-5-1979, Auroville:

Today is D.M's birthday; we give Larry our gifts for her...

E.B has prepared dinner for us at her place. I visit Krishna too, before we move, C.E and I, to Piero's to stay the night on "special watch-duty" (there have been thefts and attacks).

24-5-1979, Auroville;

This evening E.B arrived here with two garlands of jasmine for me. She tells me she has met Miriam in Pondy and how lovely and beautiful she is and how for the first time she is not jealous as she finds this is a woman level with me... In the midst of this talk something gets cleared which had remained like a painful mystery to me all these years: why and how E.B had returned to me while I was still in France, leaving the Ashram, leaving You, supposedly with Your blessings; the facts appeared today only: Nata had mixed up two letters I had written to You in his care, about having a child with A.F, who was pregnant; he had got confused and told E.B right away that I wanted her to come back to me and give me a child...! And she had only been too happy to take it as an encouragement for the very thing she had sought. She must have known, though, that it couldn't be true and yet she never spoke to me about it till today. And the facts are also that You never saw my letters about this and that the "Blessings" were procured by Nata himself...! Oh! What useless sufferings our human interference must have created around You, Mother!

1-6-1979, Auroville:

These are times when, in the life You give us here, we reach such high notes of a singing tenderness that flows all over, a sweetness, a tranquil dance... Isn't that the real sense of being human and individuals...?

... As we finish eating, Amma comes in with a little girl; she has brought some sweets which she has kept for me as "Prasad" from a special puja. I serve her and the little girl and give her the incense and things she needs for her daily offerings; then she sings, she sings to You, to Kali, to Krishna and Radha, and Miriam goes and sits nearest to her, puts her hands in hers and Amma concentrates in her and blesses her...

4-6-1979, Auroville:

In the afternoon I took Miriam back to "Golconde". Both the "Imagination" and the "Realisation" trees are in full bloom and I take many photographs, and of Miriam too, happy, open, given, simple; we both feel content and gently fulfilled in our relationship. We agree to meet by the sea at 6 pm and I ask her to wear her red dress and put up her hair the way I like it best... She enjoys it, to prepare herself thus...

But it is when I come out of the Ashram, later, that I meet her again, by the gate: she is ravishing, nothing vulgar, nothing too elaborate, just the joy of her lovely femininity; we walk to the shore, go over the boulders and sit in the wind; I give her a long garland of fresh jasmine and I take many pictures of her and watch her and drink her, assimilating her gift and giving myself to her.

She wants either to postpone again her departure or to come back soon and stay longer... But it is a good thing for us to part for a few days anyway; each of us needs to rest now...

6-6-1979, Auroville:

Early this afternoon Al.B and Chr came to bring us our copies of the Agenda that have just come; Jacq is with them and we make a happy group here, until it is time to go and attend the general meeting at "Unity" office. News has come that the trustees of "Auromitra" and Kireet particularly, have now agreed to our proposal for the channelling of the funds for Matrimandir. Then, P.P brings up the topic of listing those of us who are ready to ask for the Indian nationality... At once I feel uneasy, not about the thing itself – I have thought of it many times – but about the nature of the pressure being exerted by implication; it makes my hair stand and I soon leave... I don't know where to go; I walk toward the Banyan tree and there I see that a "meditation" is going on: the trio – SSJ, Shradhavan and Th – are sitting facing the tree, emanating such a self-regard for their "true spiritual attitude"... I don't know! All these gaps in the fabric, all these factions... I'd rather be at home reading the Agenda...!

... Toi! Je comprends mieux pourquoi c'est vraiment à partir de 1962 que je Te reconnais entièrement, totalement, à jamais...!

... Miriam comes home in the evening. She says that in the Ashram she is losing support for coming so much to Auroville... She takes it with quiet lucidity...

... Yesterday a police van came to "Fraternity" to arrest Dany, who has a Quit-Order; he somehow was able to run and hide. No clear information has been issued as to the actual reason for this Order, only contradictory or vague statements, whether in Madras or here... Miriam says that she had heard it in Pondy that this might happen...!

10-6-1979, Auroville:

The moon is full tonight and C.E has decided to stay near Matrimandir. Miriam returns here and we meet throughout the night. And again, in this meeting, I experience like a condensed sense – scent, touch, texture, impression, and atmosphere – of being American Indian; this has been there since we first met... I want and need to be very honest about all this, but there IS something to it, as there is something also to the feeling she has that I know her, I know how to touch her, as if I had touched her already in some past, deeply. Yet I do not so far experience the security of the spirit that I know with C.E, that inner support that helps each one to grow, go through and progress, and become dearer too...

This kind of almost physical memory of... other times... has been pressing like a mass, of all the lines one has followed through the different lives, and how it is present and surrounding one – a subtle environment -; but also how it is best, probably, to remain ignorant of it so as to genuinely reach for a new balance in this life...

11-6-1979, Auroville:

The news is not good: SSJ has not accepted; games are being played. And in "Aspiration" they now have a stand against the whole thing... Better to laugh!

12-6-1979, Auroville:

Miriam has to go back to Pondy; I drive her down. I do not know what she must do; there is this pressure on me that I should feel one way or another whether she must stay or she must return to the US, but I can't... I only pray she is guided to do the truer thing for herself and given the exact means to develop; that is what I can ask and pray for. I learn to trust her as she learns to obey what in her makes her so open to me... Is she "my woman"? I don't know. I only know I have never behaved this way with any other woman I have known; I am also afraid, despite of me, that she may grow attached, when I do not know how far we are to go together... But I am grateful for the gift of her and I believe it is in Your hands...

... Driving back up the hill in the evening light I find Vivek, walking down, his bag on his shoulder, leaving Auroville... And there is that move fusing, which rises from the Presence within, always ready to manifest when there is an opening...

... Back home, C.E says that Al.B had come to bid his farewell; he and Patricia are going to Delhi tomorrow, perhaps for two weeks...

23-6-1979, Auroville:

At home it is a delight, and I am filled with gratitude; but at work, it goes off, there is a depressive atmosphere catching; P.G keeps talking all morning with H, G, Chr and I feel as if crushed by a wave of decomposing energy running through my body, as if nothing held any longer and there was no continuity: as if on the edge of some liquefaction, of a negative abandon to which the body resists, afraid of where it would lead...? I can only do one thing, keep very quiet and cling to a sort of physical faith in equilibrium...

... At noon Piero arrives with the disheartening news that D.S, Ruud and Th have gone to SSJ and agreed with him to work with the SAS again, rejecting, and despising "Auromitra"... So, once more, we're stuck all round... Piero seems to expect that I will help to "take a decision", but all this feels too relative, too unreal and I don't know what we are meant to do, in truth; I need to be shown, not with the mind wanting to "solve" but directly, the movement You require, the true perception...

There is a kind of rot... There is lying...

I want to be awake!

When I return home to C.E, I feel at once relieved, there is a smile again; we talk quietly, sharing...

... Late this afternoon, P.G came: he has discovered that several newcomers at the Centre are using drugs and he wants me and R to come with him and talk to these people... I had felt the atmosphere there had degraded and become very mixed, but it seems to me it'd be simpler to write Your own statement about it and post it for a few days where everyone can see it; so we prepare a big card together...

15-6-1979, Auroville:

C.E and I, on P.G's insistence, have agreed to attend the "Envelopes" meeting this afternoon at "Abri". (Early this morning the Guard had been called at "Sharnga" where some villagers had been ransacking and laying waste a few fields, but there was no more need for us to intervene when we reached and, rather than stand idle watching B.B's show with his horses, we moved away and P.G started to tell us at length about the current confusion with the distribution of the monies...)

So, as we sit watching and listening, I can only admire and respect P.G's sincerity as he patiently explains his proposal in spite of the leers and jokes: he really made a friend of me today!

When the practical accounting begins, we leave, as we are not qualified and have only come this once, as observers. I am aware that a complex, multi-sided and slow process is required in Auroville for things to become simpler or, rather, for simpler "solutions" to become applicable...

But, for a moment, I got a painful feeling that something may have occurred, between the impulse of our present birth for this work, and the actual manifestation... as if some elements were missing, we were incomplete and the key-harmony could not pass... A strange feeling, almost a sense of crippled ness...

... On our way back, riding our cycles, I was watching C.E for a moment, his body-movements, and I felt something painful too: that he somehow is not blooming, is still unopened; and that, perhaps, I am not helping him to come forth, or else I am over-protecting him... This comes to me with some gravity and at that instant I am ready, for his sake, to completely change my attitude if need be, when suddenly, as we have stopped by the Guest-House, he turns to me and hugs and kisses me, right there, and my question is erased...!

I had, while reading the Agenda, this experience: I was just reading Your description of when You had found out they had constructed a new balcony for You to appear and be seen, and I had Your full Darshan! I saw You, as You were that very day, just NOW! I was there! Absolutely You, Your Presence, Your Darshan, for perhaps one or two seconds... I experienced it completely!

O Mother, the sheer ecstasy of seeing You move in Your body, Mother...!

... We take a long walk, at a good pace, close to each other and quiet; there is an intense alternance of a downward and decomposing pull with a gathering movement forward, an energy to break through and become more conscious...

... At night-watch Piero tells me of Ruud, Th and Toine's intention to form a parallel bureau of administration... I see actually no way of persisting in refusing money meant for Matrimandir under the pretext of an inner refusal of what the SAS represents: this money belongs to You! What we must refuse is the influence, the claims and the power game, with precision and clarity in our own movements, so that these people do not bring in again their idiotic cult and their lies...

17-6-1979, Auroville:

Miriam has come back. She entered, her face a big radiant smile, and threw a garland of jasmine on me and moved into my arms and we remained very quiet and I knew at that moment, without words, thoughts or sentiments, that this was a natural thing and that she was truly happy...

Later she tells me all that has happened to her; how Udar got upset and jealous; how she had a long talk with Madhav Pandit about me! That he said that, whenever Purna or André tried to speak ill to You about me, You pretended not to know who they were talking about because You loved me... and that I was united in consciousness with Matrimandir...! What a tender gift!

18-6-1979, Auroville:

Dawn lifts her flames through the branches, a gorgeous breath, a liquid fire...

I feed the cat and the pigeons, clean the vases, C.E sweeps; Miriam helps me to arrange the flowers... I want to sing, to be free, that only tenderness and progress run through me and between us, filling each and every moment, tenderness and response...

... About 20 of us are in the office. The issue is: are we going to accept materials purchased by SSJ with the money that came through the SAS toward Matrimandir? I want to remain centred and free from influences and to perceive correctly; the sense I get is that there is a will to keep the SAS functioning as a channel for this impersonal energy and that we must learn to discriminate and exert our vigilance towards those whose intent is to ride it back into Auroville with their rotten claims; that we ought to try and trust those like Ruud, Th and D.S who are willing to attempt this, while being ready to stop it if we find they get trapped... But this "position", although it is shared by several of us – P.G, Jacq, and Narad – is misunderstood by both the sides! One side appears a little too eager and pleased with it; there is no transparency there! And the other side takes it as a betrayal! And I cannot help but finding both rather opportunistic!

So, we ask everybody to keep quiet for a few days, not to take any step, and not to go ahead with the purchase of the steel from the Bharat Nivas stock as this deal appears now to be double-edged, connected as it is to some debt from the SAS to the Government...

... In the general meeting at "Tapoloka" this afternoon, Piero seeks to present himself, he who has repeatedly tried to broker some agreement with SSJ and the SAS on his own, as a martyr and us – Jacq, P.G and I – as the traitors... This leaves us so stunned that we don't even try to explain... But the people of "Aspiration" insist to know, that we must speak up... They say then that they will all come to Matrimandir...! I remind them that it is not enough to come in order to reject, to say "no", that the situation is too complex and demands perseverance and a steady commitment; and this time they seem to take it very seriously...

This afternoon Ruud, Th, red P and Narayana came to see me here at home; their vibration is open, simple and direct. They tell me that they have searched in themselves for the cause of a lack of joy in the work, a heaviness in the atmosphere, and realised that they actually had no real adhesion to this new phase of the construction – the casting and erection of the RCC space frame – and would have preferred to go for Roger A's design of a light tubular frame-work. They tell me further that, since our last meeting where we, Jacq, P.G and I, had shown some trust in them, they now felt freer to express themselves and communicate their feelings and their views...

Of course, unity among us brings receptivity to Your atmosphere and Your workings and we have to find the joy to go forward together... But, You know, the discs in Roger A's design, those fancy, showy things that don't last, that rust and wear out...?! We need quality!

21-6-1979, Auroville:

... So often I find myself agreeing with everyone, every point of view expressed, and yet fully agreeing with none and no one. There is a yearning to be freed from opinions, all these opinions and "sides", this faulty mental logic, and to follow a thread into Matter, or through Matter, or with Matter, sensing an awareness there that the mind, nor the feeling, cannot ever even approximate.

But in this present collective condition, one cannot give oneself to that, because there is the necessity to "communicate", to share in the movement of progress, and we are not able to do so without the mind yet – and so, through the mind, things become inevitably opposed, contradictory, mutually exclusive, and the reality is veiled...

22-6-1979, Auroville:

I feel so poor, insufficient, small and limited, so entangled in the general confusion and inertia, nailed, suffocating... I am sitting near C.E after our nap, a bit lost, grey like the sky, untidy like the air today, messed-up like the garden and the leaky pond and the bunds not neat anymore; then C.E turns to me, I answer to him, we join our steps and enter time together as in a dance, faithful to our bond and moving forward even when all seems grey and unpromising...

23-6-1979, Auroville:

... Both P.G and G.M have liked, and agreed to the draft I have made of a letter to Madanlal.

At tea-break, Th sits with me and talks and talks; he is full of hope now; I remind him we have to go one step at a time and choose only and always those points we can agree upon... He seems to understand...

I aspire to open to a perception for which no veils and no guises exist, a perception that sees and knows directly without words; it is there, I am certain of it, somewhere above or within... Oh! To move and act in the freedom of it, to say or do only what needs to be said or done...!

These days there seem to be only twisted movements all around, nothing comes straight, nothing is honest, nothing is simple, and nothing is calm... But we can still laugh!

24-6-1979, Auroville:

Joss came here this afternoon, needing to talk and looking for help, perhaps from the Guard... There have been lots of incidents of harassment lately, strange thefts have taken place in and around "Certitude" and, a few days ago Christiane, who stays at his place, was attacked in the night by a very weird man, and was taken to the hospital with a broken jaw... P.G joins us... It is difficult to discern an action we could commit to, we are so scattered physically, over the entire area of Auroville, and there is so much disunity among us all; the police is corrupt... Yet one cannot just seek a "spiritual" answer, something has to be manifested, expressed, materialised... But I'm not even able to realise what exactly we are dealing with...

The ideal You have set before of us seems to be deprived of its power by the very limitations of our nature, by the refusal to lead a disciplined life, by the absence of some very basic commitments...

... I still get trapped sometimes by the power C.E has over me, because I am so attached to his presence, he has grown so dear to me and I have come to rely so much upon the relationship we have established that, at times – too often – I compromise and seek to appease; and then I feel dishonest with myself and I lose my balance...

25-6-1979, Auroville:

Early this morning, Miriam arrived! She'd packed an auto-rickshaw with all her things, left "Golconde" and decided to move in here with us – she hadn't said a thing about it!

... G.M has insisted that I should attend the meeting of the "5" at Matrimandir... Finally I accepted, seeing it as an opportunity to obtain a wider and more substantial agreement among us... G.M, Bill S, D.S, Ruud, Piero, P.G and I gather in the office. Ruud and D.S had wanted to rush and get the steel and move ahead with the work; P.G, G.M and I had to repeat over and over again that "yes" does not mean to run blindly and forego of our discernment... I read my draft for Madanlal, everyone is ready to sign it now, except Ruud and D.S who say they still want to try and talk to the SAS people and persuade them to release materials and funds unconditionally...

There is not as yet a real understanding between us but, at least, there is now respect.

In the evening I go to Myrtle's to fair up my letter, then to Piero and GI's to get from them the correct address and ask them to sign: it is all smiles, as if nothing had ever come between us...!

26-6-1979, Auroville:

G.M is upset and a little desperate over our condition... But it seems to me that, until the aspiration has become so intense and integral in each of us and there is nothing else really that matters anymore, until that is realised, it is better to insist positively on the basics of harmony, honesty, faithfulness...

... Miriam talks to me again of this work she wishes us to help her with, a video on "Savitri" with Udar reciting; she shows me the correspondence between Udar and D.V, and Udar's report on Your vision of the US's role in channelling money to Auroville, and of his role in it as an instrument... I feel a little... strange about it: the man is so ambiguous...! Mother, sorry, don't be upset at me, I just have to acknowledge before You the way I feel!

... John H comes in a hurry to say that Peter is having troubles with some villagers at the Pump-House; C.E and I go there at once: there is a thick confusion but no fight, only villagers, many of them, shouting and accusations flying. It seems that some cows have been chased out of the compound and, while milling through the gate, a smallish one had got knocked down and lay now unconscious, and the villagers were accusing the boy working there with Peter of having beaten it to death and already claiming Rupees 1,500/- for it...! Some of us then go, with most of the villagers, to meet with a headman, while we both stay behind and proceed to revive the cow: we make it breathe and empty the air out of its stomach and make it drink and caress it and pat it back into shape and upright on its legs. When they all return, they find it up and about and are all a little amazed – or embarrassed – and it all becomes funny and simple...!

This afternoon we met again in the office. Ruud and D.S have gone to Kishorilal and found him surprisingly willing to accept our conditions, that is, to buy the steel and send it to Matrimandir without strings attached, and to purchase more materials whenever needed against bills only... But Ruud and D.S themselves recommend that we only go for one first transaction as a trial, with the purchase of the steel...

... All these years it seemed that the opposites were for ever irreconcilable and that only the yielding of one to the other could heal or end the conflict... But today it appeared that the combining of all of our good-wills has allowed a simpler harmony to manifest and that we can genuinely agree with one another... It is not that one is overjoyed or excited with enthusiasm, but that there is a deeper sense of being on the track, of moving forward, with no one feeling excluded from it...

... Later, G.M joins me here at home and tells me he has looked within himself for the reason why he was not fully satisfied, and found this: until such time when the SAS would channel all the monies directly through the "Envelopes", there would not be the change we all need...

I say that I completely agree but that we must move step by step, not calling resistance by being too demanding and trusting that ultimately, and perhaps sooner than we think, we would all reach that point...

28-6-1979, Auroville:

After hearing our presentation, done mainly by Ruud and G.M, the general meeting asked that, as a further step in clarity, the SAS be requested to issue an open statement acknowledging Auroville's right to be sponsored by other agencies as well...

Later, John H comes to tell me that Ruud and Th are very unhappy with what they see as another delay and blockage and that they intend to come and speak to me... But they don't. Instead, in the evening, it is Al.M who comes to meet P.G, G.M and I, as a representative of "Aspiration", to tell us how uneasy they feel over there at our position here at Matrimandir... So, once more, we are in the middle... Al.M acts very fraternal and listens and seems to assimilate some of what we try to explain to him, but... I don't know! It is tiring!

This morning as we were assembling our teams for the work, Ruud arrived very happy and positive. He expressed beautifully how he has reached a point where it is no longer the steel that matters, not even the construction, but a consciousness, an awareness that has been growing in us all and would eventually enable us to touch the true Auroville... And in our afternoon meeting at the office he again talks quietly about this psychic sense of trust, openness and mutual support, of the breaking of many formations and judgements and fears, and that this is the process that matters, out of which the way may open for us...

When we disperse in the evening, D.S comes to me; he tells me that, sometime back, Kishorilal had fallen very ill, without any tangible cause, and had called him to talk, to say that he felt this illness was not physically caused but was due to his acute sense of guilt, and that he knew it had to do with Auroville and his own relation to You; and that he'd asked whether anything could be done to heal it... At the time D.S was himself feeling too negative towards the Aurovilians and could see no opening for a resolution but, later, as we here came together, he had felt as if light had come and had told Kishorilal about it; and that was how, when he and Ruud had gone to him this time, Kishorilal had been ready to make a step. And now D.S was hopeful he could go back to him with our request for further clarity..

30-6-1979, Auroville:

Al.B came today, back from Delhi, with Kashmiri cherries, fresh and sweet. I was happy and moved that he had wanted to come here right away upon his return. A lot has happened here while he was away and he too has a lot to share of his experience there. He talks of the evidence he has found that there is NO change in Navajata's position and intent, on the contrary; and how, more seriously, Navajata has been instrumental in the fall of Indira Gandhi... I tell him where I think things stand at the moment... The communication is good and I feel even more that we are friends, concerned with a path that is real...

DOUCE MERE

"Because thou hast obeyed my timeless will
I lay my hands upon thy soul of flame,
I lay my hands upon thy heart of love,
I yoke thee to my power of work in Time..."

4-7-1979, Auroville:

The concreting could only start mid-afternoon. "My team" stays with me at the mixer. It is all a little hesitant at first, there are small incidents; then it goes well almost till the end when, by mistake, Narayana turns off the generator and there is a long delay before it runs again and, while bringing up a light through one of the towers, G.M slips and falls two meters down, catching hold of a wooden beam...

... With C.E and Miriam too it has been sometimes uneasy, the adjustments between us are often precarious and I struggle with my own attachments and insincerities...

I have prepared for FJ and Ch's arrival, cleared shelves, made room for them; we'll have to see how to live the 5 of us together!

... It is late again when we are at last ready to go up to sleep on the terrace; C.E is very open tonight and talks to me a long time, from his heart... I lie between him and Miriam, holding his hand, falling asleep when, suddenly, I experience this: my eyes closed, I see appear before me a few ROSES – absolutely present, powerful, so charged that it cuts my breath and I moan. A few roses, burnt gold, an orange gold burnt in flame; they are in a cup, and they are moving to me, as if presented to me... It lasts a few seconds, like a shock... I am filled with gratitude. And then I realise that C.E is holding me; he had thought I was distressed...!

5-7-1979, Auroville:

The 3 of us cycled down to "Tapoloka" for the PT meeting. It is very tedious. I feel uneasy with M.D, what has become of him, a sort of pretentiousness, so sure of himself... At one point he makes the statement that "Your Force is not at Matrimandir" on such a tone... I feel like going away! It is like he, and quite a few others like-minded ones, are not my brothers any more now than any of the "enemies" we maintain so carefully on the "other side" of too easy a line... I am sorry, Mother, I am sorry, Satprem, but I can't relate to that... It makes me wonder, deep down, what I am doing with these people and why do I care to respond to some moral sense of a collective truth and solidarity when individuals concerned are so... This isn't home!

Then C.E and I have to leave anyway, to catch our taxi... We both feel confirmed in our need to anchor ourselves even more deeply and solidly in our experience here at Matrimandir, and in "Sincerity"...

We reach Madras at 3 pm, the heat is awful; we do the purchases first, seeds, tools for Matrimandir; there is a huge traffic-jam, with thousands of people demonstrating, and we miss our appointment with Narad...

The flights are delayed. FJ and Ch arrive after 11 pm... It is good, immediate. It is after 3 am when we return here and they settle upstairs...

6-7-1979, Auroville:

On Narad's request, FJ and Ch have brought with them a rare species of orchid, from France; I take it to the Nursery this morning. Lately, for some weeks now, I have had much less sleep than one would normally think is necessary, and yet I find myself more alert and composed, there is much less inertia, it is interesting; I wouldn't have been able to maintain that as a willed discipline, it just happened through the circumstances and relationships...

7-7-1979, Auroville:

My dependency on C.E, on our relationship, is frightening. It seems the more I go the more vital, the more important it becomes: when it flows well I can be forward and available to others, and when it is obstructed I feel torn, pulled apart... There is fatigue too, an accumulation of it... There is the after-shock of the last general meeting, the foreignness of the positions expressed, and a kind of alienation I feel since then... And there is now the abrupt realisation of the changes age has worked in FJ and Ch... I am a bit lost today...!

And at work it must show, they all see my condition and gently tease me and hold and hug me, it is so comforting... Yet I need to go for a while up in the Chamber, and be by myself and let the tears out... The pain is there. And that sense of "better to kill myself" again... What was said, that "Your Force had withdrawn" from Matrimandir, has shaken me... My capacity is so limited...!

I seem to be touching my limits – the shell of the egg? But it is not a "finished" or complete organism that wants to burst out, it is a tentative awareness that needs to receive more, to grow beyond the shell...

It is FJ's birthday to day... We all spend the afternoon together and A.I.B and P.G and E.B come and the dialogue opens up with FJ, for which he has come... In the evening I take him alone to Matrimandir...

8-7-1979, Auroville:

I realise it is really up to me to clarify this situation. I call Miriam, while the others are resting, early afternoon; we sit very close together; I tell her that I find it is better for each of us at this point not to insist on living together, that each needs a distance and that we shall see later what is best and most meaningful; the talk is honest, loving and respectful, there is no bitterness. But to me this is all a mystery: in physical life one can only be engaged in one thing at a time and this is in contradiction with the inner truth and freedom; it forces one to "choose", that is, to reject, and this can never be right!

... This evening, a little shyly, with all his heart, FJ tells me how well and content he is to be here...!

10-7-1979, Auroville:

Last night Piero and GI were attacked in their house.

The thief, or as it appears the paid-killer, jumped over the courtyard wall, entered their room and started immediately to hit Piero with a steel bar; GI awoke and blindly jumped and lunged for the man and Piero rallied and managed to kick the man with both his legs and the man ran away, in the dark.

Piero has a broken jaw, one cheek wounded open and the teeth loosened, and a broken arm; GI has been wounded in the face and one shoulder, they are both in the hospital.

At first I can't feel, I can't see. There has been some deep unease lately, but where and how does this connect?

Jacq, Kiran and I drive over to Jipmer. Piero is able to speak slowly, he will have to be operated on, perhaps this coming Friday, his jaws will have to be wired for several weeks, it seems... He tries to answer the stupid questions this corrupt policeman is throwing at him...

And comes back to me the strange nightmare I had two nights ago, in which I had to be operated on and my mouth was stitched in two parts and there had been such a pain that it had wakened me up...

...We have a meeting of the Guard this afternoon, in "Certitude"; it is very confused, a flurry of opinions, statements, guesses... I am almost trembling when I say: "do we ask ourselves why Mother's force of protection was prevented to act...?". There is silence. Then GI calls me outside and tells me that I understand nothing, that I am blinded because we have not made a clear choice, we have let Kiran, Navajata's own daughter, come close to us and the contagion is clouding us; she adds that Huta has told her that Miriam is a vital being and a danger for Auroville, and yet I have taken her in... As she talks, she gets more upset and is about to weep...

I don't know... To me, it is rather this belief in "lines" and "sides" and this need of division that endangers us, that traps us...

Tonight after dinner P.G comes here, dejected: the people of "Aspiration" have asked him to make sure that Kiran is evicted, because through her we were exposed to the "contagion"... He'd refused and was unable to make himself understood...

11-7-1979, Auroville:

I drove to Jipmer and spent the morning, with GI, near Piero. The operation is delayed. While he is examined, GI and I have an opportunity to adjust to each other again, from our inner bond; she has not understood at all the path I have been following... We try...

12-7-1979, Auroville:

At the general meeting in "Tapoloka", K.T is the only one who speaks in a way and from a place I can attune to; he sees the attempt on Piero's life as a direct attempt to remove key elements from the work so as to disrupt and prevent the construction of Auroville's Soul, and that we must rally and concentrate and call Your Force into our acts and lives...

14-7-1979, Auroville:

Every day I go to Piero in Jipmer. Today C.E came with me. Piero was restless and tired; he hasn't had solid food for several days now. GI makes dramatic statements; she says that, uninvited, SSJ had come to visit Piero and she had been very hard on him, telling him he was largely responsible for what had happened – Huta has, it seems, pronounced on this and attributed occult responsibility to SSJ... Perhaps I am too opaque and insincere... But I cannot give in to these clear-cut views...!

... Since a few days a number of people have started to come to Matrimandir; mostly they sit in the office and turn it into a chattering place; CI and B.B, Dorothee, Myrtle, Diane, the children, all sit with Yus and Al.B; C.E. tells me that they do it from an instinctive urge to find shelter in some tangible sign of Your Presence... Perhaps it is so, and that feels good...

15-7-1979, Auroville:

It is Sunday, we have more time. FJ gets ready to articulate his questions and, on and off through the day, we resume our "entretiens", along with Ch who records them and joins in now and then, in her quiet, attentive, unobtrusive way... P.G, G.M, Al.B, Chr come and spend the evening with us; it is good that FJ is in direct contact with others here.

16-7-1979, Auroville:

Morarji Desai has resigned...!

The whole country seems to be wondering.

... A few more people have joined the work; that is, there is a lot more talk going, and some work too!

... Miriam came by with Ken; she looked and felt vague, uncollected; I hope Ken is good for her...

Piero has an abscess in the throat...

... This afternoon we recorded two full hours of "entretiens", the 4 of us sitting inside with the doors closed, in a very concentrated atmosphere, with a high degree of exigency in each of us, a need to be precise, honest, open, attentive...

17-7-1979, Auroville:

There is so much talk, talk, talk... I can't go on like this, I'll have to withdraw again, it is maddening... I feel again as if I'm snared into some kind of asylum where everyone is having some peculiar "disease" that oddly, strangely contradicts an apparent equilibrium... I miss Patricia: since her return from Delhi she has not been feeling well, and I want to go visit her...

... C.E and I drive over to Jipmer; Piero cannot talk, has to be fed with a pipe. GI tells me she had recalled a dream D.M had some months ago, which she had told her then, of Piero being killed in his house... Where is the Reality?

... We have our work-meeting in the office... Dayabhai and Talwar have been invited by Narad, who means to ask them to help with contacts for raising funds for Matrimandir... We discuss the program of work; Piero was able to give the calculations for the next concreting, but there is some resistance on the part of a few of us to do this particular concreting, as it marks the actual beginning of the casting of the sphere according to a design which they still do not favour.

I only feel to do whatever Matrimandir asks us to do and I find these influences and preferences very disturbing, in subtle ways. D.W suggests that, given the circumstances, we might as well postpone it for a few days...

18-7-1979, Auroville:

Seeing our shared commitment to honest, transparent and self-demanding dialogue, each one willing to be at one's best as a mark of respect and appreciation of the others' choices and experiences, it is so clear to me how the Grace has been acting throughout our lives; that their mingling was itself an act of Grace, that Grace presided over this inner choice that made us father and son, FJ and I... And I understand better now how, while I was still bent on self-destruction, it was hard for me to bear or even acknowledge these tokens of a certain conscious perfection leading my life, from within or from above...

22-7-1979, Auroville:

Today being Sunday we had planned to make it possible for several of us to join in the entretiens with FJ. Mid-afternoon, they started to arrive: Al.B and Chr, Patricia and F.Gr, G.M and Marcia, P.G, Jacq... The atmosphere is good, positive, concentrated; we are able to record over two full hours. FJ is wonderful, so present and alive and given and caring, it is a joy to watch and experience... Some tension is there too, and I realise it comes through a certain degree of violence, of frustration, in P.G, and that it also moves a little through F.Gr, though not in any obvious way...

This evening, C.E and I drive down to Jipmer, relieved and thankful to be by ourselves a little, just as the clouds burst and it starts pouring; we reach there fully drenched and shivering, but revigorated also; Piero is serious, austere; the operation is scheduled for tomorrow, although the infection is still active in his throat and jaws; he gives me some more instructions for the work...

26-7-1979, Auroville:

FJ and Ch have left in the night. Their presence here has been so good and true, it has been an intense time, exacting... and I want no one to live here with us for a while...!

... P.G is very upset that I have handed the work of the brochure to D.W, who wanted it so much; he sees it as just another assertion of ego negating the chance to complement one another; but it's not my way to cling to functions or tasks. Yet he has a right to be upset, as we have cared for this work together, and I should have consulted with him... Later he tells me of this morning's general meeting... It is sometimes uncanny how he can speak up my very thought, which I have left unformulated and yet, when he articulates it, it is strikingly the very words I would have picked for it! This has happened so often now that it makes me feel even more the necessity to discipline myself and learn to think only true thoughts, useful thoughts...!

28-7-1979, Auroville:

At tea-break there is uproar when it gets known that some 10 Aurovilians have met at Bharat Nivas on Navajata's invitation for some kind of "rapprochement" as regards land-use in Auroville, and Joss acted as coordinator. P.C is cornered about it; arguments fuse and fly... Then the talks veers onto the brochure: D.W has selected quotes from You and Sri Aurobindo to form the text and there can be no objection to it and I rather like it; but Myrtle declares that one of the texts I had prepared will go in the next Bulletin, while everyone agrees the other one will be used in the covering letter... When it is over, Narad comes to me very gently, saying that, as tomorrow will be his birthday, he intends to visit Huta and perhaps Nolini also, and he will take with him the list of requirement for Matrimandir which I have made...

30-7-1979, Auroville:

... A bunch of us meet in the casuarinas topes near to "Meadow" and we spend the morning pruning and loping branches for the Bakery. P.C and others seem to have realised the snare they'd been trapped into at Bharat Nivas the other day and have gone back there to retrieve the plans and maps, and there does not seem to be any chance of the SAS trying to stop us now, but still, the Guard is there, and I have the post of watchman for all...

31-7-1979, Auroville:

We have started again to play the tapes of Your Agenda, Volume 3, in the evenings here. Tonight we have to play the tape twice, as several of us have arrived late. Seated in the room with his student friend, I find M.B, just returned (both C and PBL have informed me by letter that he'd been advised to return to Auroville and that I might be able to help him face his difficulties).

Miriam has come too, with Ken; there is a definite pressure from her that I must come to her, that she is waiting for me; but I do not find my way there, as if some unreal cover was on it all and on her and needed first to be dissolved...

.....

Extraits d'entretiens
(Francis Jeanson – Divakar)
Juillet 1979, Auroville

FJ – Je lisais récemment un journal régional français où il était tranquillement question du « fiasco » d'Auroville... ! Qu'est-ce que tu penses de ça ?

D – Pas grand-chose. Je crois que c'est quelqu'un qui n'a pas fait la jonction avec ce qui se passe en lui-même, qui n'a pas réfléchi en lui-même à ce qui se passe...

FJ – Tu veux dire qu'il a pris ce qu'il a vu d'Auroville, l'a comparé à d'autres choses...

D – Il a eu une observation très rapide et facile, tu peux lire : le ton de son approche de Mère est très ordinaire, très facile...

FJ – Oui en effet, très journalistique en plus... Cependant il désigne, pour soutenir cette idée de « fiasco », un certain nombre d'avortements, de demi-échecs ou de non réalisations, et ça, c'est réel : par rapport à ce qui était prévu et annoncé...

D – Il ne faut pas confondre la propagande qui a été faite au début d'Auroville, et la réalité du chemin que Mère a donné... A l'inauguration d'Auroville, Mère terminait Son message avec les mots : « advienne que pourra ! »... On entrait sur le chemin, c'était l'aventure et qui voulait la partagerait et puis advienne que pourra... !

FJ – Mais ne crois-tu pas que ceux qui se sont engagés dans cette aventure sont tout de même partis sur des bases plus importantes, plus grandioses enfin, que celles sur lesquelles il aura fallu se replier ensuite ?

D – Oui, c'est l'impression que... Parce qu'au moment où tu fais le premier pas, tu te donnes à quelque chose qui est simplement très vaste, que tu peux plus ou moins bien formuler et qui correspond à ton aspiration ; mais du moment où tu commences à marcher, tu marches dans la vie et c'est la vie, ce sont les choses de la vie qui doivent changer... ! Ce n'est pas un repliement ; c'est peut-être un ajustement nécessaire entre différentes parties de soi-même, dans le temps et dans l'expérience.

FJ – Est-ce qu'on ne peut pas dire quand même qu'il y a eu un premier temps de la marche qui était plus rapide, plus fort, où les choses avançaient quand même plus... ?

D – Jusqu'à ce que Mère ne puisse plus physiquement intervenir, il y avait vraiment cette atmosphère très puissante qu'Elle mettait – physiquement, dans tous les mouvements ; et ça, c'est un peu retiré, c'est-à-dire que ça s'est voilé, et d'autres choses sont venues en avant, qui doivent être comprises, disons, sans le secours de cette Aide très tangible, et... il faut trouver cette Aide autrement...

FJ - ... N'est-il pas vrai que pendant cette première période vous avez aussi bénéficié d'apports, de soutiens, d'aides extérieures ?

D - ... Tant que l'idéal n'est pas empiété par les contradictions de l'expérience, il y a une grande impulsion ; les gens y répondent, ils donnent et participent et puis, à la moindre... disons, déformation de cet idéal dans les faits... c'est-à-dire que leur engagement est plutôt un engagement d'intention, pas un engagement entier...

...

FJ - ... mais tu m'as dit je crois, pendant une première période il y a eu malgré tout un recours à une main d'œuvre extérieure, à des ouvriers... Comment cela a-t-il cessé ? Pour quelles raisons ?

D - Tu parles de Matrimandir ? Il y a eu une main d'œuvre très importante quand il a fallu faire l'excavation ; au début, les Aurovilliens voulaient le faire eux-mêmes et puis Mère a vu le temps que cela prenait et Elle a dit : « Ca, ça ne marchera pas, il faut faire plus vite, il faut commencer la construction plus tôt... ». Ca a continué pendant la première phase de la construction... mais la nécessité n'était plus la même et c'était plutôt une grande confusion qu'une efficacité... Puis il y a eu des jeux de forces et les choses se sont passées de telle manière qu'ils ont commencé à revendiquer, à se dire qu'ils pouvaient peut-être tirer plus de la situation. Et à propos de ça, Mère avait bien dit que c'était préférable de ne pas en dépendre, parce qu'ainsi le travail continuerait toujours...

D - ... En général il y a eu des projets qui n'ont jamais été achevés, qui ne correspondaient plus aux nécessités ou aux priorités du moment, qui devenaient trop superficiels par rapport à ce qui devait se faire d'abord...

FJ - Comment est-ce que tu situes le problème de l'école ?

D - Non, l'école, c'était toujours clair que c'était la « dernière école »... On finissait la boucle d'une éducation traditionnelle et on devait trouver ce qui venait après. C'était davantage dirigé vers un environnement, quelque chose de beaucoup plus réparti dans la vie, de beaucoup plus entier...

...

FJ - ... On dirait que l'essentiel s'est déplacé dans deux directions opposées : à un extrême vers des tâches concrètes presque de survie quotidienne et ; à l'autre, une tâche hautement symbolique qui est la construction du Matrimandir... Le mot « symbolique » te gêne ? ... Je vois bien que le béton est une réalité mais je veux dire que le produit de cette tâche est un grand symbole ; il ne s'agit pas de produire une habitation ou de quoi se nourrir ou se vêtir, il s'agit vraiment de produire un symbole qui est peut-être quelque chose de plus, mais quoi ?

D - Non, mais tu peux quand même parler d'habitation, c'est... c'est notre maison vraiment, je ne sais pas...

FJ - Oui, comme on dit dans d'autres contextes « la maison de Dieu », comme on le dit d'une cathédrale par exemple...

D – Oui, mais là c’est plus que « Dieu », c’est beaucoup plus proche, c’est beaucoup plus intime à chacun...

... Il y a la nécessité que, quoi qu’il se fasse, quelque organisation de vie qui se forme, ce soit l’expression d’une Vérité centrale ; il faut que cette Vérité centrale ait d’abord sa place, et c’est Matrimandir sa place matérielle ; parce que c’est Elle qui donne la lumière et la capacité de discerner, de savoir ce qui vient et de le vivre...

...

FJ - ... J’ai entendu un nommé Lapira un jour, qui était chrétien et le maire de Florence, dire « il n’y a pas de village humain quand il n’y a pas de source au centre »... C’est un peu ça aussi ?

D – Oui...

FJ – Et ce sera un lieu de recueillement, de méditation ?

D – De concentration...

FJ – Et tu insistais sur le fait que cela concerne chacun personnellement, ce qui semblerait vouloir dire que ça ne doit pas être considéré en aucune manière comme un temple ?

D – Non, il n’y a pas d’intermédiaires...

FJ – Et il n’est pas nécessaire d’y aller ensemble ?

D – Non.

FJ – Cependant vous tenez beaucoup à ce qu’ensemble vous soyez en référence...

D – Mais ça c’est une conséquence... comme l’unité des Aurovilliens est une conséquence...

...

FJ - ... Tout se passe comme si la communion, en quelque sorte, que d’autres vont chercher dans le fait de méditer, de se recueillir ensemble, vous la réalisez au plan du travail, de la pratique quotidienne...

D – Il n’y a pas de séparation... Il n’y a pas de moments où on est ensemble et des moments où on est seul – on peut être toujours seul et toujours ensemble à la fois... Il n’y a pas de séparation... c’est ce que l’on apprend ici !

FJ – Oui, mais il semble tout de même que l’accent soit mis sur le collectif quand il s’agit d’activités pratiques et sur l’individuel quand il s’agit d’une espèce de branchement spirituel...

D - ... Il faut apprendre à se référer de mieux en mieux intérieurement et directement, donc individuellement. Mais ... plus on le fait chacun et plus on est ensemble et dans tout, dans la vie, dans toutes les activités, dans le sommeil aussi bien... Il n’y a pas cette séparation ; c’est quelque chose qui grandit. C’est l’effet intérieur, si tu veux, mais aussi extérieur, qui résulte à la fois dans un contact plus permanent et plus réel et dans une unité plus grande et plus solide... On ne peut pas laisser l’une des deux choses. L’une demande l’autre, nécessairement.

... C’est sûr que la plénitude que tu atteins quand tu n’es plus seul mais que tu es beaucoup, est bien plus grande, bien plus entière que si tu es tout seul, tout seul parmi des étrangers, si tu veux...

FJ – Oui, mais il me semble – je me trompe peut-être – que quand vous êtes physiquement ensemble, ce n’est pas de ça qu’il est question...

D – Mais c’est ça la nécessité, la première nécessité, et c’est ça qui nous apprend à réagir mieux ; mais on ne va pas parler de ça, on va parler des choses auxquelles on doit réagir mieux...

FJ - ... Mais tu disais que, quand on est nombreux à se brancher, le branchement est plus fort... Pourtant, ce n'est jamais pour ça que vous vous réunissez, ce n'est jamais pour vous brancher ?

D - Ca peut arriver qu'on éprouve le besoin de se concentrer ensemble, mais c'est alors dans le sens d'un appel, d'un besoin vraiment pressant, quelque chose qu'on ne peut pas décider à l'avance, ni organiser, parce que ça doit venir d'un mouvement, d'une nécessité...

FJ - Oui, ça n'a rien d'une cérémonie rituelle, évidemment...

FJ - ... Si je te demandais de différencier les types de difficultés que rencontre Auroville, que vous vivez depuis que vous êtes au travail... ?

D - Je crois qu'on touche au fur et à mesure, autant qu'on en est capables - c'est toujours à la limite de notre endurance -, toutes les impossibilités, ce qui peut être perçu comme les contradictions de la possibilité du progrès... On les touche sur tous les plans et dans la vie, autant qu'on peut le supporter. Je ne sais pas comment on peut différencier... Mais on les touche comme à la racine, elles n'ont pas besoin de se développer, ce n'est pas spectaculaire, on les touche là où elles surgissent, là où elles prennent, à la racine... On n'a pas besoin d'attendre que les choses prennent de telles proportions...

FJ - ... qu'on est contraint d'en tenir compte !

D - Et alors c'est généralement trop tard, parce qu'on devient des victimes, ou on se révolte, mais on n'a plus le contact avec le moment - dans la conscience - où cela vient comme une contradiction...

... Ce sont comme des nœuds qui, pour ce qui en nous a l'habitude de traiter avec la vie, sont des impossibilités - qui sont stimulantes pour beaucoup d'êtres, pour chercher des solutions, mais ici on n'a pas beaucoup de foi en ces solutions, on va chercher quelque chose de plus... Et c'est difficile à formuler... On peut suivre des « lignes » quelques fois, on peut dire qu'on va suivre la « ligne écologique » par exemple, mais on est conscient en même temps que ça se passe plus profondément que ça, que c'est un nœud qui se situe plus profondément et que, peut-être, il y a un moyen plus simple : pas un moyen comme on l'entend, mais un pas de conscience, plus réel qu'une solution extérieure...

FJ - ... Mais qu'est-ce qui vous rend si attentifs à l'émergence des difficultés, à leur apparition, alors qu'ailleurs en effet, on...

D - C'est... le mystère d'Auroville... c'est la Présence qui est là et qui nous... « focalise »... On n'y échappe pas, c'est comme un faisceau... D'un point à un autre, d'un point à un autre, comme ça, il y a comme un faisceau qui se promène... On ne fait pas le progrès en une seule fois, mais il y a un petit peu de compréhension et puis on y revient plus tard... Et ce n'est pas une volonté programmée, ce n'est pas une décision de s'occuper de ça, puis de ça et ça, ce n'est pas ainsi que ça se passe... Et quelquefois ça va très vite...

FJ - ... Peut-on faire la distinction entre des difficultés proprement extérieures et des difficultés proprement intérieures, qui viennent de vous ?

D - Je crois qu'on peut seulement distinguer entre les difficultés qui viennent de la dimension plus complexe de la société humaine - le fait par exemple qu'on est dans tel pays et que les conditions y sont telles, nécessairement ça a une action, ça interfère, ou contribue... Ca, on pourrait appeler une difficulté extérieure ; mais même là, on a toujours des points de référence intérieurs, dans les choses de la vie, par exemple avec les villageois - on peut toucher la difficulté, la ressentir véritablement...

FJ – En somme tu veux dire que les difficultés des situations, qu'on pourrait appeler extérieures, se modifient selon l'attitude que l'on adopte à leur égard, selon le regard que l'on porte sur elles ?

D – Sûrement, oui... Je ne sais pas si elles se modifient dans les faits, mais dans les effets psychologiques, sûrement.

FJ – Est-ce que l'on pourrait dire qu'il y a des difficultés qui viennent purement de vos propres résistances, au niveau de ce regard qu'il vous faudrait porter... ?

D – Mais même là, même si tu dis « c'est moi qui résiste », tu peux sentir un peu d'où ça vient, et savoir que ça ne t'est pas particulier, c'est quelque chose qui est dans la substance – là non plus ce n'est pas séparé...

FJ – Est-ce que tu veux dire aussi que ce n'est pas considéré par vous comme une « faute » ?

D – On essaie de se libérer de ça, oui. Ce n'est pas facile. Mais on sait que c'est un piège.

FJ – Le jugement moral ?

D – Oui.

FJ – Il ré intervient ?

D – Tu sais... on en est pétri ! La culpabilité est déterminante dans le comportement ! Mais on est convaincus que c'est un piège, que c'est vraiment une fausse perception, une perception ajoutée... Mais il ne faut justement pas interpréter ce que je dis là au sens moral (« il dit ça, donc ça leur donne une licence ! ... ils ont rejeté la morale, alors ils peuvent faire n'importe quoi ! »)... Il y a cet aphorisme de Sri Aurobindo, je ne me souviens plus exactement, où il montre que ce qui était une aide, à un moment donné, devient une entrave, par la suite...

Le jugement moral, la conscience morale, peut être une aide, mais éventuellement ça devient une entrave. Mais il ne faut pas jouer avec ça. Il faut vraiment que cela corresponde à un besoin ; c'est comme un couvercle, si tu veux, qui tient quand même un certain nombre de choses relativement tranquilles... Il faut quand même être devenu capable de se référer à quelque chose de plus fort, de plus conscient, avant d'enlever le couvercle... Mais on s'aperçoit alors que ce n'est pas facile de l'ôter, ce n'est pas seulement un couvercle posé, c'est une sorte d'étreinte dans toutes les perceptions, quelque chose qui atteint très profond et très loin dans le passé et le vécu...

FJ - ... Mais alors qu'est-ce que vous faites par ailleurs de ce que nous appelons la responsabilité...

D – Il faut apprendre le vrai sens de... Pour un occidental, responsabilité et culpabilité sont deux choses très liées, très mêlées... Il faut apprendre à être responsable sans se mettre à la place de Ce qui fait vraiment...

FJ – Mais, pour moi, j'irais jusqu'à dire qu'il ne peut y avoir de responsabilité quand il y a culpabilité... !

D – Il y a un pas qui est facilité dans le Yoga pour apprendre ça : c'est l'expérience de ce qu'est le Service, de travailler, d'agir, dans un esprit de service ; tu offres tes énergies, tes capacités qui sont appelées à progresser, tu offres tout ça dans un mouvement de service ; et ça t'oblige aussi à développer certaines qualités de persévérance, de courage, d'égalité...

FJ - ... Il y a peut-être alors deux aspects : la responsabilité vis-à-vis du Service dont tu parles, et la responsabilité vis-à-vis de ceux qui sont engagés avec toi dans le même Service ?

D – Là non plus, il n'y a pas de séparation... Tu apprends à le faire avec respect, et en te libérant de l'ego...

FJ - ... Mais est-ce que l'un des dangers n'est pas qu'une espèce de dichotomie s'opère... ?

D – C'est seulement un danger quand tu n'es pas assez sincère, quand tu te racontes des histoires intérieurement...

...

FJ - ... Il y a une pensée, celle de Sri Aurobindo, qui est votre source d'inspiration...

D – Mais la « pensée » qu'Il a exprimée est l'expression d'une Présence... C'est la Présence qui compte d'abord...

FJ – Mais cette Présence, vous la connaissez à travers cette pensée !

D – Non. On la connaît par l'expérience. La base, c'est l'expérience.

FJ – Mais enfin vous n'auriez jamais, sans doute, vécu cette expérience s'il n'y avait pas eu le médiateur de...

D – Non, pas du tout. Beaucoup d'entre nous ont eu l'expérience d'abord, sans encore avoir jamais rien lu.

FJ – Mais alors, ils ont l'expérience de quoi, à ce moment-là ?

D – De ce qu'Il est, de ce que C'est, de pourquoi on est là, de Ce qui nous guide, de Ce que Mère est... Il y en a beaucoup parmi nous qui sont venus et qui sont restés et qui ont quelque chose, et pourtant ils n'ont toujours rien lu... Bien sûr, c'est souvent dommage de ne pas utiliser tous les cadeaux qu'Il a laissés...

FJ – Mais comment pouvez-vous communiquer, alors ? Comment peux-tu être sûr que c'est la même expérience ?

D – Mais quand tu l'as, tu l'as, et quand l'autre l'a, tu sais que c'est la même !

FJ – Alors, d'une certaine manière, vous communiquez d'expérience à expérience ?

D – Oui, c'est direct.

FJ – Sans passer par, disons, le mental ?

D – Non. Ce n'est pas mystérieux, c'est le fait de la reconnaissance... De même qu'on a reconnu Mère, on se reconnaît les uns les autres quand on L'a reconnue...

FJ – On peut quand même supposer que si chacune des personnes qui sont présentes à Auroville se mettait à formuler son rapport à la Vérité, cela donnerait tout de même des formulations bien différentes les unes des autres... ?

D – Bien sûr !

FJ - ... Prenons un exemple. Quelqu'un arrive et dit : « Moi, j'ai envie de vivre ici, j'ai envie de devenir Aurovillien ! » Est-ce qu'il y a des cas où les Aurovilliens qui sont déjà là disent : « Non, ce n'est pas son affaire, il se trompe... » ?

D – Oui, c'est difficile ; ce que représente Auroville, pour quelqu'un qui arrive, peut varier presque infiniment, et ça ne correspond pas forcément à l'expérience d'Auroville ici et maintenant... En fait il n'y a guère de raison valable de refuser le droit à quiconque d'être à Auroville, à moins que sa conduite démontre clairement qu'il n'est pas en état, actuellement, de vivre l'expérience...

FJ - ... Il n'y a pas de lois, évidemment !

D – Non ! ... C'est arrivé nombre de fois qu'il y ait des gens qui viennent et qui ne gardent pas l'équilibre, par exemple. Et là ; qu'est-ce qu'on fait ? On est tous concernés. On peut se dire : notre atmosphère, l'atmosphère que nous produisons, n'est pas suffisamment claire, suffisamment évoluée, forte, pour aider quelqu'un qui se trouve dans cette situation... On ne va pas essayer, tu comprends, de recoller les morceaux, il faut trouver vraiment ! Ou on peut se dire simplement : il faut qu'il revoie la chose en lui-même ailleurs, parce que c'est difficile d'être ici, de toutes manières ; c'est toujours mieux pour la personne, à ce stade, qu'elle ne reste pas...

FJ – Il reste le cas où la personne ne comprend pas et veut rester...

D – Oui. Ca nous est arrivé d'avoir à expulser quelqu'un... En général, si la personne insiste, c'est à ses propres dépens ; elle devient très négative et l'image qui lui est renvoyée devient aussi très négative; alors il faut vraiment une rupture, pour qu'elle ait l'occasion et le champ nécessaire pour se reprendre... Cela devient quelquefois comme une sorte d'hypnotisme : la personne se sent hypnotisée par le fait d'être ici et la volonté de rester n'est pas claire quant à ce qui la fonde ; et s'il y a une possibilité de déséquilibre, elle s'intensifie beaucoup ; alors ce n'est pas bon du tout !

FJ - ... Je vais faire un rapprochement un peu burlesque : on imagine des citoyens dans un pays occidental qui à un moment donné diraient : « Non, on refuse de voter, on n'est pas encore dans l'attitude voulue pour se prononcer, et donc même pour fixer la date des élections... » !

D – Oui, ce serait intéressant, ce serait certainement un grand progrès !

FJ – Justement, Auroville a l'air de fonctionner sans organisation, en tous les cas sans que l'existence d'une relative organisation s'accompagne de phénomènes de Pouvoir... Est-ce que je me trompe ?

D – C'est un exercice... Il y a la petite phrase de Mère : « Ce qu'il faudrait pour Auroville, c'est une anarchie divine... »... On est passés à travers toutes sortes de négations de l'organisation en tant que système et on apprend quelque chose qui ne peut pas encore se formuler...

FJ - ... Mais à un moment quelconque il doit bien y avoir une espèce de choix de décision... Il n'y a pas d'instance qui soit là pour prendre ces décisions, pour faire ces choix ?

D – Non, pas encore. Mais tout de même les choix se font... On n'a pas encore, justement, cette Transparence, elle n'est pas encore suffisante, pour que chacun trouve sa juste place, sa fonction, sa responsabilité... En fait, on ne sait pas !

FJ – Enfin, il y a une chose troublante, c'est qu'Auroville existe, depuis quand même un bon nombre d'années et que, pratiquement, il n'y a pas de gouvernement d'Auroville ; il n'y a pas d'Instance qui soit là pour trancher en cas de besoin...

D - ... Ce à quoi on voudrait arriver, je crois, c'est au point où peuvent se former des canaux, des organes qui canalisent, dans les deux sens – recevoir les informations et garder ou donner l'orientation et faire les pas en avant... On est, je crois, dans un processus qui tend vers ça...

FJ - ... Une espèce d'organe qui prenne conscience de l'ensemble de façon à pouvoir l'exprimer...

D – Oui...

FJ – Sous forme d'une Orientation, en gardant le contact et l'Orientation...

D – Oui...

...

FJ - ... Quand on touche à une dimension pour résoudre tel ou tel problème, ça retentit sur les autres. Il y a intérêt à avoir une saisie d'ensemble des différentes dimensions en présence... Est-ce que ce ne serait pas un peu le rôle que vous signaliez, que vous appelez la Coopérative ?

D – Oui, on voudrait que ceux qui en sont membres soient suffisamment conscients de tout ce qui se joue à Auroville, de tous ses éléments, et soient capables en même temps, dans le contact avec l'extérieur, de porter l'Orientation... Ce sont des conditions qui ne sont pas faciles. Ce qu'on peut dire, c'est qu'il y a un travail psychologique intense qui se fait là-dessus... Jusqu'à présent, cela n'a pas fonctionné ; la pratique s'est réduite à voir comment on réagissait à certains problèmes... il y a tout un problème de vocation, de confiance... Il faut arriver à une confiance fondée, enfin... C'est tout un équilibre... Il ne faut pas oublier que toutes les attitudes sont représentées, toutes les peurs aussi, toutes les craintes de retomber dans ce que chacun a connu ailleurs...

FJ - ... Mais cette Coopérative joue tout de même le rôle d'une référence commune !

D - C'est très récent, ça !

FJ - C'est-à-dire qu'il y a eu une période sans même ce minimum ?

D - Oui ; du moment où on s'est séparés de cette Institution qui cherchait à administrer Auroville d'une manière extérieure et arbitraire... On a passé presque trois ans où le seul moyen qu'on avait de... rassembler nos énergies dans un sens de décision, de choix, c'était de se réunir tous ensemble physiquement... Tous ensemble, autant que possible, parce que les positions étaient très différentes et souvent divergentes, mais un nombre suffisamment représentatif pour qu'on puisse un peu s'orienter...

... Maintenant on est très conscients qu'il faut cette concentration, pour marcher en avant ; donc on cherche les moyens de cette concentration, dans la transparence nécessaire...

...

FJ - ... Je vous entends souvent dire, quand il y a des difficultés, qu'il « faut demander à Mère »... Il faut en quelque sorte se mettre dans l'attitude voulue pour que Mère puisse vous aider... Comment faut-il comprendre cela ? Tu vas me dire que c'est une...

D - Je ne dirai rien !

(rires)

FJ - ... Est-ce que vous estimez que la Mère est toujours, effectivement, en tant qu'elle-même, vivante, et en train de travailler pour vous, de vous aider...

D - De faire Son Travail, oui.

FJ - ... Est-ce que cela ne prend pas la forme parfois, plus ou moins, de ces invocations à la Divinité, comme ces femmes espagnoles qui s'adressaient à la Madone pour que leurs amants puissent les rejoindre sans danger, enfin tu vois...

(rires)

... Est-ce qu'on n'est pas tentés un peu d'utiliser Mère pour qu'il pleuve, pour qu'il cesse de pleuvoir ? Enfin...

D - Je n'espère pas ! Mais pour nous Mère n'est pas « morte », n'est-ce pas !

FJ - Par rapport à ça, quel sens peut-il y avoir d'aller se recueillir sur sa tombe ?

D - Ça, il faut le demander à chacun...

FJ - Oui, pour toi ?

D - C'est un endroit extrêmement privilégié ; privilégié dans le sens d'une atmosphère qui est libre de toute influence, si tu veux ; où tu es sûr que rien ne peut intervenir dans ton contact, sinon ta propre épaisseur, si tu veux...

FJ - Donc c'est vraiment une espèce de concentration... où le reste ne risque pas de faire écran...

D - Oui, c'est un endroit où tu peux le faire...

...

FJ - ... À l'heure actuelle, comment pourrais-tu situer Auroville par rapport à l'Ashram ?

D - Je crois que ça ne se situe pas par rapport à l'Ashram, je crois que ça se situe par rapport à Mère, par rapport à Son Travail. C'est une autre dimension de Son Travail, si tu veux.. La relation de l'Ashram est à Mère, la relation d'Auroville est à Mère, et le relation des deux est plutôt secondaire...

... il y a un aspect, disons d'inspiration, qui peut venir de l'Ashram, dans la mesure où des individus y ont beaucoup évolué ; donc ils peuvent apporter, s'ils le veulent et si la réceptivité est là. Mais Mère Elle-même ne souhaitait pas insister sur cette relation....

FJ - ... Mais comment, pourquoi Mère a-t-elle voulu Auroville, comment l'a-t-elle vu ?

D - Elle l'a vu... de tant de manières !... Comme un lieu où les hommes pourraient vivre en harmonie, comme un laboratoire d'évolution accélérée - comme une forge, comme une possibilité très importante d'éviter une catastrophe... Elle l'a vu comme une réponse à un besoin, comme un lieu pour passer, pour faire la transition à ce qui va venir... comme un moyen d'incarner un peu le futur, d'incarner ensemble collectivement, dans l'atmosphère terrestre... Comme un lieu libre de toute influence, libre de se donner entièrement à l'avenir, dans toutes les activités de la vie, dans tous les mouvements...

FJ _ Et sans aucune forme de religion ?

D - Sans religion. La religion dans le contexte d'une étude du développement de la conscience humaine, mais rien au présent et encore moins à l'avenir...

FJ - La religion n'est qu'au passé ?

D - Oui. C'est l'expérience du passé.

...

FJ - ... Je voudrais revenir sur ce terme de « rédemption »... Je me réfère à un texte de Mère où elle dit : « Au point de vue européen, c'est (ce que représente Sri Aurobindo) une immense révolution spirituelle qui réhabilite la matière et la création... »... Mais si cette matière à un moment donné a été créée différente du Divin et qu'ensuite il y ait eu lieu de la « reprendre », c'est bien un peu la même chose ? C'est une querelle de mots à ce moment-là ?

D - ... Quelquefois Mère a essayé d'expliquer pourquoi et comment il y a eu cette séparation, en utilisant des images des anciennes traditions ; par exemple pour illustrer ce qui peut advenir dans la conscience... quand Elle parle de l'Amour, l'Amour qui est venu faire le joint et rétablir le contact... Le mot « réhabiliter », là, c'est spécifiquement pour la conscience de ceux qui croient, qui ont cru à la chute parce qu'on leur a dit que c'était comme ça... Selon cette très ancienne tradition, l'Amour était l'aide et l'énergie du Suprême descendue tout au fond de l'inconscient qui a commencé un lent travail de « perméation », d'imprégnation de toute cette inconscience et qui peu à peu émerge à travers l'évolution et rétablit le contact... Et alors cela se passe aussi dans les individus, à travers ce que Sri Aurobindo appelle « l'être psychique »... C'est dans ce sens que l'on peut parler de rédemption...

FJ - ... Mais si au point de départ il y a l'Inconscient - s'il y a cette dualité...

D - Pour beaucoup de gens qui font le Yoga, on va chercher le Divin là où Il est « pur », c'est-à-dire tout en haut, là où ce n'est pas mélangé, où, en tous cas, on n'a pas de peine à Le trouver... Mais alors on oublie l'autre dimension du Divin qui est partout, qui est tout, sans Qui il n'y a rien... !

...

FJ - ... Il semble, d'après ce que tu m'as dit, qu'il y ait toujours, par-delà l'apparence de la mort, une réalité où la mort ne triomphe pas... Donc, à la limite, dans la réalité au sens le plus fort du terme, la mort n'existe pas... ? Et alors, qu'en est-il du corps ? Peut-on dire que le corps meurt, ou y a-t-il encore quelque chose... ?

D - Non, le corps meurt.

FJ - Le corps se décompose...

D - Oui, se désagrège...

FJ - Qu'en est-il alors du travail opéré sur le corps, du travail jusqu'au niveau des cellules ?

D - Mais personne jusqu'à présent ne s'était vraiment penché sur ce qu'est la conscience du corps...

FJ - La conscience de la chair ? En tant qu'organisation cellulaire ?

D - Non. La chair, c'est un concept. La conscience que le corps a de lui-même, de ses propres mouvements et besoins, non pas dans notre transcription mais en soi...

FJ - ... Mais c'est le terme même de conscience qui, alors, devient un concept pour moi... Pour moi il n'y a de compréhension que lorsqu'il y a un niveau d'organisation... tandis que si l'on passe à l'élément constituant, pour moi, ce n'est rien, il n'y a plus rien...

D - ... Peut-être que pour toi, la conscience est comprise plutôt comme un résultat, alors que je me réfère à la conscience comme base, que ce soit à travers une organisation ou un élément ou même un non manifesté, cela existe avant même le manifesté... c'est le Fait essentiel...

FJ - Ce serait quoi alors, une espèce de force disponible ?

D - ... Oui, en ce sens que sans la conscience il n'y a rien du tout. Tout ce que l'on peut observer, tout, ce sont seulement des expressions - observées depuis la séparation - de la conscience...

FJ - ... Moi j'ai été formé à penser qu'il n'y a conscience que « conscience de quelque chose »... comme une espèce de visée qui n'existe qu'en visant telle ou telle chose... alors que ce dont tu parles se situerait antérieurement à toute visée...

D - Bien sûr ! D'où la sortir, cette conscience qui n'existerait que par rapport à un objet ?

FJ - Mais justement, je ne suis pas métaphysicien, je n'essaie pas de la sortir de nulle part !... Je ne peux pas, je n'arrive pas à voir ce que pourrait être la conscience à l'état pur, qui serait conscience en soi, sans avoir besoin d'être conscience de quelque chose...

D - ... Prenons-le autrement... Pour en revenir au corps, qu'est-ce qui fait que le corps a ses propres perceptions, sa propre aspiration, sa propre foi, quelque chose qui lui est absolument unique ? ... Jusqu'à présent, même quand on se tournait vers la vie spirituelle, la tendance était vers le salut individuel, la libération des contradictions et de toutes les limitations, peut-être une certaine amélioration des conditions de la vie humaine, mais jamais la préoccupation du corps, de la matière, de sa transformation... Mais maintenant il y a la possibilité d'un devenir qui embrasse tous les plans, qui se reconnaît dans la matière et qui se FAIT dans la matière... Pas en essayant de l'améliorer le temps que ... ça dure, mais vraiment en s'y situant... Et par le fait que cette présence, cette aspiration ne se détourne pas mais au contraire éprouve le besoin d'une intégralité de la manifestation, il se produit quelque chose pour le corps, un contact s'établit... et il se révèle finalement comme le lieu même où les choses comprises vraiment se réalisent... Et c'est là que tu te rends compte que la mort n'a pas vraiment de raison d'être, essentiellement...

FJ - ... Il y a quelqu'un que tu as bien connu, Jean Genêt, qui disait tranquillement : « Il n'a rien compris à ce que je lui disais parce qu'il a pensé avec sa tête alors que ça ne devient vrai que si ça entre par les pieds et que ça aboutit à la tête... ! » Que les idées prennent corps, ça je le reçois ; mais là encore, pour moi, c'est le corps organisme, ce n'est pas le corps au niveau de sa composition élémentaire...

D - Mais la même chose se produit dans chaque partie de l'être ; quand il y a une certaine concentration et un certain besoin de retrouver sa propre vérité, cette vérité qui te fait exister, qui te soutient vraiment... il y a cette découverte intérieure de cette présence qui est là... et c'est la même chose qui se produit pour le corps, quand il éprouve ce besoin, il reconnaît cette réalité qui le soutient et l'habite...

FJ - ... Mais au niveau des cellules, des gènes, il semble bien, d'après les connaissances scientifiques actuelles, que l'organisme humain est programmé pour mourir. Génétiquement. Alors s'agit-il de changer quelque chose à ça, d'exercer une espèce de pouvoir là-dessus, de modifier ou transformer la base physique, la loi de la nature ?

D - Je ne me sens pas capable... Ce que je sens, c'est que ce qu'on appelle les lois de la nature, même les lois soi-disant observables, à tous les niveaux, elles sont à la mesure de la conscience incarnée, de son niveau d'évolution... Et que la conscience se développe, à travers toutes les expériences et il arrive un point, nécessairement où ces « lois », quelles qu'elles soient, deviennent caduques... Alors peut-être y a-t-il, à ce moment-là, un passage, une transition, où on ne sait pas si on doit se soumettre, si on doit continuer de se soumettre à une sorte d'organisation rigide, inéluctable, qu'on l'appelle « destin » ou « lois de la nature » ou « condition humaine » - qu'on l'appelle comme on veut, ça ne change rien -... Mais s'il y a une possibilité d'aller plus loin, que tout ça devienne plus vrai, que toutes ces limites et toutes ces lois se défassent dans une réalité plus vraie, plus plastique, plus proche de ce dont on a l'expérience dans la conscience ? Je crois que je préfère essayer de suivre ça plutôt que d'expliquer...

FJ - ... Mais on pourrait dire aussi que, d'une certaine manière, si la conscience individuelle progresse beaucoup, elle cesse d'être individuelle, elle ne réclame plus de demeurer subjective et elle a donc en quelque sorte triomphé de la mort...

D - Mais ce serait bien dommage que cela se passe seulement comme ça !

FJ - Mais je demande justement... Est-ce que c'est un changement de regard qui fait que les mêmes lois apparaissent différemment, sont vécues différemment, et n'ont plus la même importance, ou bien...

D - Mais c'est aussi ça à la fois ! C'est du fait que la conscience se développe, qu'elle atteint une plus grande intensité, qu'elle touche plus, que son besoin est plus grand, qu'elle accède... à une force plus centrale... Et cette force est concrète ! Tu peux dire qu'un « élément » nouveau est intervenu dans le jeu du monde, mais tu peux dire aussi que c'était toujours là et que la conscience, à travers l'homme, s'est intensifiée tellement qu'elle en a pris conscience et qu'à ce moment-là ça a pu agir. Il y a besoin et il y a réponse. Et tu trouves la même chose, qui s'ouvre aussi bien dans la matière, dans le corps...

FJ - ... Peux-tu me préciser ce que tu perdrais si l'on n'éprouvait plus aucun besoin d'avoir une conscience « subjective » ?

D - Mais la joie de la diversité, la joie de l'unicité de chacun... !

FJ - ... Mais il y a toujours une espèce de concrétisation dans un « moi »...

D - Ce qu'on appelle l'ego - avec le sens de l'obstacle, de la déformation, de l'opacité, de l'interférence - c'est une manière d'être surtout, un mode ; même dans la perception ; c'est un arrangement qui fait qu'on se cristallise, qu'on se durcit, qu'on se sépare et qu'on tient à cette séparation ou qu'on se reconnaît à travers elle... C'est très nécessaire pendant longtemps pour se donner le temps de se reconnaître intérieurement, de se développer aussi, à l'intérieur ou presque à l'abri de ça, mais après...

...

FJ - ... Tu sembles considérer qu'il y a d'une part le corps avec cette conscience qui doit le traverser, le reprendre, resurgir de lui en quelque sorte et, d'autre part, une espèce de mécanisme aveugle qui serait la fonction reproductrice, et que ceci nuirait à cela... Je te dirais que pour ma part, je crois que l'homme a déjà de bien des manières assez largement déjoué ce côté mécanique...

D - Oui, parce qu'il y a trouvé une joie, un plaisir qu'il a raffiné, comme un moyen de se rencontrer...

FJ - Certainement ; mais ce qui m'intéresse, c'est cette continuité depuis le désir sous sa forme, disons, la plus humble, le désir d'une petite volupté passagère, jusqu'au désir de la béatitude infinie... C'est toujours du désir, pour moi : c'est la vitalité accompagnée de son manque d'être, la conscience de son manque d'être, en quelque sorte... Et je me demande, alors qu'on dit que le Divin doit « descendre » dans la matière pour la « reprendre », on n'est pas en train de renier ce mouvement même en court-circuitant ce qui est de l'ordre du désir, comme si ça devait nécessairement être mauvais, et se mettre en travers de tout cheminement vers davantage de conscience... Alors qu'à mon avis la progression même de la conscience est un désir et au fond c'est la culture de ce désir qui compte, ce n'est pas sa suppression...

D - ... En fait ce que tu souhaites, ce dont tu parles, c'est une transformation : c'est aussi ce dont on parle...

FJ - Oui, sauf que j'ai été un peu agressé, dans les textes que j'ai lus, par une condamnation massive de la sexualité...

D - Il faut que tu te souviennes, ou que tu saches, que si tu avais posé ta question maintenant à Sri Aurobindo, Il t'aurait répondu quelque chose qui n'est probablement écrit nulle part, il t'aurait répondu à toi, maintenant... Je crois que toi, tu vas te conduire sexuellement avec ce besoin de culture de soi vers une plus grande vérité d'être, et il n'y a rien à redire à ça... Ce qui fait la différence, c'est le besoin qu'on a, c'est tout... Mais le corps, dans mon expérience, a lui-même le besoin de s'unir plus directement, et il ressent comme un poids d'avoir à se soumettre encore à des processus qui ne sont pas directs - que ce soit pour la nourriture, ou pour le contact à l'autre...

FJ - ... Mais... ce qui me gêne tout de même, à travers certaines remarques, des textes, ou, comme ça, des réactions, c'est qu'on dirait que le comble, le fin du fin, le maximum de progression, c'est de se rendre complètement éthéré, en quelque sorte de se désincarner... Auquel cas je dis : on n'a pas sauvé la chair !

D - ... C'est drôle parce que, pour moi, ça va de plus en plus vers quelque chose de concret, tangible, immédiat, direct, solidement ou densément conscient... Mais je comprend et respecte ce que tu dis... et moi-même, où j'en suis, je sens encore la sexualité comme un moyen de s'oublier, de se donner ensemble à une certaine intensité vibratoire de rencontre...

FJ - ... Qu'est-ce que l'orgasme ?

D - ... Oui, d'où ça vient, quelle est cette énergie, où est sa survie... Est-ce qu'on peut s'unir à ça, est-ce que c'est conscient... Ce que je veux dire, c'est que, bien que j'en éprouve encore le besoin, je sais aussi que c'est une béquille - c'est parce que je suis, nous sommes encore infirmes, que l'on n'a pas assez de conscience et qu'on a encore besoin de ce moyen qui est presque extérieur à ce que l'on ressent déjà...

FJ - ... L'orgasme étant beaucoup plus une limite que LA chose à vivre pour elle-même ; là encore, c'est le cheminement qui compte... !

D - Mais c'est comme si tu montais un cheval ; tu vas le garder à un rythme pour qu'il dure le plus longtemps possible comme ça, tu seras sur ce rythme d'intensité le plus longtemps possible, parce que c'est ça, en fait, que tu souhaites, c'est cette intensité partagée... Et puis alors, dans le moment exact de l'orgasme, il y a cet abandon complet, il y a, juste là, une joie qui est d'une autre qualité... Et ça, ça reste encore un moyen de traverser, d'animer cette épaisseur, cette inertie dans laquelle on est habituellement...

FJ - Cette fulguration...

D - Oui... et aussi ce temps qui précède où tu maîtrises, où tu te donnes dans un effort et un souci de percevoir et sentir l'autre... Mais je veux dire que dans l'expérience directe, consciente, sans moyens, quand tu arrives à ce que cette même épaisseur s'anime, la joie que tu éprouves là est vraiment d'une autre qualité... On pourrait employer le mot « authentique », cette joie-là est plus authentique...

FJ - Quand ça ne passe pas par la voie sexuelle ?

D - Quand ça n'utilise pas de moyens, quand c'est direct... N'est-ce pas, il y a toutes sortes de variations... Pour toi, et pour moi aussi, il y a la dimension de l'autre qui est nécessaire, mais pour d'autres, si on parle des moyens qui sont à notre disposition pour atteindre une certaine intensité, il y a peut-être la nourriture, par exemple, ou l'alcool, ou des drogues, ou des sensations physiques fortes, je ne sais pas... Mais dans tous les cas, c'est indirect, c'est une intensité qui ne se suffit pas à elle-même, qui dépend d'un processus quelconque...

FJ - Mais pour moi... la sexualité n'est pas un « moyen », elle fait partie de moi, je ne peux pas en dissocier le désir... J'ai plutôt envie qu'on me dise « il faut en faire quelque chose, de plus en plus valable... », plutôt qu'on me dise « il vaut mieux la nier, la supprimer... », tu comprends ? Cela me donne l'impression qu'on est en train de morceler, de fragmenter ce qu'il s'agissait de reprendre en totalité. Pourquoi ne pas « sauver » la sexualité comme le reste ?

D - Mais il n'y a rien à « sauver »... Il y a un besoin d'être qui grandit, c'est tout...

... Toute l'histoire qui fait que tu nais, que ton corps grandit, se développe et se défait et meurt, moi je ne trouve pas cela satisfaisant. Il y a donc quelque chose à trouver, à réaliser, à moins que tu croies que c'est comme ça à jamais, que c'est la loi, la condition humaine ou je ne sais quoi... Mais si quelque chose en toi te fait sentir que ce n'est pas comme ça « à jamais », alors c'est un chemin qui s'ouvre...

FJ - ... Il me semble que cela consiste à nier cette mort au nom d'une vie supérieure à laquelle nous cherchons le moyen d'accéder...

D - Non... On peut dire que c'est de passer à travers cette « réalité » de la mort en restant vivant... Je me souviens d'un poème que j'avais écrit, quand j'étais gosse et que tu avais corrigé... Tu m'avais questionné, tu m'avais trituré pour me faire expliquer ce que j'avais voulu dire, il y avait ce vers « vivant-mort et mort-vivant » ; tu avais même voulu me convaincre que ce n'était pas ce que je voulais dire... Et j'étais incapable de dire pourquoi je l'avais écrit comme ça ; c'était à Rodnoï, je sentais que mon corps... que j'étais corps et pas par hasard, pas nécessairement pour suivre le chemin tout tracé - qui est de grandir, d'être fort et puis de se décrépiter et de mourir -, il y avait un besoin, là ; qui était différent... et ça, ce besoin, ça te fait tout approcher différemment, ça te donne des difficultés différentes aussi !

FJ - ... C'est quand même bien un refus... !

D - Mais non, je ne vais pas dire « Non, non, on ne va pas mourir ! »... A quoi ça sert de dire ça !

FJ – Ce que je serais tenté de dire, c'est que dans cette vie, qui se termine par la mort comme sa limite, ce qui est essentiel c'est de la vivre intégralement, c'est-à-dire de ne pas y mourir, de ne pas mourir DANS cette vie...

D – Oui, je comprends très bien, et c'est là que se situe ton besoin, d'être pleinement vivant tant que l'on vit et aussi vrai que possible, aussi authentique...

... Mais si on regarde simplement la question : pourquoi est-on matériel ? Peut-être que ce n'est pas seulement pour faire une expérience et puis s'en aller – qu'on croie ou non à d'autres vies - ; peut-être que ce n'est pas seulement pour ça, que ce n'est pas seulement comme une auberge, que c'est plus sérieux que ça, plus réel aussi, que ça mérite plus de respect... Et alors cela fait que les valeurs changent, la mort est perçue autrement quand le fait d'être en vie, d'être matériel est perçu autrement ; et l'enjeu apparaît différent aussi, et les difficultés... Ce n'est plus s'accrocher à la vie, c'est sentir et percevoir qu'il y a justement un sens... évolutif, qui est encore à découvrir, qui doit encore se révéler...

Most of us are busy with the clearing and pruning of the cashew topes, and at work I find myself again in the position of a "team leader"; P is now coming every day, and M.B and his friend G, and UI, a guy from "Hope"... only C.E. is there for me, he has joined our morning team again...

2-8-1979, Auroville:

Tonight we listened to You speaking of the adverse forces, of their necessity for the progress upon earth as long as there is a single consciousness left to harbour positions or attitudes contrary to the Great Becoming... But, Mother, when I turn to physical suffering, to the body's suffering (and I also think of D.M still nailed to a bed after three years), I cannot see that there is always a lesson to be learnt from it, that this order of suffering is justified by the learning... What about these millions of bodies whose entire life is made of dulled pain, drudgery, drab suffering...? For what? What about the consciousness of the body itself? Does it learn this way? I can't believe it. I believe the body grows by harmony!

3-8-1979, Auroville:

We drove to Pondy. C.E wanted us to get a copy of the brochure SSJ had earlier made on Matrimandir, so he could do his painting from photographs, so we go into the office of the Memorial Fund Society and come right upon both SSJ and Madanlal – I had somehow not thought of that possibility at all! But I take the opportunity and address Madanlal a little boldly; SSJ leaves almost at once, but Madanlal has us seated and we go into the matter of the SAS having no intention to release their hold nor to withdraw their conditions... It becomes clear that he is himself unwilling to make a choice, and that is why he had not answered our letter. None of them is actually ready to make a step. We should not expect anything there and we should work at establishing new contacts directly. I found Madanlal to be a man of many words, despite his quiet appearance, and not above distorting things to his advantage... Other instruments must be found. But, as trust is not at present a welcome queen in our midst, I don't know what it will take...!

6-8-1979, Auroville:

There is an exhausting, relentless wind blowing, raging, and my head is a sieve of petty thoughts, nothing flows. Somehow we manage to prepare everything for the concreting, load the cement on the tractor and unload it by the mixer, just the few of us, and push all the sand into one neat pile; P.G is impossibly moody... We start at about 2.30 pm and, through the sheer rhythm of the work, little by little, some joy seeps in... and thus we cast the top landing of the second spiral ramp into the Chamber...

... Joss's open letter is passed around, on "Mother Earth Service"... It sounds very nice, but what is behind it? I do not know. I just know that, as You said, You "can work with us only if we do not say a lie and are at the service of Truth"... And, by now, I have found that many of us are indeed, sometimes, lying...

Our team finishes at 9 pm. There has been talk of another group that has formed, as an alternative to the Cooperative, which calls itself "ACT"...

7-8-1979, Auroville:

While our team keeps at its work on the structure, a « serious » meeting is taking place in the office, between the two groups... Passing by, at tea-break, I hear a lot of harsh judgements... Oh, we are so righteous, so full of ourselves, we the servitors of the Divine! It is better to just catch the funny angle! But in fact we are poor to the bone: we have everything to learn, we yet have to become!

The wind is fierce, it rages throughout the day, drying everything up, shrivelling, depleting, as if sucking the living sap, and where there are no trees, it is a sand-storm...

This afternoon we met about the brochure. C.E has come with me, to present his drawings; but D.W has brought another set of drawings by Johnny... Anyway it will take some more time before one is ready for printing and, meanwhile, Matrimandir must survive!

Afterwards, till dark, we help Mohan, John H and Mangini to pull up the pipes from the Banyan well along with the bore-men... There'll be no water for a few days, and there is also a power-cut, and everything is quite chaotic...

9-8-1979, Auroville:

Groping blindly... this day is ending and the next day will begin and... what about it? The same mechanics, the same lack of reality? I have no taste for life. The only thing that can always fill me with some joy is the sense of beauty, the possibility to express beauty here, to be one with the spirit of beauty...

It is so hard and crude and sterile to be a separate being, an entity moved by processes that are semi-conscious at best... I'd rather melt or merge into an impersonal consciousness of grace and beauty, abroad and around yet ready to fill those movements and things that are receptive... To this I belong, I know...

For what purpose am I bound to the individual? What is the living truth I am to express? Why am I left drifting, support less, unprogressive?

The world seems to repeat itself into a growing impossibility... and I am still on the shore, dull, barely existing... The fact of being physical and yet... empty! This is what is so hard!

10-8-1979, Auroville:

At work I miss Patricia so much. With her we could do any work, it was always balanced, unconditional, committed...

There is an increasing tension with the carpenters, who seem to be more and more bound to the SAS. But I'm uncomfortable with our attitude... We go on about "being together", but comprehension hardly flows; we do not listen to one another...

Al.B and Nard both insist that I must speak my mind; so I ask that we consider the issue as a human issue, take it out of the politics, ask ourselves what we can offer to the carpenters, what we really want, and whether we are really able to do all the work by ourselves...

11-8-1979, Auroville:

Another, larger meeting takes place in the office regarding the carpenters. P.G takes it up but is very badly treated and our friendship with AL.B takes a blow; the trend of the dominant attitude is implying that, by not turning against the carpenters we are in effect "betraying the cause"... Narad ends up with one of his solemn declarations on the adverse forces trying to divide us before the coming Darshan day... I don't know, it seems to me to be an easy way not to make the required effort toward a deeper comprehension and awareness; it is obvious to me that we are still doing the same stupid mistake of trying to get hold of unity by turning against common "enemies"; this cannot work, or it works only as a crutch and for a short time...

It is each one's awareness of the true that has to develop and flow among us as one perception attuned in so many points. Only then shall we begin to feel that we are together, not because of any outer difficulty or agency, but as a fact we experience...

When the meeting ends and we disperse, Narad comes to PG and me, but he is so priestly... I don't know!

12-8-1979, Auroville:

The atmosphere at work is not good. Today Phil refused to come and help, saying he will not work with us until the carpenters have been sent away... C.E hurts his hand while we are lifting a beam with the crane and has to go home. Later, while removing the shuttering

, I too hurt my finger with my hammer, the nail turns dark blue and it hurts!

And when I come home at the end of the day, C.E acts very resentful toward me. And when I struggle not to get depressed, he claims I look much too satisfied!

14-8-1979, Auroville:

Early morning, it all goes wrong! I was waiting to find out in what mood C.E would be, wondering; but he first said some gentle words and it seemed to be alright. Then when it was time to leave for work, he says he finds me strange, not available, that he cannot speak freely to me; then he adds "what does it matter to you if I come or not!"... on such a tone, it's like he's just pressed a button – all the accumulated frustration, the anger at his moods and his dark resentment, all the unease, it all rises up into one gesture: I hit him, Mother! I slap him, just once.

He gives me an ugly look.

At once I calm down.

I don't really regret it, but it shows me a weakness in me, the weakness of violence. It is a hard lesson.

Would I believe in adverse attacks, these last two days would have been rich: first our bodies have been hurt and now it is our relationship that is endangered... Then, I don't know what to do. C.E wants to walk down to Pondy: if I go to work he will take it as a betrayal of the necessities of our bond... I just see that I am not sincere enough! Finally we both go to work...! We find Jacq sitting by herself; she has a bad burn on her leg and can't work... And P.G has also got an infection on his leg... Later I realise that C.E is in some strange way quite pleased to have unhinged me, and I see that I need to be more vigilant! ... I don't know what I have to understand, what You want me to be. I feel like giving up all my ideals, offering them all up and asking You just to make me something! Something, whatever You wish, even if it is different from second to second, whatever, as long as it is... REAL! ... We seem to go from one extreme to another, more and more often. The good times are happier, simpler, sweeter, richer and fuller, but the bad times...: this couldn't get worse, we can't afford it...! And part of me refuses this play of alternate extremes, does not trust it as a path; I rather see it as a lack of centeredness. I don't like dramas, neither do I like great enthusiasms...

15-8-1979, Auroville:

I spent most of today in the house, working on a wooden beam, preparing and fixing it in the big room; C.E and I keep silent: monastic rule today, but it's good this way! ... Late afternoon I go alone to the Chamber. I have the impression now that You are resting near Sri Aurobindo, but a little behind Him; that He is more in the front, now, working, reaching, doing... ... The reminder comes to me that I must always look for each one's soul, never get trapped by the egos, always look for the souls, with humility and simplicity... When I return, I find that C.E has placed a photograph of You at Darshan on the post I have fixed... As we go later for our night-watch duty, C.E moves to my left and takes my hand with his good hand, without a word...

16-8-1979, Auroville:

Late morning I walked down to "New Creation" (wishing it would be more than a name!) to visit Jacq who is still "sick" and resting, using this time to recover from a period she has also found painful; I borrow her bike then, return here to pick C.E up... As we have lunch in Pondy, I try to open a dialogue: I tell him I do not believe in this "teaching" these contradictions in our relationship are supposed to provide, that I am seeking for the way to move past and beyond them... and I ask him to help me. But he merely grumbles back, sweetly refuses to talk, terming my insistence as disturbing. I find it rather suspect at this point, in the sense that it might be the sign of a confused perception and of a marked preference for the irrational... Not that I am hooked onto the mind, but I believe reason cannot be dropped unless and until there is transparency and unity in all parts of the being... For perhaps the first time since we are together, I kind of give up; yet I trust he will somehow come round, in his own fashion, because I trust in his aspiration, this is my security...

This evening, as I prepare the room for the audition of Your Agenda, I realise how beautiful it is, how well and carefully C.E has waxed and tended it, making it a happy place... I go to him and kiss him and tell him that I see and appreciate it...

17-8-1979, Auroville:

Picking flowers a little after dawn, I find a beautiful young cobra moving about in the emptied pond. Watching it for a moment I realise it is not able to climb out over the smooth plastered sides, it keeps sliding back down; I go and get a good stick, fetch the camera, call C.E; P.G has also come limping over. When I bring the stick near it the cobra raises itself and opens its hood and starts blowing... and I can take many shots! At last it deigns to catch hold of the stick, coils itself along its length and we pull it out and it moves regally to its nearby hole...

... Nearly all of my team mates are in bed... I work mostly with Kiran and P... The carpenters seem to rely on me to give them work, now...

18-8-1979, Auroville:

P and I thoroughly clean the Chamber. We empty it and hose it down, till it is as ready as it can be at this stage. It is harmonious and almost tender between us.

Narad brings a man from Baroda, Amba Prem – a penetrating and concentrated gaze in a small anonymous figure; I like the feel of his hands and the quest of his eyes.

I am reading Mona S's booklet on You, where he has recorded from memory, in his sometimes funny syntax, things You have told him... You speak about the true world You have built, for each and everyone to find their true place and movement of progress, the world into which all Your people will move as they overcome their egos... It gives me a different angle to look at Your Work, somewhat encouraging because, after all, it does sometimes look as if the will to change things HERE is, as You say, inadequate...! So perhaps there is some other, complementary process taking place simultaneously...

19-8-1979, Auroville:

These days the notions I still have on what I must be or become are scattering away and I realise, with a deeper intensity, this: "Let me be what You want me to be! Let me feel, perceive and express whatever You want me to feel, perceive and express...!" And with this I am content: a sort of eternal progress isn't it?

... Miriam comes to see me; she wants me to visit her in her new house... C.E goes pale and uptight; I don't know...

... Gillian comes about the whole confusion with houses here, due to G.M's will to move back here, using even his friends to get what he wants; it is obvious to everyone but him!

... Narayana comes to me about the generator; this triggers the thought that, perhaps, things would be better organised if I was in a position to attribute and distribute tasks and functions. This sounds like a crazy ambition... But I see that quite a few of us here have the ability to be organisers, yet our wanting to be "together" in all things tends to annul each one's capacities and to land us in the growing mess and waste we are in... There must be another way, which we are groping to find, what is it?

20-8-1979, Auroville:

What can one do in these conditions, without drawing on some vitality to bring in some dynamism and make things move? For so long now, for so many years I have been avoiding to use my vital being because I could not trust it enough, I knew it needed first to be purified, since it had the capacity to radiate and influence and this must be offered to You and made secure... And it is still not ready. So, what is one to do? Just to watch and endure, while everything seems to be dissolving, wasting away? Pray for a direct impulse and motion?

... I am working with a larger team nowadays: Bill S and Marcia, M.L, D.W and Sally, Andy, D.S... are now part of it as well; G.M, though, reacts heavily to D.S's suggestion that Dharman could also work with us. I have to intervene and remind G.M that it is not right for him to try and force others to agree with his positions, that he may take his own actions if he wishes to, but must respect each one's views...

24-8-1979, Auroville:

We spend the morning taking down the scaffold; it feels like kids playing, expanding, happy... When it is over, we look at one another, content. Abha, Pas and sometimes CL.A have started to come and help...

Late this afternoon I ride down to "Aspiration" looking for a beads weaving-frame that has ended there by "mistake", and locate it with Rhonda... After meeting with a few people there, I go over to Al.B's to change the Agenda tapes; he is still resting, the infection is not yet healed; he takes it as a time of introspection... I was a little apprehensive that some formations might have come between us, but he welcomes me and we have a quiet time together.

... Riding back I meet SSJ returning on foot from Matrimandir – his usual evening walk – and I am moved by something in his gait and his appearance, a fatigue, a sadness... I smile at him with all the affection I still feel for him... He calls me back, takes hold of my cycle and tells me, like opening to a friend with a need, that he is going on a pilgrimage to Amarnath... He is reaching for a sharing and I am touched. Here is a man whom everyone here now rejects and condemns and fears, and he is doing that simple thing that a man like Piero would be far too proud and self-imbued to even attempt to do... I don't care what people think, I want to be faithful to each and every inner contact that is given, regardless of formations and opinions...!

29-8-1979, Auroville:

This afternoon C.E decided to go to Pondy on his own. Since the day I hit him, we have both been most subdued! Sometimes it is helpful, but at other times it seems to widen the gap and let in more misunderstanding, but I am learning to offer it all with more honesty...

The whole place here is so graceful and alive and present and rich and yet discreet, tranquil; the trees growing, the orange paths, the forms reflected in the pond quietly waving across its great pink blooms and smaller, purple-blue lilies: a little space, a little time, a bit of love and gratitude in Nature's presence, the need of You, a little care, and everything can be born again!

1-9-1979, Auroville:

The first lorry load of bricks has arrived for C's house here, so it is indeed beginning...

I saw Toine and Daksh this afternoon in "Abri" and they seem to be determined to take care of our pump here, which is still lying "under repairs" in Madras; I'm relieved: not only do I have no clues and no affinities as regards mechanical things, but I am at a complete loss when faced with the practice of cheating, lying or stealing...

I felt today it was time for me to visit Miriam, as she has not been keeping well and may need more support. I found her lying in her hut, next to Ken's hut, with a rash of small infected sores; she burst in tears and let go... I tell her, quietly, how I've been feeling for her, thinking of her, the dreams I've had; that I feel, even though no one can tell another person what to do with one's life, that it would be better for her to go for some time; she listens and becomes calm... We spend some quiet time with Ken, later...

... On the tape we heard tonight of Your Agenda, You refer again to the Divine's play, amusing Himself... and again the same revolt rises and me, deep and sharp, a "no" even to You: I don't know for certain what it is, it does not feel just like some resistance in me or a weakness expressing itself in this way, there's more to it...

2-9-1979, Auroville!

I feel held. As if contained.

The "I", the "me", feels more and more hollow, inappropriate...

Yet there is "something" like a true, a real "me", but I am not ready; I see that clearly and it is not frustrating, on the contrary: to see it is to be aware of the Presence that enables to see...

O Mother, it is so very true that whoever was, is presented to You is automatically connected to the Supreme, to That! This is Your pure and absolute Gift, Your eternal Gift...!

3-9-1979, Auroville:

In the afternoon I cycled slowly down to "Fraternity" to get a couple of floor mats for the store-room here. The heat and the fatigue have combined to put me in a meditative state and everything is perceived with more depth... Rosewitha is there, her vibrations heavily mixed, and there is a family of wealthy North Indians, well-educated and refined; one of the daughters is hunched, a big, ugly hunch on her back; she is fashionably dressed and behaves very smartly and her people act natural with her... I begin to wonder, inwardly, what it is really that happens, that goes wrong during the formation of a body to allow for such an "accident"; what force on the subtler planes is interfered with and by what, and where is the individual's choice in it? And why is it still allowed? Hasn't that experience lasted long enough? Suddenly, Rosewitha shows me a blue lotus she holds in her hand and lets me inhale its fragrance: it stuns me! Such an absolute material perfection, direct to the Source! Living, manifest perfection! And then she moves away and goes outside and on her way she just tears off two shoots of papyrus in such a careless, callous manner... that I just have to sit down!

Where are we? Where do we stand in all this? And what does this "we" mean? Is there truly a "we"?

Yes, all of us human beings do share an appearance and a form but, behind it, what are we?

O Mother, the integrity of the manifestation seems to be so far away!

Yet, in Your body it has been there, tangibly there, and this I adore, more than a blue lotus, more than all the perfect things in all the worlds!

6-9-1979, Auroville:

I am physically weary and tired; and without much courage. But there is this sort of unsentimental will to persevere, to go on, and to turn it into something else. We remove the shuttering from under the first circular beam; the concrete is beautiful, powerful. These days at work it is almost silent and there is a feeling as if we were survivors of a kind, isolated from man's world...

At tea-break I watch our faces, our bodies...: G.M, under pressure, his hands trembling; D.S gossiping, inert; Andy, weak; Jacq fatigued, wondering; Gl wavering between quiet confidence and irrational tension... We are transitional beings, who could understand us?

Today again G.M wants to eat lunch with us at home: Ina has chased him away, packed off most of his belongings...! But he seems through it to be coming to terms with himself. P comes in to talk about the houses here, the garden, and the necessity to take down Mir's hut, and we all agree on that...

8-9-1979, Auroville:

It has rained most of the night. I gaze at the lotus leaves, their perfect open orbs, their stems erect, pearls of luminous, single drops on their green, the breath of grace, the soil answering, and I am transfixed... But the broom is waiting!

This morning, we unloaded a full lorry of cement at the workshop. Then I went to make cuttings and to plant seedlings for wind-breaks.

Toine has returned from Madras with good news: the company is giving us a new motor; he talks at length, shares his observations, assessments; I like his dedication – and am thankful for it!

In the night I had for the first time a long, detailed, vivid dream in which I experienced all the states and emotions I would go through if C.E decided to leave... That put me in a questioning mood! Is that a preparation for the fact, or is it a venting of a possibility on a subtle plane, a working out of this specific route? It makes me appreciate in yet another way the validity of surrender...

We almost avoid each other, this morning. C.E has slept alone downstairs.

At work Jacq sees at once that something is wrong with me; I tell her a little about C.E and me; she says she has seen it and that for her and Kiran it has also been tough these last few weeks, to the point that they have considered separation...

11-9-1979, Auroville:

C.E is thinking of going away. His brother has sent him an offer – like a full carpet unrolled and laid out for him – of a plane ticket, a flat in Nice, another in Montreal with Patti, his ex-wife and a trip to Dakar as per an old wish of his...! I guess it may not be easy for him to know what he must do...

Beyond all the personal aspects, I know and trust this: the Lord has sent C.E here, has made us meet. He has opened us to each other, and now He is changing it, taking each of us another step and He alone knows what it means and where it leads.

Tonight I see the yearning to have his hand in mine, the tenderness of our bond, and I see the pain of not having it, and I am quiet...

I know that one must be taken into a state that is free from petty withdrawal, free from pain and attachment, from calculation and demand and claim, free for ever and growing in delight...

Yet, as it happens, most of me has a movement of recoil...!

Early this morning Al.M came to talk to P.G and me; he has to wait and sits quietly reading « Savitri » while we prepare and I go and call P.G; the 4 of us sit for breakfast then. He has come, on behalf of "Aspiration", to convey the "strong feeling" they all share there that Kiran must be asked to leave, that she is a danger to us all. He has been sent as he knows us well and "trusts" us... C.E. is quietly welcoming but soon leaves to go to work; P.G talks straight and simple, we both try to express plainly what our experience has been...

At work I tell Jacq about it; she just has had a long bout of fever; she feels that Kiran is being led from within to cut her ties with her family, gradually...

We spend the morning unloading trailer loads of crushed stones in full sun. At one point the carpenters try to enter our team-work, in a manner which is all wrong; I have to remind them that this is not their work, but G.M wants to take it further and it becomes a little ugly; they are obviously obeying some instructions... At noon, I go to them alone and ask them whether they would agree to meet quietly later; they seem to be happy about it.

On my way home, I wonder: what shall I tell them? I have no idea!

I can't help seeing several different sides to this issue, and it makes me giddy!

... Before 5 pm I reach the tea-room where they are waiting for me, along with Dharman: Narayana has agreed to help me with some translation, as this talk must be clear and explicit. I dive into it: I speak about the experience of Auroville and how their recent behaviour and position is unacceptable; I suggest that it is up to each of them to consider what he must do, without yielding to peer-pressure or other influences; I tell them of my respect for each of them and for their work... They listen with a grave attention... Then they tell me that, back in 1968, they had all promised to God, to You, that they would work for Matrimandir until it was completed, whatever they would have to endure through it, it was their oath... I understand this and they know that I do. But then it becomes a little tricky for me as they proceed to ask me to be the one who would give them instructions from now on, as a "friend"... I have to remind them that I have only come to them as an individual and that to remain at Matrimandir was necessarily going to require from each person the will to adjust to changing conditions as well as to change oneself, to make individual choices and steps, and that it may well take many years... We leave it at that...

I don't know what I can do, but I certainly respect their oath and I also feel that You have accepted it. So often during the past years I have had this impression, working with them, of having worked thus in other times, at the building of temples; and even, with some of them, as of memories of more recent times, such as the period preceding the French Revolution...

... C.E and I take our dinners separately these days; I go and do the work at the Kitchen by myself. There is now this formation between us of my exerting a dominating influence; I didn't know this could happen with C.E: I had been giving myself unreservedly and I had trusted this was the best safeguard against that kind of imbalance; and yet he now sees me as the obstacle in the path of his freedom... I shouldn't resent it, I should just keep quiet!

... I meditate on the issue of the carpenters... I mustn't fear others' judgements or incomprehension. Auroville has to include. A real change cannot be exclusive...

There is the truth of their commitment, and there is the falsity of their human ways, just like anyone of us! There is a supreme meaning and purpose in the presence of all these elements here, and a Grace that keeps it all together in a movement of continuous change, with the least possible damage... I just know that I must never fear...

This trepidation spreads from my solar plexus out through my nerves into the upper part of my body, like something alien and disturbing which my whole system yearns to have plucked away. But I don't know how to pray, how to offer... It has been almost two full days like that!

Wind and rain, wind and rain, gusts of it...

What are we doing? It feels so ridiculous, mutely pecking on each other... and "mine" and "yours" and being close to the Divine and what not...! I am upset at both of us, at the situation we create; I want to break it, to shake it and see what comes out of it... I want to roar about!

But I fear to be frank! But then I get to tease C.E, on our "nice sadhana" and all the good points he must be accumulating, and yet all the walls will not be enough to set one free! He remains quiet: perhaps he feels compassion for me?

... Mangini comes in to complain he's been beaten up by Narayana! Another blow-up ahead for me!

And at work it is a mess, Bhavani and Narayana go on yelling throughout the morning, accusing me of favouring Mangini, of worshipping Kiran, of playing politics... Jacq gets her share as well! G.M tries to calm Bhavani but she takes it out on him... Every movement one does is interpreted, used, there seems to be no way out...

At noon I try to talk to C.E again? Can't we find again our joy to be together? I am tired of his measuring his own progress against me, using me as a reference for his own autonomy... But what is best? I don't know!

... P.G shows me a circular that was passed around about Joss being asked to leave "Certitude"; he also tells me about M.KI using Auroville money for his own purposes... tricks and twists and warps... He is all set for war again, but it only makes things appear disproportionate, like a clown does!

... Worries assail me. There is no harmony, no organisation, no trust... And with C.E, I am snared in a formation and the more I move the more it tightens: that this is "my" place and the relationship has been set on "my" terms and, for him to fulfil himself, he must be rejected by me...

18-9-1979, Auroville:

C.E went alone to Pondy for the day. I felt miserable at first. But in the afternoon I began to recover and quietened, bathed in the magic of the September light, the graceful harmony of here – the house and the trees and the soft presence of Nat, Rad and Yel tending the garden with me...

This evening P.G came in to talk and share: he says he has realised he was not being true to himself when he did not respond to a deep instinct in him to fight out the falsity that is still around – and he means by this the presence of SSJ, of the takers of "Prosperity", of the carpenters' position... - and that he now felt liberated from a false humility and a dangerous unclarity; and that he would ask me and Jacq, and our little group, to do it together... I can perceive to some extent what seems to be guiding him and I wish to trust him and I can also see, in that perspective, what remains in me of fears, of desires to preserve old alliances...

We are still talking when suddenly Rakhil arrives, with L...! I had been told of her coming to Auroville and apprehended meeting her, the throw back to the past, to old identities, to the narrowness of it...

Tonight, C.E and I try and talk, for long; he has gone to enquire about flights to Europe as, he says, where else could he go if he leaves this house... I keep feeling we are missing something and we go on instead misunderstanding each other, not finding our base... I wish I could sincerely say "it is in Your hands!", but I still have a will of my own!

We actually seem to be undergoing almost opposite processes: while he needs to find his own individuality as defined against mine, I seek to be released from the limits of a well-developed "ego-creation"!

19-9-1979, Auroville:

At work, it all starts unravelling. G.M enters into a direct conflict with the carpenters, because he wants to do all the work without them. So I go to them and tell them it is not going to ease unless they decide to cut their connection, through money, to SSJ and the SAS; and then it comes out, what all was behind, the arguments they have been fed, the promises that were made to them, the support they have been told would be there, the violence they were meant to provoke, so as to call upon "dozens of paid men"... Seeing the hatred in their eyes, I feel it is lancing a boil, a necessary process of purification – and that our past insincerity is to blame for allowing such a situation to form and fester. Yet one is also very much aware of the necessity not to get caught in the vibration of violence...

... I believe that, to accept an absolute of enmity or adversity is to become its victim and to loose the battle that was to be fought; I believe that battles, in themselves, that enemies, or adversaries, are illusions, the outcomes of the condition of our consciousness, divided and limited still...

This is not easy. How far shall we be helped?

I have no certitude as to whether we are "right" or "wrong"; I just know we are obeying a need, which is not personal, for transparency, for a clear unity of aspiration...

20-9-1979, Auroville:

Early this morning, Yus comes: a full van of police has come to his and Piero's house at 2 am in the night, called in by the SAS to "keep law and order at Matrimandir"...! The carpenters had gone to complaint there had been violence against them... Piero and Yus explained that this was totally untrue; that there was indeed a problem of harmony with whoever continued to be paid by the SAS in Auroville and that we had indeed requested the carpenters to withdraw from the work until a solution would be found... Yus advises that this is the line we must keep to if and when the police return here...

... Prem M has called for a meeting to discuss the visas situation. We all go, except Kiran whose presence there would only cause turmoil... Prem explains the need for a formal representative body for the Government and other outside agencies to relate to, but also to perform the necessary coordinating tasks within Auroville. Isn't it the Coop, then? It is a little ironic that he had earlier been advocating the dissolution of the Coop in favour of divers working groups; and now here he is, in "good faith" recommending the opposite!

Al.B suggests then that each of the work-areas or groups send one representative, an individual whose awareness of the collective is appreciated and who is willing to do the practical work...

... All of a sudden, C.E comes out onto the terrace where I have been working with the men, his eyes summoning me, intent and wide... I join him inside; he sits there, looking at Your photograph, takes my hand and says "I don't want to leave Auroville" He kisses my hand; I kiss and hug him. It is calm.

...The sub-Collector has informed us that the people of the SAS have declared their intention of coming back to work and meditate at Matrimandir, and that we are not legally in any position to prevent them and therefore could be accused of breaking law and order should we try...

When I got to "New Creation" early this morning, to pick up Jacq and Kiran, Jacq greeted me with a copy of the last issue of "L'Express" featuring a long review of FJ's role and activities leading to Algeria's independence, of his "Net" in support of the FLN, replete with the stories and the atmosphere of that period in my childhood, the clandestinity, the fake identities, the women, the Algerian friends around me and C... Back at work, we all look at it together...

An hour later we see the carpenters arriving, in formation, escorted by... Jyotiprem! The whole scene is at once sad and ludicrous and we say between nausea and guffaws... He has come along, all skeletal as he is, to "protect these good men from the hooligans"... P.G is beaming with pleasure at my expression!

A huge rain soon pours on all, till after 1 pm; but we manage to cast 3 more beams by the workshop...

We spend the evening on and around the structure, locking away the sawing-machines, sorting the tools, cleaning-up... John H is a little stuck, afraid of any "divisive" action on our part, but he relaxes soon enough and willingly helps; so does Mangini, cheerfully...

A wondrous red she-cat has appeared two days back and seeks to be adopted, but, seeing our Gauri's eyes, as if I had betrayed her, I feel too bad : she may not be as beautiful but she is ours, joined with us, while this new one is merely using of her seduction to get shelter! What to do?

We have all come for the concreting; it is joyful, until Piero comes and there is a marked change in the atmosphere...

... I feel hemmed in by the mental projections of a "logical development"; adversity is well marked, and there seems to be so little room left for Your Grace...!

I yearn to perceive an open present, towards a virgin future, offered to the Lord...

And it is painful to hear, to feel, to think those formations already made, those reactions and responses all set and ready to be enacted...

... At night I walked slowly back to Matrimandir: it is so incredibly beautiful and present... A presence which remains, I guess, still intangible to many, being at once so rapid and so still, discreet, like a power generating plant silently active; no artefact and yet such fullness...

The entire world is strained, contradictions are being faced all over the earth... and we do not understand that we still carry the seeds of them until we break through, not in an uncaring super realisation, but in a truer materiel position and awareness...

... Having lit the candles, we turn to each other, part the new shyness away and, gently, with much care, we meet again...

24-9-1979, Auroville:

We are doing a general clean-up of the site, split in two teams; the carpenters arrive and sit back in the store-room awhile; then, Joss and Cristl join them, and it all begins! G.M goes to them and requests them not to worsen the situation by imposing themselves; Joss replies "You cannot legally prevent me, but you can try to do so physically", provoking and evoking violence and at the same time making it clear that he has now joined the side of the legal owner of Auroville, the SAS, with all its rights... We realise then that Joss has brought more men along, mainly members of "integrated families", but also Ravi and Jayaram. And we soon see them all moving towards the structure.

We move quickly ahead of them, avoiding the trap of physical confrontation; but for once in my life, I do feel ready and willing to get to that if need be... G.M goes at once up onto the ramp and begins to remove the temporary planking, in one big burst of energy: it is brutal, but it is also beautiful, and I feel he is embraced in Matrimandir's arms as he throws the planks over the side... Andy and Phil help me to remove an entire ladder from the access tower...

By that time people from "Aspiration" and "Jaïma" have come to help, we remove all the other accesses, put away all the planks; we work all day. Till I find myself again squeezed into the French atmosphere - noisy, uncontrolled and yet irresistible...

When C.E and I return here at the end of the day, we are soothed and uplifted by the queenly radiance of the eve, the fields spreading the youth of their green all the way to the low hills in the distance, the living transparency of the air kissing the budding life all over in a sweet game of light and shade and colour - the delight of being here, come home, to its peace and welcoming secrecy, sheltered in Your Grace...

... I go to P.G, determined to see now that his leg heals; I clean it thoroughly, apply ointments, and ask him to give me 3 days of doctoring him and making it go right...

... We are paying for our mistakes, for our own little lies, taking the lesson of it.

Perhaps the first such "mistake" dates back to that time when Piero, prodded by SSJ, made the carpenters "Aurovilians", just so that they would remain at Matrimandir under his control...

... When I move upstairs for the night, I find that C.E has laid some tiny roses and some jasmines on my pillow...!

25-9-1979, Auroville:

The police arrive, two inspectors and a dozen constables. We answer their questions, clarify our position, letting them see "the other side", and we go on with our clean-up. Jyotiprem comes to tell me that it was not he who had called the police; we believe him. Later, when Piero comes, we all agree that we'll start dismantling all 4 wooden towers as well as the bottom platform, which are not needed for the work any more.

We learn that the SAS's intention is to bring their own engineers and take full charge.

I understand that, at this point, fear is our worse enemy...

26-9-1979, Auroville:

Meditating on those issues, I wonder: what of having to push out brothers, like D.S? Yet this would be only logical, since they are choosing to support the SAS, siding with it and endorsing its claims. But I can't! Therefore, if this is not viable, what then is the point of rejecting anyone?

Ideally everyone should be able to work at Matrimandir, even the worst "enemies", even the meanest people, even those who most distort Your work because, working for Matrimandir, they would be working for a true design and serve a true purpose...

I don't know...

I cannot be seriously "against" anyone... What is this pretence at purity anyway!?

Each of us is as mixed a milieu as the next one! I feel more truth with some, less with others, more at home with some, more alien with others, that is all; but my work and priority is to see in myself what resists, rejects or distorts the Truth and to offer it...

Yet there are people who actively seek to thwart Your Work and Action, there are those who wilfully lie, who want power and control... But I had always felt that Matrimandir's presence was capable of dissolving... opposition!

What can heal the cause of lie?

Perhaps it is Divine Love.

But we are not ready: we would all be shattered! What to do?

27-9-1979, Auroville:

There is a good energy at work this morning; we work on the towers till 10 am, when P.G calls me to join the Pour Tous meeting at the office. When I enter the packed room, he asks that I chair the meeting; I cannot refuse.

There is a rather poised atmosphere, sober. We go through the topics, collect the information... Just then the postman arrives with a registered letter addressed to Piero: sent by Guru Prasad of the SAS, it is a letter of a manager dismissing an employee for having failed in his duty, a most gross and ridiculous letter, as if this attempt at human unity, called "Auroville", was a business venture or a factory and they were in-charge of its running! They thereby dismiss Piero from his functions as architect and engineer on-site and demand that he hands over his house key within two weeks, or else...!

After the meeting has ended, some talk goes on by the office, and odd bits of information fall into place... The matter of tantrism is brought up again, as practiced by SSJ and people close to him; there is a rumour that a piece of land near Matrimandir has been offered to some of them... All this reminds me of several dreams and experiences I have had in the last few weeks, particularly of the "attack" I had right after I had met SSJ on the road: it had happened in my sleep, I had found myself stuck into a narrowing space, something alien entering my nerves and a pressure was put on me that I must begin to repeat SSJ's name; I had wakened up from the sheer pain of it, all my nerves crying, and C.E. had had to give me some milk and to hold me for a long while... And this seems to be a typical tell-tale effect of certain uses of mantras...

This review is like cold water on the head.

What is the point, then, of searching for a common ground?

Yet there may also be the possibility that these people do this in "good faith", that is, with some self-serving justification, seeing us as some obscure beings obstructing the advent of truth... But then I wonder: are they so undeveloped within?

We work all afternoon on the towers, dismantling them beam by beam; a weird land wind has risen, hot and tiring... The police are stationed under the Banyan tree, the group of carpenters and company nearby; a full busload of tourists are looking at us as at some monkeys or acrobats...

28-9-1979, Auroville:

Mid-morning we are called down to meet the sub-Collector again. He had got "information" that we were planning to take over Bharat Nivas and wished to give it confirmed with us; we tell him that we hadn't even thought of it, but yes, why not in future... He laughs with us... This man is smart and quite fine; there is a sense of integrity about him...

This afternoon, exhausted from the nasty wind and feeling empty, wrapped in a sticky fog, I stay at home, weaving beads: Jacq comes: she is so straight in her movements... and I am not! I fear she may get attached, even though I have come to treasure our friendship... This shows me how proud I still am...

We learn that the Pondy police, following a case of theft and violence, has caught a man who confessed to having attacked both Christiane and Rhonda; he is part of an eight-member gang; we do not yet know if they were also responsible for the attack on Piero.

Tonight, I cleansed myself thoroughly. C.E, I found, is waiting for me very tenderly...

We are at work on the towers, in the afternoon, when something happens that calls back all the unease of the previous days...: we see red Peter arrive, just back from Germany; both P.G and G.M dislike him and they start commenting on his relationship with "SSJ's group"; I become tense when I see that he is heading for our tower and climbing it... P.G talks to him straight, though, in a fair and humorous way, to explain to him how and why we must refuse access to anyone working with SSJ, for the time being; red Peter makes a visible effort then, and says that he wants to stay and work with us... But then Patrice goes down and G.M grumbles and... the whole thing strikes me as dishonest... I do not want to belong to any group!;, I do not want to judge anyone by their friends! I have more than enough with my own ego! I burst out at them, saying what I sense and what I refuse; everyone goes quiet. We soon leave. I walk down to the Nursery to gather a big bunch of flowers...

30-9-1979, Auroville:

Early this morning I felt like drafting a few lines in answer to that grotesque letter of dismissal sent by the SAS to Piero, as I have found the reply prepared by the Coop too complicated and too focussed on Piero.

... It is Sunday; I am pruning young trees in the garden here when Mangini comes to call me and P.G: Piero is meeting with the sub-Collector at Matrimandir and needs us. Several others are already there when we reach. There are a few Inspectors too. We are told that the man who had been arrested in Pondy has already escaped (or bribed his way out, most likely). Then the Collector himself arrives, a fat middle-aged babu, unctuous and well-spoken and clearly unsympathetic! The message that is then conveyed to us is that we are to slow down on our work of dismantling the towers, so as to give them time to find "a harmonious solution"... Under the niceties, there is a distinct threat; Valya, the sub-Collector, is obviously ill at ease... We ask politely whether a similar message is handed to the SAS...!

At work today, I don't know how, I fell between two planks; I caught myself in time and there are only a few scratches on my leg and cheek, but the nervous shock remains... I feel contrary pressures almost constantly... And I realise that I am clinging, clinging to Matrimandir, clinging to things: a smallness of being, a lack of self-giving and of joy, a lack of trust in life itself, a lack of simplicity... That I must learn to let go, to open, to give...

2-10-1979, Auroville:

C.E has been brooding and resentful and darkly separate. I have given up on any attempt to reach him; yet I also think I may be unjust – I can't blame him for projecting his own difficulties on me; I do the same, I suppose...! The problem is that he requires seeing me as the antagonist, the barrier; that implies that he cannot trust me and, therefore, we cannot take it all in our stride, as our common work. The only way that seems to remain open is for me to understand, to accept the conditions without rejecting him: this has to be my contribution, rather than seeking a living reciprocity...

... Some good things are happening, though: yesterday we received a donation of Rs 56,000/- for Matrimandir!

... This evening, E.B comes to sit with me here for a while; she reveals to me a dream-experience she had years ago: she had seen herself as a young man, fighting me in a duel, some time in the 15th century in England, near the cathedral of Canterbury; and I killed her (him) and she saw herself abruptly leaving her (his) body and rising fast above the cathedral... I found this interesting; it corroborates an experience I also had, fleeting but vivid, of this very scene – of the duel -, while meeting once in her eyes an kind of rivalry, an antagonism, that had nothing to do with our present lives and the pattern of our relationship; but I had not seen that I had killed her (him)!

... Th has returned from Germany and it seems that he has chosen his "side"; I am apprehensive and sad about it; I have always liked him; this hurts!

... Satprem has sent us all a one-page quote of a text of Sri Aurobindo on the need to unite equality with the will to fight those who oppose the Work; it refers to Sri Krishna's injunction to Arjuna...

Yes, it is true, it is true...! But, Mother; has it ever worked?

It was not able to transform.

It may have helped the growth of consciousness, but it hasn't really changed anything, has it? There must be something more truly helpful and conscious that can CHANGE us...!

The schemes are drawn; the course of action is thus made legitimate. But I don't know. I cannot explain away my unease with the fears I may still have – fear of losing this place, fear of physical hardship... no! I can work through those fears! There is more! I offer it to You.

... C.E comes late to help with the night clean-up; then he turns to me and with a forced smile says that tonight he will sleep at the Camp... A kitten ready to jump, a fledgling trying its wings? Is he ready to meet Auroville on his own?

Rod has returned after an absence of over a year. He shares with us all, with his fine quality, his poise and his mental clarity, some of his experiences abroad – he even worked for six months in a nuclear plant! One feels he has been aware of Your Presence all along; but, as before, I am not quite comfortable around him...

I return home ahead of C.E and look at his journal... and now I am quite confused! At 7.45 am, just after we'd had – to me – a silent and uneasy breakfast together, he wrote that we'd just had an experience, the walls were dissolved, divine love came down, tears welled up in his eyes and every movement became an offering... Now – I don't know! – I become truly worried! In a sense I'm glad I took the step of reading his journal, but now: what to do? Oh, please, PUT in me the right movement! This is all I can pray for!

This afternoon, we were trying to determine with John H whether to let Th work in the workshop: as usual he is unable to pronounce one way or the other... Then Th himself arrives, his face all open and tender; he holds a board on which he has pasted various photographs of us all at Matrimandir... Somehow I get the sense that it is up to me to make the step and tell him straight that, as long as he supports the SAS and SSJ we have to prevent him from working at Matrimandir; that he can change this by materially withdrawing that support...

5-10-1979, Auroville:

This morning Shradhavan comes to us, speaking for Th as well as for herself, and asks us to allow them to work. We explain that, by receiving "Prosperity" from SSJ and the SAS, they actually support and endorse all the actions taken by the SAS. She asks what the conditions are. We answer: "to have no material contact whatsoever with the SAS". She says she will give her answer tomorrow and leaves, quietly...

7-10-1979, Auroville:

I indulge in one of my day-dreaming bouts... What sort of measures I'd like to take, should I be given the task of leading a country...! Of course, it would take at least 2 or 3 years to bring about any substantial change, and this period could be very upsetting for everyone; all the values would be unsettled and each individual, whatever the social status and standing, would be faced with a tremendous challenge, but it could work, couldn't it? There would be no theories, no justifying systems, only acts of common sense on one hand, and things of intuition and perception on the other; I see for instance how both the police and the army could be used intensively to help reorganise the whole country...

... Mid-afternoon, Th and Duraiswamy arrive here to see me...! An incongruous pair, and a statement in itself; and a snare for me as well! With deep pathos, placing Your Name every second word, Th tells me about working all together, then hands me a letter from Shradhavan, in which she claims to be too concerned with the plight of the carpenters and the "integrated families" to make any step on her own; there is also her proposal for a better organisation of the work, with two foremen to supervise the work under Piero's direction, myself and Ruud, with D.S as a replacement... There, the test for my vanity!

I hand the statement back to Th, cutting him short; I point out to him that his arguments are not only gross and inaccurate – to say the least – and over-dramatised, but they are also insulting.

I guess he will not try again. He almost had me through my affective unclarity towards him...

Oh, I don't want to sleep any more! How rotten and disgusting this all is! And this is profiting from our being in transition: as we try to get rid of our ego, to surrender it, we get to be the preys of this corrupt idealism...!

I yearn for the translucency of a simple rivulet flowing among clean rocks, for the whiteness of a curling wave... I need silence and renewal!

... C.E has left some roses by my bed...

8-10-1979, Auroville:

Today a mason has come to begin work on C's house.

When I reach Matrimandir, I find this: the policemen are standing in ranks, wearing their helmets and holding their sticks; Jyotiprem stand before them, erect...

There is a humorous atmosphere all over the site, and the Inspector in-charge appears to share in it, with a kind of rough friendliness...

When Th comes and heads for the structure, we stop him. To our amazement, the Inspector intervenes and firmly asks him and the people of the SAS not to insist...

People from "Aspiration" have come now, there is quite a confusion, and a lot of jokes are made, and I feel uptight again. But we manage to keep on working through the morning.

... Today we helped Kiran and Jacq to move into the Camp, their room is ready.

9-10-1979, Auroville:

I am tired, depressed and ill-tempered. I have a headache. Jacq weirdly sits like a stone; Gl is too sweet... I don't find You anywhere, neither within myself nor in the others; I am fed up with this whole spiritual circus...!

... C.E is very optimistic about our relationship, saying it is reaching deeper and becoming truer... Perhaps I am just too thick! Perhaps he is right and it does not matter whether I am aware of it as long as I don't make any blunder... But what about conscious reciprocity? How about objectivity?

For instance he says that when I played at the harmonium this morning, it was vast and glorious... I do like to draw sounds out of this thing, but... I don't think there was such a... I don't know! It's just that everything is so damned subjective and we're all, everywhere, just a collection of mis-communicating realities, or unrealities! What is the way?

... P.G and G.M are working themselves up to address Kiran and challenge her claim that there must be "a better solution" to this conflict... In the evening I go and visit her and Jacq in the Camp and I try to clarify things for her, in the space allowed by our friendship; John H joins in...

10-10-1979, Auroville:

As I reach the workshop Kiran calls me sweetly. She tells me my talking to her has helped her to perceive more clearly, that something has changed in her and she thanks me... I am so scared of vanity; I want at once to offer it to you: "this is Yours, take it, please!"...

Mid-morning Th tries again to join the work; Andy and Bill call us down: Andy has been moved by Th's pleadings and suggests we let him work; this opens the whole discussion again! I feel there will be no end to this, so I move alone to the workshop and tell Th that, by insisting thus, he is pushing us to respond physically. The others come nearer; there is a strong influx of vital resistance in Th and everyone is white with the tension; but each one makes the effort to collect and concentrate oneself and be calm; we firmly lead him away, till he gives up, saying: "okay, we loose!".

But he has not understood, this is not about win or loose...!

There was for a moment the sense of a grace, of a concrete learning: that one could not cheat.

From a distance we see Th joining big J who is lying on a mat under the Banyan tree, near the policemen, in a kind of demonstration of her own, excitedly talking... The tension has gone from us, replaced by a sense of wonder, and the need not to pretend...

13-10-1979, Auroville:

As the morning goes, the fatigue increases. There are only just a few of us. It is discouraging again and again to be faced with so much work and so little participation... So seldom have I felt carried by a flow of energy, at Matrimandir; it has almost always been a tedious effort of drawing enough energy by sheer will-power, developing a capacity of perseverance or, more exactly, a kind of blind, stubborn obstinacy...!

... I have been trying to finish these beaded head-bands for P.G and G.M, their respective birthdays being tomorrow and day after, but it is a small struggle, there is a poor atmosphere around me, a kind of suffocation... But I finish it all during my night-watch (I had first to chase the police away!)...

14-10-1979, Auroville:

Sunday at home... Along with tea, Ven brings me a bunch of these golden spherical blooms, "Supramental Sun"; one of our trees has started flowering: this is such a vibrant perfection, so certain, so filled with promise...

Ramalingam comes, just to be together with me a moment; I'm glad he is able to be in Auroville again, without resentment; he is dear to me, with an echo within of past sharing, past strivings...

... I do not know any longer what it is that C.E wants. The time when I felt to give myself unreservedly seems now almost like the story of a dream... I do not know whether we can still make any progress.

At dinner, before the clean-up, I look at an issue of the "Auroville Lien" – they rather ought to call themselves the "Friends of the French Aurovilians"! – and I read the text of an interview with Satprem in which he passes on Your Mantra for everyone to use... This is still not clear to me, Mother! I had not trusted the way he had had it passed on to Auroville, in all that secrecy, with all that elitism, the whispered invitations to go to Luc's house... And now it is all in the open! And I am still unsure: is it valid for every person, for every body?

15-10-1979, Auroville:

There is so little joy left in our living together. I say to C.E that I feel like a transparent wall rising between our bond and this new indifference, or a distance that keeps filling with thoughts of separation; that I do not know any more how to break through it, when he does not appear to mind it...

... The task is huge and we are ridiculously few. It makes me flinch back, today: the waste, the misunderstandings, the absence...

P.G, Jacq and I go up: when we three are together, there is an interesting ground, a sort of positive alchemy, a basis for something else, each being effortlessly aware of each other's place.

At tea-break we all agree that we will use, for storing the wooden beams taken down from the towers, the shed where the carpenters nowadays spend the day-time playing cards, dozing and joking, all this inertia and dark weight becoming habitual, with the police hanging around day and night having nothing to do either... So, by 5 pm, when the carpenters have gone home, we begin tidying the area around the shed... and life's humour winks at us...! Bit by bit we discover, hidden and hoarded in every corner and cranny, a treasure of tools...! Like a surprise gift made with a great gentle irony... we find not only all the tools that had disappeared, but quite a few more, brand new! The police are bemused, till they begin to understand what is happening and to see the fun of it too!

16-10-1979, Auroville:

We have all become saturated with the ugliness of this situation which cannot honestly be ignored: this entire group of instrumentalised people, paid to merely sit there day after day; the police's continuous presence ; the loose waste around, the papers flying, the radios playing, the poor jokes, the hostility, the teases, the inertia... and no resolution in sight! We are about ready to take any action, out of sheer frustration...

So we are agreed that tomorrow morning we shall block the access to the area, and come what may...!

We managed to do good work today! Being upset sometimes helps; we have done in a few hours what might have taken a few days... I don't know about the yogic value, though!

... This evening I tried to tell P.G of an action I have felt we should initiate, from a deeper perspective: to call for a kind of truce, a moment of concentration for everyone to call, to offer, to present the entire question before You, an offering to the Force of Change... But he rejects it: never will he sit, he says, with such people! And this is my friend, who usually understands me! So that gives me the tune of the others' reactions to such an "idea": no point in trying!

... This question of "spiritual unity" is tricky and treacherous; everyone's ambition is solicited... In the evening P.G tells me that Sj has approached him and Jacq – I had specifically warned Sj not to get carried away – with a thick written proposal for "reconciliation" with the SAS... Here is someone who, I am afraid, is likely to lose his balance...!

... Tonight I try again to talk with C.E: I admit that the way I have believed in complete sharing is not working; I ask that we try and find together the next step; even if that means to part from each other, we can still help one another in that... His response is a little more positive...

17-10-1979, Auroville:

A few of us have met early at Matrimandir. G.M and Marcia, P.G, Pas, and we move towards the hills in the Gardens and select a spot; it is funny, because we have really no idea how it is going to work out. A few others join us.

Then the carpenters begin to arrive, one by one and by different routes but, there is the thing: it IS a process, and it must happen in one spot, almost like hypnotism, or like a magnet... Fairly soon everyone, including the constables, has gathered on the hill...!

Once in the morning I go out, down to "Aspiration", to retrieve my parcel from the Post-Office; my copy of the Agenda 4 has come and I bring it back...

At some point the inspiration comes to us that we should move away suddenly, and we shift all the way back to the Banyan tree, and the police stays behind, preventing the carpenters from following...

Then the Inspector Thomas and his colleague come to meet us: they are quite taken by the humour of the whole scene and agree to issue orders so that the carpenters stay over there...

... It seems that the Coop members did not quite approve of our action; we sense a kind of moral reticence towards our "behaviour"... Later on, M.D comes to talk with us: there is some tension and he has obviously a "superiority" trouble, but what he has to say is interesting. He says that now is not the time to take further action regarding SSJ as new contacts are being established at different levels of officialdom towards an actual recognition of Auroville...

... Today is Dadu's birthday; there is a warm and generous feeling at dinner...

18-10-1979, Auroville:

Riding together, P.G tells me something that makes me ponder: he says that he often has to struggle with himself not to go away, not to leave Auroville; that he'd be so relieved to find a good pretext to go out for some time... And I sense that this is exactly what makes him so noisy, in such an extroverted manner, just as it used to make F.S noisy until he could find a justification for going out and leave for a while, released... While for me it is almost the opposite experience: I find that it is only here that I can breathe and feel at home! And somehow it makes me feel like withdrawing just a little, not relying so much on P.G any more, and also paying a little more attention to what I really sense, regardless of any influence, including that of friendship...

19-10-1979, Auroville:

I have had enough of this in-between, paralysing, simmering, unhealthy stand between C.E and I. We have to choose, one way or another. Do we trust our staying together enough to give it what it needs, or do we find it is now time to part and to move independently from each other...? When I talk to him, before work, I see that he takes my impatience as another egoistic pressure on him, a claim... So I write it all down as clearly and briefly as I can and leave it by his bed...

... Mid-morning Valya, the sub-Collector, and the DSP come to meet us at the office. Valya tells us he wishes we had informed him before our little "action", as he himself has several times prevented the SAS from coming "en masse"; we explain ourselves as best we can and tell him that we have come to respect him and we appreciate his position and his concerns, but that this situation simply has to evolve and the issue must be faced...

Finally we agree that another place, away from the working-area, where a few carpenters can come and sit, will be found...

... I drive to Pondy to do all the "Deepawali" shopping and to get the medicines for Ar I stay a moment at the Samadhi and put my questions... And the impression I get is that it is better that C.E and I part; and that, regarding the more general matters, I am learning from the process...

Back home in the evening, the signs are that C.E has come to the conclusion he has to leave the house: he tells me later that he finds it a natural evolution; I understand, with an inner sadness; that he perhaps has never given as much value to our bond as I have, almost as if it had all been in spite of him. I understand too that my own experience of it overwhelming, the gifts I received through our relationship, the answer it gave to my own needs, the force of it all perhaps made him to share in it, but it was never founded in him in the same way... And out of my fear of losing him, I have blindly held on; and now that it is being undone, I am aware of a relief from a line of progression that was not central enough...

20-10-1979, Auroville:

I remember a little sentence You once wrote to Huta:

"It is the Lord who gives the friendships; it is the Lord who takes them back..."

C.E has moved to V's house – she has been staying in Pondy for some time –and he says he will only move to the Camp if she insists that she wants to move back in. There is sorrow in me, but there is also an ease, and the sense of a new stage in our lives opening.

A soft pressure has been there all day, reaching for the inner tears and deepening them, quietening, allowing me to offer...

21-10-1979, Auroville:

Everyone seems to be aware of our separation. When I see it in people's eyes, it makes it worse; the sympathy makes me feel swallowed in sadness. There is also a kind of fear: if I am now alone, it means some availability, and I am not yet able to have any contact that would be free of the possibility of desire, sexuality is so strong in me...

Sometimes I feel that the only way I can ever come out of this impasse is that You would send me my "shakti"; but I only half-believe in it... Of course, supposing there is a soul close to mine, in a woman's nature and body, beautiful, centred and awake, it could probably work things out for me...? What makes me doubt it, though, is that I have tended to identify within myself the two things, as if set there, the "shakti" side too...

What I must become able to do is to turn to the Lord, with real and complete sincerity, and say "Thy Will, Lord, Thy Will...!"

As it is, there are still those parts in me that ... keep to their different purposes!

22-10-1979, Auroville:

We started the work earlier today, and agreed to hire 3 men as watchmen for the entire area, to be coordinated with our own watch-duties...

... A small silly drama: V returns with her bags; C.E refuses to vacate her house, saying that this will teach her to know what she wants; P.G doesn't welcome her either; she has lunch with me; she rests; she is aware of her own unclarity, that she must sort it out in herself before she can really choose to be in Auroville; but she is sober and poised as regards her bond to me. The obvious logic of the situation would seem to dictate that she can now return to live with me, and to some extent this appears to be guiding her... But I feel the need, more than anything, to be alone for a while...

... Annappa wrote to me from his farm, a sad letter...

23-10-1979, Auroville:

As the rain keeps the few of us in the office, bits of news are shared. There are warnings from AB Patel about the SAS's intentions, in connection with some RSS fascist youth; there is the matter of Sj going out everyday to meet with the SAS people and getting circulars signed...

... I walked down to "Toujours Mieux" this afternoon to pick up Jacq's bike and met A.D who is here to see her daughter; she gave me news of Shradhalu: he has renounced his name and turned away from You; in her own face and eyes, there is a kind of fear and impoverishment...

... I appreciate the solitude, in the self-contained harmony of the house; it is full and vibrant... But most contacts are uncomfortable...

25-10-1979, Auroville:

J and G have returned to Auroville, after three years. This morning J surprises me at work; it is near, it is open.

26-10-1979, Auroville:

We have not been able to collect the cement in Madras, as the SAS has written to the dealer not to issue cement to "those unauthorised foreigners who claim to represent Matrimandir"... This is sick, and evil...!

P.G keeps reminding me that this is a war, we have these enemies and they treat us as such, it is only natural...! And I keep insisting, like a stubborn child, that we are not "against" anybody, we do not want to be anyone's enemy; we are struggling, striving, fighting FOR You, for Your Life to manifest here...!

But I can't help feeling sometimes that these people are like zombies, with the obstinacy of malevolent suckers, fed with the worst distortions of Your Truth... I would want, then, to stamp them like bugs...!

27-10-1979, Auroville;

J distracts us most of the morning with his projects on how to use the "Delta" wings he and G have brought with them, and telling us some of their experiences while they were gone. And G comes as well. And when our eyes meet, it is direct: it has never left me, it has never left him, this affection...

28-10-1979, Auroville:

I have read an interesting book on "Findhorn" and the relationship they have developed with Nature and its subtle entities...

I am reading Your Agenda... It is Sunday, I do my afternoon watch-duty at Matrimandir; E.B comes to sit with me awhile.

This evening V comes. We sit by the fire, quietly. There is tension in me due to the contradiction between openness to her and the inner perception that I must be and remain alone and not venture into another relationship, even one already known and intimate, at least for some time to come. This is like moving blindly through the thick of a forest, knowing that my true path lies beyond its limit, yet still attached to the known and experienced...

29-10-1979, Auroville:

Patricia has come back to work! That makes me happy! And both J and G have also joined and V also wants to come every morning: that gives us 4 more workers!

... There is constant unease about me, as if there was some opacity between where I stand at present and where I should stand truly, there is a weight dragging me or clinging to me; I'd like to punch a hole into that barrier...!

... I am seeking in myself the capacity to make an offering for Satprem's birthday tomorrow, as if to arrange some substance with my inner being that would be delightful to him... I feel so grateful for his very existence...

30-10-1979, Auroville:

At night tall G who is on duty at Matrimandir sends for us. Police has come and there is also a SAS car parked near the Banyan tree, Indra sitting in it, while several carpenters are posted around... Some "information" has gone to them that we intend to sell old used-up steel panels and some steel scraps collected in our clean-up, and they have come to prevent us from transporting it...

31-10-1979, Auroville:

This afternoon at the Samadhi, I watch for a long time an older man: he stands straight, meditating; he is very thin, with a noble face, but not imposing; he stands there as if he was under a vast arch of a great forest, drinking with his soul the sweet sounds of cascades and the songs of birds and the tremor of the high branches and the honey of the light filtering in, and he loves You, I can tell...!

But, in most of the others I can only see the knots and the difficulties, the dry struggle, unnatural, going on within them, or else imitations and mechanical devotions...

1-11-1979, Auroville:

This evening we joined the Coop members for a meeting with Valya, the sub-Collector, in the office. We're all quite fond of him now; he has become like a brother to us, even though he must still fulfil his duties; he is well aware that the SAS intends to continue harassing us by any means and he points at the actions it would be useless for us to take at present, while he suggest, through general statements on various issues such as land-taxes, house-taxes, etc, what we could do in order to reinforce our position...

2-11-1979, Auroville:

The carpenters have lodged formal complaints with the Police against a whole bunch of us; I am of course on the list! It is agreed that Yus will go first and find what exactly we have to do...

It strikes me again that part of me is merely waiting, waiting for circumstances or for some pressures to make us progress and move forward and grow more conscious... And how wrong that is, this passive waiting...! One ought to be at every moment at the maximum of one's openness, giving oneself...!

3-11-1979, Auroville:

I may be looking more squarely now at sexuality; it is still very acute in me, but there is a slow movement of offering it, or perhaps just letting oneself be emptied of it... Rather than risking more confusion in my relationships, I have begun recently (after the separation with C.E) to practice self-relief, whenever the need is too dominant... But one question remains: am I to procreate once?

You know that I have often dreamt of, or wished for, a being who would be my daughter... But I do not yet know of any woman I would trust enough to do it with...

9-11-1979, Auroville:

I rains and rains... E.B has come with me to the house for lunch and rest. C has sent me the prints of my last photographs and I start arranging them in albums, E.B looking at them carefully; there are many of flowers and leaves, but quite a few striking portraits as well; E.B is fully appreciative of the shots of stones, of fire, of wild grass and weeds; she admires the portraits of Patricia; and then she sees her own face...: the way I usually shoot is precise and may seem pitiless, but these are, I think, beautiful pictures; yet they show her face very lined and torn by her own contradictory feelings, like an open book, and it is a blow to her pride, as she constantly dreams herself other than she is... She refuses it at first and wants me to destroy the prints. I try to explain what it means and shows and what she can do about it – beginning with trusting herself more... As I talk to her, she seems to open to the help and significance through the words...

10-11-1979, Auroville:

Between the showers, we pull down the rest of one tower, all of us pulling and hanging on the rope...

...John H tells us that Ruud has now realised he had been trapped in his own image of a "sadhak" and wants now to come back to us and resume work...

... These nights I have been sleeping for longer hours and my dreams are, it seems to me, more interesting, although I still cannot recollect them past a certain level.

The reading of Seth's last book helps me also, perhaps, to focus...

11-11-1979, Auroville:

There's been some trouble near "Certitude". Chris and B.B were first prevented from ploughing the fields by the SAS's hired gang; many of us then went to the spot, it calmed down and Chris started sowing the seeds; and again the SAS sent their men to plough it all back...!

14-11-1979, Auroville:

Returning at dawn from my watch-duty, I make a round of all the bunds. Most of them have held, this year; only two have given, and I find Tess already at work fixing them; the canyon is now in full spate, a speedy red torrent; the dam is undamaged...

... P.L has put a shortened version of my article in the AV News; Patricia also tells me that the Coop has been very positive about my draft of a collective letter that could be sent to the Central Government; and that Prem M has even declared he was ready to bring it personally to Karan Singh... perhaps one is stepping into the next phase of Auroville's growth...!?

18-11-1979, Auroville:

This afternoon we met in the office to work on and finalise the draft of the proposed letter to the Government. It is clear that the main thrust of it must convey that we do not seek to become the "owners" of Auroville – this would be nonsensical. What we do ask is that the Government of India holds the land of Auroville in trust before all the nations and people of the earth and stands guarantor that it will remain at the disposal of all those who feel called to serve the purposes of Auroville according to its Charter. There would be no need of legal ownership; the land and assets would be protected within safe boundaries and the Aurovilians would collaborate with the Government according to terms to be mutually defined regarding admission, projects and, generally, all relationships to "outside" agencies...

This letter would be addressed to the Minister for Education, with copies to the President and the Prime Minister as well as to UNESCO, to centres abroad and other friendly organisations...

20-11-1979, Auroville:

Savitra comes to ask whether he could stay here with me while he finishes his book – he had once done a lot of writing; staying with me in the old hut; but this space is not meant for two separate individuals, it is more for a couple or for two friends who choose to share the daily life. Yet I must stand by my principle of hospitality, so I offer him to spend as much of the day-time as he wishes, so he can do his writing in an atmosphere he likes...

... Krishna my love comes and spends the afternoon here with me...

... P.G and I have become interested in Garaudy: he seems to be a good promise for France...!

... The new pump-motor has come: this time the company has given us a Crompton...!

21-11-1979, Auroville:

Without any "personal" reasons I can trace, I find myself empty of energy, as if I had become lazy... I work with the others – these days Arjun is also coming regularly -, but I feel almost uninvolved; perhaps it is the magnitude of the work that arrests me, and the worry: the concrete must not remain exposed the way it is now, completion of the sphere must be speeded up, but... we are just so few!

... There is a movement towards purity, but, more and more, purity means to me a sense of wholeness, and cleanliness – not in the moral sense but in the sense of cohesion, of unified, wholesome response, free from tension, keeping nothing suppressed or hidden away...

Sometimes, the fact of inner awareness combined with that of my inability to "live", makes me turn toward a condition more like that of an ocean, inhabited with a gaze – a deep, endless gaze...

There is this constant struggle between the belief in linear time, the limits of physical time, its duration and the inevitability of the wasting away, and the sense of the timeless, or time-transcending power of consciousness... There is a groping for the way, the material way...

22-11-1979, Auroville:

At the PT meeting in the office, Prem reads the final version of the letter. He has "indianised" it a bit and "adjusted" it, so that it has, it seems to me, lost some of its force and charge, but the main trend is there; I guess it is alright...

The SAS has been patrolling across the plateau and its people have been collecting, forcefully, whatever tools they could seize from workers hired by us to make bunds. The intent is obvious: to provoke a physical response, so that they would have more leverage...

24-11-1979, Auroville:

Yesterday Rakhil has brought a very large photograph of Sri Aurobindo that has been placed in the office.

It goes on raining and no work is possible on the structure.

... It seems to be a fact that human stuff; left to itself, will never aspire to anything else; it is satisfied with routine, with small greeds and small needs and a small use of little energy; it needs shocks, it needs pressure, it needs adversity...

25-11-1979, Auroville:

... Sunday, near the fire; wind-lashed rains; Krishna comes, Ramalingam comes...

P.G tells me that the "Aspiration" people have refused to sign the letter, saying it is not the time to issue such a statement, one must rather wait till another Government comes into power...

27-11-1979, Auroville:

I had three consecutive nightmares last night.

In the first one V sexually assaulted me and, once satisfied, began to sing like a sort of sick child, weird...

In the second one, I was trying to help Shradhalu to come out of his negative condition and he was responding for a while; but then I made a gesture which released an energy that had been hidden... And this turns into the last and most striking "dream": this energy takes on the form of a monstrous insect spreading itself huge, made of so many jaws with metallic-like teeth all over its body, moving at a very high speed and breaking down the nervous system... And, as it comes to me, I realise it is... H! This comes from H...! And the shock of it wakes me up...!

This last is very puzzling. Is it connected to tantrism?

I am sure that I have never associated H, in my mind, with any such ugly entity; and I have not thought or even heard of him for quite some time. What then is all this?

I did the watch for the second part of the night; it rained much of the time...

In the morning I have a heavy scene with Piero: he refuses to give the drawings I had asked him for the work of the new carpenter, Vellapani, and insists that we must keep to the casting work so as to use up all the cement as per his applications; that we must make it look as if we have used the cement exactly the way we declared we would. When I say that I believe it is always better to tell the truth and to hide nothing from anyone, whatever the consequences may be (and there is nothing to hide, we are here to build Auroville and must take care of everything), he gets very upset...

... Noh is sad and tired and has only served some bread and jam for lunch; she complains of the lack of participation. I suggest to her to simplify and not to depend so much on others... till she smiles and laughs again...

This evening the air is crystal-clear and the light is a feast.

V is staying in the house for a few days; she behaves as if she knows that her place is here with me, but will not press for it... Yet I do not have that sense, not now, or not yet...

P.G comes and we talk more about the collective matters; I represent to him the sense of initiating services – for instance, that permits for cement should be sought on the basis of a service for all the works...

28-11-1979, Auroville:

I have this question to You – it has been there for long and surges up now and then; I can formulate it approximately: "What is really possible, in this the Lord's world, as a relationship with You...? How can all of us and each of us at the same time have a true and unique relationship with You, each of us uniquely and all of us harmoniously, AT THE SAME TIME? Is this not beyond the reach of physical possibility? Is this not partly the reason why You had to withdraw?"...

These are questions behind questions...

With it I kneel at the Samadhi.

And this is what I feel: the first thing is to be related strongly, firmly and unwaveringly, to the Force...

And then, once that base is established, there would be moments given when physical contact could be expressed, in plenitude, with the absoluteness of the relationship.

And thus the true hierarchy would occur naturally, each one being guided and moved by the rhythm and breath of the Force...

In It is the intensity of That Love...

And I also got the sense of how imperative it is to be rid of any sense of "I-ness", that nothing in oneself derives any self-importance from the experience of the Force...

... Today I could have several times a taste of a fullness and freedom past and beyond sexuality, freer and fuller than sexuality itself... One tends to be afraid of becoming dry and downcast, but, on the contrary, it allows for a much richer play of vibrations...

29-11-1979, Auroville:

I remember a little more easily, nowadays, the different kinds of activity I have in my sleep. In one part, last night, I again saw H: we were all gathered in a large meeting; a young boy was chairing; H came in, sat and wanted to speak, to give some explanation; but the fact that he was wearing a golden SAS symbol on his wrist made everybody upset and most people wanted to throw him out... I would have let him speak, though!

Another activity involved V again; we were visiting a very beautiful place, on top of a high cliff; the access path I was following was quite difficult and I had to carry V on my shoulders, but it was so beautiful; then as we approach, we see that the others – we were a group before – are already there, having found a much easier route; as we step down some stairs cut into the rock, V becomes C...

In a last activity, I am undergoing a sleep-cure and friends are looking after me; in this place there is a kind of oven-like thing, enormous, that sends formidable heat down long, long ducts to a far place where things are melted and transformed, and I become apprehensive because at some point I "see" that some of the screws or rivets are not tight...

... It is only this afternoon that I learn of C.E's accident this morning at Matrimandir: he fell from the base of a tower down into the pit, not a great height, but he got two deep wounds, in one thigh and one arm, that had to be stitched in Jipmer, and he will have to stay immobile for a few days. This I learn from Jacq and Kiran who were on their way to visit him. Why did no one tell me? I send a message with them, as I must go and prepare the dinner with Phil.

Later Jacq brings me his answer: he is alright, I must not worry, it is not too bad, and we are together more than ever... Perhaps he is more psychically aware than I am...? But I am a little angry: he has stubbornly wanted to work on his own...

Seeing how anxious I am, Jacq and Kiran gently tease me...

30-11-1979, Auroville:

Early this morning C.E sent me a message through Nat that he needed me to change his bandages. I stay with him to attend to his wounds, on my way to work. The tear on his thigh has been brutal, and may leave a strong scar; there are about 9 stitches on it. Besides the stitched wound on his arm, there are several minor cuts and a lot of bruises. It takes me an hour to clean and bandage it all. He tells me that he had not even been aware of falling: he just all of a sudden found himself in the water of the pit and got up at once...! (His disregard for minimal safety had always made it difficult to work with him in a team...) He seems to be happy that I came and took care.

... Piero has finally brought me the drawings for the shuttering of the circular beam; he has now decided to give away most of the cement to "Jaïma": that is a relief!

... Today we have called Meenakshi to help us translate with the villagers who still want to use the amphitheatre as drying and threshing grounds for their crops: it has grown out of proportion, particularly as they have also taken to graze all their cattle around Matrimandir and it has become unmanageable... It becomes apparent that they have no wish for a solution to which we could also agree; but when they are told that the Collector may be called in, they seem to be impressed enough to reconsider.

... The news is confirmed that our new carpenter has indeed joined the "enemy" and is now itself sitting with them... This is all like ashes in the mouth...!

1-12-1979, Auroville:

At noon, emptying my pockets after the work, I find a good-size yellow live scorpion! It must have spent the whole morning there!

I feel the need to write to Satprem. It is slowly formulating itself – about this letter we had wished to send to the Government and this whole question of “timing”: who is to judge, and on what basis, when the time is “right”... I put it on paper during my afternoon watch...

2-12-1979, Auroville:

My foot is so swollen and painful, I can hardly walk. It is puzzling. Yel prepares a poultice of crushed neem leaves; I clean up the house, then, and I am late for C.E’s bandages...

Amma came and began to lament when she saw my foot...

... J.G came by to study with me the structure for the roof of C’s house, so we can have a blue-print and apply for the cement; he also showed me his latest study for the city area, it is interesting... In it there is a kind of residential garden, a crescent-like feature that corresponds on the map to our place here, just as it had earlier been projected when I started work here...

... Narayana’s two daughters are here on vacation: every time I see Lily, growing and maturing, I find her more interesting, with more depth to her...

3-12-1979, Auroville:

I have limped over to work. Late morning, we all have a meeting in the office, agreeing that we must have one every Monday to see all the works: there are Narad, Piero, Yus, Myrtle, John H, Sally, Bill S, G, Phil, P.G, G.M, Marcia, F.Gr, J, Jacq... We have a little clash while discussing the Gardens, as F.Gr is willing to take some responsibility this coming year: there is talk of demolishing the built slopes of the cone of the Urn and replace them with grass and I firmly object, on the principle that it is absurd to destroy anything and seeing that the eagerness to do so only shows that we are not centred and do not have the right attitude yet... For I have watched people doing just that, or wanting to do just that, demolish, destroy, and I feel it is wrong... But there is a general openness for the possibility of further landscaping and planting wherever the land is available without getting too inhibited by plans and designs that are too abstract and rigid for us to agree on...

... This afternoon, P.L called us to gather at the Camp for an “interview” on Matrimandir which he wants to publish in the Review; it is interesting to see how each one responds; I see once more how G.M’s and my own experience of Matrimandir are deeply united; Piero is... equal to himself, a strange mind...! And there and then he shows us another letter from the SAS he has just received, one more intimation to surrender and return to the good path and be forgiven...!It would make anybody else laugh, I believe, but it does affect him!

... My foot is getting huge, it is awful; there is no pus, but a light liquid oozing and the skin is bubbling and blistering, it looks more like poisoning than an infection...

... V has come back to stay here another few days...

5-12-1979, Auroville:

C.E’s wounds are healing well; it may be possible to have the stitches removed tomorrow. My foot is returning gradually to its normal size, but there is a strange blood clot.

... J.P has come to confirm that I do object to the setting of telephone poles all over Auroville; I explain that I have nothing against "modern technology" and do not expect that we'll have mastered telepathy so soon, but that I see no need to imprint Auroville with these big ugly cement poles and thick overhead cables when, in a few years time, it may become possible to lay invisible underground cabling... He wants that we issue a common statement...

... In the office I find G helping F.Gr laying a protective coat over his model for the Gardens; I ask a few questions; I yearn for something which I have not yet quite met in any of those who have delved into this work... F.Gr, like most of the others so far, refuses any defined over-all pattern, seeing any definition as a crippling limitation, and I feel sorry about it. It reminds me of all the resistances and projections one had to repel so that the inner Chamber could be done as You had actually described it... No one seems yet able to receive gratefully ALL the indications You have given and respect them as definitions and boundaries, charged by You with true meaning, within which one could then draw from an inexhaustible source of creativity... Instead, everyone seems to be imposing another vision, arbitrarily selecting from all that You have said and wished for... We are not mature enough...

I would like to find someone with whom to assemble ALL You have said about the Gardens at one time or another, incorporate what has actually been already done on the ground and see how it can all harmonise; and then, from that basic simple organisation, to allow ourselves to be creative.

There are three elements in this, which must be mutually attuned: there is the higher consciousness that is to manifest in forms, here; there is the consciousness within Nature, that will materialise these forms; and there is our consecration, creativity and care...

I feel the NEED to do what YOU wish.

For instance, no one here at present even considers the possibility of a place for Huta. Yet one has to, simply because You have promised it to her; and that is sacred. One thing alone could annul that promise: that Huta herself would choose to withdraw out of a clear inner urge – which she has not done. On the contrary, she has been most faithful, persevering and attentive and she has known to support Auroville. Yet, were I to say this openly, I would incur all kinds of sarcasm, scorn and contempt or, at best, sheer indifference...!

... I take V back to Pondy in the afternoon; it is quiet and harmonious between us. She asks me when she can come again; I can only commit to this rhythm of two days a week, for now, and she seems to understand and accept it well. Where it leads, I don't know...

6-12-1979, Auroville:

At the PT meeting, Dee and Dennis report on their visit to "Findhorn". It seems to be, depressingly, the same everywhere, here included: groups clashing, conflicts between individuals and groups, not practicing what one preaches...Five of us met with the President yesterday, while he was touring Pondy; various reports... The same ill plaguing us: lack of commitment...!

... Once everything is set for dinner, I leave Phil do the serving and cycle down to the Nursery to meet with Narad and M.H; Krishna accompanies me part of the way – whenever he is with me, happy, I feel a fullness, real, right...

I tell Narad and M.H how I feel one should proceed regarding the Gardens of Matrimandir, what one ought to try, regardless of any "position" or opposition: to collect ALL You have said at different times and to different people... I find them to be quite keenly aware of all the obstacles and conflicts! In Narad I find a sort of rigid mental orthodoxy, while M.H seems to be much more plastic and directly intuitive, without ever losing the key-points, more psychic and more perceptive than he is despite his emotionalism...

7-12-1979, Auroville:

Savitra has started today to settle himself in the big room and do his writing...

8-12-1979, Auroville:

I am too extreme. As I cannot bear anymore all this useless talk, this endless verbiage, this noise we make, this incontinence, I withdraw; and I withdraw too much and with too much feeling; and then I am stuck! I don't know anymore how to share, how to rejoin the others...!

My own lack of consecration glares at me most painfully!

It is ten years of this life since I first saw You!

10-12-1979, Auroville:

Emerging from my afternoon nap, I find that V has returned... Savitra is at work... I spend the afternoon working quietly with the trees, seeing the mason's work, feeling grateful for the harmony that is rising along with this new house for C.

V goes to see C.E and when she comes back, she is holding a painting he has just finished, the most beautiful and dense he has ever made, I think, incredibly rich and luminous...

11-12-1979, Auroville:

The postman brings us a bundle of registered letters from the SAS, addressed to each of us by name. They list all the points that make us undesirables here: not obeying them, nor respecting them as the owners of the land and the holders of the Auroville Project... and we are asked to explain in writing, within ten days, why we should not be expelled from the country... I tear off mine at once...

... We talk about Iran: both P.G and I have been very moved by Bani Sadr's intervention, by sincerity in it...

12-12-1979, Auroville:

Annappa, my dear Annappa, has come! He has brought two friends. He tells me of his new life on his farm with his wife and their two children... I insist that he must come every month for a few days and he seems to see the good sense of it... V takes care of everybody, and her assuming this role so naturally makes it kind of official, yet... I still do not know!

... V and I have a late lunch in Pondy, at "La Maison"... Not far from us, H is seated with his eyes closed; I first feel that there is a possibility of friendship there; then I become aware of a certain influence acting on the way I feel, on my sense of security in my experience of things and of contacts, as if it all became distinct, even alien, to the point of dissociation; it is a subtle movement, most difficult to put into words...

... I walk down to the sea and sit there on the low wall, at my usual place, watching the waves and the sky, the dark dense masses of clouds arriving slowly from the horizon, led by great slow silent whirls of smoky shapes intermingling, advancing into the empty sky, the sea intensifying its colour, with white rearings here and there and white bright fish leaping out in flashes, white and brown birds playing the evening, in and out, in and out... V joins me... I experience the extreme joy to be in the body, whole, materially situated, the sweet delight of it... There is a perception of a dimension of natural awareness that would allow beings and forces to play consciously, in offering, a delightful and meaningful continuum of being embracing all forces manifest...

... We meet with Krishna and Annappa: a good moment of tranquil tenderness...

When I ride back, alone, my body is buoyed with that joy that is filled with gratitude... and I realise how slight are the movements that can draw me back into the condition where difficulties become again so dense and slow to work through, where judgements occur and formations weigh and obstruct...

13-12-1979, Auroville:

When I reached Matrimandir, early this morning, I found the carpenters all squatting near the structure. But, as the PT meeting was to take place in "Aspiration", Jacq and I decided to leave it...

We all meet in "Last School" – this building is quite overwhelming, a rhythmic breathing form wedded to the light... it is a pity that these buildings have been so neglected, but Bhaga now seems determined to save at least this one... At once I tell Prem about the carpenters' move and ask him to inform Valya on the phone and find out the position...

14-12-1979, Auroville:

About half an hour after we've started work, Ed calls up to us that all the carpenters are on their way, dressed in white. We rush down and split in two teams to block their access, between the Banyan tree and the workshop. The provocation is obvious. One of the carpenters slaps Dor on the arm; G.M who is right hear her, reacts at once, butting his head into the fellow's head, like a bull retaliating, it is just funny! Slowly, as if reluctantly – perhaps bribed already or hoping to be – the constables walk over... Jacq meanwhile has run to fetch her bike, she rides in and picks me up and we drive to "Auromodel" to ask Prem to ring up Valya.

Perhaps because I was up for my night-watch, I feel as if it is all a dream... The police have finally halted the carpenters and the Inspector Thomas arrives later with a few more constables, lying to us as usual, but ordering the carpenters, in the end, to go back to their appointed station in the hills!

... Prem has come over here; he was not able to contact Valya. Savitra is here already, writing; we three sit together awhile, it is an occasion for Prem to see the house and to "relax"...

... At J.G's desk I read through the correspondence between Jeffrey Cook and the "Aurofuture"'s staff, and I am impressed: this man seems to be very perceptive and finely balanced... J.G shows me his studies for C's roof, I like it; it fulfils my requirements...

15-12-1979, Auroville:

It takes me longer, every morning, to write down my dreams... When R comes to pick up the money for the "Envelopes", I tell him of the proposal I want to present : that each person who receives funds for building an individual house puts a percentage of it into a special fund reserved for the construction of housing units for those who have no personal resources...

At Matrimandir there is today a quiet and positive atmosphere of active and purposeful energy... Arjun brings me... a letter from Satprem...!

At noon, I also receive a letter from Jane Roberts. I keep both letters unopened until I have come home.

Jane Roberts's is frustrating: it is cordial and friendly, but also dismissive; she says she has no time to look into Auroville with Seth... Perhaps their work is only concerned with America?

Satprem writes:

« Le 11-12-79, Divakar, Les forces qui vous assaillent à Auroville et celles qui assaillent l'Inde vraie sont en train de s'écrouler – elles vacillent ailleurs aussi. La transition sera peut-être bien chaotique. Auroville est un symbole du reste. Le monde est en train de passer dans une nouvelle ère, on l'a assez dit. Ecrire des 'lettres' aux vieux monuments croulants ? Je crois que c'est très bon pour vous, si vous êtes tous d'accord. Mais l'important est cet accord. Et dans le chaos des consciences, ce seul Phare – il n'y a que ça qui peut traverser. Si Auroville veut vivre CA, c'est la meilleure aide qu'elle puisse apporter au monde et la meilleure façon d'accélérer le mouvement de libération. Cette pureté d'aspiration, cette sincérité d'aspiration, cette flamme simple, pure, que l'on promène partout avec soi, c'est ça qui traverse tout. Avec vous. Satprem »

Satprem's answer leaves me, as usual, dissatisfied! He keeps saying about the falling apart and the chaos... I don't know: I feel that You and Sri Aurobindo always work with means and forces that are inevitably harmonious, that You seek always to establish a new balance, a new equilibrium of the world forces... Perhaps I tend to relate Satprem's words to the old apocalyptic trend, which I dislike and distrust; perhaps he means it differently. But I feel You would have answered my question more directly... Yet I am happy anyway at his answering at all, because of the love I feel for him...

16-12-1979, Auroville:

Both J.G and H came to work with me on the reinforcement pattern for the roof of C's house and, with H's suggestions, it gets further simplified...

...G.M and Marcia come in with their lunches through one door; P.G enters through the other door...

... I had another striking dream of H: I am cleaning "my house", but it is another house, which is at once a garden and a house; bushes are "objects", immobile yet growing; I am at the same time steward and master of the place; I have to go out for a moment, perhaps looking for a missing piece of a "mah-jong" set; when I come back in, I find a huge cobra, extremely beautiful, brown and golden, lustrous, coiled and still; after the initial shock of surprise, I concentrate so as not to send any vibration, and slowly I move around it; and I realise then that the cobra is resting on the head and shoulders of someone standing there; I turn full circle and I see that it is a man, dressed with a black mantle, and this man is H; he had come in to pray and offer his pranam before a photograph of You and Sri Aurobindo which I have there; on the other side of his breast a cat is also resting... This gives me somehow the measure of his progress in tantrism; I feel no fear but an odd mixture of disgust and admiration, along with respect for his path; I can also feel that there is no aggression in the act of entering the house to pray, but rather a strong confidence, and it is alright...

These dreams are very charged, not exactly vitally but, I think, more in the way of the subtle physical. But the thing is; I cannot be absolutely sure it is actually H... I do not know enough!

17-12-1979, Auroville:

We are all at work; some of us up on the structure, when we see the entire carpenters' crew cycling over at full speed. We laugh: it is too late to stop them; they've got us this time!

A moment later, behind them, come the Inspectors and some constables in a jeep, who have obviously been bribed not to follow Valya's instructions. They all gather under the Banyan tree...

I get the idea: I consult with G.M, we all go down and each of us takes one of their cycles and carry them on our shoulders back to the hills...

The Inspector Thomas comes to us; I burst at him, asking him whether he is working with the SAS and calling him a liar; Arjun stops me from going further, while G.M is very pleased!

Finally the police drive the carpenters away and some helmeted constables remain at the Banyan tree and we go back to work...

Later we collect in the office and have our Monday meeting: we have received from Bombay a letter that refers to offerings being withheld by Madanlal; solutions are needed for Ponnu, for Mangini, for Narayanswamy and Kanyappan – I seem to be the only one to support Mangini!; a proposal for solar cells has come, in connection to the discs design for the sphere covering...

18-12-1979, Auroville:

Last night, in one of my activities, I gave birth to a baby boy! And, as the day grew, in the dream, the boy developed and became a spiritual man, with a powerful sense of authority about him... There was some deep recognition between us...

... We are all waiting for Valya to arrive with the DSP; Piero shows us a letter he has prepared for the Police: it is so far the most stupid letter I have seen for, in it, he is twisting every fact to make it appear as he thinks it should... It takes all the persuasion of Jacq, P.G, G.M and I to make him see there is simply no way he can give this letter in our name...

When Valya and the DSP do arrive, it becomes even more confused - there are all those legal issues, complaints and cases and stays -, till Valya's message comes through: he cannot hold the SAS back any longer, unless we make an appeal for a stay-order; otherwise, things may escalate and either the Police will have to take over the site fully or we'll all be arrested...

It is all very depressing...

It seems that we do not fulfil the conditions to be able to receive Your Guidance...

19-12-1979, Auroville:

The whole day I am thinking of drafting a statement we could all support and stand behind. V understands it and is very encouraging.

After parting from her in Pondy I go and sit in the Ashram library for a while, reading an old article of Sri Aurobindo on "Boycott": such a straight, luminous and healthy statement! I feel quite revigorated by it!

Later, kneeling at the Samadhi, seeking some indication, I get a sense of a very fine, gentle humour, of a smile, as if saying there might come an unexpected turn of events...

... Jacq has received some French cheese and she and P.G have decided to call a whole bunch of us at the house here, after dinner, to partake of it! It is fun to see all these people gathered in the house, suddenly, even C.E has come, for... cheese!

20-12-1979, Auroville:

After the PT meeting, I ask Diane to open a "Construction Fund", to which I would contribute immediately, to start it; I also ask her to bring me the tapes of the next Agenda from A.I.B...

Yus has gone to Tindivanam to try to get a stay-order; he returns a little dejected; everyone he has met there seemed to have been brain-washed or bribed already... We agree to gather in the office after dinner...

... About a dozen of us are there: M.D, Savitra, GI and Piero, Phil, Bill S, John H, P.G, G.M, Dor, Yus, Ruud, Marcia, Jacq... The choice that seems to be left to us is to either let the carpenters and all the SAS agents enter the area unrestricted again, or to stop them once more and be arrested, without bail... Moreover, if more of us persist in this direction, the Police will then have to fully take over the site and no one will be allowed in...

G.M voices the choice that most of us seem to be leaning for: that Prem and Yus first try our luck at the Madras High Court tomorrow, although there is little hope of any success there and, failing that, we will stop the carpenters, get arrested for it, and come what may...! But, even though I will stand by G.M and go along with it, this wouldn't be my choice; my choice today would be not to give in but not to pursue any contact with the police either, or with any of the officials or legal agents but, instead, to broadcast everywhere, in the country as well as abroad, our position and the reasons for it, with a clear statement of what Auroville needs...

22-12-1979, Auroville:

As expected, Yus has failed in Madras. So, as we all say with a good laugh, we now have only You...!

There have been several small "accidents" lately, such as Phil getting his fingers in the sawing-machine...

... Diane comes, with her children, to bring me the Agenda tapes; the communication is good with her...

Jacq and Kiran gave returned from Pondy with armfuls of gifts for Christmas; they want to bake a huge cake as well...

24-12-1979, Auroville:

The 4 of us walk over to the Kitchen in the evening; it is fully lit with a hundred candles, everyone is dressed-up; Jacq and Kiran are calling names and distributing presents, there's hand-clapping... and all the demonstrations I most dislike in "collective life", but I can't run away, these are my people! I swallow it all, cake and sweets included, I can't always be a loner... People start leaving and Jacq and Kiran join us and it is calm again and one can enjoy the jewelled flickers of the tiny candles and all the ornaments and the myriad of flowers...

... Every time V comes, she seems to be more determined to share my life, but... I still do not know! P.G has now decided to move to the Camp and has offered the hut to her... We'll see...

25-12-1979, Auroville:

I have finished writing the report on the carpenters' issue. (Everyone had agreed that I should prepare it). I type it up in the evening, and I wonder about objectivity, about honesty, about "sides", and whether such a report can serve any true purpose at all...

P.G is insisting heavily that both G.M and I must attend the Coop meeting tomorrow to express how we feel, together, about any further legal action, and about the need to collect and gather more consciously all our energies around Matrimandir, as the best, safest and surest "action"...

... Today I learnt that Patricia has gone to the States! She hadn't told anyone of us! This is not easy; her going away weighs in the balance of things here...

26-12-1979, Auroville:

This afternoon P.E comes, on my request, to help me finalise the details for the roof of C's house; he gives me good technical advice; it is interesting and friendly; yet I find his physical atmosphere confused, almost unclean and it lingers with me a while after he has left...

... We all meet again in the office after dinner. A few more have come this time, such as Marc A, Ed, Noh, Toine... There is good humour, but for a peculiar heaviness of mind in Rod... The general trend of agreement is that, for the sake of clarity, we must prepare a comprehensive dossier, including all relevant reports and documents on the one hand, but also all such essential elements as the Charter of Auroville, and key-messages and statements of Yours, along with available evidence of betrayal of these basic tenets and laws of Auroville on the part of the SAS and its supporters. And this dossier should be constituted in such a way as to be self-explanatory. We also agree to try and obtain a reconsideration of the case in the Court on the 5th, yet not to worry if that fails too...

27-12-1979, Auroville:

16 of us were supposed to show up and sign at the Police Station to day. We ride down there on several bikes, like a raid - to maintain our reputé -; it is fun, but all in vain; the Inspectors had gone away and nothing could be done. This is the absurdity and the grace of India, where everything seems possible at every moment, the best and the worst alike...! We by ourselves put our names on a blank sheet of paper and leave it there...

29-12-1979, Auroville:

Russia has sent 10.000 troops to Afghanistan; toppled Amin's Government, sentenced him to death and killed him! It has also declared its support to Iran against the US. What next?

I still remember all the dreams I had earlier this year about Iran! What shall I dream now?

I feel that Russia needs a second revolution; these old mummies at the top have to be taken off their marble pedestals...!

... I am reading "Dialogues avec l' Ange"...

... I dreamt of Sri Aurobindo, steering peoples and movements, containing their effects into one inevitable direction, the growth of the awareness needed for the next collective step for the whole earth...

30-12-1979, Auroville:

C.E surprises me at noon. Yet it is fitting, as I had dreamt of him last night, of us naked. He wants me to come inside the house; he says he will make another embroidery for me; we meet, slowly, with much care and the tender wish to relieve each other...

31-12-1979, Auroville:

This morning, M.D brings us the work he has done. He has been able to put together most of the elements we had agreed should together form the comprehensive document we wish to have ready for our communications. I find it excellent, flowing and precise and quite complete. There are some unnecessary and tedious comments made by some of us, but in the end we manage to all welcome it.

... The matter of the amphitheatre is raised again; F.Gr and Piero's respective positions are stated once more. The issue goes deeper, of course: what we must find, eventually, is the place, the inner place, wherein conception and action are both secure in Your Sense and one with Your living Will... We decide to give it some time, a week, to try and see more clearly. We are only one of the terms and; as such, what is required of us is transparency, honesty and... living souls!

... Late afternoon we all go to thoroughly clean and broom the amphitheatre for tomorrow' dawn; Cl and Martandar join us happily...!

Towards dusk we see a group of visitors led by... Madanlal! As Madanlal walks nearer to the structure, Jacq, P.G and I overtake him and tell him, very quietly but directly that, as he has now joined the SAS, we can no longer recognise his work. Here is a man of great personal value, who yet could not take a firm stand for Matrimandir, who could not be clear enough to remain free from these influences that seek to control and to "own"...

... Quite often today, from some wakeful inner vigilance, I picked on my own vanity – not from a forced mental decision – and it was good...!

There is a secret! The wise don't know it; the careless don't know it; those who criticise, those who resent, those who are bitter don't know it... And yet it exists and it is our Guide...

Note:

This is what I would have wanted to happen, in this year of 1979.

That everyone, "friend" or "enemy", everyone who has ever pledged themselves to You, gather in one place, silently, freely, for a moment of consecrated offering to You, whatever has already happened, whatever may happen, whatever will happen...

The invitation was formulated thus:

"All those who have worked, prayed and aspired for Auroville,

All those who love Her,
 Are invited at a silent concentration, around the Urn in Auroville,
 On the 17th of November, 1979
 From 5.30 pm to 6 pm.
 The one condition is that everyone arrives well in time and silently,
 Concentrates silently and leaves silently.
 To offer oneself, to open oneself to Her and Sri Aurobindo."

"Tous ceux qui ont travaillé, prié et aspire pour Auroville,
 Tous ceux qui aiment Mère,
 Sont invités à une concentration silencieuse, autour de l'Urne en Auroville,
 Le 17 Novembre 1979,
 De 17h 30 à 18h.
 L'unique condition est que chacun arrive à l'heure et en silence,
 Se concentre silencieusement et reparte en silence.
 Pour s'offrir et s'ouvrir à Elle et Sri Aurobindo. »

This could not happen.

Note on a text:

It was probably sometime during that year, 1979, that I wrote the following short text:

"To communicate:

Everyone, every human being is concerned.

It is the first time in the history of the earth that a large number of people choose consciously to gather in one place in order to progress together, to have the experience of the true Reality together.

Regardless of any creed, religion, national or cultural situation, political or even moral and ethical ideals.

Seeking no gain and no fame, having nothing to preach or to teach.

With only one aspiration and one need: to grow conscious, to become aware of the true Reality and able to serve it, to manifest it through life in Matter, together.

To discover the inner means, and their outer expressions, of realising a harmonious and conscious earthly existence, beginning with what they are and where they are, pretending nothing and claiming no right but one: the right to make the experiment, now.

And yet the same old story is repeating itself and the experiment is harassed, attacked and undermined by the same forces of the old world.

Under the same guise: a society of self-righteous beings founding their strength on the power of money, legality and influence.

We do believe that the time has come for the experiment to be lived openly, on the earth, now.

We request all of those who do have power, material or political power, and respect it as a force to be used in truth, for the sake of Truth and before the Truth, to help protect that little spot of the earth so that the Experiment can take place and grow and be manifest.

We ask from everyone material and moral support, and above all, understanding.

We do trust and believe that what we shall find in the course and movement of our progress will be of direct help for all of humanity.

But we need the time and the space to make that progress.

India has welcomed Auroville at the time of its conception and birth.

Now too India must welcome Auroville at a time of its growth most delicate and requiring most attention and care and loving comprehension.

We wish to work in collaboration with India, with all men and women who share our aspiration all over the world and we ask for their support to help preserve the possibility that Auroville represents, and its existence.

For, if this could not happen, and if Auroville could not be allowed to live, it could mean that this world is bound to its self-destruction..."

PART THREE

-1980 -

I get up at 3 am and write my dreams. In one of them I have already lighted the fire, sweetly blundering at it with a few others, too late and too close to the trees...

I put on some music to gently wake up V, go out and awaken my neighbours, start a fire at the Kitchen for those who will prepare the cocoa for everybody, go to Matrimandir and wake up Mangini to get paper and kerosene; while I wait for him, the moon slowly sinks between the raised arches of the structure... Later Ed and Mangini join me at the wood-pile and together we light the Fire; it starts large and fast, huge flames whooshing and whirling up into trails of coloured smoke...

What I most wanted to offer to it was: self-consciousness; this self-regard that prevents genuine self-giving...

The children soon come closer and now and then we throw more wood into the Fire.

... Later we see the tractor rolling in, with P.G, Noh and Pas on it to distribute the breakfast to all...

... D.W and Yus hand over to everyone copies of the new Matrimandir brochure – I am still upset that they have dismissed C.E's drawings and chosen ones that I find much less interesting...

... Most everyone has gone to sports events at "Aspiration"; I keep watch at Matrimandir.

... To night we begin to listen to the tapes of the Agenda 4; the house is full, there is a good concentration, till 9 pm. Jacq, though, has a bad stomach, she is under stress: Roger A is arriving for a visit! She is so sweet and funny!

2-1-1980, Auroville:

The magic of dawn: white silvery dew, the air is vivid and pure, light, light, light, and the answer of the earth, union, cool, crisp air and light, light playing the greens, the smoke of the incense in the silence and the caress of the first sun' rays...

The hired watchman tells us that 15 big casuarinas have been cut and stolen during the night... What to do? We do not have the money to hire more guards and it would be useless anyway, just as we can't fence the land as it is not of a piece, lots of plots here and there being still owned by villagers and local landlords...

... Mid-morning B.B asks G.M to call us down to help unload... a beautiful mare! It is a race-horse that he has purchased in Bangalore; she is very skittish and nervous from the journey and nearly breaks her leg while coming off the lorry...

3-1-1980, Auroville:

This morning we had the PT meeting in the office. I volunteered to chair when it became clear no one else was willing...

... Phil and I have spent the afternoon preparing the dinner; people like it and line up for seconds...

D.D has come to Jacq along with Roger A; she will stay a few days; I had some gladness at the thought of seeing her again, of feeling again that friendship, frank and straight and homely; but, when I actually saw her enter the dining-hall I was, for a moment, overwhelmed with a massive unease, which killed my smile and shut my eyes and I felt helpless; it was awful! It lasted probably but a few seconds, and I was able to welcome her and it was over... But I saw Jacq's face and it was greyish...!

... D.D came with everybody to the house to listen to Your Agenda... Sometimes, it takes me a while to sort out the mental atmosphere, once everyone has left... What we heard of Yourself, back in 1963: I find there has been such a great change in You since then, as if You had become even thousand times more ... Real... and freer, too... How to say?

4-1-1980, Auroville:

Suddenly, at work, I became very depressed, almost in tears.

How can we build Matrimandir, just the few of us?

We make "meetings" after "meetings", we have the "experience of growing together", but what about the Soul of this adventure? There seems to be so little interest and yet, one way or another, everyone is relying on it...

I do not want to turn negative. But sometimes the mind wonders: does the Lord still want this to be done? For, if He does, why are we so few to feel it?

5-1-1980, Auroville:

At noon, I prepare the payments. This week I have decided to raise the men's wages. I have not told them about it; they certainly need it! I had some hesitation, because they have lately been rather negligent, but it is up to them to feel what they ought to feel and to straighten up... And a funny thing happens: Ven comes to me after my bath and tells me he had a dream of You last night where You told him that You liked this garden very much and that he should work well to make it more and more beautiful...

Oh yes, how I feel Your Presence here, and how that helps me!

I am being given everything, constantly, profusely and lovingly, on all levels; and a beautiful environment and complete freedom, health and support... And what do I give? What am I able to give?

... Krishna comes; and with him the delight, as if an intense but tranquil ecstasy is released when we are together...

G.M and Marcia come too, and P.G, as if to let me know everything is alright, we are together... Krishna helps me to set things in perspective, to learn to wait and to trust and be patient – without despair, without hope either, but with the trust of that inner certitude: the Lord will grow, in us, in Matter... And not by our will or our sense of duty, but after His own fashion...! Our "weakness", our "smallness", who but He can change it, heal it, fill it...?

At night, we listen to Your voice, we hear You say those words:

"Seigneur, manifeste-Toi!"

with such a force! YOU ARE MOTHER!

Your words are summons, are commands!

You are who knows absolutely, intimately and directly the TRUTH OF HIM!

You are who has called and borne Him throughout the ages, in all the worlds, and KNOWS!

6-1-1980, Auroville:

Once again P.G asks me to replace him in the Coop. And once again I say that he must first check with all the other members... He does not seem to understand why I don't just say "yes", but to me it has to be clear that You want me there and, if so, the others will feel it is right for me to join; because it is a work that I consider as difficult, and significant...

... This evening, Phil tells me of his trip to Gingee with about 30 of us to accompany J and G in their first trial of their "wings" since their return to India, and how beautiful it was to watch J fly for an hour... And I observe once more this silly negativity in me, this puny will that everyone should concentrate on one line of action and commitment, excluding the rest of life... At the same time, there is also a deeper concentration seizing me, and like tears within...

... Oh, to hear Your sweet irresistible laughter, at night in the house...!

True life, I feel, is so very different from what we think, even from what we hope...

There is a silence growing in me. And, at times, an intense recognition, a widening and deepening gaze; and gratitude...

8-1-1980, Auroville:

Last night was agitated; I had to take notes several times, and Gauri the cat kept crying. When I got up I discovered she had given birth, or rather, she had delivered a dead kitten. I can't help feeling somewhat responsible! She has become so attached to me, always sleeps near me or on my chest. Now she refuses to eat, she is so upset and disoriented...

... Indira is back into power; all the results of the elections haven't yet come, but the victory of the Congress is clear...

At noon I find that Gauri has eaten her kitten; she rests against me...

... Jacq is down with hepatitis. Whenever I visit with her in the Camp, this situation, her being ill and lying in bed, makes it somehow easier for us to express the closeness of our relationship...

... We listen to You... Mother, You are the most honest being of the whole world! Your Honesty is integral and constant... It is such a teaching!

Mère, je T'aime! Tu es si belle!

9-1-1980, Auroville:

Since a few days the mosquitoes have become a major nuisance... Some solution needs to be found if Auroville is to be inhabited! I don't understand this world! Who the hell is looking after it?! That is really asuric! Does one have to pay for every loveliness? What a mean management!

This afternoon I had to ride over to Koot Road to see about the cement application that now requires some kind of stamp; it is a comedy; corruption is there so... natural! But also in the sense that these so-called moral values have been imported along with much of the administrative systems still in use, and the entire lot remains there as an oddity, not something arrived at, but something grafted...

10-1-1980, Auroville:

At the end of the PT meeting Al.B arrives with news from Valya: the SAS – Guru Prasad, the carpenters and others – intend to come tomorrow to Matrimandir and work; and Valya cannot help us; he will send police but, if we answer to the provocation with some "action", we'll be arrested...

I can't see clearly... The past years have shown the poor measure of our sincerity; warnings have come, which we keep ignoring... I'll be there tomorrow, but I have no wish to be arrested... I'll stay... I feel that even if they "win", they can't win for long, because the work is primarily in the consciousness. I have come to the conclusion that it is meaningless to fight "together against the enemy" if and when we are unable to strive and fight FOR the work!

... Noh helps me to finish preparing the dinner; it seems to be appreciated by everyone, but Allan gets upset at me because I didn't tell him there were oily seeds (which he can't assimilate) in some of the dishes; it was not a lie on my part, merely an omission... but these days I often find myself slipping, little failings to truthfulness – truthfulness is not yet spontaneous at all times; it disturbs me, bothers me, it must change fast...! This is a priority!

11-1-1980, Auroville:

Early this morning, Mangini comes to tell me that the SAS has already posted the carpenters, along with some villagers, by the structure, and 6 paid watchmen in the Gardens... There we are...!

When I reach Matrimandir I find a police van parked near the structure and about two dozens constables standing close by; Dor and Bill S are just removing the lowest of the ladders; the carpenters and some other men are squatting by the shed and, in the back room, like a presence of gloom, Jyotiprem and Guru Prasad are sitting...

We go to work; some of the "Aspiration" people have come, called by M.D, and are working with Arjun and Andy, joyful, laughing... I don't know what's wrong with me that I can't be that joyous in any circumstance...! Is it always and only insincerity that opens one to depression?

... At night, listening to Your Agenda, I hear You say something which strikes me as precisely the program I must follow: You say that there must be...

« ... une acceptation totale et joyeuse de tout ce qui est, comme condition indispensable pour participer pleinement à ce qui sera... Un refus de ce qui est n'a pas le pouvoir de changer. Il faut accepter le monde, avec compréhension et joyeusement, pour que ça puisse changer et devenir ce que ça doit être. Il faut devenir le Suprême de ce qui est, pour changer avec le Suprême en ce qu'Il veut être... ! »...

At first I feel a strong resistance to it. Then I begin to perceive how much love is contained in it; and I understand that it is only the limits of my capacity to assimilate the contradictions that prevents me from experiencing this position... And then, in a sudden moment of lifting the veil, unexpectedly, I experience the atmosphere of Lord Krishna: His unique atmosphere... His own self-built offering of being, the quality and the vibration of this Presence... I don't know why it happened...!

Later on You happen to explain the significance of the number 9, which is my number:

« La gestation dans la Matière. »

12-1-1980, Auroville:

Gauri has remained the whole night where I left her, immobile. Her moaning and meowing is softer when I caress her, quieter; she is healing herself and her body must be feeding on its own milk... Truly, "all life is yoga"...!

... Satprem has sent an extract of Your Agenda of 1972 in which You say that the only way to get rid of "undesirable" elements is the very force of our sincerity: such people would find it unbearable to live in the atmosphere that the sincerity of our realisation would generate...

13-1-1980, Auroville:

It is Sunday. After the clean-up of the house, I cycle down to "Douceur" to see Cristo about bricks and cement, then to "Auromodel" to change the tapes of the Agenda at Al.B's; he has just received his copy of the Volume 5 and shows me the 2 pages of warning Satprem has written as regards Panditji's tantrism which, according to him, is now turned against Your Work...

... At noon Krishna comes; he brings music tapes of Middle East and Arab songs; our bond seems to be effortless, motiveless, given, purposeless, timeless, both of us here for You, for the love of You...

P.G comes to ask that Laur and her children may come and have their afternoon rest in the house; we all share coffee... Krishna and I rest in the inner room, his head on my feet, Gauri asleep on my lap... He reads the papers; his physical presence is always like an environment to me, in which I feel sheltered and at home; it is not two distinct, separate bodies, but two milieus that freely intermingle, with a kind of gratitude...

... When I am finished doing the laundry I find that Laur has left the room in a mess of pillows; it strikes me as odd: she had been repeating the mantra all the time, loud enough for me to hear, and then just took off... I can't grasp it... Perhaps she assumes I have servants?

... This evening I ride over to "Dana" to G.M and Marcia's; G.M tells me of two dreams he's had this year with H acting in a very similar way as in my own dreams; G.M too is very affected by the present conditions and it somewhat reassures me that I am not alone to feel so bad...

Before I leave the house to go to my night shift at Matrimandir, I give Gauri a little water and she consents to sip it, for the first time in 4 days and nights...! I bet she'll be alright now; what a feat!

15-1-1980, Auroville:

Last night, Jacq and Kiran, on duty at Matrimandir with Mau and Valya, came to call me, out of deep sleep: the SAS had posted 5 hired men to stay in the office through the night and they were behaving very provocatively; I got up, went to wake up P.G, V also woke up and we all went back there; P.G and I recognised 3 of them; all of them, we soon saw, were quite drunk. Arguments went back and forth among us as to what to do with them; I went to these men, asking myself within what to do, and as I stood before them, the answer came that I could take them out, it was alright; I started pulling them out by the shoulders; they did not resist much; Jacq, seeing I was alone, called the others, but that didn't help, as then there was a possibility of violence, which had not been there... Only V and Jacq were a help... The guys all left.

... M.D has asked me to translate myself an article I had written some time ago, published in the Review; looking at it now, I am impressed by the vibration of certitude that the text carries, and I wonder! Because, at present, I feel sure of nothing...! But it often happens this way, in retrospect... I doubt and question... Was it then an ego thing? Is it at all possible to express anything true and direct when one is still, in one's "natural being", such a mixture...? Perhaps it is, at certain points, at certain moments.

16-1-1980, Auroville:

Last night, Bill S came to call! The SAS has sent 10 men, fully drunk...! There were more of us around, this time, but we had to send those people out twice during the night...

... The flavour of the days to come is not quite enchanting...!

.. I feel insincere, and this is due to V's presence, as I allow for her to settle more and more and for a sharing between us to take on more and more substance, and yet I do not have the movement of giving myself to her; there is unease in me about it all. I do not wish to be the centre, it is wrong; and yet, something in me still allows it...

... M.S arrived to day; it is a surprise, after 7 years! I have to arrange for her to sleep here too, after our watch at Matrimandir with the new, "invincible Guard"! (More of us have joined, including Ken, Allan, Dennis, Larry, M.L, M.D, Hervé, Jean Cl....). We are tired. But V is resting against me, it all mixes up... and we meet, and have only a brief sleep...

17-1-1980, Auroville:

Late morning, I drive M.S down to "Aspiration", to find Cyril. No one knows exactly where he is, perhaps at the village festival – it is "Pongal". We end up visiting at L and Nath's hut... I wouldn't want to live there, it is too neglected, another way of life... L seems to be playing a role, I do not trust it. I suggest that M.S stays over for lunch, waiting for Cyril, and I get to go but, on my way across the village, I find Cyril and take him back there, to... his mother! After 7 years!

Now this could be the subject matter of a novel; yet, somehow, within Your Work, with the action of Your Force in our lives and on our natures, these feelings and their dramatic value are finding much less room; our responses are already different... I soon leave them together, in Cyril's hut...

... Today we got our copies of the Agenda 5!

18-1-1980, Auroville:

Today is the day the SAS had announced they would come back "en masse"... We have all agreed to be there early, there is an atmosphere as for a concreting, light and lively...

But it seems that, informed there would be many of us working on the structure, the SAS have not dared! Only some police have come and, mid-morning, Valya's replacement arrives and asks to talk to us. Most of us gather in the office and Piero, M.D and Al.B act as our spokesmen: the whole issue has to be explained all over again, since the fellow is new to it...

What comes out clearest today is that whenever we are collectively determined to stand, concretely, these people of the SAS can do nothing...!

... I take V down to Pondy and we eat lunch at "La Maison". I am looking at this yearning I have for a relationship with a person, a woman, whose soul I would know and find in her eyes, with no barrier, no opacity, and pondering the fact that I would accept no less, having found You, Mother... And right then and there, walking past us and heading for the stairs, comes... Purna! My eyes meet her wide deep intense eyes and spontaneously I enter them and at once she closes herself and assumes a mask, this beautiful majestic mask of hers... This leaves me brooding...

... P.G greets me with the news: the authorities have sanctioned section 144 for 15 days; it means that no one is allowed at Matrimandir, or at Bharat Nivas, except for 2 persons on watch-duty at any time, and both places will be manned by police... Sealed documents have been posted to that effect. This has happened apparently because the SAS declared to the Police they would come after 5 pm, once we have all gone home; the Police couldn't condone it, so they decided to stop everybody...

My first thought is that this will give us time to sort things out in Auroville, to do our clean-up act – those who take drugs, those who insist on following various gurus, those who just hang around and do no work... But of course the question arises at once: which is the way, the way of self-reliant action, or the way of surrender and dedication, or is it an attitude we yet have to find, that includes both?

19-1-1980, Auroville:

We have to organise, to catch the workshop boys before they reach, and to distribute the wages... Communication with the Inspectors seems to indicate that a few of us will be able to spend the day there and even do some work... We lock all the tools away. Myrtle sits in the office at her usual work, to see whether she will be allowed to continue...

... I drive Kiran down to Pondy; on our way we enter into a talk that is interesting to me because the aspiration Kiran expresses is quite close to one I still have but could not live up to, so far... Again these two ways of responding to the challenge of Auroville, and I have not yet experienced the union of the two, but for rare glimpses, not as an established thing... In town we do the shopping for Jacq and, as we pass some of us here and there, I see the faces closing up, immediately altered at the sight of Kiran with me... But I am glad to stand by her and to be seen with her... We are all so limited!

20-1-1980, Auroville:

During my afternoon rest upstairs, G.M and Marcia call me to come down; I am struck by the dramatic condition they both are in; Marcia talks very fast, her eyes filled with tears, tight and distressed, of splitting up, of moving away from G.M, while G.M himself is silent, looking lost... I only have my own perceptions to go by, I don't know what goes on between them, but I appreciate a beauty and genuineness in their relationship and I pray inwardly that they will not have to part. After a while, Marcia calms down, she makes a loving effort... and they both return to "Dana"...

... This afternoon, we sit at "Tapoloka", Myrtle's house, for this special meeting to which both G.M and I have been invited, devoted to the orientation we wish to take with M.D's coming trip to Delhi: what it is we wish to obtain from the Government, what suggestions we have as to the role it ought to play.

This is followed later by a general meeting. Many of us are present. Al.B and M.D explain the situation. The atmosphere, though, does not invite deeper sharing, and there is a resistance to bring out certain issues... So, Al.B suggests we end the meeting with a moment of silence...

And somehow the silence lasts. No one moves. Till it becomes obvious that we are being KEPT there!

There is a power of concentration that takes us deeper. After a moment, I get a calm and firm impulse to speak and I break the silence: I draw attention to the need we have to look at those things that interfere between us all as a collectivity and You, the Future; I mention three things, explaining that what those three things have in common is that they veil our receptivity and dedication to the Force: one is the allegiance of those who stand in the shadow of the SAS's legal claims over Auroville; the second is the practice of tantrism and/or the following of other gurus; the third is the use of drugs... Everyone seems to be listening very gravely... M.D follows up on it with more "information"... The meeting ends after 6 pm; several people come to "thank" me; but, by then, I have to deal with my own vanity!

I saw, at the meeting, that V had come with C.E to attend and, again, I felt glad for both of them, and wished they could match each other...

21-1-1980, Auroville:

This evening I pick up Kiran in Pondy. I appreciate her more and more. Something is tranquilly growing between us. As we ride away from the Ashram, she slips into my shoulder bag a large packet of incense sticks which Champaklal, whom she sees a lot and relates to strongly, has given her for me...

22-1-1980, Auroville:

When I pass P.G in the garden, early this morning, I feel a little embarrassed because he saw me, yesterday night, giving C.E a kiss as he was leaving after the Agenda session. But, so what? Why should I bother? Am I not free?

In this tape we heard You say that You have taken this body, this time, being completely free from attachment and desire, with an asexual vital being, like a warrior fearing nothing, desiring nothing in all the worlds but the Truth...

Sometimes I have this feeling that I was born almost free, but some influence seized on me when a small child and tied me to the most suffocating desire, one least admitted in human societies, and sought to make me a slave of it for so many years of hell, forcing me to touch the roots of obscurity, until I could begin again to learn and rely on the Presence within and slowly recover freedom, but with a centring and a comprehension... And now fears are melting away, trust is developing...

... With P.G we talk of the Olympic Games... It is the first time, this year, that the Games are to take place in a country fulfilling none of the conditions laid by the Olympic Charter, and it is also the year You had appointed for Auroville – India – to host the Games... It is interesting to note that this year in Auroville everybody has become involved in sports... Perhaps it is time for Auroville to initiate a process and offer itself as a location for future Games and to propose that the black disc should be replaced by the golden one, as You have indicated...

24-1-1980, Auroville:

I still lack the confidence needed to pull the entire thread of my dreams; Instead, I jump from one to another, in a hurry, and must be loosing a lot of it... I have also the impression, more than an impression, that activities, "dreams" take place or happen simultaneously on different planes (or that different parts dream different activities, at the same time); so, it is actually quite complex...!

... Gauri is being courted all night, it's been that way for several nights already; in the morning when I feed her, she makes a big show of queenly indifference...

... Marcia has left G.M and moved to the Camp and I am upset on G.M's behalf... But this morning, Marcia comes to me and very gently tells me she had a dream where I was furious at her for leaving him, and she offers that we talk quietly about it, soon...

... Abha and Radhika come in a rush to call for the Guard: the SAS has sent a bunch of people to occupy the "Amba" gardens at "Auromodel". The police are already there when we reach, ordering the SAS people away; I feel bad for Ram Singh; as Al.B puts it, we have no cause to be proud in this particular situation, as Ram Singh has not been treated well by us... I like the guy; I feel he has a big heart, and an awful wife, as "Fate" would have it...!

... We are told that SSJ, on behalf of the SAS, has tried to gather all the village elders and village chiefs and have them take position against us, at a meeting specially convened in the "Mother's Centenary Guest-House" (Jagdish's fiefdom); but that they have refused and even expressed that they would rather support us...? What has happened to SSJ?

... I find G.M waiting for me in the house. I settle him and go prepare the big room for the Agenda session... When it is over, I make him tea and let him speak... He says he has gone to the wall, and felt there was no way but suicide... He is afraid of loosing the sense of direction; he felt then that the only opening was to come and stay with me, concentrate on our work at Matrimandir, while being nearer to where Marcia is... I try to make him see that he must come to terms with himself, that he must also appreciate what has been given to him through this place he now has in 'Dana', and listen for what his inner being is leading him to; that he must have trust and think no more; that of course he is welcome here always... I talk to him of other things, then, of "collective matters"... He walks back to "Dana" quietly in the night...

... I miss wakefulness, an alertness of perception; I am still so heavy with inertia... The whole Lord's infinite world of being is there, available, and we are asleep, drugged in torpor... Oh, the power to exist...!

25-1-1980, Auroville:

Marcia spends most of my afternoon watch with me, telling me, very candidly, of all she has been through with G.M... In the evening, I go to him, taking his laundry which she gave me; as he'd found me late in coming, he'd gone to fetch Krishna and I find them together, Krishna playing guitar for him... sweetly, my two brothers! From the very day we each came to You, almost at the same time, we have known this bond...

... Returning, at night, I decide to go to C.E's; I have been missing him too much, the physical given ness of it... He is surprised, but looks happy; he is shy, at first, then he relaxes; I lay my head on his arm folded around me and, suddenly, something in me lets go, a whole tension drops; all appearances loose value and cease to matter, I only know that I feel at home there and free; slowly and gently we make each other climb the energy of pleasure and safe release...

26-1-1980, Auroville:

I read Your Agenda, during my afternoon-watch... One passage makes me extremely happy: when You relate how You declared, after a particular series of experiences, that You are having NO POWERS whatsoever; and the realisation it brought about and the breakthrough that occurred and how Your body was freed from the tension and things were sorted out in everyone around You; a Victory, in the sense of an illusion crumbling apart, leaving only the naked sincerity of those few who really know who You are and what is meant in You...

And somehow it fits with Auroville today, the sense of helplessness and yet, within it, the awareness of a process of realisation that is still so foreign to mental notions...

27-1-1980, Auroville:

There is guilt in me for "hanging around", not doing any "useful" work; especially when I eat – because the things I eat are not only the fruit of Nature, they have required much labour from people who have no choice but to work to earn their living... I wish all these scientists out there would have already come up with a simple energetic food, computerised to suit each body's needs, so that everyone would become free to concentrate in whichever way one feels inclined to and physical work could assume an altogether different value and meaning, released from contradictions... How devilish it is that these scientists and governments do not direct their energies into this kind of research and processes but go on inventing, devising, perfecting and manufacturing more sophisticated weapons and instruments of control to hold sway over people and Nature, to dominate, to cultivate fear...

... On watch-duty I hear G.M's bike; he gets down near the office, enters shouting my name "come, come, it's over"..., his face desperate... I am frozen for an instant; he bursts in tears; he is at his limit, he cannot cope with more pain... I move to him; I am calm and I hold him; he is sobbing and sobbing... I close the office, return the key to Narayana, pack G.M onto his bike and we come home; I bring him inside and hold him while he weeps and weeps; all is silent... I slowly piece it together: unable to bear it any longer he had come to the Camp to see Marcia, found her with Bill S, begged her to give him a few minutes and was coldly refused; that was the blow...! I felt I was to hold his naked need, his raw pain, with a deep calm, the deep secret harmony that could quieten him, embrace him past the pain; for long, no word was said, I just shared his pain, without any sadness, aware of the Grace in his life... After a while Yel, who had been silently waiting near the house, perhaps understanding, brought us two cups of tea and moved away...

28-1-1980, Auroville:

A few of us, discreetly, managed to do some work this morning – C.E, G.M, Ruud, Ed, Myrtle and I – while the police were asleep !

... Tonight, Krishna brings me two tapes of music he has composed, for me to listen to before he erases them: the tremendous energy he gathers into the making of his own reality! To most, I presume, it would be felt as sexual or mental stuff; but his inner field is always available to me and I know in it a warmth of energy, a search for material ecstasy, the realisation of delight in Matter, a wideness and an intensity where, to most, lies the domain of the "unconscious"... And it IS Energy, after all, it is always and only Energy, moving, ascending, and deepening, touching, reaching, flowing, growing, a conscious fire... And behind it there is that... love...?

R called us all this morning to harvest the field of varagu near the Kitchen 'this field was purchased 9 months ago under Narad's name with money channelled by SSJ). It is a little tricky, as the previous owner is trying to claim the crop, but, with the help of the Guard, we harvest it all.

... During nap, I have yet another dream involving H: we are all holding a meeting and there have been several kinds of troubles... At the end of it, as I move slowly from where I sat, I see, among others, H preparing to leave; it surprises me that no one has objected to his presence; perhaps he has done something that shows that his position has changed and he is now "with us", but it doesn't feel that way... I keep quiet. Suddenly G.M is there, right behind H, his shoulders bunched up and his head down like a bull about to charge; the scene shifts right then and H is being tracked down a nearby field; I am immobilised in the crowd, I want to shout at G.M to let go, to let go, or to let me take care of it, but he is now too caught in the vibration of violence, like in a dark mantle... I cannot help... Later, C.E. finds me and tells me, with an unnerving smile, that H hasn't been too hurt, and that both G.M and Chr had to vomit...! But I feel so bad, because I see that the force using H has won, by drawing violence from G.M, from "us", making of H a victim, all the more justified to pursue his ways without having to question himself...

I take this as a lesson and a warning to be alert...

G.M spends the entire day with me. He clearly needs it and it is quiet, open and poised; we do our shopping in Pondy, have his bike serviced; we are both grateful, driving back in the evening light, for this, Home on earth...

... P.G tells me in the evening that the Coop meeting was good and that, regarding SSJ, Al.B has made a proposal: that a large number of us go in complete silence to his house and delegate one of us with a written statement and withdraw in silence; I am relieved about that – I am more inclined to this type of silent action, as more offered and more receptive...

31-1-1980, Auroville:

We prepared the dinner and baked the bread early today, so that we could attend the PT meeting at "Tapoloka". I sit in a corner of the room next to G, who is still heavy with his thoughts of Marcia; the meeting works its way through many topics, till it comes to the main one: what to do about SSJ... AL.B's proposal is finally agreed on; Prem, M.T, Rod and AL.B then sit separately to draft a statement; they read it to all; it's alright, but there is hesitation, and it feels a little too much like the kind of statements that the SAS has been issuing! We all keep quiet. I try to concentrate; Ken has just made some brutal comments and I have to deal with the released vibrations... I ask for the right words to drop into my awareness; I don't get a ready sentence, but an impulse that is clear and quiet enough for me to get up, cross the room and join the 4, ask for a pen and paper... I write this:

"To SSJ. The present community of Auroville sees and knows that you have betrayed the Truth which Auroville is to manifest and therefore that you are to leave Auroville." I show it to them. They let go of their papers and adopt it. It is read aloud. Everyone accepts it.

It became very intense for me afterwards. I felt like I was getting the return vibration of an event... I became very cold, as if frozen, and aware of a whole play of forces; I couldn't mentally make sense of it... I felt the need of someone, of the presence of someone who would be truly compassionate, of a real and powerful compassion, a being in whom would be joined the ends of consciousness...

Myrtle came gently to offer a warm cup of tea, gave me a blanket to wrap around my shoulders...

... G.M sat with me and told me about Marcia... I said that he must not pull her, but respect her and let her make her own choice... It is getting late and still SSJ has not returned from Pondy, and I ought to go back and serve the dinner...! G.M and I are just about to leave, when we see some of us running and laughing: SSJ is on his way! And here we are, rather cheerful, far from being the silent assembly we had planned to be! Just then Krishna joins us, he who never comes to any meeting, and it is for me like a confirmation that this was meant to happen...

SSJ comes down his blue car, turns to G.M, and asks: "Do you wish to see me?" G.M nods mutely; P.G answers for him: "Yes, we have a statement we wish to give you, Fred is bringing it." Fred walks in with the typed statement, signed by all of us, in his hand and gives it to SSJ, who reads it, and repeats several times: "I'll see, I'll think over it..." Fred looks straight at SSJ and says: "Don't think. You must go."

I didn't feel there was any hatred in us. I felt there was a Grace there that would take SSJ back to the real Auroville at this very moment, if he would only let it...!

There was this Grace and this Love and, at the same time, an exigency, a demand for Truth, like a sword cutting through. None of it was pleasant or gratifying. It felt real...

We all moved away. And I served dinner in time!

I feel the need tonight to be back in my own atmosphere, to assimilate and to offer. During the Agenda session, I have a difficult moment with my breathing; I have to concentrate and call, and it comes as a strong utterance: "I belong to the Mother!" And that semi-paralysis of the breath begins to recede...

1-2-1980, Auroville:

I finally managed to pull G.M to work. Mid-morning, Marcia comes up on the structure to see us, obviously to show G.M that she is not building any wall but going through some necessary adjustment; she tells us that a few people at the Camp - Tiz, Yamini, AnneM... - are horrified by what "we have done", saying that it is "a vital thing"...

... M.D has written a very sweet letter from Delhi to us three – P.G, G.M and I...

... For a couple of days I have been feeling the pain that G.M is experiencing, as if I had been identified with it and had to know it fully – the aching need of someone's presence to fill a void, the terrible pull to suicide... -, but with the distance and perspective of a non-personal involvement; I woke up from my afternoon nap invaded by it, and I just hoped it meant that G.M would find it a little easier... And this evening, I have this strange moment: the whole thing is filling me again, as I sit listening to Your Agenda, the whole intensity of it, when I sense a slight movement of the Force touching from above, with the clear intent to pluck it out; and instantly something in me calls out "okay, but You must not take it back to G.M!" This was a bit comical and also puzzling... the movement froze, sort of mid-way... I do feel better, though, lighter and more objective; the weight of it is gone... But I have to wonder! I am so little aware of what goes on "above"... Have I defied? I have reflected on this and tried to analyse it, but I only came to a reading that is perhaps simplistic, yet it is one with which I feel content: out of our inner "community of experience", G.M passed on to me an experience he could not cope with on his own, could not offer well enough, so that I would do it alongside and the Force could pluck it up once the teaching was done; and that is all there is to it...!

Yet the fact that I have not fully trusted reminds me of Your statement that men cling to their suffering and their ignorance, refuse to let go of it... And I see, tangibly, how much we fear this vacuum in our lives, this emptiness that is nonetheless an indispensable passage before we learn to open to the true Presence, the One that does not fail...

Human beings are scared of emptiness; even when they know it is a necessary basis, they remain open and eager to be filled with some intensity...

... A little later, I have an interesting experience: I am following shapes, forms and volumes, as if through a gap into another plane; and I enter a sense of substance, like a dancing flow of substance, material, breathing in and out a consciousness of unity, and it becomes more solid, homogeneous and compact and completely fulfilling... I still remember vividly, almost physically but with a deeper sense to it, a vault and a doorway arching, like a smooth wave of substance, like beaten or pressed clay, and the tone of it a deep quiet unified orange brown, a continuum of substance...

... P.G has decided to move to the Camp – this is a decision he kept postponing... I feel a little deserted; I like to have him as my closest neighbour...

2-2-1980, Auroville:

Ram Singh comes to find us, G.M and me, at Matrimandir and asks us to attend a meeting at "Auromodel" in which his situation is to be decided upon... We both feel for him and agree to go...

We reach there after 2 pm; Diane is there; she tells us that SSJ's reaction to our "communiqué" was to get all the carpenters, all the SAS paid watchmen and all the men of the "integrated families" to watch over him and guard his house so as to prevent us from taking any "violent action"... Clear!

Soon the others arrive: Kam and K.T, Deepti and Arjun, Al.B, F.G and Eliane, Aster and Prem, and a young woman names Barbara... This is a thick résumé of a chunk of human misery: there is caste and social class, pedagogy and "spiritual reasoning" and moral leadership rights, with a blend of the new "jet society" thrown in, and Ram Singh, generous and crooked at the same time, straightforward and frustrated... K.T has, I feel, the soul of a child, but he is surrounded with a kind of clannish formation that doesn't allow him to verify directly the validity of his own assumptions and feelings; I meet him, for a very moving moment, as we get up to leave, and I feel his genuine and deep yearning for progress and truth...

... Yus has come back with good news from the Tindivanam Court: we have won! That is, the Court has set aside the ex-parte Order, the SAS cannot legally prevent us from stopping them and there is no further cause for the Police to maintain the sanction of the section 144, unless a law and order problem occurs; but this is only valid till the 5th of March, when the entire procedure is to start all over again...

... Al.B and Diane came to the house; Al.B reads a letter from M.D and another from Luc V... it is that funny tone of those who stand "under the Truth's wing"... but it's alright, I guess...!

3-2-1980, Auroville:

I am walking back home from "Dana" in the evening. Approaching the last turn I see, coming in my direction, a woman; as we get closer, I recognise her: A.R! After 8 years! We begin to laugh... I see in her eyes that the contact has remained alive, unaltered... But her atmosphere has now become foreign to me; nothing stirs in me, it is immobile and quiet. Her anxiety is vanishing, her apprehension, having decided to come all the way... In her vibration and demeanour I can appreciate the ground she has covered, a certain poise... She tells me that J.Cl is due to arrive also, in a few days... I welcome her into the house...

4-2-1980, Auroville:

For once there is some good news in the papers! Bani Sadr's election in Iran, the boycott of the Olympic Games, Indira's meeting with Giscard...

... A.R talks to me, simply; there is no imitation, no pretence; she is quite articulate about her own progress and necessities...

... C.E has disappeared since 4 days; Pas thought at first that he was staying with V in Pondy, and I was glad of it, but now this seems unlikely, so I begin to worry...

... A.R talks to me again; she tells me of those years and of her relationship to me, of how she sought to have that absence filled and could not, not in that way, till she came to a state of acceptance and detached clarity; and how she found herself on her way here...

5-2-1980, Auroville:

Gillian and Tess come to ask for P.G's hut to be turned into a workshop for the hired ladies of their unit; Gillian is quite vindictive and questions my "right" to determine the usage of the hut; but I stay firm and repeat that the priority will be for V to move in; Marcia has also indicated that, if V wouldn't use it, she then would like to...

6-2-1980, Auroville:

Gauri's behaviour is getting to be harassment; she is so demanding, her attachment to me is abnormal; throughout the night she will go on at me, pulling me out of rest, and I don't know what to do, I would need the knowledge of these energies which I do not know how to obtain... I keep hoping that this time around she will have healthy kittens and will be occupied with that...

... A.R talks to me, with much honesty, of her experiences with various "mystic groups", when she was badly in need of nourishment and yet never able to comply with the rules and limits set by any of those groups out of the smallness of their faith, and she began to see how "sects" operated and to become very cautious and wary about following literally any "message" or "revelation"...

... While in town, I check once more at V's: this time, although the shutters are still closed I find the front door unlocked and a woman answers to my call and ushers me in... I see V there, ask her if C.E is also there; she leads me into her small room, steeped in a greenish penumbra; C.E is lying there, on cushions laid on the floor; the atmosphere makes me uneasy; I am upset that he wouldn't even send a word to us... He is sweet, but I find an unsettled depth in his eyes, and vagueness... This makes me angry and I leave, a little shaken...

I don't quite know what it is; perhaps they have had some positive experience, but to my sense there's something wrong, as if they were trying to return to a womb-like state, and I just feel like breaking it...!

... Krishna says he has been wanting to be with me alone all these days, as he has been feeling unwell, but has hesitated to add on the weight of G.M's needs... We agree that he will come and spend the night-watch with me... He and A.R resume a brief contact they'd had when he had come to join me in France...

... A.R comes to me. I had offered it yesterday, as a friend and to honour our friendship, but she had then been afraid; now she comes forward and I give her as much tenderness as I can... But I don't know if I'll ever find a human woman in whose reality and substance I'd become whole, to whom I could give myself really, who could receive me really... In You I am fulfilled, Mother...!

I get a little scared that we might have conceived, even though I have learned to be prudent – it happened 4 times in the past, with two of my friends, and there were 4 abortions, and I still feel bad about it; but I do not want to conceive "by accident"; and I still haven't met the woman I would want to...

We talk quietly. I tell her of friendship, of the inner contentment to recognise one another and to care; she tells me how my attitude has helped her and what she now understands are her priorities, without fear... I find her observations very precise and an expression of her own courage and I am thankful for it...

... Krishna joins me at the night-watch; we sit together out in the open, alone with Matrimandir. Communicating with him, my own questions regarding the man-woman equilibrium become clearer... There are two things that I do not accept: one is that there seems to be inevitably a plunge into unconsciousness at the moment of "union" between man and woman; there is some gulf there that ought not to exist... And then there is the sense that to give myself to a woman would automatically split me, deprive me of my own completeness; because I actually do not believe in this "complementarity", in this "law" by which a man cannot be a complete person and neither can a woman, without meeting "the other half"... What I do believe is that, on the contrary, each person must, whether a man or a woman, find first one's own completeness, then only can any meeting begin to make sense, and an infinite richness of life be released...

We start preparing the dinner very early, so we can all attend the PT meeting later. There is a bit of confusion around me; I drop a pan of boiling water, it splashes all over me, and it hurts! I then go into an active silence, not accepting, not letting any suggestions work, and the pain recedes, the effects neutralised...

... Jacq takes both A.R and I on her bike, over to "Tapoloka". I have taken a sweater this time! I am nursing a cold and I sit on a chair. Cl.B arrives and sits right against me on the floor – both G.M and B.B are in Bangalore for a few days about horses, and she feels freer in her own expressions...; she rests her head on my arm throughout the meeting...

I introduce A.R; this moment is interesting for me, as are also present M.S and Cyril and Rakhal and L, all of whom were part of the community experience in France...

After many topics, the "Auromodel" matter is brought up again; K.T is most touching with his caring seriousness, yet it is also obvious that he is not taking into account a whole side of the issue, while Ram Singh is plain stubborn with that legitimate pride of a good peasant, having little else to show in order to be even considered...!

... The Inspector Thomas has come with summons for 32 of us to explain before the Magistrate tomorrow why we shouldn't sign a "peace-bond" with 28 of the SAS agents, valid for 1 year, with a penalty of Rs 500/- per individual...!

... Al.B and Fred make a suggestion which I feel is right and happy: that each of us signs individually a statement to the effect that we do not have any claims over any assets in which we may have invested or which we may have created in Auroville; and this same statement would be signed later on by every newcomer to Auroville...

... Noh, Phil and I are half an hour late serving the dinner, but no one is upset, the children are running and fooling all over, crawling among the pots and under the tables, it is all a cheerful mess...!

After visiting with Krishna for an hour or so, I attend the Coop meeting at "Tapoloka". We all sit at one table; after a while I offer to take down the points we wish to articulate into a statement for the Court and the officials; we work on it this way, until it feels fairly accurate and inclusive...

... J.Cl has arrived: another one of our "community" in France... He has not changed much; his language is still the same colourful, prolific, elaborate and funny flow...

... P.G returns from Tindivanam: the whole thing is postponed to the 26th.

... Dadu is quite taken by J.Cl, his generous nature, his humour and good-will; it is sweet to see that...!

Looking to borrow a bike, I walk down to the Nursery in the afternoon. M.H and Narad greet me warmly and Narad makes me sit and tells me, all jubilant, that Poppo has come to him with a broad plan for the Gardens, with all of Your indications in it, and they are going to detail it together.

... At dinner M.S and Cyril join us: it is a comforting joy to see my little boy all bright and lively next to his mother, here in Auroville, at last...

... C.E had returned to his hut the evening of the day I had found him in Pondy, without V. I needed today to find out whether A.R could then move into the empty hut... C.E looks happy to see me; he makes it clear that he'd like me to stay on and, quietly, slowly, carefully and tenderly we enter together into our intimate home-space, each relieved to find it again, each happy to be able to give and receive, in full trust and freely. When it is like that, I wish it would be gold or some luminous substance that our bodies would secrete...

G.M drives me down to the bus-stop at dawn. I have to go and get all the steel mesh for the roof of C's house... On the ride, I meditate... on the very first time a human being caused another to die, on the first "murder", that first interference, that first breach...

It goes well; I order the mesh, do all the purchases for Matrimandir; I meet Prem and an Indian lady at the station... I am back in time to sit and gaze at the ocean before dusk... G.M is already waiting for me at "La Maison" and we have a quiet dinner together, telling each other our day...

... How can this world be "understood"? When beggars come to me now, I feel angry and want to tell them, to ask them: "why do you cling to life if you cannot believe in anything else than begging?!"... But, of course, one can't say, one can't even think... What is God's Will? What is all this about? Is it all, every part and moment of it, for everybody, a teaching, the right teaching? It seems to me the worst human devil is... guilt!

... When G.M drops me home, everyone has just left after the Agenda session, the last of this series of tapes... Yel is gently waiting for me with some fruit...

Valya, the sub-Collector, has been transferred somewhere lost near Ooty: our only friend...!

... During my night-watch, I finish reading "The Island" by Huxley. I was not taken at the beginning; I found it rather mediocre; but now I appreciate it a lot: it shows very well how, implicitly, in order not to fail in moving ahead to a truer life, into a future of conscious change, one – especially if one is a group, a collectivity – must not break too soon from the usual known terms of communication with the rest of the world, lest the false Manichaeism one may have transformed in oneself and in one's life may regain substance and power in the form of an external aggression against which one is now left vulnerable...

... I am at my leather work in the evening, silently; Yel is sitting near me, his friend has also come, the house is quiet; I haven't heard him but, after a moment, I realise that C.E is also there; he has come to spend the night here with me...

I send Yel to sleep, C.E puts on some music, makes us a hot drink; he tells me then his proposal for housing for everyone! He has worked out a multiple shift so that everyone is lodged where it fits best, including he and V together in Pas's hut, and A.R having her own too! It's funny that it now comes from him! We retire upstairs; and very gently we move into another time, a few hours of delightful and quiet and tender giving...

16-2-1980, Auroville:

Yesterday P.G had told me of the decision taken by the "Certitude" people to throw Joss out of Cristl's house and he had asked me to join... I had not felt any joy about it but had left it open, thinking that if G.M wanted to be there, I'd probably tag along... So, this morning, I was waiting to see whether he'd pick me up, offering this as a sign... And he didn't, which was in a way a relief... I do not like the strategy Savitra has used on these people, moving into their house, misusing their good faith and playing an unfair trick on them; I do not like either the idea of our "occupying" that house; the experience of "Fidelity" (Jagdish's group) has been lesson enough, it would seem to me, not to repeat it! Yet I also feel that what is in our hearts, in any of these situations, is alright: it is genuine...

Later, though, I begin to get worried; I cycle over to Matrimandir and find Ruud alone in the office; then Yus comes and tells us the news: Joss has refused to move out; the "Certitude" people, along with G.M, Pas, P.G and Claudine have moved into the Kl's house; then Th came in a rush, wanting to fight, and hit G.M and Myrtle, then proceeded to issue on of his "sermons", while Shradhavan went and called the police, which was later received by SSJ; afterwards the SAS called the carpenters and Dietra and Navoditte; and now everybody is packed into that house and the police is at a loss as to what to do next... I take it that You didn't want me to be there, but I feel bad too, out of a sense of solidarity... although Yus assures me no one was hurt...

... The men ask for half a day leave, because of the sun' eclipse; they were afraid it would get fully dark...

... C.E comes to inform me that the Guard is called to "Certitude"; I still feel that I am not meant to go, but here is a matter of principle: I am part of the Guard, so it is my duty to go wherever it is called... C.E and I go to the Camp to get Jacq, who hadn't wanted to go there either, and we ride over and reach the Kl's house, a huge house with a large courtyard where everybody has gathered... After a moment I see where G.M is, but there is a distance, I cannot reach him and he does not come to me. The entire scene strikes me as silly and depressing, although there is some humour in it too...

Then the eclipse happens, just as Jacq and I return to Matrimandir: there is still a bright light, but the shadows are weird, as if they'd suddenly acquired a third dimension and a substance of their own; the air becomes like liquid ether, with strange colours...

... I feel so distressed by the whole situation we are in; there comes an ardent call for that in me which is love and understanding, freedom and awareness, for that in me which sees and knows and is compassionate...

I withdraw inside the house, take up my leather work all evening, while concentrating and, little by little, I begin to breathe again and to trust, to know again the meaning of trust, in the Lord, through everyone and everything and every event...

... And it is past 10 pm, and... G.M comes. I am happy he has felt the need to come! He says that today' move was wrong, that it belonged to the Mechanics and the monster, nothing could come out of it; it was a nightmare... He has seen those people: he has seen Shradhavan full of words on You, full of Your Name, call 20 carpenters and hired men to beat him up wildly, 20 against him alone, and he fell unconscious for a moment; he has heard Th declare contentedly that he himself had worked at drawing the list of those of us who must be expelled by the law and the police; and he has also seen that, by going out of our way, we lost protection; that the force and protection were with us only when we stood for the space that is given, in response to an attack...

We are able to laugh again... And G.M says that, whatever happens, the two of us will resume our work on Matrimandir; this is our strength and our secret...

18-2-1980, Auroville:

I am wondering, again and again, how to be useful, in which activity to direct energies and be of service... There is still that sense of guilt whenever I do not feel "used"... But what is a truly useful activity? Does it exist? I see that, in fact, most things human beings do are somehow related to their survival and sustenance on the physical level, with the inscribed, in-bred understanding that it will end, that it must end, with the death of the body... It is all a system of debts and pay-offs, and there is only a thin margin left for pure creativity... But, there too, to be creative and to remain honest in one's self-giving to the Lord... is not an easy thing to achieve...

So far the field of human activity I can best attune to is that of the crafts, with the artisans, wherein the balance between practical usefulness and creative care is acquired and integrated, without too much of a compromise...

I do believe I belong to Matrimandir; yet I also feel I could function in other ways: setting up an industry, organising an administration, taking care of a guest-house or creating a whole environment... The real question: how does the Lord want me to give myself – whatever that may be? That answer alone would free me from the unclarity, from the guilt and the compulsion to be somehow "productive", not to be a weight or a parasite...

20-2-1980, Auroville:

Today we were determined to go back to work. G.M picks me up early; we reach Matrimandir, climb up the structure, P soon joins us and time, like a rubber, erases all the days we have been away... Our condition is a little different, though: G.M is happier because Marcia has returned to stay with him in "Dana" and I'm happier because he is... We are just recovering our rhythms of work when the Inspector Thomas rides in, calls us down and brandishes an official paper from the Tasilhdar: another 10 days of section 144! John H, Phil and Bill S join us; we tell the Inspector that we've had enough, we shall work... He says that he will then have to arrest us. We reply that it is not our concern to know what he has to do, we are only concerned with what we have to do... and our work is here!

Jacq soon joins us as well... I work out in my mind all the arrangements for "Sincerity", for C's arrival, the wages, all the practical things, in case we are taken to jail...

Then P.G and Gupi ride in, straight from the Coop meeting, with a tense expression... They have come to stop us! Gupi gives us a long speech on the need to step back and learn the lesson from all these obstacles... We leave it at that...

What do we know? I am reacting; I am annoyed at these speeches that seem to be made up with entire sentences lifted from Satprem's books... But, alright, we do have to agree on how to respond...

... I get an official letter of refusal from the local authorities: my application for cement has been found "unacceptable"; no explanation is given. Thus, after several weeks of delays, this now smells like interference from the SAS people... Now, I would rather go to the black market than slip a bank-note under the magistrate's table!

21-2-1980, Auroville:

Noh, Phil and I prepare a special dinner today, for Your birthday, with lots of good things in it, and a sweet dish of my own invention too; others come to help, hundreds of flowers are arranged on the tables; double the amount of people expected show up in a rush and it goes on till after 8 pm, but we manage to feed everyone and all are happy, in this disorderly, noisy, raucous and careless way that seems to be the rule in collective life... It is a kind of satisfied disharmony, or jarring harmony... It lands me, as usual, in the glue; my senses feel an invasion of mixture – and all the talking, talking, talking...: I shall never be able to cope with it!

Yet, monasteries are no solution; so, what is? How is a truer atmosphere ever going to manifest?

Children grow, we get lines on our faces, our teeth rot, we change bikes, read the Agenda, we argue, now and then we feel a bit of tenderness, or gratitude, and we'll be getting old and... what?

Krishna and I spend most of the morning on the beach playing, delighting in the materiality of it all, the waves and the birds and the warmth of the sun rays and each other's presence... Sometimes that sort of mental superstition intrudes, as if, having reached this ease and security of communication and contact, open and offered at Your feet, basking in Your Grace, it could then go no further and was bound to get contradicted in some way... It takes an active movement of trust to repel these suggestions...

We part near "Certitude"; A.R has been staying at his place for the past two days, and we laugh at his embarrassment...!

... Ruud, John H and Bill S, at the Camp, call me to share their thought with me about a process we could learn to follow together, something like entering together an altered state, trance-like, so as to become able to "consult with You"...

Last night Phil slept here so we could get up together before dawn and start the baking of the bread, with Pas and J.Cl... It is a happy time and a happy work...

C.E comes to say that both V and he wish to accompany me to receive C at the airport; I refuse: it makes no sense to me, particularly when E.B is also arriving on the same plane and we'd then be all 5 of us squeezed in a hot car, for no evident purpose...

Then R comes and asks to travel with me up to Madras where he plans to stay for a day of purchases... We leave at 5.30 pm. It is comfortable between us; both talk and silence are free of tension... Before we left, Marcia and G.M had come for a while and it made me think again about... who could be the woman I would be ready to live with, to give myself to... I keep drawing so many conditions...! And I wonder: "Divakar", is that not in a way a lonely star, lonely in the human sense, a thing of the Lord, like a tool, or a body or vehicle for an aspect of His...?

... C and I return after 3 am...

P.G comes with Juanita; he is leaving for Delhi on the 29th with the Exhibition team and he asks that I replace him on the Coop – this time, how can I refuse?

27-2-1980, Auroville:

In the morning the Guard is called to "Revelation " by Hervé, as the SAS people are trying to prevent our people from harvesting and picking the fruits and nuts in the cashew topes; we make a good show of presence and eventually they all leave...

Oh, would we rid ourselves of reasoning, opinions and arguments and would there be enough of us ready, at all times, always ready, for whatever it may be...

... C has brought me her "Memoire" (her Thesis); there is such a deep poise and profound balance between us, always progressing, quietly... She walks with me over to the amphitheatre; we meet John H there; others soon join us and we start building the wood pyre for tomorrow' Dawn Fire... And later in the Kitchen, we prepare everything for the breakfast that will be served to everybody afterwards...

28-2-1980, Auroville:

At 5.20 am, Gopal and P.P help me to light the Fire; it catches well and all the beams remain upright within the high flames till they crumble and collapse upon themselves, ashes... The "Aspiration" people have brought the sound equipment and we listen to a composition by Igor in which he has recorded Your voice as You utter the mantra for Satprem: four times You say the mantra, and it is such a total offering, such a complete, utter reliance on the Lord...!

... Late morning, I am at work preparing for the big dinner sweet which I want to serve tonight, when G.M and Marcia arrive all tense and wound up to call me...: about 15 men, paid by the SAS, armed with sticks and "cutties", have come to "Dana" to take over the cashew topes there and, when they found G.M walking his puppy dog and he tried to make them leave (he had a dream last night of being attacked and injured), more men appeared and incited the others to beat him up... He somehow managed to run away with the puppy, returned to his house to call Marcia and they both immediately drove over here... These guys have torn off from G.M's neck the locket he uses to wear with Your blessings in it: this is too much, I want to get it back from them!

When several of us go there we find that these men have already run away, dangerous cowards that they are...

As we move around the area, drift over to "Samriddhi" and the P's place, wondering what to do, I become aware of a distance... between all this thinking, arguing, discussing, rejecting and... what it is to be just a little conscious, in a receptive silence, turned toward the right perception of the moment, of the act...

The suggestion comes up that, this year, rather than try and fight back all over the place to hold on to the harvests – the topes are scattered over a very large area -, we could consider the radical measure: to remove all the flowers, so that no fruit and no nuts will be further yielded; this might be more sensible than to keep running after the fact, when we are isolated and we are bound to reach always too late...

... C walks with me down to "Tapoloka" for the special general meeting on Matrimandir; it is packed; P.G offers to chair, but he is so unsettled that soon Arjun has to replace him... Many things are said... Kiran's presence in Auroville is again questioned, but there seems to be, underlying, a genuine wish to communicate... F.Gr surprises me with a surge of emotion akin to hatred, something dark, violent, resentful and exclusive, and it is clear that he considers me as a kind of symbol for what has to be swept away at Matrimandir; it is quite unexpected... Is it because of Patricia's absence? I can't help seeing some measure of dishonesty there...

... I walk quickly over to Kannan's house to ask him to help locate the men who had come to "Dana" – I haven't seen them, so I can't tell from which village they came – and try to trace G.M's locket...

... Two gifts come to me tonight: A.R has made an embroidered bag decorated with beads; and C gives me a wonderful rock-crystal sphere, which I place before Sri Aurobindo...

29-2-1980, Auroville:

Several of us gather in "Dana"; it is soon agreed: we go out in the topes with long bamboo poles and start beating the flowers off the trees... Joan, who has come to help, gives me worrying news: Krishna had to be taken to Jipmer Hospital this morning, due to severe pain in his side...

We work there till 1 pm and, afternoon, R asks me to replace him at the "Envelopes" meeting; so I have to change my routine and to ask C.E to do my watch-duty at Matrimandir... Then I collect the monies all around and cycle down to "Abri": Diane is the centre of it, accounting for all the monies in and out, while Pete helps her checking the amounts; there are the representatives for various areas, about a dozen people in all; at first I find it so confused and undisciplined that I can't help commenting on it, to which Diane readily agrees... Then I watch and listen, sitting quietly by myself, and writing a note for M.D in Delhi... Later, I talk a while with Al.B about starting a "hydroponics" experiment in Auroville...

On my way back, I go to Krishna's; he has already returned from Jipmer, diagnosed with a weakness in the kidneys – he'd been passing blood... A is there, looking after him...

... Kannan tells me he couldn't find any of the men who had beaten G.M, as they'd all gone to Cuddalore, perhaps to file another case...

I stop by at Rod and Kirti's: their baby boy was born yesterday night: I see him in Kam's arms, healthy and strong, "Aurorishi"; but there is tension in their atmosphere and Rod's eyes are tormented...

Later, when I bring their money to Narayana and Bhavani, I find Alok lying with a high fever...

1-3-1980, Auroville:

We all gather at Matrimandir. The Inspector Thomas has come with his constables; he is sitting on his new motor-cycle, smugly chewing on his sandwich, relishing his role... He has orders for another 10 days of 144!

We all decide not to have any further discussion with the police and to move away to "Tapoloka"...

But nothing clear comes out of a tedious two hours...

... The Guard is called at "Samriddhi"... but we are not really welcome there: the people of "Samriddhi" are contemplating some sort of compromise directly with the SAS' hired men... I walk back through the fields and find C quietly sitting under the "Service" tree here; soon she tells me more about her work and her experiences...

... Ramalingam comes to see me; I feel a call to be attentive to him: he is rather desperate at the moment and I must be available... He is very near and dear, within; it is always, with him, as if we have known each other already...

... G.M asks me to prepare a written report on the latest incidents on the land, to be communicated to the Collector so as to counteract the propaganda made by the SAS...

2-3-1980, Auroville:

Whenever I follow the clues of a "collective process", I get pained by the heavy contradictions, distressed by the lack of perceptiveness, soberness and honesty... Whenever I keep to myself, I soon yearn for ways to verify and apply what I experience alone into some collective being or life... Back and forth, never settled, never fulfilled...

... J.P of "Two Banyans" has been badly beaten up by a group of villagers from Bommayarpalayam, but he was able to escape... G.M thinks we should organise a night watch there so that he and his family are not left alone so far from any neighbour...

3-3-1980, Auroville:

The Guard is called to "New Creation" early this morning. G. picks me up and we reach there at 6 am. Soon, the entire Guard is there. Subrayan, who is an SAS agent, has bought a piece of land right next to the Auroville settlement and has made a wild connection to the water-pipe which is the main supply from the "Auroelectronics" pump to the village, provided by Auroville; our position is straightforward. A couple of us start digging; almost immediately Subrayan, Damodaran and Dharman, accompanied by two other men, all armed with sticks and bricks in their hands, rush in and push through our circle violently; we try to tighten the barrier by holding arms and hands but a few of us are soon pushed to the ground and a young German guy is hit and hurt; G.M too gets hit; I see that John H. is in a weak position and make towards him... Many villagers have gathered at a distance... Then Al.M and I both insist that this surely cannot be the way, and everyone cools down... Talks begin; the German fellow is taken to the hospital...

In-between two of the shuffles, G.M told me of a dream he had last night: we were both with You and You had a letter from Satprem which You wanted us to take; then You decided to come with us and we supported and carried You, holding You with our love for You...

... We are waiting, waiting; as we have been waiting since months... It makes little sense to me; but I am quite blank... This time we wait for the Tasildar and the Marakanam Inspector... But I stay: solidarity is perhaps all we have...!

... We draw a list of all the plot numbers where we will not accept any interference nor any lease made by the SAS, and we send it to the Inspector...

... Back home I find C very upset that she couldn't be with us; she makes me promise that next time I'll let her share in... she is wonderful...!

4-3-1980, Auroville:

C and I walk over to "Tapoloka". So many of us are there, it almost looks as if everybody has actually gathered in one place, even those who never attend meetings are there today... Arjun chairs...

We are getting to the main topic of the Coop membership when Pete suddenly marches in shouting to us that Yaap, who'd stayed behind to watch the Kottakarai Farm, has just been attacked by people of the SAS... We all start as one: this is a moving moment because, just prior to this, we were unable to come together in our talks and mental approaches and here we are, rushing to protect one of "ours" without a single thought...!

Those men have run away towards Bharat Nivas... Some of us are now quite angry; I myself feel it would be a pleasure to drive my fist into that fat smirking SAS contractor when I come upon him...

We catch 5 of these men and pack them up into an empty jeep that's parked right there, waiting for the Inspector to come and "take delivery"; others go on chasing after the remaining guys who have fled, some running, some on horse-back and some riding their bikes across the fields, it is a real fiesta...! C has got a ride on Jacq's bike! We get hold of one more of those guys and hand them all over to the police, having no illusion, though, as to what measures will be taken... We are merely making a point! There is a rather joyful energy flowing...

... Walking back home with C, I start telling her what happened in 1973, what was done to You... and I begin to cry...!

... I cycle over to "Dana" to bring Marcia's mail, and also to let C.E. and V visit with C here without me... G.M is groggy... We sit quietly, the 3 of us, when J of "Two Banyans" comes in... After a while I ask him straight how he feels about some of the Coop members wanting him to resign if he does not stop taking hashish; he is a little surprised at my direct question but answers with a fair measure of honesty, I think, although he's obviously been very hurt by the attitude of the "Aspiration" people and is still in a reaction to it... However I find that communication with him is very limited, or veiled...

... I ponder what I have seen today: this part of Auroville which is like a "Farmers Association; people who, out of their own interests, reach some sort of mutual agreement or contract so that each one gets the minimum trouble while supplementing one's life-style with a bit of collective ideal and a vague orientation towards a simpler and better earthly existence... And that seems to be it...!

And here is quite a gap! Some of my illusions got shot today... I was taking certain things for granted, which are actually not real at all...

With whom and how is Matrimandir to be built...? Who wants it? For its own sake, and not for... other reasons?

How are we ever going to meet in an active and committed movement of building which is at the same time a receptivity for the foundations to be laid of an entirely other Being...?

Is this "we" ever going to manifest, to happen...?

5-3-1980, Auroville:

Back to "Tapoloka" this morning to resume the general meeting that was interrupted yesterday...; this time, I chair. I introduce the main topic as a token of our search together for a certain transparency and security... Then I am fully busy keeping the meeting together; there is no fatigue... I try to bring people who do not usually speak up to express themselves... The main trends or focuses are, once more, tantrism, the use of drugs, allegiance to or collusion with the SAS... Some agreement is obtained on a few topics and the rest is to be seen again on Saturday...

6-3-1980, Auroville:

J.Cl is shaving a very hard time here. Despite his generosity and friendly humour, he doesn't find his place... M.S is also in some difficulty: she has hepatitis and is very unsure as to whether she must stay or leave; her attachment to Cyril pulls her one way, but she is very disappointed and hurt by what she has seen here, by the behaviour of the people in "Aspiration"... Somehow, none of my old friends seems to adjust well to the situation here; there is bitterness and incomprehension...

... In the night P.G wakes me up for my shift, out of an interesting dream – experience or activity, I don't know how to call it -; it has a character of illustrated, or animated, or "live" meditation: there is a subject of study and there is a demonstration... This time it is about our conditionings as "colonisers" and how these beliefs or values subconsciously influence or colour the way we understand Your Work of Transformation: we project into it that sense of a colonising and of a subsuming, or making subservient and, a step further, of establishing an "elite"... It is an ingrained thing and this is not specifically western or "white"; it is quite universal! In this "dream", the issue is connected directly to the body's well-being and harmony – and to its weaknesses, such as loosing hair as an expression of an erosion of trust, or one of guilt...

7-3-1980, Auroville:

When I return from Jacques the dentist, I find Krishna sitting with C, in a very companionable mood; it makes me happy that these two are able to find one another directly... We spend the rest of the morning quietly busy with our respective handiworks, Krishna and I with leather and beads, C stitching pillow covers, in a rhythmic repose...

Krishna does the afternoon shift at Matrimandir with me...

8-3-1980, Auroville:

It is the continuation of the last general meeting. It begins with a long silence; everyone seems to have done some "home-work", the atmosphere is calm and rather serious... M.Z chairs; we all agree that: as a collectivity we disapprove of the use of drugs; that we disapprove and wish to discourage any occult practice or guru ship that would aim at providing "intermediaries", as these in effect only veil or obscure our direct relationship to You and Sri Aurobindo; that we disapprove and object to any collusion with groups or organisations, such as the SAS or the SSJ's group, who claim ownership or seek to establish "leadership rights" over Auroville... Toward the end of the meeting I go and sit by myself in Myrtle's kitchen and try and draft it all in a clear way, to "capture" the spirit of it as it has been expressed...: "The present community of Auroville needs to make the following statement to express its aspiration and will to progress towards the Future, free from confusion, pretence and imitation..."... I hand it over to the few – M.Z, Savitra and P.G – who are working on it... I feel there is a tremendous importance in this step we are being led to make, not only for Auroville but for the progress of consciousness anywhere...

10-3-1980, Auroville:

C and I spend most of the day in town. We have to get a ticket for me to accompany her to Delhi, as she has insisted so much – I just pray I can be of some use while there... The ring I have designed for her is ready and surprisingly well-made, the two stones are well set, an emerald and a topaz and it fits her hand perfectly... She is very pleased...

... Piero has called a meeting of all Matrimandir workers this evening, to decide whether we can accept the presence of the carpenters again and resume work, or we must refuse and then be prevented to work for a longer period...

... Prem tells me of the meeting that took place yesterday with the S.P and the new sub-Collector in which he, Dor and Fred stood for us, while Guru Prasad, Indra P and their lawyer stood for the SAS. It seems that the SP and sub-Collector have had signals from "higher-up" that are not favourable to the SAS and they made it clear that we are actually within our rights both at Matrimandir and on the land...

That has infuriated the SAS people who very much want the 144 sanction to be maintained as they hope it technically deprives us de facto of our "possession"... Both Navajata and Kishorilal have rushed to Madras... It appears that Prem and Piero are now of the opinion that we should accept the resumed presence of the carpenters rather than courting further application of 144...

... We meet Udar near the Ashram, and he gives me the references for this soil-less cultivation method that seems to be so promising...

... As we climb up the stairs inside "La Maison" for a late lunch, my eyes fall upon a young woman's eyes: tranquil, beautiful and lovely... Throughout the meals, across the tables, our eyes keep returning to each other, with the hint of a smile... When she leaves, I get up and move to the balcony to watch her; she turns, raises her face up toward me and gives a simple wave of her hand and walks away... This encounter has touched me...

... Lindy is there, with Schubert; she wants to talk to me, to try and convey what she was not able to express in the large meeting... She has, she says, a gift of clairvoyance, and she feels very concerned with the situation in and around Auroville, as she is able to "see" what many people are "doing" and being also often under attack for that very reason... I try and tell her how to get the proper distance so as to remain protected... I don't know how I can say that, but she seems to be the happier for it...!

...We finish our work quietly and ride back in the evening light and find everyone just dispersing, no decisions reached and another meeting scheduled for tomorrow morning...

11-3-1980, Auroville:

At 9 am we all gather at Matrimandir. A police van is stationed near the Banyan tree. We all move into the room behind the office; Narad chairs. This is a difficult one... P.G and I are soon labelled as "extremists"; we are backed by many of the "Aspiration" people and quite a few here, but the "majority", represented by Toine and, more subtly, by Andy, Bill S and Ruud, is opposed to our stand, and so is Piero... I feel this is a sickness that keeps us forming factions, opposing one another and, at the other end of the range, a kind of fog, a pretence at unity, a disregard for obvious distortions and half-lies... But there is no point in fighting, no point in trying to convince anyone... One can only observe, appreciate the balance of the moment, learn from it and keep quiet...

... Back home with C, I put on Keith Jarrett's music... and C weeps! From the intensity of all she has heard, felt and sensed these last days, and yet the harmony and beauty of the place... And later, in the evening, we walk together to Matrimandir, very close to each other...: such a gift for "mother and son"...!

... The unease grows in me, the sense that this cannot be right.

I try to formulate it as a question which I feel to put to Ruud and Bill S and John H; I write it on a piece of paper: "Do you really, sincerely believe that Mother Herself would put to us, as a condition to serve Her and Her Work, the acceptance of the physical presence of falsehood...?"

But as I approach the Camp and enter that atmosphere, the answer already comes to me... that the carpenters are only human beings after all, just as we are... and that, yes indeed, You have put such conditions by allowing the contradictions to enter, for them to undergo the real Change... and so the only way open to us is to become so completely what we are meant to be, to do so sincerely what we are meant to do, that they will either be bound to change or they will want to leave...

I felt, then, silly with my question...

Still I went ahead and handed it to Ruud, saying that I did not expect a reply...
 And now the two things are there before my mind, in a kind of balance...
 The tension is gone. There is a yearning for trust.
 Help me to be honest! Help me to walk the steps!

12-3-1980, Auroville:

Early this morning John H comes to see me. He has not read my question; he wants to tell me that he now feels it is wrong to resume work in these conditions and that he wishes to keep quiet for a few days and see... It is a smile, really; his heart is so alive!

I receive a message from Ruud, later. It is signed by him, Toine, Bill S and Ed and it says: "Your perception of the situation and my perception of the situation are false. Mother is certainly up to one of Her plays. Let us see what happens!"

I stay quiet. I do not feel it is real. I sense Toine's mind behind it, organised, efficient, "apolitical", advocating a self-sufficient hierarchy of dedicated workers, intolerant of any other considerations... And to this we should surrender...

Discipline is fine, I am all for it... But not at the cost of our inner commitment!

... I walk to the Nursery to borrow Narad's bike; he is not there. While I wait, and as every single time I have been there, I experience this crushing inertia... It is very odd, I don't understand it: here is a place filled with human activity and with Nature's exuberance, well looked after and yet, every time the experience is the same, my legs go weak; a weight pushes me down... Narad arrives; he talks to me almost in whispers, so solemn, about what he has felt and understood these last two days; it is alright and perhaps we do share a little, but this solemnity of his makes me cringe and be vigilant and... sober!

... I drive down to Pondy. G.M and I have agreed to meet for lunch; it is a little calculating of me, as I have been hoping to meet again that young woman we saw the other day, and that small "adjustment" of mine disturbs me; it contradicts my rule of offering it all to You, and I have to make an effort to withdraw from it... There are quite a few of us at "La Maison": E.B is there with Cyril, even A.R is there, and others, but G.M and I find ourselves a corner and review our understanding for a while... and the young woman comes in! It is obvious that she has made the same "calculation" and the scene is rather humorous, as both E.B and A.R are jealously watching me!

Later, when that first wave of attraction has dissolved, I go and sit near her, meeting another person, perceiving bits and parts of a complex, imperfect, evolving human being... Her name is Pnina, she is from Israel... Another Jewish woman for me! She has a small daughter there and is going to bring her soon. I leave before the connection becomes too strong, to give it its own time...

13-3-1980, Auroville:

Around 2 am this morning, P.G woke me up urgently. He has been very unsettled lately, endlessly arguing, uncertain; he has changed his mind about going to Delhi... But he has just received a letter from M.D who is still in Delhi working for all of us with official contacts, addressed to the 3 of us again; and, reading it, he became even more disturbed by the "decision" taken here as regards Matrimandir... He felt so alarmed that, at midnight, a strong urge woke him up and he went over to Matrimandir and found Ruud there on duty and shared with him and told him exactly how he felt, what he had sensed and how this was all a trap and M.Z had to now be stopped before he files that Injunction in Court. And, he says, Ruud realised and understood and agreed with him...! So he came to tell me all about it so we could see together what the next step is...

And as I pluck flowers, after dawn, he comes again to tell me that M.Z has also been feeling too uneasy about the "decision" and does not want to go to Court anymore...! So!

... C and I drive down to the beach and Krishna meets us there and, later, Phil and Chr; C's stay is ending and I want her to be as happy as possible every minute of it; we swim and rest in the sun... Phil gets bitten in the water, probably a sea-snake, and I have to suck out the blood from the wound, we all laugh over it...

... We are working in the Kitchen preparing the dinner; two young visitors are also helping... Pnina walks in! She had no idea she'd find me there, so that was sweet! She intends to stay at the Guest House for a few days...

... The general meeting takes place behind the office today; it is so crowded that people stand in bunches outside the windows, leaning in... Diane chairs and brings some working order by focussing first on various practical matters that require our attention... Then a fresh statement of our "4 points Policy", which P.P has re-worked, is read out and eventually accepted by all. Thereafter, regarding Matrimandir, it is also agreed that we would at once communicate to the authorities our refusal of the status quo they sought to impose on us... Everyone goes along except Piero who becomes enraged at all of us and threatens us with the direst consequences... The "Aspiration" people try to calm him down...

G.M and P.G take off to Tindivanam to communicate our position to the DSP, and I resume the dinner preparations with Phil... They return late and tell me that our statement was received and accepted without discussion...

... Then, in the night, I have once more that kind of dream in which I become aware of a group of "magicians", Indian men and women, practitioners of the "black arts" on a tantric line, who are focussed on some of us; Jacq and I are among the targets; it is taking place both in Paris and here in India; I get this time to identify their faces; there is a huge sort of courtyard in one place, like a medieval open market, surrounded with covered lanes or arcades, crowded and bustling, and "they" work there; they look rather ordinary; but, once they realise that I have seen them, the whole thing takes on a different character: the more I pass by, back and forth, while actively withdrawing from any fear, and the more the distance loses its role and the less their power is able to act... It is very interesting...

14-3-1980, Auroville:

At Matrimandir this morning a few of us get to work, while an odd assembly has collected under a neem tree on the Gardens hills – SSJ, Jyotiprem, Guru Prasad, the carpenters, Gabrielle, and a cold-looking German fellow...

I drive down to Pondy and collect the new passport and the notarial papers from the Consulate; then I go over to the Park Guest House where Pnina has asked me to meet her and drive her back... With her it is open; I feel at home, with depths waiting; a little apprehension is there, of course, before another relationship and the changes it is bound to bring to her... She is vibrant in a quiet and poised manner; there is electricity almost crackling when our hands touch... It is not sensual yet, more of a mutual approach with open eyes; there is validity to it...

We ride back. She has chosen to stay at the "Fraternity" Guest House; I get stuck there, the bike refuses to start and I am confused and uncomfortable in an atmosphere which I find compromised, foreign, deprived of light... A.T gives me a lift back to Matrimandir...

... Miriam comes to see me here; she is leaving to the US in a few days and needs to confirm her experience and bring it into perspective...

... I collect the monies and go attend the "Envelopes" meeting at "Abri"; I am impressed by Diane's way of working and it makes me want to help her; it is an interesting mix of notions at play there, about how Auroville is supposed to develop, what are our responsibilities and what are the efforts required of us, what "self-sufficiency" means in the context of Auroville, and the limitations of categorising our activities, and the need to rely on... You, practically, physically...

... The authorities appear to be in a bind, now that we have stepped away from their trap and called their bluff...

16-3-1980, Auroville:

Krishna sends me a copy of Satprem's latest book, "Gringo".

... Diane comes to bring some documents and letters to be taken to M.D in Delhi and she stays with us quite a long while; I have come to trust her a lot...

... Everyone comes, throughout the day, to bid farewell to C...

I am a little worried that, all at the same time, several of us will be away: P.G is going to Bombay to join the Exhibition team, Fred is also going to be out, and so are Arjun and Deepti...

17-3-1980, New Delhi:

We left "Sincerity" in the middle of the night...

M.D has welcomed us at Juanita's. He tells me how it has been for him in Delhi and what we can reasonably expect and how we have to be patient and persevere; about various threads and contacts being followed; about Navajata's influence at different levels of officialdom... The communication with him is good and promising.

P.A is also in the house, a beautifully furnished residence, and he tells us how the Exhibition has been going so far, in his sensitive manner...

At night, after a dinner of meat and wine – one had to accept – with Juanita, Tapas, F.Gr, M.D, P.A and Rakhal, I took C back to the airport for her flight...

There is a whole confusion over the bookings, several names have been "forgotten" including C's; people get angry, tempers fly; we keep quiet and, in the end, C is given a First Class seat...!

... I get down the taxi by Juanita's house just as F.Gr is getting down another, with... Patricia! She has just returned from the US... She is all clad in green and, in a flash, she is in my arms and we are hugging, hugging each other, and laughing, our eyes singing with it...

18-3-1980, New Delhi:

M.D shows me his documentation work. He tells me more on how he is proceeding with Kireet's help and shows me Satprem and Sujata's letter... There is no doubt that he is doing an excellent job, effective...

The atmosphere is diluted; newly risen understandings get swallowed, as if defeated by inertia... The general meeting ends in a vacuum... It is distressing, but there is indifference in me today...

... Pnina has come; she has moved to the Centre Guest House; she has met Noh – two Israeli women here! – and is quietly waiting for us to go deeper into our meeting; there is no tension in her. She comes to the house and is happy in it; there is something essentially reliable in her; I feel I can trust her and be a little abandoned... I offer it to You and I call You... She stays the night. I am thankful...

Trouble is brewing again in the topes. The villagers from Kuillapalayam, to whom the SAS have leased some of the cashew topes, are moving closer and closer to P's and Drew's; Marcia and I go there ahead of the others... I have to explain the position to Drew: either we accept that the SAS has the "right" to lease land that we are looking after and collect the monies from it, in which case we just try to protect ourselves and our little gardens as best we can and avoid any trouble; or we stand by the principles of Auroville and deny the SAS's rights of "ownership" and arbitrary rule... Whether on the land or at Matrimandir, the position is the same... But what is the sense in preaching...?

23-3-1980, Auroville:

A has asked to move into A.R's hut while A.R and Krishna go for a small journey... There are interesting permutations! A does need the distance and the rest, though! I spend most of the day studying "hydroponics" or "soil less cultivation", having to struggle a bit with the technical jargon, but feeling enthusiastic about it...

... This yearning is there, like a flame, an ocean flame digging its way into the substance, all over, soundless, an intensity burning... it is not in any particular point and yet it is centred...

... Pnina has come; she tells me of her life in Israel – and who her father is...! She asks questions of me; and she asks whether I'd like us to live together for some time; I say that I do not feel ready for it. She is direct and self-contained: she says that, in that case, I will have to come to her; she won't come to me... It is right, I think. We can laugh. I find myself more trusting than I have ever been...

24-3-1980, Auroville:

G.M had decided we would try and resume work on Matrimandir, giving up on the possibility of a unified stand for the time being, offering it through physical work...

Marcia, G.M and I climb up on the structure and John H soon joins us, happy. Then, little by little, Bill S, Andy, Gl, Phil... But we cannot ignore the presence of that group sitting under the tree, it is sickening, like a wound that does not heal... And it is like it will not heal as long as the whole body does not react and affirms the harmony of health and integrity...

... Pnina stays in the house during the day; she has begun to read Sri Aurobindo and she is happy...

... Al.B tells me, with good humour, that he, Prem, Piero and K.T have received another summons to be part of a "Peace Committee" with Guru Prasad and Indra P for the SAS; and that, fortunately, K.T's reply has been rather... rough!

... There is now a "Permanence" for the Coop at the office; it makes communication easier and invites useful contributions; this way I feel more inclined to participate...

... A comes to talk to me: she fears that the difficulty between her and Krishna may have affected our friendship, that he may resent the fact that she has confided in me, and she is sorry about it... I did notice a change, a little unease, between us, but I trust our bond to be free from such effects...

26-3-1980, Auroville:

At work, GI tells us that Al.B and Yus had an accident yesterday night on their way back from Tindivanam; they hit a pile of pebbles and got thrown off their bike; Al.B was unconscious for a moment... Nothing more serious but... one doesn't like it! It seems also that a new list of Quit Notices has been issued by the Tamil Nadu Government – I am on that list, along with Al.B, Jean, B.B and a few others...

... Late afternoon, waiting for Pnina on the low wall by the sea, gazing at the waves and filling with their material joy, I have the experience of You and me, of "our" safe space, our home, You and me, this timeless "Douce Mère... Mon petit...", unique, uniquely ours, more alive than anything else...

... With Pnina, the energy is positive; there is a good and lively communication; we share moments of hilarity, and of silence...

... V has shaved her head a couple of days ago; she is much more herself, as if washed from her personage, warm and funny and simple; and, Noh tells me, she is now pregnant, by C.E...! And they have now moved to a hut in "Existence". Both Noh and I feel happy about it...

... It is my night-shift at Matrimandir; two young policemen are on duty and insist on talking with me; one of them is very interesting, a graduate who could not find yet another job, filled with a lucid humour, and that living devotion of the heart that knows the madness of the world denying, ignoring the Divine... In him too is reflected or manifests the inalienable India... Later, Krishna joins me there...

27-3-1980, Auroville:

Krishna and I went to the beach. When I return to Matrimandir later, I find Thomas the Inspector with a bundle of new summons; I refuse to sign mine and go up on the structure to join G.M and Marcia at work... it all begins to feel nauseous, ashy: going on and on, relentlessly...!

28-3-1980, Auroville:

It is difficult to be a human being, to be, to be prisoner of a separate consciousness... Sometimes it is almost unbearable; one feels crushed by it, everything becomes a single hostile mass of inertia pressing from all sides against that tiny awareness that holds a body together in order to ... experience... to grow... to change...?

The mental will, the vital will, the individual powers or capacities seem to be mere tricks to temper down and make reality bearable, or even challenging; but when one gives up these means, one is left with the sheer fact of the separation...

... We all laugh about the photograph that has appeared in a Bombay newspaper, showing G.M holding two children, one Western and the other Indian, with the caption "The Spirit of Auroville"...

... Piero comes up and, with him, the tension of the situation is back with us...

... R had asked me to try and get more money from the "Envelopes" for Narayana and his family, but it didn't work and Diane advised me to see directly with the Kitchen... In the evening, I go to the office and wait there for Narayana to return home – his hut is right behind -; and I get well and truly caught! In two seconds all my "good intentions" are turned into the standard image of master to slave, white to Indian; he goes berserk with rage, hatred, rancour and bile, and no matter what I say or if I keep silent, it fits exactly with his assumptions, like some devilish plot... And in a way I can't fault the logic of it; it is indeed hard for Indians who are neither "coolies" nor highly-educated upper society to find their place in Auroville at present, at least economically; and Narayana, so often ranting and venting his upset at the world, is getting too close to a nervous break-down... and all this he projects right onto me and I swallow it all...

29-3-1980, Auroville:

Gauri has delivered. I find her hidden in a basket inside the house, sitting over two tiny kittens, content...

... Before 7 am G.M arrives with the news that J.M has handed "Samriddhi" over to the SAS... There is a sort of reverse perfection at work here, with the SAS waiting out and pressing on each of our weaknesses, pressing on until it gives, and rushing in... But now we must find someone to move in there at once...

I ask Pnina to stay on and take care of the house and G.M and I go to "Horizon", the "new" community that P.V and D.P have just started, splitting from "Revelation", and we try to make them see that the priority is to guard what already exists, without splitting into more places; but it goes in vain...

The problem with this "battle" is that, resisting, one focuses energies on to them and they become stronger by our resistance, more motivated, as if legitimised by it... It is an absurd mechanic.

We should instead find ways to RESPOND, to act unexpectedly – not just to react and to resist...!

We must be FOR, not "against"...

But how to actualise this understanding? We have to laugh, also!

... We are sitting at the Coop meeting in the afternoon, when P.V comes in: he and his friends have thought long and hard and have decided that they would move tonight itself to "Samriddhi" and try to see how they can be most useful there... These are moments in our life together here that are so comforting and encouraging...!

... I feel it is only now, after these many years, that we are getting close and ready with a real "Yes" to Your call, when You invited all of us to join the adventure of Auroville, to take a leap towards the Future You heralded... As if only now our "Yes" could begin to be real, to be significant, to actually carry meaning...

30-3-1980, Auroville:

Pnina needs that I clarify my part of our relationship. I explain again that I am not ready for a full commitment, that she shouldn't expect it, as it would only cause misunderstandings... Just to talk helps and we can laugh; I trust her centeredness, her self-respect and her awareness...

31-3-1980, Auroville:

There are so few of us at work today that I don't even try to force myself and "do" something, out of plain obstinacy. I just help here and there and watch.... Piero comes up to see the work... I have found a new way to deal with it: I centre into an awareness of a Piero who is wider and happier in his body, freer in his movements yet retaining that wonderful care and precision of his, a Piero who would naturally express his own beauty and harmony, who would be a friend and a brother... It is interesting and also a little embarrassing because, in the process, I touch upon fears, blockages and "shrinkages" that are very intimate to him...

... Violence, blind violence, seems to be gaining ground on the land of India...

... I have started to help at the "permanence" for the Coop, afternoons, answering letters, filling forms, gradually becoming aware of all the aspects of it; the atmosphere is good, everyone is focussed...

... Narad enthusiastically helps me select special shade trees to plant on both sides of the road here...

1-4-1980, Auroville:

There are only Bill S and G.M on the structure... How are we ever going to build that huge sphere? I don't know...! If what matters is only the growth of consciousness, then we might as well be doing some handicrafts... This makes no sense... We are stuck: the cement is blocked, the money is blocked, there are no people to work with, and the SAS is dogging each of our steps...

... Krishna shares a late dinner with me in the house; I spend a long time braiding his hair, in many small braids...

2-4-1980, Auroville:

The thing with Narayana and Bhavani has now gone completely out of proportions. And the target now of all their grievances is... me! And I don't see what I can do about it...! But what I see is that along there has been this show of false humility: being Your servants, ready for the most menial tasks, while, inside, they have been seething with resentment and bitterness... For years I have been uncomfortable with Narayana seeking "instructions" from me, and now it has all come out... To my sense, the main trouble is that there are not enough of us around Matrimandir and so there's too much room left for frustrations, projections and formations to lodge themselves and fatten and thrive...

... Piero, GI and Christiane have been called to identify their common aggressor, at the Villupuram jail, yesterday: it is Abdul's son, Mohammed... He is likely to get a two-years imprisonment...

... Muthu's gang has tried to occupy the topes at "Sharnga"... We go there; the Inspector Thomas arrives and tries to strike a bargain with us: he will drive that gang away (he's got to do that anyway!) and, in exchange, we sign our summons and behave cooperatively... We laugh!

... Pnina says she feels that we have a work together... and that the connection reaches deep and far and she is ready to give herself fully to it... But I am not! I appreciate and trust her more and more, but I cannot commit to one single person; it is better that I stay alone; I must obey the sense of joy and gratefulness in all things, for all things... We talk openly, hiding nothing from each other...

3-4-1980, Auroville:

Diane brings us news from Delhi: it seems that in a few days an order will be passed to quash all the Court cases and to withdraw all deportation Notices; M.D asks that we do not go into any heavy scene during the next few days...! We jump like kids...!

... Tapas, Rakhil, P.P and Renu have returned from Bombay; they tell us how it has been with the Exhibition, how many people they have met, some of whom had, many years, earlier given money to Navajata for their house or bungalow in Auroville...

... There is a sense that things are about to take another turn...

5-4-1980, Auroville:

I am too feverish to try and go to Matrimandir. Everything is a little blurred...

I measure the spaces between the future trees, and go down to the Nursery to see Narad about the planting... His secretive, charged-with-meaning, "evolved" manner, makes me a little sick but, what to do, we must trust and go on...!

7-4-1980, Auroville:

Krishna and I spent the entire night on duty at Matrimandir. It has been a wonderful, fulfilling time, sharing within our domain...

... I wake up Pnina; she is going to Pondy for a few days; I respect her and am thankful for her, for her integrity; she has not tried to shun the difficulty, she has regained her own poise without rejecting the relationship, without resenting me, and she remains available to it...

8-4-1980, Auroville:

I cycle down to town to see for the wood for C's house. This is a good ride for meditation... I understand more and more that we must come out of the limiting mind if we are to enter a truer consciousness, but this does not mean merely (!) to come out of the mind, it is much more complex and radical, because there is not a single movement in us, in our very substance, that has not been mentalised in the process of the ages... I look at it from the perspective of moving towards a "divine anarchy" in our experience here, since all of our fumbling for some sort of collective organisation has proven self-defeating, if not plain aggravating, and all of our striving seems to amount to just a lot of pretence and little self-giving...!

... We fear our own natures... There is but one way, the way of unity and oneness with the Presence within and without... This has to become a Fact. One cannot pretend...!

... I wanted to buy a carpet, an orange one I'd seen some weeks back in Gautam's shop, to replace the one that Gauri has thoroughly spoilt... When I reach there I find, standing right next to the carpet... Pnina! She is happy, I am happy; there is humour in this gift...!

9-4-1980, Auroville:

Marcia and G.M have prepared dinner for me at "Dana". Noh has baked a cake with Pas, Pnina has brought a huge garland of jasmine...

... Krishna is waiting for me at his place, he has prepared it for me, it is filled with a loving presence; I brought him food, he makes us tea; we lie together, at home in one another. Today he has received the Agenda 6...

When I return, Pnina has left everything ready for me, Jacq and Kiran have brought me a beautiful clay symbol of You... We hold each other quietly into sleep...

11-4-1980, Auroville:

I cycle down to Pondy and go to the "Yezdi" dealer. I have finally made up my mind to order a good, brand new motorcycle. I bring flowers to Al.B at Dr Sen's Nursing Home, where he is resting from surgery on his knee cap; I hadn't seen him since his accident; I am struck again by his linearity: he is of one mood, of one track, while I keep shifting, within seconds, from one state to another; it makes me almost ashamed, because my awareness includes what to him is subconscious... In fact, it is so with many people: they talk on, focussed on their thought-process and delivery, in a smooth continuous way, while I am often overwhelmed with all the other "things" that are active in them...! It is often very awkward! But I like the friendship between us...

12-4-1980, Auroville:

I go to Krishna in "Certitude" this afternoon. A couple of days ago, to outline the absurdity of a certain collective egoism (while A had been away no one had remembered to leave his food basket for him), he had gone and grabbed hold of the entire supply and locked it in his room and gone out... As I had seen it, he had packed in that one action as much humour and aspiration for love as he could. But it now appears that no one there has even suspected it could be so, and every one has taken it very seriously... This settlement of "Certitude", with the split between the SAS residents and the Aurovilians is almost suffocating... Today I find people posted, waiting for the arrival of the food baskets, looking very self-righteous – no trace of humour there! It is as if they are all against him... What shocks me most is the attitude of Patricia, she whom I cherish so much: she has not had the slightest intuition of Krishna's meaning and call, and now she and F.Gr go up to him and threaten him that his supply might be cut as a punishment... This is all a little sordid... This is, I think, what a "couple" association often does: it creates an even stronger egoism, each reinforcing the other and both feeling a little superior, and more accomplished... I cannot reach Patricia anymore...!

13-4-1980, Auroville:

Sunday at home, resting – Gauri has been so restless, soiling my sleep every night of this past week...

... Twice the Tasilhdar and some officials come looking for G.M, to convey the Governor's invitation to another "Peace Meeting"... This is too weird...! In the evening they come again and head for "Dana" with their jeep; I feel very uncomfortable about it; it is clear that Navajata and Co are trying to get some of us ensnared into the pretence of a dialogue, so that they can tell people in Delhi that they are working it out and there is no cause for concern... But this picking of individuals is sickening... So I make everything ready for our night-watch at Matrimandir, leave a note in the office for Krishna, and cycle over to "Dana"... Both Marcia and G.M are very tense; the Tasilhdar has just left; their entire day has been very tight, G.M hurt his hand, fruit was stolen from their orchard, they felt invaded by strange vibrations and waves of unease... I feel like watching closely over G.M these days...

... Krishna joins be a little late; he is exhausted: he had no sleep last night and had to cycle to Pondy and back, carrying a whole bed! He lies down on a mat near me and soon he is fast asleep...

I pray that I can be what my friends truly need me to be...

14-4-1980, Auroville:

We are up on the structure. The Inspector Thomas rides in, calls us down holding his perpetual bouquet of summons. We refuse to come down. He pastes them all on the outer wall of the office...

... Yaap calls us over to Kottakarai: the SAS men have come to forcibly collect the Palmyra leaves... We all cycle over in the noon heat, chase the men away, gather all the leaves, load them onto Yaap's cart and send them over to dry safely...

... I don't know...: are things ready for... Auroville?

Can one open to the Future while fighting the past?

Isn't some genuine self-offering necessary before the Future can be welcome into the present?

... Afternoon, Yus and I finalise our letter of reply to the invitation to those "Peace talks", M.T and Prem have already prepared a draft, which we fine-tune; I type it up; then... someone has to sign it, and none of the usual Coop members is around; Yus wants me to sign it...

... Fred tells us of a strange rumour that Kireet would be meeting both SSJ and Navajata in Madras on the 17th...!

15-4-1980, Auroville:

The thing with Gauri is maddening; she will not let me sleep. I have now taken, I desperation, to throwing her out in the pond whenever it gets too much and that calms her for a while; but sometimes my nerves are so frayed and wound up that I am almost ready to kill her...!

I am really not fit to live with anyone, animal or human...!

16-4-1980, Auroville:

That's it, I did it. And it was awful.

Last night, I prepared the bedding on the terrace for Pnina and I; I wanted everything to be fine and at peace. I brought Gauri and her kittens up; I prayed for tenderness; and at first it was quiet. Then Gauri started again, behaving insanely, carrying her kittens back and forth and meowing, meowing... like a demented person...! Pnina got worried. Then there was a lull and we fell asleep. But a while later, Pnina had to get up; Gauri awoke and it started all over again... I tried to ask You "is it okay to kill her?"... I don't know whether I was truly able to ask You; all I got in response was a kind of surprise that I could have let this situation last for so long... But this is not a situation I have understood! So I took Gauri down to the pond and brought her under water... I was not prepared for what followed: she filled up with an incredible energy and managed to bite me so hard that she nearly got to the veins of my wrist... The wound was bad and Pnina got worried of blood-poisoning; she helped me to dress it... I concentrated, went deep within, reaching again for that moment when a first act of "killing" was committed, the law broken and the natural barriers of protection were breached and mankind began to grow by the dark side of things and to progress through suffering and disorder and violence rather than through psychological adjustment and trust and the development of perception...

I had only killed once before: two tiny puppies we could not keep; and that had been like sending them back, softly and gently, where they had come from... But now is a different matter...!

... This freedom of choice that has been given to men, to experience and grow from their "mistakes" and even from the edge of sheer self-destruction...

There is the sense that, long, long ago on this earth – long ago but somehow in an eternal present – there has been a natural state in which inner guidelines and safeguards were conscious and living laws and people were able to develop without ever endangering the balance of things or to face the contradictions we have come to know, and material harmony was effortlessly maintained...

When I made it into sleep, for an hour before dawn, it was to shift into a bad dream: there had been some betrayal and groups of very unpleasant people were entering all our houses...

... Pnina prepares milk for the kittens before she leaves to go to Pondy...

... P.G has just returned from Delhi; he tells us about Indira's solitude before the magnitude of the task...; regarding Auroville, Indira has asked Kireet to prepare with M.D a full report so that she may reach her own decision...

... Noh comes in a rush to ask us to help her get rid of "Auroculture" who has arrived once more with her "flower compost from the Samadhi"... When we reach there we have to deal with L.N who advocates her position with the same old "spiritual" arguments and it soon becomes so bizarre that we all end up in stitches, a general outburst of hilarity...

... I went again cycling to Pondy and back. Then P comes to me wanting to know what had happened last night, as he'd had a peculiar experience: just a moment before I shouted, from the pain of Gauri's bite, he'd woken up; he heard the shout and was plunged into a deep state; this was a cry of death in complete silence, and he felt the reality of death, as if in a second state...

17-4-1980, Auroville:

Last night Pnina and I slept separately, so we each could rest... In the middle of the night, I dreamt of Gauri: I have gone out to look at the pond; it has been overflowing for long and it is now wet all around in the garden and the water of the pond has itself become very clear; Gauri's body has risen and is gently floating; I approach, looking for something, a stick or a branch, to reach and hold it; slowly, with a kind of inevitability, it becomes animated and Gauri, like a somnambulist, moves out of the pond by herself and starts to walk away; I call her; I am amazed, but also grateful; I want to tell her something sweet and ask her about herself; she halts, comes back towards me; she tells me all the wrongs I have done in our relationship, the things I have done to her, betraying our connection, and how she has suffered and eventually become mad. But her tone is not at all dramatic; there is no heaviness in the scene, nor in her way of saying those things; it is also clear that she is aware of her own responsibility and that there is no rancour; there is rather a kind of clear sweetness about it...

... I "think" of Gauri a lot, and review the life we have had: her confidence, her abandon, her presence; whatever anger I expressed, she always returned trustingly...

... It rains, long, this morning...

... Tonight I bury Gauri's body in a small pot where I plant a hibiscus; I stay there alone, meditating and sending caring thought, welcoming thought, to her...

18-4-1980, Auroville:

This was my first night of good sleep after so long!

Pnina is full of questions, though. At first, I react; then, it becomes light and we laugh... Krishna comes to have breakfast with us...

... It takes us some time to shake off the heaviness and get into the work; G.M and Marcia, Gl, Bill S, John H, Yamini, C.E., AnneM, Nina, Andy and Piero are there... Around 11 am we see a police van drive in, filled with police and people from the Foreigners Registration Office along with the Inspector Thomas... And we soon learn that they have come... for me! They have orders to arrest me if I refuse to sign a Deportation Notice, instructing me to leave India within 15 days...

It appears that the Madras Governor, Patwari, is disregarding the latest orders from Delhi to cancel all the "Quit Notices" that Navajata has been trying to push through, and may be acting on his own initiative... We are told that they have already gone to B.B and got him to sign... G.M tells me I better sign too; reluctantly I come down the structure and sign...

Yus arrives. It seems that Patwari and the SAS have been quite irked by our refusal to go for these "Peace Talks" and have decided on this course of action as retaliation... The others on the list are Fred, Al.B, F, Hervé, Jean and Savitra... This is actually 4 years old already, and the reason given for my being listed at all is that... You have refused me! This part is what hurts me the most: that this lie is reaching up to the present day...!

But there is nothing I can do, only trust, trust...

And the carpenters are there, sitting under the tree day after day, waiting, waiting for us to be taken away...

... I collect the monies around and go attend the "Envelopes" meeting in the office. Nothing has come from "Certitude"... I am learning about the different realities in Auroville... Diane, between topics, asks me whether I'd be willing to help her with the Visas work... I wonder aloud if I am presentable enough, and she laughs... This week is very bad, there is hardly enough money for the market, nothing for Green Work, not enough for milk or for wages...

... I spend the evening with Krishna at his place. There is that confidence that there is no level of our awareness where we cannot communicate, that it is all open and safe and surely oriented... Whenever we touch a point, in him or in me, where we cannot yet share, it comes as a sweet challenge, to goad us to progress...

... Krishna walks back with me, teaching me the Arab words for the different relationships to the Truth, to the Lord...

19-4-1980, Auroville:

G.M suggested I should add glucose to the milk for the kittens, and it works! They won't stop! But I am relieved: at least I fulfil one duty by Gauri!

... Pnina is upset at the distance between us; it is true, I don't seem to be able to relate to a woman, in this way she expects, in the daily life; I react to the sort of subtle environment a woman's presence becomes, enmeshing, owning... It is You that I want, Your Presence that I want as an environment...! And a centre!

21-4-1980, Auroville:

... The Collector is coming to meet us. But he is late.

Waiting for him in the office, Diane starts explaining to me the terms of the Visas work, its technicalities, its steps... She seems to feel relief not to do that work alone anymore...

... The Collector arrives. Rod does the talking. It is amazing how much energy these people are expanding in order to trap us. The SP and the Tasilhdar have also come, all are trying to convince us... But our answer remains: "No"!

... It is Pnina's last evening here; tomorrow she goes away, to Pondy, to Bombay, to the Himalayas and then to Israel... She tells me that my blockage is an ego thing that prevents me from experiencing simple giving and receiving... I don't know...

People often seem to believe that a "generous" nature will solve everything; this talk dries me up, it feels useless...
But, later, we meet and it is tender and funny and sweet...

22-4-1980, Auroville:

The time has come to part from Pnina. She tells me that whatever she has said came from her love for me. I feel quiet, a little distressed underneath; she is a real person and a real woman; ready to give herself completely, yet she is not demanding... I respect her!

... Diane comes to pick me up at the office and we drive down to Pondy, to the FRO... She feels secure now that I'm there with her for this work; the officers there insist that we must comply with the Governor's invitation... We figure that he is trying to stay in power, with the support of the SAS, while covertly acting against Indira; we learn that the orders for our deportation have gone quite a ways, as all Court cases against the 8 of us have been "dropped" so that we could actually be thrown out of the country...

... There is some anxiety; part of my mind has already worked out how I would run away and hide for some time, asking Noh perhaps to take care of the house and the work... It is ironic that at this very juncture I am getting involved with the Visas work for Auroville! There is the feeling that Diane and I can make a good team; beck in the office, we work for the rest of the afternoon with files and documents, with the help of Barbara and Rod...

23-4-1980, Auroville:

Diane calls us down from the structure. She has received confirmation from Delhi that the Quit Notices have been cancelled; she has us read the letter of appeal that has been addressed to the Home Ministry: it is a strong and beautiful text... I feel grateful and a little ashamed too for having allowed my trust to be diminished, for not always clinging to the Grace...

... G.M and I do our purchases in Pondy. We meet Pnina there; she wants and needs to tell me that she has been very confused by Krishna who, when she last saw him at the house, told her in his expansive way that, whenever she had been with me she had also been with him, that we were one... but with a particular meaning which left her feeling disoriented; she couldn't take it and wanted me to know... Perhaps that is why he didn't come to see me yesterday...?

When I return home, Yel shows me what Krishna, who has waited all afternoon, has left for me: a beautiful leather cover he has made for my volume of the last Agenda...

24-4-1980, Auroville:

We have to chase again the SAS hired men, this time from around the Pump-House. We collect the leaves and load them all and send them over to Vijay who needs them at his place. I talk to Narad about posting a watchman there to help Stream, on the Gardens budget since the main Pump is right there; he seems to agree, but wants me to talk to Patricia and F.Gr about it, as they want to hire two men already for their work at the Banyan tree; but I refuse: I do not wish to be submitted to that weird energy in F.Gr again; better to bring it up in our work meeting...

... We are all a little fed up with these endless tussles and petty fights over boundaries and nuts and leaves...

... Cl.B rides in on her own new black horse, Grita; I find myself a new role: I help her down this beautiful, tall and shiny beast and take it away to drink from the pond and graze in the fields around the Gardens, till it is quite satiated...

... Today Hervé and Jean C have decided to bring me 6 chickens for my cooking: the first time we have meat in this Kitchen!

... I am reading "Big Sur" by Henri Miller: this is a good man, deeply awake, and I enjoy the book.

... A visitor, named Boris, comes for the second time – I had no recollection of having ever met him, but he remembered very precisely about me, 15 years ago in Ibiza and about entire scenes he describes in detail, and he remembers O.B, and A.F, and others... How is that possible, I cannot tell!

... There is some humour in serving meat today, "Darshan day", 60 years after Your return to Pondichéry, having read in Your last Agenda what You have to say about meat...! But the 3 of us, Pas, Phil and I, had a very calm afternoon preparing this dinner and the atmosphere is good and clear and the children, as well as all the big eaters, are happy...

This morning Ramalingam comes up to help with the work. And P.G, who had "decided" he needed to exert his revolutionary capacities in 'Fraternity", has come back to us, saying he was missing us too much... He is all tender humour and it is heartening...!

... I drive Christiane down to Nripendra's Dispensary in the Ashram, to have her ears treated...

... There is underlying anger in me, at my insincerity and the mixture of motives and drives in me; at the element of desire that tends to intrude between Krishna and me these days... And also, all a round, at the general atmosphere we all create, with its ambiguities and unclarity...

... When I return in the evening from the "Envelopes", I find Krishna waiting for me... he too had a mixed day; it takes us a while to climb back...

28-4-1980, Auroville:

The heat is so heavy, we drag ourselves to work. And it takes nearly an hour before energy begins again to flow. I have always disliked this dependency, these tricks we must use in order to open to and receive the needed energy... The yearning is for an opening, constant and safe, to the energy from above, that would take care of everything...

... We are all busy in the office, this afternoon, when M.D shows up; he returned in the night from Delhi... The news is not too bright: Navajata and Co are still able to get people under their influence on the power paths and Indira is terribly alone in the midst of generalised corruption. She has indeed issued a stay-order of all our Quit Notices, but between her and the Tamil Nadu State officials are a number of strategic spots where the SAS can still interfere indirectly... So there is still uncertainty in the atmosphere...

... Tonight we start again to listen to the tapes of Your Agenda: it is now Volume 5.

29-4-1980, Auroville:

Last night I woke up shouting from a dense nightmare: adverse people were making a powerful intrusion here, with the intent to drive us out, to dislodge us, and I began to yell "c'est à la Mère... it belongs to the Mother... it is Yours, Mother..." again and again, till it became material and I woke up here... Ever since these deportation orders have been activated in the atmosphere, this goes on...

And for me it has a personal meaning as well; it is not merely concerned with Auroville's battling to be free of the SAS's clutches, it also touches on the very formation that had sent me to hell for over 3 years, the formation that You had rejected me, condemned me, "for ever"...! And besides, insofar as one is open to the experience of "adversity", this threat is bound to a sort of mechanical karmic return of the action we had taken towards the Jagdish's group, pressuring them to let go of their "groupisme" and stance of exclusivism, or to leave...

... Diane and I spend most of the day working together, first in Pondy – Consulate, Bank, Gas supply, and the FRO where they grudgingly admit to a stay Order, which they qualify as only for a fortnight – and later in the office here, filing letters and papers and doing correspondence... A few of us come to help; Diane is tired: she has hardly any space, in her present circumstances, to ever be by herself...

1-5-1980, Auroville:

I am worried. Because I may have poisoned the relationship between Krishna and me by allowing desire to play, by allowing myself to desire. I want us to get past and beyond it, to have gained some understanding from this stage, but I have too much apprehension...

... It comes to me that trust and true consciousness are inseparable, but in a way that our mentalised, divisive, guilt-ridden, driven and motivated physical consciousness cannot comprehend...

5-5-1980, Auroville:

Everywhere one looks in Auroville today, there seems to be the question of lack of money. Pumps break down and cannot be fixed, wages are not paid, nor bills, housing is insufficient...; and for many months now the only newcomers to Auroville have been poor people, so that the burden has increased on the "collective"; in the Green Belt and in the farms it is the hardest – J.P and Colleen for instance, who work more than most of us, are not able to make it through the month...

One may sense that this is all a matter of attuning to the right vibration so that the required energies will flow in, but one has better become able to practice it, one cannot merely "talk" about it...!

There is a joy in channelling, in responding to needs, in steering the flow where it is most required for the whole... Whenever one is enabled to fulfil that function, even on a very small scale, it brings contentment: to relay and orient so that physical and material harmony may manifest...

... Late morning, Krishna comes to fetch me at work... Along with G.M and Marcia, we come here and have lunch together...

... I join Krishna in the evening, at his place in "Certitude"; the atmosphere in that community is so tense and tough and harsh; there is not enough water and people don't look at one another anymore, it is all fragmented and Krishna is there, lost in it... He has spent the entire afternoon making a new bracelet for my watch: we finish it together...

The wind has shifted; the air itself is burning hot...!

6-5-1980, Auroville:

Today is C's birthday and Cristo and P.E's team have at last come to do the first cementing of the roof of her house. It was not planned this way – I had intended to do it much earlier, but Cristo kept postponing and delaying it – and now it is a sweet coincidence...!

This evening I want to be away for a while from the confusion and noise of so many people at work, and I go over to "Dana"; Marcia and G.M make the dinner... Compared to "Sincerity", "Dana" has that character of wilderness, a freedom and a force, while "Sincerity" is already more urban, more charged with vibrations...

7-5-1980, Auroville:

My connection to sexuality is still so strong. You have explained that it is only when one has come to feel and sense it as far too gross and too crude, when one's nature has come to feel it that way, that it can fall off and one can be altogether free of it and be ready to turn to what is to come next... Obviously this is not yet the case with my nature...!

9-5-1980, Auroville:

Angad comes to call us at work. The SAS people have been stealing the jack-fruit from the trees at Kottakarai... We don't find it funny anymore! So, we opt for going to the source! After all, it is Indra, from his station at Bharat Nivas, who send these men all over, hires them for the purpose... We all ride over to Bharat Nivas, but we find only Ramaswamy and that fat oyster Sampura, and Govind the ostrich... We try Indra's house at "Promesse", but he has been warned off... We end up leaving a humorous note pinned to his door, in the fashion of capes and daggers novels, signed "the Auroville Guard"...! We know, though, that it will fit exactly into their image of us, but we feel free of it – almost, in a way, unconcerned!

11-5-1980, Auroville:

It is Sunday. Tan, the Malay guy, comes to me: yesterday night he has been thrown out of the Kitchen by Noh, Pas and P.G. I didn't know it. There is something candid and straight about him, though, that I like, and when he is with me he seems to regain his balance; yet I can do little at this point... He tells me shocking news: it seems that, last month, Amal Kiran's wife Sehra hanged herself, in the Ashram...

... I learn that, a few nights ago, P.E – who has also got, it seems, a Quit Notice – woke up suddenly in the middle of the night with the imperious urge to jump through the window of his hut; and he did jump and, just a moment later, the whole hut caught fire! He has no idea what happened!

13-5-1980, Auroville:

When Diane and I reach the FRO office late morning, we find a friendlier atmosphere. Kireet has already informed us of Indira's latest written instructions:

"Why 15 days only? The deportation Orders have to be stayed permanently!"... So, that worry seems to be dissipating...

Diane then wants to stay in town for lunch; she wants to eat meat! I try, to keep her company, and I chew and chew, but it doesn't work!

There is a discreet and quiet harmony getting established between us, with moments of deeper recognition; it is simple and easy and I like it that way; only, sometimes, instead of being concentrated and a little effective, it tends to drift into talk; she loves to talk...!

... Mère, je veux T'offrir quelque chose qui ne soit pas misérable. Un être entier, non mutilé, réel. Pour Toi complètement, absolument, sans défaillance, libre du goût de la mort à jamais. Et que Tu en fasses ce que Tu veux. Douce Mère, voilà ce que je veux. Que cette vie porte ce fruit, et qu'il soit déposé à Tes pieds...

14-5-1980, Auroville:

I am upset about the tools situation again. Here we are once more, with only two bad saws and a few hammers, when a couple of us had taken so much care to gather all the tools and fix them and order new ones; now again they have disappeared – everyone just helps themselves and I'd guess most houses are well-equipped while, about the Matrimandir work, an aristocratic indifference prevails...!

18-5-1980, Auroville:

Cristo has sent me word that his team will come and do the second cementing of the roof of C's house tomorrow. But Murthy has not delivered the cement yet. So Cristo now suggests that I borrow cement that is kept in stock at "Certitude" for E.B and Krishna... This morning, G.M sends his cart over there and Nat goes along with the driver to help load the cement... I should have gone myself, but I was not yet ready to leave the house... Nat soon returns, tense and very confused: Krishna has refused to let go of the cement... It does not fully come as a surprise: there has been a kind of a lapse, or misunderstanding, in these last few days... But I must go and see him; G.M wants to come with me and we drive over: Krishna refuses to lend the cement and refuses to address me as well; I withdraw... I ought to feel hurt, but I rather feel responsible for this; also, I do not believe our relationship is really at risk, it is just a passing phase... But G.M is quite distressed...

... Noh has just fired Parvati... G.M and I have to see to it when we return here...

... On my way back from "Aspiration" where I went to exchange the Agenda tapes, I stop by "Sharnga" to return a book to Cl.B; besides Kripa and Kali, V's daughter Taranti is also there, and Cl and B.B insist I must stay for dinner... I do not regret it: I learn from it. They have reached, and are able to maintain, a creative balance between them; they talk to me very openly and honestly and I can appreciate once more how Your Grace supports each of us uniquely when one really tries to grow according to one's inner nature... Cl and B.B are "doers", they need to act, to move forward, to spend and receive energy and turn it into creative steps; they are generous; I see nothing to deplore or criticise...

And I wonder, of course, what is "my" direction, the process of "my" inner nature, and... I am not sure! I cannot define it; it is perhaps more solitary, and less communicable... I see more and more that, to condemn any thing, is a weakness: the world is infinite...

19-5-1980, Auroville:

It is early morning; I am watching the kittens play on the sunlit floor. P.E comes and has coffee with me; soon his team of masons ride in; together we organise the day' work. Then G.M arrives and I soon leave with him to Matrimandir.

... P tells me there was a heavy scene last night – I did not hear a thing! – with Tess, who apparently consumes a lot of marijuana, freaking at Gillian and beating her till she bled and then dragging her to Pala's and beating up Pala as well; Dennis had woken up at the shouting and gone over and managed to calm them all down but had to stay with them till dawn... And this is all connected to big J and her boys who are known thieves – and a host of unpleasant matters beside... But this is a situation that definitely requires attention and care...

... M.D has requested that a group of us gather at the office this afternoon. There are Diane, Hervé, Christiane, Fred and Prem, and Arjun and Deepti, and C.A, Marc A, Tapas, and D.W... M.D wants to share his observations, what he has seen and learnt in Delhi, what he feels about the situation, and to suggest that some of us should make ready to go to Delhi and meet directly with Indira... Fred speaks of the need for us all to clarify and strengthen our commitment to the work of Auroville, regardless of circumstances and current "battles"; he speaks of a pledge we ought to make, the formulation of it must be found...

... This is a scorching day; only some of the masons are willing to stay on into the night to complete this second coating...

20-5-1980, Auroville:

Today is even hotter: the air is of a furnace.

G.M and I spend much of the day on the road, between here, Pondy and Cuddalore, for his papers; we join Diane at the FRO for a moment; Shruti has also come with her, she sits with me by the sea...

... The cementing of C's roof is going on... 17 men in all are working on it; P.E has had to send for cement wherever he still had any stock, in a hurry – no news of Murthy; I enquired in several shops and could find no trace of him...

... I am doing the accounts. Someone knocks at the door. It is Krishna... I am ready to be happy, but I am not sure what motivates him... He tells me that he wants "all his things back" and his tapes: "we are at war", he says...! At once I say that I am not; it is up to him, it is his formation... He faces me and, suddenly, with all his force, he slaps me!

Oddly, I do not fall, only waver a bit, and I call his name, dumbly. We stand in front of each other. He stares.

I feel calm, without resentment; there is like a flow of tenderness pressing somewhere... But instead of opening to it, he tells me, harshly, that it is the "negro" I am looking at...

He leaves.

I must learn from this, as he must...

I must see how I have been made into a weapon against him and somehow, in spite of me and unaware, been identified with a force that disturbed him so much that he could only resort to violence...

21-5-1980, Auroville:

The masons finished at 3.30 am. I am tired. But I know I'll draw energy through the work...

... We're called down: Tess has flipped again; we come to his house: Dennis, P, Pas and M.L are holding him, waiting for us... There is no way but for us to take him to Jipmer Hospital... Gillian says "I tried my best".

We spend hours in that monstrous and absurd but necessary place... It is humorous, confused and tense, open, groping; we feel at times lost and at times supported; sometimes Tess has flashes of lucidity; he remembered on the way that the electricity bill must be paid!... Then we have to do the paper work and run here and there for money to cover the costs of his stay in the Hospital... There is, in this story, a connection to tantrism, to Panditji; it would seem that both Gillian and Tess had opened to it and that havoc followed; but she is clearer within herself, and there is with her recognition...

... We have one thing only: the need of You – You directly, You immediate, You, only You...!

Let others elect their intermediaries, and proceed in their wisdom towards the goals of their understanding... We want You; we find meaning in You alone...!

22-5-1980, Auroville:

I send for Tess's worker, a gentle fellow, who is still under the shock of Tess's behaviour. I tell him to continue his work and that we'll take care of his wages...

... Pala comes back from Jipmer, very uptight, and calls me down from work; she wants to talk... She has been too closely involved and part of the mess; she agrees that neither Tess nor Gillian should come back for some time and that their house must be cleaned and cleansed and that neither big J nor her boys should come there anymore... She doesn't want to go back alone to Jipmer to bring their things to Gillian and Tess, so I decide to drive her there; G.M is not happy with that, he wants we have nothing to do with Pala just now; finally he says he will come with me and we two will take their things with us... Then only we become a little happy again!

On our way, G.M tells me of an interesting little experience Marcia had yesterday: when she saw me first, she saw that half of my face was Krishna's! And only then she saw the bruise around my eye and immediately understood I'd had a fight with Krishna, but didn't dare ask me...

When we reach Jipmer, we find that both Gillian and Tess have run away early – probably just after Pala had left?

I feel quite silly: G.M was right in his reluctance to get involved, and I am ashamed to have kind of forced him into it... He teases me gently... In so many ways we help each other...

... While I am preparing dinner, Christiane comes to me, very tender; she wants to share more with me; she says she's felt me to be on the edge of my endurance lately and she wishes to help... Hervé too is very gentle...

... Pala comes to see me: Gillian has returned, letting Tess go on his own; she realises that she too has to move away for a while...

... There is no current; we serve at candle-light...

23-5-1980, Auroville:

This afternoon Ar. asks me to come to Tess's house: R comes along, and P, Dennis, Pala, Christiane and Hervé are there; soon Gillian joins us. I concentrate to be free of all the emotional charge; Dennis and I make it clear to Gillian that she must telegraph Tess's parents in Australia, contact Ajit as well, and get two plane tickets sent urgently for Tess and her; also that she must go to Madras and look for him and keep him there till the tickets come...

... Ramalingam comes to see G.M and I: he wants to marry a girl against her family's will and plans to take her away next week, marry her in another place, and bring her to Auroville; and he asks us to find them a place to live...!

24-5-1980, Auroville:

Several people have asked for a "Centre organisation meeting" to be held at the house here: Dennis, Bill S, D.W and Sally, Ruud, Jossie, Noh, John H, Jacq, Pas, all gather here and I make tea for everyone... The general feeling is that a few of us should be given the responsibility for admission in the Centre area and in the Kitchen, and for contributions... Both Jacq and Bill S ask again that the men who take care of "Sincerity" (tend the garden, fill everybody's water tank, etc) should stop eating in the Kitchen... I have consistently opposed this move in the past, but now... I can't help thinking I might as well stop eating there too... But then, if I cut myself off from the "collective" life, I should also withdraw from the "Envelopes" as the Centre representative...!

... There are these moments when inner tears well up in me... Sometimes it is a terrible sense of my incapacity to love... There are so many beings – people – here, whom I am unable to turn to with love, even with tenderness...!

25-5-1980, Auroville:

In the middle of the night, I noted down a strange dream-experience, of a woman-divinity, a goddess, lodged within a mountain, fighting Death's assaults with the sheer force of true consciousness. I then felt so... terribly lonely! Was it the need, the absence of a woman's soul wedded to mine? There was this need to hold and be held, rightly and safely... I felt like searching for her to the ends of the earth...

26-5-1980, Auroville:

GI and Piero have returned from their journey. They show us two neat brochures, printed in New York, on this "twin" Auroville-city that Navajata has launched near Calcutta; there is also included a text on his new political party, "Auro-Congress" with plenty of quotes from You and Sri Aurobindo and a constitution promising equal rights, equal justice and equal distribution of riches to all the people of the world... The plan of the city-to-be shows a "Transformation Tower" at its centre. They also distribute Your Blessings...! As for "our" Auroville, it is to host and shelter the Presidium of their new World-Government... They seem to have been getting quite some funding already, while here we struggle for a single bag of cement or a bundle of binding-wire...!

... To crown it all, Yus now tells me that Narad, along with Patricia and F.Gr, have decided to split the Gardens from the Matrimandir and do separate fund-raising...

Alright. I gaze at that near-emptiness with wonder and a kind of despair that is... the kind of acceptance veering to insanity...: everything feels so miserable!

What does it mean that people like Navajata, using You the way they do, thrive and become successful...? I wouldn't be bothered if there were sufficient balance and cohesion here...

We should concentrate so that would join us only those who can make out the difference and detect all imitation... But we ourselves are stuck; we do not have the balance...!

If this is all to be just a battle-field, then let it be frank at least! "Good-will" does sometimes more to hide the truth than to serve it!

27-5-1980, Auroville:

I am sitting in a café waiting for G.M and Marcia, the purchases done. The same guy who said last time he'd met me all these years ago, comes to talk to me: he finds that Auroville is a failure, it is filled with "petit bourgeois" and petty colonialists, with no energy to break through and no will to move beyond the old known systems, and he wants me to explain why I am so determined to remain here and what is my experience... G.M and Marcia arrive and save me from having to answer... Yet, we can't pretend, Auroville does give such an impression at present... I am feeling very low...

28-5-1980, Auroville:

Yus asks again what we feel regarding the latest invitation by the Governor to a "Peace Meeting" as, this time, Prem and Fred are ready to go and are pulling him into it; we can only reiterate that it can lead nowhere but to the same old trap and none of us should go...

29-5-1980, Auroville:

There is this thing of making a big dinner celebration today; I have refused to help. What is the point of this show of unity when day after day and in all things there is so little we do share and Matrimandir gets only a handful of us to do the work? ... Gillian has finally located Tess: he is in poor shape and has burned his papers; so, even though the tickets have come, they can't leave as yet; I have to take care of his passport at once...

30-5-1980, Auroville:

I went to the Nursery to pick flowers for Jacq's birthday; Narad gets hold of me: he is very depressed and thinks of leaving Auroville, because of the heavy criticism he has received from several people. I try, as whenever I find someone in that condition, to be very forward and positive and strong; I tell him that many of us are going through an intensely severe period and that we must endure and learn from it... There is to be a special meeting on the Gardens tomorrow; we'll see...

... Today Diane asks me to count the monies, and it takes me till the end of the meeting; she tells me that Prem, Fred, Yus and now even M.D have actually gone to Madras, accepting the Governor's invitation... They have, it seems, Piero's full support, and that is what persuaded Yus. It has become clearer to me that there is absolutely no virtue in getting upset, bitter or resentful...! When given an opportunity to express one's views, either in words or in acts, one does it; otherwise one keeps quiet!

Diane tells me other titbits...! For instance, that Sujata has suggested, on behalf of Satprem of course, that the arrest of the 7 of us might be a good thing for "the cause"... Being myself one of the 7, I guess I am partial, but I don't like it! This feels like one is feeding an unreal game...

... The cement has come at last, but only 20 bags... I can at least return G.M's lot, for his house!

31-5-1980, Auroville:

The meeting in Madras seems to have been rather grotesque. It has yielded only one proposal: to have a retired Judge investigate all legal matters – cases and litigations – between the two "sides"; but it was acknowledged that the "deportation Orders" must be kept in abeyance for the time being...

... Tess has gone berserk in Madras, running naked in the streets, burning things... Nico has gone there and returned already, helpless...

1-6-1980, Auroville:

Ramalingam comes. He still cannot make up his mind as to where he wants to be, nor what he wants to give his life to... But his heart is here, always.

... G.M and I have this plan to do our own fund-raising for Matrimandir – the whole of it -; we want to address people directly from Auroville, let people know that we are doing the work. We have prepared the text of an appeal and we need addresses to begin with... We do down to "Aspiration"; Marc A has collected a good list of interested people during the Exhibition tour... He tells how no one in 'Aspiration' wanted to have anything to do with that meeting in Madras, and yet M.D had gone... Others join in the talk, and it becomes lunch-time and they invite us to stay. As we stand in the line, M.D comes to me; I am happy to see him, and glad of the opportunity to tell him directly, with affection, what I had felt about his going; I find him open and candid in his response; we soon sit together and, as G.M and I are telling him more of what we have been experiencing, others listen in and it becomes soon a spontaneous, typical "Aspiration" gathering. It is the occasion for all of them to vent their accumulated frustrations of the past two years regarding M.D and Nicole's superior attitude and their play of secrecy between Satprem and Auroville... But, and this is really the mark of this collective realisation in "Aspiration", it is all very frank and honest, centred and free of resentment, devoid of bitterness, uncalculating, wanting to love and to meet without veils...

M.D takes it all. I speak for him once, to restore some balance, because I trust his sincerity. He is able to say, at the end, that he is happy this has happened...!

I wish this togetherness would manifest around Matrimandir; but I find it significant that this took place as a result of, or triggered by, our visit, from Matrimandir and for Matrimandir... We leave discreetly, a bit shaken, and tired...

... I see, at dinner in the Kitchen, that Krishna has returned from his trip; he is at the big table, in his expansive mood: I am ready for the least opening, the smallest sign, but he keeps shut from me and away... Perhaps he sees me as self-assured, in control... he doesn't know the tears?

2-6-1980, Auroville:

I am uptight and I feel lonely, as if at the border of a desert I must now cross alone. I have a heavy tachycardia, tugging at the arteries in the neck and left shoulder, and it is draining... G.M comes to find me in the office; yesterday evening he had a "talk" after the football game with P.G and others and now he wants us to act...! But I feel uneasy, finding him too much on the surface... He wants us – the group of us who are always available and ready, for the Guard or for any other emergency – to assert our “right” to be part of such “events” as the meeting with the Governor... I understand how he feels, but this does not seem to be the right way to express it, nor the right time for it...

... Diane doesn't show up today and I'm left with all this paper work and this is not the first time... If there is no meaningful sharing, who cares to waste more paper with it all...

... I have to receive visitors, part of the afternoon; a French couple strolls over, not very interesting; then there comes a group of Indian ladies, both from the Ashram and from Bombay, and with them I find a psychic presence and it becomes easy and happy and, at the end of their visit, I realise that the eldest of the ladies speaks and understands not a word of English and yet there has been such a loving movement of communication with her, so very comforting...!

3-6-1980, Auroville:

G.M and I have to go to Pondy; first I must find Diane, about the Visas work: we look for her in “Jaïma”, and then we find her finally in M.H's hut in “Aspiration”. There is now and then a kind of negativity in Diane that makes it difficult to work with her, which I don't quite understand... We arrange to meet in Pondy... But she is so late that I have to go ahead and meet the FRO Officer: he's friendly today, which is ironical, as he has now got more charge-sheets against more of us and, as a consequence; less of us may have a proper Visa... Sometimes difficulties end up simplifying things...!

4-6-1980, Auroville:

A gang of thieves has again been operating in the area. Last night many valves were stolen from the Gardens and Nursery, all worth at least a thousand rupees; but the area is so large and we are so few and we have no resources; we are at the mercy of any persistent bad-will...!

5-6-1980, Auroville:

Christiane has been increasingly focussing on me, eager for an opening, a sign of willingness on my part... I respect and appreciate her as a friend, or perhaps a sister, but this is not the response she seeks; today she left me a message in the Kitchen saying that, if she could, she would put joy in my eyes... I suppose she means the joy of someone who has found “love”... But where is “she”? “She”, the woman-soul I could walk and grow with? Does “she” even exist? Is it even wanted? I don't know...!

6-6-1980, Auroville:

The realisation is now very tangible for me of the de facto solidarity that binds us all, human beings, into a single condition. And it is thus that, here in Auroville, we must face the same limits and contradictions as everywhere else – the opposite would be a monstrosity!

Yet, what makes a difference I some of us, whether here or anywhere else, is a little window within, that opens onto another consciousness... And perhaps there is nothing that we can or even have to do, but keep looking and seeing through that window and; little by little, learn to let that "air" enter us...

... Yus tells me we have no money to pay the few wages at Matrimandir tomorrow, and I should try to get it through the "Envelopes"...

10-6-1980, Auroville:

Usha and Shruti have come with Diane to Pondy and they tag along as we do our work at the FRO office... I think perhaps it is a great strength and support to be sharing one's life with a woman and children, come what may... Am I meant to experience it in this life? Have I lived it already countless times?

... G.M and I finally mail these hundreds of envelopes... Whether anything comes of it, we shall see! As Christiane put it, we'll have only lost the stamps...!

We ride back at the end of the day. I drive; it rains all the way into Auroville, and it is sweet and restful to be damp and cooled, riding in the dusk, riding home on this free land, orange and soft and yet harsh and inhospitable, riding together in this very moment of the universe, being material, being aware of You...!

12-6-1980, Auroville:

Last night before sleep I had an intense physical experience: I was lying on my back, drifting into sleep, gazing at the stars above, pondering that hypnotism that ties us down to the earth-sense – and wanting to go out among the stars... I felt the pressure on top and around my head, and I began to move toward the opening; but each time I reached there, came a powerful pressure all over the body, as if it was invaded by current; it increased and the breath stopped and the heart-beats started to fade and there came a movement of withdrawal... And a last time it happened and I realised then that I was leaving the body through the head and that this was not at all good for the body: there was too much pressure and current, and something there was not altogether friendly, or else something was missing, the sense of communion was absent – I wasn't experiencing it as coming from You...

But it taught me this, concretely: I can leave my body whenever I want; I know how!

I had sometimes wondered about it: in the case, say, of torture, how to quit? Now, it is clear!

G.M is in a poor mood; frustrated, off-centred and careless, ignoring the others; Marcia and Pas sit there not knowing what to do and he pays no heed to me either... GI comes up to see me: she is saddened by all the justifications people find not to participate in the work; then she tells me that there are those who say they cannot come to work because of... me...! That hits me hard!

I ask "who?" She mentions two names, Phil and F.Gr... I have felt F.Gr's violence toward me since some time, noted his weird attitude, and it seems to me this is largely due to his jealousy regarding my friendship with Patricia... As for Phil, his attitude has changed since what happened between Krishna and I, and I know his predilection for seeing "falsehood" in others and himself exempt from it...

... I turn to G.M and tell him directly, in front Marcia and Pas, what I think of his behaviour; Marcia is relieved that he hears it from me; Pas remains very quiet; GM calms down; in a while we four come together again and it is happy...

Then I tell them what GI has said...

... The mason calls me: the men have prepared the main door frame to C's house, laid it with garlands and done a small puja and they are now ready to set it into the wall; it is very gentle... Murthy has sent the cement...

... I sit by the sea; I am in turmoil... what to do when the division occurs between us? How then can we serve the Truth and become Your warriors?

... It is dark when I reach the Kitchen; as soon as he sees me entering, Phil leaves; Pas tells me they'd just been talking about me and that Phil had explained that he had to protect himself from my "aggression"...!

These projected densities, this mesh of unreality we keep weaving, this play of division we keep indulging in... how to locate the battle?!!! In this way Auroville becomes a sad farce...

As I reach in the dark for the handle-bar, I find a spray of "Service" flowers... Whoever has put it there, I am thankful and I receive it as coming from You...

Back here, Rad and one of the men help me unload the 40 bags of cement from the cart...

15-6-1980, Auroville:

Two houses were burnt down last night in "New Creation".

... Marcia comes to spend the morning here away from G.M, after one of their fights; she brings the two dogs. She is so straight and candid...

I take food for the 3 of us and we have lunch in "Dana"; then we work at bending the rods for their new roof all afternoon...

16-6-1980, Auroville:

A general meeting has been called at "Tapoloka" regarding the fires. It seems that the entire village suspects Dharman of having started those fires, or at least his brother Damodaran, who is in the SAS's pay... I had felt that we should simply ask for a collective concentration in the village of Kuillapalayam itself, but P.G pushes for a whole different line of "action"; he is dry and loud; I become uneasy...

23-6-1980, Auroville:

For some days now I have been helping G.M and Marcia to build their new house; Pas has joined us most days, all 4 of us cutting, bending and fixing steel for their roof... Today though, I have to stay longer by C's house here, as P.E's team of masons have come to plaster the high borders of the roof...

... Krishna comes by, smiling, but still enacting the same movement; I guess it has to be exhausted, or consummated...! He asks for his cassettes; just as politely, I indicate he himself may take them from the house; he leaves...

... Yus comes beaming up at me at the Kitchen, holding a cheque in his hand: Rs 7,500/- from an industrialist G.M and I had written to...! We are saved for two or three weeks, we're happy like children...!

... Sanjay Gandhi has died, in plane crash...

24-6-1980, Auroville:

We work in "Dana" all morning. Office work all afternoon; Christiane and Hervé come to help – Visas matters, lists and letters, receipts for donations...

... Ramalingam has been caught and put in jail and his "beloved" has been brought back to the village...

25-6-1980, Auroville:

Ramalingam has taken poison. There was a whole drama in the village and G.M was called very early this morning and had no time to come and get me... At noon he sends Narasingham for me, asking that Marcia and I meet him in Jipmer; Pas stays at "Dana" to see to the work...

G.M had picked Ramalingam right from the street in the village where people had left him lying and, along with Narasingham, taken him to the emergency ward in Jipmer, just in time... He is now asleep, plugged to IV lines, recovering...

... Giri, the President, died yesterday...

... We wait for the doctor-in-charge; he says that Ramalingam might need some new blood as the poison had already moved into his veins when he was brought in, but he is not yet sure; he asks us to come back in the night...

... Pnina has sent a big parcel of gifts for Noh and me, and for Pas, Phil, G.M and Marcia...

... The Inspector Thomas has come to Matrimandir this afternoon to renew the 144 sanction...!

... G.M and I ride back to Jipmer in the evening. Ramalingam is awake. I can see the resistance in him. We feel, we believe we know, that he is bound to us within, and yet he has not the opening, the experience or the clarity that he would need to take his stand and make his choice, and he can find no support around him either... Manavelan has also come and will stay there for the night... We have another argument with the clerks there with their "rules and regulations"...

26-6-1980, Auroville:

Ramalingam is better, more positive; he says he will come to us when he has cleared his mind...

... Jacq brings me my copy of Your Agenda...

27-6-1980, Auroville:

It is almost noon and I am resting inside the house; the weather is grey and heavy. With no reason, no cause I can trace, my whole system becomes at once very tense. It is not a pressure from above as usual: it is rather like a mass pressing from within "things", I cannot explain... It stays on. It does not move, nor fluctuate. It lasts till about 3 pm. Then it lingers, but now more localised, more like the normal pressure above the head...

This has kept me very centred, very gathered; there is a feeling of truth with it, which nothing can cheat... It has been so intense that I have some difficulty to stand on my legs and not to tremble... But all through, there has been this gratitude...

This is the purest and most beautiful thing I know, Mother, this gratitude! And I didn't want ever to be relieved of this pressure; I felt that my body knew that this was Grace, and proof that I am not abandoned, that the very process that alone can make this life worth living is continuing, is happening...

... There is a sense that something momentous is happening in the very substance of the world, and a surprise that everything appears to go on "normally"...

... I watch the "Envelopes" meeting from a different kind of poise, with an attention to the possible sources of confusion, and it is not what we are used to think... J.P.'s simple and generous nature, for instance, is a factor of balance, while from Hervé comes a confusing disturbance...

... Ramalingam comes; I settle him in the big room, make tea. He is completely taken with the girl he wants to marry... I am not very sure what G.M and I have to do in this, but he wants to stay with me here for a week or so, till he is sorted out... I guess it is alright, although I must be a little cautious there; on my part there could be a slip into physical attraction and, on his part, I sense a mixture of very selfish interests motivating him...

28-6-1980, Auroville:

I don't even have the strength to lift the bike onto its stand; I watch it fall sideways, as if in slow motion, feeling stunned and ashamed. I guess this happens when all vital forces are withheld (or all used up to maintain the balance?)...

29-6-1980, Auroville:

Mid-morning I go to Narad. We have to work together on formulating a project for the fencing of the entire Gardens area, to be submitted to "Auromitra"... We first make a full round, measuring. There is no central contact between us, but a connection that has become more easily enjoyable since he has started to accept me as I am and letting go of some of his rigidity...

... When I return home, the sexual need is so strong, I could have raped Nat there and then! What to do? I am still a prey, I still respond; no point in ever pretending otherwise, as long as there still is the smallest stirring of response...! And suppression, to me, is a dishonest thing!

At one point, years ago, I had willed to break down all mental and moral barriers and prejudices... I did it! And for a while I was flooded with craving of all kinds and all sense of measure was gone; I could identify with the weirdest and wildest desire or greed... In a way, I still can; that is, I know concretely that one can... But only one craving has still a hold over me, in all its crude, transparent and absolute beauty...!

And this is one of the Lord's own "impossibilities", or secrets; and I seem to learn that "I", my little "I", must not interfere, but just keep offering, never hiding, and never shying away: just offering...

30-6-1980, Auroville:

Last night I dreamt of O.P.'s arrival in very precise terms and details, of what had and had not changed in him, and how he was disappointed to find me less beautiful... This was followed by another dream with Krishna in which I lost again my discernment, fell under his energy and did again the same "mistake"...

... The FRO have received an official refusal of all 17 applications we had submitted for newcomers... We're not out of trouble yet!

1-7-1980, Auroville:

The 4 of us are working in "Dana". Marcia goes and gets our lunch from the Kitchen and returns with a ridiculous piece of news: it seems that, threatened of arrest by the Inspector, GI, Piero, Dor and a few others have devised another method of work! They want to erect parts of the scaffold at a distance from Matrimandir and push them in later on...!

... The kittens are growing and... getting attached! And annoying too! So, this time, I must find the way. I ask Nat whether he could take them to his house, just trying my luck, and, to my surprise, he accepts! I too am attached: they are lovely! But I had wanted "independent" cats, and that species doesn't seem to exist...!

... Today I have seen so many things I want to change, things I do not want to manifest anymore... Lord! You have so many impossible problems! How do You manage?

2-7-1980, Auroville:

I go to John H, before work, to let him know we are not abandoning him, we are there, G.M and I, but we just have to finish the roof of the house in "Dana"... He says that finally everyone kept working, and it is alright...

... I feel dazed. I sit by myself in the Kitchen, unfitting, unable to "adjust"; I don't like people's jokes, their way of life, the noise they make; they are teasing G.M's dog and I don't like that; I feel nothing towards them: we just have this notion that we are all in Auroville for the same thing, but I do not KNOW that, except for a very few...

4-7-1980, Auroville:

Mid-morning I make the rounds to collect the monies. I go to M.T and ask him whether he and Val could, from their unit, try and contribute pocket-money for those at the Centre who don't have any...

... No cement will be available for a week; the work in "Dana" is held up...

... At the "Envelopes" meeting, Cl.B gives me news of J and G: it seems that G has gone off his mind a bit, he has turned even against J his own brother; I sense this is critical, that he needs help of a kind none of us can provide, almost an occult help; that there is something he has inherited from birth, a deficiency somewhere between his mind and his emotions... I pray to You: he needs help! Cl.B tells me that J seems to be coping well, to be centred; with sufficient clarity...

5-7-1980, Auroville:

When I go out for flowers, after writing my dreams at day-rise, I find...: O.P! His dear face, his being, right there: he had come in the night and, not wanting to disturb me, slept a little in the garden... Eight years have passed! I am happy; I take him inside the house and he lies down to rest.

Little by little he tells me of his life, now centred on dance; he has joined Béjart's company and is now also doing choreography; and I can see how much of a grace it is for him, for his own progress, and the cohesion it has given him.

He asks to stay here with me instead of going to the Guest House... I want to be careful, though, given the intense experience we had in the past, but it should be alright...

Later, when I go to see whether P is ready to come with me and check on that log of wood that is on offer, I find the children all intrigued and curious about this new friend in the house... They follow me back – Jyotis, Dayini, Ritam and Sukrit -, four adorable little angels chattering away, and their voices awaken O.P...

... Tonight I have to arrange the beddings for both Ramalingam and O.P... I have gotten used to be by myself, it seems, like some kind of hermit; but each day is truly unique!

6-7-1980, Auroville:

I realise that all circumstances are arranged so as to show whatever it is that contradicts the unity of the being.

... O.P's girl-friend has come; we found her easily in Pondy; she had travelled on her own; her name is Nathalie. They are only here for 10 days.

We go to the Samadhi together. I kneel there a moment; but these days I do not find You there as much as I find You everywhere, even in my most difficult hours...

There is so much hypocrisy displayed around a grave...!

Nath has rented a room for the night; she will cycle up tomorrow.

... O.P's purse was stolen yesterday, from the house itself it seems, and I feel very bad about it: a breaching of trust, a betrayal...!

7-7-1980, Auroville:

I attend the special meeting on "Administrative work" in Auroville. About 20 of us are present and two visitors, two brainfuls of Americans who are travelling over the world "to help solve problems"...! Everyone laughs a lot, but I just wish them on their way!

8-7-1980, Auroville:

This is the second depressing night in a row: I am struggling to grow out of a condition of crude, unevolved impulses, cravings and attractions, without rejection, without taking shelter in the "upper", elitist parts, without having to make a split in nature... Sometimes the obstacles seem to be telling me that I am cheating myself, that this is not the way to go about it and I should not keep trying on my own... Okay! But there are also moments when I know, when I am in contact with, or identified with an energy which, while it has no moral sense whatsoever is directly conscious of true, real purity: it knows what true purity and true balance is...

As long as these notions of "high" and "low" or of "shame" and "taboo" are playing in our substance, how can one ever be made whole?

Night after night I am absorbed by this grey, unprogressive condition...

But I need to find the Lord's Presence even in what is considered to be the crudest craving... That alone is the key to the real change...!

10-7-1980, Auroville:

I find G.M way off-centred again! P.G has worked him up over the latest "incident" at "Fraternity": it seems that A.T had house one of his workers on an unoccupied field nearby, which gave the carpenters the idea to take over another field... Now G.M wants to attend the general meeting... Whenever he gets thus agitated, it is as if he is losing consistency, and we communicate no longer; Marcia makes a point of showing him how different he gets according to the person he is with, how his behaviour is affected: it is indeed a worrying factor with him. It bothers me all the more because I too become one of the influences acting upon him, almost as in a competition, and I want no part in that...! I would rather withdraw! But then, I care for him...!

... I interrupt my dinner preparations and we go attend the meeting, mostly out of a sense of duty... But at least I can get some of my "paper-work" done there itself, instead of running after people... The meeting is uninteresting and repetitive... We need to find another way, but what?

And sometimes I wonder: it seems to me that perhaps each of us here is a little cracked, having lost some basic sense of proportion, or of relativity, and it is a bit scary... and somewhat sobering!

12-7-1980, Auroville:

It is O.P.'s birthday today. When I am finished with the pruning of the mango tree here, I take him down to the Ashram... We are allowed to spend about 25 minutes in Your and Sri Aurobindo's rooms: as soon as we are inside, the pressure comes and there is this powerful adjustment of all the parts of the being till a receptivity is obtained, an essential simplicity... This prayer arises, at the end: "Put Your Force on everything that is true; put Your Light on everything that is not true...!"

... The cheque that had been sent by the Calcutta industrialist for Matrimandir has been blocked; the man has actually stopped the payment! The SAS has got to him. Perhaps my impression that they had somehow intercepted all our mail is founded; we have also learned that they have hired the services of a detectives' agency. There is nothing much to do but to laugh...! My tendency would be in this case to take it as a lesson from the adversity: something in us was not sincere enough, perhaps some kind of boasting?

... I find Diane to be very ambiguous in her ways and in her feelings; for instance, on the one hand she complains and wants to leave everything to me, and on the other hand she goes on writing letters and appeals without even telling me about it...

... Ulla comes to me for her papers, and I see that Diane has taken them, without informing me. In the evening I ride down to "Jaïma" to check with her: she didn't take them; so someone else took them? I try to propose to her some better ways of communicating and coordinating in our work... I don't know why I keep trying: there is no personal interest on my part, except that I probably – surely – enjoy having some function, some use, in an organic fashion: channelling something useful, serving... But I do not want to fight for a bit of territory...!

... The world news is alarming...!

What can the mind grasp?

It seems that there is like a nervous layer all around where Death reigns, armed with its paraphernalia of torture, the most refined to the crudest – the material illusion, a huge screaming pain covering the entire planet... And, just beyond that, it ceases to exist... What, then, is the direction?

13-7-1980, Auroville:

Kamel and Laurence come to ask me for my old Japanese sword and tabi; but I don't have them anymore. They are preparing for a "bal masque" tomorrow to celebrate "La prise de la Bastille", the French Revolution... That formation is still very much active among the people of "Aspiration" of a group around You... I find it disturbing: there is a sort of narrow exclusivism to it, which I don't trust.

... Bhaga brings me the new cassettes of Your Agenda. Now that she has moved back to the Centre, I wonder if her old "crush" will resuscitate?!

I think the woman I need is not in Auroville... Will she ever come? But no beautiful woman ever seems to be attracted to Auroville, or not for long...!

... Clouds have been massing from the South for several days; and tonight it pours, for a long time, a good and steady rain...!

14-7-1980, Auroville:

I gaze and gaze at all the greens, all the many different foliages and textures against the greyed sky, I breathe the smells of the damp soil, of the wet leaves: the whole garden is revived...!

I thank the Lord for this little corner of earth where I can call a little more Presence with care, attention, quietly, thirsting for beauty and grace...

... With O.P, perhaps because we went through so much together in the past, there is a peculiar harmony, sure of itself, which needs no exterior means to know itself, hardly any sign or expression...

... I read the "Auroville Notes"; there seems to be some awakening to the reality of Matrimandir, an urge to attune to its living force... As G.M and I have been rather withdrawn, concentrating for the time being on the building of the house in "Dana" and waiting, it may have allowed for others to feel more directly concerned...? And too, for the first time, Your picture is on the cover...!

15-7-1980, Auroville:

I have taken to listen to the tapes of Your Agenda – which everybody listens to in the evenings – while doing my morning chores, Your voice, Your laughter filling the house, resounding in the garden, as I pluck and arrange the flowers, clean the house, feed the birds and the kittens (Nat will only take them when they are weaned), and it is the most delightful way to start each day...

... Tineke comes from "Forecomers" to call for the Guard: some villagers are trying to plough a field that hasn't yet been fenced... I don't feel a thing, almost as if I did not care any more...

... There is a van full of police patrolling Auroville today, as word has got to the "authorities" that the SAS might try some provocative actions, particularly at Matrimandir, now that the trial is going on at the Tindivanam Court...

... Grass is shooting where there was only baked red earth, every leaf shines...

... As O.P and I reach "La Maison", Krishna walks out; we do not look at each other... Actually I am not impatient to resume our relationship; I feel that a change has yet to occur, and that it is mostly in him, so that what made us separate will be seen differently in future, and for that he must first withdraw or undo or change these formations which he has made...

... Tonight the others tell me what has happened today at Matrimandir, and I am very proud of them: At about 1.30 pm Noh saw a whole file of people marching in, Jyotiprem at the head, followed by the now well-clad carpenters, the SAS watchmen, a few SAS people, Igor of "Hope", etc. They had come to "meditate"! Noh ran first to the Camp to call Jacq and John H, then ran over here and couldn't find me... Bill, Bhaga and a few others from the Camp rushed over as well and managed to block the line; Jacq it seems, was fiercely determined, and rode her bike alone toward those silly people, on and on, till they dispersed; some more help came, finally, to push back that whole troop, from the Marakanam Inspector... Our people had a rather happy time, it seems...!

While in Pondy, earlier in the day I had gone to the FRO for work; the officer, who is now quite friendly and offers me coffee, enquired whether anything had yet happened at Matrimandir... Everyone seems to be expecting some turning-point...

16-7-1980, Auroville:

Diane and I were to meet today for the Visas work. When I reach her house in "Jaïma", she announces that she has decided to withdraw from it, as it is all too much for her; so we'll have to bring it to everyone's notice at the general meeting tomorrow. In a way I feel I can go on even alone; it is not that much work and I can ask help for typing, from Marcia for instance; and I rather like to be of some use, of some service in the collective life... But I would need the confidence of the "community" so that no negative formations crop up...

... Annappa arrives, his sweet, simple and beaming face; he says he has come back to stay, that his family will follow once he is settled...

... Nath is sick, lying with fever and a sore throat in the house...

... The atmosphere at Matrimandir is affected again; like a brown thick wave has intruded, and it is chaotic. There are about 20 constables loafing around, joking, waiting, and vans riding in and out... The SAS had tried to take over the office this morning, but it seems that the police Inspectors pushed them away themselves. Section 144 is clamped again for 15 more days and more strictly so than the previous times... Perhaps it all has to do with the "information" that the SAS has got the support of some RSS fanatics, out to drive all "foreigners" away...

... I somehow manage to do the paper work, even to receive some visitors and prepare new letters...

Yus, who has to attend the trial in Court every day, is depressed because we are not even trying to defend ourselves while the SAS is piling "evidence" against us...

... It is O.P's last day; he will leave in the night. And I realise how dear he is to me, something that has been so kneaded into me over the years that it has become part of me...!

... When it is time, after midnight, for O.P to get into the taxi and actually leave, I find that I am quite sick: I can hardly move, from intense nausea, vertigo and acute unease; but I force myself to walk him to the waiting car and we part, with a quiet inner wonder: how much time will elapse before we "meet" again, we cannot know...

I return slowly to bed, but it doesn't work: I have to rush out at once and vomit; then I am relieved and the energy flows again...

18-7-1980, Auroville:

Annappa has slept downstairs.

... I cannot relate to what seems to be happening; either I get suffocated or else I feel foreign to it all.

... Around 9 am, about 10 of us, mostly from the Centre area, are standing half-way between the Kitchen and the Banyan tree and there is a whole regiment of helmeted police... Narad reads out the text of a telegram to Indira that he has prepared; I like it very much, it feels like it is within Your Consciousness... But then Rod also wants to read out to us the text of a petition to the Government of India, which he wants us all to sign, asking, imploring it to help us find a solution; and this I don't like at all...! But nobody seems to care!

Yet to me it is not merely a matter of wording, it goes farther and deeper, it is a matter of orientation: to seek help, external help in order to "solve our problems", or to stand sincerely, relying on the Lord's Will and Presence... Since months it is like that... Any incident triggers in us that response: we turn to the Collector, to the Police, we send letters - often pretentious -, but we never concentrate, act and call... How do we grow? I don't know!

... I persuaded Diane to call a special meeting on Visas work next week, of representatives from every community in Auroville...

... I take Annappa to "Dana"; Marcia, sensing I am not too well, has called us for dinner...

19-7-1980, Auroville:

It has rained much of the night, a straight and dense rain; the greens are vibrating, it makes the heart sing...! But G.M is angry at the "greenbelters" because the road to "Dana" is a mess of mire and new gullies are forming...!

... Rod comes with the list of signatures for the petition, so that I, who have not signed, may help adding all the correct surnames...! It is gently humorous and friendly; today is such a beautiful day, Nature is pulsing with new vigour and joy and one cannot be grumpy...!

... Narad arrives with a cartload of tree saplings for the planting along the road; Annappa joins. Later he and I take a round of the garden here, seeing possible spots for him to build a house; he wants to start a project raising silk-worms: that is what he was doing in Karnataka for the past two years; he says it can work on a small-scale, but it can also be adapted to provide for an entire village and make it self-sufficient...!

... The Calcutta industrialist has written a weird note saying he wished to support Navajata's activities alone and had been under the wrong impression that we were part of Navajata's team...!

We see all the logics fail, the worst as the best; leaving us sometimes nowhere and blind and lost and stupid, and sometimes bringing us closer to a Presence that tears off the veils and draws from one's whole being a cry of gratitude and recognition...

... It seems inevitable that, in the process, a lot of waste must occur...

21-7-1980, Auroville:

I walk over to the office; the police try to stop me; I ignore them and they let me in. I must type up these letters, to Kampani and to CPN Singh, on Visas and Quit Notices and such related matters...

... Mid-morning a boy rushes in to call me urgently to "Horizon": there is a fight between P.V and the SAS people; about 20 of them are standing in a field that P.V has let one of his workers to plant and harvest in exchange for maintenance of bunds and compost... But the situation, on closer scrutiny, is not that clear, and I get upset at Dom's chatting with Mohan of the SAS...

... I find A in the house listening to tapes of Krishna's music; this is a little unsettling: there is so much unexpressed on her part, which I neither understand nor feel comfortable with... It is a relief when she leaves...

... Nath comes; she is due to leave tomorrow; it is very quiet with her...

... G.M wishes to accompany me to the FRO, to have a sense of the experience I am having doing this work, to share it... He has also decided to try and push through the resistance and has sent his bullock-cart into town, determined to somehow get cement and have it carted home: he is a funny sight to watch!

My own tendency is almost the opposite, wanting the Grace to work it all out and acting only as a kind of link now and then... But his way, I have seen, often triggers movements that are revealing as they touch more of life, bring about more collective stirrings; while "my" way tends to concentrate into a subtler harmony. And both together, we are happy...!

... We have arranged to wait for the cart at the turn into Auroville, in case it is stopped at the Check-Post – obtaining cement has become a gamble!

It starts raining; we take shelter near a tea-shop on the roadside. Two SAS guys are loitering there, one of them quite drunk, who begins to tease G.M...

The bullock-cart is approaching; as it is about to turn, the bullock, exhausted, drops on the side of the dirt road – 25 bags of cement is too heavy a weight for a single bullock: we have to go and get a second cart and divide the load.

G.M wants to go, but the drunken fellow provokes him by standing in the middle of the road, blocking his way; G.M rushes past, but then he thinks of me staying alone, brakes and turns back, into another scene: it is like a magnet, energies get lowered... I pull him out.

Then the two SAS guys move towards the village intending to rouse a mob against us... I decide to go myself to "Jaïma" and get another cart and ask our people there to stand watch in the village and see both carts through...

Everyone responds at once, and Diane goes immediately to "Aspiration" to call more people.

We soon load up the second cart. The others insist that G.M and I must ride back the other way, via Bommayarpalayam and the Green Belt; it is getting dark; Gupi comes with us... All the others escort both carts across the village.

Rain starts again. We leave half of the cement at "Jaïma"; the two of us drive slowly along G.M's cart the rest of the way; in the dark and the pelting rain, the bullock falls twice more; in some places it is a torrent of mud...

We make it, drenched, frozen and tired, and the cement has stayed dry under the plastic sheet...!

22-7-1980, Auroville:

There is a fastidious meeting, all morning, about the allocation and distribution of a grant.

This afternoon, after exchanging the Agenda tapes at "Swagatam", I bring Su, holding her infant daughter Savitri, to the special meeting on the Visas work. Diane, Myrtle, Tineke, Joster, P.G and Daniel have come... Everyone seems to take it for granted that I will continue with the work; Diane is planning to go to Delhi with P.G; they seem to be doing well together...

... This evening P.V comes to tell me what has just happened to him: he's just had a fight with Joster, actually punched him to the ground! (I can sympathise: Joster can make one's teeth grind! Yet these things are not supposed to happen among us!)...

... I ask Barbara this evening to type up copies of the new, revised "Master-List"...

23-7-1980, Auroville:

Annappa and I spend the morning at "Dana" cementing the first coat of the roofs of the new house. Jacq and Kiran, Bill S, John H and Pas have also come to help, along with Godendan and G.M's masons and we all do a good job of it, happily... It is becoming a beautiful place, very simple but original, unique...

... I have made up my mind regarding Annappa's future house: it must not be in bamboo and keet; I want to experiment with a new method, a domed roof made of... ferro-lime! If it works, it will be very valuable for others as well...!

24-7-1980, Auroville:

When I see, early this morning, A collecting the hose pipe to water her plants even though it has rained, I go and ask her about it ; this gives us an opportunity – tense and charged but helpful, I think – to go over the events that have taken place between Krishna and I and between Krishna and her, and Phil’s attitude or role in it all; and perhaps this talk has cleared the air a bit...

... After I have prepared the dinner, I attend the meeting at “Tapoloka”: about 175 signatures have now been listed for the “appeal” to the Central Government; its text has been revised and refined and there is now mention of Sir CPN Singh as our chosen intermediary... But I still feel uneasy about it all, and I choose to abide by my own feeling: if there is no joy, then there will be no commitment worth the name, a simple law which I want to follow more and more...

Huta has asked Auroville to distribute her book, instead of the Ashram or the SAS: I find this a welcome step, meaningful...

Then it is my turn, to introduce the list of “Newcomers”, one by one; I feel centred and poised and it goes well... Myrtle tells me later that it had brought a tone of work and of sharing that had been missing for a long time... Several people offer their help, too!

27-7-1980, Auroville:

This morning for once I refused to go with the Guard to another of these scenes in the fields, with the SAS’s hired men trying to prevent our people from ploughing... Danny had just brought me that guy Helmut who has been flipping out in his room at the Pump House, so he could translate between us and we could try and sort out his situation... It is actually interesting: this fellow has very rigid ideas about sadhana and is therefore quite confused in the atmosphere of Auroville, but his heart is alive and he might yet find his way in the Ashram, perhaps...

... I am working, quietly at home, on formulating simple basic guidelines for newcomers, which I would like to present at the next general meeting, guidelines that would be complemented with the statement on having no claims on any assets created in Auroville, which every one of us is meant to sign...

... Savitra comes to ask whether he could stay here with me again – oddly he doesn’t seem to find his place – but, with Annappa already here, I feel it is enough at present... He tells me of his experience in Delhi, how he met with Indira, and with some of the top people in media, and about Kireet’s attitude and action there... For some reason I feel more and more uneasy and insecure whenever people here insist on talking about the Government’s possible “decisions” regarding Auroville, and all the more so since Karan Singh has proposed in the Parliament that Auroville should be turned into a Government Memorial to Sri Aurobindo...! I’d rather we were all very quiet and discreet and not attract attention for some time...

... This afternoon someone runs into the garden: it is Chris Cat... after 10 years! He is working as a tourists guide and has just come here for a moment; he is intensely happy with what he is able to feel of the Force, of the “Energy” here... He stays with me till evening; it is calm; he is, I find, inhabited with a living aspiration. He still remembers our time at “Beuvron” as the one strong and clear point of contact with that Future and the Force of it... It comforts me that, in at least that sense, my stay in France wasn’t altogether useless, that it may have served at least some purpose...

... Glimpses of understanding, of the supreme importance of “Now”, every single minute, and how, little by little, both Past and Future may merge into one integral and continuous Becoming... of this Act, kingly and free, of co-creation...

It is like every single moment that is saved from the mechanics of the usual conditionings and that is not swallowed in the bleak grinding of the "normal" physical consciousness, is a victory towards the true state of being...

Yet it is not a "fight", or a "struggle": the heroism required is of another kind...

There is urgency, however, in the sense that all that yields to the mechanics is unavoidably led from bad to worse; and, for the earth, the proportion of real progress MUST be made sufficient...!

28-7-1980, Auroville:

Annappa wants me to help him mark the foundations of his house, early this morning...

... We all see this afternoon how to repair and remodel the interior of "Eco House", which Al and Navoditte have left badly neglected, and turn it into an administrative centre; Savitra has agreed to stay there as the keeper of the place...

29-7-1980, Auroville:

The garden is in such beauty, everything growing lush and vigorous, rising together in one grateful movement of offering held in a single harmony, and the house is part of it, and... I too am grateful...!

... I study carefully with the masons all the ingredients that must be mixed with the lime, and their exact proportions, so we can try this special plaster in C's house...

... Noh sends for me urgently: a band of about 35 SAS hired men have gone and grabbed hold of Peter's tools and taken them away... Ed, Bill S and Patricia have been beaten up by those guys, who were armed with heavy stick and iron rods, and even tried to take Patricia's clothes off...

We gather near Bharat Nivas. The police haven't done a thing to stop these louts. Quite a few of us have had enough! I feel we ought to take the whole thing back to where it originated, in the Ashram itself... That we should load all these men in the tractor and take them down to SSJ's house in the Ashram, in full view... To do something straight!

A few of us catch Jyotiprem hiding behind the building and bring him over and into one of the rooms where we are already keeping most of those we have rounded up...

I have a hard time of it, though; I sense only confusion, and no beauty, or nobility anywhere, not in the bodies, or in the faces, not in the jokes, nor in the eyes; and no clarity... The SP comes. There is no chance of a free, a freely chosen action... I lose all connection with the scene and leave...

Back home, resting, I have to sort out my own ego-reactions... Soon G.M and Marcia join me, and G.M puts me back together with his tender humour... The police have taken all of our catch, Jyotiprem included...!

... I go and talk to Kiran alone, because I feel that she has somehow the possibility to do something; she feels it too, but is at a loss as to how to find its expression, to make it effective...

... After the rain, Annappa and Yel help me to lift some potted plants onto the terrace and, later, to place boulders under the tree next to the house, in the cool evening glow...

... I yearn for beings that are whole and grow harmoniously and transparently, holding a ray of light in their substance... Not this weirdness, this assemblage of oddities...

30-7-1980, Auroville:

Marcia, G.M, No hand I drive down to "Auromodel" and join the others there to watch and guard the ploughing of all the fields that the SAS is claiming through Ram Singh; he has gone to get the police and they soon arrive in large numbers, but they let us continue with the ploughing. There are many of us, some just quietly watching or talking; others are sowing the seeds in the furrows... Some of the talk veers again on the roles and attitude assumed increasingly by M.D and Nicole who behave, it seems, as if they alone had the "true consciousness"... The same old scheme and script, with different actors...!

The police tell us that up to 10 SAS cars had come to the Station to pick up Jyotiprem, their "hero" – when 35 of them had beaten Patricia with sticks and torn her clothes, an unarmed single woman... What is this?!!! What spirituality is that?

... Perhaps, seeing what I do not want, I become more aware of what I do want? I feel a great urge not to get eaten up by whatever is happening, to re-source myself, to be freed from any influences...

I look carefully, and I don't think there is any hatred in me; a kind of disgust, yes, and sometimes anger, or something akin to wrath, but no hatred...

Words like "pure" and "sincere" have been so... used...!

Oh, to be simple, to be one...!

And every time Someone, an 'Avatar", has taken a body, this has happened, this dangerous illusion, this misuse, this betrayal...

... Near the Samadhi, I talk with Amal Kiran a little; I respect his point of view. But we are alone, I think. And we must walk without fear and without reservation, honestly, in simplicity...

31-7-1980, Auroville:

Late in the night, two parallel dreams struck me with the intensity of the emotion they carried. In one, Th and Shradhavan and two others were stopped on the road near here, where the casuarinas grow, and I came upon them there and had to pass them to reach "our people"... And I was at once in a state of need, the NEED TO LOVE, and I wanted to communicate that need to them, there was an intense inner weeping...

In the other dream, Jorgen and Vera have come to the house where we are staying, G.M and I, determined to avenge themselves, to take it over, to throw us out... But, as Jorgen comes closer, he is deeply overcome by a completely different feeling, a sort of great attraction towards us and a movement to drop the whole thing and be with us again, to love and to flow in that tenderness...

I meditate on what those dreams mean for me, in terms of choice, of my participation to the "actions" that are more or less collectively elected, along with the rhetoric...

And it all leads to... love... "Love" being the closest word available: a force, an awareness that does not reject or ever seeks to eliminate, but has the power, the discerning and loving power to see and lead every element to its true place and function within the whole... And I realise that, within me, this is an orientation that is becoming more and more constant...

2-8-1980, Auroville:

Last night, while asleep, my body shifted precisely 90° so as to lie straight along the North South axis... Why now?

... Much of this morning goes into formulating a statement to be addressed to Indra P, attributing to him the responsibility for the 35 SAS hired men's actions on the 29th. At some point a few of us decide to go and talk to Kiran and ask her to participate – PP, G.M, Bhaga, John H, Arjun and I: it is a moving moment with her; there is respect and care; she does feel there is something which perhaps she alone can do...

... We ride away to find Indra and hand him the statement; he is not in "Promesse"; we move down to Pondy and find his jeep parked by the SAS' main quarters; people there appear to be protecting him... I meet Mona briefly...

I don't know, Mother... All this looks to me like sheer hypocrisy: it is difficult to accept the Ashram' collective attitude...

We end up giving the statement to Vijay P and Sushilla... Sushilla: the picture of self-satisfaction...; I wish I would be aware of her own true yearning: I cannot believe someone may be so closed and so satisfied at the same time, at Your feet!

... I have to pull G.M out of his own frustrated anger at this display of "spirituality"...

... I help Diane prepare the file of documents she will take with her to Delhi...

3-8-1980, Auroville:

P.G, P.M, G.M and I ride again over to "Promesse"; probably our bikes are too noisy, he has already gone hiding – Pippi tells us she'd just seen him a moment ago! People there seem to be scared, not of us directly, but of their share of responsibility for an action or a course of action that cannot possibly be justified. It is sad. We give the statement to Indra's wife and leave.

... This evening, as Annappa and I are returning from seeing the trenches of the foundations for his house, two men ride in looking for me: one of them is a journalist from "The Indian Express" who has been directed to me – I don't know how – to seek an interview on the situation in Auroville and the conflict with the SAS; this is a complete surprise, but I feel calm and attentive... We take them to the house. The interview lasts about 15 minutes; I try to make sure the man is getting my answers right. He writes his name down and they soon leave. Annappa says it was good, but I am not sure; it just happened...

4-8-1980, Auroville:

Since some time, Noh and Pas have been a growing part of the experience I had been sharing with G.M and Marcia at "Dana", building their house. Pas is very jealous and possessive of Noh, and it tends to become a set of two couples, plus me! I want to withdraw, but I also feel like a child that has been rejected; but I really only want to be with G.M!

... This afternoon G.M comes here, his face white with a kind of heavy and hurt violence; he has just received a letter from Ed, who found G.M's carpenter taking wood from the storage at Matrimandir; the letter is a long virtuous accusation, blaming G.M for taking advantage of the trust placed in him and calling him a thief... G.M is ready to go and knock Ed down...! I keep quiet. This is revealing of the actual state of our relationships here, when Ed can even think of G.M as a "thief"... I myself have used some of the wood reapers from the dismantled towers, and have then purchased a lorry load of bricks for Matrimandir, as a kind of replacement, considering the present needs of the work. But G.M; after more than 10 years not asking anything, truly needs a house; and I feel that Matrimandir itself is happy that some of this discarded wood can be put to that use.

Yet I am also aware that to expect this sort of free, mutually conscious sharing from all of us is probably unrealistic, and practically impossible...

I offer to go with G.M and speak for him. We find Ed at the workshop; it is intense; I explain to him how we have always proceeded so far, and I ask him to look at the ease with which he came to the conclusion that G.M could be a "thief", or me, for that matter!

He wants to apologise, but I tell him this isn't the point, there is a more important necessity there...!

I wonder if this is how narrow-mindedness and lack of depth so often get to preside over key positions in any organisation...

... At dinner Jacq sits with me; she tells me that Kiran has decided to wait in Pondy for the return of Navajata from England and to talk to him; that she is now determined...

... I am disturbed by my own affectivity, my "emotional needs" – which obscure and distort perception: a shrinking, a smallness of being...

5-8-1980, Auroville:

Annappa is depressed: he's just received through a friend some alarming news of his family, and he doesn't know what to do...

... People have been asking to listen to the tape of Your Agenda when You speak to Satprem of the purpose of Auroville. G.M and I set up the equipment in the back room of the office. We listen to You explaining how Auroville, the very effort to create Auroville, may balance the fallacy of the nations arming themselves more and more and even to some extent neutralise the effects of such a disastrous orientation... And it is as there is no time gap and You are speaking directly to the moment, now itself...

Yet at the end I feel uneasy, and I am not sure why... I have the need as if to break away from a spell: what people do, with their minds, of Your straight and simple words, this adaptation of Your words to fit the patterns of one's thinking... I have the impression that most people, even here, do not listen to You with their inner substance and experience, but with their minds, and it becomes narrow and superficial...

... Toine's brother has died this morning in Coimbatore, in a weird situation, after having fasted 45 days following the instructions of some guru-doctor there... Ponnu and Kan are going to meet Toine there, with Meenakshi...

6-8-1980, Auroville:

CI has been feeling increasingly unhappy and suffocated in the atmosphere of "Fidelity" and wanting to leave... because of the relationships there and the overwhelming character of neglect and dirtiness, as in a slum. G.M and I have encouraged her to speak her mind, to be frank about it with her neighbours there (P.E and S and their children and M and hers), for it is important in itself, for the whole area. So, today, she tries and talks to S, who replies to her that she can do whatever she wants and Auroville belongs to nobody, meaning that nobody has the right to tell her how to live... And here comes the clinch: she aims at me! She declares that she knows, from Ina and from SSJ, that You had forbidden me to be in Auroville... So!

Once I am alone again, I let this sink in, with all its unsettling questioning; I see myself through those formations: this image of "me" with a whole house and a whole garden to myself, a team of men at my bidding, taking "power trips" on others in Auroville and pretending to know and see better and to have thereby the right to impose my will, when in fact I am not even supposed to be here at all...!

 ... I must have no fear, but no self-pity and complacency either...!

7-8-1980, Auroville:

Just upon waking, I "see" Krishna, and he is "my" Krishna again, open and given and real...

... At the general meeting Dennis reads out an 'open letter to India' that Bhaga has drafted; there are some excesses in it, but it has depth and it is straightforward... At first I was reluctant, as with anything that may resemble propaganda, since the plan is to distribute it during the annual conference of the SAS; but I also do feel that it is important to support positively whatever we can agree to do together.

... This evening Jacq, alone on her bike, stopped SSJ on the road and told him not to enter the Matrimandir area... He gave her a pat on the chin!

8-8-1980, Auroville:

This morning P.G and PP have been forcibly arrested.

Let it be Thy Way! Whatever it is, let it be Thy Way...

I can't relate well to any of this...

... We split into "action teams": 2 to Tindivanam, 2 to Cuddalore, 2 making ready for Madras, 1 to call Delhi...

... Rs 2,000/- is required, along with a certificate of No-Objection by the Inspector Thomas, who must be in the SAS' pay: he doesn't want to sign it...

... This evening a few of us stop SSJ on the road again; but this time he has brought 3 people along, Gab, Jyotiprem and Igor... fanatic idiots...! Sorry, Mother!

9-8-1980, Auroville:

Sincerity is such a vast thing.

The terms in which we form our awareness aren't the right ones yet...!

... We are surrounded with lies and cheats and tricks and deceit - at best, indifference...

... I am learning to stand by what the Lord IS in me...

10-8-1980, Auroville:

P.G and PP are released at 3 pm. We ride back in two taxis.

I had been hoping everybody would be gathered at Matrimandir, for You, for Auroville... We reach at 5 pm. It is crowded and confused and there is only talk and talk and more talk...

Perhaps things are telling me to withdraw...

11-8-1980, Auroville:

In Delhi this morning Diane, Radhika, C.A and Savitra have met with Indira. She has told them: "Yes we are trying, but they (the SAS) have a strong group, they have tentacles everywhere...!"

12-8-1980, Auroville:

Paper-work and more paper-work... most of the day is spent typing and filing the documents and letters Diane needs to be sent to her in Delhi.

... A.M comes to report on the experience he, Deepti, Arjun and K.T had in Madras with the Press, with Karthikeyan and with the IG of Police. This seems to be a time when things come together, a gathering of opportunities...

Yet, all day long, small disharmonies keep occurring – knocking objects, hitting a door, missing chances...

... Jacq tells me at dinner that Navajata had only come for one night, but Kiran was able to say to him what she had meant to say; he flew back to Delhi this morning – perhaps even more determined to try and stop the Government from taking over!

13-8-1980, Auroville:

We have roneotyped Bhaga's open letter and a team is already distributing it in Pondy, while another team is also there holding an Exhibition on Auroville...

14-8-1980, Auroville:

G.M helps me drafting an answer to the article published in "The Indian Express". He also tells me of Satprem's letter to GI conveying his pain at the treatment we are supposed to have meted out to M.D, adding that we deserve all these Court-cases, being so shallow in our judgement... I wish, Mother, that I could see Satprem, as I saw him again in my dreams...

... We have been receiving so many visitors... In the evening we receive a last group near the structure, truly refined people; among them is a wonderful little boy, named Sudir – a cousin of Kireet, apparently -, a living soul: our eyes meet and I experience once more this radiating thing, like a ray of Your Light, coming through my eyes and reaching for his inner being, and his response is so pure, so quiet and surrendered, so filled with its own integrity... And I get a measure of the mixture that is still there, of the purification still needed...

... We hear that the SAS and their cohorts are planning a collective meditation tomorrow at 4 pm at Matrimandir, for all those who feel "concerned with the Auroville problems"... I wonder then if we could perhaps all of us also sit there and just... watch, silently watch...?

We have prepared for this document to be signed by each of us "I lay no claims on any asset created in Auroville..." for Sri Aurobindo's birthday...

15-8-1980, Auroville:

One of my dreams was too strange: G.M and I have gone to look at those people who have already gathered in the Gardens, and more of our people soon join us so that each one of us has one of them in front, and we see men we have never seen before, who bear that weird and cold look or vibration, a kind of mad self-belief, that has been with the Nazis; it is chilling; and it is not easy not to respond to it, but to simply watch, remaining centred, calm and free...

... Sri Aurobindo, You are 108!

... The police are there from the first hour, two van loads, and the DSP and the SP...

... We remain at Matrimandir the entire day; many of us come to sign the document. We even hold our weekly "Envelopes" meeting in the office, as it is also Friday...

... The SAS people come, along with the SSJ's group. The question had been there, what we would do when they march in for their "meditation"... I had suggested we stand and watch it all in silence... And that is what happens.

Like ghosts and sheep they come in a file, sinister, grotesque and pitiful; they walk around Matrimandir between two rows of police, and us watching them; we have to contain and offer the frustration, and somehow we keep together...

I feel something was done and, perhaps, a great danger was avoided...

There were moments of such nearness, I could have wept...!

And when it was over, it rained...

16-8-1980, Auroville:

Today I wrote to Satprem.

I bring my letter over to M.D himself, to pass it on; I meet a few people in "Aspiration" and tell them about it, what I have tried to express, and they seem happy...

17-8-1980, Auroville:

I am suddenly very depressed, after one more evening when, because of the presence of No hand Pas as the second couple, I couldn't simply be with G.M, in that space we normally share. I look at it carefully. It is not jealousy, for I appreciate them very much; besides, I never feel "robbed" of that space in Marcia's presence. Then I look at all these small moments of unease, now and then, with so and so, the small movements of hesitation, of uncertainty; I still do not well understand the effects my presence bears upon others...

I feel thrown back, again and again, to the solitude of a force and radiance compelled, by a will not its own, not "my" own, to remain single, and to grow, or "be grown", by Hands that seem to my affective needs rather intolerant and exacting... And I find myself nowhere, groping in the dark...

18-8-1980, Auroville:

I go to Madras alone to try and give my answer - rejoinder - to "The Indian Express": four hours standing in a crowded bus, starting before dawn; hours of waiting... The reporters are alright, but the Editor is a most unpleasant man, and I can't be sure he'll publish my letter. But I did what I could, I believe...

And when I drive back from Pondy in the evening, I can cry and sing for gratitude... to be home!

... And I find a letter from Diane and C.A in Delhi; it has a positive tone; they say that Kireet is now in a stronger position to act...

19-8-1980, Auroville:

Last night I had again one of those oddest dreams, so precise in their atmosphere, as if from a past that lives on. We are on a natural platform, high up, near an old fort, about 10 or 12 of us. A big weight is to be lifted and a sort of flat entrance is to be unsealed, prying its flat safety bar loose; we try to do it by using a balance system, some of us holding and pressing a long wooden beam; I am on the lower part of the balance, trying to break the thing open when the others go strong; I think that G.M is with me; strangely I see Th going to help the others and it feels a little weird; one last thrust and they all go far up in the air with the handle: the wood breaks. They all fall straight onto the rock platform! I am scared, feeling partly responsible, and I intensely want this event to be erased, that it HAS NOT TAKEN PLACE... And I see then that they are all lying on their backs, merely dazed; and soon they wake up!

... Narad tells me, in the office, of a new controversy with Piero over the planting of trees near to the Banyan tree...

... G.M sends for me urgently: it seems that Arjun and Deepti have been molested or beaten up in Pondy, in a restaurant held by some Ashram-related youth; but they have already returned and they're alright; and I can't accept the rush G.M is in, as if propelled towards violence; he gets upset at me and goes alone...

... Mangini comes to me to share his "idea" to... get married! This is so refreshing! He makes me laugh and laugh...!

... This evening I wait with Marcia for G.M to return. He drives back well after dark: he has met the youth, seen his blunt lying – the mystery of this lying...: this contradiction on the path, in the Ashram, in the SAS, in us perhaps...? It had been long since the 3 of us had thus been together: the tranquillity and security of it, a relief and a grace...

... There is this... "duty", of a growing directness and transparency, attentive not to lend oneself to whatever may contradict Your Presence...

20-8-1980, Auroville:

The day is spent in town, with G.M. At the FRO, the officers are every time gentler and more welcoming; today they even show me a letter written by Karan Singh to the SAS!

We have lunch with PP who gives us the latest news from Delhi, mostly encouraging. The UNESCO man, M'Bow, seems to be very helpful.

... G.M wants to go to the movies! This is my first movie in about 10 years! We see a recent "kumfu" film, which moves me unexpectedly; there is innocence in it and yet wisdom is also there... It was made by Bruce Lee just before he died and there is a striking purity about it, like a child who comes, learns to the utmost possible, and quietly goes away...

22-8-1980, Auroville:

"The Indian Express" has only published about a third of my letter, with gross distortions and even added sentences, along with the reporter's comments. It is sickening.

It is better to feel the love in the slaps one gets... So long as there is somebody there to be slapped, slaps are bound to come...!

... When I go to him on my monies-collecting round, Narad tells me of an offer he has received from the Sultanate of Oman to provide indoor plants...

23-8-1980, Auroville:

About 40 of us had to go today to the Tindivanam Court to hear the final judgement on so many cases; I didn't have to, as all "my" cases have been cancelled so I could be "deported", but G.M had to... A new judge has been officiating, who carries the naturalness of the deep spiritual heart of India; he said to everybody that it is for Indira to solve the problems, and not to worry; and everyone is formally released, under security...!

26-8-1980, Auroville:

I wake up weeping, quietly, in a semi-trance, from too vivid a dream: there is a whole group of us, in a street; I can't bear the atmosphere and I start behaving very roughly, brutally, pushing and shoving people aside, till they all get offended and demand an explanation; and I realise that those I was angry with are those who do not respect their own beauty, who are not harmonious; it deepens, and I know then that it was out of love for each of them: I wanted each of them to be beautiful and whole, I want it so much...

... I take V with me down to Pondy; lately I have seen that she is going to need more of my support in the coming weeks...

At the FRO today there is some inquisitiveness: it seems that more "Quit Notices" have now come...

... I have concluded it is alright for me to purchase this new motor-cycle – Pat and H, whose bike I have been using, are soon to return, and I am going to need one if I continue with the Visas work... However this is not the kind or "reality" I wish to contribute to – each one having their "own" bike... -, so I still want to wait for some sign of confirmation... from You!

27-8-1980, Auroville:

I am tired and confused, muddled with formations, with starts of acts that fail, with mental interpretations... And behind this, somewhere is inhuman silence... I don't know...

... "The Indian Express" has published a letter from Guru Prasad of the SAS ranting against us, and even against Kulkarni, referring to "free sex in Auroville" and quoting You as saying that we are all "living just like cats and dogs..."

... Edzart was arrested this morning and taken to the Villupuram Court: the Inspector Thomas had lured and trapped him in the Kottakuppam Station regarding his "Quit Notice"... I feel so bad that I had not guessed and warned him off, and I question myself: had he been closer to me, to "us", wouldn't have I guessed?

P.G keeps pressing for immediate action, but I need time to centre; yet I do go along with him. Everything feels too rushed and too constricted, as if a band of jackals was baying at us, there is no space to breathe... I feel that I should resign from this work, as I do not seem to have what it takes to operate well within that range of action...

... We decide that Pierre and also Lisa, who have both now got "Quit Notices", must stay in Pondy.

... I cannot believe that Auroville's existence may depend on just one phone-call at just the right moment, yet perhaps it does too?

... Marcia and I have to attend a meeting on the disbursement of some fund for Green work; I find it horrible: these people pecking on each other, mouths full of arguments, just to grab some rupees and plant some trees...

... P.G and I have a talk with K.T, whose view is that all 3 – Pierre, Lisa, Edzart – ought to surrender and trust the outcome, that no one will be actually deported... But there is a thin line between confidence and mere passivity...

28-8-1980, Auroville:

Arjun and PP have obtained from the SP in Cuddalore that he would put a stay on all arrests for the moment, but he in turn insisted that we must hurry things up in Delhi. Yus and P.M have been trying all day to get Edzart out on bail.

... "The Indian Express" has now published a letter from Udar, gentle and quite fine, coming to my rescue; and, alongside, another letter, from some Pondy fellow, quite ugly... It goes on...! An article has appeared in Delhi on Savitra's book... I find it all a little frightening, this approach to Auroville in the public mind through a whole set of false values...

... Annappa and Krishna have gone to tear apart an old abandoned hut on the beach and plan to bring the materials here for Annappa's new house...

29-8-1980, Auroville:

One of my dreams, last night, was filled with energy: a group of us in on a vehicle that is moving very fast; whether it is on water like a speed-boat, or on a straight road, isn't clear. We stand very close to one another while the thing moves on like an arrow. Then an incredibly powerful wind rises, a huge, terrific wind, that uproots entire banyan trees and drives them down the road, their roots and their branches hanging; and yet almost none of it touches our vehicle, it all just rushes the other way, over us; the vehicle moves on ahead at a steady pace, while all this fantastic energy, these huge trees propelled with it, are going DOWN the road, THE OTHER WAY...!

... Today is one of these days when it seems several days are happening simultaneously...

... Edzart was released yesterday evening – another "coincidence" – exactly on the day, at the hour, that we were all released, 3 years ago!

... When I bring their "Envelopes" money to V and C.E in the evening, I am struck by the expression on C.E's face: something vitally unhealthy...

... Tonight, returning from "Dana" I find, stuck in the door jamb – a silent present waiting for me -, a letter from Satprem!

He writes:

"Divakar, j'ai senti l'affection de ta lettre. Auroville est un long chemin, ce n'est pas une ville. Il y a des creux, des bosses, des oui, des non mais on y va. L'important c'est de marcher – pas d'avoir 'raison' (ni tort). Les raisons, à vrai dire, on s'en fout, et les torts aussi – ni les uns ni les autres ne mènent là. Quelles que soient les excellentes raisons contre M, je n'approuve pas les raisons – ce sont des histoires et des raisons de bigorneau ou de n'importe quoi sur deux pattes. Mais nous allons ailleurs, n'est-il pas vrai ? Je crois d'ailleurs que les torts aident beaucoup plus que les raisons à aller 'ailleurs', tout compte fait. Pouvez-vous lire le cœur de l'homme ? J'ai horreur des juges, dans n'importe quelle langue, et si par-dessus le marché ils se couvrent des prétentions de l'avenir, alors ils deviennent nauséux – flûte, passons la porte, oui, et quand nous serons de l'autre côté, nous comprendrons mieux... et nous ne jugerons plus rien du tout ! Nous verrons. En attendant, allons-y, sur cette longue route d'Auroville et nous ne sommes pas trop de tous les frères pour faire ce difficile chemin. C'est simple, non ! Moi, on m'a jugé, dé jugé, diabolisé et angélicisé, mais je marche, diable ou ange ou rien du tout, je marche et je marche et jusqu'à mon dernier souffle je prierai et crierai : Mâ. Mâ, un peu plus de vérité sur cette terre. C'est tout.

Je t'embrasse,
Satprem"

I read it, and remain immobile for a while, watching emotions, and past scenes.

Satprem is not an easy person... But I am grateful for the closeness, the tenderness, even though he has not addressed my questions, actually, and only emphasised something each of us ought to know well enough...!

... I have a glimpse of the sadhana, or tapasya, necessary to reach and to hold a state of awareness where, materially, there is no more the possibility of contradiction... This must be the path to real perfection: integral and total attunement to the Becoming...

... G.M rides in: he felt the need to clear some heaviness between or around us; he reads Satprem's letter...

30-8-1980, Auroville:

Mother, I want to say "thank You, thank You", again and again, to say my gratitude for all that is given me, for this possibility to express materially a little harmony, a little beauty...: this place, vibrant and poised...

... P.V comes to ask me to be a "witness" to an "action" he and D.P want to take to teach a lesson to Hervé; I refuse to be rushed into it. Instead, later, I go with Dennis to find Hervé and we all go to the spot of dissension, a beautiful place named "Source", which would need constructive energy; we watch the scene: brothers turned enemies, but there is also, now and then, a lot of humour seeping in...

... Some local crooked-minded man has purchased for Rs 3,000/- a plot of land that cuts across the road near to Vijay's, so that Vijay would have to buy it from him for Rs 5,000/-... What turns me off, more than the fact of these varied blood-suckers who clamp on every deficiency and every gap in our collective body, is that Vijay has already gone straight to the Inspector Thomas, after all what this man has done against us...! Dennis and I both shrug, wanting to give up any hope of collective discipline...

Because there is also always this possibility, with its own appeal, to let go, to let each logic or determinism follow its own processes till... each person becomes capable of contacting the real Harmony...? Something that has never really been tried...

In this compromise between chaos and a seeming order, there is fear and resistance; from this perspective, chaos is perceived or expected to be inevitably destructive. But, if this fear would be replaced by a more conscious trust, knowing that it would take a whole spiral before one could reach a new awareness and a new "order"...?

... Murthy has been remarkably stupid: instead of following our instructions, taking the "Forecomers" road, he has gone and got stuck at the Check-Post and all the cement has been intercepted; it is like an active interference, as if intentional...

... G.M and I look for presents for Marcia's birthday tomorrow – a powerful weaving from Assam for her new room...

31-8-1980, Auroville:

... That formidable distance that can "happen" between beings, people, in spite of and under appearances of communication...

... I walk back in the night: Matrimandir's light is there, alive in the darkness, centred in our midst, our core and silent sign of Truth...

1-9-1980, Auroville:

I do not want to age, Mother. I do not want any of my beloved ones to age.

I want each of us to grow, to progress, to re-create oneself endlessly, in awareness, in harmony, to become... Never to age, Mother!

I am putting away new albums in the book-case. I look through that old one where photographs of me at different ages since birth till now are kept; the change of appearance is striking in such a brief time-span, and this reminds me, with acuteness, of what I had to go through before I got hold of a central direction and began to collect my parts and unite them around the ... passage?, the work?...: all these beings and their possibilities and propensities...

... The work in "Dana" is progressing well, we are finishing the upper roof and we are also pruning all the trees around the house; there is good energy...

5-9-1980, Auroville:

There must be a tremendous increase of one's capacities to assimilate consciously the daily experience of this physical life, if most of it is not to go and feed subconscious layers, adding thus to the weight that pulls down towards the necessity of death... My bisexuality allows for a wider range of experience, in both an inner and in a psychological sense, and I have learnt and acquired a lot through it. But something is still missing, in the manifesting: the spark that fuses from the right relationship, the right balance, the right sharing... Wherever I turn and observe, I don't seem to find one example of someone who has walked Your path single...

There are those moments when I seem to understand, to begin to understand, where my "true place" is: to SEE and to love, wherever, whenever, however...

12-9-1980, Auroville:

It is the kind of "consciousness" with which we approach the needed changes, that is wrong and inadequate. And it is this very inadequacy that makes these changes to appear impossible.

I am quite certain now that there is, near at hand, available, an altogether other awareness that can allow us to make this step, undergo this change: to be freed from all patterns and formations...

... I believe that "falsehood" only occurs when people have persistently refused to examine themselves and their own motivations, assumptions and beliefs... This is a necessary effort that must proceed fairly constantly, and mental honesty is merely one result of it...

13-9-1980, Auroville:

This morning I go to help the teams at Matrimandir to carry sections of the new crane; there is a large group, disparate, and I feel blank and rather unrelated...

... Marcia and G.M are in Madras, as Marcia's brother is leaving, and I have to take care of "Dana"; I clean the entire place, put everything in order, calling for peace and clarity... Cl.B and M ride in on their horses and, with their coming, a kind of sexual and vital potential enters... The horses run away; we find them back in "Gaia"...

17-9-1980, Auroville:

18-9-1980, Auroville:

I want to be "alive" and to be "dead" at the same time, I want to exist beyond both, or where the two join, or where they both come from... This is becoming like a need: not to be "either" "or", not to be depending on this illusion...

... Diane has returned and she reports on her whole experience in Delhi at the meeting in "Tapoloka"; she is filled with it, there is sincerity there. Yesterday already she had come to see G.M and I and the 3 of us had gone together to the FRO; and I had felt more aware of her inner being than before.

19-9-1980, Auroville:

I have a kind of clear certitude that the actual key to this world's harmony is that each one must learn to find what one loves and follow that faithfully; that this the way for the truth of the world to be revealed... For everything, from the "smallest" detail to the largest "issue"... And this is an immense program!

... There is a fairly balanced, strong and healthy mutual attraction between Cl.B and I and today it felt like we were just about to make the step, but it would be for her more of a decision than for me...

I am learning, almost by the minute, how to disentangle the aspiration from all the negative pulls, bents and tendencies, to free it from all that turns it into a self-destructive thing... How to say? The same aspiration in its intensity, that can be a desperate suffocation, a yearning haunted with a terrible sense of impossibility, of hopelessness before a world that is basically unfit... can also be, and must be, simply, a Flame... But it is difficult and it requires a lot of courage...

24-9-1980, Auroville:

Noh runs in calling me. There is a freaked guy doing a number around the Camp, going about nearly naked uprooting young trees; he has been seen earlier in the beach area, probably drugged... No one at the Camp can figure what to do...

I go with her. And then, I have to follow it through!

I get upset at some of the reactions on display, though!

This is a confused fellow for sure, German or Austrian may be... He is crying now...

Oh! Where is that community of free and conscious beings whose mere presence would be a help!? I have to insist to get food, and soap, and I have to wash him up myself... Then it begins to rain; I end up taking the guy behind me on a bike, gesticulating while hanging on to me, all the way to Jipmer Hospital... What else to do? How ignorant, how separate we all are! What helpless distance there is between these innumerable solitudes...! And what purification is yet needed before one can become receptive, responsive...

... G.M was waiting for me here. Soon John H comes to ask us, more out of his own personal need for our friendship than for practical reasons, to come and help place the long arm of the crane on Matrimandir...

We go, climb up, and watch; the thing with Piero hasn't budged an inch but, somehow, G.M and I are different... It is not yet time for us to come back...

... I spend the evening working with the trees in "Dana", in an upheaval of energy as if fused, or melted with the living sap and the soil and the clouds and the damp air and the moon-rise... It is energy; we are energy, there is no segregation of "levels", just energy, each being responsible only for the coherence of what one must be and one's faithfulness to it...

25-9-1980, Auroville:

When I reach "Dana", late evening after serving the dinner at the Kitchen, I find that G.M, Marcia and Noh have been talking - playing with the idea - of G.M and Marcia going off to live in Brazil, and wondering how I would take it, how I would respond to G.M's leaving... I burst at them! How could they "wonder"? Don't they know? Is that a social game?

In the silence that follows, I ponder my role in all this over the recent months, my wanting for G.M to have his own place in Auroville, my giving of myself to it... Isn't this also an influence, even though it is "well-intentioned", just like any other influence? So, perhaps I ought to withdraw and let him work it out without interfering, be it in the most loving way...

27-9-1980, Auroville:

Tonight I find Noh waiting quietly for me. She tells me of the meeting with the SP and with the new Collector, who is a woman, determined to help Auroville in various ways, with cement permits, with land matters... Instructions have been issued to freeze all Court cases and stop all harassment against us...

4-10-1980, Auroville:

Noh has spent the night here with me. Even though there was no physical "fulfilment" as such, I saw that she felt happy and was at peace.

I get up at dawn, put on Monteverdi's music and go about my chores.

Pas soon comes, looking for her, trembling; I feel quiet tenderness for him and speak calmly to him, saying there is no exclusiveness, only friendship seeking for its expressions... I make coffee and the 3 of us sit together and it becomes tranquil.

... The "Horizon" group comes in the morning to "consult" with me about the difficulties they now have with P.V; I try to be available without getting influenced and to respond with a measure of clarity.

Later P.V himself comes to me; I tell him what I have said to them and he seems to accept it well, with a childlike sweetness that touches me... Whenever I get to feel a little bit useful, I am filled with respect for You...!

... This evening G.M, Marcia and I walk over to "Sharnga": it is B.B's birthday, there are lobsters and other sea foods; there is wine and beer... and the "friends"! I cannot fit very well, except individually, with P.G or with B.B himself. After a while I start to withdraw, trying to send signals to G.M that we should leave, Marcia also wanting to go; but I leave alone, finally, and walk back to Matrimandir across the fields, then home at midnight, and I fall fast asleep. At 2 am, G.M wakes me up, completely sick: he has vomited violently, with acute spasms, and has a splitting headache; he had a scene with Marcia, one of their dogs disappeared and then he couldn't find Marcia either...

So I go out in search of Marcia and Yappa the dog, followed by Nisha the other dog, and I find Marcia sitting near Matrimandir, quietly trying to recover, hurt by the selfish brutality G.M sometimes displays towards her...

I get them back to "Dana", as G.M is unable to drive, and soon we see the little Yappa, still a puppy really, running towards us in the field... And there we are, together, as if after some devastating storm, dazed and shaken, but there...

5-10-1980, Auroville:

J'observe que l'aspiration est plus comme un océan qui pousse de toutes parts pour se répandre et toucher que comme une flamme qui monte. Ça ne monte pas ; c'est plus comme un besoin, une prière vivante. Et, quand je ne suis pas assez calme et offert dans mes sentiments ou mes mouvements extérieurs, alors cela semble se fragmenter et l'intensité se divise en désirs, en désespoirs aussi...

La Force est là, toujours, mais je la perçois de plus en plus comme la présence même du réel...

10-10-1980, Auroville:

I have been wondering for some time, with a rather desperate sense of urgency, about meeting the woman who could make me whole and help me to manifest what I carry within. Is it wanted for me? Recently G.M said that I should remember Fabienne. And thus the question gathered itself with her as a symbol...

Knowing that she must still be here in the Ashram, living with Harit, I have sent her a message; but she has not answered. I know that for those who had known our couple, 10 years ago, whether in Auroville or in the Ashram, this remains vivid, unforgettable. Yet I had seen at the time that You had directed her to find her place independently of me and that whole dramatic web of scandal around both of us had had to be dissolved...

This question I offer to You: is there such a sharing awaiting me?

Only You know...

... There is a turning in our relations with the Government. Srivastav has come down from Delhi for a visit. I attended only one meeting here with him and his retinue; Diane, Cl.A, Arjun and a few others had already met him in Madras.

Today, after the "Envelopes" meeting, I mentioned to Diane, as gently as I could, that it was impractical, and hardly workable, to leave me uninformed of all recent developments in matters of visas, etc. She admitted at once that she had been very incorrect and was wholly to blame; yet she did not respond to any suggestion of a work session together...

I am thinking that perhaps I should drop both my "Visas" work and my "Envelopes" work and hand them over to people who are more related than I seem to be to the "collective", even though I have prayed and still pray to be utilised, to be of some service... But this cannot be just for me to feel a little useful...!

... Sometimes I sense what it can be when a soul, not finding what it seeks, or being too hampered, slowly and gradually comes to the choice of withdrawing, a kind of reversal process in which it begins to gather what it has assimilated out of this particular focus, and then an illness may occur, or an accident, and the body eventually lets go...

... I seem to be aware that somehow my "path" lies at this very edge, and there is in that position, or behind, or above it, a secret delight, the freedom from the agents that cause "death" or, rather, use up the physical substance, making "death" necessary...

... All these titles - "Aurovilian", "Tamil Aurovilian" etc - appear more and more absurd and misleading to me...!

11-10-1980, Auroville:

Tonight I'm happy, listening to Sunil's music and whistling along. Everything went wrong, nothing worked, the bike broke down, G.M's bike was not ready, there were missteps and delays and wasted time, nothing was done, yet it didn't matter: Marcia and I, shopping for G.M's birthday, did not go under...!

... Mother, You seem to be keeping me from doing quite a few silly things these days! Most times, I'm able to appreciate the humour of that guard!

But... the sexual need particularly, is too raw, and I can't deal with it consciously enough; it is often too close to getting unhealthy...

12-10-1980, Auroville:

In the work, in the action, I am still unable to discern precisely between what would be mere inertia and an actual indication not to move. One must still follow the reason's rule, and that is also the measure of the distance to a viable "divine anarchy"...

13-10-1980, Auroville:

I seem to have gone in so many directions in this life. If I may find a Sense in all that, it is one of loosing, of letting go of one's personal structure, and merging into a gaze, a presence, unbound and yet, whenever possible, full and complete and unique...

... I met Fabienne today in the Ashram; it was direct and dear; with her smile, her eyes, her expressions, she listened; nothing was closed. But Harit was hovering and worried, knowing this was of importance to her as well... I cannot intrude into another person's life that way! I cannot for the sake of my own "path" and need, break another's path, deprive another person of the answer to his need!

So I wrote back to them both, gently and in trust...

This is strange, with the fragrance of a long, old story, even though some of the roles may have shifted; but its validity has grown in another way, a new way...

... There was tranquillity today; tensions were dissolved. Something like pride has fallen off me.

14-10-1980, Auroville:

Marcia and I packed all the presents for G.M here and drove to "Dana" loaded like donkeys and arranged it all in his new room...

I spend the afternoon preparing a hot rum punch on a wood fire outside; I leave in the evening before too many of G.M's friends arrive...

15-10-1980, Auroville:

Events in time and space may, if apprehended rightly and from one's true centre, help one to deepen one's awareness... but they do not help automatically! And a belief to the contrary is a self-delusion.

It is not because one has lived 10 years in Auroville, or 20 in the Ashram, that one is closer to You!

... Noh comes and spends much of the day here, resting and reading and listening to music and sitting in the garden and she seems to be happy, to draw comfort from it; and that is ironical: I'd have thought that, in my present state, I'd be the last person to be happy with!

...The Iraq-Iran war goes on; heavy destruction has already taken place.

... Harit has sent me a reply, also signed by Fabienne: a steel wall, the keeper of her prison; but she is possibly content, there...

23-10-1980, Auroville:

G.M and I drive down to Pondy to pick up the new Yezdi.

I drive it back. G.M is pressing me to be happy about it, but I am strained like a bow; I need to find my way to offer it...

... I am late to start preparing the dinner at the Kitchen; Noh is unnatural, too sweet, "instructing" me as to what I should cook... I give up and leave...

25-10-1980, Auroville:

There are hours when the harmony is so powerful and I want so intensely to offer it to You, so that You take delight in it... In this harmony that pervades here, there is an answer... The gratitude is sometimes such that it makes me sense, as if physically, the limits of my being: it rises, it is adoration, recognition, and a kind of ecstasy; it is also the essence of sharing: this beauty in Matter, this living beauty...

... Yesterday Jacq fell backwards from a ladder; today we have to get the jeep to carry her down to Dr. Sen's in Pondy...

... When we return, Marcia receives us in tears: Yappa the dog has just died, all of a sudden: she had screamed, fallen and died! This dog has been such a gift, such a presence... We bury her in the garden of "Dana";

... This morning, Auroson broke his arm, a nasty fracture...

28-10-1980, Auroville:

I believe that what we must do, ought to do, is to gather a momentum in ourselves – unified aspiration? - so that we may pass across the threshold, and so that Matrimandir can actually be the link between the condition we are in and the state we must reach, breaking through the stuff of formations that divide us... Until then we remain on the wrong side of an opacity...

... It is in the newspapers that all the documents hidden by the SAS have been seized by the CBI, documents that show the unofficial transactions and the mishandling of donated funds... Perhaps at last the needed energies will be able to come to Matrimandir directly?

1-11-1980, Auroville:

It is sheer joy to read Your Agenda – Volume 6... I laugh so happily!

Today is Deepawali. I drift with fever all day.

7-11-1980, Auroville:

I am given everything, constantly; I am surrounded with beauty, there is friendship, there is grace, and I just don't know how to live, as if I am un-able to live...! And I feel disgust and shame at the heaviness I have imposed on others...

I resolve to make it a discipline not to express this helplessness in my relationships, not to burden anyone with it...

8-11-1980, Auroville:

V's delivery time is approaching; it ought to be within a few days, and she is anxious: her body is so small and she is nearly forty... She doesn't find C.E attentive enough; she brought me the book by F. Leboyer "Naissance sans Violence" so that I read it now, as she wants me to be her helper at the birth...

... There is news in the papers of a Central Government's sanction to the separation of Auroville from the SAS, which must appear before the Parliament, from the 17th on!

9-11-1980, Auroville:

V's labour began last night, but C.E wouldn't call anyone; she had a terrible time of it... Early this morning, both Hilde and Myr were called, and finally petit G. came to get me...

10-11-1980, Auroville:

V's baby daughter was born at 5 am.

Myr, Hilde and I were with her since yesterday morning. C.E was all closed up till the last few hours. Only then did he begin to share in.

It has been terribly long but V has been wonderful.

I learnt a lot.

And somehow a strange lesson was given: that calling for help, by and of itself, is of no use, there is no answer! One can only find the Divine by... being the Divine!

Or: putting oneself up, or forward as a vehicle and letting the Divine be...

I don't know how to say... It started to ease up only when I finally told V to stand up, get hold of the rafters of the keel roof above her, hang on, and push... Then it went well...!

11-11-1980, Auroville:

Today the FRO Officer tells me all he knows about the Government's Ordinance for a Take-over of Auroville, and of the SAS's Injunction against it...

... I feel distant, remote, and incompetent to judge anything, even to feel!

... V and C.E's baby girl is still unquiet, as if still under the tremendous tension of this very long delivery; C.E has suggested that I take his place near V for a while, but I don't think that would be right...

12-11-1980, Auroville:

It is as if all these years of unease were now gathered in one single knot... I can't see ahead; I can't get any enthusiasm. Even this "freedom of Auroville" leaves me nauseous...!

... Today Sujata came to meet us all, on behalf of Satprem, regarding the Government's take-over of Auroville; it happens in "Tapoloka": I cannot identify with the words, or with the surface of these events; but it is something to be in the presence of someone of such quality.

13-11-1980, Auroville:

Auroville is free!

Karthikeyan was officially sent, this afternoon, to tell us.

And to order the SAS to hand over all "properties" to the Central Government of India.

And today is exactly 7 years since I came back to India!

Auroville must be the bridge You have wanted, Mother!

India must fulfil her mission in the world!

15-11-1980, Auroville:

I am unable to identify one single direction that would be free of death. I am good for nothing; I believe in nothing; I am sterile and uncreative, adrift on the surface of life without the keys to a conscious passage, no longer a man and yet craving still for a caress to give and to receive...

16-11-1980, Auroville:

C.E comes to fetch me this evening: V is unwell and Myr is growing anxious over her; I go with him and stay with them till late, looking after them, massaging V, helping C.E to set up his daily routine, comforting Myr and sending the baby to sleep, and somehow my body feels all the happier for it...!

17-11-1980, Auroville:

I have found the name for the baby girl...: "Jayaura"!

But I don't know yet whether V and C.E will welcome it!

... Today we have a general meeting with the new "Administrator"...

... Oh! To become one with the Need, of the fullness of the being, of the Presence, of That... To turn to that Need, more and more: this seems to be the sole activity that makes sense at every moment and in every circumstance... Not a need for one's little self, or for the others, not a need either for any "salvation" or "liberation", but... a need for THAT TO BE, for That to govern, and to fill our emptiness...

19-11-1980, Auroville:

The situation is far from settled.

The new Administrator was obviously not prepared for the scene here, and he is falling prey to all these "sincere and devoted smiles" delegated to him by the SAS or the SSJ's group. Meanwhile, on "our side", all kinds of secret and "confidential" messages go back and forth between Satprem, Fred and others: all the old competition, as if the past thrived on...!

... Hypocrisy, dishonesty, disguise and self-justification, like an ink thrown into the water, and all in the name of spirituality...: better the self-respect and dignity of an "ordinary man"!

... Today I dry the house with a charcoal burner and cleanse it with frankincense and sambrani...

20-11-1980, Auroville:

The house in "Dana" is finished; C's house here is also nearly completed. So, G.M and I have returned to work at Matrimandir this morning...

... This afternoon at the general meeting things become a little clearer when Diane and Cl.A, who have been following the Administrator since he came, tell us how they have finally managed to settle him in Aster's house, out of the clutches of the Pondy crowd... Diane brings to this a simple sense of being like a large family, and of solidarity...

A list of names is drawn and agreed upon, to form the body of the Coop that will relate directly to the Administrator and be his main contact to Auroville: Diane, Fred, Cl.A, Arjun, Savitra, Myrtle and I... P.G had earlier proposed that anyone could object to any of the names suggested without having to give an explanation; in this fashion, G.M objected to the name of D.W, and Cristo objected to those of M.T and Piero...

... I had been daily baby-sitting, but yesterday and today I couldn't get the time; tonight I find V very depressed and worried, as she is not producing enough milk; we have to rebuild her confidence...

... When I come home, I find Yel asleep in the big room, waiting for me; his body is half-bare, abandoned... I kneel beside him and hold him and he wakes up and remains in my arms, shy, unsure and wanting; I give him pleasure; it is a risk, but I choose to trust him, and I do need at least one such open possibility in the daily life... I have a sex, and no morals! But I love You, and I need the Truth of this world: His Truth, His world – not the one of bigotry, pretence and selfish calculation... I need Him, concrete and manifest...!

Yel is dear to me, and desire has been a long time between us, and today it began to happen; I hadn't planned it, it was given...

Today, 7 years and one day after Your body was interred in Sri Aurobindo's Samadhi, the Central Government appointed Administrator, Justice Nigam, officially went to Bharat Nivas and put the locks on it...

The precision of it all!

The force of Your purity, Mother!

We are so very blessed to have been made your children...!

22-11-1980, Auroville:

Nigam has officially handed over the care of Bharat Nivas to Piero, as the Engineer of Auroville... The irony!

... I am... a man, a human being, borne on the breath of a Reality that ever seeks to manifest the Unmanifest, completing itself, undoing and recreating and fulfilling itself ever more, freeing itself from its own, self-created illusions into ever more directness, richness and plenitude of experience...

24-11-1980, Auroville:

After more than a year, we have a concreting at Matrimandir!

The people of "Aspiration" arrive in the bus that Nigam has recovered from the SAS!

G.M and I resume our familiar positions, he at the vibrator and I at the mixer.

It lasts the entire day.

... V is not well and she is getting more afraid; there seems to be some infection in her uterus. C.E's attitude is no help. I ride over to Kam T's to get some medicine and ask her to come by tomorrow morning...

... I am so... un-conscious, and it is consciousness that's needed! I can only try and call Your attention!!!

25-11-1980, Auroville:

The SAS has filed an Injunction in the Supreme Court of Calcutta against the Government's interference in the conduct of a "religious institution"...!

In doing so they are only exposing themselves further, this being such a weak argument in the light of Sri Aurobindo's Works!

But until its verdict, it seems the Court must impose a status quo and that Nigam cannot take over more than what he has already done...

26-11-1980, Auroville:

Fred has returned from Delhi in a rush, to have us all sign of Power of Affidavit authorising a lawyer to represent us at the Supreme Court.

The SAS claims to stand for the Ashram as well, and for all the sadhaks and devotees!

So, the fight has now shifted to that level! Is Your and Sri Aurobindo's action the basis of a religion?!!!

We have all felt a calm, a meaningful calm... This is a thing so vast and so central!

... About 240 of us, adults, signed the formal paper which Fred has now taken back to Delhi...

27-11-1980, Auroville:

Nigam's assistant, Ojha, has arrived yesterday. We finally found him a room in Fred's house, with Oma's agreement...

29-11-1980, Auroville:

G.M and I have been plastering the inside of the hollow beam on the structure, cold and wet, but happy enough!

... Ulrich came to see the hut here, which A has recently vacated; he came with his friend Alex who donated a big amount to the "Envelopes"; I like Ulrich's solid quietness, his gentleness...

... Arjun and Savitra drove us to hilarity with their report of their attendance of Ojha, his habits and queer demands... Arjun is to go to Delhi in a few days, and so is Diane; that will leave only a few of us for the Coop work here, with Barbara helping us with the secretarial work...

The SAS is making moves; Joss is organising some sort of seminar at Pitchandikulam...

30-11-1980, Auroville:

We are in a trough, I suppose, waiting... waiting for that joyful certitude to rise again and take us to the shore of Auroville...

... Bhaga came to talk to me about a formulation she feels is needed to welcome new energies, new people to Auroville, combining messages and statements of Yours with responses that have evolved and matured in Auroville over the years...

... John H is staying at Pala's during her absence; I felt he was having a hard time and went to see him alone; he let go and wept and wept, quietly opening up: it has to do with Jacq... I feel it is time for him to move out of the Camp and make his own place... I invited him for dinner here; I'm happy to be a friend and support for him, he is such a treasure...!

1-12-1980, Auroville:

Early this morning John H comes to say that he woke up in the night feeling happy and relieved... Whenever I find that I have been of some help, I place it religiously at Your feet: Mother, it is Yours!

... At Matrimandir this morning, G.M and I have to deal with C.Sch, who is an ardent follower of SSJ; this is quite a figure, far from an ordinary being, a very interesting individual, but obviously prone to a kind of blind exclusivism... He has gone to Delhi with Manju to meet Indira and show her Your hand-written statement appointing SSJ as sole responsible for Auroville affairs, in 1973... I liked what G.M expressed, out of his guts, his love for You, and I saw that the man had to respect it. I showed him around for a while and talked to him too, while Manju waited...

... Bill S has repeatedly insisted that I must attend a meeting on the Gardens this afternoon... I do; and seeing that there is a possibility of agreement on a few basic works, I stay on, and talk a little: the fencing, and the marking of the entire area with trees can proceed, and some of F.Gr's ideas can be implemented...

... Arjun comes to fetch me for a work session with Ojha...

2-12-1980, Auroville:

There is more and more often a discrepancy, uneasy, puzzling and uncomfortable, between the awareness one is given individually, the perceiving that could develop in oneself, and the grounds on which one has to move, work and act, according to the limitations of the collective. There is the sense of a compromise...

Whenever one may contemplate a little the very Fact of You, words drop like old leaves, and almost everything seems to be... besides the point!

3-12-1980, Auroville:

The Bill has been passed in the Lok Sabha, and is to go through the Raja Sabha any moment...

... P.G comes to tell me of the confusion over Ojha's housing, and that Myrtle, seeing the situation – and that Ojha might decide to move to Pondy -, has offered her house; but she is not clear where she and her two daughters might move for the duration... Without thinking, I say that Myrtle might find the house where I live an acceptable solution... P.G goes right away to Myrtle's and soon returns, happy: she and the girls, Aurienne and Durgaura, are enthusiastic...! So, just in an instant, what I could never have conceived of – to move out of this blessed place -, has happened!

I know it is temporary, but it still comes as a jolt!

G.M and Marcia are positive that I must come and live with them in "Dana"... But I know myself and I have made up my mind: I will stay in C's new room, and only take my meals in "Dana"; for one thing I do not want to spoil the balance and harmony of our relationship; for another I am needed here, this is my place on earth, and Myrtle will also feel more secure if I remain close by...

I feel a little like an uprooted tree...!

4-12-1980, Auroville:

One of these nasty nightmares last night: Noh or, at any rate her face, her name and some of her vibrations were used, is talking lies with Chris G, agreeing with him the same way she agrees with us, apparently insensitive to the distance between his commitment and ours; I tell her directly that she has no faithfulness; she at once becomes hard as a metal robot; she stands up enraged and pinches my leg on two spots and pulls, pulls, whispering with some hypnotic power that I shall die from it... The pain is acute and I feel the blood getting blocked and about to burst through the veins... And again I do not even "think" of calling You, I just shout "No!" on and on, till the shout itself wakes me up...!

Deepti and I spend most of today guiding the lady Collector around, under the rain... This is a dynamic lady, with a mind to support Auroville, and also to get us to collaborate in various training programs...

5-12-1980, Auroville:

I am still cleaning the house early this morning when Ojha just walks in, all by himself! I like the man; he is strikingly perceptive, and he carries with him some of that India I cherish and respect...

... A whole drama has been going on again with Narayana and Bhavani; this time it involves Piero, and his rigid principles; however much everyone has tried to ease and soothe it, Piero is not facing it – he never seems to do so! It is hard for me to support him in that sense, Mother! He never gives way...!

... There is a joy when one keeps trying to find the truest response to a difficulty, and there is that taste of ashes when sincerity is not there...

... Hervé rides in this afternoon, all upset, his face swollen and bruised, and his glasses shattered: he's just been ambushed and beaten up at his place by three villagers...

6-12-1980, Auroville:

A crisp, sunny morning: the cow at "Dana" has delivered a she-calf, so easily! We are all beaming with it: so simple!

... Today is my "last" day in this house for some time, as You will...

And, before You, to the soul of this place I offer my gratitude and my faithful and loving commitment...

9-12-1980, Auroville:

Saraswati and D.S's baby boy is born this afternoon...

11-12-1980, Auroville:

Returning early afternoon from work, I find that poor Danny, instructed by Piero and F.Gr, has set his men to dig marker pits right across the garden of "Sincerity", following some secret decision taken by them to modify and extend the radius of the central "Peace" area by 50 meters! About 50 pits are already dug. I get angry, in a sort of cool and firm way, and have the men refill those pits at once, having first sent away Danny's workers...

12-12-1980, Auroville:

These days, due to the different functions I am identified with, I am made to meet with a lot of people and to come in contact with more aspects and perspectives, and it is interesting. And You Know I am always grateful when I can be of some service; at the same time, there is this gently ironic look, as if from within, that prevents me from taking myself too seriously; it is keeping a discreet watch, and it makes me feel safe...!

13-12-1980, Auroville:

G.M accompanies me to Cuddalore today: he has to try and get his bike' papers, and I have to meet with the Collector: I have a whole list of topics to see with her; she is supportive and efficient, in her slightly dumb and enthusiastic manner, ordering her staff about like sheep, fixing appointments with her officers...

When we return, I am burning with fever...

... Our team in Delhi has met Indira yesterday, and held a Press conference afterwards...

20-12-1980, Auroville:

Since Diane has come back from Delhi, it is becoming obvious that we are both considering entering into a more intimate relationship. But as we both value the friendship and team spirit already established between us, neither of us wants to push it; I also want to be sure that this would not make a drama with Jean and feed more formations and stories...

And today a letter from Pnina has arrived, announcing her return in two months' time – which is bound to mean something in my life here...

23-12-1980, Auroville:

The whole day in Madras, with G.M and Marcia: the dentist (my teeth are a disaster area and I don't know what can be done about it here), the meeting with the Director of Industry and Commerce for our Cement Permit, the meeting with the FRO main Officer, Manoharan... it all goes well. Then we see Nigam off at the airport, and return in his car.

25-12-1980, Auroville:

There has been some upset in the team at Matrimandir, following Piero's hiring of carpenters without consulting with any one of us – with his usual reasonable arguments to cover his inability to answer the need of the moment and his continued refusal or incapacity to share, to let go, to work with... Upset too with K.T and Fred's urgings, at the general meeting, for us to conform to the expectations and to fit with the image they are busy projecting of our collective existence, too moralistic, as if promoting a brand of hypocrisy, thus interfering in the work we have to do together here...

But more and more I feel the need for balance and proportion; it is so easy to loose this sense, which is yet so indispensable and must always evolve...

... I do believe that the Lord expects us to be transparent and honest at all times and never to pretend...

... I want to grow ever younger, truer and fuller!

... This morning at Matrimandir Kiran brought toys for G.M and flowers for me, as her Christmas presents!

26-12-1980, Auroville:

This morning G.M had to go to work ahead of me, as I still had to collect the monies for the "Envelopes". When I go to join him on the structure, I find him sitting with GI, looking quite lost. I feel distinctly uneasy, but keep quiet...

It is only much later, when we are in "Dana", that he can tell me of her words, of her attack against me: she, my friend, whom I love so dearly, is now feeding the same formations about me, as if she deliberately and purposely wanted to destroy the friendship between G.M and me, separate him from me...

It takes the two of us the rest of the day to work through this, wondering, wondering... And now we are both thinking that perhaps we must withdraw again from Matrimandir...

I know that in us too there is sometimes this careless indulging in giving life and reality to formations circulating about others; I know there is still this kind of dishonesty in each of us, and that it is thus we ourselves lay the obstacles in the path of our own progress...

... Fred and Savitra have formed a team with Sanjeev A, the lawyer friend from Delhi, to work at the presentation we will need to make at the Supreme Court, as we are now impleaded as a third party...

... Tonight C.E. comes to pick up the money for "Existence", as I had no time to get there this evening. But it was for both of us a pretext: we have both missed each other, this free and trusting tenderness abandoned and direct...

... In her "speech" to G.M today, GI called me "a snake" and reminded him that he himself had called me that once, years ago, in a moment of anger or frustration... I now suspect that what people sometimes, when touched, semi-consciously interpret that way, is my innate capacity to reach directly for the intimate being and ask for an unreserved response, while outwardly I do not even try to conform to the accepted norms of "communication" and social interchange... I am aware now of the dangers, insofar as I am still weak or exclusive, but I believe there is a truth in this, even though it may not easily be accepted in this world as yet...

... I love this path, Mother; I love the completeness it leads to...

27-12-1980, Auroville:

Many of us have gathered here this evening to listen to the 2 ½ hours long interview of Satprem. The energy is clear and joyful.

Today is Aurienne's birthday party, and soon the entire garden is littered with sweets wrappings... I cannot manage to accept the ways of certain children; I have no patience with them or any desire to be close to them...!

... This afternoon Diane and I have to ride over to "Utility" to see the situation there; we meet with St, a British guy, and Nerguez and Clair; it is interesting, and I like the way Diane and I complement one another and can thus convey better some of the spirit of the way...

29-12-1980, Auroville:

Myrtle is thinking to move to the Centre Guest House as its caretaker, as R has recently asked her to replace him there. This would seem to suit her needs both for constant activity and sufficient comfort for her and the kids. She spends more time with me now that she is here, and we trust each other in a quiet and straight way; and there is also the possibility of a physical expression... But this is all so humorous! Either I find myself alone with no relationship that could include the physical dimension of nearness and sharing, or else there are several such at the same time, and it all becomes so embarrassing: the practical limitations forcing to "choose", when in actual psychological terms, each relationship counts and matters as much, each being unique, irreplaceable and invaluable... I find that most of these "choices" we make in life are not truly based, but are responses to rigid patterns and conventions...

30-12-1980, Auroville:

We have to complete the text for the Affidavit in a hurry, and see Savitra, Alex and Sanjeev off to Delhi this evening...

31-12-1980, Auroville:

Myrtle and I have to go back and work with Ojha after dinner; I like this man's company, and this quaint quality of quiet and wakeful strength that emanates from him...

... Back here Myrtle stays a long time with me; we have tea, talk and are silent, aware that this relationship is about to enter a new stage; she says she loves me and has loved me for long; knowing her, I can only respect her words... It doesn't involve sexuality as yet; it is straight and considerate and sweet at the same time, and it has its own atmosphere...

Myrtle is packing up to move over to the Guest House. As the children have gone to Bangalore with Pala, she is free this evening to come to me and stay. We meet, quietly. I have wanted this experience to be for her a bringer of wholeness, of reconciliation with herself, before You...

I have come back to the house!

I have for the moment left all the papers and office work in C's room.

... GI's intervention against me has affected and hurt me more than I could know and offer, more than I thought at the time... And now I think I shall not go to Matrimandir for a while and let G.M be joined there by his friends – and so perhaps this is the start of a new phase?

6-1-1981, Auroville:

The Supreme Court has postponed our case: it is now N° 6, due either in February or in April... It does not come as a surprise: a breakthrough there ought to correspond to one here, and... we are stuck!

Fred has instructed Diane that Ruud, Toine and Piero should pursue a contact with MGR in Madras...; there is an element of spite or contempt in Fred's attitude towards our "gropings"...

... I am still distressed by the attack made by GI on my friendship with G.M, and by his own passivity. He goes to Matrimandir without me now; we can hardly share...

7-1-1981, Auroville:

Today has been a festival of light and pure air, cool and clean and dancing...

... Half our Coop team is in Delhi and I am left with three women – Myrtle, Diane and Barbara -: it is definitely ironic!

... Tonight V comes to get me: C.E has been vomiting for days and is now very weak. I go there before my night-watch with Myrtle: he is relieved and comforted... I "diagnose" jaundice!

8-1-1981, Auroville:

Satprem has also become a party at the Supreme Court. I am quite happy about that...

Diane and I went to visit with AB Patel in the Ashram. We had to let him sign some documents and we also wanted to ask his help for fund-raising... To think that he is the only individual there who could stand up and publicly state that Your and Sri Aurobindo's Work IS NOT A RELIGION...!

I sit on the 7th floor of a concrete building before the darkening sky, above the noise and the dirt of this man-made creation, in a hotel room. I have an appointment with the dentist tomorrow morning...

I have a late dinner at Connemara Hotel with Jean. We see both Navajata and Kishorilal in the hall, but they don't see us: Jean is very talkative but, eventually, we seem to find there is a possibility of mutuality and are both happy about it. We part in the street at midnight...

20-1-1981, Madras:

Illusion, vulnerability, disintegration, death... the hollow madness, the corruption... the "impersonal Will"... the learning...: groping for truth in that huge tangle of snares, this perverted substance, this mass of contradictions... revolt, irony, desperation, humour... the same need that cannot find where to settle in this human, tricked substance...

... Diane and I spend a long time in Fort St Georges...

... Narayana came with Baby for her passport but, out of fear, she didn't bring her college papers as I had instructed her, so it is a waste of time...

... Diane accompanied me to the dentist: he pulled out the worst two... She stayed the night in my hotel room; there is this mutual attraction, but she is Jean's wife and I respect her choice to stand by that continued commitment.

... I had a nightmare, followed by an incredible series of dreams, at different levels; the atmosphere of this city feels so... insecure!

But things worked out: we got clearance for the cement. We met Chakrapani also, the architect of the Bharat Nivas: this man has loved You and been badly hurt by these rotten people...

23-1-1981, Auroville:

Diane has begun to come regularly to "Dana" and share our meals there, so there are now four of us. Myrtle has been upset, unsure about the status of our relationship; she says that Piero has been attacking me heavily these past few days

24-1-1981, Auroville:

I can't stand this hypocrisy, this artificiality, and these images that some of us have broadcast of what we are all "doing" in Auroville, this pretence... Diane feels the same; we keep bothering everybody, undoing these formations whenever we can...

... Diane and I meet the Post-Office top man, a pleasant fellow, about creating a full "branch" at "Aspiration"...

I am trapped again in-between... I don't like exclusiveness, I don't like jealousy: each person is unique, there are no two contacts alike, there are no two relationships alike...

Myrtle est venue ; elle m'a communiqué son souhait de vivre avec moi. Elle est très impérieuse dans son expérience de notre relation, mais elle ressent aussi un peu de ce que je suis vraiment ; elle a cette intuition...

Il y a simultanément cette possibilité qui se développe avec Diane, où je me sens plus libre ; et pourtant, elle a sa vie, ses enfants, son « foyer »... Ce n'est certainement pas simple !

... Je ne peux pas dormir : je pars avant l'aube vers Matrimandir, et vais m'asseoir à l'amphithéâtre ; Myrtle s'est levée aussi et m'y rejoint...

Il n'y a rien à dire : mais être, être... Et que tout ce qui imite et prétend rencontre ses propres conséquences... C'est tout.

11-2-1981, Auroville:

This morning Diane and I prepare and print the AV Notes at "Pour Tous", and this afternoon we have our Coop meeting in the house here, till evening – Myrtle, Cl.A, Arjun, Diane, Barbara and I, and Prem and Yus... There is a number of topics, as most times; and we find that there is a growing number of instances where there occurs a betrayal of the spirit of Auroville, from small, "insignificant" details (habitual reflexes and practices), to choices that have consequences on many levels... And we have yet to learn the "trick" of communicating directly, adjusting or correcting as if within one being and substance, through the contagious force of the experience...

... Diane is thinking of going "to the mountain", to see Satprem; I am tempted to drive her over and spend a few days there, with her...

12-2-1981, Auroville:

At the general meeting today there is a strong opposition to Tanmaya; it is hard, but revealing... It is not easy for him, but I trust You are taking care of him and seeing to it that he benefits from the experience...

... Tonight, after our dinner at "Dana", Diane is divided as to whether to stay with me here or to leave...; she goes into an intricate exercise of formulation, and then she leaves...! And, later in the night, while asleep, I get stung by a scorpion...!

13-2-1981, Auroville:

It is about 2 am when I walk over to the Camp to ask for the black stone; by then the venom has already travelled to near the heart, as I hesitated a long time before I decided to do something about it! Jacq makes a small cut and applies the stone and she, Noh and Yann keep me company till the poison is drawn back...

14-2-1981, Auroville:

On impulse I write to Satprem regarding Tanmaya. I have been feeling a certain responsibility towards him, and I want this matter to be seen clearly and dispassionately...

... Another long Coop meeting at home here...; the hardest issue today is that of "Hexiade" and other such US funding agencies: P.L refuses to acknowledge, or even see, how perverted this thing of "Hexiade" is...

Satprem has sent a message commenting on our presentations for the IAC: basically that we should not throw at them too many technicalities but try and interest them in a living way; this is fine, but these very "technicalities" were only introduced because we were told they should be! So now, these reports will be reserved for the use of the Government itself – which is anyway a positive step.

... Diane stays behind, after everyone has left. She becomes nearly paralysed with her dilemma: to go "home" or to respond to the pull between us, and having then to face the drama that is likely to ensue... What is more important to me is to not lose the quality of our contact...

It is midnight when she makes the decision to stay... I arrange the room upstairs for us; we have our bath; and gently, we meet...

15-2-1981, Auroville:

Diane left at 8.30 am, and I have no more sign of her the entire day. It makes me feel as if I am standing on the other side of some transparent wall...

I am not aware of "wanting" anything for myself there; it doesn't really matter in that sense; but I wish only to be able to follow as truly as I can whatever experience is given me to live, at any time and in any way... All the rest seems to me only time-built and mind-constructed parts of the mechanics of ageing and dying – not the real life...!

16-2-1981, Auroville:

Since Ojha's wife has come to join him here, the work with him, which used to be joyful, has become unpleasant and tedious; he is only half-awake at the best of times, and complains a lot...

18-1-1981, Auroville:

Today I have received Satprem's answer to my letter.

He writes:

« Divakar, le 'problème de communication' c'est vraiment pour que vous trouviez la communication intérieure ! Auroville doit apprendre à trouver ses solutions. C'est d'ailleurs pourquoi je n'ai rien à dire au sujet de Tanmaya – à vous de sentir ce qui est droit ou ne l'est pas. Je ne sais pas ce qui s'est passé au sujet de ma lettre 'lue à la Coopérative', mais je ne pense pas, évidemment, écrire à tout Auroville, il y a trop d'ennemis encore et de mauvaises volontés qui s'empareraient de mes lettres à leurs fins tordues. Les esprits doivent s'éclaircir, alors tout sera clair. (Ta lettre n'est pas si claire !) Je suis avec toi, toujours et très affectueusement. Satprem. PS : Au fond, est-ce que l'entrée de T. à Auroville était simple ? C'est un bon critère. »

... Nous avons envoyé un télégramme à la Ministre Bulgare de l'Education, qui est membre de l'IAC – Satprem m'avait parlé d'elle dans sa lettre précédente, où il écrivait :

« 10-2-81. Divakar. Juste quelques lignes en hâte. Il y a beaucoup à faire. J'ai lu ce long document. Il me semble peut-être adapté au Gouvernement de l'Inde ou à l'administration d'Auroville, mais pas du tout au Council International auquel il s'adresse. Mettez-vous deux minutes dans la peau du Ministre Bulgare ou du directeur Africain de l'UNESCO ou du représentant Américain débarqué de New York, qu'est-ce que cela signifie pour eux ces histoires techniques de terrain, de passeport, de ceci et cela. Ça ne les intéressera pas du tout. Toute cette phraséologie technique et bureaucratique, excellente pour l'Inde et pour « ceux qui savent », va leur tomber sur la tête comme un assommoir. Il faut les intéresser. Leur dire en quoi cet Auroville intéresse leur pays et leur demander des choses que, eux, ils peuvent faire. En quoi cela intéresse la Bulgarie, l'Afrique, l'Amérique – et qu'est-ce que ces gens peuvent faire pratiquement ? On peut leur dire en 10 lignes comment ils peuvent protéger Auroville, et de quoi. Puis en 10 lignes leur dire en quoi ils peuvent participer à cette expérience et pourquoi. Je pense notamment à la construction des « Pavillons » et à des équipes d'étudiants de chaque pays... ! Fraternellement, Satprem. »

... We had an even longer Coop meeting here today; and besides our team, several others attended and participated on different subjects: M.T, Rod, Joan and Deepti; a team of film-makers also came; and a Dutch couple who are publishing Your and Satprem's books. The letter to the Council which I have prepared following Satprem's advice was read out, and everybody liked it...

... After our dinner at "Dana", Diane stayed here with me till late – we did some work; we met, learning to find our balance. Then I had to go for my night-watch at Matrimandir... I thought I'd be tired, but I went on working, and also wrote back to Satprem, enclosing a copy of the letter to the Council...

20-2-1981, Auroville:

Today I had twice the occasion to go to "Jaïma" for some work with Diane, and Jean was there; and again in the evening, the 3 of us had to work together with Ojha, and I drive them both home afterwards, and it was an opportunity for Jean to let go of whatever trend of jealousy he had been tuned into lately...

... This is a beautiful time, reach in learning and I receive it with gratitude...

22-2-1981, Auroville:

There is an atmosphere of secrecy again, which I find repellent, around the coming visit of the Bulgarian Minister, and her gift to Auroville of a thousand roses! Arjun and Cl.A wanted to have a meeting about it, but I had planned to do some pruning work at "Dana" and I also didn't feel enough interest; I just asked them to see what I could do to help, and to let me know...

... I have been reading "Shibumi", and it has mingled powerfully with the days here...

23-2-1981, Auroville:

Myrtle has not been keeping well, physically and morally. I try every day to let her feel that our friendship is enduring... But her health is not good...

24-2-1981, Auroville:

Diane, Arjun, Cl.A and K.T are to go and receive Ludmilla Zhivkova and Kireet at the airport, this afternoon...

... Satprem has written us again about the occult significance of Ludmilla's visit, as one opportunity to help prevent large world clashes and destructions, exhorting us to give ourselves to the task wholeheartedly...

The Guard is drafted to escort them tomorrow to Matrimandir and the roses are to be planted near the Banyan tree...

... I had to rush down to Pondy then, for my weekly trip with Ar. and Ritam for "Free Store", and also to do my "Visas" work...

25-2-1981, Auroville:

Ludmilla came accompanied by scientists, poets and painters...

This lady is a princess; her father is actually the President of Bulgaria.

She is full of energy and her orientation to a truer future for the earth is unmistakable. She takes many initiatives on her own, in her country, such as "The Banner of Peace", an international Fair for children... She is a small woman, very animated, harmonious, with a simple and direct voice and demeanour.

We escort them the entire day, first in Auroville, then in the Ashram... Near the Samadhi, we couldn't prevent Th from approaching Ludmilla, giving her a letter and delivering an ardent speech right there and then...

... Today Carmen came to me; she has been asked by Sujata to get from me photocopies of all the letters Satprem has written to me... I didn't like it one bit, and didn't feel good with Carmen this time...

28-2-1981, Auroville:

A couple of days ago the idea has suddenly sprouted in our team that we should take over SSJ's house in "Certitude", move his belongings to his house in Pondy, and get some quiet and committed people to occupy it for a while, as a "birthday gift" to Auroville... Somehow this "plan" has generated some joy and enthusiasm among the few of us, and a lot of humour... But it has blown out of proportions; it has done the rounds as a growing secret rumour, which has triggered by now a number of heavy reactions and condemnations of our team as being "possessed by a destructive force", etc... Even M.D and Nicole got into the act, focussing on me and my "unclarity"...

The funny thing is that this "idea" didn't originate from me at all; I was actually slow and reluctant to pick up on the energy the others were sharing... Arjun now feels like resigning, and I am thinking we perhaps should resign as a team; but on the other hand, it is a ridiculously dramatic step when there is so much work to be done and a good collaboration is most needed among us all...

5-3-1981, Auroville:

Lots of work, but... Diane is stunned: she too is being told that she is now "under my influence", and M.D and Nicole are saying all around that I am an "asuric" force influencing the Coop...

In the general meeting, petit Pas openly attacked me; but Diane spoke with much simplicity of what has been our experience as a team so far, and that has helped to clear the atmosphere a little. Thereafter, support for the Coop was reaffirmed and strengthened...

Towards the end I asked that if I must resign I ought to be told clearly; but no one spoke to that effect; rather, the whole meeting told me to continue and expressed its confidence...

Bhaga was asked to join our team...

After the meeting, the "Aspiration" people came to assure me of their trust...

I was feeling quite strange about it all, because in a way I am aware that there is some... what?... power?... force?... in me, which can be called names, and even feared, but only due to the smallness in people or to their dishonesty... Arjun has been so beautiful, so healthy, and so full of laughter and genuine sharing... He took me right out of it!

6-3-1981, Auroville:

This evening Diane is again of two minds, whether to stay or to go home to her family... And I can't help much! I feel more like a mirror to her; I am available to her, but I do not "want" her exclusively in the way she'd probably wish, that would make her feel more secure... I cherish our relationship: it is a creative one. But I also feel guilty, seeing that the difficulty there is about me is bouncing back on her and makes it all the harder for her...

7-3-1981, Auroville:

Diane has come to fetch me. The 4 of us – Cl.A, Arjun, Diane and I – have to go to Cuddalore to meet with the SP of Police, and also with the Civil Supplies man. We drive there on two bikes, after seeing Ojha. At last the instructions have come for the withdrawal of all our cases; the SP is very friendly, everything goes well and we make a good team; it has a happy and positive feeling...

... Noh and Alex are leaving this week to Israel; they come to ask me about their visas...

10-3-1981, Auroville:

The Governor's visit; preparing the list of those we – the Coop – recommend for visas; Fred has returned and gives us a full report, with P.M's help; Myrtle announces her resignation...; we learn also that our papers to the IAC have been entirely re-written by Savitra in Delhi and hardly anything of our practical proposals is left in; there is a pack of formations behind this, obviously, with "The Work" and its chosen, Nicole, M.D and Kireet, and the secrecy, and the battle for the world, etc... This is more often like a jungle, and we go on inflicting pain, dividing and hurting... for whose sake?!

But it is alright among us, and I felt that Fred was rather surprised to find this solidity in our team...

... Diane and I go down to Pondy for some more work, and for her bike to be fixed, and also to let go and have a little break: we have dinner and beer!

I part from her at "Aspiration" and come home tonight to find Yel waiting for me, tender and open...

11-3-1981, Auroville:

I concentrate on completing this list the whole day. Barbara comes to re-order all my files. Diane comes to have dinner with me here.

I don't know what the near future holds, but I sense that there is a lot in the balance right now and the path is obstructed again, in a subtle way: a kind of bouncing effect where the basis was not sufficiently true...

... My dreams are very detailed, these nights, and very interesting, showing many different influences at work – and not all of it is pretty...!

12-3-1981, Auroville:

The Pressure is powerful, and there is like a cry in the body...; is it the nerves? I don't know... And yet there seems to be calm, and there is gratitude, constantly, gratitude for the Grace...

13-3-1981, Auroville:

For some days now I couldn't find G.M; there was some interference again. And the few times Diane and I went over to "Dana", he was not there, he'd gone to "Sharnga", or... And today Cl.B comes to me on his behalf, to ask for the "Dana" money, which I always bring myself, and her tone and manner are such a statement...! I feel lost... Diane stays near me...

I go, then, over to "Dana", to see G.M myself, but he is away. I leave him a note.

... Diane helps me: by her presence, she brings perspective. Then she leaves.

I fall asleep, and wake up in the middle of the night, and it is very difficult: there is a formation of such negativity, of such utter rejection – negating, actively negating, with no way out... It is the most frank and undisguised attack I have ever experienced so far... That thing which has dogged me since birth...

I felt I couldn't make it... It was so... tangible!

But one thing has helped me: it is the sense, the comprehension, that if I had no ego left in me, this simply couldn't touch me, it just couldn't... And so, in that way, it all makes some sense!

Do I have to lose my friendship with G.M too? I don't know!

In this life every relationship that has mattered has been attacked, and I can't blame anyone! It is so strong!

14-3-1981, Auroville:

I was still under shock this morning. But I wanted to be very gentle with everyone I would meet: it is in these moments that one knows the only way forward is in one's capacity to "love"...

... At the Bank today, there is Mir B, her face a mask of sickening hatred...

... Our Coop meeting here this afternoon: with Fred back in it and Bhaga having just joined, the experience we had of such easy communication is now veiled and complicated, as if we had to start all over again... Diane comes late, straight from Al.B's with the latest letter from Satprem; so we have now two letters, one "collective" and the other "personal", written by him respectively on the 9th and the 10th...

The first reads thus:

« A propos de l'éviction des indésirables à Auroville. Il faut d'abord que la Coopérative soit officiellement 'empowered' du droit de décider qui peut résider à Auroville, non seulement pour les visas mais de façon générale. Donc attendre le verdict du Supreme Court. Il faut que ce droit soit absolument reconnu. 1- Les Aurovilliens représentés par la Coopérative doivent pouvoir décider de la qualité des membres de leur communauté. 2- Ceci obtenu, et en vertu de ce droit, ils pourront envoyer une lettre officielle collective aux indésirables en leur priant de quitter les lieux dans un délai X. 3- S'ils se refusent, s'ils ne se conforment pas à la décision collective, des méthodes plus directes pourront être envisagées. 4- Le tout est d'obtenir d'abord de l'Administrateur d'Auroville (ou de son chef), avec l'appui moral du Council International (par exemple, Sri JRD Tata) une reconnaissance explicite que le choix des résidents d'Auroville, passés ou futurs, est exclusivement soumis à une décision majoritaire de la Coopérative, et que cette décision peut toujours être remise en cause si les résidents acceptés ont une conduite qui cesse de se conformer non seulement à l'idéal moral d'Auroville mais à son code matériel, pratique : a) pas de possession personnelle ; b) pas de manipulations financières en dehors des 'channels' reconnus ; c) pas de profits commerciaux destinés à un usage personnel ; d) pas d'activités préjudiciables à l'unité d'Auroville ni de collusion avec les anciens 'propriétaires' d'Auroville ; e) pas de drogues. (Note dictée par Satprem à l'usage de ceux qui veulent bien l'écouter, 9 Mars 1981). »

La deuxième lettre, adressée à Al.B, est donc datée du 10 Mars 1981 :

« Alain. Tu es souvent dans ma pensée, bien que je n'aie guère le loisir d'écrire. Même aujourd'hui je suis obligé de dicter cette lettre à Sujata parce que je ne suis pas en très bonne santé. Tu es proche de moi, dans mon cœur et dans ma conscience. Je me soucie beaucoup pour Auroville depuis bien des années mais plus particulièrement ces temps derniers, parce que maintenant ce n'est plus tellement un ennemi extérieur qu'il faut affronter qu'une difficulté intérieure issue des egos humains – et s'il y a l'ego, il y a la graine de la décomposition. Tout le monde semble dire 'moi, je pense', 'moi, je sens', 'moi, je crois', etc.... Ce n'est rien que du vent mental désordonné. Mère a tellement dit : 'Il faut se laisser aplatir jusqu'à disparition, il faut abdiquer la petite personne, sinon c'est la vieille ronde qui continue et continue...' Je comprends bien que cet ego mental est nécessaire tant qu'il n'y a rien pour le remplacer mais au moins, à Auroville, un premier effort devrait être fait pour tenter d'écouter l'âme d'abord. Au lieu de se jeter sur la première impulsion venue, on pourrait essayer, chaque fois, à chaque occasion, de faire un peu de silence et d'essayer de faire appel à Mère, dans ce silence, et de comprendre ce que, Elle, voudrait. Sinon c'est la vieille histoire sans espoir. Certainement, le vieux système démocratique et majoritaire est un pis-aller qui doit disparaître dans le nouveau monde. L'idéal serait évidemment un gouvernement de sages : quelques personnes avec la vision silencieuse et sans préférences ni désirs. Nous ne sommes peut-être pas encore arrivés là. Mais il ne faut jamais oublier – je répète, jamais oublier – que c'est le vrai but et le seul salut, sinon c'est la course au pouvoir politique avec des petits egos grouillants et plus ou moins bien intentionnés, mais même les 'bonnes intentions' ne valent pas beaucoup mieux que les intentions ignorantes. Dans ses dernières années, Mère disait : 'Il faut, oh ! il faut que le règne du Divin arrive, je suis pressée...'. Hier soir j'ai appris les dernières bonnes intentions d'un certain nombre d'Auroviliens pour se débarrasser des indésirables à Auroville. Et c'est vrai, il faudra que ces mauvaises graines s'en aillent avant qu'elles ne contaminent les ignorants. En fait l'ignorance est la seule maladie. Si l'on savait, on comprendrait, on aimerait, et les obstacles fonderaient. Mais l'ignorance ne se dissipe que dans la tranquille douceur de l'âme. En attendant, hier soir, la note ci-jointe m'est venue et je l'ai dictée à Sujata. C'est seulement un premier jet tâtonnant et qui peut être amélioré. Mais je voulais le livrer à la réflexion de mes frères. En attendant le gouvernement des sages il faut qu'il y ait une voix qui puisse parler au nom d'Auroville et c'est notre seul salut pour l'instant, sinon il y aura cet Auroville-ci et cet Auroville-là et plus personne n'y comprendra plus rien, et finalement ce sont nos ennemis qui en profiteront. Il faudrait tellement, oh ! tellement, que cette voix essaye d'être un peu claire et forte dans son tranquille pouvoir d'âme. Je ne sais pas pourquoi, ce matin je me suis tout à coup demandé pourquoi il existait deux organismes différents bien que frères à Auroville : la 'Coopérative' et 'Pour Tous'. Excuse-moi, je ne connais pas très bien les réalités tout à fait pratiques et organiques d'Auroville, mais je me suis demandé, un peu naïvement, pourquoi il n'y aurait pas un seul organisme avec, peut-être, des 'sous-comités'... La meilleure manière d'intégrer les esprits c'est toujours de les mélanger à la pâte matérielle, car c'est dans la matière et dans les petites choses de la matière que les consciences peuvent se rejoindre plutôt que dans les rigidités abstraites des petits casiers du mental... Ainsi, les 'idéologies' s'useront et se froteront et s'adouciront au contact tranquille de la matière. Simplement je veux dire qu'il me semblerait fructueux d'avoir un seul corps d'Auroville, de quelque nom qu'il soit, dont les idées sortiraient non pas des fumeries du mental mais d'une simple nécessité matérielle. Les consciences s'uniraient mieux dans la matière que dans les idées – qui sont toutes fausses tant qu'elles ne jaillissent pas de la tranquille nécessité de l'âme. Tout cela est à considérer. Ce n'est pas une « idée » que je lance mais une sorte de matière à réflexion pour mes frères. Il faut, oh ! il faut que le gouvernement de l'âme naisse à Auroville, c'est plus urgent que jamais. Je vous aime et je peine et je travaille à vos côtés. Avec mon affection particulière à toi. Satprem. PS : Si ce corps unique devait prendre forme, peut-être vaudrait-il mieux lui laisser le nom 'Coopérative' qui est déjà plus ou moins accepté et reconnu des autorités officielles, mais chaque sous-comité pourrait avoir son nom particulier. L'essentiel est que le nombre total des membres de ce corps unique avec son ou ses sous-comités ne dépasse jamais douze. C'est-à-dire que chacun des membres doit représenter non pas une « idée » particulière (on en a assez des idées), mais une activité ou une nécessité particulière. Encore une fois, tout ceci est une simple suggestion venue de mon amour pour vous et de mon souci de la fructification d'Auroville. En fait j'aurais voulu adresser cette lettre aussi et plus particulièrement à Frederik mais j'ai écrit en français – tâche de le lui communiquer dès qu'il reviendra à Auroville. S. »

... These letters seem to confirm most of the orientations we have already taken; but they also show in what manner Satprem is being either misinformed or too partially informed...

... The acuteness and relentlessness of those negative formations that are thrown on me or hang about me... is really something! The only way I can take it as a Grace is by seeing and feeling how it helps me to get rid of the ego... But where it affects me the most, troubles me the most, is in its effects on those who are close to me, even on those I work with... And I don't know what to do...!

... Diane is having a hard time: Jean and others as well, are blaming her for being close to me; and yet she finds herself happy when she is with me; she feels at home when we are together, and our relationship seems to be developing of itself, and I too feel happy in her presence...

... This place is so beautiful, Mother...!

15-3-1981, Auroville:

Diane comes here, mid-morning, to work with me; but she also needs to talk: she is planning to build her own hut near "Jaïma" so as to move out of a situation with Jean that has become too constricting and static, and into a truer relationship with him. I want to encourage her in this direction, to affirm her independence while keeping a balance with everyone who matters to her...

... For about two hours I have the experience again of that knot of ego that must be pulled out; the mind can offer it; it understands the need for it to go, but its effort remains in a tangent: it is not effective... More directly and more centrally to the outer nature, Your Help is there to take it out, to pluck it from my breast and leave "me" open and plastic and given to You...

16-3-1981, Auroville:

Diane, Cl.A, Yus and I have to spend the day in Madras, and its nightmarish character, as we have got an appointment with the Joint Secretary...

... On our way back I feel more fatigue than I have felt for a long time...

... Yel is waiting for me here: he goes and gets me some ice from the Guest House, welcomes me and provides the relief I need...

17-3-1981, Auroville:

B.B comes: JM.B, returning from "the mountain", has told him that Satprem has been in quite some difficulty, both physically and financially – for Sujata and him, but mainly for his work with the Agenda; B.B, PP and others are determined we must urgently collect at least a minimum amount of money and send it over...

This reminds me of my wish or yearning to go there myself, but I feel there is now too much opposition and too many formations: the time may not be right...

It seems that the SAS is trying to get hold of some of the Agenda, to publish it in an "abridged form", and at a cheaper price...!

... This evening, G.M and I are able to spend a quiet moment together; it is helpful and calming...

18-3-1981, Auroville:

I find that, since Bhaga has joined the Coop and Fred has returned and now takes part in our regular meetings, the living purpose and action of this team-work is somewhat blocked: subjects become issues, mental statements take the lead, practical adjustments become impossible and trust does not happen anymore... It just cannot go on that way; the simplicity and directness of the experience has gone...

... Arjun, Cl.A, Diane and I find ourselves sitting in the garden, bewildered and tired, wondering which way to go on... At least we are still in touch with the work itself and there remains between us this sweet, frank and humorous relationship as a team...

19-3-1981, Auroville:

The relationship between Diane and me is drawing increasing antagonism... Shruti is strangely ill; Jean now denies Diane her "rights" to have her own movements; all her "friends" are upset with her and blame her...

... We are late for the general meeting. This community is so fickle, so prone to reversals and splits and swings; now, perhaps due to Satprem's last letter, the majority seems to be supporting our team and going heavy on Bhaga, while Fred, cleverly, just disappears before the topic comes up, when it was really he who brought the confusion...

... We are weak under the pressure... Our monkey-ego flips and twists...

20-3-1981, Auroville:

This morning I go to "Auromodel" to meet JM.B and hand him the money for Satprem and the Agenda; I stay with him for an hour or so and I like the contact; I feel a possibility of good friendship there...

... Throughout our work today Diane is trying, semi-consciously I guess, to make it impossible between us, so that it wouldn't be too difficult for her to break away from the intensity and depth of our experience together, and I let it be; I understand...

... This evening, after long, C.E. comes; he stays with me; I let him direct our coming together, open to the sweetness of it... He left when I was fast asleep...

... Diane isn't going to Delhi, because of Shruti being sick; Arjun, Cl.A and K.T are going without her...

21-3-1981, Auroville:

Diane comes, feeling bad about her attitude yesterday; I tell her to let it be, to just let it be; we can work together, happily, and we shall see...

23-3-1981, Bombay:

Diane took me to the bus stand yesterday; I travelled first to Bangalore, then took the plane to Bombay, and settled in a palace...! I am spending in two days what it costs to build a hut in the village...! These are vain comparisons, I assume!

24-3-1981, Bombay:

Colette is so given and so lovely, and so happy...!

Bombay, this city: lives into lives after lives, millions of lives...: I experience it with the body; the mind is nearly inactive; and the experience seems to have no boundaries, only the limits of my endurance...

... I call Cl.A in Delhi: the Case is again postponed, and there is the possibility of further delay and interference...

27-3-1981, Auroville:

It is more and more clear to me that, whatever the circumstances may be – happy, fortunate and favourable, or adverse, obscure and contrary – it changes nothing to the real progress: everything is used, according to the central need...

... It seems that the Government Solicitor General has been so dull and, Nariman W not being present, the Case has now been shifted and is to be heard by a Constitutional Bench some time in May...

3-4-1981, Auroville:

These days in Auroville feel hollow to me. As if we had missed opportunities to move forward and had now to wait for another chance to present itself... It is this dull emptiness, a mechanical time, of semi-conscious survival... I yearn for this gaze in our eyes, this Presence flowing, reaching and revealing, knowing... There is no way but an increase in consciousness...

... Late tonight I go to find C.E. at "Existence"...

8-4-1981, Auroville:

More urgent work this morning, as Savitra is going back to Delhi...

Dennis has returned from Kotagiri, with a long letter from Satprem to the Coop, along with a short note for me alone, saying he cannot see anyone at present...

I do not feel happy with his letter; he goes on as if no one here had been aware of the importance of the Agenda, as if no one could possibly have any direct experience and he therefore had to tell us to have it, to become conscious of it... It is somehow not real; there is always this "something" off...

To the Coop, Satprem writes:

"2 Avril 1981. Pour Auroville % La Coopérative.

Amis et frères. Jean-Marie m'a remis votre grosse enveloppe pour l'Agenda. Vous ne pouvez pas savoir comme j'ai été touché. Tout de suite, je suis allé mettre cela aux pieds de Sri Aurobindo et je lui ai dit : 'Tu vois, ça, c'est Auroville qui donne pour le travail de Mère.' Vous avez fait ça avec votre cœur, mais vous ne mesurez pas très bien l'importance du geste que vous avez fait. Il est très important. Il est aussi important que la pose de la première pierre du Matrimandir. Il signifie que votre être matériel a compris un peu ce que signifie la présence de Mère sur la terre. C'est comme un pont direct que vous avez jeté entre votre être physique et la Grâce de l'avenir.

Ce que vous ne savez pas, peut-être, c'est que cet Agenda, ce ne sont pas des livres, ce n'est pas un enseignement, ce ne sont même pas des expériences ; c'est au delà de tout ça, plus puissant que tout ça : c'est le corps de Mère. C'est la Force vivante pour transformer le monde. Sans ça, il n'y a pas d'Auroville. Sans ça, il n'y a pas de nouveau monde. Ce n'est pas un livre : c'est un puissant minéral radioactif. Vous pouvez le lire et comprendre, ou ne pas comprendre, ou un peu comprendre ce qu'il y a dedans, mais cela importe peu vraiment ; ce qui importe, c'est que vous touchiez ce livre, c'est que vous touchiez cette Force, c'est que vous entriez en contact avec la Force qui PEUT transformer. C'est ça, l'Agenda.

Et puis, Mère appréciait tellement le geste matériel de « donner », oui, des billets de banque. L'argent, c'est justement le repaire de l'adversaire. C'est celui qui va toujours à l'usage égoïste, même si ses apparences sont altruistes. Mais donner pour Mère, c'est un acte concret qui est plus important que toutes les philosophies, les discours ou même les sentiments plus ou moins nuageux dont on enveloppe les choses. Donner, ça veut dire faire participer son corps. Alors, je suis sûr que votre geste a un sens profond pour l'avenir, et que c'est une promesse et une bénédiction pour Auroville.

Ce que vous ne savez peut-être pas, non plus, c'est que cet Agenda, c'est un peu (ou peut-être beaucoup) le symbole de la bataille du Nouveau Monde. C'est une formidable bataille, dont Auroville est seulement un petit reflet. Que pouvaient comprendre quelques hommes, il y a deux mille ans, autour d'un être qui s'appelait le Christ ? Que savaient-ils, ces quelques hommes-là, de ce qu'allait devenir la graine jetée par le Christ ? Que savons-nous, aujourd'hui, du sens de Mère et de Sri Aurobindo ? Et est-ce que cette graine, une fois de plus, sera pervertie, emprisonnée dans une religion, enfermée dans une puissance politico spirituelle ? Ou bien fructifiera-t-elle et rayonnera-t-elle librement et intégralement avec son Pouvoir vivant de changer la terre ? Cet Agenda, c'est toute la bataille de l'avenir. Vous ne savez pas quelle bataille vraiment...

Aujourd'hui c'est dans l'Inde que se joue la bataille du monde. Il est capital que l'Agenda se répande dans l'Inde et réveille cette âme endormie. C'est ça qui peut sauver l'Inde et Auroville. Vous ne connaissez pas tous les obstacles matériels et invisibles. Mais votre geste a une grande importance dans cette bataille. Je veux donc que cet argent aille au travail de l'Agenda en Inde.

Si vous voulez continuer votre effort dans l'avenir, je souhaiterais que votre offrande soit faite anonymement, quand vous le voulez, à la Coopérative, dans une enveloppe spéciale réservée à l'Agenda. Ce n'est pas du tout une question de donner deux roupies ou deux mille roupies. C'est la question de votre éveil matériel au sens de l'Agenda. Ce n'est pas un superflu d'argent que vous donnez, c'est quelque chose d'autre, qui ne se mesure pas numériquement.

Pratiquement, matériellement, cette enveloppe peut m'être envoyée ici, chez moi, si vous le désirez. Mais il faut que je vous donne quelques détails sur l'organisation pratique de la distribution de l'Agenda en Inde. Nous avons donc été obligés de constituer un organisme légalement enregistré qui s'appelle : Mira Aditi Centre. C'est cet organisme qui s'occupe de l'Agenda en Inde. C'est Michel D qui s'en occupe depuis le début et qui a fait du bon travail. C'est son travail à Auroville, comme d'autres s'occupent des jardins, du Matrimandir ou de la cuisine. Par conséquent, finalement, cette enveloppe, je la remettrai à Mira Aditi Centre, aujourd'hui et à l'avenir. La Coopérative peut donc procéder comme elle veut : soit m'envoyer ici ces enveloppes, soit les remettre directement à Mira Aditi, mais dans tous les cas, c'est là sa destination finale. Et j'insiste sur l'anonymat nécessaire des dons. (Parce que c'est une affaire directe entre Mère et chacun)

Notre but à Mira Aditi n'est pas seulement de régler tous les problèmes d'impression et d'édition des livres, il y aussi le problème de la traduction, et quelques êtres se sont consacrés à ce travail, également à Auroville. Et puis surtout, c'est le problème de la publicité et de la diffusion. Là aussi, vous pouvez aider, chacun à votre manière, à répandre ces livres parmi vos amis et relations en Inde. IL FAUT, il faut que ces livres atteignent des milliers et des millions de gens : c'est le salut de l'Inde. Il y a donc ce problème publicitaire, si je puis dire, et de diffusion. Il est évident que pendant longtemps, notre entreprise sera déficitaire, mais certainement, peu à peu, ces livres doivent représenter une source de revenus matériels. Il a été décidé que tous les profits possibles de la vente de ces livres iraient à Auroville, comme tous les profits des autres activités d'Auroville, et il a été décidé que les bénéfices éventuels de la vente de ces livres serviraient à constituer une imprimerie internationale à Auroville. Il faut qu'Auroville ait son imprimerie et rayonne son action à travers le monde. Ce serait si beau de voir cet Agenda publié et imprimé à Auroville.

Telles sont les grandes lignes de notre plan d'action auquel vous pouvez coopérer, chacun à votre manière. Pratiquement encore, je souhaiterais, si vous aviez des suggestions à faire ou des propositions pratiques, que vous les fassiez à Michel directement, puisqu'il est le responsable de ce travail. Je suis toujours prêt à vous écouter et à lire vos lettres, mais vous comprendrez que je suis très chargé de travaux et de batailles diverses. Je suggère que, de temps en temps, Michel tienne la Coopérative et Auroville au courant du développement de notre travail (dans la mesure où c'est possible sans indiscretions). Je ne vous quitte pas. Je suis avec vous à chaque instant dans la bataille – oui, à chaque instant, je peux le dire. Votre geste me fait chaud au cœur. Je suis très ému, vraiment. Je suis très content pour Auroville. Je sens que Mère vous entoure dans ses bras. Puissiez-vous vous éveiller de plus en plus à la perception concrète, matérielle, de son amour et de sa grâce si active, et présente. Je vous aime, je suis votre frère de toujours et pour toujours. Satprem »

Satprem's short note to me dated the same, reads:

« Divakar. Je ne peux recevoir personne, il y a trop de tâches pressantes et impérieuses. Chacun doit s'éclaircir et Auroville doit trouver ses propres solutions dans la limpidité tranquille de l'âme. Fraternellement, Satprem. »

... Tonight C.E. has moved back, alone, in the small hut here... just on the eve of my birthday...!

9-4-1981, Auroville:

Just after dawn, Johnny brought me a message from D.M: "To you who is me, from me who am you, love, always. D." I was happy. It is true.

G.M came, quietly. Diane brought me the Agenda 12: Your gift for my birthday.

... I make G.M a proper meal: since Marcia has left for Brazil, he hardly ever eats well... Myrtle baked a big cake, with all her love...

... Much of the day I felt a pull to lie down, immobile, and to let go – or to read Your Agenda... And once again I experience this tremendous vibration in the blood, as when one is about to go out of the body... There is also this soft ecstasy...

... Diane offers to give the Coop report herself at the general meeting, so as to leave me free...

Late afternoon, I feel the need to go down to the Ashram; I kneel at the Samadhi, alone... And I experience this intense physical gratitude, not that gratitude that rises, but this gratitude that thanks, everywhere in the body...

... This evening Jacq and Kiran come with beautiful presents... Barbara has brought roses... John H comes, others...

It has been a very calm day...

The Tamil Nadu Chief Secretary has signed the clearance of all our cases... In the coming week, several long-drawn processes are coming to a close...

... V and C.E are having difficulties; again V wants to leave, to go back to Italy...

12-4-1981, Auroville:

C is going through some deep changes; and there is something we can still hardly talk about as yet: here she is, 70 now, and I'm 31; and there is this impossibility to accept that... she isn't any longer what she has been, her beauty and physical harmony are no longer what they were; and her love is deprived of that expression, while she continues to feel it, to feel it is hers by right, to express the love and the progress and the understanding that are growing in her... And, just within, just there, in our awareness of one another, there is no discrepancy, and it is very strange: it seems to point to the almost ordinary simplicity and reality of the subtle physical – the true physical, the physical that is us truly, that we are truly, in a continuity of progress, of fullness and harmony and beauty, evolving in quality and depth of experience, but never wasting...

... I am almost through reading "the Executioner's song", the story of Gary Gilmore written by Norman Mailer... This being feels very present, very near; I still remember his face and his eyes, in a newspaper photograph months ago, and how it struck me: the closeness, the deep sense of familiarity... This is a psychic drama that has a long and deep-reaching action in the collective consciousness of the Americans...

A baby boy is born to Hilde and Tency...

15-4-1981, Auroville:

It has not been flowing well with Diane since two or three days, and it shows in our work; we keep getting late, missing chances and wasting energy... Today also we drove to Cuddalore, for nothing! The SP was gone and the Collector was too busy! But we had time to talk! Whenever there is disharmony between us two, I feel like quitting: it isn't creative; it isn't interesting any more... But then we begin to laugh, and it becomes alright again...!

16-4-1981, Auroville:

It is C's last day here this time, and it is hard.

She comes with me to the general meeting and today the atmosphere is heavy; there is a sense of the grotesque, with these fat heads talking, talking, and mouthing big words... I do not wish to work with Fred: it takes us backward...

... The Supreme Court has adjourned the hearing to the 27th, on the Government's request, so it has more time to gather evidence of the SAS's mishandling of funds...

18-4-1981, Auroville:

There is a wave of thefts again, like organised raids. I must learn from Ojha how to formulate a "complaint" properly...!

... Today I have been under a massive pressure, that leaves me blank, immobile and unable even to smile – not out of unhappiness, but from sheer lack of feeling; and yet, an aspiration is there...

20-4-1981, Auroville:

I said to You: "Mother, take away the shadow of that truth, free me from it! It will be beautiful! Let me be lighter and available to Thy service!"...

So many times what soothes and helps me when everything else seems to fail, is the beauty of here, of the atmosphere, of the trees, the house... And then the gratitude rises again...

21-4-1981, Auroville:

I had to take Ar. down to town early, for "Free Store", and I only had the "Visas work" to do and a few errands; I waited, in a state of helplessness, feeling useless, lacking any clear purpose, as if in a void, or a noisy emptiness... Diane came, and I suddenly lit up: it was not in any affective or emotional way, but it was as if there was purpose again; sharing had sprung back to life, and there was someone there, not just a show; one could move with aspiration, act with meaning...

... I am tired when I come home, and I find... Pnina!

Her gracefulness touches me, the harmony of her presence... but it remains at a distance... She had just arrived...

... Soon Diane comes, and Barbara and we have work to do...

And this evening Myrtle comes, obviously wanting, needing to have time with me alone... And, without transition, I am thrown from one situation to its opposite...: three women at the same time! What to do? What is one to do?

At this point in time, Diane is clearly the closest to me, the one with whom I am naturally the happiest; yet with Myrtle there is a wholeness in the contact which goes deep, even if it does not find expression in our lives; and here is Pnina, sitting quietly and deeply wondering what she has got herself into and what is my position in relation to her...

I leave the house to Pnina and go with Myrtle to the Guest House and stay there the night – and it is good and full and happy between us...

22-4-1981, Auroville:

I get up before dawn, leave Myrtle and come over to the Kitchen to do my duty: preparing everybody's breakfast!

... G.M comes and we have our morning coffee with Pnina at the house; G.M is once more himself, natural...

... Diane comes, for our work... She is evidently affected by Pnina's presence, and it is revealing of the importance our relationship has acquired in both our lives...

We have work to do in Koot Road, then, with the local authorities – an inert shapeless bureaucracy -, and in Pondy, with taxes, etc. The sky is gloomy as if before a storm, there is wind in the air and the sea is grey, moving in slow heaves, and we have time to sit and watch it and be cleansed by the sight of it, and we have dinner in town...

When we return, Barbara is here with Pnina, talkative and funny...

Then, Pnina and I are alone; she needs to know what I feel; I can only say that now what matters most is for her to find whether she wants to be in Auroville – as only them could we both know how this relationship is meant to develop...

23-4-1981, Auroville:

G.M has breakfast here with Pnina and I.

Diane comes to pick me up: we have plenty to do, and it goes well. In Cuddalore we have a long, fruitful meeting with the SP...

We are back in time for the general meeting, although we'd both had wished to be exempted... Whenever we collect together without a purpose that is central or practical enough, it turns into a ridiculous and exhausting poultry scene... There is one good surprise, though: Krishna is there! Our eyes meet; and it so happens that he, G.M and I each express spontaneously a position that is identical on the matter of "Utility"...

... We have time for Ojha tonight; whenever we do not go to him, he resents it and begins to feel left out...

25-4-1981, Auroville:

Diane and I return from our Pondy work just in time for the Coop meeting here. Apart from our team, several others come in on various topics: June M about her work in the US; Vikas, Cristo and Bill S about 'Utility'...

And Charlie has come to participate; and, after quite some work is done, it all suddenly opens to a big chasm: the ghost of racism, like a deep abscess, suddenly bursts between Charlie and Arjun and Yus... Yus particularly, is carried away on a mounting tide of painful, bitter, poised hate and resentment and despair...

It needed to be washed out...

I go out after Yus and Arjun, and they calm down...

Eventually Charlie leaves, and we can resume our work, but... this is the most effective enemy of the very existence of Auroville! At certain critical points it shows its head, rearing up again with its malevolence, and the condition of Auroville then appears so precarious...!

... Once everyone has left, and only Pnina is here with me, a necessary clarification must be made: I realise that, during the months of her absence, she may have invested much more than I have in the possibility of a settled relationship. Given this imbalance, I do not wish us to be intimate as before, as she would only feel more hurt... This is a moment of decision...

26-4-1981, Auroville:

I have just finished my morning work and I am drifting into half-sleep. Diane arrives, intense, straight from a decisive scene in "Jaïma": Jean has asked her to leave; he would keep the children, of course!

So, the whole issue is being pushed...

We look at the options. As Krishna is shifting to "Utility", she could perhaps move to his place in "Certitude", and try to establish her own base. She could also come here and stay in C's house, having a sort of semi-independence; or else she could move right here with me...

We both feel the need to go slow, not to be rushed, to seek within us for the right thing...

... Ramalingam comes: this time he has brought... his wife!

... Pnina has decided quietly, softly, to move to Pondy for a few days and, later, to stay at the Guest House...

... I find Diane at "Dana" this evening; she is weeping from the stress of seeing her children's faces and eyes filled with a mute question... We both sleep in "Certitude"; we both needed this time together...

27-4-1981, Auroville:

It is only late tonight that we can get a clear line to Delhi; even so, Cl.A's words are jumbled; but we understand that our case is now postponed to the 7th of May...

28-4-1981, Auroville:

Diane has slept here last night, and when Myrtle comes, early this morning, to see me and get the news from Delhi, I have a moment of chaotic feeling...!

But somehow the two of them make it simple, and we soon are sitting companionably, happily enough... Yet I do not ignore that the very way I share and work and live with Diane now, is the way Myrtle had wanted us to be together, with all her love and strength and will...

And then, Krishna comes...! He brings me a bunch of passports for the people in "Utility" so as to get their visas regularised; he is sweet and calm, almost as if nothing had ever interfered...

29-4-1981, Auroville:

This morning, G.M, Diane and I drive over to "Utility" to meet Krishna there and, with him, everybody who stays there as well as the workers... This is a situation we have inherited from Mali and his separate ways, and it is very delicate, and Krishna is there with the "mission" to bring it all into Auroville... We meet with Nerguez and Amparo, and with the workers; and we meet the group of foreigners and explain to them the basic guidelines of Auroville...

30-4-1981, Auroville:

Everyone is late for our Coop meeting here this morning. There is tension because of the problem with Fred. I decide to jump in and I tell him clearly and quietly what I think and feel about his ways of working and his disregard for relatedness; and then each of us in turn tells him more or less the same, and he has to take it and work with it... There is hardly any time left for our current matters, and each has to go to their tasks...

... Diane and I have to work with Nigam and Ojha till very late, and it is rather exhausting; we decide to stay the night at Krishna's house, and barely sleep: we laugh and talk and keep quiet and laugh more and we meet, comfortable with each other, at ease...

2-5-1981, Auroville:

It is 6 am and I am lazing in bed, when I hear calls... Nigam, Ojha and Ojha's wife have come walking to visit with me... and, I suspect, for Ojha to check more closely on my "private" life – as he'd seen me driving away from "Certitude" the day before at dawn...

... Fred is more precise and cooperative at our meeting today; but with him and Charlie participating nowadays, there is less of that spontaneous joyfulness we had become used to share in our work...

... Pnina comes to have coffee with us, and it seems to be alright; but, afterwards, Diane acts weird and resentful and it carries over in our team-work, with her opposing me... It takes the rest of the day till late into the night for us to wade through it and find our way, and our meeting is all the more intense for it...

And, right after that, in a flash of recognition, I see for the first time her inner being, complete and whole, with this smile on her face, of trust, so... forward...!

3-5-1981, Auroville:

There is so much directed against our living together, coming from others; and on my side I can see that, perhaps – being true to myself – I do not really wish to be... fixed, or defined, by living in the one and same place together...

... Myrtle comes to see me. She notes that Diane has stayed here last night, and she has a little face, suffering; and I feel so close to her, and sad... The way we are made, the way we function, the way our substance is arranged, organised... how can anything be true...?

... Before going to bed, I have to wake up Yel for the night-watering of the garden, and I stay with him a moment: his quiet sweetness, simple...

4-5-1981, Auroville:

We had planned to bring some of Diane's things into C's house today. She comes late, depressed. She has got a letter from Jean saying that she and the others in the Coop are all under the influence of a force that is acting through me...

I can never be sure, Mother, that I am not simply bringing more difficulty into Your Work...

... Upon returning from our work in Pondy, seeing Diane's state, I decide to ask Arjun and P.M to request every one who feels that way about me either to find someone to replace me and take up the work I am doing, or else to accept that Diane and I are together... But both refuse to even consider my withdrawing from the Coop... So I am left rather confused...!

6-5-1981, Auroville:

We have a misunderstanding today: Diane is late, very late; I leave alone and drive to Cuddalore and do the work there; when I return to Pondy, Diane is there, angry – she had come the moment after I'd left -, and I am angry too. And I feel quite lost: without it flowing with her, I find myself unrelated, as if she was my "door" to Auroville, to its collective dimension, and then I want to pull out...

I come home, wanting to be alone. And Krishna comes!

And together we close one spiral, and are ready for the next, quietly; it is open, it feels real...

Huge masses of black clouds drive down the sky from the North, a puissant wind rises, stirring up columns of red dust from the ground, and a huge rain breaks out...

I go out to shut all the windows in C's house; faintly, through the tumult, I hear Diane's bike riding in; I receive her out on the porch; fully soaked, we embrace...

She had tried to resolve to take a distance from me... and here it has just melted...

... This is a dead end. People won't let us be.

They keep throwing on her the same formations; she carries them in; we both go under it...!

There is hate, there is jealousy – I think, because people do not examine themselves sufficiently...

We meet; we let go, we give in... Why? I don't know... Our bodies at least can find their rhythm together. It probably does not make things easier, but it is a sweet part of the balance...!

7-5-1981, Auroville:

The entire day there is this Pressure: the whole being, the whole body feels it, constant; and beyond, or deeper than the strain of it, there is gratitude...

... I am about to go to bed, it is late; Diane and P.M come in to tell me the news: it has begun! Our case has come up, and it will be heard again tomorrow; the Judge has already shown some anger at the SAS, and things seem to be moving decisively...

After they have left, I experience two successive "attacks": it comes from behind, like a mass falling on my back and shoulders, in that intermediate zone... It takes two hours; I sit up, waiting, till the passage is cleared... This is tough!

8-5-1981, Auroville:

The Pressure remains all of today. There is calm, but also a sense of precariousness.

This evening, the news comes that, at the last moment, Nariman was found and has been able to give a full blast of a speech which has somehow saved the situation, and the Court has taken a decision that involves the lifting of the Injunction... Cl.A and Savitra express great enthusiasm over the phone...

But here I feel something is still blocked, and there remains much tension...

... Arjun just had a spectacular fall from his motor-cycle, but he got away with a scratch or two only... We decide to all meet at Kamala's, where he has gone to rest and recuperate... It is truly good with Arjun and we are both, I think, happy to be close to each other – for surely we have been that close in "the past"...

... Diane has been staying at Al.B's house in "Auromodel" while he is away. Tonight I try to stay there with her, knowing it would be difficult, given the formations AL.B holds against me... And it is, indeed, difficult! We each have nightmares, repeatedly, heavily loaded and quite disgusting... When I am fairly sure she will be alright, I decide not to insist and leave her there, and drive back home...

9-5-1981, Auroville:

"All self-consciousness must be replaced by the consciousness of the Divine..."

... Sometimes I feel like a musical instrument: being tried, and left alone, and tried again, and left again – some blows, some touches, silence, some tuning, and blankness...

... A lot of attention has come lately on the issue of income-generating activities in Auroville, as well as personal income, and the challenges implied for the true growth of Auroville; our team is attempting to formulate a position, a collective stand...

... Krishna has dinner with Diane and me at "Auromodel"...

11-5-1981, Auroville:

Douce Mère, il n'y a pas de limites à l'intensité ou à l'expansion de ce besoin... ce besoin de la Présence, ce besoin que CE SOIT... et dans ce besoin est la seule force vraie...

... This evening Diane comes back to make peace.

As people are still listening to Your Agenda, here in the house, we go out for a walk; we end at the amphitheatre, sitting under the stars, facing the sphere, tranquil... And the rain starts, slowly at first, then more densely, gentle and abundant, and we run, laughing happily, filled with energy, cleansed... Diane stays the night...

12-5-1981, Auroville:

People start coming even before 7 am today, for one reason or another, or just to visit. And V brings Jayaura. And Pnina brings her daughter Galli.

... We have a long meeting with the Administrators, the RDO, the SP and their entourages... The Court Order has been clarified and it gives a lot of power and authority to the Administrators, if they wish to make use of it for the right action...

13-5-1981, Auroville:

Today is both Ojha and Deepti's birthday...!

We had prepared a big cake and many presents for Ojha; it is too much of a social event, it leaves us exhausted, but Ojha is happy; he is a beautiful man, and the Court Order has made him even more determined to fulfil his mission here...

... Arjun and Deepti had insisted that Diane and I must come for dinner; there are lots of people, but in "Aspiration" there is that directness of contact and that simplicity which I appreciate... Myrtle is also there, wholly turned to me... But the context, the occasion, the setting, all contribute to formalise, make known and accepted the fact of Diane and I being together, and this seems to reassure Diane, to make her feel a little surer of herself (earlier today we had passed by the gate of "Jaïma" and Diane's kids had seen us and called her, and this had brought her to a difficult emotional state)...

... It is for me to focus, to gather myself, to pull myself back from so many directions and to acknowledge this situation with Diane...

14-5-1981, Auroville:

The Pope was shot yesterday inside the Vatican.

Barbara brought her radio early this morning, so we could listen to the news; he has been operated on for hours...

27-5-1981, Auroville:

These past days have been so intense, so loaded with experience and beset with conflicts and traps and misunderstandings and... dangers, I couldn't find the time or the quiet self-gathering necessary to write a single word...

There has been alienation, and the existence of our team has been heavily contradicted, both from within and from without...

And today, after another awful night, as Diane and I were returning from "Forecomers", on the road an end came to it all: I burst in tears, and wept and wept, till it became completely calm inside me and I could clearly see but one step I had to make: to withdraw...

Diane tried to prevent me... But Krishna came by, later at the house, and took my written statement with him... Diane still couldn't accept...

29-5-1981, Auroville:

G.M was angry at me when he learnt of my decision, and said that this withdrawal would solve nothing at all... But I only knew there was no more space for me...
 ... At the last general meeting, which I did not attend, one of the "decisions" taken was to ask Kiran to leave. And today, the "Envelopes" meeting broke up mid-way, so that a group of about 12, I think, would go to the Camp and ask her directly. I wouldn't have done that, she is my sister; but I also understand why the others feel so much that this has to be done, for she has been weak; she has not served when the opportunity was clearly there... And I feel the presence of a love there...

30-5-1981, Auroville:

Barbara and, later, Arjun, come and stay with me to persuade me to come back to the Coop. I delight so much in Arjun; he is such a fine being... They are so determined, that it makes no more sense for me to resist...
 ... I go quickly down to Pondy to get flowers for Jacq's birthday and bring them, along with her visa papers, to the Camp, and stay with her and Kiran for a moment. Then, with Diane, I join the Coop meeting, which takes place at the office... I only try to say that, to my sense, we had lost track of the spirit of service... but it may not have been understood...
 ... Later, I go over to see Krishna: he comes hard on me, very hard, on the falsity of the position expressed by the Coop, the attitude it represents, etc. I take it in: it could have come from me as well...

31-5-1981, Auroville:

We were supposed to meet again this morning, so as to re-distribute the work among us, re-centring around the real purpose of this Coop. But there is only an image of that, an echo, none of us is natural. It isn't working. It's as if a Presence has left.
 I feel freed. And Diane, on her own, felt it too...

1-6-1981, Auroville:

Diane and I spend the day catching up with our work, in a mess of papers and letters and accounts, each one at a type-writer, till it gets cleared.

3-6-1981, Auroville:

Marcia has returned today from Brazil, sweet Marcia...
 ... I have seen people lying and manoeuvring, and apparently hiding to themselves their own motivations and the root of their resentment...

4-6-1981, Auroville:

Formations fed with jealousy; lies; how much of the Pressure and the Light is distorted by the mind, how rare is the straight cry from the very truth of the being...!

5-6-1981, Auroville:

Everything seems to be on the verge of collapse.

Krishna made a call to let go, to accept a freeing anarchy, a soothing release, allowing the real quality of each person to stand and to create...?

6-6-1981, Auroville:

I have handed over all the files to the new "government" of our lack of being... It has taken me just two rides.

Barbara, Diane and I have coffee here, measuring the extent of that change...

7-6-1981, Auroville:

Left unused, working out the poison, trying not to get sucked by depression; Krishna, Diane and I stand together, blank, assimilating...

8-6-1981, Auroville:

I have gone to bid my farewells to the FRO people in Pondy.

Diane and I meet on the beach; we swim and rest and have dinner with J.C there, and we sleep in one of the tiny huts...

9-6-1981, Auroville:

The anguish, of there being no path, of having nothing to share, no meaning and no purpose to sustain life...

... Kanyappan's prematurely born baby died today...

10-6-1981, Auroville:

Krishna tells me that "someone" from the "community" has come to warn him not to remain my friend; that I am an adverse being and he must get away from me... Even with Krishna they try...

... I shake myself up, out of this passivity... And then Hervé comes to bring me the Volume 11 of Your Agenda...!

... Diane and I go back to the beach, with our copy of the Agenda, and rest there and swim and look at the sea and read...

You have suffered so much, Mother...! It is hard to accept...

11-6-1981, Auroville:

It is tough for Diane, perhaps tougher than for me, to be left inactive...

16-6-1981, Auroville:

I have taken up exercising the body with E.B; she gives me daily classes and it helps me in re-organising energies, and to focus on progress and simplicity. I feel like a baby again...

Diane and I spend much time on the beach, where Jacq often joins us, and Krishna...

... Lately, a lot of my dreams activity has been taking place in the US, where I meet a good many people...

17-6-1981, Auroville:

I sleep and sleep and sleep, letting go; little by little, tensions disappear; I do not believe in "my will": separation is so painful!

Perhaps I am sinking, but I know that the same Presence, as tangible, is also... at the bottom...!

... When I go to E.B's for my class, she tells me she has been "instructed" by Al.B to lay "certain conditions" before me... People turn away from her, now that I come to her place every day...

18-6-1981, Auroville:

We attend the general meeting this afternoon. Financial guidelines are read out; but now I wonder: no guidelines can ever replace consciousness – individual commitment, honesty and transparency...

... I dreamt that the "Army" had come to "Sincerity" to take me prisoner, and I was kept in a sort of loose jail for a long time: it was so vivid and so full of details and so concrete that, when I woke up, I couldn't believe that I was free, and at home...!

19-6-1981, Auroville:

Mother, I have got nothing to give! I am poor, empty, and incapable of joy!

I don't want to be a weight on anyone, Mother!

It is a cry of emptiness, a terrible need for Being, for Conscious Being...!

... This is the absurd, terrible status-quo: left hanging, forced to live, and to endure the absence... I want to let go, to sleep, to sink until I do touch Something that wants, that Wills, that Can!

Nothing makes sense, and yet... people keep moving, picking up scraps of awareness... Is it worth one more life, one more waste of Matter...?

Nothing is yet truly born!

20-6-1981, Auroville:

I am reading this wonderful book, "Timeless Way of Building", which develops with real intelligence an experience which has also been mine since I ever can remember, about building; it is very sensitive, balanced and well-poised. This reading, along with simple physical effort and discipline, helps me... Otherwise, sometimes... I think it'd be cleaner for me to live in some big city, as a prostitute...

22-6-1981, Auroville:

I have started running; the body is happy...

21-6-1981, Auroville:

I didn't know this morning that it would be my last class with E.B...

She came here this afternoon to tell me she didn't want to continue: one more door is shut... I keep quiet...

Am I false? Am I bad?

It's like everything, everyone I touch, eventually hardens, rejects and closes against me or attacks me angrily, with jealousy, and with hypocrisy...

I don't know...

... Tonight, I go to Yel before his night-shift in the garden: I needed that embrace, straight, that is not the soft, envioning one of a woman...

24-6-1981, Auroville:

Today I decided to go to "Last School" – which is by general agreement reserved for body-work, dance-classes, hatha yoga, etc – and see whether this door was also shut... I meet A.M there, who is not direct, but makes me understand I cannot just join the group-work... I persist quietly; he and J.Cl agree that I can come and work alone early mornings... E.B is also there, and will not look at me...

... I feel almost like a visitor in "Dana" nowadays, and in Auroville in general; it is a peculiar experience...

... These nights, since I have started to exercise daily, there is a tremendous energy flowing, and my body seems to be opening to it from inside, enthusiast... It centres me in a new way, a way that had been missing all along, joyful and simple...

25-6-1981, Auroville:

Diane is probably pregnant. For the moment I feel like leaving it to her inner wisdom to "decide"...

.. We attend the general meeting; it feels frighteningly hollow, everyone voicing opinions, extolling morals, and no inner response, no ground to share a Need and to grow together within It... And yet the majority seems to be satisfied...

G.M felt this too and he has come with us here and Barbara as well, and Krishna joins us, and it is good to be here...

I am careful not to open mentally to depression, to remain centred and concentrated in that physical sense of harmony and progress...

... I have so much energy in the night; it took me to New York again...

But Diane is feeling oppressed, and heavy...

26-6-1981, Auroville:

This morning, after my lonely work-out, I go to Coni and ask her if I could join her dance class, at least once a week, so that I can correct myself... She appears to take it well...

27-6-1981, Auroville:

I wept in my dream, before the lies of those people who have received so much from You...

28-6-1981, Auroville:

Diane has chosen to stop the pregnancy.

I have wondered a lot about this.

Tomorrow I am to take her to the hospital.

Sometimes I experience this contact with "Home", with a region of consciousness wherefrom I could call, with love, with all my aspiration...

But I would want to be surer that, in the formation of this body, there would be the least possible interference from our own unresolved contradictions and the stuff accumulated in our subconscious parts...

And what is missing here is that there was no shared choice at the moment of conception...

29-6-1981, Auroville:

We go to the Hospital; we have to wait a long time; Diane is only examined, and the operation is scheduled for Friday: 3 days to wait...

While we were there, another fight broke out at "Amba Gardens" with Ram Singh and the SAS watchmen; the Guard was called, and Craig was badly hurt and taken to the hospital...

And this morning also, Willy died, in Jipmer...

... I don't know... I can't say that, yes, I want to live with Diane; and so, I can't say anything...! I love her companionship, her aspiration, her quality; I love the friendship we have, her eyes, her comprehension... But she is not the full woman for me. I need beauty too, the power of care and beauty, not as of an empty shell, but as an expression of the soul...: I can't help it!

... Diane went on her own to "Dana" this evening; she ended up with a drunken Coop at "Auroson's Home" and returned very late, confused...

30-6-1981, Auroville:

Both Ramalingam and Barbara come and have lunch with us here.

I run down to the beach, where Diane meets me later.

Little by little, the days fill up with a progressive routine of physical exercise: the early morning work-out at "Last School", the running, the swimming...

... We're having an early dinner at "Auromodel", as Diane has been hungry; she tells me then of another letter she has received from Jean, urging her to get rid of me; that I am an adverse being sucking her up, and she must secretly use the mantra to free herself from my clutch... This from an Aurovilian! I keep silent...

... I started to walk back... Ojha gives me a lift part of the way, in his car...!

... I feel I must withdraw from all relationships, including the one with Diane. This thing dogs me, always, and Diane falls prey to it; I can't blame her...

1-7-1981, Auroville:

We have to go again to the Hospital for some tests; it is at once awful and funny; we are both feeling rather lost and poorly, and that scene loosens our tensions and we begin to laugh and to talk freely again and to tell each other what we have been through, the questions we each had... and how to choose in the truest way...

4-7-1981, Auroville:

We haven't gone back to the Hospital. We kept quiet about it and went on with the daily life...

8-7-1981, Auroville:

I am making an effort to reorganise the house so that Diane's needs are taken care of; today I purchase a small gas stove and a small gas cylinder; I am apprehensive about the mechanics of this domesticity and what these may engender, but it seems like a positive step at the moment...

... Diane and I have been working at Matrimandir with G.M in the afternoons, but it remains, so far, a little tedious...

... Today someone asked us, on the road, if this was our first visit to Auroville...! I guess that is somehow how we feel these days...

9-7-1981, Auroville:

This morning for the first time I boil milk in the house, with new utensils, on a new stove.

I look around at what practical improvements can be made soon: a tap for running water, a shelter over the side entrance, a counter, a stool...

... When we ride back from "Dana" tonight, I have sharp pain all along the spine, as if all the nerves were bursting, and I have to lie down... It is difficult for each of us and for both of us together... No progress seems to be made...

11-7-1981, Auroville:

Diane is not feeling well; she isn't happy. Today we are both sick in the stomach, and dizzy... It seems she only has the strength to move away from both Jean and me and to be on her own... And I feel it best for the time being.

12-7-1981, Auroville:

Diane comes back this afternoon, looking much better and finer; she has put on that dress I like, she feels free and more present. I have spent most of the day arranging things in the house, waxing and polishing and ordering; and now I cook us a nice dinner... And tonight we meet, quietly and softly; I wish to tune in to that growing life within her womb; we talk a little, and sleep long...

13-7-1981, Auroville:

Early this morning when G.M comes, Diane makes the coffee for the 3 of us, and she looks good... Then she has to leave to pick up Aurassi, and I do my exercises.

Later, I have to drive down to "Abri" to pay some bills and then to the pottery in "Aspiration", and I meet Diane there; and she is very depressed, saying we cannot go on; she has received another letter from Jean telling her that, if she moves with me, he will prevent her from seeing the children; and she is caught by it, not realising the nature of this blackmail...

Somehow I feel quiet, seeing it as some unsubstantial drama, and I can laugh at it... She almost relaxes for a moment, but then dives back into it, and I see that she is giving it power by giving Jean the "right" to act this way; I see that, despite all she has said, she is still divided...

... Barbara comes; she has all along been trying to support Diane as best she could to grow free from all these formations and to trust her own experience...

I feel that none of this is mine to claim; that I can only try and prepare myself to live it if it is given me to live. But I can't help worrying for the child...

... I have little esteem for Jean; but by now, anyway, I have seen enough in Auroville...

14-7-1981, Auroville:

I am exercising at "Last School". Flore is there, exercising too. For once I feel to ask her to show me one of the movements she's been practising. She refuses: I do not belong!

I have no love for smallness; not for the one I find in myself in my own nature, not for the one I find in others, least when they are satisfied with it and justify it...

People call me names; they say I am an "asura"; that I haven't "surrendered", that I am a danger... But they cherish more their own images than the real knowing... Morals ride on top of everything here...

... Diane comes to pick up her things; it is distressing... She says she is following her own need... I do not ask any questions.

... But tonight I feel the urge to go to her, at "Auromodel", knowing this is her last night there. I find her there. We stand outside a long time. She has tried to "cut"; she didn't reach anywhere; but she had needed to know for sure, within herself, what to do, because of the child...

15-7-1981, Auroville:

When I walk home tonight, I find... Pnina, awaiting me!

I feel rather as if she had thrown her feminine energies around me like a net, all this time, awaiting this opening, and now here she is... She wants to tell me that she has not played against me, that she has continued to believe in our relationship...

And then G.M comes, to insist that Diane and I ought to move to "Dana" and he and Marcia would move here... To show... what? That I am willing to relinquish, to let go of... my own universe? To assuage Diane's fears? To be "one of them"?

16-7-1981, Auroville:

Gradually I begin to trust again my love for this place and my need to go on growing with it, making it like a living poem dedicated to the Presence...

... This afternoon I walk over to Matrimandir for the general meeting; Diane comes there with Marcia, and both sit with me...

... Later Barbara asks to have tea with Diane and me here; she is very concerned with Diane's possible decision, but in this she mixes her own uncertainty and I don't know that it helps very much...!

... Nath arrives, straight from France, simple and fresh, a sweet little being...

... Diane and I talk till late, with a slow intensity, trying to understand... Yes, perhaps I am not human enough, perhaps I am not meant to touch people too long, perhaps it is I who should leave Diane... I must ask...!

17-7-1981, Auroville:

While running down to the beach, it all became a little clearer, and I felt happier: I felt my way to give of myself to the child who is coming, to share in the process and follow it with Diane, letting her be free in her own rhythm; we would build something together for her...!

And Diane was already on the beach, waiting, brooding, heavy with all the contradictions, all these formations, from all these "pure Aurovilians" who want her to cut away from me, who threaten her they will turn away from her if she doesn't...

... I walk alone over to "Utility" and stay with Krishna there; he is like a child, so absorbed and engrossed in his experience there...

19-7-1981, Auroville:

There are moments when I feel a sort of healthy revolt surging, and something straight affirms itself; but most of the time the mess of these formations lays on me unmoved, unchanged...

But I want to make this place more and more beautiful, with a silent rhythm and harmony of its own, a living poem built in Matter; even if at times it may feel like a prison, still it says something I need to say, and it gives me a space to wait in, to wait for You to change what I still am, to fill it up with consciousness and the capacity to radiate...

21-7-1981, Auroville:

I want to kiss Your feet. I want to serve You...

I so much miss the presence of conscious beings here! I suffocate in this morality of the heart, in this transitional state that is so satisfied...

22-7-1981, Auroville:

After the class with Coni at "Last School" I go, mid-morning, to join G.M, Chris, Larry, Phil and M at "Aurodam" for weight-lifting... I didn't know whether I'd be able to do any, but it goes rather well...

Nath comes and spends the evening with me; she is lovely, but she lacks inner stuff, and it feels a little pointless...

23-7-1981, Auroville:

At the general meeting I hear, from Savitra of all people, that Diane has gone to a hospital as she was "not feeling in good health"; this way I get the news: she has decided for an abortion...!

... It all has a taste of... misery...

... G.M had known; he was angry at me for stepping back always, for shutting myself in...

... In the night, I am struck by a dream-experience: I am pregnant; I deliver a baby, smoothly; I am still a man, and there are people around me, astonished and helpless; I do it all by myself and take the child in my arms, and our eyes meet with love... Is it a boy? It has blue eyes, rather like mine, but a face of its own...

It upsets me very much: I feel all the weight of that rejection...

25-7-1981, Auroville:

This morning at "Last School" I have an easier work-out with M.S and A.A; no one else comes, and we feel free and joyful...

... At the Samadhi in the evening, I have an impression that the Two of You are mostly concerned with the protection of the earth...

28-7-1981, Auroville:

Sometimes I fear that Auroville is becoming a "cul-de-sac", a dead end, an impasse. Our humanity, built as it is on formations, turns against itself when, having fully exploited and misused the "riches" and "resources" available, it is faced with the imperative necessity of shifting into another consciousness... And the help seems to have withdrawn...

There is the lack of any beautiful movement between people: things like loyalty, truthfulness, tenderness, these jewels of human experience, seem to be denied here, or negated...

Perhaps spirituality is the last, and the meanest, of all resistances, and the most persisting poison...!

There will probably be other times ahead when I will feel attuned again to some shared movement, there will again be simple joy and the flow of energies, but it is in these dry and empty periods that, I believe, the situation is perceived most objectively, bare of the clothing lent it by those very energies that merely pass and leave us unchanged, but for an added nostalgia..

29-7-1981, Auroville:

I have been reading "The Persian Boy"... I had not been aware of how near and deep and endearing was the figure of Alexander the Great! But this was a real living soul! You both must have been somewhere around! There's much of Sri Aurobindo in him, I feel, and the relationships that his presence and his fire wove and elicited were so beautiful...

... Is there still a Will to change us, to turn us into sparks of the Real, into powers of the Being?

What is the meaning of a few great stars leaving but burning trails on this crowded planet, if what remains must go on unchanged...?

30-7-1981, Auroville:

This afternoon, on Larry's request, I pick up Thera at "Aurodam" and take her to Pondy to see the magnetos copy of Satprem's interview at the "Alliance Française". There are about 30 of us gathered in a small room before a TV-like screen...

The door re-opens and in the daylight entering I meet Diane's eyes... so wide and deep and straight from her to me and from me to her, after the inner storm... And I know we are together...

G.M and Marcia are with her: G.M has arranged it, with his love for me and his friendship for her, and he is watching me with a childlike pleasure...

31-7-1981, Auroville:

G.M has asked me to bring Nath for dinner at "Dana"; but he'd planned to invite Diane as well! He is laughing at it, a mischievous kid; I don't know whether I am angry or happy, but he, my friend, has every right on me...!

Marcia arrives then, with Diane. We both feel awkward and glad at the same time, half hiding it, half giving it out, saying nothing... G.M makes us laugh, then, with the story of the latest fight at Matrimandir, between Phil and Piero (a general meeting has been called about it for tomorrow)... Before taking Nath back, I just manage to ask Diane to come, later.

And she comes.

She has tried to return to her "normal life", being "saved" from me... But she has been missing me all the same... After the abortion, she had a tough week, with constant pain in her spine due to the anaesthesia... She has moved to a hut in "Protection", alone...

She says she will make it clear to people that they must stop harassing her with these formations about me...

3-8-1981, Auroville:

Barbara comes with Akash; Diane soon arrives and Barbara cooks dinner. Later we all drive down to "Aspiration" to watch the last performance of the theatre play on "Illusions" of Richard Bach: Marc A has made such a lovely thing of it, offering it with his whole being, harmoniously, and with such a gift of sweet humour... We sit near G.M and Marcia, Diane and I for all to see... Diane stays here the night: we had needed it!

4-6-1981, Auroville:

It has become clear that Diane is moving in with me. We arrange things quietly, and drive down to "Protection" to pick up her things. People want her to go to Delhi for the legal work there. I am not against it; I love it when she does things for the whole of Auroville; but what is around that particular trip is very mixed and there is much game-playing and hypocrisy... ... V comes to ask me to take her down to Pondy to purchase a ticket to France; she tells me of the mess with C.E...

6-8-1981, Auroville:

Diane had gone to see Chr about us getting a "basket"; she returns ten minutes later, holding her ticket to Delhi, which Fred just gave her on the way: I sense the old game upon us, her own past being thrown on her, and she not having the discernment to see it... I was prepared for her to go and do real work, if there is any, but this is different; my own reaction forces her to analyse it, and she acknowledges that it is not so very clear... ... Diane has started to run with me; at first I had to push her, but then she has relaxed into it and is now happy... We have dinner at "Dana"; some of G.M's "friends" have now turned away from him, for having supported Diane and me...

8-8-1981, Auroville:

The Supreme Court has outright rejected the SSJ's petition to be impleaded. ... Diane did well not to go to Delhi: there was no point actually, and even Savitra will now have to come back here... ... My nights have been poorly occupied, crowded with grey and complex activities, very close to Matter...

10-8-1981, Auroville:

We have learnt of Panditji's death.

12-8-1981, Auroville:

We are seeking for our balance. Diane has been resisting what she thinks as my allotting her a definite place in my "ordered universe"...

18-8-1981, Auroville:

Another letter from Jean has reached Diane here, regarding my supposed "attacks" on him and the children, and forbidding her to come and see them. She broods on it, passively... And it then breaks into a fight between us...

It is as if I must against all odds demonstrate, with such a show of love, that she has been right to come to me... But this isn't the way I feel; I feel the need for time; that in time the trust will build up that will allow for true affection to develop. I have more confidence in that than in a blaze that is then quenched and only leaves crumbling embers...

... I work a lot in the garden these days, the sun, slanting at a slight angle, pouring a soft, transparent, radiant light onto the damp leaves and grasses; there is a breath of joy and I breathe along, it is like a wedding lighting up an otherwise pointless universe – that of man's reign...

20-8-1981, Auroville:

Now "Pour Tous" sends us a good basket of food-stuff twice a week, and every time it feels like Father Christmas has come...

...Today Ojha makes us a surprise visit; in his own way, he misses us; he keeps telling us that we mustn't give up "our work"... It is funny...!

22-8-1981, Auroville:

Diane resents my involvement with Coni's class; perhaps she feels that I would grow into it if nothing else pulls me, and it is too unfamiliar to her; we need to find something we can do together, as an expression of our relationship – or as a demonstration of its validity?

29-8-1981, Auroville:

We attend a meeting on a new construction project to begin soon in "Dana" – for collective housing -, with the intention of proposing ourselves as coordinators... We put it to the others. Let us see...

... Since Diane has moved here, we have really seen very few people: G.M and Marcia, Barbara, John H sometimes, Krishna...

1-9-1981, Auroville:

We attend the general meeting. It seems to me that we are slowly and steadily strangling ourselves, within the freedom given us, into a condition which is in no way superior to the current, worldly one...: we are re-creating the limitations each of us had had to struggle out of individually, negating or ignoring the call to an awareness that no external means can ever produce...

5-9-1981, Auroville:

Diane and I have our first big fight; it happens on the road as we are going for our run, and I have to put hand prod her a little, and she provokes me, and I slap her, twice... She is stunned; and I am desperate!

I want her to be beautiful, to manifest her own harmony, to take care of herself, to trust and respect herself, so that I in turn may honour her and relate to her as a person... But she expects me to start from the beginning and to help her reach that strength she needs; and I can't: it is too passive, it almost repels me...

Yet I do want to help her, and to give her what she needs...

... We are called in the night to a field nearby where the SSJ's group, through its new German recruit, having purchased it, are now trying to start a new settlement; 4 carts have just come in and unloaded some materials; a few of us go over there I the dark: these people are such liars, it is clear we must prevent them from going ahead...

6-9-1981, Auroville:

Lots of us have collected at Matrimandir this morning, as the Home Minister, Zaïl Singh's visit, is expected; but he doesn't come...

... The tractor has come from "Auro Orchard"; by 10 am, about 60 of us walk over to that field, along with the tractor and trailer, and load all the materials that had been delivered in the night by SSJ's group, granite pillars and casuarinas poles mostly; we work well and fast, with a clear energy...

7-9-1981, Auroville:

C.E's father has sent plane tickets for the 3 of them; they are getting ready to leave...

... Diane is tired when we walk back from the beach and her feet are sore from the running; I carry her part of the way...

8-9-1981, Auroville:

Diane is more at peace, more confident; we need less talk; there is more time...

10-9-1981, Auroville:

At the general meeting the matter of Volcan comes up again. The terms are odd, but the decision is reached to go at once and remove his belongings from "Existence"; at Diane's and my request, Volcan himself comes along; when the cheap jokes die out, there is a long moment of quiet and the atmosphere becomes more transparent, and Volcan's problem can be seen with more simplicity... It is clear that he needs to leave...

14-9-1981, Auroville:

Diane has a small accident on her bike; P.M brings her home, with a bruised and swollen foot...

15-9-1981, Auroville:

C.E has gone ahead to Bombay already; and today we take V and Jayaura to their plane at Madras Airport...

16-9-1981, Auroville:

When I run, practice, exercise, even if otherwise I am unwell, I become one: it is all simple and there is that joy that has always been in the body, a joy that knows that a living and progressive perfection IS possible, a joy that loves and understands far more that it can ever appear to the mind...

17-9-1981, Auroville:

For the second time this weird "thief" comes into the house, in the middle of the night, and simply devours all the food that was kept in the cupboards...

18-9-1981, Auroville:

Diane has got resentful again, when she sensed the intimacy John H and I were sharing... But I can't help it! I just cannot ascribe to my whole nature one single fixed position...! I can't just be a man – or, rather, I can't just be turned to the "opposite" sex, exclusively, because... simply because this isn't my reality...!

20-9-1981, Auroville:

I have needed to be more silent, more centred, but Diane misinterprets this in terms of distance...

This evening, I had wanted to take a walk by myself; she misunderstood it, and it turned sour between us... She then thinks I am manipulating her, taking from her what I want and turning away when I am not interested; while I wish she would concentrate on her own progress rather than on our relationship...

21-9-1981, Auroville:

Diane has gone to "Jaïma" this morning, supposedly to look for some papers; and of course she met Jean there, who of course gave her the expected lecture, ranting about my possessing her as well as G.M and whoever happens to be close to me... And so she has come back with it; and it comes o me and throws me off-balance... I manage to slice my thumb with the cutter, and it bleeds profusely...: a summary!
... We do two hours of exercise in the afternoon, followed by a long run in the Green Belt; we have dinner in "Dana", quietly...

Yet, once home, we have to talk it over, and I feel that... this is the last time! I want no more of this! Not again! If it comes back once more, we part: I'll stay alone!

22-9-1981, Auroville:

We got up before dawn today, and started together, Diane to go play basket-ball and I to work-out in "Last School"...

... Uma came to ask us to help twice a week at the Boutique in Pondy, which she and "Shankar" – that is P.G's new name now that they have married! – are looking after... Perhaps we'll try that...

... There seems to be a sort of stalemate everywhere, all over the earth, and in us as well; and with us it is a waste of opportunity... but perhaps this is just how human substance behaves, here or there or anywhere, and it feels so poor, under the pressure of the new consciousness...

23-9-1981, Auroville:

Viewed from a centring in physical, corporeal work, psychological tensions appear almost as foreign, something old that persists still, a way of evolving that is becoming false. But the nerves are still weak...

... Today we go down to Pondy for our first shift at the Boutique; it seems to make Diane happy that there is thus something we can do together...

25-9-1981, Auroville:

Rumour or information, we "learn" that M.B and SSJ's group are hiring many villagers – hundreds? – to work on those fields they have separately purchased. An emergency meeting is called to decide what to do. Diane and I reach only at the end of it: along with G.M I insist that, instead of going to the field and try to prevent the arrival and delivery of people and materials, we should go to Th's house in "Certitude", where M.B is staying; everyone agrees to this and at once moves over there...

John H and I go to inform the Green Belt people about it; when I rejoin Diane and the others – Uma and Shankar have moved into Th's house already -, Diane is upset at me for going with John H and, goaded by the antagonism her "friends" are directing at me, she confronts me there and then about my "ambivalence"; she compares the warmth with which I responded to John H with the coolness I express towards her, she bursts with it...

I understand. I try to tell her of my own "history", of how I have been constantly experiencing this living question, how it is kept, held before me; and this talk appears to somewhat comfort her...

27-9-1981, Auroville:

This morning we go to the field and explain to the villagers who have been hired why we must stop the work they have been told to do. Ojha has actually been in favour of our moves; we wait for his corroboration and for the Police's decision...

And this evening M.B and his group are obliged to themselves remove their materials...

... The nerves are hurting again; it is not a localised pain, but a steady, unfluctuating, deep ache straining the body through, as if a cry in the subtle sheath was resounding here as pain... I have to withdraw into silence, and Diane understands; and it does us some good, we grow a little closer...

28-9-1981, Auroville:

I observe that this pressure on the nerves does not subside even when I run; it remains constant...

29-9-1981, Auroville:

I have remained withdrawn, out of sheer necessity.

It is one of these times when, just to look back a few days, one feels repulsion: wanting never to return to that condition...!

30-9-1981, Auroville:

F.S has come back for a short visit; he tells me of his life in Florida with Lila, where he works as a production manager for a big resort...

... Today a first letter has come from C.E and V, who are now in Nice...

1-10-1981, Auroville:

SSJ's group, who call themselves "Neutrals" now, have filed an affidavit on the side of the SAS, claiming their religious rights to pursue their sadhanas...!

7-10-1981, Auroville:

Sadate was shot dead yesterday.

What will be the consequences?

... With Diane it has been quietly deepening all these days; we have both felt the need for this period of silence, which requires attention and care...

14-10-1981, Auroville:

We have known for some days that Diane is again pregnant: today we have to talk...

16-10-1981, Auroville:

Diane is moody, physically perturbed, and complaining; I resent it when she is not in harmony with her physical being, and we then enter this vicious circle: I become distant, she feels unloved and unwanted and that in turn prevents her from recovering her balance, and it gets worse...

17-10-1981, Auroville:

Diane is seeking a confirmation, a proof of my wanting to live with her, to go on with her: a proof that would be strong enough to overcome and outweigh the pull and pressure of her former life, of her friends' judgement, of all that is said against me... And I feel helpless, over-conscious of my own shortcomings, of my inability to be wholly gathered into one single relationship, of my incapacity to reach for her effectively...

With her pregnancy she needs more than ever a sense of security, of being wanted...

18-10-1981, Auroville:

I ask You, Mother: what is the truth of this? Can we live together? Is it good?

I am afraid now, afraid that someone, anyone, may suffer because of me...

And this child is coming: this is no joke...!

21-10-1981, Auroville:

We are being subtly banned from the collective life, and unable as yet to reach harmony together...

I have had more dreams of the child, and that alone would make me happy, but the sense of impossibility is so strong, so pervasive and so intrusive...

... This condition we are in would only begin to make some sense of we could see ourselves only as "transients"... But our – what is the word? – substance? – is so full of social notions, whether "local" or "imported", so imbued with models and frames and images of "romance" with ascribed roles...

... We attend the general meeting. It feels a little... miserable. There seems to be a dominating sense of political compromise now... I can see the roles played by some of us, such as Fred, and I do not envy them!

There is irony in this: I had so yearned for the disharmony in my relationship to this community to be healed and resolved, but, today, seeing the trends, I have no inclination whatsoever toward the line being followed and no sympathy for the attitudes expressed...

But for Diane it has been useful, for she could understand our withdrawal in a different light; we could only have refused this compromise, we would not have adhered...

24-10-1981, Auroville:

Diane feels very uncomfortable in this first stage of pregnancy; she cries often, and complains...

We have exercised together this morning, but this afternoon, she does not want to come running and does not want me to go alone either... But I go. And I run a long time, and I run back in the rain, fully drenched but a little more unified...

Diane is resentful and will not talk to me...

25-10-1981, Auroville:

When I see that Diane, at breakfast, is keeping to that dark mood, I blow!

I ask her to sit by my side and to talk. I tell her she cannot go on blaming me all the time; that, to me, the whole experience with her is a gift and I am trying to receive it truly, but I shall not fight in order to keep it if she persists in pressuring and blackmailing me to be different than what I am; that I am willing and grateful to continue with her and to grow with her and the child who is coming, but that I shall not cling to it: she has to know whether this is a gift for her as well, and an opportunity for progress, or not...

... I do not know what to do... I feel, in fact, more connected, and more intimately so, to the child...

26-10-1981, Auroville:

It has been raining all these days and, but for Barbara yesterday, we haven't seen anyone since last Thursday...

... I am sorry to cause someone to suffer; I don't know what to do about it... But now, there is the child!

... I don't understand! Why does not the Lord take possession of His substance?

What a poor barren hell is this condition of ours!

... I sit down to write to Al.B, to ask him to try and break through these strong formations and to reconsider his rejection of Diane and help her instead to feel that she still has her friends and can still work and participate wherever she feels to... I do it with concentration, not yet knowing whether I'll actually send it...

... Marcia comes to see Diane and share with her the news: she too is pregnant, and has dreamt that Diane had come to tell her the same! This indeed is a sweet timing...!

27-10-1981, Auroville:

While I am resting, this afternoon, suddenly, You appear...! You are smiling, and Your smile is so sweet, with a tinge of tender irony, so very present – and seemingly ignoring whatever it is that obstructs me, my shortcoming and my “lies”, yet knowing, knowing it all, but... divinely knowing, securely, in utter simplicity, without any blame or reproach...

29-10-1981, Auroville:

One of the topics at the general meeting today is... Matrimandir and the lack of commitment: not a new topic! But, for once, there is something shared, as if perhaps we were about to value, collectively, the essential importance of Matrimandir... perhaps there is a chance. It is to be the main topic next week. Perhaps Piero will accept to work on the completion of the Inner Chamber as a priority...

I saw my past two years of wandering, as the evidence of this step had been denied, as a kind of sinister burden just about to be lifted, and the inner certitude ready to surge again of the imperious necessity for Matrimandir to BE and to radiate... This is the key to the true growth of Auroville and the fulfilment of the one wish You have expressed...

Even Diane felt this, for once!

... It has always been difficult for me to adjust to the rhythms of this “collective being”; I have tried to be sociable and to accept, and to view my own intolerance as something to offer and to change; I have tried to participate in the other aspects of our life here... And I went down, each time more heavily, and was attacked...

I have seen a lot; I hope I have learnt my lessons...

But the central thing is still veiled: as long as each of us cannot freely go to the given source of Change, the completed and active Matrimandir, our given focus of growing awareness, and learn to refer all of life to It, we are bound to keep wandering, each and all, and nothing stable can be achieved...

1-11-1981, Auroville:

This morning I had to take Ruud down to see the doctor in Pondy, for a deep infection he’s been having.

When I return I find that Diane is still closed and brooding, just because yesterday night John H came to see me and she is jealous... We hardly talk for the rest of the day.

And this evening it breaks out: she says she better packs up and leaves. She trusts me so little and she keeps opening to that contrary pressure that is still on me, and to provoke me with it...She does it again...

I take hold of her and shake her, desperately, shouting to her to stop, please to stop; we both fall onto the floor, crying...

And then it is silent, for a long time.

We go to bed, quietly...

5-11-1981, Auroville:

At the general meeting on Matrimandir this afternoon, G.M speaks up several times and it is good. He is becoming firmer, and simpler, more confident in the validity of his own experience. Al.B speaks too, and is able to channel a quality of energy that reminds us all of those days when so much was poured on us, concretely, by You!

After many years of indifference, even of hostility, Matrimandir is again throbbing in our midst, no longer secluded in the private experience of a few...

When Piero speaks, though, his own lack of faith becomes so visible...!

... There is too much revolt in me, and too little respect and tolerance, too little sense of natural fraternity...

6-11-1981, Auroville:

Taking a walk together, we get into an argument. Diane reproaches me for everything I do and feel with the workers, and complains that she has no space... The way she speaks, it seems there is simply nothing she appreciates, it is all negative...

I propose to her that I leave for a while, to give her that space and the time to find out on her own whether, and how, she wants to live with me.

But she refuses, saying it is for her to go away.

And thus we move, in circles, till I tease her out of it and we can laugh...

... But this evening, I just have to go and find Yel, who is on-duty, and we meet, like two soldier friends in times of war; blunt and yet sweet and caring...

7-11-1981, Auroville:

I am reading "Le Sang de l'Espoir", by Samuel Pissar, and it is a teaching! This IS sharing! It makes me weep silent tears: this man's experience is so humbling.

This single testimony is unique; it bears witness to the very worst as to the very best in this "creation", with at once a sober maturity and the candour of a child...

8-11-1981, Auroville:

This Sunday has been for me fairly simple and quiet; I did the usual chores, and went on reading Samuel Pissar's book, meditating with it...

But tonight when I join Diane upstairs, she is harsh and bitter; she tells me she is still planning to leave... I cannot answer. Then she says that she is not sincere, and she goes downstairs to sleep alone...

9-11-1981, Auroville:

I do not want to argue further. I feel ready to accept that I must be alone, rather than to cause any suffering. But there is the child, and it is my chance to grow with it.

Yet, if Diane cannot at all find here what she needs, it must indeed be better that we part...

... At 9 am I go alone to attend the meeting that has been called of all those who are willing to commit to regular work at Matrimandir. Many have come. Everyone puts their name down; I put mine for the afternoons, except Thursday... Diane does come, later on, but abstains.

And so, this afternoon, I go back to work at Matrimandir... I had wanted to return within a collective movement, the expression of "us" and its practical commitment...

... Tonight Diane confronts me with my bisexuality. But what can I do?

I have never made any secret about it, it has always been plain for everyone to see, I cannot deny it, negate it or make it vanish just for her sake!

And what does she know, what does anyone know, of what I go through inwardly?

Yet she goes on insisting and provoking me, till I can't take any more and I again get hold of her and shake her to make her stop... Then we move inside the house and are able to talk more quietly, with more care...

... I cook the diner while everyone listens to the Agenda...

13-11-1981, Auroville:

I have received the last Volume of Your Agenda, at last, which had been blocked at the Customs... This Agenda... It is far too terrible and too momentous for words...

14-11-1981, Auroville:

I have been ill, with constant fever, reading Your Agenda, filled by it...

20-11-1981, Auroville:

Diane has been hostile these last days. We can hardly talk.

I have suddenly understood that I had underestimated her passivity; I had always been addressing her as a friend, an equal, turning to the consciousness in her, and I had not realised how passive she was under the play of contradictions in her own mind, and how stressful it must be for her own body...

21-11-1981, Auroville:

Today I have the experience of the space, the position and the movement where Diane has been wanting me to come, to meet and be with her... And I feel thankful and I know how dear she is to me...

And tonight she comes to me, not quite sure, but for once I can take her in my arms effortlessly, and we meet and she becomes tranquil and we sleep...

22-11-1981, Auroville:

Krishna has been staying in Pondy because of another crisis with his kidneys, and I have been going to him, or taking him for the day to "Utility". He would have rather wanted to rest here with me, but Diane would resent it and it would be no rest at all but a mess... I feel sorry about it, though... Now he has to get some tests done, for which he may have to go to the Hospital in Kodaikanal for a week or so, and I want to try and be with him at least a few days...

24-11-1981, Auroville:

Diana tells me that she went yesterday looking for another place to stay...

So, just to break the mechanical routine of it all, I act a scene this evening: I prevent her from going to "Dana" to bring the basket as she does usually; I take her bike keys, and carry the basket myself to "Dana", where I stay awhile.

When I return, I find her trying to start her bike with a borrowed key; I take the spark-plug away; she goes mad!

E.B, who'd just come visiting, is watching quite amused and begins to laugh out loud; and we all laugh...

And tonight we can meet again... If she wants me on that level, alright: I can do that!

25-11-1981, Auroville:

Last night I had a long experience with Satprem very close, very close...

But this was followed by a strange dream in which parts of Savitra and of a few others were like... unmasked, and it was terrible...

At the dance class this morning, we all work with music, and I return from it all happy; and here Diane and I are able to quietly walk around the house and see together how we could build an extra room, harmoniously...

And tonight, as if it was a purposeful determination that drove her, she starts winding the negative mechanics all over again... As I am still in excellent mood, I manage to tease her out of it; but the unease has crept back in...

26-11-1981, Auroville:

Diane is nasty this morning: she says it has to be "like that", there is no other way...

And perhaps I have finished with trying too...

I only feel an ever more imperious need to centre, fearlessly and, if possible, lovingly...

29-11-1981, Auroville:

John H has come to have dinner with us. Of course Diane is upset and makes that clear as soon as he has left.

She then declares, semi-provocative, that she is now detaching herself from me...

When I fully agree and approve, she looks at me... We laugh!

And the night is tranquil...

30-11-1981, Auroville:

Diane is lovely this morning when I return from "Last School"; she has dressed nicely, ready for us to drive to Pondy, and it feels happy together...

... We go to our usual restaurant, near to where Krishna is staying, and Dom comes to tell me that he's had to leave in a rush to a special doctor in Madras, as he woke up all swollen up from a new blockage of his kidneys... I get worried...

1-12-1981, Auroville:

Tonight a big black rock has fallen on our way...

As most nights, several people come and listen to the Agenda, and John H is always one of them. Diane has gone to "Dana". It has rained, so everyone has stayed on a bit longer, waiting for it to abate. John H is still with me I the house when Diane returns. He leaves almost at once, but, that was it...! She starts, and goes on pressing and pressing, and it brings me to a place I had never been, where I have no control... I hit her.

The rest of me is watching, calm, but I am deeply moved by what I see in her eyes. I know how important she is to me and yet here I am, shouting at her and hitting her...

Silence falls.

I kneel at her feet, hugging her knees; she is immobile, her eyes very wide and very alive...

Slowly we can smile, and move...

It is midnight when we go to sleep.

In the night, I suddenly hear things toppling down... I cautiously go down the stairs, turn on the light: a long green snake is there...!

2-11-1981, Auroville:

I had to talk to John H. I go and fetch him after the work; we walk over to the Banyan tree. I don't have to say much, just to make him aware of Diane's needs; but it gives us a chance for the first time to openly touch upon our bond, and for the validity of our friendship to affirm itself... He is so dear to me, so virgin too in so many ways; I'd never want to "spoil" it, or to claim anything in him, of him...

3-12-1981, Auroville:

Comment décrire ?

Il y a ces moments de clarté intérieure où l'on sait, avec évidence et une sorte de joie enfantine, les progrès que l'on veut faire, la conscience que l'on est né pour tenter de réaliser et d'incarner... : la simplicité véritable à laquelle on aspire à s'unir.

Et puis le reste : cette complexité de mouvements et d'états, cet imbroglio de difficultés et d'interactions, ce brassage, et, comme en arrière et lentement, l'établissement graduel d'une certaine égalité...

Nous avons à faire avec cette pourriture subtile du mental, ces « bonnes volontés » qui, presque insensiblement, nous éloignent du chemin ; ce « display of self satisfaction », et c'est dégoûtant, et cela se traduit aussi matériellement... Ainsi j'ai vu aujourd'hui cette nouvelle brochure avec le nom d' « Artisanat Trust » en grosses lettres juste dessous le symbole d'Auroville, et j'ai senti comme l'ombre de ce même mensonge que nous avons lutté à défaire dans notre bataille « contre » la SAS, resurgir du dedans de notre réalité partagée, sans que personne semble s'en rendre compte... J'ai senti que je ne voulais pas faire partie de ça... Il y a une médiocrité prétentieuse, un manque de qualité ou d'exigence, alors que nous sont donnés toute la liberté et tout le soutien dont nous ne pouvions jamais rêver...

7-12-1981, Auroville:

The "thief" came again, in the night; but this time I woke up right away, crept silently down and almost caught him in my arms, but he slipped and ran... In the moonlight, though, I clearly saw who it was... and wished that I had not!

A moment later, Dennis came; he'd also just been visited; I told him who I had seen...

8-12-1981, Auroville:

Things have developed around these thefts. Ruud has come to know whom I have seen and recalled he had a similar experience in his room at the Camp earlier this year, but couldn't believe it was possible... Later, P described the clothes K had been wearing yesterday evening, and it was exactly those I had seen... Still, I cannot figure what to do, as it is bound to trigger a whole drama with all the kids here...

9-12-1981, Auroville:

And today it has turned nasty, after K and a few of his friends went to enlist the support of Toine and Meenakshi, who then began to accuse me of being "against the Tamil people"...

This has gone to the Coop, and this afternoon I am summoned from work to the office, to "explain myself"... (At the same time, the "Delhi pros" have returned, with the same active discrimination against me and, by association, against Diane, and have already asked that she returns the Cement application papers, as she must not do any collective work...) So, in this atmosphere, I have to try and tell the facts; I focus on Arjun and Deepti and Bill S and manage to overcome the tension. And they have to tell me then that this matter has actually nothing to do with them and they trust my word...

But, afterwards, neither Ruud nor John or I know what to do next...

... This evening Diane tells me what her friend Kéa, who now works with Satprem, has said, with all the conviction and strength of authority she derives from her new position; this is how it goes: I am a mental asuric being who destroys all those who come close to him, who lives in the very falsehood that must now surrender; and I should not remain in Auroville; that I have not changed and will not change; and that she, Kéa, had been so pained upon learning of Diane's relationship with me, that she had herself concentrated and consciously severed the connection between us, in order to save Diane – referring probably to our earlier split ...

The irony here is that I had insisted Diane must meet Kéa again – I thought she needed a good friend...!

... To top it all, John H comes in to ask for the Cement papers from Diane.

I blow at him: I had not realised that they had asked him to be the go-between; and in his weakness he accepted to be used!

He understands, then, and we decide that Diane will herself return these papers to the office tomorrow...

... As far as I am able to know, there is a bit of truth in what people are saying, but they make of it the exclusively determining factor and that is an untruth...! For the sake of their own politics, they choose to ignore what is actually the matter at stake, what I must endure, what I fight for, what I understand and see, what I AM... They prefer to condemn, and it is neither honest nor courageous... For it is precisely because I offer this contradiction all the time, this contradiction which is to some degree lodged in every human breast, it is because I present it to the light always, that it can be seen...!

... What worries me the most is that, whether I choose to stay or to leave, the consequences are now for the child as well.

... In a way, none of this is real...

I have gone through it several times now, and I have learnt to stand on my own truth...

12-12-1981, Auroville:

I realise that each one is necessarily and truly alone with whatever part, amount or specificity of consciousness one is given to grow by, and to grow into, towards That... And as this realisation slowly occurs, this blind need for communication and sharing and recognition is calmed, and one sees things a little differently, and less expectantly...

14-12-1981, Auroville:

There is disgust, especially upon waking, at being so dumb, so resisting, and so identified with... all this!

... Diane has decided she will write to Satprem to seek his advice, through Kéa. This is alright. Something has evolved between us. It seems more solid.

... D.M has sent Johnny to me today with a message: she wants to see me! After so long! "Yes", I said, "of course!"...

So I go, this afternoon. Johnny is waiting for me at the door to let me in; she is seated on a low bed, ready for me; she has grown, inwardly: it is tangible in her eyes... She can then tell me of her experiences the way she can tell no other, and we can laugh together as we used to; she exists in me always...

But much of her physical daily life is a hell to endure...

15-12-1981, Auroville:

Bhaga comes to see us and offers Diane the job of looking after "Free Store" and the "Maintenance Service"; I am glad of it; I think she ought to accept. But she says she must first get well, I herself and with me... I believe it is the other way round, that to have a disciplined activity and service will greatly help her, and us...!

16-12-1981, Auroville:

I have been out this morning: to the dance class as usual, then to Fraternity to pick up the lamp I have designed for C, then to "Utility" to fetch Krishna's things which Anne has packed for me... When I return, cheerful, I find Diane sitting with Barbara, very quiet, and Diane has a small and funny face; I ask whether someone has come, perhaps some bad news? Indeed, it was Kéa.

She had come to return Diane's letter to Satprem; she wouldn't take it. She said to Diane that as long as she remained with me, she could not be with them – with those who are on the true path... Impressive!

So, now it is official!

The Church has declared me the enemy!

And Diane is outcast, banished, cut off from the Guru, the "Incarnate"...

These self-righteous children have all the rights!

... I am struck by a dimension to this drama that far exceeds the scope of my own little subjective experience, with its necessities of progress... For it touches on a central issue: how we, human beings, behave in the presence of the Incarnation, what we make of it, and how eventually we force Him or Her to withdraw...

And I am a little awed by the implications of the role I am given... that is enforced on my existence...!

... We decide to send Diane's letter by the Post; we go down to Pondy to mail it together, and it is a rather happy moment, in fact...!

18-12-1981, Auroville:

Today Diane formally joined her new work at the "Maintenance Service"; on that level, Auroville is still wide enough for her to find her place...

19-12-1981, Auroville:

D.M has called for me again, and I spend part of the morning with her: she is such a being! But I worry a little: my current "situation" mustn't affect her in any way; she has more than enough to struggle with already...!

20-12-1981, Auroville:

I can't any more afford to be depressed or to stray in my old moods... Diane is now a constant reminder of the life I have chosen and cannot shy away from... It is good for me!

22-12-1981, Auroville:

Aujourd'hui, pour la première fois depuis que je suis à Auroville, ma joie et ma gratitude d'être « là » ont suffoqué, sous le force de cette pression contraire : je me suis senti tangiblement rejeté – par quoi, je ne sais pas...

Je comprend tellement la nécessité de ne pas se concentrer sur la petite personne, et je fais de mon mieux, de plus en plus... Mais c'est comme si cela devenait pire : cela revient plus fort que jamais !

C'est vraiment comme si Diane servait d'instrument à cette formation, comme si elle-même travaillait à ce que je m'en aille, finalement...

Je ne comprends pas ; c'est un climat si irréel, qui colle à la vie...

J'éprouve la nécessité d'être plus grand que ce qui s'oppose et contredit ou cherche à détruire, de ne pas me retirer, de ne pas cesser d'aimer...

23-12-1981, Auroville :

A la tombée du jour, après le travail, Diane est venue me trouver près de Matrimandir... Les yeux pleins, elle m'a tendu la réponse de Satprem...

C'est Nicole qui la lui a portée, dans l'après-midi, une Nicole bien différente, qui l'a embrassée !

Peut-être aurons-nous maintenant la paix, peut-être devront-ils respecter Diane et accepter le chemin qu'elle a choisi ?

Satprem a écrit :

« 18-12-81. Diane, que ce soit l'occasion d'un grand nettoyage et d'une nouvelle naissance pour toi. Divakar et le problème de Divakar ; toi, ton problème – c'est cet enfant qu'il faut combler d'amour et de joie et d'harmonie au lieu de lui faire absorber la tristesse et la petitesse du monde et la division, les déchirements. Balaie tout cela, aime cet enfant – laisse Divakar à son sort et chacun à son sort, et peu importe ce qu'on en dit – toi, tu RE-NAIS avec cet enfant et tu nettoies tout un passé. Bon courage, avec toi. Satprem. »

Voilà. Je me suis senti délivré d'un fardeau.

Maintenant il y a quelque chose, un signe tangible qu'elle peut regarder, à quoi elle peut se référer.

... J'ai senti combien Satprem était fatigué... combien, parfois, il devait se sentir seul... Je regrette tant d'avoir si mal communiqué avec lui, d'avoir traîné cette ombre, cette peur et cette petitesse si longtemps, de n'avoir pu l'aimer comme je l'aime vraiment...

24-12-1981, Auroville:

These are jewels of days, cool, vivid and radiant...

28-12-1981, Auroville:

Diane is getting busy again, with this "Maintenance" work and people again come and go and papers again pile up on the table... it is fun to watch!

... Marcia has told her today how determined Nicole, Al.B and even Shankar had been to make me leave Auroville...

29-12-1981, Auroville:

At work this afternoon Anne came to tell me that Krishna wants to see me. This evening I tell Diane about it, as we are getting ready to go down to "Aspiration" with P, Jossie and the kids, to watch Satyajit Ray's film; she has been restless, moving away from me in a weird manner, and this has puzzled me as on my side I have been aware of moving closer to her and of being happier... Her presence, the life of our relationship, the coming of the child, all this has had a clear effect on me and I have been opening to positive energy... Yet, tonight, faced with her response, I feel a distance, and it begins to affect me...

30-12-1981, Auroville:

When I return from the early-morning class, I find Diane looking so sad, but she wouldn't tell me about it...

It is only once she has left for work that it strikes me: she is in that state because I am going to see Krishna...! Which means to her that I am still in need of friendship other than what we have together...?

I try to lay it all in the Lord's hands... and I drive down to Pondy to see Krishna.

He has gone through some substantial changes, and seems to be freed from much of his outer turmoil. The doctors have found what is ailing him: the "sickle cell"...

It is a mutant cell, passed on hereditarily, that creates, or generates, a different kind of red cell equipped to resist and to fight paludism; it was first identified three centuries ago in a black African man – that is at least what Krishna has understood from the doctors' explanation... In cases of high fever, under certain conditions of shock, or at high altitudes, these red cells tend to proliferate so fast that they block the oxygen supply in the blood and crowd up in the kidneys, which cannot filter them any more; their shape is that of a thin crescent, so they tend to mass together. There is nothing, it seems, that can be done, except to avoid extreme physical conditions, and any kind of infection...

I am full of him, of the presence of him...

... But I have to work very hard to bring Diane back to trust, and to comfort her, and to let her know I do want to continue with her... Something in her keeps saying "No". No...

... I become suddenly very tired...

31-12-1981, Auroville;

Diane refuses to eat the lunch I have prepared.

I do not insist this time. We are two; there are two of us, and each of the two must collaborate to this growing together...

But this, the last day of the year...! I don't know!

And then it becomes so blocked, so absurd, so helpless and so bizarre too... She packs off some of her things and makes to go away on her cycle... I catch hold of her...

She weeps, a long time, in my arms...

She quietens...

And G.M rides in, to wish us for the New Year!

It is all so comic too, and we begin to laugh... And thus we make it...

A last tight turn of the year now gone...

Tonight we meet, and hardly sleep, and are ready to go to the Dawn Fire...

1-1-1982, Auroville:

We sit with everybody at the amphitheatre watching a low fire prepared by F.Gr that burns all on one side and creeps along without glory...
We leave early, rather than face empty greetings...

2-1-1982, Auroville:

Reading the newspaper, I am rushed into a fold of ordinary consciousness, where it is obvious that there is nowhere in "me" any fitness for this path... I am only meant for an ordinary life, with some special traits, granted, but close-ended and devoid of any decisive aspiration, of any radical fire... And it is maddening, idiotic...: a hole I fell in!

De nouveau Diane pense à partir...

Il est probablement impossible pour cette substance encore gouvernée par le mental de dépasser cette disposition des pôles – masculin, féminin... C'est pourtant un aspect du problème qu'il m'a été donné de porter et d'apprendre à offrir...

6-1-1982, Auroville :

Le travail sur la structure étant retardé à cause de la soudure, j'avais choisi de passer quelques jours à tailler les arbres et arbustes du côté de la Cuisine...

Ce matin, revenant de la classe de danse, je trouve Cl avec Diane, venue me « convier » le message de F.Gr: je dois cesser de travailler dans les Jardins, car c'est là son domaine...

... Tout fait mal... Et moi aussi je fais mal...

J'ai voulu tout laisser... C'est sans issue.

Diane veut partir et ne le veut pas, à la fois, et elle tire et elle presse, jusqu'à ce que j'éclate, encore une fois.

Nous sommes tous les deux comme fous, possédés...

Elle n'est qu'un « Non » de son côté d'un abîme, elle femme et moi homme, sans l'être vraiment...

Je l'ai frappée, encore...

Puis, dans le calme revenu, nous passons des heures à parler...

Plusieurs fois la semaine, je travaille une demi matinée avec D.M chez elle.

Je ne sens pas encore clairement si ces visites lui sont utiles, mais il y a un partage intérieur ; elle est vraiment ma sœur, et ça, c'est important...

... La petite hutte ici est de nouveau disponible, et Krishna souhaite y venir vivre ; mais Diane y voit une manipulation de ma part, et me juge avec une sorte de froideur qui, peut-être, lui permet de prendre une distance dont elle a besoin...

Entêtée dans sa négation et son refus, Diane a cette curieuse fierté d'un enfant qui veut tant être aimé mais craint de se donner et redoute son propre appel...

... Krishna est arrivé tard ce soir, avec ses bagages, accompagné par Dom, heureux, joyeux...

Diane ne comprend pas le pourquoi de mes actions ; elle a si peur d'être trompée...

Elle s'était durcie ; je l'ai prise dans mes bras et l'ai tenue là jusqu'à ce qu'elle puisse rire...

13-1-1982, Auroville :

D.M m'a fait chercher ce matin. Elle est bouleversée : elle vient d'écouter Ton dernier entretien enregistré avec Satprem, et elle pleure, ne cesse plus de pleurer...

Mon corps toujours cherche à communiquer à son corps encore paralysé quelque chose comme un mouvement simple de confiance, qui effacerait la peine et la peur... Est-ce que ma présence peut lui être utile ?

16-1-1982, Auroville :

C est arrivée et, cette fois, R l'a accompagnée.

Après 9 ans sans se voir, il est très ému, prêt à s'ouvrir, plus transparent.

C est immédiate, là, toujours...

Et Diane semble contente...

17-1-1982, Auroville :

Krishna a besoin de se sentir tout à fait accepté, mais il redoute ici de voir se rompre une espèce d'état de grâce dans lequel il s'est trouvé ces derniers temps...

Je suis si reconnaissant que Tu l'aies ramené ici et que nous soyons l'un près de l'autre à nouveau...

22-1-1982, Auroville :

Ces temps-ci je dois trouver un équilibre qui me demande de me donner plus et avec plus de confiance. Il y a Krishna, il y a bien sûr Diane, il y a C et R, le travail et la discipline corporelle, et les après-midi au Matrimandir...

Il y a eu aussi les évènements relatifs à la prise d'un terrain stratégique par M.B et le groupe des « neutres » de SSJ, à l'entrée d'Auroville – et les fastidieuses réunions d'Auroviliens, incapables ensemble de se diriger ou de s'offrir à une action droite et directe...

... Je dois m'occuper de C, qui est en difficulté physiquement ; la condition de sa colonne vertébrale s'était aggravée ces mois derniers, et j'ai trouvé de la peur dans son corps, et de la confusion, après qu'elle se soit aveuglément soumise aux formations des médecins et autres « spécialistes » ; alors nous travaillons chaque jour, et elle a pu acquérir une détermination de chasser la peur ; nous faisons des exercices ensemble, je lui donne des massages...

Avec R, la relation est ouverte, et honnête... C'est agréable !

24-1-1982, Auroville :

Je crois que la seule aide véritable que l'on puisse s'apporter les uns aux autres, l'un à l'autre, est de voir simplement et de sentir sincèrement la présence du divin en chacun... Et pourtant, comme on oublie ce que cela peut être, comme on nie ou recouvre cette loi essentielle...

... Aujourd'hui j'ai pu faire venir Birenda pour examiner C et m'aider à lui redonner confiance...

26-1-1982, Auroville :

Diane se ferme à nouveau...

Elle craint le moment où « les gens » sauront qu'elle attend un autre enfant... Je ne sais pas – elle est déjà si grosse – comment « ils » n'ont pas déjà compris... !

Ce matin elle a refusé de venir manger, et je l'ai retrouvée en larmes, dans la chambre...

31-1-1982, Auroville :

Un « incident » intéressant ce matin : c'est dimanche, et nous nous apprêtons à descendre à la plage, en taxi, quand on vient me chercher d'urgence ; F.Ga vient de tomber de moto, près de la Nursery ; un orteil arraché. Pas de drame mais, dans le corps, une détermination instantanée : je le met dans le taxi, et nous allons tout de suite à Jipmer ; je persuade le personnel des urgences de faire venir immédiatement un chirurgien ; l'opération a lieu ; l'orteil, qui était presque entièrement séparé, est remis en place...

Il y avait cette tendresse entre nous, quelque chose qui transcende le temps d'une vie, et qui était libre, là, de s'exprimer...

3-2-1982, Auroville :

Je ne sais pas vivre.

Mon sentiment spontané est d'être seul, et disponible à ces moments gratuits d'une rencontre, d'un contact, d'un partage...

Il semble impossible d'exister en toute sincérité, en toute honnêteté, dans l'atmosphère mentale générale, avec son cortège de « lois » et d'habitudes...

5-2-1982, Auroville :

Ce matin nous avons travaillé pendant 5 heures à « Last School », et je me sens heureux dans ce travail, sa matérialité, sa simplicité, et la qualité des contacts qui s'y développent, par l'écoute, le mouvement, la danse, et l'aspiration directe du corps, comme une appréhension de l'harmonie...

Et, de retour ici, je ne sais plus... !

Il doit y avoir une clé, là : apprendre à ne plus interférer, à laisser naître ce qui est prêt à naître, et laisser partir ce qui n'a plus à continuer, en gardant au cœur une confiance toujours plus présente, exacte et fidèle...

6-2-1982, Auroville :

Je suis allé voir D.M comme chaque samedi. Et, en rentrant, je trouve que Diane a décidé de partir, me laissant une lettre qui fait mal... Elle a déjà fait son sac...

Une parole provocatrice, et j'ai viré... !

Je l'ai saisie et l'ai poussée dehors et elle a réagi avec la même violence : nous nous sommes battus dans le jardin, jusqu'à ce que G.M arrive et nous sépare, devant C et R impuissants... Près de G.M je me suis alors mis à pleurer, pleurer...

Il est resté jusqu'à ce que nous puissions nous retrouver...

Et le soir, tout le soir, Diane et moi sommes restés tout près l'un de l'autre, et elle a pu enfin dire « Oui », vraiment ; et nous avons regardé comment nous pourrions marcher ensemble, de ce jour...

9-2-1982, Auroville :

Aujourd'hui la fête de Diane, et deux enfants sont nés à Auroville, et le Procès a commencé à Delhi...

Nous avons passé toute la journée tous les deux seuls, ici d'abord, puis près du Samadhi, puis à regarder l'océan... Diane était heureuse de ses cadeaux...

13-2-1982, Auroville :

C et R sont repartis : la voiture très en retard, une course effrénée jusqu'à l'aéroport ; une grande tendresse...

16-2-1982, Auroville:

It is so damn difficult between us...

It is always too late when I realise, again and again, what a child she is, while I keep stubbornly addressing her as an adult, as a whole being, expecting from her a sort of generosity of nature which, obviously, is meaningless to her...

But today I have started digging the trenches for the foundations of that extra-room we have seen together: it is my offering to the presence of the child...

17-2-1982, Auroville:

Diane has now "decided" to move into C's house, and she has taken her things there, kicking a whole cloud of negativity...

I cling to my resolve not to get provoked, not to let violence rise in me again...

I feel so impuissant and so tired...

... I am reading Lyall Watson's book "La Marée de la Vie", which could almost be seen as an exact transcription, in "scientific" terms, of the way that was opened by the Two of You...

18-2-1982, Auroville:

Diane is laying conditions: I must prove to her that I want a life with her, and for this it is as if I must turn away from wherever and whomever I have given myself to, opened myself to...

This morning she comes to "talk" and goes as far as to threaten that she will return to "Jaima" and to Jean and her kids... with our child yet unborn...!

In a way I wish this was all my fault alone, and You would just show me what to do and I'd do it and it would be fine... But it is also with her and in her...

I only answered that I was going to Pondy for cement and would continue with the construction of that room; that this was the expression of my trust in our relationship, and I had nothing else to say...

19-2-1982, Auroville:

This morning at "Last School", J.Cl comes to tell me the latest news form Delhi: the Supreme Court, after hearing the Government and Nariman, has taken a definite and categorical stance against the SAS, their claims and positions; this has come out in radical and overwhelming manner... There is still one more day allotted to the Case, before the final Verdict is issued...

20-2-1982, Auroville:

The nights are very difficult, for both of us; but for G.M and Marcia as well. Marcia even had a very precise dream of pujas being conducted in their very house, against them...! (Marcia is from Brazil...!)

21-2-1982, Auroville:

Everything is a question, isn't it? Every moment, every circumstance is a question in itself: how to do this, how to respond to that, how to be true in this world... And it all merges sometimes into one growing need for consciousness...

... I wake Diane up at 5 am and we go to the amphitheatre to watch the Urn lit near the Urn for Your birthday... Diane is worried about me, with the nights I have had, but somehow, I feel strangely very well...

The Fire is lean; it burns high and fast, smokeless, with dense green gold flames against the still dark star-studded sky...

... Krishna has now realised how our relationship has been a problem for Diane, and it affects him... And this morning, Diane and I almost have another scene, about him, and something just snaps within me: I don't care; I can't care any more...!

22-2-1982, Auroville:

Tonight we go watch the play performed by the "Aspiration" group; poetry, music and dance, with petit Pas as a pivotal figure, with text from Satprem and from "Savitri": there is quality. It is a relief...!

23-2-1982, Auroville:

The nights leave me raw, with a lingering sadness.

The Case is dragging on; the SAS lawyers have been given additional time...
 ... Had I been alone, all these days, I could have gone deeper into a state of nakedness, of bare need, like stone and mud, a primary cry and call for That Presence... But one must remain afloat!

24-2-1982, Auroville:

It seems to me that, in this official physical reality, the only relationship that is whole in itself is with material Nature...

Between "us" human beings, it's like we are ensconced in veils and shadows that only let us see fragments of one another, distorted, and force us to use a language that is so clumsy and broken up and slow that it kills all inner directness of gift and recognition...

... I have been groping around hints of a name for the child who is coming, and wondering: shall I be able to respond to those needs, shall I be available?

When I see how life goes with the kids and "parents" here, I want to run away...!

25-2-1982, Auroville:

The Case has closed yesterday. The Judges are now deliberating.

26-2-1982, Auroville:

For the first time in our group work at "Last School", Coni offers to dance for us after the class; it is good... Her response to music and her awareness of space seem so familiar to me, to my body, although of course I am so far from her trained physical plasticity...

27-2-1982, Auroville:

We have all felt that Petra should now leave Auroville, before she flips, if only for her child's sake... Amparo has agreed to stay with her in Pondy for the first few days... I take them down...

... Diane has gone to "Jaïma" today to see her kids, and Jean has thrown a heavy lot at her, and at our unborn child as well... Is that really necessary? When it could all be just... simple, and we could all be close and friendly...?

28-2-1982, Auroville:

This morning Savitra reports to us, at a general meeting, on the Delhi events and the process of the Supreme Court... It is interesting enough for me not to be repelled by this touch of gross vulgarity in Savitra's ways...

... The Fire takes place in the evening at the amphitheatre.

Auroville is 14 years old.

There is a possibility in the atmosphere, but it is quickly obscured by a rush for food, and the presence of some ugly visitors playing music near the Urn.

Diane and I can't bear it and leave.

This Auroville is outwardly not even interesting anymore and, psychologically, so many of the attitudes displayed are so... small! What are we here for, what are we serving?

3-3-1982, Auroville:

There is a near-constant emotional blackmail coming from Diane, and it is not very subtle...! Whenever she judges or feels that I am not present enough in our relationship, or that it doesn't satisfy me sufficiently, she re-opens to the negative formations and to the possibility of her "moving back"... It has increased in tenor and power as she knows I am preparing for the coming of our child, growing more aware of it as days go by, and more attuned to it...

... I cannot be, just and only, a man... I am not built that way...

When we do not think of it, of our "roles", I can then feel our togetherness and the freedom to express it; but it just cannot be exclusive with me... I have never pretended otherwise, nor let anybody thin otherwise, so how can she, now, blame me for it?

5-3-1982, Auroville:

There is a kind of anguish at the waste I have caused!

How much have I cost, all along!

There is a longing to be able to re-live and change the past, to evolve that painful mess, to offer it...

7-3-1982, Auroville:

I feel a great need for time

Conscious time

Eyes that see

Soul who knows

Love that flows...

8-3-1982, Auroville:

We have been in Pondy much of the day.

This evening we learn that Tineke has been savagely beaten by about 15 SAS watchmen and was taken to Jipmer. And that, on the spur of emotion, many of us have gone straight to SSJ's house in "Certitude" and begun to empty it; that Ojha has intervened and stopped it all; that there has been some further violence between some of us and some of the "neutrals"; and that a full general meeting has been called for tomorrow morning...

... There is supposed to be this perfect alignment of 7 or 9 planets – I am not sure which – in two days time...

9-3-1982, Auroville:

Despite the ostracism we have been subjected to, we go to the general meeting in "Certitude"... It is decided that people will go to every house of the "neutrals" and ask them all to leave... Police is already stationed to "protect" them... We hear that M.B and Joss have been distributing money in the villages, and even that Navajata himself – it seems such an unlikely event! – has given a speech there...!

... Sj (now re-named "Surya") has decided to leave: I find this distressing...

10-3-1982, Auroville:

Diane wants to attend the follow-up meeting, so we go. There are so many reports, it takes so long...

When it is over, Arjun comes to me; he tells me at length of the Coop work, of how it is with Ojha now... I fully appreciate Arjun's constancy and freedom in our friendship; I am grateful for it and I respect him all the more for it! (I have still this "hang-up", that I need to feel respect for the people I share this experience with, and too often now it has become hard for me to uphold that respect, seeing all the politics, the dishonesty and the jealousies and the self-justifications...)

... Tonight Diane and I are able to meet, with more tenderness than ever before...

13-3-1982, Auroville:

G.M and Marcia have decided they need to reorganise their domestic life separately from us. It means that Diane and I, and Krishna along with us, must now face the people who look after the distribution of the food-baskets – and these are some of those who reject us, who reject me.

Krishna strongly feels that this cannot go on: either they must come out and openly declare they want me to leave Auroville, or else they must drop this attitude and leave us in peace...

At this point I almost don't care anymore; but, in the relationship with G.M, it pains me...

... I have spent part of the morning with D.M; near her and with her I experience more and more something akin to joy; that joy which I have only known in Your physical atmosphere: the joy of a true physical path...

25-3-1982, Auroville:

We keep looking forward to the next sure thing to happen, just to give sense, some sense, to the "now" we must live; but then nothing is ever truly experienced; we merely bring forward our same unchanged models, only consenting here and there to some more or less pleasing alterations...

We eat time and matter away, instead of becoming...!

... We go to the beach; and Diane's kids are there too, and the people from "Jaïma" accompanying them don't even let them come to see their mother... till they just break away and run over...! That is sad!

Here we are, in this spot upon earth, like grafts that do not take, not growing any more aware of the why and the where to... We are so very privileged, and yet do not find the sense of it...

We do not seem to be needing You very much...

And if we don't, who will?

26-3-1982, Auroville:

There have been quarrels among the men here, and Krishna holds me responsible for it: he is also upset at the way the water is distributed...

It takes quite some attention and calm to work it out and see together a better way...

It is Barbara's birthday; she is beautiful! Diane and I have gone to get a table lamp we had ordered from J's workshop and we bring it to her...

3-4-1982, Auroville:

Ken has decided to leave Auroville for a while. He has been very disturbed and confused lately, struggling violently with some "occult" elements connected to the general situation... He comes in today asking to spend his last night in the house here...

Diane is very uptight: she never shows hospitality in such situations and takes it instead as an imposition on her... But just then G.M and Marcia arrive and she rallies and it goes alright, and Ken is able to rest...

4-4-1982, Auroville:

Today the first cementing is done of the roof of the new room, the child's room, Agni's...!

5-4-1982, Auroville:

Krishna is worried about what may turn up, according to him, as a confrontation between the community and me... Perhaps he has heard things said, or else he is, for his own reasons, attuned to that possibility... I do not know...

I feel distant from that drama now...

6-4-1982, Auroville:

Diane swings from one mood to another; she demands attention like a kid, she is sad and she cries; she is happy and takes part in the work here; she is like a victim... But the atmosphere in the house is evolving...

7-4-1982, Auroville:

Some time around 4 pm today a lovely little bird, orange and blue and grey, flew in to stand in Agni's room, silent and unafraid... There was with it the presence of a gaze: a strange experience...

8-4-1982, Auroville:

This evening the white she-cat, a stray cat, comes to me and shows me she wants me to take an empty card-box up onto the terrace so she can deliver her kittens there...

And she does, later tonight, right next to my pillow: two kittens for my birthday...!

9-4-1982, Auroville:

I am 32...

Diane has cleaned up the house all by herself.

We have coffee outside the house and the Service tree drops its very first bloom right on my lap...!

John H has written a poem for me.

D.M sends me a photograph of You, along with her card.

We dance on Sunil's music this morning, and I love it.

The masons plaster the ceiling of Agni's room.

Diane gives me more pictures of You, with a rose.

Barbara brings more flowers. Ar. brings a potted plant and tapes of Satprem.

10-4-1982, Auroville:

This evening another scene breaks out with Krishna; it is focussed on the issue of the workers, but the energy is pointing at something more serious...

He has been very reactive lately, and now it comes heavily between us, and he calls me the "enemy". It is too much. It loses all meaning...

Again, oddly, I feel calm and distant from it...

... I am told that Satprem has gone abroad, to France first, and that he is now in Sri Lanka...

14-4-1982, Auroville:

As the new room gets completed and the whole house is rearranged, we together seem to gradually enter into a life that is the expression of our joint experience, and surely this makes Diane feel more secure and at her right place, and so it flows much more peacefully...

... Krishna and I have both avoided any "serious" talk; we remain "practical"; this afternoon we clean the store-room and mark the tools together, this being Tamil New Year Day...

19-4-1982, Auroville:

There is the daily work-out at "Last School", with R, M.S, M mostly – and the gentle, simple and humorous relationships that have developed there making our work more meaningful, even though Coni has had to go abroad for some time -, and the afternoon work at Matrimandir, I have no more contacts with the "collective experience"...

And the external relationship with Krishna seems to be ruined again... But this time, something that was in me like a blindness, I guess, has ceased to try and protect it, or to shield it from a deeper sense of caution. I am no longer eager to make any movement toward him. I have had to accept what I saw, and to stand by it: there is a rather momentous perversion there, in him, which I have had now to face...

20-4-1982, Auroville:

Krishna tells me of another part of our area here where he could live and work and plant trees... I gently try to let him see that it is he who thus puts me in a position for which he then resents me... He is confused, very tense, trembling; there is a lot of violence welling up in him...

And Diane now tells me that he has recently tried to brain-wash her against me... while pretending he was doing it as my true friend, in order to save me...

I don't know... I just know that none of this feels REAL! And that's all!

27-4-1982, Auroville:

One knows not yet how to live.

2-5-1982, Auroville:

G.M and Marcia have insisted to give us a puppy. It is a cross, I think, between a German shepherd and a Doberman. Today we have brought it home; I gave it the name of "Kritu": a tiny, bear-like creature, playful...

This evening I have a chance, while Diane is out for a walk, to talk a little with Barbara, and she helps me, with her common sense and her knowledge of each of us, to see Diane's state in a simpler perspective...

4-5-1982, Auroville:

We leave early this morning, as we have a lot of purchasing to do for Diane's Maintenance Service, now re-named "Nandini". It is crushing hot, but we are calm, and it goes rather well.

We have lunch at "La Maison" and there Krishna comes to tell me of some stolen parts from his cycle, implying it is somehow, this too, my responsibility... I keep quiet.

We are unpacking and putting things away in the "Unity" building, mid-afternoon, when it all takes a sharp turn: Cristo comes to me with some confused story of accounts he had mixed up and that had been left unsettled between him and Krishna and me about cement, and saying that Krishna is very angry at him for having mixed "his" account with "mine": the very same elements as two years ago, when Krishna had cut from me so dramatically... But since then, Krishna's contradictory statements and attitudes have made me understand that there is a double game being played there, and I have better keep a distance...

... Myrtle has returned from the US recently; we haven't seen her yet, but on the road we pass Aurienne and hardly recognise her eyes: she is so bloated, monstrous...: the American creature's comforts...!

... Back home, I mentally go the wrong way: I do not want to discredit Krishna; I want still to believe and to trust and to honour...

So, when I later see him walking across the garden, I call out to him and go to meet him; I tell him what Cristo has said and I ask him what he really want: either to be precise and exact and carefully separate, or to be open and sharing and caring and trusting...

He reacts fast, with ready anger.

I say then that I have had my share of his big speeches on our true union and the divinity of friendship, etc.

He becomes enraged and with a fantastic force he turns and shouts that we are now at the end, and he will have to kill me or I him, this is it; he is the negro and the fool and I have asked for it...

He begins to hit me full swing; I fall once, twice; he tries to tear away my "blessings" locket from my neck, to pull my hair out, he hits me more, on and on; then he walks over to the house, where Diane is waiting, intent on destroying it.

I follow him...

Not once, not for a second, did I feel the impulse to fight back, it was nowhere in my consciousness... I could see fear crawling toward me, but a sort of physical blankness prevailed, a strange calm; there was not a shiver in my body, nothing...

In front of Diane, near to the house, he hits me again, with even more force; I fall once more, and my face starts to bleed...

He goes to fetch a couple of tools and begins to break down windows, but the flow of energy is receding...

I sit down, quietly. Diane is weeping.

After a while, he leaves.

5-5-1982, Auroville:

My whole body feels like soil after an earthquake.

I just want time: time to assimilate, and to draw my lesson; to make sure this will never have to occur again, by understanding at least my end of it, my part in it...

But I must see to the work, and the craftsmen have come to lay the floor stone slabs...

G.M comes, and I have to tell him what has happened, as my face is all bruised up and swollen; but I make him promise he will tell no one about it: I feel it is best to give it the least mental form possible, and to draw inner silence over it...

There is always a sense of humour in our "situations"... but also, of gravity...!

And I pray to be ridden of whatever it is that, in me, provokes such reactions I people... I know that the way I was built and have had to evolve makes it hard to understand me and not to misinterpret me...

In some strange way I feel that I have been freed of certain commitments...

... In the night, in the midst of a multitude of dreams, I have a wonderful, intense meeting with three small boys – triplets -: magical, vividly present, and so lively and so full of consciousness... (They each have a Sanskrit name, I don't remember it now, and they are attributes of the Inner Fire, of Agni... They are so very lovely...!)

10-5-1982, Auroville:

These days I can spend time preparing the new room, waxing it and arranging everything in it, and making it happy and beautiful. Diane likes it.

The child moves a lot in her belly, it is quite fun...!

15-5-1982, Auroville:

There is another wave of disharmony: M.B and Co have again started to build on that piece of land adjacent to "Certitude"...

The community was called. About 50 of us met there; we stood on the dividing bund separating Auroville land from that "private" land; there was the sense of a deeper event, but no movement yet...

The Police came, and we left.

... Diane and I have another argument this evening: a silly misunderstanding...

19-5-1982, Auroville:

There is a fairly large concreting at Matrimandir this morning. I have come to help, as one of many. But, after a while, both Ruud and G.M ask me to resume my "old" function, driving the mixer machine... And it is comforting to me to feel I am still welcome to be part of an organism...

... This afternoon, about 200 of us meet at "Certitude".

We agree, cutting short all arguments, to simply gather on the spot, again, together, and see...

And it is one of those rare moments when one knows one is responding to a deeper necessity, as part of one body.

We move, silently and very slowly, one step at a time, down that dividing bund, the armed police stepping back before us, till we reach and surround the tiny building M.B and his group have put up during the night...

We wait almost one hour, and then we take it down, quietly...

While doing so, a few of us get a little scattered, pulled back into separate natures, a few gestures of unnecessary aggression, or rather potential violence, are made; but, on the whole, I feel this has been a clean action, and there was a joy to it, pure and grateful...

21-5-1982, Auroville:

This is a gloomy day here...

Krishna is behaving threateningly with the tools and the equipment; he took hold of the one wheel-barrow and refused to return it; he has even verbally aggressed Diane while I was away this morning...

It takes me long to centre and recover a sense of unity and quiet and trust...

There is this question, or this mystery: how is it possible to exist without exerting any pressure, or being under any pressure, of an arbitrary nature?

I guess it is not, as long as there is ego...!

23-5-1982, Auroville:

Myrtle has come by, and this time she stays longer with us. We have yet to secure a basis for this new relationship, the three of us, but the possibility is there, and it has strength and quality...

24-5-1982, Auroville:

The thing with Krishna affects the daily life here; it worries me, his energy is disruptive and causes material interferences; it gets to my nerves and I must, one way or another, fight back to repel it, but I am not clear as to which movement is the truest, or the least ignorant...!

And now is the time I want to fully concentrate and prepare for the birth of the child...

... Diane has learned today that her children are going to France with Jean, and it is not sure, or it is not told her, when they are to return to Auroville; this has saddened her...

25-5-1982, Auroville:

There are hours of utter helplessness, miserably dry and empty, devoid of any sort of generosity: there is nothing I can give, nothing to channel, nothing I can serve, nothing to communicate whatsoever...

How to flow, how to be one with the flow, of Force and of Light... of Love?

Isn't it always Love that flows, and isn't Consciousness a name for Love?

27-5-1982, Auroville:

And sometimes I am aware of the energy that is supporting me here, and I feel gratitude, and I am intensely happy...

... We still find it hard to relate, Diane and I; she tends to feel that I am doing all this more for the child than for her...

28-5-1982, Auroville:

Diane had a fall from her cycle. It hurt, but she feels alright about it.

Yet, since that moment, she has begun to worry that the birth may come prematurely.

... Lines are being drawn around the issue of "Aurelec"...

... In the night, between dreams, I am suddenly "attacked by Krishna": he had come stealthily, in the night, to kill me on my bed, with a blow of something like a heavy bar, and I actually experience my "death"; I wake up nauseous and bewildered...

30-5-1982, Auroville:

The work on the new room was completed yesterday; it is all calm now.

Calculating the birth to come on the 21st of June, we had planned on three weeks prior to it to really get settled and ready...

But Diane feels now it may all happen sooner. She has gone to consult with Myr, who found that the child's head is already engaged, and has advised her to take complete rest.

So I myself had to go to "Jaïma" to ask for her kids to be brought here to see her before they leave to France...

31-5-1982, Auroville:

Barbara has come to keep Diane company while I drive to Pondy to get all the things we need for the birth, so Diane can relax, knowing it is all there, at hand...

Diane has actually said she is happy in her new room...!

... This evening I massage Diane; I feel the child moving, and I have a longing to hold it in my arms, but I also feel clearly that it is too early, too soon...

Diane has quietened; and the child's body has shifted back up a bit...

1-6-1982, Auroville:

Diane is resting. I stay home all day, and tend to everything; she is happy that way...

After days of scorching heat – weeks, actually – the wind has brought masses of rain clouds, fallen silent, and late afternoon it starts to pour, and keeps pouring well into the night, cleaning up the last traces of the construction work, drenching the soil, bringing relief to the whole garden...

2-6-1982, Auroville:

Diane is quieter, and I feel the birth will not happen now, but at its correct time; and there is the sense that we can now really prepare the atmosphere, while the body of the child gets fully ready...

I am grateful, for everything. This place is such a gift of Grace...

3-6-1982, Auroville:

As Diane says, we have to keep modest! We know nothing!

For her this pregnancy is entirely different – she had three children -, and she is constantly puzzled by it.

There is a deep reality that smiles, holding treasures of being, and of becoming...

4-6-1982, Auroville:

Tonight, there is a film show in "Aspiration", an old fine movie with two actors I am very fond of, "Moderato Cantabile", and we decide to go; we ride very slowly...

5-6-1982, Auroville:

The body of the child seems to have engaged again in the birth canal, and Diane feels we must get ready; but I sense the energy isn't there yet...

I have gone to see Marcia for a moment: her own delivery is supposed to come first!

6-6-1982, Auroville:

Is it a boy or a girl?

A few people have had dreams of a girl; yet the energy we both have been feeling, could that be of a boy?

But I sense a pressure to offer that question and to have no preference...

... Barbara comes every day; she is nearly the only person we see...

8-6-1982, Auroville:

Marcia has begun her labour; but there seems to be some confusion. Yet I can't leave Diane to be with G.M and Marcia...

... Barbara tells us that M.Z has been identified as... a drug peddler, and asked to leave the country within a few days...

9-6-1982, Auroville:

I keep going for news, as Marcia's labour goes on and on...

10-6-1982, Auroville:

Marcia's labour went on into the night and, by the time the child's head showed, she was too weak for it; she had to be taken down to Cluny Hospital in Pondy.

But I dreamt she was alright and the child was a girl...

... We learn at 9 am that the child was born at 4.50 am: a girl, Maaura.

Diane is relieved now. And I feel we have time for "our" child...!

14-6-1982, Auroville:

I just want quiet, peace, calm, for a clear coming...

16-6-1982, Auroville:

Diane woke up saying she has dreamt of another fight between us and her threatening to leave...

Later today I find her lying awake, obviously contemplating some fear or some difficulty, but she will not talk about it...

... I have received the prints of photographs I took this last January and, among them, are two portraits of Krishna, in which his eyes express such a puissant and irrational hatred that it goes right in, and it shakes me deeply... I hadn't at all been aware at the time... I feel a nasty energy entering, and it knocks my breath...

... Diane still refuses to talk; she keeps obstinately separate in her apprehension, and it just worsens between us, and we go on behaving the way that will most hurt the other, as if a mechanic had started that was intent on breaking both of us down...

I sense in Diane such an accumulation of rancour, from way back into her own past, and like a mad want... And I still do the mistake of addressing her as a friend or a sister, as a person, and she resents it, always...

But tonight she weeps and comes to me for comfort and I hold her till she sleeps, at peace...

I am amazed at the mess two people can make in just a few hours time... There may be other standpoints, but humour is certainly indispensable...!

... I have, between dreams, this "vision", as if seeing from the position the child is in: colours and shapes expressing Diane's condition; there are tall chequered lines of black and gold, waving up and down densely and, underneath, as if in a curved niche, all protected and sheltered by its own force field and yet aware of everything around it, a regular cavity filled with that orange light – the "gheroua" colour, which is also the colour of Auroville: just this, the light, a silent vibrant space of deep orange light...

17-6-1981, Auroville:

Diane is in pains almost all the time now. The child keeps shifting, Myr is nonplussed...

19-6-1982, Auroville:

I went shopping and got a small gift for Diane. According to our initial calculation, Diane should go into labour any day now, but the child's body has moved back up and is shifting around and Diane feels much more relaxed now... There is an energy in this body that feels very independent and very alert, almost as if externally aware...

21-6-1981, Auroville:

Diane had some contractions in the early part of last night, but it quietened, and today, the "appointed" day, is upon us and Diane feels nothing special...!

But sometimes I have a burst of energy that is so tender, it wants to embrace everyone...

22-6-1982, Auroville:

Before the mystery of these processes, one feels ridiculously small and crippled, reduced to such a cramped focus; and there is, too, a kind of sacred awe: it is best the mind knows not, it is best it is not allowed to pretend and interfere...

... And I understand that, to be conscious of the Divine does not necessarily or automatically imply that one becomes conscious of every one of these processes of manifestation; one may only become conscious of those He chooses to reveal at the time He chooses...!

23-6-1982, Auroville:

It is so puzzling to watch what goes on between two people who live together: the alterations, the moods, the confusions and, at instants that come like the white foam on the crest of a wave, the swelling of perfect attunement, simple, happy and natural, in its place...

... The mind's demand to be "informed" tends to cause chaos in the perceptions...

25-6-1982, Auroville:

Diane had some low contractions in the night, but it had no force.

I have to wonder about my own possible interference, with my wanting to "be aware"... There is this universal energy that must come into play and trigger the body's processes that alone can release the baby from the womb: can this be hampered by my, by our, by one's waiting, one's observing, and one's effort to understand, to be conscious of it...?

It is, after all, similar to the sexual energy that comes to release the cells in an orgasm; this one must come and set into motion a whole chain of physical events...

... But I have to ask You, Mother, to be here for the birth, to be the midwife, to be the protection, and to be the force that moves, to be the atmosphere and to be the One to receive the child in Your hands: Agni, into Your sweet conscious hands...

... I ache to see the child, here at last, moving in this air, delivered and growing...

26-6-1982, Auroville:

Today Diane is full of energy, active in the house, happy... while I just need to sleep!

27-6-1982, Auroville:

Ce matin est née Ajneyam Auragni – ma princesse si belle : Ajneyam Auragni.

A 9 heures elle est venue, a poussé son premier cri.

La nuit a été calme. Ce matin, vers 7 heures, Diane me dit tout à coup qu'elle vient de perdre le « bouchon » et que les eaux coulent...

Nous sommes entrés dans la chambre. Diane a eu de fortes contractions ; pas beaucoup... Se tenant à moi, et moi la tenant, debout jusqu'à ce que la tête commence à sortir...

Myr et Ar sont venues nous aider.

Cela a été si tranquille et si simple.

Ajneyam était d'abord un peu bleuie d'être sortie si vite ; je l'ai tenue dans mes bras en marchant dans la maison, jusqu'à ce que son souffle s'adapte et elle se calme et prenne des couleurs ; puis nous l'avons immergée dans un bain d'eau bien chaude ; elle était contente et regardait et souriait...

Toute cette journée a été si paisible...

Le 27 = 2+7=9; 27=3x9.

Diane's date is 9; Auragni's is 9; mine is 9.

3 times 9=27; 9 am is the time!

28-6-1982, Auroville:

Nous n'avons guère dormi : Auragni avait déjà faim, et le lait de Diane était lent à venir...

Ajneyam Auragni... Elle est si belle ; harmonieuse et pleine, son visage fin et plein, elle est si belle...

Et Diane aussi est belle et calme, plus belle que je ne l'ai jamais vue...

29-6-1982, Auroville :

Me voilà donc avec, en quelque sorte, une raison de vivre, et d'être humain !

30-6-1982, Auroville:

One feels so dumb and silly, being a man, useless before the needs and demands of an infant...

1-7-1982, Auroville:

This evening at 6.30 Lisbeth and Angad's baby boy is born: Ribhu...

2-7-1982, Auroville:

Diane becomes more beautiful, with this quality of plenitude and harmony that I had so missed: her own beauty, her own plenitude...

We have had lots of visitors and lots of happy comments on our little one and on the birth, which seem to be sincere...

8-7-1982, Auroville:

When I am "free", I read Your Agenda; I have started all over from the beginning again, and I'm happy; little drops of experience here and there...

Ajneyam Auragni is voracious, we hardly sleep: we have to keep up with her energy...

12-7-1982, Auroville:

Diane today gets into one of her weird moods; she has announced it at the first hour by telling me her dream where we'd had a fight... Thus programmed the day has gone and we have eventually stumbled upon the given pretext and we do have a fight and we do have to struggle out of it and to rise again...

These moments are at once harder to take and leave less trace...

I have managed, though, to get to "Last School" for two hours of exercise, which has done me good.

15-7-1982, Auroville:

Diane has developed a high fever in the last few days, and everything has become very tight, with the child becoming restless and Diane anxious about the milk flow, and not enough sleep for too long...

Jossie and Ar. come to help us now and then, or stay with Diane whenever I have to go out... John H too gives us a hand...

17-7-1982, Auroville:

Last night was our first night of real sleep. Diane is definitely better and I am not worried anymore.

But during the night some thieves tried to steal the pump engine; they'd already cut the wires when Yel heard them and chased them out... Toine has come to see the damage.

I have gone to Vanur today to begin the process of registering Ajneyam Auragni's birth...

19-7-1982, Auroville:

Today Auragni has become very agitated; she seems to have acute stomach pain and wants to remain at the breast all the time and Diane gets exhausted and depressed and I get distressed by my impuissance to be of any help...

... And now it is Kritu the dog who is sick...

... I am reading another book by Lyall Watson, "Histoire Naturelle du Surnaturel"; here is a man who really loves this universe!

23-7-1982, Auroville:

Today I have been able to work out at "Last School" most of the morning, and this afternoon I go to the general meeting; it is fairly well attended and I find that everybody present has known that the main topic would be "Aurelec" – I hadn't known – and the camps are well represented, the trick in fashion being to show tolerance and "openness" to one another...!

But I feel the whole thing, the whole direction being taken at present, to be false from the root... When I try to say so in a few words, I am neatly ignored...

28-7-1982, Auroville:

Dans le monde les choses semblent à nouveau s'accélérer et on sent toutes ces puissances comme des ressorts prêts à bondir pour une tuerie imbécile et radicale, et, en même temps, quelque chose qui se joue de tous ces instruments « irrésistibles » et pousse, pousse les circonstances vers un certain comble, un point de non-retour...

J'ai le manque de Toi, de Ta Présence, de Ton atmosphère physique ; il me semble qu'il n'y a ici que des miettes, que Ton Travail se fait ailleurs – pourtant, rien que de l'écrire, je sens bien que Tu es là...

30-7-1982, Auroville :

La société d'Auroville devient un carcan si étroit que je ne peux plus me mouvoir...

31-7-1982, Auroville :

Cette imbrication de niveaux, d'origines, d'affinités et de réalités, de perceptions et de consciences... ne peut que rendre tout chemin linéaire impraticable...

Je n'appartiens nulle part ; je ne puis appartenir qu'à Toi...

Mais, pour seulement marcher et durer, j'ai besoin, impérativement besoin, d'élargir le contexte, de faire des trous dans cette bulle qui m'étouffe...

2-8-1982, Auroville :

Il est parfois difficile de percevoir le sens de cette vie à Auroville... Et, si j'insiste un peu, je dois alors me demander si je ne suis pas « en trop » ; si je ne m'entête pas inutilement, et gravement, à unir en ce point des choses qui ne peuvent ni ne doivent y être unies...

5-8-1982, Auroville :

J'ai passé un long moment de repos avec Ajneyam dans mes bras...

Puis Myrtle est venue, et j'étais content qu'elle ait senti de le faire ; mais quand Diane est sortie de la salle d'eaux après la lessive, elle a refusé de la voir...

Myrtle s'est mise à pleurer, c'était douloureux ; tout est devenu misérable, absurdement misérable...

Il n'y a plus rien à dire...

6-8-1982, Auroville :

C'est l'impasse, entre Diane et moi.

... Je suis de moins en moins capable de formuler ce que je perçois : ce n'est pas que le mental n'intervient plus, mais il y a comme une sorte de méditation constante, avec la force d'un besoin qui pousse – vers une lumière dans la perception, vers une conscience dans la vie, et contre un impossible qui semble se situer partout...

8-8-1982, Auroville :

Des incidents encore avec les gens de la SAS : Horst a été blessé, près de « Discipline », attaqué par derrière par un groupe de ces gens qu'Indra paye...

11-8-1982, Auroville :

Ayant d'autres courses à faire à Pondy, je suis retourné voir Paolo, qui vient de revenir. Je souhaitais trouver une possibilité de communication avec lui qui en finirait avec cette façon superficielle de nous rencontrer, année après année, et je m'étais préparé pour un dialogue qui vaudrait la peine... Mais cela ne s'est pas produit ; je me suis senti très las lorsque je l'ai laissé à son milieu : GI lui avait aussi dit de ne plus me voir...

Ca a soulevé en moi un besoin de savoir vraiment ce qu'il y avait dans toute cette histoire, d'en finir avec toute cette fausse densité de sous-entendus et d'attitudes de la part des uns et des autres...

J'ai cherché, cherché... quoi ? Une force qui veut relever la tête, qui veut participer, qui veut être...

Il est vrai que depuis le début de cette vie je suis comme un petit champ de bataille, ou le lieu d'une certaine lutte – entre ce que j'ai vraiment de Toi et... une force peut-être, qui voudrait utiliser cette possibilité à ses propres fins, ou pour l'annuler ? Quand on emploie ces mots, il semble qu'on manque tout à fait de bon sens et d'humilité ! Mais il y a bien quelque chose de cet ordre...

Mais alors, l'attitude des autres complique beaucoup les choses... Pourtant, je dois bien l'assumer : je ne peux pas m'attendre à ce que les autres comprennent comment ça se passe vraiment...

13-8-1982, Auroville :

Je relis Ton Agenda, et c'est ma nourriture et mon repos ; et il y a Ajneyam que je remercie tant et si profondément d'être venue...

Quelquefois j'ai honte d'être si pauvre, et j'ai peur de lui imposer quelque chose qu'elle ne peut souhaiter vivre...

Je suis allé au « general meeting », et il y a eu une occasion où j'ai senti de suggérer quelque chose, de contribuer ; c'était difficile de vaincre une certaine tension, mais ça s'est bien passé, comme un retour après un long voyage...

14-8-1982, Auroville :

Les nuits me laissent comme brisé sur le rivage d'un autre jour... cette accumulation sauvage et suffocante de circonstances et de gens, ces montages de signes et de données, sans un seul instant de repos conscient, sans une seconde d'immersion dans un milieu souverain... Il me faut parfois des heures pour m'en remettre, pendant lesquels je suis trop sensible à toute désharmonie matérielle, à toute apparente incompatibilité...

15-8-1982, Auroville :

Un drôle de 15 Août !

Je crois que Sri Aurobindo s'est caché !

Attendons-nous quelque chose ? Un moment d'oubli, un blanc dans la machine à vivre ?

16-8-1982, Auroville :

Je lis l'Agenda... C'est mon oxygène.

Car les nuits me démolissent. Je n'ai pas la sensation d'un seul instant de renouvellement ; c'est un autre jour qui se lève sans que jamais je me sente prêt, dispos, parce que rafraîchi et vivifié...

Heureusement, et merveilleusement, Ajneyam Auragni est là : on se reconnaît ; en elle et avec elle je retrouve mon recueil et mon pays...

18-8-1982, Auroville :

Ajneyam Auragni est là... Et les heures passées avec elle plongent au-dedans ou vers un « dehors » qui prend un autre sens...

Dans son regard, avec elle, je sais de nouveau où est le Pays ; et je veux n'être qu'un signe vivant et transparent, libre de contradiction...

20-8-1982, Auroville :

Ce n'est pas que les nuits soient constamment pénibles – il y a quantité de choses intéressantes -, mais, je ne sais pas, c'est cette douleur que j'éprouve quand je retrouve la conscience de veille et le contact de l'aspiration centrale, cette douleur devant ce phénomène d'étanchéité entre les deux états - de non communication, de non changement, de non collaboration : dans le sommeil il n'y a rien qui s'ouvre vers le « haut »... rien !

22-8-1982, Auroville :

A quoi ça sert que j' « existe » ?

L'impression désolée d'avoir à embêter tant de gens, d'obliger à des dépenses d'énergie et de matière inutiles, et d'être « moi-même » une manifestation absurde et stérile...

23-8-1982, Auroville :

Si seulement Tu avais eu le temps de m'expliquer un peu de quoi il s'agit, et quelles sont réellement les conditions et les possibilités en ce qui me concerne... !

25-8-1982, Auroville :

Des jours de marasme... autour de cette impossibilité pour moi de me « placer »... J'étais allé avec R passer un moment à la plage, entre la pratique à « Last School » et les courses à Pondy et, quand je l'ai dit à Diane, cela a fait ressortir tout ce qui nous empêche de vivre notre expérience commune avec plénitude...

Ma nature est telle qu'il me faut une complémentarité, celle d'une relation proche, directe et intime avec un ami homme à laquelle je puisse aussi me donner...

Et si, ou quand, il m'est possible de vivre les deux, la relation avec une femme et la relation avec un homme, non pas exclusives l'une de l'autre mais en rythme ouvert, alors je peux vraiment me donner et être entier dans l'instant...

C'est profond en moi, et plus essentiel pour moi que Diane ne peut le comprendre.

Mais pour elle cela retire, semble-t-il, tout le sens de ce que nous vivons ; et je ne saisis pas pourquoi ?!

Mais il faut bien, pour Auragni, pour son développement, que nous établissions entre nous un minimum d'équilibre... !

30-8-1982, Auroville :

On creuse dans ce qu'on « fait », à travers ce qu'on « fait », à chaque moment possible on creuse, on essaie de se donner – pour toucher un peu de cet Espace, sentir un peu la Source vivante, trouver un peu, au fond des yeux, Cela qui nous a portés dans le monde...

31-8-1982, Auroville :

Je ne crois pas que je continuerai d'écrire de cette manière...

Quelque chose d'autre doit se passer maintenant...

Poems written in the year 1982:

.....

June, 1982.

"It seems
 The closest I get
 To those wells
 That may one day pour Into
 This substance
 I am
 The most parched and Sterile
 The life of Me Becomes.

This world surely
 Is meant for Unity.
 Yet on its way
 Our means to relate
 Are mere tricks
 That ache.

Blessed blind
 Are those who will Enjoy
 A place and a role
 When shattered and undone
 Are the rays
 Of a creation
 Past
 And now still Clinging contrarily"

.....

June, 1982, To Ajneyam Auragni.

"I have been calling you, needing your Sameness,
 Aching for that current of Awareness Between Incarnations
 I have been yearning for your eyes
 Wide
 And brimming with
 The secret of our souls,
 I have been searching for Stray signals of Recognition
 Silent, direct, Immediate
 And free,

I have been burning to know at last
 In an other being
 The very stamp
 I missed
 And the deep cleft print of a far place
 The world still Alienates,
 I have been longing to hold
 The granted grace of your Given ness
 And the knowing
 That
 We belong
 So that, even though She may Still have to hide
 And
 From where She stands
 Unknown
 Work still at those Minute shiftings
 Laying Matter bare
 To the Force,
 So that, even though She may Want us still Away from Her,
 Be found
 The sweet courage to Live and
 To give,
 And a moment came
 When my call was made Conscious,
 A child that One
 Lets at last
 Run to the breast
 It sought,
 And for those seconds in time
 I knew again
 Where was home
 And ever since, I cling to the knowing
 That you are Coming"

June, 1982:

"When will it flow and flame
 Into our Huddled spaces?
 When will it grow
 Manifest,
 Gorgeous,

One and whole
In hands and faces?

When our broken curves
Will swell
With one flux of being
Unaltered and ever
Victorious,

When our little smiles
Will yield from a strength
Of love
Imperative,

When what in us
Regrets and craves,
Repulses and appeals,
Dies crying and rises crippled
Will be

Consumed and its sap
Made true,

When will it flow and flame
In our twisted
Time-ways,
Irresistible and ever
Faithful to its source?"

August, 1982, Evolution.

« Les cycles de la matière et ses rythmes
Le bois, les feuilles, la chair
Et l'odeur

Sentie,
Le souffle
Infime universel
Pur in saisi,
Seul
Pouvoir
Au cœur
De nos cellules
Comme au large
Des galaxies
Démantelées,
Les deux pôles de tout
Battement.

Entre les deux
Et par le champ de force qu'ils
Génèrent,
Dans la sécurité de leur échange
Et la coulée fertile de leur
Union,

Dans le cocon dimensionnel
 De l'espace et du temps,
 Retournés par l'éclair secret
 De leur course immobile
 Et versés comme d'une
 Jarre
 Dans le silence relatif
 Où tout se sépare et se
 Perçoit :

Nous-mêmes.
 Evolution.

Rivés à l'armature de ce
 Manifeste,
 Ensemencés dans le moule de ces marées et de ces heures,
 Séparés par les termes du créé mais liés
 A chaque atome du voyage,
 Devenus insensibles
 Au réel
 Mais assourdis pas le vacarme
 De nos sens,
 Cloués aux empreintes, étranglés d'images et contraints
 De grandir,
 Accablés de soifs et de manques et rendus
 Ignorants de ce choix,
 Humains après d'autres
 Et petits d'un Homme jamais
 Retrouvé
 Entier,
 Forcés à la lenteur des mesures et trop près
 Du vide,
 Suffoqués par la logique de survivre,
 A mille retours nourris d'un savoir
 Plus étouffant,
 Mille fois reconquis par le goût et l'extase de cette
 Rencontre
 Et l'acuité triomphante d'une totalité
 Articulée,
 Intoxiqués par la précision de l'expérience et subjugués
 Au sourire, à la flamme, aux couleurs,
 Lents convertis
 Basculant lentement au centre d'une étreinte
 Consciente
 Dont tous ces instants ne furent que les signes,
 Reconnaisant enfin le sens de toute cette dépense
 D'énergie,
 Nos mains tremblantes, nos mains de créé,
 Nos corps, notre amour, cette matière,
 Nos yeux, nos fleurs, nos musiques
 Et nos peurs,
 Nos mains, nos mains et nos corps,
 Nos yeux qui ne savaient, ne pouvaient plus chercher,

Fouiller ce mystère,
 Comme des fruits enfin mûris
 Cèdent à la force secrète qui les transforme
 Et s'ouvre
 Le chemin
 Du monde »

A text written in 1982: Notes for consideration:

"This present period of time might also be a last opportunity to try and commit ourselves to the true destiny of Auroville, to the Adventure it stands for.

What are we?

Who is this 'us' here, in the geographical and physical plane called Auroville?

We are human beings who, supposedly, have felt the need to change to such a degree that we were led to search for a place and conditions that would best allow this change, integral, to take place.

Auroville is such a place and by its very nature was created to offer those conditions. It was created as the best possible instrument to help the change; and one of the conditions it must offer is an as complete freedom as is possible at the moment. Freedom of choice, of attempts, of adventure, freedom to explore what true responsibility means, freedom to discover what forms a truer life on earth would eventually take, or create, as one tries to practice the truths, laws and dynamics inherent to the inner being and reality.

Everywhere on earth today there are people, individuals and groups, who would be comforted and feel supported by the knowledge that there is a place where it is being actually proved that a better and truer life can be manifested in freedom; that the fight for freedom is justified, provided that one is ready and willing to use it for that manifestation, ready and willing to choose consciously to contribute the effort, the search and the discipline indispensable.

It is not an image that these people would need, nor the brushing of an ideal; rather it is the knowing, direct and non-mental, that all the challenges and contradictions that are inescapably part of the process are being met and faced, and that a little bit of the one substance all humanity shares is somewhere, now, consciously and enduringly trying and trying and trying, and that, perhaps, there IS something like Help and Grace when one tries.

And it is a fact that, short of that, Auroville is misused and betrayed.

Now, this is not a moral issue, although there are ethics involved.

It is, as we well know here, an evolutionary issue, a human issue.

But we know too much, with our minds only, and know too little, with our living experience – we here who have been fed, and are being fed by the richest and strongest food of conscious spiritual Truth that man could ever dream of.

It would seem, considering the growing chasm between whatever true understanding we may have, individually, in a part of our being, and the quality of our collective life and experience here, that somewhere along the way we must have begun to disregard the silent call from inner necessities.

The past few years would seem to prove that we, either human beings in general or those who have been representing humanity by their participation to Auroville, are quite unable to govern ourselves, that is, to achieve the minimum self-discipline required so that all the difficulties and conflicts and apparent impossibilities remain contained and offered to the light and action of what She has termed as the true consciousness.

But perhaps our chance today would lie in the humble acknowledgment – humility not before anyone in particular, but before That in ourselves as in everyone – that we have, up until now, failed to realise that instead of working from the surface and using symbols, we must work from within and strive to bring out to life and matter the truths of the inner being.

For instance, our approach to such aspects of a true state of being as unity, fraternity, or solidarity, has been mental and emotional and therefore has been thwarted to a dramatic extent. We do know that these qualities are intrinsic to the true reality, but we have behaved towards them in an attitude of superstition, believing that the context itself and all the mental knowledge we have received would be sufficient to conjure them up.

Apparently they have failed to answer – or else, possibly, this was just the wrong attitude.

For in order for these qualities to manifest, to become alive and active in our midst, opening the way to real discovery, it is asked of us to first build the ground on which they can rest.

And this can only be done by endeavouring to actually practice the dynamics of the inner laws, about which, both from Sri Aurobindo and Mother, we have more than a few practical indications.

For example, She has stated that, in our passage in material life, one's needs are answered exactly in proportion with the contact one has developed with one's inner being.

This is one law of the true consciousness. Yet it appears that we have disbelieved it, and gone out of our way to remedy to the mentally twisted problem of equality, and have in the process become entangled in a swirl of conflicting notions about democracy, self reliance, guilt and so forth.

Another such indication, unmistakable, is that circumstances around one always correspond to one's real needs in terms of progress. Always.

Yet it appears that we have all of us been caught up into various justifications of the activity that consists in blaming, criticising, accusing, faulting and condemning. As this is a process that tends to spread and gain evidence as it grows, it is quite impossible to put a brake to it, particularly in such a limited context as this we live in, acting as it does as an echo chamber walled in by mirrors.

While the practical truth of this is that one necessarily must learn to assume one's responsibility for whatever happens to one.

And here one can measure the power of the instrument that Auroville is.

At present one can measure it by its reverse effect. But when one remembers what it means, in life, to try alone in the midst of an anonymous mass determined by the ordinary mechanisms of any large society on earth, when one remembers how hopeless it is to try and reach the point when one's efforts could begin to bear creative results in one's surrounding condition, environment and relationships, then one knows what a grace Auroville offers, if all those who willingly choose to participate do try and keep trying.

We are no heroes. But we must at least be adventurers.

Only then, to reside in Auroville would cease to be a dubious and mixed privilege, open to numerous questions and interpretations, and would be a real participation and contribution to a worthwhile experiment.

And only then could we say, with simplicity, that whether Auroville fails or succeeds is not our concern, because we would be giving what is demanded of us, and no less.

So, possibly, one step we could take now would be to formulate some of these inner laws as our internal guidelines, and hold them before us in our lives, as supports for our striving, and discover as we go their living practice.

Even if we are capable of nothing else at the moment, we, who presently inhabit Auroville, still have the responsibility to see that the very conditions Auroville offers are preserved intact and virtually whole.

This necessity was our only real justification in refusing the narrow and limited imposition that was previously laid upon the entire experiment by a group of people who had in their hands some ruling power, and in fighting for their withdrawal or abdication from this power they were intent on misusing.

In the process we were led to solicit support and practical help from the Government of India, and it has responded. In its positive response is the unique grace of India – the one country in the world which, despite its many failures, remains spiritually based.

But any Government today rests on and is liable to all the human arrangement of laws and safeguards that apply to the whole range of social situations of an ordinary nature.

Auroville cannot enter there and must not try; Auroville is an extraordinary situation of an extraordinary nature; it can only serve its purpose and function by remaining out, basically, of that mesh of relationships.

This does not make us, who live in Auroville, exceptional beings, but it takes it possible for anybody who has truly the need to participate to do so.

And one important factor of progress inherent to the very existence of Auroville is that it inevitably pushes against the barriers of all and any mentally-based system and organisation, and must be accepted as such.

We are asked to share in that push, not out of revolt but by growth.

To accept the formulations, however ameliorated, improved, touched-up or adapted, arisen from current mental conceptions of viability and solution-finding, as guidelines for the internal evolution and development of such an experiment as Auroville offers can only be a grave mistake and lead to a great confusion of values which would veil more and more the actual possibility Auroville stands for.

To ask the Government of India to take up the ownership of the land and assets of Auroville, even from a distance and with guarantees, is inevitably to bind the whole material base of Auroville to a set of determinisms that are naturally incompatible with Auroville's necessities, as these determinisms cannot, to the risk of their own deflagration, accept Auroville as it is within their workings.

It is not a matter of who is where and of the wisdom of such or such person who has the will to help protect Auroville from its enemies.

We have seen that the enemy is primarily and essentially within us all.

If our present relationship with the Government of India does allow, at this point in time, for a request, let it be one that addresses its very nature and no more; and this with true respect, gratefulness and regard, and in a spirit of collaboration with the persons who strive, within that context, to work for a stronger and truer India.

Such a request could eventually be that certain legal measures be taken to discourage the present authorities of the SAS from having access to legal rights which are usually available to land-owners, considering the unique aims of Auroville, on the soil of India. So that if any member of the SAS would in time have a genuine interest in participating to the work of Auroville, this person would have to approach it exactly the same way as anybody else, and acknowledge that the administration of all land and assets rests with an Auroville organ only.

And if the Government of India cannot, due to legal implications and/or for its own reasons, assent to that request, we must then face whatever lies ahead and find the determination to practice the discernment, the reliance and the trust that will see Auroville through.

And if this ordeal can also serve as a reminder to the inner necessities that are part of the Way, so much the better.

We have nothing, nothing in the world to loose, as long as we honestly do not compromise the very strength of Auroville in terms of progress and change.

And perhaps do we then put ourselves in a movement that will bring us closer to a living awareness of this central Force of Auroville to which we are now blinded."

-1983-

Note : Je n'ai rien écrit en 1983, bien que ce fut une année particulièrement âpre pour moi.

Les points de repère sont :

- Février... Diane est partie avec Auragni, à « Jaïma ». Je suis rentré une fin d'après-midi, de faire les courses à Pondy, pour trouver la maison vide ; Diane avait fait venir un char à bœufs pour emporter toutes ses affaires et celles d'Auragni ; la chambre était vide ; elle avait tout organisé. Je passai alors plusieurs jours paralysé ou stupéfié de douleur, ne sortant plus. P et Jossie se sont un peu occupés de moi et c'est Jossie qui a négocié, quelques temps plus tard, pour que j'aie le « droit » de revoir Auragni, comme un mendiant, à « Jaïma »...
- Avril... J'ai repris le travail à plein temps à Matrimandir, et une nouvelle équipe s'est formée, avec la routine quotidienne de 6 heures du matin à 1 heure de l'après-midi...
- Juin... G.M est revenu à Auroville...
- Septembre... Diane et Auragni sont parties en Australie, vivre chez la mère de Diane...

- 1984 -

Un Feu tranquille, régulier, bien nourri...

J'ai pensé recommencer d'écrire journallement ; pourtant je n'éprouve plus tant le besoin de formuler, de rendre compte.

J'ai maintenant l'impression que les difficultés mêmes changent de nature, libérées de leurs enveloppes morales ; comme si la compréhension était un peu plus proche d'un essentiel – la simplicité d'un corps qui grandit...

C'est un même mouvement qui veut couler et s'offrir, s'ouvrir et aimer, c'est calme et cela s'épanouit à mesure que les perceptions s'épurent et la confusion se dissout...

En regardant les flammes, la charge de cette année vécue s'est comme résumée, sans drame...

... Ce soir Krishna et moi écoutons la cassette de sa musique que j'ai préparée pour l'année nouvelle ; c'est puissant et plein, comme de la Force qui travaille depuis le cœur...

4-1-1984, Auroville :

Une lettre de Diane : elle revient avec ma princesse dans deux semaines. C'est toujours pareil : quelque chose qui ne veut ni céder, ni laisser, ni partager...

Et ce soir, une autre lettre, plus proche et spontanée...

5-1-1984, Auroville :

G.M va repartir d'Auroville dans deux jours ; je ne crois pas qu'il reviendra si vite qu'il le dit. Son équilibre présent est une façade, il y a quelque chose de pourri dessous, comme si au lieu de regarder il avait seulement cherché à combler un vide...

De plus en plus je ressens le fait d'être à Auroville comme un don de la Grâce ; mais je ne cherche plus à me sentir concerné par les aspects extérieurs d'une « expérience collective ».

Il m'apparaît avec plus d'évidence maintenant que les conditions requises pour l'individu sont les mêmes partout, et que la différence qui fait d'Auroville un lieu encore tout à fait privilégié est que chacun ne doit s'y joindre que volontairement et pour les 'vraies' raisons, au service de ce grand changement, de ce travail et de ce devenir, et pour apprendre à y collaborer consciemment... Ainsi cela peut aller beaucoup plus vite...

Mais il y a une échelle de gradation dans la qualité comme la source de ces engagements individuels, et il nous reste encore à découvrir, tant que Ta Volonté demeure sur Auroville, la nature d'un véritable processus de sélection – à découvrir comment le moins entraver Ton Action sur les consciences...

7-1-1984, Auroville :

G.M est reparti aujourd'hui ; c'était triste, pudique, et tendre aussi, et quelque chose en moi s'en va avec lui... Je n'ai pas senti le mouvement de l'accompagner à l'aéroport, comme il me l'avait pourtant demandé – peut-être parce qu'il s'en va avec Shankar et Uma, et que ce départ s'inscrit d'après eux dans une « action » !

8-1-1984, Auroville :

Krishna, ce soir, a finalement parlé...

Douce Mère, est ce possible ?

Je redoute toujours l'exclusivisme, quel qu'il soit...

... La résistance est là où commence la perception de Ta Présence matérielle : là où les deux extrêmes se touchent...

9-1-1984, Auroville :

Il faut que Krishna et moi franchissions ce pas.

Il semble que notre lien soit un centre de travail, et qu'il s'y trouve un pouvoir de vérité, une dynamique du chemin.

Il ne faut pas que ce soit pour rien.

Peut-être est ce l'énormité de ce qui peut y être fait qui semble écrasante au petit bonhomme ; et je dors, ou bien je suis trop paresseux !

Mais je crois qu'il y a encore beaucoup à décanter pour que le sens même de la contradiction ne puisse plus interférer, comme il le fait encore... Il faut que nos perceptions deviennent très pures et très sûres, sinon ce n'est pas possible...

... Le travail en équipe, chaque matin à Matrimandir, est un rythme qui me convient bien...

Mais je ressens comme une médiocrité qui s'installe, généralement à Auroville, et se justifie elle-même...

... Today I read an article on American "gays"... I sometimes wish I was there; it might be simpler for me. But I am aware I am made to work on the deeper issue, and I just hope it may have some utility which my outer parts can neither appreciate nor value...

Et puis, probablement, l'esprit de ghetto... : je ressentirais cela comme un plus grand obstacle encore... !

10-1-1984, Auroville :

Un petit drame avec Ar. ce matin ; elle avait stupidement « décidé » de partir en voyage, par dépit de ne pas me trouver disponible à la relation qu'elle souhaite développer avec moi... Il a fallu un long moment pour la faire un peu rire, et qu'elle reconnaisse le fait... !

11-1-1984, Auroville :

Une bien curieuse expérience, très tôt ce matin, juste avant le réveil : j'attends d'être exécuté publiquement ; et les Auroviliens, eux, attendent d'y assister, le soir venu ; et, dans cette attente du spectacle, je suis aussi parmi eux, et je ressens leur gêne, leur malaise et leurs justifications... La décision de m'infliger la peine capitale est venue principalement par Andy, et personne ne semble vraiment réaliser que c'est un mensonge, sauf les Indiens, et parmi eux surtout K.T, qui insistent pour qu'Andy se désiste et fasse annuler la peine... J.C.L, mon ami, se trouve là aussi, prêt à m'aider, mais il ne comprend pas très bien de quoi il s'agit... Krishna est près de moi quand je parviens à ce moment de clarté où je sais que ce n'est pas la mort vraie, et où je comprend que je vais lutter et refuser et les laisser tous à leur drame et m'en aller...

... Je dîne ce soir seul avec Barbara, qui veut savoir plus de l'histoire de mes premières années ici, ce qui s'était passé... Pas très agréable d'avoir encore à en parler...

... Une lettre de Diane, assez douce, mais toujours aussi évasive ; et j'ai de nouveau de l'appréhension : va t elle encore s'opposer à mon contact avec ma princesse ?

... C'est comme si je n'arrivais pas vraiment à passer de l'autre côté ; il y a comme une subtile mais constante allée et venue dans un espace intermédiaire, ou bien comme deux êtres, deux substances, deux états...

Pourtant je me sens « tenu » et j'en ai de la gratitude...

12-1-1984, Auroville :

Rien de clair...

Je redoute le retour de Diane : qu'elle ne puisse pas faire le mouvement d'ouverture qui me permette aussi d'être avec Auragni.

Ce soir, juste avant de nous séparer pour la nuit, Krishna a souligné pour moi ce que je dois changer de mon côté pour que ce soit possible avec Diane : cette position mentalisée qui en moi force la femme à se sentir « inférieure », misérable et pas aimée...

13-1-1984, Auroville :

Rétrospectivement toute cette période qui vient de s'écouler, pourtant habitée d'expériences qui ont été pour moi cruciales, semble si dure : durcie, déformée par la présence de l'ego... Le regard attrape surtout ce qui a menti, ce qui ne s'est pas donné, ce qui a prétendu, ou s'est dissimulé dans l'intensité, ou en a profité pour subsister sous d'autres formes...

15-1-1984, Auroville :

Barbara est venue, avec Akash, passer un long moment ; elle souhaitait parler de notre relation, de cette partie de moi qui rend difficile l'accomplissement toute relation ; parler aussi de Ruud et de la direction qu'il a prise sous l'influence de certains vieux disciples de l'Ashram qui prétendent se trouver au centre du Travail ; et du trouble qu'elle en ressent...

... L'Auroville extérieure et sociale, l'Auroville qui s'est déjà formée, pliée, fixée, m'apparaît si peu profonde, comme un luxe triste que rien ne justifie, une réalité d'emprunt – et pas l'expression de la naissance d'un être nouveau...

16-1-1984, Auroville :

J'ai la crève... Il y avait ce merveilleux brouillard après l'aurore ; une jeune Indienne dansait des figures dévotionnelles près de l'Urne, et c'était juste...

... Je suis comme fatigué, saturé de cette fameuse « vérité » que l'on prétend détenir ou avec laquelle on prétend être en rapport, ici...

Même, et peut-être surtout, avec Krishna... Depuis 14 ans qu'on marche ensemble, on n'a pas encore pu simplement avoir le geste de tendresse, d'affection détendue, donnée, qui correspond à ce que l'on éprouve vraiment... L' « Idéal », le « But », ont seulement pris la relève de l'ego... !

... Mais je sais bien que la seule contribution véritable que je puisse faire un jour, c'est de me laisser débarrasser une fois pour toutes de tout regard sur soi, de cette « self-consciousness »... Et d'être, et de rayonner...

17-1-1984, Auroville :

Piero nous a annoncé que « quelqu'un », qui souhaite rester anonyme, s'est engagé à financer la préparation et l'achat du globe de cristal pour la Chambre Intérieure...

... David M est ici depuis quelques jours, pour filmer...

... Je veux sortir de tous les plis, que tout s'étale et s'offre au toucher conscient de Ca...

... Je lis « The Lion of God », par Taylor Caldwell – l'histoire de Saint Paul – et cela m'intéresse; ces deux millénaires n'ont peut-être fait qu'amener les mêmes données à leur culminance terrestre, à ce point d'ouverture ou... d'éclatement, où une nouvelle évolution devient enfin possible...

18-1-1984, Auroville :

C'est une aube magique : la brume partout, lourde et tranquille, et Matrimandir un vaisseau construit par des mains et des cœurs invisibles, se déplaçant dans un milieu inconnu... Le silence...

... Je n'ai pas encore compris si le fait d'être aussi « climatique » dans mes états est une chose à combattre et rejeter... N'est-ce pas le corps de la terre, et les émotions de la terre ?

... Les journées sont trop courtes d'au moins une période, pour que la vie soit complète ; alors on bâcle tout, et c'est le mélange...

... Ar. est venue ce soir, à moitié pour se faire pardonner ses humeurs et à moitié pour m'en rendre responsable... !

21-1-1984, Auroville :

Comme chaque samedi soir après mon travail à la Cuisine, je me sens nauséux et fatigué, et je ne vois pas clairement pourquoi c'est ainsi, alors que le travail à Matrimandir me laisse toujours plein et concentré, dans un rythme entier...

22-1-1984, Auroville :

Les oiseaux sont dans tout le jardin, pleins d'énergie ; l'air est paisible et radieux ; tout est très calme, et je Te remercie , tout le temps, de cette atmosphère que Tu me donnes, que Tu m'aides à percevoir et, la percevant, à réaliser...

Il y a, constamment, comme le fil d'un devenir vrai et, ici et là, dans des mesures variables, un certain nombre de mouvements aveuglés, de rythmes faussés, d'énergies non offertes, qui recouvrent ou voilent ou tendent à déformer ou occulter la perception centrale...

Je continue ma lecture de « The Lion of God » ; je me débat un peu entre de forts courants d'émotion, car ce livre me touche profondément ; j'y retrouve un milieu d'expérience, avec ses contradictions familières, et le fait d'une certaine appartenance – ainsi d'être né le jour de Pâques... Et, à la lumière de cette quête, combien le mensonge de l'Eglise apparaît indécent... !

23-1-1984, Auroville :

Il faut que je me secoue de ces vertiges... C'est quand je perds confiance en ce qui m'arrive que je ne peux plus rien donner et que tout va de travers... C'est là en moi comme l'envers d'une capacité d'extase, qui creuse son lit de misère...

G.G m'a annoncé ce matin que Diane et Auragni sont arrivées à midi hier à l'aéroport, et qu'elles vont bien ; il se trouvait là pour accompagner Nadia qui s'en allait.

Viendront-elles aujourd'hui ? Je les attends !

... Je crois que Krishna veut s'en aller, et laisser la maison qu'il occupe à Anne, Sam et Benaur ; je crois qu'il aurait voulu une concentration exclusive, tous les deux, à laquelle je n'ai pas adhéré – ou bien dont je ne suis pas capable ?

Je ne crois pas à nos propres pressions, si « sincères » soient-elles...

... Les heures ont coulé comme u seul moment : un glaive qui fouille, une lame qui regarde, un feu qui veut prendre du plus profond, dans un milieu de calme presque... béatifique !

J'éprouve une intensité de quelque chose que j'ai envie de nommer « célébration », un flot qui monte immobile, qui est à la fois besoin et contact, et qui aime l'harmonie...

24-1-1984, Auroville:

Last night one of my dreams struck me as particularly meaningful: it is an intense encounter with a young Tamil man, land and cattle owner, and I am shaking him till it becomes a communication very deep and brotherly, sharing the experience of Your sweet Presence and of being Yours; and it felt like something really happened, and a fraternity in the love of You was born...

And I also dreamt of Diane and Auragni coming, Auragni playing with half constructed words with so much humour, such a droll energy, very strong, and Diane relaxed, more reposed, finer and freer...

25-1-1984, Auroville:

J'ai essayé tout l'après-midi de laisser couler, de diriger l'attention sur divers travaux ; mais à mesure que la journée passait sans aucun signe de Diane, les idées folles prenaient de la force – l'idée de prendre Auragni et de partir avec elle, n'importe où ; le temps nécessaire...

... Krishna a quitté sa maison ; il est venu me dire « au revoir », poussant son vélo avec ses affaires ; il m'a offert une cigarette, on s'est assis un moment dans le jardin ; je n'ai rien dit ; il a dit « je fais, c'est mieux que de dire ! »...

Je ne sais pas. Il me semble que c'est encore de l'égoïsme ; que s'il restait tranquille, ce serait peut-être plus réellement « héroïque »... !

26-1-1984, Auroville :

Une grande partie de la nuit, comme avec un cri de douleur, cette douleur impossible, insensée...

Que faire ? Partir marcher dans l'Inde, user tout ça dans la poussière de la marche ?

Je vais travailler au Matrimandir, il n'y a rien d'autre !

Enfin, il n'y a plus que le corps, comme un enfant dans les bras de la Matière.

... Ce matin, au travail, G.G me donne la confirmation d'un choc latent : sans que je lui aie rien demandé, il a dit à Diane hier (il va à Jaïma chaque jour) que cela me manquait de ne pas voir Auragni, à quoi Diane a répondu, durement, que je « connaissais le chemin »... comme si elle pouvait prétendre oublier ce qui m'a été dit à « Jaïma », et ce qu'elle y a fait contre moi... Ainsi cette dureté est resurgie dès son retour, après et malgré toutes ces lettres qu'elle m'a écrites d'Australie...

... J'ai écrit un message que j'ai remis à G.G...

... Ar. est de nouveau comme une sœur, tendre, libre et légère, sans tirer, une présence harmonieuse qui comprend...

... Quant au départ de Krishna, lentement mes perceptions et impressions s'ordonnent et d'elles-mêmes révèlent une sorte de cohérence intérieure... Il y a une place où je suis libre et conscient face à Krishna, et il me semble pouvoir discerner des points où il se trompe encore lui-même, mais aussi comme il lui est difficile de ne plus le faire, quel courage lui est demandé – ou quelle paix lui manque encore pour... laisser faire !

27-1-1984, Auroville :

Avec le départ de Krishna, il y a une chute de niveau, comme un croc-en-jambe, et la sévère leçon de m'être laissé influencer, emporter, quand chacun ne fait finalement que protéger et sauvegarder ses propres intérêts...

Il est venu avec un chariot pour emporter ses outils et ses plantes, et c'était détendu, comme après l'orage ; il a pris le thé avec moi ; on a parlé de son nouvel endroit, près de « Forecomers » ; je lui ai doucement reproché de ne m'avoir donné aucune indication, à quoi il a répondu : « c'était plus spectaculaire... ! », et on a ri, puis je l'ai laissé parler et, l'écoutant, j'ai pu de mon côté faire la part des choses, comme on dit... Puis Ar. nous a rejoints, et c'est devenu fatigant, comme à chaque fois qu'il est en présence d'une femme...

Une sorte d'indifférence est venue en moi, et l'évaluation neutre de ce déplacement de forces et aussi de ce poids et cette pression constants que Krishna faisait peser sur moi tous ces temps derniers...

28-1-1984, Auroville :

Une longue partie de la nuit dernière s'est passée à rêver de ma petite fille... merveilleuse : elle mettait en scène pour moi, avec un tel humour profond de discernement actif, toutes les choses vues et entendues pendant ce voyage forcé, ainsi les choses enregistrées malgré elle à la télévision, mais pas refoulées – gardées, portées, mises à leur place... Oh, ma princesse... et son regard ! Et elle m'a demandé, avec ses mots hésitants de petit enfant, quelle est ma religion ; et je dis : « c'est toi ! » ; et elle m'a demandé si je voulais un million de dollars, et je lui dis : « oui, bien sûr ! », et on a ri, et elle est venue tout près de moi, pour qu'on s'embrasse...

Et j'ai dormi plus tard, jusque vers 7 heures, après beaucoup d'autres rêves ; c'est Barbara, venue sur une de ses « impulsions », qui m'a réveillé avec une tasse de thé bien chaud...

Alors, je suis allé ; et j'ai vu ma princesse !

Auragni est splendide ; elle a grandi, ses membres se sont déliés ; elle court et elle grimpe, pleine de joie et de cet humour à elle qui ne ressemble à aucun autre ; si belle, bronzée, ses yeux si clairs et si ouverts...

Quand je suis arrivé, elle sortait à peine du sommeil ; une seconde s'est passée : elle a regardé, attendu, est-ce que c'était pour de bon, solide, est-ce que ça ferait partie de la vie... ? Puis, un moment plus tard, j'ai senti que je pouvais l'approcher, et l'embrasser, et elle était contente...

Je sens de ne rien presser, de ne pas être une insistance, de laisser couler librement ; qu'Auragni peu à peu réalise que je suis là, quelque part pas loin, et bientôt elle saura où c'est et comment y aller aussi...

Diane semble être en bonne forme, avec l'énergie de quelqu'un qui revient d'une épreuve, et un sens de ses priorités ; une position acquise, tranquille aussi, attentive à garder son espace intérieur ; et déterminée à trouver un lieu de vie pour elle et Auragni, indépendant et de Jean et de moi, et dans une situation où elle pourra être elle-même – et c'est ce que je lui avais beaucoup souhaité...

Je réalise qu'il me faut laisser de côté pour le moment une certaine forme de besoin en ce qui concerne Auragni et moi... En même temps il me faut être très droit et attentif face à Diane et ne laisser aucune prise à sa perversion particulière – je ne veux plus héberger cette douleur...

Diane et Auragni ont établi quelque chose de beau et de fort entre elles et je le respecte ; et j'ai confiance en Diane comme mère...

30-1-1984, Auroville :

J'ai passé l'après-midi à « Jaïma » avec Diane et Auragni, parmi les autres enfants... Ma princesse s'est sentie plus libre de venir à moi ; et avec Diane, malgré cette extraordinaire ignorance de ma propre position et cet étalage de la sienne, il semble qu'une possibilité soit là...

31-1-1984, Auroville:

I must collect myself and re-centre from the whirl and turmoil I have been in.

Dés que l'on se met à dépendre des autres pour la joie d'être, on quitte la source, on quitte le courant, comme de l'eau qui se perd dans le sable et la poussière...

... Krishna est venu ; on a parlé longtemps de la présente tentative pour désigner un « gouvernement d'Auroville »... Tant qu'il y a en nous le goût du pouvoir, on ne peut pas atteindre à l'anarchie véritable, au gouvernement de chacun par la vraie Force ; et jusque là, le plus important, et le plus utile finalement, est de préserver une certaine fluidité derrière un semblant de cohérence...

Cette clarté qui soulage, que parfois lui et moi pouvons toucher ensemble...

... Coni et Luigi sont venus passer la soirée avec moi ; après un moment de malaise, je me suis décidé à leur parler franchement, honnêtement, et précisément aussi, de ce que je ressentais à leur égard, et envers chacun d'eux ; et je demandais en quelque sorte qu'on me montre ce qui est solide et ce qui ne l'est pas... Luigi a parlé ensuite, de ce qu'il croit être un problème commun à chacun de nous trois, mais qui est en fait sa propre impossibilité ou contradiction, dont je n'avais pas assez tenu compte sous la vague émotionnelle que la rencontre avec lui avait provoquée en moi. Et, comme par une eau froide et suffocante, j'ai été cloué par une sorte d'horreur devant cette condition où nous ne sommes plus que des impossibilités en présence les unes des autres, sans plus le moindre espace pour la rencontre gratuite, aimante et confiante... Un laboratoire constant avec pour seul espace viable un terrain dérisoire et transitoire de bonne volonté et de respect de la cohésion générale... J'ai été remis à ma place, seul. Et c'est bien...

... Je ne suis pas sûr que je sois prêt à être exclusivement un guerrier...

Lettre à Krishna, Janvier, 1984 :

« Tu es parti, une fois de plus. Il y a une différence, cependant : ce départ, tu l'as développé comme un mouvement inscrit, et moins comme une rupture.

De combien, pourtant, me rends-tu responsable encore ? Tu n'as pas regardé ta propre incapacité à saisir les proportions, et leurs relations entre elles ; il faut une soumission heureuse et offrante pour que la réalité des proportions soit perçue sans déformation et que l'expérience de l'Action soit transparente et libre d'interférence.

Tu m'as dit 'je fais, c'est mieux que dire...' et j'ignore ce que sont ce 'je' et ce 'fais' ; pourtant je t'ai seulement répondu 'je sais, mais...' ; oui, je savais que tu voudrais dire, et croire cela, et ça n'a pas vraiment d'importance, et cela peut être plus honnête que de prétendre que l'on obéit à l'impulsion vraie ; puis j'ai pensé 'as-tu besoin d'argent ?', mais je ne l'ai pas dit, par une sorte de respect dans le moment. 'Bon', et tu t'es levé, tu as marché jusqu'à ta bicyclette, que tu as poussée sur le chemin, ton corps en malaise, et luttant entre les formations auxquelles tu es le plus sensible, et je t'ai seulement regardé 'faire', regarder 'partir', calme et silencieux comme malgré moi, tenu par ce silence indéniable qui neutralise tous les drames et glace l'amorce de toute émotion connue...

Un regard qui oblige à grandir, impitoyable envers ce regret et cette blessure de ne plus être capable d'une affection ou d'une tendresse humaines... mais comme ce regard qui écarte les limites, une autre tendresse est là, prête à un autre devenir, une tendresse qui comprend et sourit, libre et forte – mais une tendresse qui ne tire pas, ne demande pas, et n'ajoute rien.

Par ce regard et cette tendresse, pourtant, on ne peut pas fabriquer une autre personne, un autre 'je', n'oublie pas cela. Ils sont. Et ce qui EST ne peut entrer dans aucun 'je', jamais. N'est ce pas là l'une des lois du nouveau monde ?

Et cette nuit-là, comme l'aspiration d'un vide et d'un manque m'a rappelé d'un flot de rêves dans une veille terrible, centrée d'une douleur sans nom, profonde sans mesure, d'où, lentement et par leur propre intensité des larmes sont montées, qu'aucune émotion ne pouvait satisfaire, un cri qui pouvait hurler au vide mais ne demandait rien et se retenait de peur qu'on ne veuille lui donner la vieille insuffisance.

Ce n'est que beaucoup plus tard que seul mon corps a su me ramener au repos, cet enfant qui sait retrouver les bras de la Matière.

Tout m'est arrivé ensemble, c'est vrai. Comme trois visages de ce NON qui poussa sa volonté implacable, alors qu'un OUI m'environne, m'enveloppe, me soutient et me nourrit, et d'un sourire me pousse où j'hésite, et je saute, et c'est fini.

Mais ce n'est pas fini. Pas encore.

Ou peut-être ça l'est, et j'insiste encore que rien ne peut remplacer ma fille, et sa lumière auprès de moi, comme rien ne peut remplacer l'étreinte de mon ami, comme rien ne peut remplacer la force et l'étendue d'expérience de ta présence unie à la mienne.

Et c'est vrai. Rien ne peut les remplacer.

Et si Toi, Seigneur, aussi, Tu es exclusif, alors je ne veux pas de Toi, ni d'aucun de Tes mondes, passés, présents ou à venir. Et n'en voudrai jamais.

Mais si Tu es, Toi, dans chacune de ces possibilités, si je peux T'y retrouver, Toi unique, Toi changé et Toi le Même au fond de chaque expérience et si Tu peux m'y reprendre et m'y rendre à Toi toujours plus libre et plus plein de Toi, plus Ta chose et Ta découverte, alors oui, oui...

Oui toujours, et tout ce qui me mène à la capacité de vivre ça, de contenir ça, toutes les attentes et toutes les brûlures et toutes les apparentes destructions, si elles servent ce sens-là, oui, oui...

Divakar. »

1-2-1984, Auroville :

J'ai passé deux heures cet après-midi à « Jaïma » avec Diane et Auragni, un peu à l'écart des autres, Auragni dans mes bras, tranquille, et Diane semblant l'accepter... Puis je suis allé à Pondy faire les courses pour ici et pour elles deux et, à la nuit tombante, je suis retourné à « Jaïma » pour y déposer les choses... Auragni avait dû sentir que c'était moi et elle m'attendait en silence devant la porte de leur cuisine ; je suis resté avec elles deux pour le bain d'Auragni...

Je suis heureux ce soir, Douce Mère !

Auragni me comble.

Et, avec Diane, il semble que cela puisse être bien, vrai... doucement...

Et il y a en même temps cette tristesse ou ce remords, d'avoir été ce que j'ai été...

Et une détente. Et je remercie.

Cela me donne aussi l'indice de la dimension de Ton Amour, que Tu m'aies gardé ici malgré tout, que Tu m'aies protégé...

Comme si Tu me disais à nouveau : « Oui, tu m'appartiens ! »

Et j'ai envie de poser ma tête sur Tes genoux, avec Auragni, devant Toi, et Diane et ceux que j'aime...

2-2-1984, Auroville :

Ce matin nous avons un coulage de béton au Matrimandir. Ca s'est bien passé.

Une heure avant la fin, Diane est venue avec Auragni, regarder... Barbara les a rejointes... J'ai pu jouer avec Auragni dans le sable, après, un moment...

... Quelque chose se passe qui est une joie et un éclaircissement et un progrès de chacun – et peut-être l'acceptation active d'un état où tout doit pouvoir trouver son rythme ; mais il y a aussi la crainte encore, de mouvements qui pourraient gêner, voiler, repousser...

Quand je suis rentré du travail j'ai trouvé Krishna ici ; il est resté jusque tard ce soir, très tendre et simple... Il a même attendu que je revienne de voir, avec Barbara et Akash, le film de David M, « l'Aventure de la Conscience » - un travail médiocre, peu gracieux, et insipide ; c'était désolant, et même les voix étaient trop bêtes !

Reçu une lettre de G.M...

4-2-1984, Auroville:

There was this dream in the middle of the others, that was more charged: I somehow know where You are being "kept", and how the protection works and functions, but I know too that I cannot insist on being near You, as others would then get to know and it would inevitably start the power race again; I know the only way open is to surrender to the Lord and to trust that He will arrange everything, because He has His plans for me and, whatever they are, they are the way for me...

... Diane ne m'a pas attendu aujourd'hui; elle et Auragni étaient déjà parties "se promener en ville" quand je suis arrivé... Tout cela me soucie... Je ne suis pas sûr.

Douce Mère, quel est le mieux, de Ton point de vue ?

Cela dépend tellement, il me semble, de ce que Diane est prête à inclure dans son expérience...

J'ai vu qu'Auragni, dès qu'elle réalise pleinement que je suis là, physiquement là, a le mouvement de se placer entre Diane et moi et de nous vouloir l'un près de l'autre ; c'est sans aucun équivoque !

Or cela pose un problème à Diane... Moi, je crois que c'est possible, si Diane peut établir son propre terrain indépendant de vie et d'expérience...

6-2-1984, Auroville :

Dom est arrivée hier soir – Krishna m'avait demandé de l'héberger -, chargée de cadeaux somptueux pour Krishna – même un petit orgue électronique !

L'atmosphère s'en est trouvée très dérangée ; il a beaucoup plus, aussi... J'ai à peine dormi...

Ce matin elle m'a parlé longtemps de ses projets en informatique, de manière lucide et intelligente. Elle m'a apporté une autre lettre de G.M, qui m'a beaucoup touché...

Je suis allé sous la pluie voir Krishna, à « Forecomers » ; il y a comme une barrière qui est tombée, ou une ombre, et une violence : je le sens plus nu, plus jeune aussi, plus immédiat, et c'est en moi un mouvement de tranquille et intense tendresse ; une tension s'est dissoute.

On s'est promenés sur « son terrain » au bord des canyons, et la Force coulait, et cette tendresse en était lumineuse ; il n'y avait plus besoin de rien...

Plus tard il a choisi de ne pas venir voir Dom ici ; j'ai dû alors être attentif à rester neutre, à ne pas interférer, et il m'a donné pour elle le message qu'il n'était plus le même, que son regard et son besoin étaient autres... Je l'ai transmis à Dom le plus impersonnellement possible et, devant sa réponse, j'ai pu mieux encore apprécier sa qualité d'être... Elle a tout rangé soigneusement ; puis elle a décidé de vendre l'orgue et d'en remettre l'argent à Krishna, qui en aura effectivement besoin...

7-2-1984, Auroville :

J'ai passé l'après-midi à « Jaïma » ; Diane et Auragni sont toutes deux fiévreuses. Le dialogue ouvert avec Diane n'est guère possible, mais elle m'a laissé comprendre qu'elle était contente de mes visites et attendait que je revienne ; elle a parlé un peu de ce qu'elle souhaite pour Auroville...

Envers Auragni, il y a encore cette appréhension en moi, parce que je n'ai pas été une présence constante pendant presque une année entière ; et quand je la retrouve il faut un moment pour que l'élan spontané redevienne possible et qu'elle revienne dans mes bras, et que je puisse me laisser aller à la confiance...

... Vers 17 heures, Nolini a quitté son corps...

8-2-1984, Auroville :

Je suis retourné à « Jaïma » cet après-midi ; Diane et Auragni m'attendaient, et Diane a souhaité que je les emmène à Pondy faire des courses... On s'est promenés tous les trois ; on a choisi des livres d'images avec Auragni ; on a mangé ensemble : c'était doux, et Diane semblait heureuse...

A la nuit tombée, nous sommes allés ensemble voir Nolini : son corps était allongé dans la salle de méditation, presque au seuil de sa propre chambre ; c'était très simple et très paisible ; il y avait le sens fraternel d'un être qui est allé au maximum de sa participation sur Ton chemin, avec le corps...

... De retour ici, je vois que Dom a emporté toutes ses affaires...

... Mère, je veux devenir comme une éponge pour Toi, pour ce que Tu veux...

9-2-1984, Auroville :

Aujourd'hui la fête de Diane ; je suis retourné à Pondy pour lui choisir quelques présents... J'avais pensé les lui porter en fin de journée – qu'alors les « invités » seraient repartis... Je suis donc arrivé à « Jaïma » vers 17 heures 30, et c'était le plus mauvais moment possible : les « amis » de Diane commençaient seulement d'arriver... !

Diane semblait mal à l'aise, et Auragni avait une petite figure triste... Heureusement pour moi Arjun était là et cela m'a aidé à passer les premiers moments ; puis P.P est arrivé et m'a délibérément ignoré, et les autres derrière lui ont fait de même, et c'est devenu bien pénible ; une atmosphère creuse, sauvée juste par les enfants... J'ai vu qu'Arjun aussi était inconfortable... Plus tard je suis allé trouver Diane un instant dans sa hutte pour lui remettre ses cadeaux, qu'elle regarda à peine ; et là, Auragni a voulu venir dans mes bras...

C'est cela qui est douloureux, une peine dans mon cœur : de ne pas être capable pour elle de passer indemne entre les formations des autres et d'être là pour elle, libre de tout ça...

Puis, Arjun me dit qu'il s'en allait ; et il n'y avait plus personne de proche pour moi...

Alors que j'allais partir à mon tour, Auragni s'est mise à courir vers moi : si petite, si minuscule et si belle, mon amour...

Aurassi l'a rappelée ; Auragni est restée plantée là sur le chemin, ne sachant plus de quel côté courir ; Aurassi l'a reprise...

... Je ne suis pas encore assez droit, ni assez simple...

... Ce soir Barbara est venue dîner avec moi, et c'était une autre incompréhension, avec son reproche de ne plus lui être disponible...

Tout est si mélangé et la plus grande part de ce qui se passe entre les êtres humains semble se réduire à une sorte d'anthropophagie mutuelle – et je ne m'exclue pas de la chaîne misérable... !

C'est cette peine d'être si peu, et si mal, ce que je devrais être pour ma petite Auragni, qui est dure ; car je ne sais pas si le temps me sera donné de faire le progrès nécessaire...

10-2-1984, Auroville :

L'avalanche noire...

Après la matinée de travail à Matrimandir j'ai trouvé, déposé dans la boîte de la Cuisine, un message de Diane : le masque, la division.

Son message est sans surprise : elle ne veut plus me voir ; elle ne veut plus de contact avec moi, ni qu'Auragni ait de contact avec moi ; elle s'assume entièrement, et c'est là son expérience et il n'y a pas de discussion possible...

Le pavé dans la poitrine, le trou qui s'ouvre béant ; c'est l'effacement du chemin...

... Je me suis accroché à l'immobilité au-dedans.

Puis j'ai écrit une réponse : de ne pas mentir ; que je savais bien que ces mots étaient déjà là, tapis, en attente ; mais que si elle veut s'assumer et assumer Auragni elle doit nécessairement assumer le fait qu'Auragni a aussi un père ; que je l'ai beaucoup mais ne veux rien d'elle et que je viendrai demain... J'ai demandé à G.G de porter ce message...

... Je me suis reposé.

Ar. est venue me tenir compagnie, doucement, avec une compréhension tranquille et disponible...

Et puis Dom est venue ; et c'était un autre masque, si faux et tordu que c'en était à la fois ridicule et effrayant ; elle venait me demander de leur donner, à elle et Krishna, tout l'argent que je pouvais afin qu'ils puissent partir ensemble « se reposer »... Quand je lui ai répondu qu'à mon sens, si c'était aussi clair qu'elle le disait, Krishna serait venu lui-même, elle m'a déclaré qu'elle et Krishna, c'était la même chose... !

C'était pathétique, et dangereux... Elle était rigide, grise...

Je ne veux plus du drame, de la grimace, de la misère...

... Ar. et Barbara sont revenues me raconter comment s'était passée la réunion générale pour l'élection du « nouveau gouvernement'... A peine 90 listes ont été reçues – à peine le tiers de la population adulte – et c'était sans joie... Les 12 élus sont : Andy, Deepti, Al.B, Chr., Al.M, Prem, Piero, Fred, M.T, Toine, Sanjeev et Bill S, et les 3 secrétaires proposées, ironie des choses, sont Myrtle, Barbara et Diane... !

... Si j'ai assez de joie en moi pour le faire, j'irai demain à « Jaïma », et advienne que pourra...

Si Diane obtient des gens de « Jaïma » qu'ils s'opposent à moi, ce sera la solidarité des faibles et des menteurs, et je lutterai, même si je suis tout seul...

Je refuse d'avoir aidé à la venue au monde d'Auragni pour laisser maintenant cette division se poser sur sa vie...

... Que je doive être seul, je l'accepte ; ainsi que la concentration particulière qui m'est demandée, et la distance par rapport à toute relation humaine... Mais au moins qu'Auragni sache que je suis là, et puisse librement être près de moi ; qu'elle puisse sentir que je l'aime ; et qu'il y ait de l'amitié avec Diane...

11-2-1984, Auroville :

Pendant mon tour de cuisine ce matin j'ai appris la mort d'Andropov, le 9, ce jeudi dernier...

... Vers 14 heures je suis parti à « Jaïma ».

Quand j'y suis arrivé, tout semblait tranquille ; j'entendais des voix dans la hutte de Diane ; je suis entré.

Diane était assise, Auragni dans ses bras ; d'autres enfants étaient là, et Guy, qui s'est tourné vers moi et m'a dit qu'Auragni venait juste de tomber, à la renverse, de la hauteur de l'échelle de bambou qui mène à leur chambre ; qu'elle n'avait pas de mal, mais était encore sous le choc...

Je me suis assis près d'elles et j'ai tenu les petits pieds de ma princesse ; et je sentais comment Diane interprétait tout ça : la logique... C'était terrible...

Pourtant, il y avait une tranquillité en moi, et je sentais que c'est justement la division qui permet ce jeu de forces et nous ouvre au désordre et à la misère...

Mais pour Diane, c'était noué. Elle s'est levée et a emporté Auragni dans leur chambre, pour l'éloigner de moi...

Je suis resté assis en bas.

Après un moment, Auragni s'est mise à pleurer très fort, et cela durait, durait...

Il m'a fallu choisir, seul.

Ou bien j'acceptais cette logique et je m'en allais et tout était perdu.

Ou bien je me donnais à un mouvement actif de confiance.

Je suis monté les rejoindre.

Diane a résisté ; elle m'a dit : « je t'ai dit que je ne voulais plus que tu aies de contact, que tu viennes... ! »

Je lui ai répondu : « ce n'est simplement pas possible ; ce n'est pas vrai. »

Auragni s'est calmée tout de suite, et vite endormie...

Et nous sommes restés là, en silence, près d'une heure, et j'ai senti cette tranquillité qui demeurerait...

Puis l'impression m'est venue que nous affirmions chacun dans le silence des directions opposées ou incompatibles, comme si Diane me donnait un rôle, terrible...

Puis j'ai éprouvé le besoin d'accepter toute la question qui se posait, et de comprendre le point de vue de Diane aussi... Nous ne vivons plus ensemble ; quand nous vivions ensemble, il y avait justement un jeu de forces trop intense. Dans les conditions présentes, est-il vraiment souhaitable pour Auragni que je ne fasse qu'apparaître une heure ou deux, une présence qui la touche profondément mais qui reste extérieure aux rythmes de sa vie d'enfant ? Et pour Diane, n'est-ce pas trop difficile d'avoir à assumer à la fois une solitude de fait et tout ce que ma présence – momentanée – suscite encore en elle ?

Auragni s'est réveillée, calme et reposée...

J'ai demandé à Diane de réfléchir pour qu'on trouve une solution qui ne soit pas ce mensonge de la division et de la séparation...

Puis on est redescendu, pour qu'Auragni mange quelque chose ; on a rejoint les autres autour du thé de l'après-midi et, petit à petit tout est redevenu simple ; Auragni s'est remise à jouer, à courir, et à rire, et à venir dans mes bras... Diane s'est adoucie de nouveau...

La journée s'est écoulée.

Au moment de les quitter, à la tombée de la nuit, Diane est venue près de moi ; Auragni était toute calme et toute tendre ; Diane m'a rappelé combien ce jeu de forces la dérangeait et la mettait en tension, comme lorsque j'étais venu, le jour de sa fête, juste au moment où tout le monde arrivait... Je lui ai dit comme j'en avais eu de la peine, et lui ai demandé d'avoir confiance... Auragni a pleuré un peu...

... Je ne sais pas... Qu'est-ce qui est le mieux ?

13-2-1984, Auroville :

Diane est venue avec Auragni au Banyan ce matin ; je les ai entendues arriver depuis la structure, et les ai rejointes ; c'était très doux...

Il semble qu'une grande hutte doive bientôt se libérer à « Aspiration », et Diane envisage ce changement avec soulagement, d'autant plus que Jean doit rentrer dans quelques jours...

14-2-1984, Auroville :

Le temps est étrange : venteux, et il y a comme de la bruine...

Beaucoup d'énergie, mais trop extériorisée...

Sam est venu me trouver, pour qu'on voie ensemble le travail à faire autour de « sa » maison ; un contact calme et honnête, je l'aime bien...

Ces jours ci, A.A écoute presque sans cesse de la musique « disco » ou je ne sais quoi, ces rythmes qui résonnent dans le ventre, comme un poison qui intervient dans l'atmosphère, et ça me met un peu en colère : un gâchis, une inconscience gentille et satisfaite...

15-2-1984, Auroville:

Among the dozens of dreams, there was one again where I felt sorrow: I have to fight an enraged bull, and to break its horns in place, to make them loose, and it bleeds a lot on my right hand and I run out in the street at night to wash it in the gutter and I am crying, crying...

And later, or was it before – it came back as I pulled the thread – I have to find a job in the crowd, and start all over again from that angle; I have to be humble and put forward actively, willingly, and enduringly, what I can give, offer, contribute, in any smallest way I can...

It has rained most of the night, windy and cold; and it is still drizzling: an almost British February...!

Hier j'étais arrivée à « Jaïma » trop tard, Diane était déjà partie je ne sais où... Et aujourd'hui, quand je suis arrivé au début de l'après-midi, j'ai trouvé Thierry en bas qui m'a d'abord dit que Diane était sortie – mais je venais de voir sa moto sous l'abri - ; puis, qu'elle avait dit qu'elle ne voulait plus me voir, et qu' « eux » non plus ne voulaient plus me voir, que je ne devais plus venir...

Je suis revenu ici. C'est dégoûtant.

Je soupçonne que Diane est allée à « Aspiration » à propos de la hutte, et qu'il lui a été dit, ou bien qu'elle a senti, que ma présence, ou mes visites, lui rendraient les choses difficiles...

Je suis fatigué d'elle... C'est comme si elle préférerait sa « carrière » à l'honnêteté...

Je suis fatigué de m'astreindre à la gentillesse et la patience, quand elle-même ne cesse de se plaindre de ceci ou cela, d'un tel ou d'une telle...

Il y a quelque chose de si tordu derrière ce masque qui a l'image d'Auroville...

... Toute la vie s'assombrit ; tout est faux ; c'est ce vieux sens de malédiction qui revient, comme une ombre rampante...

Et cette question douloureuse : pourquoi la mère de mon enfant est elle une personne qui accepte une telle malhonnêteté, une telle fausseté au-dedans d'elle ?

... Barbara est venue avec Akash, et j'étais content de leur compagnie. Puis elle a préparé le dîner pour Arjun, qui est arrivé vers 19 heures, et resté jusque tard... Je l'aime beaucoup ; il parle et parle, mais c'est droit et, derrière, juste en arrière, ça communique et c'est de l'amitié...

16-2-1984, Auroville :

Il pleut, il pleut...

Longtemps après le lever du jour j'ai regardé, et laissé s'exprimer en moi différents mouvements, et aucun ne menait nulle part. Aucun n'avait le pouvoir de changer cette impossibilité qui m'est jetée, encore et encore... Et rien ne peut m'en livrer le pourquoi...

Et rien ne justifie cette division, cette marque affreuse qui s'imprime sur la vie de mon enfant...

Rien ne me dit pourquoi l'amitié n'est pas acceptable, rien ne me dit pourquoi Auragni ne peut pas connaître et aimer son père et être connue et aimée de lui...

L'attachement de Diane à une certaine sanction sociale d'Auroville, et presque une sanction « théologique », ne peut justifier en soi son choix de la division, face à l'amour qu'elle prétend porter à Auragni...

Alors, qui ment ? Et où est la force de vérité ?

Et je tourne, et tourne en rond...

Quelles sont les alternatives ? Un acte violent ? Prendre Auragni et lutter ? Partir avec elle ? La patience et la compassion d'un saint ? Le repli derrière un mur d'indifférence volontaire... ?

Offrir en restant tranquille, je l'ai fait.

Offrir en persévérant dans l'action, je l'ai fait...

Je n'arrive pas à prendre tout ce qui arrive comme « tout ce que Tu veux... » ; je ne suis pas là où cela a un sens absolu, où c'est la seule vérité ; je ne peux pas prétendre être là...

Mais enfin, il semble bien en fait que je n'ai pas d'autre choix que de faire confiance, de laisser être, et de laisser les choses suivre leur cours... comme Tu voudras... ou comme Tu pourras... ?

Et que l'amour vrai en moi devienne plus vivant et plus tangible... !

... Il a plu toute la journée : une mystérieuse abondance qui ébahit tout le monde. Les villageois disent que ce n'est pas arrivé depuis un siècle ; dans tout le Sud il semble que beaucoup de récoltes ont pourri... Mais il y a ce sourire, ce haussement d'épaules, un humour qui survit à tout... : la misère ne se compte plus !

... Je m'astreins à lire des nouvelles de D.H Lawrence, qui est un réel écrivain ; magicien, il révèle comme un glaive tout le domaine contradictoire des instincts et des émotions qui, juste sous la surface, déterminent la plus grande part de la vie et de l'expérience humaines...

Parallèle à cette lecture, la perception du monde que Tu es venue ouvrir et manifester, inconnu des hommes, et seulement reconnu par ceux dont l'âme, par quelque Grâce suprême, y a été baptisée...

... Demain j'enverrai une lettre à Diane et une autre à Thierry ; je les ai relues : elles sont directes et sans drame. Je Te les offre et j'essaierai d'accepter le résultat, quel qu'il soit...

17-2-1984, Auroville :

Je T'en prie de tout mon cœur, fais que ma petite fille ait tout ce qu'il lui faut, en Toi, pour Toi, qu'elle ait tout l'amour nécessaire et ne connaisse jamais la trahison...
Mère, accepte ma prière... !

19-2-1984, Auroville :

Dayini est passée un moment, avec Jyotis, et m'a raconté comment Aurassi, la fille aînée de Diane, m'avait menti à la demande de Diane qui se cachait quand j'étais venu l'autre jour porter leurs courses... Instantanément est venue en moi une colère froide, libérée ; comme un rétablissement s'est opéré, et j'ai vu qu'il n'y avait plus rien à couvrir, à pardonner, à accepter, à « comprendre » ; j'ai vu aussi que je ne voulais pas que ma fille apprenne à mentir, comme Aurassi l'a appris de Diane...

J'ai été libéré de Diane... !

... J'ai dîné à la Cuisine ; le bruit, la désharmonie grinçante, des corps et des visages sans lumière, des langues qui s'agitent sans contrôle, des yeux vides... juste 3 ou 4 êtres dans une pièce pleine d'humanité : c'est la Cuisine du Centre d'Auroville !

21-2-1984, Auroville:

An odd night, with much energy; for about two hours, I was gathering myself inwardly, in a concentration on You, and there was the feeling that, at such moment, one could die "well", and one would know directly where to go...!

... Je suis allé à l'amphithéâtre vers 5 heures 30: les enfants très agités, et tous les chiens aboyaient... Des visiteurs bavards et se moquant du jargon spirituel d'Auroville ; une sorte de malveillance banalisée... et tout le monde, ou presque, se tenait loin du Feu... Rien ne semble jamais vraiment offert !

... J'ai trouvé une réponse de Thierry qui m'attendait : une curieuse lettre, assez droite et, en même temps, très morale. Il m'y dit que mon insistance ne ferait qu'aggraver la désharmonie, qu'il n'a rien contre moi mais me conseille de laisser Diane et Auragni tranquilles, que s'il y a une vérité dans notre « union », les circonstances la révéleront ; et qu'il y a tout de même un grand nombre de personnes qui ne trouvent pas mon contact favorable et que je devrais me poser des questions...

Je lui ai répondu tout de suite une note brève que j'ai laissée dans le cahier du messenger, lui disant que j'appréciais sa réponse, et qu'il soit bien sûr que je me pose toutes les questions depuis longtemps, et qu'il ne s'agit pas de mon « union » avec Diane mais du choix qu'elle fait de poser cette division sur la vie d'Auragni...

... Je dois mettre cote à cote certaines données : ces gens qui me condamnent sont souvent – ou toujours ? – des gens représentatifs d'attitudes humaines et sociales avec lesquelles j'aurais des difficultés n'importe où ailleurs...

La futilité et l'absurdité de certains exercices m'apparaît plus clairement : beaucoup semblent croire que, du seul fait d'être à Auroville, d'être appelé « Aurovilien », on est passé au-delà des difficultés ordinaires, on est nécessairement dans une certaine vérité et tous nos mouvements bénéficient du 'cachet', de la couleur et de la sanction de cette vérité...

Mais la réalité ne correspond pas ! Comme dans toute société « ordinaire », il y a des gens détestables, il y a des salauds, des réactionnaires, des moralistes, il y a toutes les formes de la satisfaction de soi, tous les fanatismes, tous les exclusivismes... Le changement réel n'est pas accompli, et le plus on y prétend, et le moins vite il peut se faire...

Ainsi la loi, ici comme ailleurs, demeure la même : en soi-même individuellement, accéder à une condition libre de toute division, de toute dureté, et de tout masque : se défaire de l'ego...

Ce que je dois endurer, je l'endurerai... On verra !

22-2-1984, Auroville :

Ce matin on s'est aperçus que j'avais fixé un coffrage dans une mauvaise position hier... ; il y a des moments où je ne vois pas, où je vais trop vite, et c'est par négligence : c'est une insincérité. Jeevan (le nouveau nom de R) est très bon pour appuyer juste là et me secouer de mes « gravités »... !

... Parallèlement à cette question de lutte d'influences, je me trouve devant le mystère de ce qui semble être comme des « races » différentes dans l'humanité... ; pas seulement ce qui pourrait être une « race » centrée dans le psychique par opposition au reste qui ne l'est pas...

Par exemple, je ressens cette sorte d'indifférence, d'incommunicabilité d'« espèces », avec Diane ! Comme si elle obéissait à d'autres lois et se référait à d'autres sources... J'ai l'expérience de son contact personnel, unique et spécifique, avec Ca, mais je n'ai pas l'expérience de son origine...

Et ce qui, à mon sens, est « faux » en elle ne l'est peut-être pas dans l'absolu, puisque de son côté c'est justement ce par quoi elle communique avec un certain nombre d'êtres envers lesquels j'éprouve précisément la même difficulté ou la même réticence et, réciproquement, qui ont en commun à mon égard le même jugement, presque tacite...

... A l'intérieur de l'expérience d'Auroville, ces différences qui semblent si profondes, si résistantes, portent une sorte d'angoisse, le sens d'une terrible impasse...

... Toi seule a pu Te tenir et T'incarner là où toutes ces races, ou ces espèces, ou ces « familles d'êtres », pouvaient trouver leur « signe de Passage »...

Mais, là où nous sommes encore, que pouvons-nous faire ?

23-2-1984, Auroville :

C'est drôle, je commence à me sentir plus joyeux, plus confiant, plus centré aussi...

... Il faut beaucoup de temps dans le corps, il faut que cette vie soit très longue, et y devenir toujours plus jeune et plus malléable à Ta Conscience, plus responsable... et apprendre à s'y immerger...

Il n'y a pas de « but », pas de « réalisation », pas de « salut », pas de « solution »...

Il n'y a que Toi ; et Ton besoin d'être.

Et tout ce qui se prétend autre chose que cela ne produit et perpétue que la misère...

24-2-1984, Auroville:

I had a particularly interesting activity for a large part of last night: I was meeting as if an entire people, with whom the contact became very strong; there were very complex developments; this people lives in, or serves in, or belongs to a very special place that cannot be reached by any normal means: one must be given certain clues to reach a position which allows for the passage to be done... It is a place that stands on the other side of sound – or is separated from here by a reversal of sound... (There is a gesture like making sand run into a groove with one's fingers). And on the other side is this people and there are tests and initiating events and moments... From there one could, with just a single movement of knocking, create an explosion of sound upon earth that would be more shattering than the explosion of a nuclear bomb...

... A l'aube, et jusque vers 7 heures, il y avait une épaisse nappe de brume, c'était merveilleux... Chaque année la terre d'Auroville change un peu plus ; l'herbe est plus drue, on ne distingue presque plus le sol rouge de latérite, et la vie végétale et animale s'établit avec tous ses rythmes qui se superposent et s'entremêlent...

... Barbara est venue ; Ar. est venue... Ce doit être une expression de Ton humour... Mais j'ai une belle amitié pour chacune d'elles, et il est vrai que cela rend la vie plus douce... !

... Barbara me raconte la réunion générale, qui a duré jusque tard... Il a été question de drogues, encore ; une atmosphère s'est répandue, qui n'est pas bonne : la drogue, l'alcool, l'argent... De plus en plus de « Trusts » sont formés, avec l'intention professée de parvenir à couvrir les besoins de chacun à travers une activité « officielle », et c'est comme une insincérité qui se banalise, et s'installe hors de question...

26-2-1984, Auroville:

In the middle of the night, after a series of movemented dreams – like adventures out of a novel –, I woke up rather suddenly with this unbearable pain of the separation from Auragni... And I realised that I am now stuck for another reason: when I feel no respect or no friendship for Diane, how can I go there at all? Auragni will feel it and it will affect her and she will not understand: I cannot inflict that on her!

... Barbara me dit ce matin qu'elle a contemplé sérieusement la possibilité de venir vivre ici avec moi... ! Je lui ai expliqué pourquoi et comment il était préférable de ne pas le faire, et qu'il me fallait rester seul...

... Il m'est souvent montré, ces temps ci, que rien n'est jamais si « grave » qu'on ne puisse en rire ; ou que, si l'on ne peut plus rire, c'est qu'on a laissé trop longtemps s'installer une forme d'insincérité...

... C'est comme on dit : si Tu me donnes ne serait ce qu'un peu de l'ourlet de Ta robe à tenir, rien d'autre n'a vraiment d'importance, ni pratiquement, ni ultimement... !

27-2-1984, Auroville:

I had a very strong and very interesting dream-experience last night. It lasted long, and I could remember all of it; it was all about Nolini: he has died, and people prepare him for burial; I am somehow there, and I find that, in all this whiteness and devotion, the seat that was meant for him is covered with layers and layers of cow-dung, which I begin hesitantly to scrape away with my hands, even though it will not be used anymore; then, as no one interferes, I do it thoroughly till it is all clean and bare and simple; meanwhile people have got their attention elsewhere and I find myself alone near Nolini's body, which they have left ready for burial: they have done a strange thing, they have plastered it over with a cast, and it is still hot when they lower the body; and, from the ground, a liquid spills over, thick brown, again like hot cow-dung, and this causes a reaction with the plaster of the cast... All through that, for some mysterious reason, I seem to be the only one to be so close to his body, watching and caring... His body begins to writhe, and it has tremors, and starts; then it becomes frantic, and the limbs are bending in sheer agony, and the plaster is melting; it is all impossible to behold, and still I am alone... I move around in that sort of pit he is laid in, in the midst of all this whiteness, and I face him; and I begin to be able to realise that he is truly coming back from death, in a terrible, horrible pain and condition, and I cease being merely watching and impressed; I begin to have trust and to participate... I look for help... He, his body, is slowly, out of this total agony, gathering into a sort of sitting position... And still no one is paying attention; but now I do not want to call any one of those who have been there; I look for... brothers...! And, at a distance, apparently unconcerned yet very present, I see F.Ga; relieved, I call him at once, and I realise that he has been posted there, is if he had known what to expect... By that time, Nolini is out of his metamorphosis, truly and really a biological one, with all its un-romantic ugliness and pure, terrible pain... Nolini stands up and, somehow at the same time and in the same movement, the three of us are away into the streets, towards a house where he could rest, protected... We are in a very special atmosphere and I cannot see anybody around, although we must have passed many people; I am completely into his presence, into the joy of it... He is, now, a man of thirty-five or so, that is, a young but ripe man, a kind of permanent age... He is totally himself, with his own charm and beauty, discreet, firm and whole. He is, it seems, totally human and yet, within that bare simplicity, one knows immediately that it is all cleared, all one, all whole, with NO possibility of relapse, of corruption, of mixture... It is there immediate, simple, extremely close and friendly, yet absolutely itself, and clear; full of energy, humble, joyful, and sure, sure, conscious of That: no ego, and yet an individual instrument, conscious... I can't help hugging him, kissing and embracing him, laughing and crying at the same time, because of that pain he's been through; and he answers me, like a man cleansed by a potent waterfall, that this pain has been One pain all along, his share One process all along, One offering, One necessity all along... And he says that so quietly, from such a depth of commitment, simplicity and sincerity... and with that calm tenderness and brotherliness of his...

Then the experience takes on a slightly different character... We go into an apartment, with several rooms; I am not very happy about the place; it is not clean enough, nor is there the sort of harmony I would have endeavoured to make ready for him... But I find that, besides F.Ga, there is also Subir, and that, somehow, they are on a ready, tacit agreement with Nolini about it all, on how it can and must be for the time being, given certain conditions of which I am not aware... In effect I seem to have happened to be there, almost as if by accident, or due to some sort of different determinism which, in Nolini himself, felt normal and at its place but, otherwise, feels a little dissociated... Later there is a moment when Subir comments on my not knowing how to do certain basic things that they know, not knowing how to pray... He says this with his usual humorous and lazy drawl, referring to a gesture of bending back one's fingers with a certain rhythm and pace, a sort of mantric prayer, or mudra... I have an impulse to react and stand away, but I surrender some resistance and let Subir hold my hands while telling him "yes, I know nothing at all, let me learn now...!" and we smile and it is kind of alright...

More than anything else, what struck me is the experience of the contact, of the psychic presence, in this change: that is unmistakable, inimitable... And that it is really Nolini. Himself. Changed, or having discarded the unnecessary. Psychically manifest. Ready to work, enthusiastic, down-to-earth, friendly, and wanting to hasten the pace, ready to see to the task, with a pure vigour... And, to some extent, there was a relation to Auroville... Nolini was his own...: essentially a brother, but alone, at the service of That, whole, free and happy...

... Ce soir, Barbara et moi sommes allés rendre visite à Deepti et Arjun ; Deepti est assez malade depuis quelques jours, mais elle est toujours habitée par cette belle rivière, droite et claire, perceptive et constante, et courageuse... Elle nous a raconté sa propre expérience de ce nouveau groupe, l'« Executive Council », qui correspond tout à fait à ce que j'ai pu sentir à distance... C'est beau de la voir avancer, gardant son orientation, à Ton service, honnêtement, et malgré toutes les oppositions...

28-2-1984, Auroville:

A lot of my dream-activities in Russia, or with Russians – their faces, their warmth, and their eyes – moved me deeply...

... Les enfants ont allumé le Feu à 5 heures 30; on a écouté la Charte lue par Toi, puis la musique d'Igor : une belle suggestion d'ampleur et de force, agréable... Un groupe d'oiseaux a longtemps tourné, au lever du jour, au-dessus de Matrimandir ; l'atmosphère était meilleure, plus douce et plus ouverte...

Je n'ai pas vu ma petite fille...

... Le drame continue... Namas (le nouveau nom de Dennis), qui vient de rentrer, a raconté la conversation qu'il a eue avec Diane hier même : elle est venue le trouver pour lui demander si Ar. et moi étions ensemble, anxieuse de faire comprendre à Namas qu'il ne devait pas laisser Ar. « entre mes mains » ; elle a cherché à lui parler de tout ce qu'elle a souffert avec moi, afin de lui montrer le danger qu'Ar. courait... Diane s'est aussi enquis de la situation de P et Jossie qui, d'après elle, ont aussi souffert de mon influence... tout en lui demandant de ne rien répéter... Elle semble déterminée à me faire partir d'Auroville...

Namas et moi avons passé une heure ensemble ; la communication était bonne.

Il me dit qu'il a pu voir que Diane n'était pas honnête ; mais il a voulu raconter tout l'épisode car, tout de même, « c'est fort » !

Ar. est un peu bouleversée, surtout quand je lui dis que, si elle est ouverte et passive à tout ça, il vaut mieux qu'on ne se voie plus, car c'est du poison... Mais on a fini par bien rire... !

... Barbara est venue, déprimée... Elle avait vu Deepti assez longtemps, qui lui avait aussi parlé de cette opposition contre moi, dont elle attribue l'origine à Fred – qui, d'après elle, se sent menacé par moi (dans ses ambitions)...

... Je ne vois pas comment je pourrai retrouver ma princesse !

Mais je dois me tenir droit, et prendre tout comme une aide pour le Passage...

... Reçu une bonne lettre de G.M...

29-2-1984, Auroville :

Il semble clair que, si je veux vraiment Te servir, je dois sortir de, je dois quitter l'état sexuel ; parce que si, ou quand, cette capacité qui est en moi de toucher directement l'être profond des autres se mélange à des mouvements liés à l'attraction sexuelle, cela peut être dangereux pour ceux qui sont « sur le chemin »... Mais je résiste à ce choix, ou cet engagement, ce pas, par attachement à la possibilité que donne la sexualité... J'ai envie de Te demander de faire le choix pour moi ! J'ai envie de déposer la question à Tes pieds !

... Hier a eu lieu l'inauguration du nouvel Institut d'Education...

... Ce matin nous avons fait un coulage de béton au Matrimandir ; JM.B est venu, et le contact était direct, vraiment amical, rafraîchissant !

Mich.E était là aussi, et c'était beaucoup moins frais ! Dans ses yeux je pouvais voir se dérouler toute la vague des formations, mêlée à une sorte d'attraction, et à de l'étonnement de ne pas ressentir ce que ces formations disent... Physiquement, elle est devenue un peu monstrueuse... !

... Ce soir Ar. est venue, de retour de l'exposition sur l'Evolution, où elle a rencontré Diane et essayé de lui parler, en vain... Diane, butée, lui a même dit, à propos d'Auragni, que je la « manipulais occultement » et que c'est pour cela qu'elle me refusait l'accès à elle...

Comme cette position doit être gratifiante !

On doit avoir le sentiment de discerner clairement, de faire un choix courageux, d'être dans la vérité... C'est admirable, peut-être...

Mais ça fait mal ! Et la douleur n'est, elle, jamais belle !

1-3-1984, Auroville :

J'avais si mal, mal à hurler... Et je ne sais pas lutter contre cette douleur, je ne sais pas passer derrière, la traverser, ou l'offrir... Il semble qu'elle soit là, en travers du chemin, profondément...

J'ai hésité ce matin ; j'ai pensé à rester seul ici ; mais ç'aurait été le drame aussi. Alors je suis allé travailler, et mon équipe a gentiment respecté mon silence et on a fait du bon travail, concentré...

... Je ne sais pas si cette douleur reviendra encore, ni si je tiendrai, ou lâcherai...

Mais, jusqu'à ce matin, il me semblait que les portes se fermaient DEVANT moi...

Et, depuis ce matin, il me semble qu'elles se ferment DERRIERE moi, et que je suis poussé, projeté sur un morceau de chemin nu, étrange, désert, et je crois après tout qu'il y a de la lumière...

... J'ai envoyé à Diane cette note que j'ai écrite pendant la nuit... Et même cette note, à présent, prend un autre sens ; c'est comme si moi-même j'aidais à brûler les ponts... Et il n'y a pas de regret.

... Barbara me dit que Ruud, de lui-même, considérait sérieusement, avec quelques autres, aller parler à Diane et lui dire que ce qu'elle faisait à propos d'Auragni n'était pas acceptable et ne pouvait pas continuer...

5-3-1984, Auroville :

Après le travail, Luigi m'a arrêté près du Banyan pour me demander si nous étions toujours amis, et me dire que j'étais toujours très présent en lui... J'ai vu qu'encore on ne se comprendrait pas, qu'il n'était pas prêt à se donner à l'expérience de ce contact, et que sa tête est encore pleine de notions qui font mal ; qu'il valait mieux tout laisser tranquille...

... Cette horrible grimace me regarde, qui s'est installée sur la chose la plus belle et la plus pure de ma vie – l'amour avec l'enfant, l'amour de ma petite fille...

Trouver la force et la sincérité de rire à ça !... de le transpercer, que toutes ses prises et ses tentacules se défassent, et surtout dans le cœur de Diane, en un instant de ce rire ?!!!

Mais c'est d'abord dans mon propre cœur que je dois le trouver, ce rire !

7-3-1984, Auroville :

Je suis tombé sur ce texte de Sri Aurobindo dans « La Vie Divine » :

« If Nature has taken her evolutionary decision. »

Cela m'a aidé. Appliqué à ce contexte de transition qu'est Auroville, sans être encourageant au sens psychologique, ce texte est venu soutenir tout un ordre de perceptions qui ont joué un rôle actif dans ma conscience ces temps derniers... C'est un sourire libérateur...

8-3-1984, Auroville:

I noted down just one of these bizarre experiences I have, night after night – and most probably I only remember a small amount... This one was tough: it is about a being who has become so racked with an inner kind of torture that it has manifested physically into a constant crawling of large insects all over the body, and he has to keep walking in a trance, and never come out of that trance, lest he'd go mad in a second. But something happens when we meet and we both have to share that moment of madness and go through it, till the torture dissolves...

This has made me realise once more, very practically, how wisdom and the power to help can only be found very high, and brought back in a very pure vessel...!
 ... Reçu une longue lettre de G.M, qui s'apprête à partir travailler au Soudan...

9-3-1984, Auroville :

G.G et moi avons travaillé seuls tout le matin, et c'était intéressant ; nous avons durant ces derniers mois développé une bonne communication dans le travail ; et d'avoir à tout faire à deux ce que nous faisons d'habitude à quatre ou cinq – le placement des poutres de béton qui composent la coque géodésique du Matrimandir – nous a obligés à beaucoup de concentration, une économie de mouvements, une agilité corporelle, une rapidité de réflexes, une attention circulaire permanente et des échanges clairs : c'est une sollicitation de tout l'être physique que j'aime beaucoup, au service du Matrimandir...

11-3-1984, Auroville:

In the night, I "saw" that you had gone to America, "incognita", and that Satprem had gone to meet You there, to be with You and to help You...

12-3-1984, Auroville:

Barbara est venue ; elle a pleuré beaucoup... Il semble qu'elle se trouve à ce point où d'autres ont finalement choisi de se tourner contre moi ou de se détourner en rejetant la responsabilité sur moi, et je ne sais ce qui se passe réellement ; je ne puis que regarder, et être un ami s'il y a la confiance, être seul et tranquille quand ce n'est pas là... Je lui ai fait à dîner, lui ai raconté le film de Fellini « 81/2 » que j'ai revu hier soir, avec Ar., à « Aspiration »... Je lui ai demandé d'essayer de voir clairement et précisément ce qui se passait ; j'ai confiance en son honnêteté, et il y a peut-être une chance pour que moi aussi je comprenne, par elle, de quoi il s'agit...

Sinon, j'ai le choix entre la vie des cavernes, ou la vie d'un voyou... en attendant la prochaine espèce... !

13-3-1984, Auroville :

En fin d'après-midi Barbara est venue ; elle a déjà mis par écrit la plus grande part de ce qu'elle a observé et éprouvé. Après que je l'ai lu, nous avons parlé tranquillement. Tout ce qu'elle a touché, et pu exprimer de l'obstacle qui s'est dressé, a le même caractère que ce que l'expérience de Diane a été ; mais Barbara a cette profonde honnêteté, cette confiance et ce besoin d'aller au-delà – et de ne pas gâcher une vraie opportunité de progrès en la réduisant à la mesure de la contradiction. Ce qu'elle a écrit, comme ce qu'elle est capable de dire sur le moment, a la vraie beauté de ce qui est honnête et ouvert à son propre dépassement.

J'aime quand, au lieu de la fermeture, l'être garde le sens intérieur de ce qui compte vraiment, se refuse à le trahir, et cherche le chemin pour que l'expérience s'ouvre et progresse... Avec le respect et l'appréciation mutuels, la relation entre deux êtres peut devenir toujours plus substantielle et plus juste...

14-3-1984, Auroville :

J'ai travaillé dans le jardin tout l'après-midi, en écoutant de la musique...
Je Te remercie de m'aider non seulement à maintenir cette harmonie mais à en préciser toujours plus le support : c'est une Grâce et un présent que je n'oublie jamais, à aucun instant, même quand je m'en sens tout à fait indigne ou quand cela me semble être un anachronisme, en regard de mon incapacité à être plus vrai dans d'autres domaines...

... Barbara est venue ; nous avons fini de traduire ensemble l'article d'Igor. Il y a comme un déplacement dans le contact, presque une brèche, et de petites réactions prennent la place, comme lorsqu'une symphonie s'interrompt sur le bruitage sous-jacent... C'est un test pour la valeur de notre amitié... !

16-3-1984, Auroville :

Yesterday night Barbara and I had dinner at Deepti and Arjun's; when I returned, late, after dropping Barbara at the Camp, I found a letter from Ar., heavy, disgusting...

C'est resté toute la nuit, comme un poids et un malaise et une nausée...

Je lui ai écrit une note ce matin.

Qu'est ce que je fais entre ces deux femmes, c'est ridicule ?!!!

J'ai envie de tout fermer, comme on « ferme boutique »... !

... Puis ça s'est effacé... Ar., G.G et moi avons bien travaillé tout le matin, même si chacun est un peu fatigué...

19-3-1984, Auroville :

C est arrivée, heureuse...

20-3-1984, Auroville :

Satprem a envoyé à Auroville ce message :

« S'il est possible de faire à Auroville une exposition sur l'évolution sans parler de l'Agenda de Mère, alors cela veut dire que Mère n'a pas de place à Auroville, et je vous dis adieu. Satprem. »

22-3-1984, Auroville :

Ce message de Satprem a ses répercussions en chacun de nous, je crois.

C'est aussi une sorte d'interférence, de négation, d'intrusion dans un espace intérieur que rien ne pouvait toucher, et c'est grave...

Je lui ai écrit. J'ai envoyé ma lettre à S, en espérant qu'elle saurait et voudrait bien la lui faire parvenir...

26-3-1984, Auroville :

Une période de la nuit était passionnante : des scènes et des drames d'un passé occulte de la Chine, drames du « cœur » et intrigues, perceptions et situations ; j'étais présent dans plusieurs de ces « scènes », parfois comme l'ami plus ou moins clandestin du couronné, et d'autres fois comme un des membres d'une sorte de fraternité... Les couleurs, les lieux, les costumes...

Chaque nuit je rêve au moins une fois de ma petite fille, de ma princesse...

... La fête de Barbara aujourd'hui : C et moi avons passé l'après-midi avec elle au Camp ; Deepti et Arjun aussi sont venus ; Barbara heureuse, épanouie, plus forte et mieux centrée, généreuse et lucide...

27-3-1984, Auroville :

Il y a deux jours nous avons découvert que Piero avait demandé à Lorenzo de vérifier secrètement la qualité de notre travail ; G.G s'est alors mis en avant, au lieu de les laisser me prendre pour cible comme d'habitude, et s'est trouvé depuis très déprimé... Et ce matin le coulage de béton était sans joie...

Je redoute que G.G choisisse de s'arrêter, et de me trouver à nouveau seul...

31-3-1984, Auroville :

C et moi avons préparé un dîner pour Deepti, Arjun et Barbara. Je savais que ce serait bien. Ils ont aimé C et elle les a aimés. C'était plein et doux, et soutenu de l'intérieur. Ruud et Akash sont venus un moment, dire bonsoir...

2-4-1984, Auroville :

G.G pense à s'arrêter... Il n'y a plus de joie dans le travail, et il se sent fatigué ; de plus, il a beaucoup à faire au Bharat Nivas... Et moi, je panique un peu à l'idée d'avoir à recommencer à zéro, et à trouver d'autres partenaires pour l'équipe... Je ne m'en sens pas la force...

En même temps, je me pose les questions nécessaires pour laisser tomber tout ce qui m'empêche d'être dans un état plus vrai, quoi qu'il arrive et quelles que soient les circonstances.

C'est un peu comme si à chaque étape on accédait à une plus grande solitude, qui implique une plus grande responsabilité – dans le sens d'une participation plus consciente et plus exigeante, sans rien attendre des autres, et sans juger...

9-4-1984, Auroville :

Beaucoup de douceur, de tendresse et d'affection pour ma fête...

Des présents, des brassées de fleurs ; et Ar. et Barbara réconciliées pour ce jour, et c'est peut-être là le plus gentil des cadeaux... Arjun et Deepti sont venus avec du thé et de la musique et nous avons tous dîné sur la terrasse...

La douleur, pourtant, de l'absence de ma princesse, faite l'otage de ce « Non »...

10-4-1984, Auroville :

J'avais fait l'erreur de garder l'espérance qu'au moins hier ma petite fille serait là... Et la brûlure est revenue, et le trou...

Et j'ai vu que je n'avais fait que la moitié de mon travail, car je n'ai pas encore vraiment offert mon ressentiment envers Diane. Je la juge encore pour ses mensonges, sa perversité, et je n'aurais peut-être pas pu lui donner une place libre et ouverte...

11-4-1984, Auroville :

J'apprends que Diane va recommencer à travailler à la Coop.... Alors qui va s'occuper de ma petite pendant la journée ? Pourquoi ne me revient-elle pas ?

Je suis presque malade de fatigue et de tristesse.
Rien n'est clair.
Et Satprem n'a pas répondu.

12-4-1984, Auroville :

Ce matin j'ai dû rester ici pour me reposer.
Cet après-midi C et moi sommes allés à Pondy pour les billets d'avion, les papiers, etc. ; et là, nous avons rencontré Krishna : il a beaucoup maigri ; le souffle court, fiévreux, très las, nerveusement à bout, comme s'il s'était cogné à trop de murs... Il m'a demandé s'il y avait une suite au message de Satprem, s'il se passait quelque chose... Il m'a demandé de venir le trouver même si Dom est encore là (elle doit s'en aller bientôt)...
C est si complètement belle et proche, elle est un tel présent de vie et de partage...

14-4-1984, Bombay :

Le moment de la séparation a été un peu difficile... Mais, si je n'ai rien « fait » dans ma vie, au moins il y a ça : cette union offerte entre elle et moi... !
J'ai pris une chambre d'hôtel.

15-4-1984, Bombay :

Cette ville est immense...
J'ai marché, marché, marché...
Vu un film américain, « Love Child », une belle histoire...

16-4-1984, Bombay :

Une migraine permanente...
Je regarde : le sexe, la mort, la déchéance du corps...
Et Auroville, ce nucléus minuscule pour des milliards d'êtres...
Et je suis comme le monde... : la distance entre les deux états, les deux atmosphères, est la même dans mon être... Et pourtant...
... Douce Mère, suis-je capable de Te laisser construire un autre être dans le silence ?
... J'ai marché ce soir jusqu'à ce fantastique hôtel de grand luxe au bord d'un promontoire rocheux, haut de vingt étages, surmonté d'une sorte de rotonde vitrée qui domine l'océan de tous côtés... Alors je bois une bière glacée en regardant cette immensité lumineuse et, en bas et tout autour sur les rochers, entre les ordures, des gens qui campent, qui se lavent, qui survivent...

17-4-1984, Auroville :

Une fois de retour ici, cette paix...
Ar. avait tout préparé : des fleurs, des fruits...
Barbara me dit que le jour même de mon départ à Bombay, Krishna m'avait télégraphié de venir...

18-4-1984, Auroville :

Je suis donc parti à la recherche de Krishna... sachant seulement que je devais le faire.

Personne à « Sérénité » ne savait où il était ; j'ai continué, et près de la Poste, où elle venait juste de m'envoyer un autre télégramme, j'ai rencontré Dom ; et nous sommes allés ensemble à Jipmer, où Krishna avait été transporté samedi dans une sorte de coma...

Ce soir il est mieux. Nous avons marché un peu.

Tu sais.

Il a besoin de moi.

Il veut que nous allions ensemble quelque part où nous serons seuls, où rien ne pourra interférer entre nous ; où il pourra se rétablir, et se préparer à continuer ce chemin d'Auroville si Tu le veux, si le Seigneur le veut...

... Maintenant Barbara et Meenakshi s'occupent de trouver une maison à louer dans les collines, et Barbara a accepté de garder la maison ici pendant mon absence.

Elle vient de me raconter un peu de ce qui se passe à Auroville – le fanatisme autour de l'Agenda ; des Français de l'orthodoxie ont même ordonné à Arjun de quitter son travail à la Presse ; des gens qui se battent ; comme une sorte d'horreur intérieure...

19-4-1984, Auroville :

Krishna s'est débrouillé pour quitter l'hôpital pendant la nuit ; il est venu directement ici avec Dom. Il a fallu ce matin que je m'occupe de voir les médecins, de récupérer ses affaires, de raccompagner Dom à « Sérénité »... Barbara et Ar. m'ont bien aidé...

... Ar. a copié pour moi la « partie impersonnelle » de la lettre que Satprem a tout récemment adressée à Fred :

"If only the Aurovilians could understand the power of the right attitude, an urgent receptivity of calling, calling the Mother instead of dissipating the concentration in small other things. It is the time when Mother needs an immutable peace of atmosphere, a fire in the heart. So that each of us can be a relay for the Force to act on the material circumstances. There is no solution except through Her, by Her. There is no hope to escape the vast deluge of falsehood and crookedness everywhere except by enabling Her to act through our quiet concentration. The mantra must beat and beat in our hearts. We must be naked and real. Satprem."

20-4-1984, Auroville:

Krishna semble se rétablir d'heure en heure.

Et c'est amusant de voir Ar. et Barbara découvrir qu'elles veulent être amies, et s'inquiéter ensemble à l'idée de mon absence...

21-4-1984, Auroville :

G.G est venu me raconter ce qu'il a vu et senti pendant la réunion générale : la possibilité d'un rétablissement, et, pour ceux qui se sont tus les deux dernières années ; l'occasion de redresser un peu la barre...

... Krishna a besoin de parler beaucoup, d'une souffrance de quinze années – d'un mal, d'une douleur raciale... d'une peine si profonde...

24-4-1984, Auroville :

Tout cela, et tout, tout ce qui viendra, est contenu dans ces instants où nous T'avons retrouvée, Douce Mère...
Je ne sais rien d'autre...

25-4-1984, Yercaud:

Our residence is named "The House of Peace"...

26-4-1984, Yercaud:

C'est une demeure isolée, située sur une grande terrasse fleurie qui domine les monts voisins.

Krishna a de nouveau une douleur constante au foie.

On ne sait pas.

Dedans, comme dehors, c'est calme.

Et il y a comme un tranquille bouleversement en moi...

27-4-1984, Yercaud :

Quel que soit l'état dans lequel Krishna se trouve – et il en traverse beaucoup ! -, il s'y trouve aussi physiquement : ainsi, la perception du Sens est simultanée à la volonté de guérir...

... Télégrammes et téléphones avec Dom : elle ne voulait plus quitter l'Inde, et leur ami Raj ne voulait plus leur rendre leur argent (une histoire que je ne comprend pas bien)...

28-4-1984, Yercaud :

Dom est arrivée ce matin ; Krishna s'était suffisamment repris, et avait retrouvé sa position plus vraie ; il a pu lui parler clairement. Elle a sa place réservée ce soir pour la France ; de là elle pourra aider utilement. Nous lui avons donnée le nécessaire pour les taxes d'aéroport ; elle a vu, et accepté. Elle est repartie.

... Tout le jour, Krishna était plus heureux ; il a parlé, parlé... On a un peu marché...

Sa réalité et son expérience sont très dominantes, et je ne dois ici être que ce qu'il demande vraiment de moi...

Et toute la question d'Auroville brûle, brûle en moi...

29-4-1984, Yercaud :

Malgré la qualité du silence, la beauté du lieu, la fraîcheur de l'air, et l'abondance de nature libre et respectée, l'atmosphère d'Auroville me manque, et Matrimandir...
Et « Sincérité »...

Pourtant, par Krishna, je dois regarder et m'ouvrir aussi à la possibilité d'une autre trajectoire...

... Et ce soir, je ne sais pas : je touche l'impasse, encore...

Après avoir longtemps cherché à communiquer vraiment, Krishna m'a dit : « ce que je veux, c'est que tu sois de mon peuple psychique – tu es mon ami mais tu n'es pas de mon peuple, tu te satisfais encore du petit air quand il t'est donné, alors qu'il faut que tu étouffes, que ce soit pour toi aussi une question de vie ou de mort, et seulement alors Divakar sortira... ! »... avec sa force et son sens dramatique coutumiers... !

30-4-1984, Yercaud :

Je suis remis, presque brutalement, devant le mystère de ma propre origine...

... Ce matin j'ai trouvé un docteur dans une clinique tenue par des sœurs et j'y ai emmené Krishna... Ce docteur lui a fortement conseillé d'arrêter le tabac ! Alors, il va me falloir arrêter aussi !

... Mon corps n'est pas heureux ici...

1-5-1984, Yercaud :

Krishna a eu toute la nuit une douleur insupportable dans la jambe, et il craint quelque phénomène irréversible ; il y a en lui une peur, une hantise constante, qui tend vers la paranoïa ; tout devient menaçant... Mais en effet, dans ce cas de mutation génétique des globules rouges, c'est justement le risque de toute infection qui est le plus lourd...

Nous sommes descendus à Salem en voiture, dans la chaleur épaisse et bruyante et sale ; nous avons trouvé un gentil docteur qui l'a examiné et lui a fait une injection d'antibiotiques, et nous sommes remontés à notre repaire...

... J'ai un peu de mal à « être à la hauteur » : je dois m'occuper complètement de lui, et de tout ; je dois lutter contre la peur en lui, et toutes les formations, et répondre à ses besoins psychologiques ; je dois traiter avec ses discours, et absorber tout ce qu'il me dit avec toute sa force, sans réagir ; et je dois aussi garder mon équilibre physique...

Et je ne veux pas tomber dans le piège de tenir la charge par orgueil...

2-5-1984, Yercaud :

Krishna fait pression pour que je change ma position en Auroville, ou envers Auroville... Mais ce n'est pas Ta Pression !

J'ai besoin de me replonger dans mon propre silence, sans influences, même celle de Krishna... J'ai besoin de tout « vérifier » dans cet espace que nul être, si « grand » soit-il, ne peut me prendre, ni me donner...

... C'est comme si toute l'énergie de Krishna tendait à emplir puissamment les conflits, les oppositions, les choix... Alors que je ne me sens exister que libre d'eux, lorsque l'Action est une coulée qui sait, traverse, brûle et change sans interférences, étrangère à tout conflit...

Est-ce une lâcheté de ma part ? Je ne sais pas.

... J'ai marché seul cet après-midi, jusqu'à la Station de Recherches où travaille Narasimhan, et nous avons ensemble fait une visite de leur magnifique jardin : quel beau travail ! Et quel bel être !

... J'ai beaucoup regardé la place et la réalité de la violence...

Krishna justifie encore la violence, et continue de la projeter en avant, choisissant de la confondre avec l'Action – l'Action qui peut être radicale, certainement, et même impliquer la « mort » du corps, mais dont la nature est absolument autre !

Je suis convaincu que la violence en soi est une grande faiblesse et que son expression peut faire retourner loin en arrière...

Alors que si l'on parvient, sans se détourner de la vie ni des circonstances, à un calme transparent qui s'offre à la possibilité d'agir, même si l'Action est radicale ou apparemment destructive, elle portera pourtant quelque chose de la Présence, de l'Amour, du Sens et de la Vérité, et quiconque en sera frappé, ou témoin, en recevra consciemment une aide pour sa propre évolution...

3-5-1984, Yercaud :

J'essaie vainement d'identifier une situation dans ce monde à laquelle je pourrais m'atteler, pour seulement vivre !

Mais je n'en vois jamais que deux : l'une est Auroville, « Sincérité » et le chemin, là...

L'autre serait d'avoir les moyens de me mouvoir constamment, d'un lieu à un autre, de pays en pays, librement...

... Krishna se repose.

C'est drôle, je n'ai absolument aucune place pour communiquer quoi que ce soit de ma propre expérience ; la sienne prend tout l'espace et le temps, et tout ce qu'il me demande est d'être là, et disponible...

7-5-1984, Yercaud :

Krishna semble aussi sentir qu'il n'y a plus guère de sens à rester ici ; alors nous allons peut-être repartir demain vers Pondichéry... Mais il panique encore, profondément...

8-5-1984, Pondichéry :

Nous avons quitté Yercaud à 9 heures ce matin, et sommes arrivés à Pondy après 17 heures ; nous avons pris une grande chambre au Parc, ouverte sur la mer...

Krishna a de nouveau mal à la jambe ; il y a comme une varice profonde, et enflammée... On ira voir Datta...

... Une chose frappante, c'est qu'on est rentrés aussi dans une atmosphère mentale où la sexualité a une place considérable... A Yercaud, cela ne m'avait dérangé qu'une fois ; alors qu'ici, c'est environnant !

9-5-1984, Pondichéry :

Ca devient un peu juste – j'ai moi-même besoin de repos, car je ne dormais que trop peu et très mal à Yercaud, et de me retrouver dans une atmosphère qui me nourrit, pour pouvoir donner... Krishna le sent concrètement et redoute que je ne puisse tenir plus longtemps...

Il est urgent que je trouve pour lui des conditions matérielles correctes, afin que je puisse faire ce qu'il me demande et qu'il sente que je veille à tout...

... Datta l'a examiné ; il pense que ce problème à sa jambe est dû à de la filariose – ce que Tu as eue, Douce Mère !

10-5-1984, Auroville :

Un passage : des seuils d'endurance sont franchis, l'on donne et accepte, le contact conscient se dénude, se décante, se révèle...

Ce matin tout était plus tranquille ; et il redevenait possible que nous rentrions ensemble à « Sincérité »...

Mais, plus tard dans la journée, Krishna a vu qu'il était nécessaire et juste qu'il reste seul à Pondy, si seulement je continuais de m'occuper de tout et venait chaque jour... J'ai trouvé que c'était un bon signe...

Alors ce soir je suis rentré seul. Ar. et Barbara m'attendaient.

Immédiatement, cette joie matérielle – la place, le lieu que Tu m'as donnés : cette harmonie... !

13-5-1984, Auroville :

J'ai toujours envie de Te remercier ! Et c'est pourtant au-delà même de la gratitude – car en cet amour il y a, je crois, la capacité de devenir un peu de ce que Tu es : et ce devenir est vraiment le « remerciement » que Tu attends... !

... C'est la fête de Deepti aujourd'hui ; Barbara, Akash et moi sommes restés tard avec elle et Arjun, après que tout le monde soit parti, et c'était bon de les retrouver...

14-5-1984, Auroville :

Chaque matin je descend retrouver Krishna et reste avec lui jusqu'en début d'après-midi. Maintenant qu'il est mieux et que ses énergies reviennent, il rayonne physiquement, plus pur qu'avant, et cela remue tout mon être émotif, et physiquement aussi il y a ce mouvement de se fondre comme dans du miel – et la crainte de la sexualité qui gâcherait tout...

... Il y a comme une dépression qui me guette, et je suis attentif comme sur un champ de mines... !

17-5-1984, Auroville :

Aujourd'hui j'ai emmené Barbara et Akash avec moi à Pondy ; je sentais que le moment était venu pour Krishna de sortir un peu, de rencontrer quelqu'un d'autre que moi, avec qui le contact était déjà sûr et clair... On a dîné au restaurant ; Krishna était radieux, heureux ; Barbara aussi était heureuse, profondément...

Pour moi c'était reposant, et je pouvais les aimer, et l'aimer, sans être le seul interlocuteur... !

19-5-1984, Auroville :

J'ai ramené Krishna ici ce soir...

20-5-1984, Auroville :

Une journée tranquille ici à m'occuper doucement des choses, des plantes, de Krishna... ; à lire « le Mental des Cellules » ; avec le souhait de vivre ainsi dans un rythme paisible comme milieu pour la coulée et le travail de Ca en nous...

Il y a ce sens concret qu'entre Krishna et moi cette alchimie se produit toujours qui permet au Travail de se faire ; cette alchimie unique qui semble d'habitude ne se produire qu'entre un homme et une femme prédestinés, le sens d'un support nécessaire à l'énergie du travail, qui ne vient ni de lui ni de moi mais de ce qui se produit dans la rencontre...

21-5-1984, Auroville :

J'ai finalement dû parler à Ar., et lui demander avec urgence de regarder et de chercher la source de cet attachement vital qui empoisonne le contact, afin de l'offrir ; j'ai essayé de lui faire comprendre que c'était une nécessité impérative, et qu'ainsi seulement on pourrait continuer et trouver naturellement les formes les plus justes pour notre relation... Le cœur gros, elle a fini par accepter, sachant bien qu'il le faut...

22-5-1984, Auroville :

Cette nuit, entre toutes sortes de rêves encombrés, je me suis trouvé en présence d'étranges petites créatures animales – un serpent à trois têtes, un drôle de chat sauvage à moitié hibou... : des présences qui, au contact ; perdaient leur caractère menaçant...

... Krishna est inquiet ; il n'y a aucune réponse de l'Ambassade du Maroc à Delhi ; il ne sait où aller, ni que faire, ni comment vivre, ni pour quoi...

23-5-1984, Auroville :

Hier soir Barbara s'était plainte que je ne l'appréciais pas, que je ne répondais pas à son besoin et sa joie de se donner... : le même phénomène qu'avec Ar....

Et ce matin, quand elle est venue nous rejoindre elle m'a dit qu'hier, après, son corps ; de très profond, s'était mis à pleurer ; qu'elle n'avait jamais connu ces larmes-là...

24-5-1984, Auroville :

Tant que Krishna ne sait pas clairement ce qu'il va faire, où il va aller, je suis tenu et ne puis consacrer le temps qu'il faudrait au Matrimandir ; je n'y vais travailler que tôt le matin...

Et il y a ce besoin en moi, plus aigu encore maintenant, de recevoir de Toi un travail, une activité, quelle qu'elle soit, qui permettrait de fixer, d'appeler, d'incarner... Que tu me dises : « tiens, fais ça pour moi... ! »

25-5-1984, Auroville :

Tout est lourd et pénible : rien qui tienne, rien de droit...

Barbara a voulu me raconter un rêve « très fort » qu'elle a eu la nuit dernière, où elle m'apportait Auragni qui avait besoin de moi et je l'emmenais dans ma voiture à ma maison et il y avait là sa chambre et elle s'endormait sur mes genoux, et Diane venait aussi et acceptait et faisait confiance et la laissait avec moi, ma petite fille...

Alors je ne sais pas, pourquoi doit-on rêver ces choses et me les dire ?

Est- ce de pure malice, de la cruauté, quelque chose d'occulte malveillant, où y a-t-il une possibilité ?

... Je sens toutes ces années de tension ; et G.M qui est parti, et Satprem qui dit « adieu » à Auroville et Krishna qui veut s'en aller... et Auragni qui est séparée de moi par les « Auroviliens »... Et je ne sais pas, je n'ai rien à offrir, rien à donner...

... Souvent ces jours-ci il me prend l'envie de hurler, physiquement...

29-5-1984, Auroville :

Ce soir Barbara nous apprend la mort de Gandolf ; il s'est tué dans un accident d'escalade à Yercaud ; elle ne savait rien de plus... J'ai eu l'impression que cela avait été très soudain et très rapide...

J'ai regardé alors tout ce qui s'est passé ces derniers mois autour de Gandolf – un adolescent « difficile » - et... les regrets de n'avoir pas agi... ; « si » j'avais eu plus de confiance en ces « impressions » subjectives qui me venaient, j'aurais fait plus et ne me serais pas contenté de suggérer à L que son attitude était dangereuse...

Mais on ne sait rien, rien...

30-5-1984, Auroville :

J'ai passé longtemps, la nuit dernière, avec les enfants, autour et à propos de ce qui s'est passé pour Gandolf, et nous étions dans un lieu magnifique, extraordinaire, comme creusé dans la terre rouge, mais solidifiée, lissée, homogénéisée – j'avais déjà vu cette « matière », il y a quelques temps –, au fond de la forêt... Une très belle atmosphère...

31-5-1984, Auroville :

Hier soir Krishna m'a maudit, m'accusant de le rendre dépendant de moi financièrement et de le manipuler...

Et ce matin, quand je suis revenu du Matrimandir après le coulage de béton, Barbara m'a annoncé qu'il avait refusé de sortir de sa chambre et qu'il n'avait pas mangé...

Je suis allé à lui et l'ai trouvé tout tendre et comme lavé ; il s'était battu toute la nuit, dit-il, avec des forces de mort, et il avait compris qu'il s'était laissé prendre au piège, une fois de plus... Il a vu Shankar, qui lui aussi a cette expérience d'être attaqué, d'être aux prises avec des forces meurtrières...

Je ne sais pas...

Je ne dis pas que nous n'avons pas à faire avec ce qui résiste et ne veut pas changer, mais je me sens comme extérieur ou étranger à une sorte de « fraternité », presque de culture de l'expérience « intérieure »... Je n'y sens pas assez de vérité...

1-6-1984, Auroville :

Le récit plus clair et précis de la mort de Gandolf nous parvient petit à petit, à mesure que la confusion des « adultes » se dissipe : pour lui, cela a été clair, direct et immédiat, une « belle mort » comme un grand plongeon ailleurs ; mais c'est le drame, et le mélange émotionnel et moral qui a suivi, qui ont donné l'impression d'incertitude et de désordre...

3-6-1984, Auroville:

Shankar est venu nous faire signer la déclaration:

"Mother, we want Your Agenda to be the heart of Auroville..."

5-6-1984, Auroville:

Barbara et moi sommes allés en autobus à l'aéroport de Madras pour tenter de récupérer cet argent que Dom y avait laissé. C'était laborieux, et nous sommes revenus ce soir assez épuisés, et Krishna m'attendait depuis des heures : il avait enfin reçu une réponse de l'Ambassade du Maroc à Delhi, télégraphiée en réponse à mon télégramme envoyé il y a deux jours... Ils ne peuvent, ou ne veulent pas l'aider ; ils ne sont disposés qu'à lui fournir un laissez-passer pour retourner au Maroc, sans aucune garantie qu'après 22 ans d'absence et aucun Etat-civil préservé, il puisse en ressortir avec des documents officiels...

Que veux-Tu pour Krishna ?

C'est comme si rien ne venait directement à lui, aucune indication claire...

On s'aime, mais cela ne peut pas suffire... !

6-6-1984, Auroville :

La question s'est posée de ce que nous allions faire maintenant à propos des papiers et du statut de Krishna... Allons-nous demander l'aide et la participation d'Auroville ? Après tout, ce sont là des questions pratiques tout à fait pertinentes pour l'existence d'Auroville, et il y a un autre « cas » à présent, celui de Mahmoud, que les autorités Iraniennes poursuivent pour le faire rentrer « au pays »...

Je suis allé plus tard en parler à Bill S, qui a semblé adhérer et doit présenter le « sujet » à la prochaine réunion du Conseil Exécutif...

Krishna est comme un enfant ; il exige toute l'attention et impose une sorte de rythme sporadique sur le quotidien ici, alors même que Rad vient de tomber gravement malade et a dû être transporté à Jipmer, et seul son gamin est là pour s'occuper de la pompe et du remplissage des réservoirs, et tout est un peu au bord de la débâcle...

8-6-1984, Auroville :

Sans Ta Pression, rien ne bouge, rien ne s'offre, et rien ne reçoit... Et malheureusement il semble encore que Ta Pression soit le plus souvent interprétée dans la vie en termes de catastrophe, en termes morbides...

Mère, je T'en prie Douce Mère, ne me laisse pas dormir ; agis, agis, jusqu'à ce que ma conscience physique ne puisse plus exister autrement que par ce Besoin... Alors, tout prendra le Sens...

10-6-1984, Auroville :

Je suis laissé à mariner dans l'indigence du petit pantin séparé...
C'est gris et laborieux...

11-6-1984, Auroville :

Je me suis donc rendu à la réunion du « Conseil », à la demande de Bill S, pour présenter directement mes suggestions d'une action à mener au nom d'Auroville pour la régularisation des documents officiels de Krishna... Krishna, lui, avait décidé d'aller se promener seul à Pondy !

Il y a d'abord eu une confusion, parce que Bill S n'avait pas prévenu de ma visite, et la plupart des membres du « Conseil » me sont hostiles... Diane, qui est maintenant leur secrétaire, a refusé même de me regarder, puis s'en est allée...

J'ai présenté la requête de Krishna, avec précision ; ils ont écouté, avec je crois un certain respect...

... D'avoir dû voir Diane comme ça, « à sa place » et tout en ordre dans la communauté, et ce mur, ne plus se regarder, ne plus se parler, et elle est la mère de mon enfant, et tous la soutiennent dans cette « clarté » d'action et de conduite... je me sens minable d'en être arrivé là...

Qu'est ce que je fais là ? Je ne sais plus !

12-6-1984, Auroville :

Avec Krishna, cela ne semble aller nulle part ; il pense à partir, n'importe où ; il pense à Dom ; il pense à A ; il pense à cesser de vivre... Mais rien de clair ou de décisif ne vient se montrer...

Et en vain je cherche un sens à ce qui se passe avec Auragni, un sens qui corresponde, qui vive, qui existe et qui marche... et je ne trouve pas...

13-6-1984, Auroville :

G.G s'est vu interdire l'accès de « Jaïma » par Jean, à cause de son contact avec moi... Myrtle a la vie dure dans son travail de secrétaire à cause de son amitié avec moi...

Je suis pourtant allé à la réunion générale, où les gens de l'Agenda devaient présenter leurs besoins et leurs difficultés ; je me disais que ce serait l'occasion pour moi de sentir un peu mieux où en est Auroville...

Et, par l'une de ces ironies spéciales, je me suis trouvé assis juste à côté de Jean et juste en face de Diane... !

16-6-1984, Auroville :

Akash est malade et Barbara devait rester près de lui ; Krishna ne voulait pas venir ; alors je suis allé seul avec Ar. voir le film « Kramer versus Kramer » à « Aspiration »... Une autre ironie : c'est l'histoire d'un couple séparé ; la mère laisse d'abord l'enfant au père, puis cherche à le récupérer par un procès, puis finit par accepter... et Diane est venue aussi voir le film et s'est assise avec Auragni quelques gradins plus bas... Auragni ne m'a pas vu...

Que veux-Tu ?

17-6-1984, Auroville :

Ce matin j'étais misérable. Je continuais de voir la petite figure de mon amour, de ma petite fille, ses yeux tout bleus et ses mains qui exprimaient quelque chose que personne ne comprenait : cette incomplétude parce que je n'étais plus avec elle pour communiquer, là... Et cette séparation terrible, absurde, installée, justifiée, « normale » : ce mur qui s'est levé en travers, au cœur de notre relation...

J'ai écrit un message à Diane : « Ne vois-tu pas qu'Auragni a besoin de l'un et de l'autre pour son développement complet ? »...

J'ai d'abord demandé à Barbara de le déposer dans « Aspiration », ce qu'elle n'a pas fait (trop simple ? pas assez gratifiant ?) ; alors ce soir j'ai glissé ce message dans le livre du « messenger », qui est un ouvrier payé par Auroville...

... L'orage est venu, et la pluie : forte, abondante et pénétrante...

18-6-1984, Auroville :

Krishna et moi travaillons depuis plusieurs jours à la création de ce jardin de cacti et d'agaves... Barbara vient parfois nous aider...

19-6-1984, Auroville :

Anne, Sam et Benaur vont partir en France, et Barbara souhaite emménager dans la maison qu'ils vont libérer... Je suis triste que Benaur doive s'en aller ; je pourrais passer des heures avec ce petit enfant... Pas comme un remplacement, mais le fait est que je me sens bien avec les tout petits...

20-6-1984, Auroville :

Une fois de plus je rêve de D.M ; et je rêve qu'elle marche ! Elle est seule dans une cour intérieure, un grand espace ; elle est pleine d'énergie et de détermination, et elle marche, marche ; une jambe est restée plus courte, ou bien le pied n'est pas encore rétabli, mais elle se tient bien droite ; nous arrivons en même temps qu'une livraison de gros fruits pour elle, et elle vient à nous, puis à moi, avec tout son besoin de vivre et d'aimer...

... Krishna et moi poursuivons notre « création » ; aujourd'hui nous transportons des rochers et les plaçons parmi les cacti, et l'un d'eux, une roche pâle incrustée de fossiles, s'est soudain révélée : un merveilleux oiseau endormi, le bec dans l'aile, une présence magique, absolument reposée mais habitant tout l'espace...

... L'Ambassade du Maroc a envoyé une lettre, un peu plus positive...

... Par Namas et quelques autres j'apprends petit à petit quelle sorte d'arrangements Diane choisit pour ne pas avoir à s'occuper d'Auragni tout le temps...

Cela m'inquiète, cela me fait mal ; je ne sais pas Te l'offrir...

22-6-1984, Auroville :

J'ai dû passer la plupart du temps ces deux derniers jours à aider Sam pour ses papiers, et les certificats de naissance de Benaur, entre Pondy, Vanur et Kottakuppam ; Sam s'y noyait, tout seul... C'était pour moi, curieusement, une sorte de repos...

Mais Krishna a dû se sentir délaissé ; capricieux comme souvent, laissé à lui-même il retourne à ses pensées défaitistes...

24-6-1984, Auroville :

Krishna a senti qu'il avait besoin de « s'essayer seul » et de voir ce qu'il en est... Et qu'il en avait assez de cette situation où tout passe par moi...

J'ai trouvé cela positif, et soulageant.

Nous sommes descendus à Pondy ; nous avons repris une chambre au Parc, dîné ensemble près de l'océan, calmement ; puis je l'ai laissé...

27-6-1984, Auroville ;

Le deuxième anniversaire de ma petite fille, et je ne peux rien faire !

Ajneyam Auragni, bonne fête mon amour !

29-6-1984, Auroville :

Barbara dit qu'elle voudrait m'épouser... !

1-7-1984, Auroville :

Des nuits pénibles : il m'arrive encore d'être bloqué dans un milieu intermédiaire, impuissant, exposé à un danger que je pressens mais ne comprend pas, T'appelant, misérable... Et le jour, des vertiges, des contractions musculaires, et une sorte d'épuisement...

... Aujourd'hui, comme convenu, je suis allé retrouver Krishna à Pondy : il était prêt à revenir, et étonné de me voir si fatigué, et de me sentir distant...

2-7-1984, Auroville :

Par Phil qui est de retour de France, Krishna a reçu une assez grosse somme que Dom lui a envoyée... Comme elle se débrouille pour l'aider !

Mais nous n'avons pas parlé de ses projets. Nous n'avons parlé de rien, en fait !

Quelque chose d'intérieur m'a déplacé par rapport à lui ; cela ressemble à de l'indifférence, mais c'est une chose plus profonde, et tranquille...

Il y a une sorte de tristesse en moi aussi, peut-être une lassitude de tous ces remous émotionnels, entre Ar., Barbara, et même avec Krishna...

Il n'y a ces jours-ci qu'avec Benaur que je puisse vraiment sourire...

Pourtant, Jack est venu nous voir et nous a parlé longtemps de son expérience de ces sept dernières années aux Etats-Unis, et nous avons ri, et ri... Et ça lui a fait du bien aussi...!

3-7-1984, Auroville:

The night has been difficult, picking through ruins, cleaning and cleaning debris, and sorting out abandoned stuff, and I woke up at 2 am so tired that it verged on panic, and I felt like moaning... It has been so many years now that I feel thus tired: I do not even remember ever getting up in the morning refreshed and ready, or ever experiencing this sort of physical innocence...

I want to be Yours, to belong to You, to be a little bit of substance claimed and used by You – and I am panicked when I cannot at all feel that You want me...

... J'ai emmené Barbara passer la journée à Pondy : on a fait le marché, choisi une robe pour elle, et des petits oiseaux pour Akash ; on a déjeuné près de la mer ; je voulais tout rassembler entre nous dans la dimension de l'amitié : c'est là que c'est solide et réel, c'est là que chacun peut donner librement... Et c'était calme et clair.

4-7-1984, Auroville :

Je ne peux guère plus supporter tout ce flot de paroles inutiles dont Krishna remplit les moments que nous passons ensemble, surtout quand Barbara est avec nous ; c'est comme un égoïsme en lui ; alors, je me retire de plus en plus...

Cet après-midi j'ai pu, seul pendant près de deux heures, écouter une merveilleuse interprétation de la musique de Bach pour l'Évangile selon Saint Jean, et tout était à sa place, les difficultés avaient leur sens, et tout était perçu par une force d'être qui aime...

5-7-1984, Auroville :

Un curieux incident entre Krishna et moi : nous travaillions à notre jardin quand j'ai découvert qu'il avait pris deux très beaux cristaux que je garde toujours près des fleurs, en offrande, pour les enterrer à demi dans un pot de cacti ; et je me suis pris à tenter de lui faire saisir la brutalité de ce geste, le manque de respect qu'il exprimait... Il m'a seulement dit de les reprendre si je le voulais ; mais cela m'a montré quelque chose.

10-7-1984, Auroville :

Barbara et moi avons accompagné Anne, Sam et Benaur à l'aéroport hier ; e aujourd'hui nous avons nettoyé leur maison, avec Ruud et Akash, de fond en comble, pour que Barbara et Akash puissent s'y installer bientôt.

... Avec Krishna je me sens un peu comme une mère dépassée, débordée par les exigences et la force de la demande de son enfant ; ce n'est jamais tranquille et il veut une acceptation inconditionnelle dans ma conscience, quoiqu'il fasse et quoiqu'il exprime...

11-7-1984, Auroville :

Je lis « Les Confessions véridiques d'un terroriste albinos » de Breytenbach : c'est bien actuel !

12-7-1984, Auroville :

Ce n'est qu'hier que j'ai reçu une note de Nath m'annonçant son intention de venir passer trois semaines ici, et aujourd'hui elle est arrivée, et avec elle l'intrusion de toute une atmosphère de l'Europe ; mais elle est douce, et son travail de danseuse a établi un silence physique dans sa présence, qui est bien appréciable... Elle m'a donné des nouvelles d'O.P, de leur travail avec Béjart, de leurs projets...

... Krishna n'est pas bien. Il est de nouveau fiévreux, et j'attrape de lui une sorte d'inquiétude ; c'est comme s'il creusait un cul-de-sac, et je ne sais rien, ne puis rien, et ne suis conscient de rien d' « utile » ; je me sens abandonné par la Force, laissé là dans la banalité implacable et mortelle de cet absurde repas de la vie...

16-7-1984, Auroville :

Ce matin Krishna m'a demandé une fois de plus que nous allions ensemble à la plage, en vélo, cet après-midi... Bon ! Quand le moment est venu ; j'ai du regonfler les pneus de mon vélo ; Krishna avait déjà préparé son sac comme s'il s'apprêtait à partir sans m'attendre... Nous sommes descendus jusqu'à la route goudronnée du littoral ; j'étais un peu en avant et je me suis arrêté à l'entrée de « Repos » pour l'attendre ; et, de loin, il m'a fait un signe d'au revoir, me criant qu'il m'écrirait dès qu'il aurait une adresse, et il a continué vers Pondy...

Il a pris tout son argent...

Je comprend, mais je suis aussi bien las de ses mensonges, et d'être celui à qui il se croit obligé de mentir...

... J'ai accompagné Ruud à Pondy, qui s'en va à Bombay pour tenter d'obtenir des donations pour Matrimandir...

19-7-1984, Auroville :

Nath passe presque toutes ses journées ici, mais aujourd'hui elle devait aller à « Aspiration » montrer des mouvements de danse à Mon, et souhaitait que je l'accompagne et participe ; d'après elle Mon était prévenue et d'accord.

Je redoutais d'y rencontrer Diane et ma princesse (que ferais-je ?) mais, pour Nath, j'ai choisi d'essayer. Nous avons trouvé Mon dans sa hutte, et dû attendre un moment que le groupe de théâtre libère la salle de « Last School » ; Nath s'était déjà changée, et nous allions commencer, quand Mon soudain annoncé qu'elle ne voulait pas venir car elle ne voulait pas travailler avec moi... C'était comme une brique : tout a viré ; Nath s'est fâchée, écoeurée ; et, pendant ces quelques instants je pouvais voir, par la fenêtre, à quelque distance sur le chemin, une petite fille qui trottinait devant Diane...

J'ai emmené Nath à la plage...

Qu'est ce que je fais ici, l'objet de cet ostracisme ?

Je ferais mieux de partir... A quoi ça sert de s'entêter à essayer de marcher et d'exister dans un contexte où je suis rejeté ?

Si ce n'est pas pour Toi, et avec Toi, alors qu'est ce que je cherche à prouver ?

J'ai l'envie de vomir...

20-7-1984, Auroville :

Après le travail, Nath me montre toutes sortes d'exercices ; ça me fait du bien d'être avec elle ; elle est directe, jeune ; elle aime rire, elle est sensible, et elle a un cœur vivant...

21-7-1984, Auroville :

Je regarde la possibilité de partir quelques temps.

Je ne sais pas.

Une partie de moi en a « envie » : c'est ce besoin émotionnel que je garde emprisonné, au silence...

Ici, tout est trop chargé, trop tordu, et trop « pensé » ; je ne peux pas rencontrer les êtres gratuitement et librement, que ce soit pour l'instant d'un sourire ou d'un regard, de quelques mots, ou pour de la tendresse physique, ou une harmonie sexuelle, n'importe... Car dans cette liberté que Tu as donnée, on a eu vite fait de tout remplir de valeurs et de tabous ; il n'y a déjà plus de place pour se découvrir, et les rôles sont distribués.

... Jeevan, lui, s'en va pour plusieurs mois, dit-il, au Canada...

25-7-1984, Auroville :

Cela fait 14 ans que je suis couvert par cette malédiction ; je sais et je sens que Tu me protèges et m'entoures, autant que je Te le permet, mais il me semble aussi que seule une Grâce très spéciale pourra défaire, et lever pour toujours cette formation ; ou un acte d'amour si pur...

... G.G s'en va en France ; je lui ai remis des lettres...

27-7-1984, Auroville :

C'est drôle, je m'attache un peu à Nath, à sa présence physique, à son corps harmonieux, à son rire et à sa sensibilité... Et elle repart déjà dans quelques jours !

Nous faisons quotidiennement deux heures d'exercice ensemble, sur la terrasse, et cela me fait du bien, comme de l'air frais...

29-7-1984, Auroville :

Nath et moi avons passé ensemble la soirée d'hier et la nuit ; je n'avais pas tenu un corps contre le mien depuis si longtemps, un corps avec lequel le mien trouvait de la tendresse et du bien-être...

... Et ce soir Barbara, ayant surmonté son chagrin quand elle a eu senti ou deviné ce qui s'était passé, nous a fait à dîner chez elle ; et Nath lui a remis un peu d'argent pour l'aider à aménager son nouvel espace, et il y a eu un beau courant d'amitié entre elles... J'ai raccompagné Nath à la Guest House ; nous avons marché la main dans la main, en silence, et c'était simple ; la voiture l'attendait ; elle est partie.

Et j'ai éprouvé que cela avait été Ton cadeau...

Elle a emporté pour O.P un beau cristal bleu que j'ai choisi...

... Je lis, pour la seconde fois, « Hanta Yo » : ce livre si vrai sur les Indiens d'Amérique, ce peuple, ce groupe de peuples, dont la profondeur intérieure m'est si proche et importante et familière...

2-8-1984, Auroville :

Sans le vouloir, j'observe les mouvements de la vie, les mécanismes qui opèrent, et comme les êtres se mettent « au pas » avec telle ou telle énergie ; et je vois qu'aucune ne m'intéresse assez... Il n'y a pour moi que deux pôles, ou... chemins ? L'un est l'expérience sexuelle, l'énergie sexuelle comme milieu de contact ; l'autre est d'être habité, travaillé, traversé et pétri par la Force, avec la gratitude de la Présence... Et quand ni l'un ni l'autre ne sont tangibles, c'est alors un minimum de beauté et d'harmonie physiques et matérielles qui me permet de vivre...

3-8-1984, Auroville :

Ruud est rentré de Bombay fatigué, amaigri et fiévreux, mais avec l'impression d'avoir été utile et que de l'argent viendrait ce mois-ci en réponse au Matrimandir...

8-8-1984, Auroville :

Hier soir Deepti a été agressée, dans sa cuisine à « Eco House », par un homme masqué... Elle est indemne.

10-8-1984, Auroville :

J'habite à Auroville, c'est tout. Quelque chose de très profond en moi a posé là son ancre : c'est ici la maison, et c'est tout... Le reste, tout le reste, est un mystère...

11-8-1984, Auroville :

Akash a une crise d'asthme ; depuis le retour de Ruud, il semble avoir perdu son nouvel équilibre. Pourtant nous venions juste de terminer la grande volière pour ses oiseaux, et il était content...

... Ce soir Dom est arrivée ici en taxi, n'ayant trouvé Krishna nulle part ; il semble qu'il soit allé seul à Delhi pour essayer d'obtenir un nouveau passeport... Elle a dû rester dormir ici.

12-8-1984, Auroville :

Dom a pu glaner quelques informations ; elle a parlé à Al.B qui avait vu Krishna à Delhi : il paraîtrait que l'Ambassade du Maroc a refusé de l'aider et qu'il lui a été officieusement déconseillé de retourner au Maroc. Dom a décidé d'attraper le premier avion pour Delhi et de le retrouver... Je l'ai accompagnée au bus.

15-8-1984, Auroville :

Krishna reste introuvable, et même Kireet s'inquiéterait, qui aurait essayé de l'aider, et l'Ambassade serait à sa recherche...

... Le Feu à l'aube, calme...

... Cet après-midi ce séminaire de la « jeunesse » s'achevait et une déclaration commune devait être lue à l'amphithéâtre. Je m'y suis rendu avec Ar., mais n'ai pas pu rester : il y a une médiocrité dans ce que certains d'entre nous expriment qui me choque. Il y avait là un jeune étudiant Nigérien, avec qui le contact a été immédiat...

... Je ne sens pas clairement ce qui est nécessaire pour Krishna, et je ne puis m'empêcher de Te dire : « si Tu ne peux pas ou ne veux pas ouvrir cette impossibilité, si Tu ne veux pas ou ne peux pas l'aider à comprendre, accepter et participer, lui qui T'appartient, alors c'est que le moment n'est plus là et que nous pouvons tous plier bagages et laisser les choses suivre leur chemin ordinaire... ! »

19-8-1984, Auroville :

Dom est rentrée sans avoir trouvé Krishna ; elle a pu rencontrer Kireet, malgré les efforts d'Al.B pour l'en dissuader ; d'après elle Al.B aurait refusé d'aider Krishna. Je ne sais pas ; je sens sa présence dans la journée, mais je n'ai pas rêvé de lui depuis plusieurs jours ; je n'ai plus cet élan vers lui, depuis qu'il est parti en me mentant ; quelque chose d'autre doit se passer, en lui et en chacun, et si ça ne se passe pas, rien ne se passera...

21-8-1984, Auroville:

I had one long and intense dream of Krishna in the early part of the night, in very odd circumstances: hearing twice a woman's cry for help behind a double door, I open one of the panels and I come upon Krishna, sitting in a toilet room, and guarded by two older black men; he is in a good condition, and well-dressed; he lives near Bombay in a nice hotel away from the traffic, a place called "The Star", where he's been accepted as a sort of wanderer to be protected; I embrace him and give myself to him; I ask him to take me as if I was his woman, and he accepts; he opens, and he realises what is between us, and so much, so much unreality falls off our bond and our lives...

24-8-1984, Auroville:

Krishna est revenu hier à Pondy ; Dom l'y a rejoint et ils ont pris ensemble une chambre d'hôtel.

... Je finis de relire « Hanta Yo » ; voilà un livre qui est comme un ami très cher, dont je voudrais ne jamais me séparer...

... Chaque après-midi, depuis quelques temps, je m'installe sous l'arbre de « Service » pour écrire ; cela vient comme au compte-gouttes, et je ne sais pas où ça va...

27-8-1984, Auroville :

Ce soir Krishna est venu me voir, très tendre, comme dans certains de mes rêves : il veut retourner demain à Yercaud, avec Dom, le temps de suivre un nouveau traitement pour sa jambe ; puis ; dit-il, il veut construire une nouvelle hutte, ou maison, ici près de moi... On verra !

28-8-1984, Auroville :

Petit à petit un nouveau soutien, quelque chose comme un calme heureux et actif, une paix en moi, semble vouloir s'installer ; et je crois que c'est lié au fait que j'ai recommencé d'écrire, et de retrouver ainsi un courant de créativité...

31-8-1984, Auroville :

Ce mouvement d'écrire me préoccupe. Peut-être est ce dû à la disparité entre la médiocrité de certains de mes états et la qualité de ce que je cherche à exprimer ; j'ai comme un dégoût parfois ! Mais je sais aussi que ce dégoût n'est que l'envers d'une satisfaction qui commençait à pointer... Tout cela est peu profond... Alors je continue ; il y a quelque chose qui se fait...

1-9-1984, Auroville :

C'est de nouveau la rivalité entre Ar. et Barbara, et ça me place entre deux tirs de revendication ; j'ai l'impression d'être un morceau de terrain disputé : si la clôture passera à droite ou à gauche du pommier... !

8-9-1984, Auroville :

Ar. tire beaucoup ; elle demande, elle veut une relation physique, et je continue de le refuser ; et je me sens un peu malhonnête de lui donner une intimité sans lui donner de plénitude...

9-9-1984, Auroville :

J'ai terminé aujourd'hui la rédaction de ce texte.

Je crois que c'est fort, percutant, et que cela peut toucher ; en même temps, c'est écrit dans un langage, et cela met l'accent sur des aspects de conscience, qui risquent d'étonner, de déconcerter, sinon de rebuter – même à Auroville... Mais de toutes manières, l'imprimer ici est hors de question : je suis condamné, et rien de « bon » ne peut venir de moi, c'est entendu... !

... Anandi est venue me voir, comme elle le fait souvent ; et j'ai remarqué que, lorsqu'elle est seule avec moi, elle est très fine et joyeuse, cohérente et attentive ; lorsqu'il y a quelqu'un d'autre, elle est chaotique, bruyante et fausse...

Poem in prose, written on 10-9-1984:

“Bleu et gris, entre les branches; et vert : la clairière.

La mousse est encore fraîche sous mes pieds.

Au bord, à l'orée, la chanson hésitante, jaune ruisselante, des boutons d'or.

Vert, vert, la clairière ; il fait bon, la douceur infinie de la brume lentement se retire absorbée, c'est la terre qui lentement bascule et s'expose au soleil.

Il sent bon, le bois bourgeonnant, sa pourriture respire lentement, exhale et revit.

Une forme, brune et sourde, file entre les herbes, et soudain ploient les rameaux, un bond, un saut. Et presque, le silence.

Un premier rayon frappe le fourré, de l'autre côté, près des grands fûts sombres qui montent à leurs arches et là, où l'herbe est rase et paisible, quelque chose commence à reluire, à briller, sans bruit.

Un homme est couché là, un glaive à son côté.

Une explosion tranquille, la lame s'anime et d'elle la lumière rejaillit et s'épand ; tout, là, s'avive et se gorge de lumière, et la présence, l'homme en son corps étendu, semble monter sur la crête de la clairière, et l'habite, sans mouvement.

En haut éclate le soleil, irrésistible ; près du corps tombe une ombre, et s'allonge, et lentement se rétracte.

Tout l'espace enclos, ouvert par le haut, subit la lumière et la rend.

De l'homme immobile, comme une chaleur monte à mon sang, un courant s'établit.

Et c'est comme tout veille et attend.

Le corps innombrable de la forêt d'un même souffle se penche, la clairière est une onde prête à sertir ce mouvement que je n'ai pas encore fait.

De la main je sens l'écorce qui presse, et la pulsation d'une veine.

A quelques pas le calme du glaive, l'homme en repos, sa présence grandit dans mon sang, le flux d'un appel.

La forêt autour de moi est tout intense de vie retenue, mon cœur bat tout seul, la légère brûlure d'une ronce à ma jambe.

En arrière, invisiblement, des craquements de brindilles, sous le poids furtif innocent des petites créatures de la branche et du bois.

Il semble que tout sait.

Que cet homme, couché, immobile, n'est plus seul de lui-même, qu'il y a moi.

Il semble que la forêt, la clairière, la lumière, le temps fassent de la place à quelque chose qui est lui et moi, comme un grand corps ferait le vide entre ses atomes, pour un autre évènement.

Comme deux comètes de natures semblables, dans un univers d'étoiles en mouvement, inévitablement se trouvent, et tout accepte le changement qu'elles portent.

Je ne sais plus ce qui a guidé ma marche à l'aube, je ne sais plus pourquoi j'ai quitté le sentier, suivi le tapis d'aiguilles, de mousse et de glands.

Je ne sais plus que j'avais un peu froid, ni de quelle clameur je viens.

Je sais seulement qu'il est là.

Et que je ne sais pas encore commettre le pas en avant, l'intrusion de son mystère, ou répondre à l'appel sans mots ni voix de son sang, de la présence qui coule en son corps.

C'est la forêt, c'est le soleil plus haut qui me calment.

J'ai envie de me mettre à genoux, de laisser, de flotter, d'entendre bien.

La lumière ne vient pas jusqu'à moi, comme du mercure d'or elle s'arrête, tout près, au nœud d'une racine presque blanche, je pourrais tendre mon bras, du doigt la toucher.

Doucement je m'accroupis, m'adosse au grand tronc.

Il y a tous ces degrés jusqu'à lui.

Il y a l'air à ma peau, mes muscles qui parlent, ma salive, et mon corps est aussi une forêt, qui s'ouvre et reçoit le message, qui s'imprègne de la clairière et de l'homme étendu qui la change et l'emporte, de ce glaive blanc, et gris, blanc de brillance, gris de substance, comme un regard parallèle pour l'homme endormi.

Il y a les aspérités sur le corps de l'arbre qui s'enfonce dans, dessous la terre brune et vaste, toute cette vie qui vit autrement, la libellule qui passe d'une herbe à une autre, la moisissure au creux du bois.

Ces couches et ces couches de substance, autrement animées.

Il y a la petite foule en joie des boutons d'or, moitié d'ombre moitié de soleil, un or qui sourit, tout plein et clair du côté ombre, un or qui rie, pétille et se fond, du côté de lumière et, plus petites, un peu cachées, ou seules dans le vert et le dru, de menues créatures bleues et violettes, toutes tendres dans l'ombre et la lumière.

Puis il y a, comme un acte qui attend, la distance éclatante jusqu'à lui, immobile.

Son corps un peu enfoncé dans la force de l'herbe ou soulevé par elle, comme en l'écume de la terre qui nous porte et nous fixe dans nos formes.

Il y a, du rouge et du bleu, profonds, et du brun, comme du velours contre sa peau claire, là, à quelques pas, à quelque temps.

Et tout bat.

Je sens, que tout a le temps.
 Que je serai près de lui avant le midi.
 Quand d'être près, ou ici, n'auront plus d'opposé, quand cela naître d'un autre mouvement, qui nous contiendra et sera notre joie.
 Je sens qu'il n'est qu'endormi, mais d'un sommeil sans contraires.
 Et qu'en lui bat le sang, partout dans son corps tranquille, sans alerte.
 Je sens une confiance.
 Et comme il me faut, descendre, lentement, au rythme sûr de cette confiance, m'approcher de ces énormes vannes, qui retiennent de la vie mon besoin d'aimer.

Je sens, qu'enfin, je vais m'abandonner, laisser cette peine, couler vers lui en lui avec lui d'un abandon fort et libre et sans peine.
 Dans ce silence trouvé, tout s'écarte et se dénoue.
 Tout bat.

J'écoute et je sens, d'abord, le vacarme de ma force obstinée.
 Ma tête se repose contre l'arbre certain, mes épaules se détendent, mes jambes allongées côte à côte, à la diagonale de l'ombre arrêtée.
 C'est un peu à ma droite qu'il est, à quelques pas dans le soleil, couché, la lame du glaive bien à plat étincelle et rutil, la constante d'un appel.
 Dans le flux, qui bat, et bat, sans hâte, doucement, je me rends.

Parfois, une fois, deux fois, comme un souffle d'air circule à l'orée, un mouvement de l'air, et quelques herbes plus hautes le sentent, et quelques corolles en frémissent.
 Puis il y a un, deux, trois, et d'autres là-bas, où la clairière s'évase et se tend d'une autre lisière au même peuple du bois, de petits insectes, des guêpes, qui bourdonnent et se taisent, bourdonnent et se taisent, en voletant.

Je me sens, lentement, appelé, entraîné, sollicité de toutes parts, comme si tout venait là, rien ne restait, nulle part.

Tous mes sens lentement se tendent
 Vers un unisson
 S'assemblent dans la saisie
 De l'expérience
 Le grain de la terre et du bois contre le grain de ma peau
 Le moelleux d'un lichen contre ma jambe
 Ou l'irritant de cette écaille à mon épaule et l'humide
 A mes lèvres
 Et les flux et battements de dedans mon corps
 L'âcre et l'acidité de dessous les feuilles et le fumé
 Du bois qui se réchauffe, des bouffées de l'herbe tiédie
 Qui s'endort au soleil
 Et l'astringent d'une fleur et l'odeur de mon corps
 Et, sporadique, l'effluve de glands entr'ouverts,
 Et les restes de la brume retombée.

Et, dans ma bouche, un goût de poussière et de pierre encore froide,
 Et le souvenir du lait et du pain de là-bas et, plus proche, d'une herbe cueillie sur le chemin.

Et la trille et le battement d'ailes
 Et le lent ébrouement des arbres et comme l'onde de leur sève
 Et de feuilles virevoltantes au soleil et dans l'ombre,
 Le craquement, l'assèchement, le froissement
 Les bonds
 Légers
 Les sauts
 Tapis, le petit claquement d'un bec
 Une frottée d'ailes
 Encore
 Le bruissement attentif d'un lit de brindilles et,
 Dans l'écho d'allées invisibles, un grand roucoulement Tranquille.

Et
 La clairière et l'orée
 La verdure avivée
 La terre qui rougeoit
 Les pétales, le mauve et la rouille
 Et la gamme plus obscure
 Des bois
 L'effervescence des cimes
 Et le doux éclatement de pourpre et de bleu, sur
 La pâleur de son corps, le roux profond de ses cheveux
 Entre les herbes.

Et mes mains, là, et toute la présence de mon corps,
 Et du sien, la force physique de tout ce présent,
 La lumière d'un jour déploie la pénombre sous les branches
 Qui çà et là s'anime autrement d'un rayon vertical,
 Ou le déflecte.

L'air est doux, presque
 Immobile
 Il y a les courants de tiédeur qui s'échappent
 Par la trouée du bois
 Où
 Comme l'haleine d'une fraîcheur monte encore
 D'entre les troncs silencieux

Et puis je sens
 Sur ma tête, mes épaules, dedans ma poitrine
 La calme visée
 De force,
 Le lien
 Qui révèle,
 Je sens
 La lumière dans mes yeux
 Aussi.

Avant que ne s'ouvrent ses yeux je pose ma main
 Sur ses paupières doucement

Et de l'autre
Je saisis la sienne qui s'anime
Et recherche.

Son corps léger répond instantanément à mon toucher.
Les yeux restent fermés.

Quand nous quittons la clairière partout,
Partout, partout,
Tout le monde, hommes, femmes, enfants, vieillards, sont sortis
Sur les routes, les sentiers,
Dans les champs, et se tiennent là,
Attendant... »

Ce soir je reçois un télégramme de Krishna me demandant de l'attendre à Pondy, à son retour de Bangalore ; je suis donc allé l'attendre à la station d'autobus, pendant que Barbara préparait la maison de C. Il est arrivé à 22 heures ; il a laissé Dom à Bangalore ; je n'ai pas posé de questions... Peut-être y a-t-il plus d'espace entre nous maintenant, plus de simple tendresse ? Je veux être attentif à ne pas reprendre le poids ; il faut que chacun reste libre...

18-9-1984, Auroville:

Last night as Krishna and I were riding back from Pondy, we had to find refuge from a sudden, violent rain, with such gusts of wind that whole trees were toppled in a few moments... And in the middle of the night, just around midnight, out of complete silence, a huge long tearing, searing thunderbolt hurled itself out in slow motion, and the force of its impact in the very air was such that I felt, right above my head, as if particles were deflagrated, in utter turmoil... I wanted to vomit, afterwards... I had to read "The Mind of the Cells" a while, to recover...!

19-9-1984, Auroville:

I dream again and again that my little one, my princess Auragni, comes to me, and I kiss her all over and she knows my kisses, and she leaves her beautiful toys and moves away from the others... And last night Sam was with me, almost shielding me, a good friend; and then the ladies came, without looking at me, to take her back...

And I also dream again of that same "group" succeeding in making of the Agenda a kind of religious dictatorship...

... J'ai terminé de taper le texte à la machine, et je l'ai relu... Je crois que c'est vraiment fort, que ça se tient, et que ça peut obliger à réfléchir profondément...

Et j'ai osé Te demander ; et il m'a semblé sentir que Tu étais contente... !

21-9-1984, Auroville :

Je suis parti seul faire une grande marche, jusqu'à l'océan ; et sur le chemin du retour j'ai dû croiser tous ceux qui revenaient de la réunion générale, leurs visages durs et tendus ; j'ai croisé Diane aussi, toute défigurée : elle a dû souffrir ces derniers jours, après que M.H ait perdu son bébé ; et cela m'a inquiété pour Auragni... Diane m'a à peine regardé ; je ne sais pas si c'était de la haine, ou bien un reproche massif, comme si j'étais responsable de tout ce qui n'allait pas pour elle... Il y a toutes ces dualités, tout ce manichéisme autour d'elle, autour de ces gens de ce côté d'Auroville... C'est pénible !

2-10-1984, Auroville :

Je lis un livre très intéressant, d'un mental très clair : « Space, Time and Medicine » ; c'est un livre ouvert à un avenir physique vrai, c'est bien encourageant... !

5-10-1984, Auroville :

Le fait de pouvoir à nouveau écrire m'aidait à saisir et à sentir le sens pour moi d'être à Auroville ; et maintenant je retrouve l'impasse.

Il n'y a plus rien, dans l'actuelle Auroville, avec quoi je puisse me sentir dans un rapport créatif et ouvert ; il n'y a plus grand-chose non plus qui m'inspire du respect ou de la sympathie. Les orientations qui sont prises, les actions, les discours et les positions, tout comme les détails et les petites histoires, tout me semble si terriblement insuffisant et si affreusement satisfait... Alors je suis bloqué ici ; je ne puis m'occuper que d'une part de ce jardin ; je ne puis rencontrer le monde qu'en deux ou trois êtres qui, implicitement, se reposent sur le sens que je pourrai donner à la vie de chaque jour...

Auragni était mon point de contact matériel et vivant avec un avenir qui est à trouver, et cela m'a été retiré...

Hier j'ai envoyé un message à Diane lui demandant seulement de m'envoyer des nouvelles d'Auragni...

6-10-1984, Auroville :

J'ai trouvé affichée à la Cuisine une circulaire à propos de Barun T et d'« Auropress » se terminant par une phrase si inexacte, une description si biaisée et falsifiée d'un incident auquel j'ai moi-même assisté, et le tout sur un tel ton de vertu raisonnable, que j'ai obéi à l'impulsion d'y ajouter un commentaire écrit et de remettre la circulaire dans le livre du messenger... J'ai mis: « It is not possible to fight falsehood with untruth! »

Comme dit Barbara, tout le monde s'est habitué à cette sorte de manipulation opportuniste des faits de la part des Auroviliens...

... Rentrant à la maison ce soir, je trouve Krishna avec Agnès et Barbara, jouant très fort de cette musique pénible et abrutissante ; dès que j'apparais, tout le monde se tait ; Krishna range l'instrument, Agnès ferme son illustré... C'est dégoûtant, on m'affuble de l'image la plus facile, on ne s'entend plus, on ne communique plus...

8-10-1984, Auroville :

Krishna m'annonce qu'il part à Vellore pour quelques jours, voir le médecin... Je sens que je ne veux plus du tout du poids qu'il m'impose ???

9-10-1984, Auroville:

This was an amusing dream: there was a huge building and by mistake I entered the wrong room, where politicians were meeting; and Prem, who was in the adjacent room serving as a sort of clerk, tried to raise hell about my "intrusion", and I had to tell him very crudely to shut up...!

... J'ai nettoyé la maison de C – où Krishna a vécu ces derniers temps – et cela m'a plutôt fâché et éloigné de lui : l'atmosphère y était mauvaise, physiquement malsaine, et c'était vraiment sale ; c'est le manque de soin et d'amour de sa part envers la matière, qui me touche le plus...

10-10-1984, Auroville :

Maryse vient me réveiller très tard ce soir, pour prendre tout l'argent de Krishna, me disant qu'il doit entrer dans l'hôpital de Vellore pour plusieurs semaines ; tout cela est très vague, et plutôt irréel – ou faux ?

14-10-1984, Auroville :

Krishna est rentré de Vellore. Il n'avait pas reçu mon message, mais il avait lui-même senti qu'il ne devait pas rester là. Et il a trouvé ici la première réponse un peu positive de l'Ambassade du Maroc.

15-10-1984, Auroville :

J'ai commencé de voir avec Ar. comment établir un nouveau budget pour l'ensemble de « Sincérité », afin d'essayer de couvrir le plus possible les besoins de ceux qui, avec ce nouveau « système » qui cherche à s'imposer, selon lequel chacun doit trouver un groupe, un service ou une activité qui subvienne à ses besoins, vont se retrouver par force dans des situations marginales...

16-10-1984, Auroville :

Krishna est venu m'aider à élaguer les manguiers ; mais il jette tant d'énergie autour de lui... Il ne sait toujours pas comment attirer juste l'énergie proportionnelle à l'action : ça vient toujours par charretées et par vagues, comme une brutalité ; et après il faut tout mettre en ordre et tout apaiser et tenter de faire bon usage du « trop-plein »...

24-10-1984, Auroville :

Barbara est bouleversée, car Akash lui a dit hier qu'il ne voulait plus vivre avec elle, et qu'il préférerait vivre avec Ruud et Mayaura. Mais je pense que c'est en partie dû à la présence quasi quotidienne de Krishna, qui ne correspond guère à ses besoins d'enfant ; pourtant, Barbara remet tout en question : sa décision de venir habiter à « Sincérité », sa confiance en moi... tout y passe !

... Uma et Shankar viennent de rentrer de France, via Delhi ; G.M doit rentrer dans deux semaines...

25-10-1984, Auroville :

Barbara semblait plus calme et plus confiante ce matin, mais ce soir elle est venue me demander qu'on ne se voie pas pendant quelques jours – ce que je lui avais déjà proposé. Comme elle restait là, indécise et dramatique, je me suis un peu fâché, ce qui lui a permis de partir dans un mouvement de colère...

Tout cela sent l'illusion, la torsion... Mais je ne puis m'empêcher de me poser cette question : n'est ce pas, là encore et toujours, cette chose obscure et contraire qui me suivrait partout, s'attaquerait encore et toujours à ceux qui s'approchent de moi et ferait que tout, et toujours, tourne mal... ?

Que faire ?

Je me sens de plus en plus isolé.

Et tout ce qui signale la présence de l'égo en moi me fait l'effet d'une obscurité suffocante, et je veux tout T'offrir...

Je n'ai pas besoin de cette misère supplémentaire, de ce drame qui toujours s'ajoute et colle au chemin : o y a déjà bien assez à faire !

26-10-1984, Auroville :

Je lis « La Neige Brûlée » de Régis Debray : un beau récit d'un homme qui a vu pas mal d'illusions se défaire...

... Barbara est revenue ce matin me dire que cela n'arrangeait rien de ne pas se voir et qu'elle avait besoin que je la tienne et que je l'aide...

... Mère je veux marcher, et me fondre, et devenir et couler dans cette Présence consciente... Mère, Mère, Mère, Mère...

29-10-1984, Auroville :

Krishna est reparti pour Delhi. Au moment de se séparer physiquement, c'est comme s'il laissait tomber la dureté, la résistance et le bruit, et appréciait de nouveau la possibilité qui est entre nous...

Mais j'ai constaté pratiquement que, dès qu'il est parti, toute une masse lourde et pénible est comme tombée de mes épaules, de mes mouvements, de ma vision, et presque de mes sens physiques ; j'étais de nouveau simplement content de travailler ici, et intéressé par tout ce qu'il y a à faire, et libre de m'ouvrir à l'énergie...

Vers 9 heures 30 ce matin, Indira Gandhi, marchant de sa maison à son bureau et entourée de ses gardes, a reçu presque à bout portant 8 balles tirées par deux hommes appartenant à ses propres forces de sécurité ; elle a été atteinte à l'estomac, la poitrine et aux cuisses ; transportée d'urgence à l'hôpital, elle y est morte vers 11 heures.

Zaïl Singh, le Président, devait rentrer du Nord Yémen.

Beaucoup d'entre nous se sont retrouvés au Banyan. Nigam et Ojha aussi sont venus.

3-11-1984, Auroville:

I dreamt of Sonia Gandhi.

... Le corps d'Indira a été porté en un long cortège de midi à 16 heures à travers Delhi. Près d'un million de gens l'ont suivi.

Rajiv a allumé le bûcher.

... Nous nous sommes réunis au Banyan pour une concentration.

J'ai eu l'expérience très claire du mouvement intérieur d'Indira ; cela a duré longtemps ; tout le monde était déjà reparti et c'était encore pleinement là...

I had one good experience last night: I am alone at the end of a sort of circular mobile ramp on top of a huge Matrimandir and, somehow, with the wind out and about and a slip in the control mechanism, it starts gyrating fast, faster and faster, at full speed, describing a full ellipse around the sphere; I concentrate, free from fear, and I experience a total, complete sense of security and surrender. I know that I am within That and that everything is alright.

It is: "Thy Will, Thy Will..."

... Krishna est rentré de Delhi ce matin, brandissant son passeport tout neuf !

J'ai longtemps regardé ce livre d'une beauté si profondément touchante, que Robert Vavra a réalisé avec ses photographies bouleversantes de licornes, un livre qu'Ar. avait trouvé « par hasard » lorsqu'elle était à Bangalore. C'est en rapport avec l'âme de la Terre, avec la Force, et avec le corps...

8-11-1984, Auroville :

Je lis D.H Lawrence, avec délice et reconnaissance... Quel écrivain, quel observateur, et quel prophète !

9-11-1984, Auroville :

Je trouve mon oxygène dans le fait de pouvoir renouveler chaque jour mon offrande active d'un environnement harmonieux ; cela devient presque toute ma vie. Mais le monde tout autour est une horreur qui prolifère, et Auroville-même devient une sorte de farce vulgaire, médiocre et bureaucratique...

14-11-1984, Auroville :

Pendant que je peignais, cet après-midi, Ar. me lisait ce que Sri Aurobindo a dit de D.H Lawrence ; sans que je lui dise rien de mes impressions personnelles, elle a été frappée par une similarité de regard entre D.H Lawrence et moi... ! Jusqu'à parler de réincarnation... !

Mais comment cet homme est-il parvenu à dire ces choses avec tant de clarté – « The Man who Died » - alors que personne autour de lui ne pouvait les comprendre, ni même les appréhender... !?

27-11-1984, Auroville:

For a part of last night I was in East Europe again, where that force is still reigning over men; a horrible, horrifying place and atmosphere: I can't stand to see what men can become, and I burst out desperately, crying without tears...

En fin d'après-midi je suis parti courir ; j'ai couru jusqu'à la nuit, environ 15 kilomètres : et je me suis senti heureux, avec Toi, comme une méditation profonde, ardue mais fructueuse ; j'ai répondu à la nécessité de regarder, de voir sans « ciller » cet esclavage dont je suis le sujet depuis la petite enfance, à la divinité du sexe mâle... Quoi faire ? Il me semble qu'il faudrait soit une série rapide d'expériences vivantes presque violentes, pour détruire l'attache profonde de ce lien, soit une action tout à fait exceptionnelle de la Grâce... Il ne me paraît pas que le seul fait d'une vie paisiblement harmonieuse, offerte à la disparition progressive de l'ego et à sa transformation, soit suffisant en soi pour éradiquer cette emprise...

29-11-1984, Auroville :

La semaine dernière je crois, Krishna m'avait tout à coup accusé d'exercer sur lui une violence mentale et menacé d'y répondre par une violence physique ; depuis ce jour, il est très doux, et ne cesse d'aller et venir comme en quête de proximité ; mais il y a eu un autre recul en moi, et je ne me sens plus disponible. Il y a un retrait intérieur face à cette boulimie, cette force qui dévore, qui impose, qui pèse, étouffe et veut tout occuper...

2-12-1984, Auroville :

Je me sens très mélangé, et mal à l'aise : épais, encroûté, encombré de désirs, veule...

Je suis seul ce soir, en train de lire à la bougie. J'entend une voiture arriver, les portières claquer ! G.M ! Avec son amie M, venus tout droit ici, avant même de rentrer à « Dana »... Il a beaucoup grossi, comme étouffé par la chair, mais c'est

G.M, et je suis heureux ! Son amie est gentille et franche, fraternelle, avec le sens généreux de l'humour de quelqu'un qui n'a plus beaucoup d'illusions...

6-12-1984, Auroville :

De cet état où soudain je me trouve, comme secoué par une explosion chimique, pris dans la vitesse irréaliste d'un tourbillon stérile d'information et décentré par l'énergie du mouvement, il me paraît impossible que j'aie jamais pu auparavant éprouver quelque chose de Toi, ou connaître la concentration du contact avec Ca, et être en méditation vivante à travers les heures...

Et je mesure ainsi combien, « normalement », tout ici est tranquille, et combien il y avait de calme, déjà...

Parce que cette agitation peut devenir infernale ; ça rend insomniaque, ça projette dans tous les sens, le jour comme la nuit, et surtout, ce qui fait le plus de peine, ça abîme la transparence plus subtile ou profonde de l'écoute et de la réceptivité, cette paix consciente et offerte qui sous-tend – d'habitude – l'atmosphère...

11-12-1984, Auroville :

... Krishna souhaiterait maintenant que je lui construisse plutôt une chambre juste à côté de la maison ici...

12-12-1984, Auroville :

D.A, qui avait un moment vécu à « Beuvron » en France, où ses deux frères M.A et F.A et moi avons notre « communauté », m'avait récemment annoncé son intention de venir à Auroville avec sa famille – sa compagne Soaz et leurs deux enfants, Gwen et Samuel. Il ne m'avait pas demandé mon avis, mais seulement de leur réserver une chambre à la Guest House et si possible de venir les attendre à l'aéroport...

Je suis arrivé juste à temps, et l'ai aperçu près des bagages : le même visage dans un corps monstrueusement enflé, sa compagne aussi lourde, une petite fille et un tout petit garçon endormi dans les bras de sa mère.

Je les ai mis dans la voiture et, juste à ce moment, le petit s'est réveillé ; j'ai rencontré ses yeux, son regard, et je l'ai aimé... !

Tout le trajet, la petite fille dans mes bras, et la toute petite main de Samuel sur mon bras, tout était calme ; et j'ai découvert le cœur de cette femme, et sa beauté intérieure. Et j'ai apprécié la confiance et le courage qu'exprime leur choix de venir, de tout quitter pour venir ici...

13-12-1984, Auroville :

Une autre lettre de C ; Laffont a trouvé mon texte « trop original » pour sa collection... ! Buchet-Chastel l'avait trouvé « bien maîtrisé », mais...

14-12-1984, Auroville :

D.A m'a raconté aujourd'hui que, juste avant leur départ de France, Vivek, à l'Association pour Auroville à Paris, a demandé à leur parler particulièrement de moi, pour les mettre en garde contre moi, tentant de leur expliquer que j'étais, ou avais, une force qui créait des problèmes à Auroville... D.A a répondu que j'étais son ami depuis 13 ans et le resterais, et qu'il avait quant à lui son propre chemin...

Et G.M me dit que, depuis qu'il est rentré et, en venant à moi, a affirmé notre amitié, Shankar lui fait la gueule... Enfin, ça continue...

... En courant tout autour d'Auroville, ce soir, j'ai médité sur cette question : ils disent que je suis une force... Eh bien, pourquoi pas !?

En effet, « je » suis une force, et chaque être est une force en mouvement ; alors qu'y a-t-il de si remarquable à propos de « moi force » ? Sinon que je ne me plie pas aisément ni naturellement aux critères d'un groupe ou d'un autre ?

Il y avait presque une joie à accepter, finalement, ce « statut »... !

Oui, être une force qui vient s'offrir à Ca, à Toi, pour le vrai changement, parmi d'autres forces, chacune éprouvant le besoin de Toi... !?

15-12-1984, Auroville :

J'ai écrit une lettre (dont j'ai gardé une copie) à Vivek et à l'Association à Paris, leur demandant de cesser tout militantisme imbécile et d'élargir un peu leur compréhension du chemin, et surtout de cesser d'interférer auprès de mes amis...

19-12-1984, Auroville :

En courant, ce soir, j'avais un cri plein de larmes, et je T'appelais « Seigneur, Seigneur... ! »... Je sais que tout est le Guide, je ne me plains pas ; mais à présent je mesure mieux combien la joie est nécessaire ; et comme il m'a fallu du temps, et de la souffrance, pour commencer d'en avoir l'expérience vivante...

20-12-1984, Auroville :

Krishna s'est graduellement établi comme responsable auprès des ouvriers et de tout le travail ici... Mais il fallait tout de même éclaircir certains points ; puisqu'il semble ainsi vouloir s'occuper de tout, je ne souhaite pas intervenir, et n'en aurai pas besoin s'il reste conscient des besoins de chacun... Et ainsi, il semble que mon travail ici me soit retiré... !

Ce qui vient après, je ne le sais... !

22-12-1984, Auroville :

Il y a quelque chose de malsain dans tout cela. Et je me sens comme dans une prison qui se referme, me retirant du corps du monde, qui est Ton corps...

23-12-1984, Auroville :

Dans la journée je recommençais de prendre confiance ; puis ce soir D.A me raconte que Li, la veille, lui a dit de si horribles choses à mon sujet... Voilà quelqu'un que j'ai connu il y a 15 ans, qui est à Auroville depuis 6 ou 7 ans, et que je n'ai revue que, peut-être, trois ou quatre fois ; avec qui je ne souhaite pas de contact et qui, pourtant, éprouve aujourd'hui le besoin de parler ainsi... !?

Il y a trop de gens malades ici et, ce qui est douloureux, c'est qu'Auroville ne les aide pas à... guérir, à changer... C'est cela qui me trouble profondément !

... Peut-être vais-je m'en aller ?

Maintenant que même mon travail à « Sincérité » est pris par Krishna, c'est comme si tout me disait « pars ! Va-t-en ! »...

Si Tu veux, Seigneur, que je reste, Tu me le montreras... !

24-12-1984, Auroville:

In one of my dreams last night I was walking down to town and singing my own songs, when I caught up suddenly with Diane and my princess, along with a few others... I fell silent while passing them, and just looked at Diane, and she returned the look with a changed expression, almost of welcome, and she called me back to stop and stand together a moment; my princess didn't really know me, but she felt me; it was all odd and surprising, and I couldn't figure what had taken place, what had made a difference to make this reversal possible...

... Ce soir je trouve sur la table une lettre que Krishna venait juste d'y poser : « Je t'aime, aide-moi à t'embrasser, guide-moi et laisse-moi te guider, sois mon ami et mon compagnon bien-aimé, joue avec moi... Krishna. »

... Plus tard, après un moment à l'amphithéâtre près du Feu – les enfants ont joué autour du Banyan, pour la veille de Noël -, Krishna et moi sommes restés ensemble ici, longtemps. Je lui ai dit que je pensais à partir... il me dit avoir reçu, il y a un mois, une lettre de Satprem lui disant, en substance, qu'il fallait absolument rester ici...

Mais je ne sais plus, Douce Mère, je ne sais plus...

29-12-1984, Auroville:

Indira's Congress Party has won the elections, with the largest majority ever...

Yet things aren't easy for Rajeev, and he is being actively threatened; two attempts on his life have already taken place in the last few days...

... Ar. et moi sommes allés voir "Les Chariots de Feu", un film sur la course : deux hommes, deux coureurs, deux archétypes, et le corps... J'ai beaucoup aimé...

Note : Voici le texte, revu et corrigé, que j'avais rédigé en Août et Septembre de l'année 1984, à « Sincérité » ; les quelques tentatives que C fit alors pour obtenir sa publication n'aboutirent pas, et je n'avais pas de certitude quant à l'utilité ou la justesse d'un tel exposé – je n'avais personne vers qui me tourner pour trouver une vérification plus sage de sa validité. Quelques personnes le lurent, et l'aimèrent, mais c'était là peut-être l'expression de leur amitié pour moi.

D'UN SEUIL, TEMOIGNER

Pour voir clair il faut le regard qui voit et la lumière qui éclaire.

1.

Ceci est, évidemment, un peu de ma propre histoire.

Mais il se trouve qu'à un moment donné elle a débouché sur une histoire infiniment plus grande par son contenu et sa portée, dont l'objectivité concerne le plus grand nombre.

Par certains de ses développements, dont j'ai fait partie, au sein desquels j'ai grandi, ou auxquels j'ai assisté, elle a fait aussi de moi un témoin.

C'est le mouvement du témoignage, par sa double appartenance à l'homme et à ce qu'il peut contempler d'un avenir encore pour le moins hypothétique, qui m'a conduit à exprimer ce qui suit.

Et c'est le bouquet et la moisson que je tente ici d'offrir.

Les circonstances de ma bataille personnelle y affleurent parfois, comme celles de ma vie – cette vie qui, bien souvent, m'apparaît si anachronique sur la « face » de l'homme...

2.

La face, mais le masque, dont les fissures et les béances sont irréparables ; ses grimaces nous suivent jusque dans l'action la plus infime, ou intime.

Il est trop tard pour colmater.

Et le mal, comme le bien, nous ont mené à ce point.

Pourtant le manifeste triomphe, et toujours triomphera.

Un triomphe éternel et incontrôlable, dont la force absolue nous oblige à devenir, ou nous détruit.

Notre conscience est une, et elle touche ses limites : mentalement, l'humain ; vitalement, la créature ; physiquement, la terre ; physiologiquement, le corps.

On y est.

Un homme, dans une prison.

Le mal, comme le bien, nous ont mené à ce point.

La laideur et la beauté, l'amour et la haine, le courage et la peur, le désir, la volonté, l'intelligence et la bêtise, l'art et la vulgarité, l'orgueil, la honte, la cruauté, et la générosité, tout a contribué.

Les partis, les églises, et toutes les colonisations de l'ombre, de la peur et du « moi », n'y peuvent rien changer ; elles s'annulent contre les parois souveraines de cet espace où nous sommes cloués.

3.

On part de là où on est. Et un jour on y revient, et on sait.

Il est dit qu'une connaissance qui n'est pas simultanément un pouvoir d'agir n'est pas une connaissance vraie.

Mais dans notre cas cette connaissance, certitude d'un périple abouti, si impuissante soit elle dans les termes du périple, implique et porte pourtant une étrange capacité : celle de reconnaître et de discerner un autre Pouvoir, qu'il est hors de question de tenter de maîtriser, de contrôler ou d'appivoiser.

Le Pouvoir vient par vagues. Et chaque vague est formatrice, créatrice de chaque stade évolutif.

4.

Depuis ces premiers instants conscients où, debout dans une immensité physique, à la fois familière et inconnue, face à l'étendue mystérieuse et féconde d'une Nature inviolée, jusqu'à ce jour où, démultipliés à en suffoquer dans nos corps et dans nos actes nous touchons les frontières infranchissables de notre état, une seule vague nous a portés.

Dans ses remous, ses tournoisements, ses soubresauts, dans son écume et sa puissance et ses calmes étales, nous avons tout éprouvé de son sens.

Historiquement ce sont des millions d'années physiques et nous avons fait un pas...

Aujourd'hui ce Regard en nous a grandi.

Aujourd'hui, là, juste en arrière, il voit : cette vague colossale, formidable se retire et lui, il a grandi, et il sait : et de ce calme pressenti naissent et vivent déjà les rythmes et les lois de la prochaine étape...

5.

Le vacarme, la fureur et le vide, la violence, la terreur et la morne indifférence, le vertigineux pillage et gaspillage et la faim et la misère, et la mort lente et jamais satisfaite, les plaisirs et l'ordre et l'art de vivre, et l'absurde, et la force constante de millions d'aspirations et de tensions ultimement contredites, toujours déchues, réduites ou niées, la grandeur et l'insuffisance : pourtant tout est là, et toujours demeure ; le manifeste triomphe, et la force de son triomphe éternel nous oblige à devenir, ou nous détruit.

Là, juste en arrière, juste là, c'est ce Regard qui grandit ; c'est lui le pont, c'est lui le soi, et le bien-être, le calme qui voit et entend, lui qui sait écouter et recevoir le signe, c'est lui : silencieux, sans jugement, il voit se retirer la vague, y disparaître les anges et les monstres, les petits, les magiciens ; et déjà, sous le sable de la grève et dans les battements mêmes du silence son amour tranquille et plein déjà perçoit...

6.

L'homme : un canal, un lieu, un espace, et un pont ; mais un point, et un carrefour ; et l'homme : la capacité de choix.

L'homme n'est l'origine ni le créateur d'aucune énergie.

Mais l'homme a la propriété exclusive du pouvoir de choisir : d'identifier et de choisir.

Ainsi seul l'homme éprouve la souffrance de ne pas savoir choisir, de ne pas savoir utiliser son pouvoir, ou d'être à la fois le témoin et la victime des conséquences de ses choix.

7.

Il fallait faire toute l'expérience de cette liberté de choix. Et la terre s'est offerte pour champ de l'expérience.

Au cours du temps, différents groupements, différents peuples, suivant leurs différentes natures ou dominances et répondant à des environnements différents, différemment conscients de leurs origines, ont dû pareillement faire face à la nécessité absolue de ce double apprentissage : reconnaître les termes de tout choix, et choisir, en sachant que tout choix a ses conséquences.

Aujourd'hui cet être silencieux dedans, au regard plein, contemple une double perspective – et tout ce qui en nous a pu supporter son silence et s'unir à sa présence, partage cette contemplation.

La perspective contenue dans le grondement, le chant chaotique aux milliards de voix, la foison bouleversante de tout le périple, de cette vague en reflux, est l'histoire colossale d'un seul pas évolutif, comme celle de chacune de ses voix individuelles.

Et c'est l'histoire de tous ceux qui, debout encore malgré toute la mort et la défaite, ceux qui ont tout tenté, tout fouillé et tout échoué, ceux qui sont prêts enfin à se tourner vers un Pouvoir qui sait sans errer, qui aime sans tromper, et à remettre à sa charge cette même liberté de choisir.

8.

Par la totalité de ce regard est la totalité de cette Histoire. Car en ce regard aucune division ne subsiste.

L'unicité, la qualité de chaque mouvement est perçue, mais l'illusion de la séparation n'est plus.

L'expérience qui était, dans la vague, fragmentée et disséminée en tant de points durs et douloureux, est là rassemblée, assimilée, une.

L'or et le miel.

Le Bien véritable, qui est d'être.

La justification de toutes les errances et les tentatives, les chutes et les victoires pour rien, de tout le bruit et le saccage, de toute la pourriture, des œuvres en vain : être libre et plein.

La plénitude d'être ouvert enfin.

Libre des instruments et conscient de la Force, libre de s'offrir à son futur déploiement.
Le pas prochain.

Et rien finalement n'aura été en vain. Il fallait vivre tout cela, et l'homme devait finalement être aussi celui par qui tout arrive, le canal par lequel tout se manifeste jusqu'aux extrêmes, de la beauté comme de l'horreur.

9.

Celui dont la nature même ne pouvait tolérer le mensonge ou la désharmonie, celui pour qui la terre était sacrée, la vie était une célébration et la mort un passage confiant à une naissance plus grande, celui-là a toujours vécu, ici ou là.

Mais son frère, dans la nature de qui l'appel de la contradiction était inscrit, qu'aurait pu pour lui le premier ?

Il n'avait pas le pouvoir de transformer ; le temps n'était pas venu pour ce pouvoir-là ; l'expérience n'était pas complète.

Maintenant l'homme sait qu'il est capable de tous les contraires.

Il a découvert que sa substance est une.

Il a vu que ces contraires sont aussi les tenants d'un état évolutif.

Mais il n'a pas la clé pour sortir. La clé est ailleurs.

Cet ailleurs est en relation avec un changement d'état.

10.

Je n'avais pas encore vingt ans. J'étais surtout conscient d'une grande tension, d'être comme un espace en tension. Parfois il y avait des reflets actifs d'une force qui pouvait toucher et donner, éclaircir et révéler. Mais le véhicule, ce que j'étais : un mélange, un nœud aveugle, à vif.

Et comme toujours la double capacité : celle de détruire et se détruire, celle d'offrir et de s'offrir.

L'objet de la destruction était là, mais le besoin de détruire était nul.

L'objet de l'offrir était caché, ou inconnu, mais le besoin d'offrir était impérieux.

Et c'est le besoin, toujours, qui fait la différence.

La qualité du besoin de chaque être est la seule mesure de toute vie.

Il y avait depuis quelques temps déjà le sens d'une présence au-dessus ; comme de quelqu'un, là, juste en haut, qui savait, qui possédait l'itinéraire, les pas à venir et leur sens.

Et aussi, autrement, en profondeur, l'impression plus ou moins constante d'une lumière invisible, d'une lumière dans l'obscur, d'une brûlure de lumière.

L'état qui dominait était la tension, ou le vide.

Avec, dans cette vacance comme dans la diffusion de cette tension, des mouvements d'énergie de natures différentes : des explosions de désir ; des intermittences venues comme d'un autre âge, ou d'une personne qui serait déjà vieille ; des fulgurances ou des percées d'une certaine harmonie, et d'une beauté particulière comme d'un monde presque privé.

Et en contrepoint un curieux instinct, profond, de l'équilibre.

Le sens, aussi, d'une grande vitesse, se traduisant parfois en sentiment d'urgence et, parfois, en actes désespérés.

11.

Je n'avais pas encore vingt ans.

C'était l'année 1969, marquée par le toucher d'un certain rassemblement, comme si un grand Quelque Un solaire révélait soudain à eux-mêmes et entre eux ceux que sa semence attendait.

Dans les yeux de ceux-là venait comme une chaleur nouvelle, ou plutôt une joie un peu plus qu'humaine, qui était comme un signe de reconnaissance.

On pouvait tout faire et ne rien faire, s'abstenir ou s'abandonner, cela n'avait aucune importance ; dans ce feu qui avait enfin affleuré à nos yeux comme un rire d'une nature un peu plus qu'humaine, et plus vraie, était notre sécurité imprenable. Il n'y avait plus d'erreur ; il y avait ça, une semence radiante en nous qui répondait à l'appel. Le temps venait.

Il y avait la tentation de vivre là-dessus, de laisser ça organiser les circonstances, et nos corps ainsi s'épanouir.

Je me souviens, quelque part pourtant, confusément au-dedans, je ressentais plus de substance à l'appel, plus de conscience, là, qui tirait ; comme l'aimant d'une plénitude centrale, d'une présence plus réelle encore, un glaive, un regard radical. Et qu'il me fallait marcher physiquement, me déplacer : que ce n'était pas là où j'étais, qu'il n'y avait là que des effets.

Je sentais cela assez précisément pour dire : « je vais chercher ce qui nous manque »...

12.

Ce que l'homme a nommé liberté, ce pour quoi il n'a cessé de lutter, est une liberté relative : celle de pouvoir, sans contrainte arbitraire, déterminer les termes du choix, faire le choix, et grandir par les conséquences de ce choix.

Ce que l'homme a nommé conscience, à laquelle il n'a cessé d'aspérer, est une conscience relative : la référence la moins faillible, la moins corruptible, pour déterminer les termes du choix, éclairer sa nature, et montrer ses conséquences.

Le premier choix essentiel, pour l'individu comme pour le groupe, est celui de sa référence.

La question que l'homme n'a cessé de se poser et de poser à la vie, au manifeste, est une question relative : existe-t-il une référence objective, universelle, éternellement valide, pour déterminer les termes de tout choix ?

Trois nœuds de l'Histoire.

13.

L'homme a toujours senti, plus ou moins confusément, qu'il n'était en soi pas grand-chose, presque rien ; mais qu'il était aussi, peut-être, ce presque rien, cet absurde, ce toujours condamné, qu'il était peut-être aussi, malgré tout, la demeure possible d'un Certain Habitant, à la nature ou la réalité de Qui il pouvait peut-être tenter de s'unir.

Un être très intérieur, et très central, dont la permanence et la vision justifieraient peut-être, un jour meilleur, le coût de toute l'expérience.

Et qu'à certains moments inexplicables il semblait bien qu'un contact s'établissait, qu'un courant passait, chargé d'une autre expérience, d'une intensité plus pleine, de mouvements et d'états comme d'une autre nature.

Un prisonnier ? Une promesse ? Ou la dernière, l'ultime illusion ?

Et toute l'Histoire est aussi celle de toutes les relations que l'homme a entretenues avec le mystère de son incarnation.

14.

L'Homme est multiple. L'Homme est nombreux.

La première, implacable contrainte est l'autre, autrui.

L'homme est un hôte dans la matière, il n'a pas les clés de la vie.

Le deuxième, implacable contrainte est la mort, la défaite du support, la désintégration de la forme et du corps.

A ces deux contraintes correspondent deux nécessités.

Et ce sont deux signes du chemin.

Dans ce drame situé par l'espace et le temps, chevauchant les rythmes de la force matérielle, porté, soutenu par elle ou, vaincu, obligé de lui rendre le corps et contraint encore et encore de perdre la forme mais condamné à revenir mendier d'elle les éléments d'un nouveau corps, aveuglement mû par l'absolue nécessité de grandir et de devenir, l'homme, séparé, étranger, incomplet, victime et meurtrier de fragments et d'éclats de soi, s'est multiplié.

Ignorant d'une cause commune à tous les déroulements, inconscient d'une direction centrale, libre pourtant de former ses propres entraves et seul à affronter la violence du choix, c'est dans l'espace et le temps que lentement, au battement du souffle matériel, la conscience de l'Homme en labeur enfantait le corps intérieur d'une Réponse au-dedans.

15.

Par le choc et l'impact d'une infinité de conséquences vécues, transmigrant les saisons de la terre et la myriade perpétuelle et simultanée d'instantanés éprouvés, comme les gouttes qui, une à une à l'abri du rocher, tombent former une masse de lumière retenue, solidifiée, ou comme la lente formation du diamant en sa gangue, un être s'est lentement composé, lent épanouissement conscient de l'expérience.

La lente incarnation d'une réponse, d'un émissaire, et d'un support indestructible pour plus que l'homme.

Un rire jaillit, un rire s'égrène et caracole par des couloirs et des degrés de cristal, un rire fuse à l'oreille de l'infinité.

Nous n'en sommes qu'aux tout premiers pas.

Tout est devant.

L'infini, l'éternité, la matière, sont les données d'un même devenir.

16.

Aussi longtemps qu'une question demeure réelle pour une partie de notre conscience, cette question même se manifeste : elle arrive, elle s'éprouve, elle se passe. On ne peut jamais tricher : pour ce qui en nous s'est uni, tous les démons du drame se sont usés.

La question qui se pose aujourd'hui concerne cet espace de réalisation matérielle, de devenir physique et matériel, qu'est la Terre et son atmosphère. Quel est le degré de destruction inévitable ?

Cette question, si ultimement fausse ou irréaliste puisse-t-elle se révéler, est pourtant celle que tout ce qui en nous demeure séparé, ignorant et dissocié doit honnêtement se poser. Car sans cette honnêteté la question ne pourra pas se transformer, ni les circonstances qui nous la rendent manifeste.

Mais que chacun accepte de la poser là où il se trouve et tel qu'il se trouve, et la question même changera.

De l'indication d'un danger réel et imminent, elle deviendra celle d'un passage commun et concret à la prochaine étape.

17.

Je n'avais pas encore vingt ans quand je L'ai rencontrée.

De Sa chambre, sans le voir, Elle m'avait fait porter une rose.

Du bord des choses, de la saillie instable de la vie, sans La voir, je L'avais déjà un peu reconnue, sur le crâne de mon corps, le toucher pressant d'une Force enfin retrouvée, une extase acceptée, juste là, assis sur la pierre – oui, c'était bien Elle.

Autour d'Elle pourtant, le réseau aggloméré d'une impossibilité, la condensation avide et organisée de notre vieille farce humaine ; la petitesse dérivant de Sa Force la prétendue grandeur de ses masques.

Pour La voir enfin, il fallait ramper sous les crocs et les griffes souriants des élus et des nantis, de Ses fiers instruments.

Dans l'innocence hésitante encore libre de l'étranger à la comédie, déjà à mon insu catalogué, identifié, assez naïf encore pour croire aux signes extérieurs d'une sincérité que j'aurais moi-même souhaité Lui offrir, je n'ai pas vu ; j'ai rampé.

Peut-être pas vraiment, sûrement pas volontairement mais, acceptant ne fut ce qu'à peine de singer avec la grande famille, j'ai laissé entrer la peur et la grimace interférer.

Une seule fois la Grâce a pu agir et j'ai pu être seul à Ses pieds, seul avec Elle, mienne vraiment, Elle vraiment, le Sien vraiment, de tous temps et pour tous les temps des temps. Et si cette fois là a pu être, c'est que les marées antagonistes s'étaient retirées, regagnant leurs camps, car Elle et moi, ensemble malgré eux, avions choisi pour moi de repartir.

Alors on m'a rendu à Elle un instant, un impossible instant, avant de m'en retirer, de m'en séparer, pour me rejeter dans la zone des condamnés, l'enfer des disgraciés, le chaudron de la farce et du festin.

18.

Mais je rend grâce d'avoir été ainsi écarté de cette bouche avide qui aspirait tant de Sa Force et Son Amour ; car, je le vois si clairement maintenant, dans l'état encore inchangé de notre nature, c'est une Grâce véritable d'être à la fois éloigné et brûlé par le contact ; car la plus grande et la plus terrible défaite, le mensonge le plus intolérable, est de La tromper en La servant.

19.

O Mère, si abominablement seule et si souverainement pleine,
 Seule à porter le Besoin innommable,
 Seule à connaître la force et le pouvoir de l'Amour vrai,
 Seule à construire le pont fragile et périlleux,
 Seule à offrir,
 Seule à donner,
 Seule consciente,
 Seule à marcher,
 Tu T'agenouilles devant la petite flamme au fond de chaque être et c'est Toi
 Pourtant qui lui donnes l'aide et la force de grandir.
 Tu T'effaces, Tu T'annules
 Et c'est Toi pourtant
 L'Épouse et le cœur battant du grand Devenir.

20.

On ne sait pas ce qu'est la Grâce.
 La pensée humaine ne peut ni la concevoir ni la comprendre.
 Mais on peut comprendre ce qu'elle n'est pas, ce qu'il est lâche ou vain d'attendre d'elle.
 Elle est étrangère à la nature ou au comportement de l'homme.
 Si elle advient parfois comme réponse, c'est à une qualité d'appel qui ne se révèle qu'à de très rares instants, quand l'être est dépouillé de toutes ses défenses, et de toutes ses demandes et, dans cette nudité, fait le don de Soi à Cela qui le fait exister.
 Elle est étrangère à toute morale, à toute vision de l'homme.
 Et pourtant elle peut advenir en toutes circonstances et à tous moments ; son action est instantanée, ses effets sont immédiats, et pour la conscience son passage laisse une marque que rien, jamais, nulle part ne peut effacer.
 Elle est étrangère à toute croyance, à tout dogme de l'homme.
 Elle existe dans cette réalité où, exempte de toutes les apparences, seule la masse incorruptiblement vraie de chaque être est consciente.

L'on peut baigner dans la Grâce à ces moments où l'on sait, sans plus de doute possible, que TOUT est le corps, la vie, la conscience et le chemin du Suprême.

21.

Et que le Suprême n'attend ni ne souhaite le retour à aucune fusion de quelque nature qu'elle soit, mais que Son chemin est celui d'une déclaration de plus en plus manifeste de Lui-même, d'une aventure de plus en plus consciente dans un inconnu de plus en plus vaste et plus riche, d'un devenir de plus en plus plein dans une reconnaissance de plus en plus nombreuse.
 Que ce qu'Il attend de chaque être est une participation de plus en plus volontaire et joyeuse à une découverte de plus en plus nouvelle, que ce soit dans le repos parfaitement abandonné ou l'action exubérante d'un accomplissement éternel.

22.

Il y a eu quelques peuples humains sur la terre dont l'identité était étroitement et indissolublement liée à la conscience d'un centre intérieur, un avec l'origine comme avec le même centre en chaque être et chaque manifestation de la Nature.

Ces peuples avaient pour loi le respect total et premier de chaque personne et de son droit naturel de choisir et de contribuer librement à une harmonie et un devenir communs.

Mais le fait même de leur dédie ment vivant et impératif à ce centre d'existence et d'harmonie en tous et en tout, ce centre de force et de permanence, impliquait l'impossibilité pour eux de pratiquer le compromis.

Et ainsi ces peuples ont ils tous été décimés par les flots de la vaste barbarie que l'on a nommée civilisation, la barbarie de tous ceux dont la tête et les désirs avaient monstrueusement enflé aux dépens de l'équilibre de la vie.

Leurs survivants sont pourtant les vrais vainqueurs, dont l'expérience se communique et se propage inéluctablement, comme la rosée du matin est absorbée par cela que la soif a épuisé.

On peut se demander pourquoi, à ceux-là dont le besoin était de vérité vivante, et qui avaient tant le respect du manifeste et de son mystère, une action de cette Grâce n'a point répondu.

Mais l'Evolution est une et simultanée, sur tout l'espace de notre terre. Et peut-être sa réponse est elle bien venue, et a t elle touché et protégé ces individus isolés qui ont su reconnaître les résonances d'un Sens et d'un chemin pour tout l'Homme, et la nécessité d'un déracinement et d'une destruction pour contribuer au passage de tout l'humain à l'étape suivante.

23.

A Son contact, j'ai cessé d'être ce petit bonhomme né il n'y avait pas vingt ans une nuit de printemps.

Devant Elle j'ai retrouvé les dimensions et la source ; en Elle et par Elle et conscient d'Elle, le milieu de la conscience vraie.

Parce qu'Elle savait entièrement, profondément, silencieusement, qui Elle était, j'ai su aussi.

Entourée, cernée, étouffée, assaillie, adulée, dévorée, Elle était là pourtant, libre absolument, présente totalement, assise dans ce fauteuil clair qu'Elle faisait déplacer d'un point à un autre de Sa chambre, ou arpentant la distance inconnue entre ces murs ; Elle se tenait là, seule et loin en avant dans le temps, seule à savoir mais seule aussi à chercher, incomprise, comment l'après homme respirerait et vivrait dans l'air et la Matière, une enfant la première d'une autre espèce à transgresser les lois d'une prison corporelle, à chercher l'amour enfin dans les cellules d'un corps dont les autres finissaient par avoir honte.

Elle se tenait là comme le seuil vivant d'un espace de Force foudroyante, si tranquille.

24.

Ses yeux bruns comme la puissance du dedans de la terre, bleus ouverts sur les marches d'une éternité souriante et secrète, gris verts d'un mystère conscient aux océans de la vie, Elle se tenait là, à la merci de toutes nos misères et victorieuse, parce qu'invinciblement une et vivante, et de Ses mains si blanches Elle laissait passer, couler et courir la Force d'un monde plein, et la volonté d'un Sens impossible : le plein de tous nos manques, le Présence pour tous nos vides.

Ancienne et mille fois venue, pour appeler, et briser les écorces, et tirer le grand courant, ancienne et mille fois connue ici et ailleurs, ignorée, condamnée, adorée ou reniée, mais seule à faire la somme d'un état qui n'en finissait pas de se reproduire, d'une histoire maudite à la même fin perpétuelle par le germe de sa contradiction jamais offerte, jamais affrontée, seule à préparer et travailler et attendre le moment où l'homme enfin saurait, saurait enfin qu'il ne suffit pas, qu'il ne peut rien vraiment s'il n'accepte pas le changement.

Un jour Elle avait dit « on va faire une ville », et déjà Elle était plus loin, et les résistances mêmes La précipitaient plus profond sous le poids de l'Homme, dans une percée irrémédiable au cœur de tout ce qui nous soutient et nous porte.

« Cette ville est là, je vous l'offre, sa Possibilité – voyons ce que vous en ferez, je vous invite à la tentative ; la victoire est certaine, mais serez-vous assez grands pour la découvrir et vous y ouvrir ? Voulez-vous essayer ? Alors marchons : c'est la porte d'un chemin nécessaire et utile, voulez-vous entrer ? Et adviennent que pourra... ! »

Elle n'avait pas dit « je vous aiderai » ; mais qu'il faudrait construire un instrument matériel, un outil pour le rayonnement et l'action de la Force, un point physique qui n'appartiendrait qu'à Cela.

Et la ville, elle, n'appartiendrait à personne en particulier mais à l'humanité dans son ensemble.

Et cet instrument serait le cœur de cette ville.

Et des années plus tard son cœur à Elle, ce petit organe qui avait appris à supporter le flot de courants formidables, ce petit cœur d'Elle cessait, immobile, à l'instant même où l'on éteignait le dernier vibreur après la coulée de béton qui joignait par une dalle circulaire les quatre piliers doubles de l'instrument de Sa vision.

26.

Pour ces quelques peuples que leur vérité intérieure rendait à jamais incapables de tout compromis, la terre entière était vivante, les créatures, les pierres, le feu, les mouvements de l'air et des astres, les lieux, les rythmes et les pulsations de toutes choses étaient animés d'un même souffle, par le même flot conscient du manifeste. L'aventure permanente était pour chaque être de découvrir un peu du grand Mystère, selon les termes de sa propre unicité. Reconnaître la réalité d'une chose signifiait la posséder, en un contrat de respect mutuel et de coopération vivante.

L'irruption de l'arbitraire au service de besoins séparés devait inévitablement détruire leur équilibre ; leur identité, dépossédée des conditions de son renouvellement, violée dans sa quête naturelle, et volée de sa liberté de choisir, ne pouvait survivre.

Le seul choix qui demeurait était pour l'individu, soit de sombrer dans une déchéance suicidaire en s'abandonnant à la séduction facile des appâts que lui tendait la barbarie triomphante, soit d'accepter les termes d'une solitude effrayante dont l'objet serait d'apprendre à reconnaître la réalité humaine dans son ensemble et, la reconnaissant, de contribuer à la communication et la diffusion d'un certain message...

27.

L'Évolution est invincible, et inaliénable ; c'est la Volonté et le Sens, dans la Force de tout.

L'Homme si grand soit il, lui est subordonné.

Et l'homme, si petit soit il, est le corps même de sa poussée.

Peut-être l'un des signes révélateurs de la direction de l'évolution, à la présente lisière de ce passage imminent à une autre étape de sa marche en avant, est l'expérience de la ville – de ces métropoles qui ont bourgeonné sur la planète : l'expérience d'un déracinement radical de tout environnement naturel, d'une séparation d'avec les rythmes physiques de la terre, dont la présence même devient une abstraction ; l'expérience d'être projeté dans un milieu entièrement, exclusivement humanisé, et d'y grandir et d'y éprouver d'autres courants d'énergie, d'y découvrir les termes d'une autre aventure, et d'une autre espèce de choix.

Car alors, tous les autres supports physiques ayant été occultés par l'ombre multiforme de l'homme, la seule présence tangible du Mystère est le corps.

L'homme est poussé dans le corps ; c'est dans le corps qu'il doit trouver le passage ; c'est dans le corps qu'il doit trouver les clés de son propre dépassement.

Survivre, c'est devenir.

28.

L'Homme qui, depuis bien longtemps, a perdu le respect de la vie, est attendu dans le corps.

C'est là que tout se rassemble. C'est là que tout va se décider.

Ce corps, qui a enduré et supporté tous les excès, qui a appris à redouter et à craindre, plus encore que l'impétuosité des désirs, la marque rigide et l'imposition séparée du mental, le corps, dont la conscience a été méprisée, écrasée, forcée, violentée sans cesse et sans répit, a pourtant en nous gardé, à travers tout, un ami et un frère, et leur secret partage du vrai est notre clé.

Et ce frère, c'est celui-là qui regarde et qui sait.

C'est celui-là qui aime, et qui reconnaît.

29.

Elle frayait le chemin. Elle faisait le passage.

Capable, de son droit inaliénable, d'accéder à l'état suprême, Elle en ramenait des torrents de force nouvelle.

Irréductiblement fidèle à la liberté de choisir Elle n'imposait jamais, jamais n'utilisait le Pouvoir sans un assentiment et un appel conscients.

Elle souhaitait notre collaboration, par amour Elle priait pour notre adhésion et notre compréhension, mais Elle allait, Elle marchait, Elle donnait, et par Elle Cela coulait, et d'Elle Cela jaillissait : les flèches vivantes d'un Etat où tout est réconcilié, où Tout a un sens, où Tout va.

30.

J'étais reparti. Et je vécus ainsi trois années à me débattre entre l'ombre et la confiance, la formation d'un exil, la grimace d'un rejet et la nécessité d'aider ma propre certitude et ma propre expérience d'Elle et de Ca à éclairer ma vie et mon chemin.

C'était finalement aussi à Ses pieds que l'ombre m'avait rattrapé.

C'est autour d'Elle que certains ont eu pour fonction à mon égard de cristalliser cette ombre et de la raviver.

Et j'ai plongé dans la grande déformation – sans comprendre tout d'abord comment ni pourquoi, alors que je L'avais enfin trouvée, qu'Elle m'avait reconnu, repris et renommé, tout était pourtant devenu si tordu, si pervers et si suspect.

Puis, commençant confusément de comprendre, je devais pourtant vivre avec le sens d'une malédiction que mes efforts mêmes ne faisaient jamais que nourrir.

Jusqu'à Elle, tout était dans la foulée ; le jugement n'existait pas, les valeurs étaient fluides, l'obscurité flambait de lumière, et tout était un seul appel.

L'ayant retrouvée, j'avais retrouvé en même temps la fausse hiérarchie de Celui qui toujours veut s'accaparer l'exclusivité de l'Incarné, et contrôler l'accès au Pouvoir, de Celui qui a toujours fini par L'étouffer, et L'empêcher.

Et tout s'était mélangé.

Quoiqu'il se passe, j'étais du mauvais côté : quand bien même je luttais contre les effets de l'adversité la plus insidieuse et la plus empoisonnée, et de ses utilisations les plus brutales et les plus intimes, et quand bien même j'apprenais à reconnaître les fonctionnements et les méthodes de l'Adversaire dans ma conscience comme dans celle d'autrui, et je devais endurer des tensions terribles, j'étais pourtant officiellement condamné – l'ostracisme avait recommencé.

31.

Simultanément, comme en deçà, il y avait de l'espace intouché, imperturbable.

Et dans cet espace je pouvais, un peu, suivre et sentir, un peu, éprouver et comprendre : Elle était là, matérielle, et parce qu'Elle était là, chaque instant de la vie comptait inestimable ment ; c'était pour Elle du temps gagné, pour Elle, et pour Tout, des secondes taillées, creusées dans le grand refus ignorant du changement, l'élaboration lente et minutieuse, infiniment silencieuse, d'un Seuil qui resterait pour de bon, d'une charnière matérielle invisible que rien ne pourrait détruire.

Mais ce qui manquait affreusement, c'était le bain physique de Sa présence, la qualité, le sens, le contact, presque le goût et l'odeur de Son atmosphère physique. Car près d'Elle il y avait l'assurance absolue que tout, tous les mouvements, les circonstances, les possibilités, les énergies, tout était consciemment contenu et nourri, abreuvé de Sens : la sécurité entière et constante, dans la vie même, d'un Sens plus qu'humain.

Comme si jusqu'à présent ce Sens s'était tenu immobile, s'était abstenu de toute intervention, car jamais encore aucun être manifesté n'avait eu ce courage ou cet Amour qui est Besoin, de se tourner vers Lui, de Le solliciter, d'aller Le quérir.

Et Elle L'avait tiré avec Elle dans le monde et la vie.

Avec Elle Il était, par Elle et à travers Elle Il agissait ; ce Sourire qui avait toujours attendu.

32.

Puis 1973 est venue.

Dés le commencement de cette année là, il était clair que dans les mouvements et l'action de la Force une volonté était venue de « nous » préparer, de « nous » apprendre à nous passer de la référence ponctuelle à Son corps individuel – de la concentration sur Son corps en tant que réponse, flamme et présence.

« Nous », c'est-à-dire tous ceux, quels qu'ils soient, à travers qui l'humain rencontrait en Elle le Force qui allait fabriquer ou manifester l'après l'homme.

Et la compréhension qui s'ouvrait au contact de cette volonté impersonnelle montrait la nécessité pour Elle de déplacer Son corps derrière un écran de Force consciente, de l'abriter de l'attention humaine pour pouvoir, protégée, accomplir le pas ultime qui concrétiserait le passage.

33.

Ce que je ne savais pas alors, c'est que c'était auprès d'Elle, dans Son espace physique et matériel, que la résistance à cette compréhension était la plus grande ; Et que, là même et alors même que l'homme devait le plus aider et collaborer, en s'effaçant, en comprenant, en acceptant – comme le chien fidèle regarde et aime son maître quoiqu'il arrive -, c'est là et alors que l'homme a dressé toute son ombre, et imposé la misère tranchante de sa petite loi.

Pourtant, de ce silence terrible où Elle s'était retirée, poursuivie et violée jusque dans ce silence impossible, Elle, cet absolu d'expérience refusé, nié, Elle dont on ne voulait plus ainsi car Elle avait « trahi » l'image de leur gloire, soumise par amour à un processus infâmant, de ce silence immense et blanc à la mesure de tout ce qui nous sépare encore de la vérité vivante et matérielle, Elle était une fois revenue : une ultime fois, revenue Se pencher au grand balcon, et regarder impossible ment cette marée humaine au cœur de laquelle Son amour était enseveli, empêché encore et encore...

Et pourtant...

Elle ne l'a pas dit, Elle n'a plus rien dit...

Mais le Passage était là, et Elle irait, malgré et en dépit de « nous » mais pour, et avec Cela qui existe vraiment en nous, Elle irait là où Elle continuerait le travail ; Elle passerait seule et inconnue, sans lâcher le fil, et de Ses seules mains offertes et plus puissantes que la foudre Elle construirait la réponse.

34.

Et nous en sommes là.

Il peut s'être écoulé déjà des années ou des siècles, ou des secondes, dans ce temps qui pour nous est encore réel, ce temps relatif à notre état de conscience, et il est possible que nous grandissions un peu, que nous mûrissions enfin à un point d'adhésion tranquille...

En S'en retournant, plus qu'Elle ne l'avait souhaité, derrière las voiles, Elle a aussi retiré au jeu des forces leur champ de bataille : et s'est partout diffusé le dernier repas des vieux antagonistes.

Ici et là, dans Sa « ville » comme ailleurs, la vielle histoire voudrait encore se reproduire.

Mais ce qui en nous a vraiment besoin aura, peut-être, juste eu le temps d'apprendre à se faire tout tranquille et invisible, à ne plus attirer les tensions, à laisser s'éteindre ces énergies trop longtemps connues ?

Il faut le souhaiter...

Alors que partout sur la terre, dans une incohérence croissante, se tient une action de tamisage – un choix d'une autre nature, un barattage tenu par qui, par quoi, à bout de bras pour écarter la terre de cette flamme destructrice dont la victoire serait celle du dérisoire et de l'absurde...

35.

Dans notre réalité humaine, il y a toujours une grande proportion de drame. C'est le drame, il faut le reconnaître, qui nous soulève hors d'une inertie qui nous attire et nous terrifie à la fois.

Les deux derniers millénaires ont été, finalement pour la terre entière, marqués au fer par un certain drame dont les données, telles celles d'un mécanisme invisible d'une précision infernale, allaient fonctionner dans la trame de toutes nos expériences jusqu'au point de la grande faillite. De ce drame magique, progressivement actuel deux mille fois trois cent soixante cinq jours, chacun de nous en a peut-être à présent joué tous les rôles ; sa sève a coulé dans nos veines pour toutes ces vies ; qu'on le veuille ou non, ses conséquences nous ont touché ; et l'hypnotisme de sa densité a livré enfin son pouvoir. Tout est joué.

Alors ce n'est pas d'un nouveau drame dont nous avons besoin.

Mais d'un autre état.

D'une conscience plus vraie.

Par ce dernier drame, et par la transcendance d'un rire qui se souvient, notre subconscient s'est soulevé et s'est défait dans l'expérience commune ; et d'anciens réservoirs jusqu'alors inabordables se sont révélés là, tout près.

Les extrêmes se joignent, et la boucle est bouclée.

36.

Dans la durée d'une journée physique notre état ordinaire demande aussi cette proportion de drame. Si l'on n'est pas de fait dans une situation contraignante, on la crée ; dans les moindres détails.

Car il nous est trop difficile d'aborder l'expérience de l'existence physique en se sachant libre et plein. Ce ne sont qu'à des instants privilégiés que nous redevenons conscients du choix initial qui nous a fait « exister », qui nous fait, à cette seconde même, exister physiquement.

Et c'est cependant la réalisation stable, constante et irréversible de cet état de conscience qui permettra le changement réel.

Que se passe-t-il à ces instants où, « miraculeusement », nous sommes rétablis dans la conscience de ce Choix premier, de sa gloire tranquille, de son indicible sécurité ?

Sommes-nous tirés, hissés là par la main bénigne mais indépendante d'un quelque Tout Puissant, pour être rejetés l'instant suivant dans notre ignorance, avec une différence, celle d'y souffrir un peu plus, de s'y trouver un peu plus mal en point ?

37.

Devons-nous mériter cet état, et le besoin d'y atteindre justifierait-il toute l'hideuse absurdité de toutes les violences morales ?

(Mais attends ! Viens ! On va se reposer, on va danser par les fragments qui scintillent et rutilent au grand soleil posés là sur l'étendue et le calme,
Et suivre ce vol d'oiseaux rouges à leur percée
De l'abîme,
Se répandre sur l'onde et tomber
De nos limites,
Chavirer d'un souffle et franchir
La paroi,
On va chercher, retrouver là-bas
Mais ici
Les sœurs, les amants, les mères, les enfants,
Les époux, les fiancés,
Tous ceux que l'on a aimés
Et ceux que l'on n'a su
Que fuir,
Les mille formes, corps et voix de notre plénitude jamais
Atteinte,
Mais viens, on va suivre les traces du plus grand Moi,
Et marcher, nos corps dans le Corps
De Ca.)

38.

La possibilité de cette ville, et d'un pays même, Elle l'avait longtemps portée, et bien des fois offerte, en cette vie comme en d'autres : une création qui serait un degré intermédiaire, l'établissement de conditions optimales pour la naissance d'un monde nouveau.

A Celui auprès de Qui Elle S'était rassemblée, à Qui Elle S'était donnée, à Lui Elle voulut à nouveau l'offrir – Lui qui demandait seulement un petit nombre, cent hommes dédiés et prêts.

Celui-là, dont l'amour L'avait gardée vivante, Se retira le premier, répondant à cette nécessité de se soustraire à l'attention humaine pour agir et travailler.

Alors, Sa ville, Elle l'a offerte au monde, à un humain devenu planétaire malgré lui, offerte comme instrument pour cette Force répandue en tous points.

Et advienne que pourra.

Ce n'était plus cette création qu'Elle aurait animée. La Force nouvelle était venue et travaillait, et Elle jetait quelques graines de vérité dans le grand mouvement de son action, et on verrait ce qu'il en sortirait ; la sélection se ferait autrement, par des moyens invisibles, et à travers un processus que nul ne pouvait prédire.

Les graines étaient vraies, et le besoin bien réel. Et le moment était venu.

Et dans cette « ville », pour commencer, une ville qui était et serait surtout un chemin, et peut-être une porte, une ouverture concrète sur un autre regard et un autre être matériel, dans cette ville il y aurait une liberté complète.

Car il n'y a jamais eu et il n'y aura jamais d'autre moyen de révéler le besoin véritable et le vrai don de soi.

39.

C'est le besoin de vérité qui doit remplacer toute contrainte, et en proportion de ce besoin l'homme sera-t-il capable de s'offrir volontairement au changement.

Mais il faut du temps...

Alors voilà : on a précipité ensemble et pêle-mêle un petit nombre, des corps à peine sevrés, tout encombrés des incompatibles de leurs différentes cultures, touchés dans leurs rêves par un idéal formidable et tout bête dont les résonances profondes mystérieusement les ramenaient à Elle, cet idéal évident et fou, de l'unité humaine : l'unité comme condition préalable à la manifestation d'un monde nouveau.

Largués ainsi dans les circonstances les plus contradictoires par le fait d'un privilège incompréhensible, et injustifiable pour toute raison humaine, quelques-uns se sont éveillés là, un matin brûlant, sur un arpent de terre érodée, usée par un siècle de vent et de misère, et cernée par une humanité réduite à une caricature d'elle-même, leurs yeux incrédules contemplant l'impossible énormité du travail, mais quelque part autour d'eux comme un sourire amusé, patient et tranquille, et aussi comme la mémoire à peine resurgie d'une aspiration très ancienne, d'un vœu très ardent, et d'une promesse.

40.

De sa station de créature physique l'homme, selon les contrées et les âges, a pu s'orienter dans les différents développements de son expérience, et se cristalliser dans les différents aspects de sa personne – autrement si mouvante et incertaine.

Ceux dont l'axe était d'une communauté avec les mouvements et les formes physiques de la terre, ont cultivé la perception d'un environnement dont chaque être est en partie responsable, en partie le garant.

Pour d'autres, dont le chemin était d'explorer et d'affirmer les pouvoirs et capacités du mental, ce sont les ressources de la terre qu'il s'est agi d'organiser, d'agencer, de gérer et d'utiliser au service des besoins croissants d'une vie qui se découvrait de plus en plus séparée.

Ainsi y eut-il d'un côté la connaissance instinctive que toute vraie possession, pour être féconde de progrès et d'harmonie, doit nécessairement être mutuelle ; et de l'autre, la soif d'acquérir et de conquérir, d'élargir et de diversifier les possibilités de l'expérience, d'atteindre le lointain, de saisir l'inaccessible, de prendre et thésauriser.

Mais le corps : toujours ignoré, bafoué, mutilé, l'esclave ou l'objet, la bête de somme, la marchandise ou l'appât, forcé de porter nos symboles et les marques de nos tyrannies, lui-même porteur coupable du germe honteux de notre défaite perpétuelle, ce corps qui ne savait que nous servir un moment pour nous faillir sûrement, cet allié à notre insu de notre déchéance et notre échec, ce corps, malgré toutes nos gloires, nous rendait toujours à notre abjecte soumission.

Et le corps : peut-être aimé parfois, pour nous avoir permis l'expérience de la découverte de soi, et rendu avec égards et respect à la grande matrice du monde ; et le corps, outil de mesure pour évaluer notre conquête de la peur – cette conquête qui fait la noblesse de l'homme.

Mais le corps : vraiment, de conscience il n'avait pas !

Comme la pierre, la branche, la corne et la fleur, animé par des forces conscientes ? Ou une machine, merveilleuse, mais faillible... ?

Pareil à la montagne, au chant de l'aube, aux grondements de la Terre, un signe du Manifeste ?

Ou le véhicule temporaire d'un laborieux accomplissement dont la conclusion serait toujours ailleurs ?

Ou la sécurité naturelle d'une substance solide et stable, obéissant dans des limites, fiable jusqu'à un point, pour l'élaboration des valeurs humaines et leur transmission perpétuelle ?

Ou bien la protection et l'ancre pour chaque étape du voyage de l'âme ?

42.

Mais la conscience qui formait ses cellules et ses atomes, n'était-ce pas Lui, enfin ?

Quand nous disons le mot « corps », nous nous référons en fait à une confusion de niveaux et d'états...

De toutes les leçons et tentatives du passé il y a toujours un Bien à discerner et retenir, une Utilité pour l'avenir. Et tout le reste doit se désapprendre.

Et peut-être est-ce ce désapprentissage, et ce découvrage du réel – objet et sujet – qui demandent le plus de temps.

43.

En ces premières années de la tentative, il y avait partout dans l'espace réservé à Sa ville comme l'onde continue d'une énergie formidable, impétueuse et tranquille, comme si Sa Jeunesse même imprégnait les obstacles et leur faisait rendre leurs signes ; dans l'air, les nuées de poussière rouge, et le silence sur la terre encore nue, la flambée de midi ou le déluge aux ravines, la première verdure recueillie comme un « oui », il y avait Son rire qui soutenait et joignait, et quelque chose comme un toucher profond, presque imperçu, qui poussait en avant, du dedans de nous comme un or inconnu, la pulsation d'une aventure par le chemin des instants, un grand arc de lumière dans l'infime de nous-mêmes.

Il y avait le sens permanent d'une exigence immobile et puissante et, pour chacun de ces premiers gestes quotidiens, d'être vu par le regard immense d'un Hôte nouveau de la Terre.

C'était comme une marée large et paisible qui poussait sans relâche dans tous nos recoins, ou une loupe objective d'intransigeance posée là sans jugement sur tous nos plis et toutes nos habitudes de ne pas être, sur tous nos écrans et nos ornières prêts à se reformer, sur tous nos subterfuges : un éclair vivant, sans mots ni pensées, avec la constance d'une force si simple et si vraie.

Entre cet idéal et notre petitesse, de Sa source vivante et consciente à nos mesures étroites, Elle portait et versait partout l'énergie d'un lien, d'un pont, et d'un chemin : on se sentait soulevé, sollicité jusque dans le piège même de nos heurts et nos colères ; jamais écrasés que par nous-mêmes, et pour rien, c'est avec nos propres idées et nos propres images qu'il fallait se battre, avant de pouvoir seulement toucher la matière de cet avenir.

On ne savait rien.

44.

Rien mais qu'Elle était si belle, rien mais que c'était Elle.

Et que, puisque Elle était là, et qu'Elle le disait, c'est que c'était enfin possible.

Et que, peut-être, si parfait tout semblât-il autour d'Elle, si conscient et dédié, et si grande et forte fût-Elle, peut-être, quelque part, malgré notre épaisseur, notre grossièreté et notre lenteur, avait-Elle besoin qu'on aide ?

Peut-être silencieusement quelque part demandait-Elle comme un ensemble, un nombre, qui comprendrait juste assez pour La soutenir, qui émettrait en réponse une énergie de confiance active et fidèle, pour balancer la grande masse indifférente et toute la mauvaise volonté ?

Car nous n'étions venus pour aucun salut personnel, ni pour aucune réalisation spirituelle – nous n'étions venus que parce que, sans le savoir vraiment, nous avions entendu un appel, et l'avions reconnu.

Mais aussi on était humain, comme tout le monde, et comme tout le monde on jetait sur Elle nos difficultés, on lui portait nos peurs, nos fantômes et nos nœuds à défaire, et nos révoltes, nos demandes et nos plaintes, on rejoignait le chœur misérable, on rentrait dans les rangs.

45.

On se rendait bien compte que, s'il était une tâche difficile, c'était la Sienna ; mais, puisque Elle avait la force de l'accomplir, Elle pouvait bien aussi prendre la nôtre ?! Quelquefois on voyait : on voyait comment l'homme sans cesse rappelait la confusion qu'Elle venait d'éclaircir, relevait les barrières qu'Elle venait de défaire, recréait le refus qu'Elle venait de dissoudre ; et comme tous, tous autant que nous étions, accumulant les bonnes raisons, nous La tirions et nous L'empêchions...

46.

Nos psychologies et nos médecines retirent et leur subsistance et leur justification de situations de contrainte ; toutes les dysharmonies qu'elles souhaitent ou prétendent comprendre, éclairer et guérir, sont l'effet de tensions et de contradictions dont les causes nous sont cachées par le fait même de cette omniprésente contrainte dans la vie de l'homme.

Et l'on a rarement la possibilité, ou, l'ayant, on se donne rarement la peine, de voir ce qu'il en serait si l'on supprimait la contrainte, à commencer par ses formes et ses symboles.

Inscrite dans la trame de notre substance est l'étrange conviction que l'homme, s'il était exempté de la contrainte, deviendrait immanquablement, et avec une rapidité incontrôlable, l'agent et l'outil de sa propre destruction comme de celle de toutes les valeurs humaines sur lesquelles il a fallu tout cet interminable labeur pour parvenir à s'entendre, collectivement.

Notre perception de nous-mêmes, en tant que créatures, est profondément empreinte de méfiance.

A côté de cette conviction se trouve une peur non moins étrange : celle de la stérilité, de la nullité. Nous redoutons l'absence de contraintes en ce qu'elle révélerait de notre état d'humains, nous redoutons l'inertie dans laquelle nous serions replongés, tant toute notre expérience d'homme nous a conditionnés à croire que c'est par la difficulté que naissait l'impulsion créative, et par la répétition de la difficulté que s'affirmait la volonté de mener à terme nos créations, que c'est dans la contrainte seulement, et par la contrainte comme milieu et comme environnement, comme condition générale, que l'homme parvenait à entrer en contact et à s'atteler à des forces de réalisation qui lui procurent une identité et un statut supérieurs.

47.

Sa « ville », Elle l'avait voulu avant tout comme un espace de liberté, un espace, justement, exempt de toutes contraintes, qu'elles soient morales, sociales, religieuses, ou politiques, et même, jusqu'à un certain point, physiques.

Il y avait pourtant deux conditions importantes, dont la nature révélait une seule nécessité impérative.

La première était que l'appartenance à cette tentative devait être l'effet d'un choix volontaire de se mettre au service de cet idéal d'unité, et de sa force dynamique.

La seconde condition, implicite en la première, était la sincérité de discerner entre la moindre liberté de satisfaire les désirs d'une nature qui était encore leur esclave, et la liberté plus grande de marcher vers la manifestation de cet idéal, d'en découvrir le chemin.

Et la nécessité pratique que soulignait cette double condition était de trouver l'état de conscience et la perception sûre qui permettrait de savoir si elle était remplie, et quand elle ne l'était pas.

48.

Nécessité pratique qui est devenue, dans le lieu et la durée, un long chemin peuplé d'erreurs, d'approximations, de vieilles résurgences et de demi vérités, avec parfois, dans la foulée bruyante de nos efforts, l'instant d'un regard clair, d'une évidence.

Une évidence étrangère au mental ; et pourtant, si familière.

Une évidence de l'être.

Pour faire ce chemin d'apprentis, quelque chose nous a été retiré.

Du sens concret, présent, d'une grande Coulée puissante et vraie, nous sommes passés à l'état incertain d'un processus multiple : un tâtonnement sans guide.

Elle a fait un pas de côté. Et nous, on a dégringolé.

Comme si une grande Présence, blanche et vibrante et pleine de Ca, nous avait déposés là, à ce point physique d'une alchimie à venir, puis, sans un mot et sans un signe, s'était retirée.

Et ce point magique, cet impossible présent, en quelques battements de vie, s'est comme répandu et diffusé, joint aux dimensions d'une seule sphère, celle de la Terre, et de tout ce qu'est l'homme « ordinaire ».

Une réalisation à l'envers.

49.

Et il a fallu repartir dans la jungle du relatif, chacun serrant à soi le trésor d'un souvenir conscient, ou d'un contact inconnu, gratuit, inexplicable.

Parfois l'homme, tout l'Homme, semble être une seule fuite en avant.

Inévitablement viendra le moment où il faudra rencontrer, affronter, comprendre et résoudre l'ombre de notre glorieuse et misérable échappée, pour rejoindre enfin le grand mouvement du Devenir.

Pour se ré unir.

Quelle est cette ombre ? Existe-t-elle ?

Et n'est-elle pas notre plus grande lumière ? Et peut-être toute notre fuite et ses tourments ne portent-ils que la peine et la douleur de l'avoir trompée, d'être nous-mêmes devenus son ombre projetée ?

Peut-être y a-t-il bien eu, en fait, un choix conscient, un choix fraternel, loin là-bas dans le temps sans mémoire, ou serti dans le cœur de nous-même, le choix d'incarner et d'explorer le contraire, de faire rendre à la contradiction tous ses possibles : un grand exorcisme lent et total de la possibilité même de sa réalité ?

50.

Et peut-être, quand nous semblons enfin reconnaître l'inanité de ce mal être perpétuel et que nous nous découvrons impuissants à le changer, peut-être à notre rencontre, venue de cet instant passé éternel et de sa réponse en avant, l'un et l'autre se joignant, l'orbe s'étend d'un Etat autre, libre enfin de tous les contraires ?

Dans le corps gît l'action permanent d'une double puissance : celle de la vie et celle de la mort.

Mais peut-être le corps recèle-t-il aussi, les soutenant, le POUVOIR D'ETRE, d'exister enfin ?

Si c'est un fait éternel que l'essence, la source première de tout être et de toute individualité est une et indivisible, c'est un fait de l'évolution que, sur le chemin du vrai, nous sommes inégaux.

Dés que s'engage dans l'individu une réflexion dont la démarche implique plus que la pensée et la raison, une réflexion que suscite un besoin plus profond, commence à se révéler la nécessité de trouver un centre.

51.

L'être individuel commence alors d'éprouver le manque d'une référence vivante, d'un centre ou d'un soi plus réel, plus conscient, indépendant des contingences mais les éclairant, qui le mettrait en rapport avec la réponse pleine, non tronquée, non fragmentée, aux questions qu'il se pose.

L'intensité de des questions progressivement nous habite, comme un silence qui se charge, et il semble alors que cette tension qui se développe en nous ait le pouvoir naturel de modifier les circonstances de notre vie.

Quel qu'ait été le cours extérieur de notre existence jusqu'à ce point, il semble que dès que ce besoin se révèle et fait du dedans intrusion dans nos mécaniques habituelles, sa pression même, progressivement et indépendamment de la volonté que nous nous connaissons, indifféremment à ce que nous croyons ou jugeons le meilleur, agisse sur les données et les composantes de ce cours, en altère ou bouleverse l'ordre ou, simplement, leur donne un sens nouveau, une autre dimension, à laquelle nous n'aurions pu, par nous-même, accéder.

Jusqu'à présent, les choses intérieures s'organisaient toujours de telle façon que, lorsque l'individu devenait lui-même dans sa vie comme l'écho de sa propre question brûlante, tôt ou tard et quelle que soit sa situation extérieure, il était mis en présence d'un signe ou d'une série de signes qui indiquaient la marche à suivre, éclairaient l'ombre d'une solitude devenue plus absolue, et le plus souvent le conduisaient à un guide, sous la forme d'une autre personne humaine ou, au moins, d'un enseignement spirituel.

52.

Le monde a changé.

La force irrésistible de l'évolution a brassé l'homme dans toutes ses parts, saccagé tous ses sanctuaires, répandu tous ses trésors, arraché de leurs voiles toutes ses vérités exclusives qu'il abritait du profane, renversé ses idoles et détruit leurs socles, diffusé en tous points son acquis, et démoli l'image de son bien comme de son mal.

L'homme est réduit à son état.

Tout est là.

C'est un grand gaspillage et une grande destruction, disons-nous, essayant de retenir les lambeaux d'une beauté passée, d'une noblesse et d'un sacré piétinés, qui n'étaient pourtant qu'une image.

Car quand avons nous jamais vraiment vécu ? En combien d'instant nous jamais été pleins ?

Nous sommes là, partout confrontés à cet incommensurable gâchis, continuant sur notre lancée à croire aux bienfaits de telle ou telle panoplie d'un homme amélioré dont le visage pourtant ne parvient pas à nous convaincre.

Alors, pour quoi, tout ça ?

Et l'on revient à ce seul besoin, au-dedans mais aussi partout et tout le temps.

Et l'on s'aperçoit que quelque chose vraiment est arrivé, on ne sait quand ni comment ; mais si l'on écoute bien, si l'on se tait un peu, il y a dans ce besoin comme un courant d'une autre nature, et il y a, en réponse, dans les plus petites circonstances du quotidien, autour des plus minimes mouvements de la vie, ou veillant sur les plus infimes opérations de notre conscience, comme la présence ou le regard d'un état autre, d'une continuité, ou d'un continuum conscient.

53.

Quelque chose que peut-être l'on peut apprendre à vérifier, quelque chose qui est sans jugement, mais infiniment plus sûr que tous les guides, sans arbitraire, sans origine particulière, sans identité, mais infiniment présent, constamment agissant, quelque chose qui semble posséder le sourire secret de toute cette vaste irréductible et flagrante catastrophe de l'homme, de tout ce parfait et impossible piège.

Et la perception bascule.

Les forces et les énergies qui nous animent sont d'origines différentes.

L'homme en est le masque autant qu'il en est le véhicule ou l'exécutant.

La conscience dans l'homme a appris à reconnaître leur passage, à identifier leurs natures, à éprouver les effets de leur action ; et à mesure que la confusion de l'expérience s'apaise, cette connaissance se communique et s'universalise.

Il est possible d'éviter, d'épargner beaucoup de souffrance, en prenant contact avec cet acquis, cette capacité de discernement disponible.

54.

La violence et la rapidité des changements auxquels la Terre est soumise a finalement précipité ensemble dans la grande foire commune toutes les valeurs de l'humain, les plus ésotériques comme les plus banales, à la merci de toutes les curiosités et de toutes les convoitises, comme de tous les dédains : dans la grande clameur du marché mondial, nul ne peut plus y reconnaître les siens.

Et de même toutes ces forces et ces énergies, qui ont avec l'homme leurs vieux contrats, circulent en tous sens et s'en donnent à cœur joie, c'est le grand foutoir et la farce générale.

Il vaut mieux, et c'est bien ainsi, ne plus chercher de représentants à son propre chemin.

Il est dans la nature de l'homme, ou plutôt c'est un trait de sa faiblesse, que nous préférons toujours de beaucoup nous en remettre à un intermédiaire auprès de nous-même, et l'investir des droits et des responsabilités que nous voulons bien prêter à un soi plus grand et plus sûr, plutôt que d'affronter la nécessité d'apprendre directement, sans autre juge que les conséquences de nos choix, à connaître et manifester sa nature.

Il est une autre tentation familière à l'humain, celle de céder facilement à la prétention de remplir pour autrui les fonctions supposées de ce Soi, en échange d'une adulation gratifiante et de fausses responsabilités.

55.

Nous pratiquons ces deux tromperies dans tous les domaines de notre vie et, à des degrés divers et selon autant de variantes, elles sont généralement acceptées.

Et aujourd'hui il nous est demandé, si nous voulons aider, de ré apprendre à choisir.

1973 est venue.

Autour d'Elle, dans l'anonymat discret de tâches quotidiennes sans gloire, un certain nombre d'êtres Lui avaient depuis longtemps offert leur vie, leur expérience, leur développement même, tout ce qu'ils étaient comme tout ce qu'ils pouvaient devenir, et ils avaient appris à grandir silencieusement dans Sa lumière.

D'autres avaient été marqués pour occuper le devant de la scène, et il est question là soit d'un sacrifice, soit d'une imposture.

En présence de la réalisation d'une transparence au Suprême, c'est-à-dire de Son incarnation vivante, l'homme est témoin d'un jaillissement d'être : c'est de l'or en cascade, de la puissance pure, une richesse croissante de mouvements et d'ondes, c'est le grand Devenir sans voiles.

56.

L'humain n'a qu'exceptionnellement la capacité, dans les limites de sa nature, de servir sans prendre, ni interférer.

Tout comme, à la découverte de l'or matériel dans les veines de la Terre, l'homme pris d'une ivresse et d'une avidité se remet passivement à la charge d'une énergie insatiable, échangeant sa liberté de choisir contre cette intensité plus grande, ainsi, en présence de la conscience manifeste et de sa puissance en action, de l'incarnation directe, l'homme qui n'est pas entier n'a que très rarement la force de tenir, de ne pas céder à l'attrait du même piège : dériver un peu de la Force pour la formation temporaire et illusoire de sa propre grandeur ou de son propre pouvoir.

A travers ceux-là étaient touchées toutes les énergies séparées qui toujours dans l'Histoire ont mésusé de la Force et usurpé la réelle autorité.
Et ceux-là, ceux qui ont été marqués pour ce rôle, ont été les sacrifiés.

57.

Un ajustement considérable doit d'abord se faire dans la circonférence humaine avant qu'un changement véritable puisse advenir, et cela concerne le pouvoir : toute soif de pouvoir indique un manque d'être ; on ne cherche le pouvoir que parce que l'on n'est pas vraiment.

Etre, c'est l'équilibre. Etant, simplement, on peut ce que l'on est.

Ni plus ni moins.

En proportion de ce que l'on est vraiment, on rayonne évidemment un pouvoir conscient.

Ceci est la vraie, et la seule justice.

Mais dans cette humanité indéfinie, qui est un espace de transition et une arène, la petite personne dure qui se forme aux chocs d'une multitude sauvage d'énergies en mouvement accepte peu à peu, à mesure qu'elle se forme, l'hypnotisme de la séparation.

Conditionnés par l'ignorance environnante, nous apprenons à fixer notre écorce et, ce faisant, nous dissociions de notre propre accès à la source commune.

Graduellement identifiés à cette formation durcie devenue notre monnaie d'échange et notre nom, nous devons survivre et nous nourrir dans le jeu des forces.

Par manque d'être, ayant cédé notre liberté innée, nous cherchons alors à nous mettre en rapport avec un peu de pouvoir : selon notre nature extérieure, soit nous cherchons à l'acquérir, à contrôler l'énergie qui pourra animer l'ombre que nous sommes, soit nous nous tournons passivement et sans discernement vers quiconque en sera déjà le véhicule.

58.

D'une manière ou d'une autre nous continuons ainsi de répéter et consolider l'habitude de s'en remettre à des énergies séparées, qui s'enrichissent de notre adhésion en absorbant un peu de notre substance ; et nous aggravons ainsi la lutte qui devra se mener lorsque nous éprouverons la nécessité de recouvrer notre liberté de choix et de reprendre contact avec nous-même.

Car alors ce n'est plus seulement avec la rigidité fabriquée de notre fausse identité, ni avec les sédiments de l'habitude perpétuée qu'il nous faut traiter, mais avec la souveraineté usurpée, et maintenant menacée, de toutes ces énergies avec lesquelles nous nous sommes alliés, et les contrats ainsi formés, dont les empreintes sont gravées dans notre état.

Et c'est au moment de cet indispensable retournement que l'on touche concrètement la réalité d'une aide et d'une grâce impersonnelles, non humaine mais centrale à l'homme, et une avec Cela qui préside au développement de sa conscience.

La substance de l'homme est une.

Où que nous soyons, et à quelque point du passage que nous nous trouvions, tant que nous appartenons encore à ce grand effort de transition, tant que nous sommes en quelque part de nous-même encore seulement humains, nous retrouvons les résonances et les effets de cette misère collective de l'espèce.

59.

Alors même que nous sommes mis en présence d'une grandeur réelle, d'une vie et d'une action de la vérité, nous sommes aussi et encore confrontés à cette faiblesse de notre humanité, qui répond à la tentation d'utiliser un peu de pouvoir pour affirmer et aviver l'image de nous-même.

Et autour de soi la coalition spontanée de tout ce qui, partout, ment et prétend, est active et disponible : ainsi notre monde est-il encore, où la proportion de ceux qui ont ré appris à choisir demeure insuffisante pour modifier l'équilibre dominant.

L'état humain, dans son ensemble, ne soutient pas spontanément le mouvement vers le vrai. Pas encore.

Pour se préserver de cette corruption dans le passé, il fallait recourir à une force de pureté morale et spirituelle indéfectible, s'en abritant comme d'un bouclier et gardant ainsi l'authenticité du service ; mais par là-même on se retirait de tout un champ continu d'expérience et de choix, et la raideur de cette réalisation empêchait de couler dans une compréhension plus plastique au mouvement de la conscience véritable.

60.

Il y a eu près d'Elle quelques exceptions – il ne pouvait pas ne pas y en avoir, puisque Elle était là ! -, tolérées jusqu'à l'approche du moment crucial. Un peu de substance, un peu d'homme et d'âme était là, pour Elle seulement.

Mais quand le moment est venu pour tous de reconnaître et d'accepter, de répondre au besoin, les garants du vieil équilibre ont affirmé leurs droits ; la porte s'est refermée. Ils ont sauvé les apparences.

Ce ne serait donc plus là ; ce serait partout, et autrement.

Et ils sont restés sur leur rocher déserté, les gardiens d'un souvenir tronqué.

Avec leur étrange fidélité, poursuivant l'ambiguïté de leur offrande, demeurant convaincus de l'exclusivité de leurs droits, vertueux dans le sens de leur responsabilité, ils se sont engagés à maintenir et préserver l'ordre, la paix et la prospérité sur les lieux de leur privilège. Sans utiliser le temps pourtant offert de voir et de comprendre en quoi la moindre perfection de leur tâche avait cristallisé la résistance la plus grande.

61.

Dans les derniers mois de ce qu'aveuglément j'avais vécu comme un exil, propulsé quoi que je fasse dans le tourbillon centrifuge d'un absurde piège, j'étais pourtant enfin parvenu à m'arracher, m'enfermer, me boucler.

J'invoquais pour ce faire comme une forteresse qui m'isolerait de ce jeu pitoyable qui, indépendamment de tout mon expérience plus profonde, sembler opérer à mon insu et traverser ma vie que je le veuille ou non – et non seulement ma volonté n'y faisait rien, mais Cela qui pouvait ne semblait aucunement désireux d'intervenir...

Je sentais confusément qu'il me fallait prendre une autre direction ; qu'il ne suffisait pas de vouloir s'extraire du guêpier, ou de sortir de l'arène à reculons. Il me fallait trouver le temps, extérieur et intérieur, de choisir, ou plutôt de m'unir à ce choix que près d'Elle j'avais fait et éprouvé consciemment, et dont tous les choix à l'avenir devaient découler. Cet espace, et cet état, de liberté.

La première priorité pour moi, et il était question de survivre, était de regagner un peu de confiance.

En bâtissant cette forteresse, qui prenait eau, minée de toutes parts, mais on verrait plus tard, je savais bien qu'on ne grandit pas avec un rempart ; c'était une mesure tout à fait provisoire et stratégique.

J'ai pu me concentrer.

Quelques tentacules ont été écartées ; un peu de silence et de paix s'est établi ; imperceptiblement, tout doucement, s'est dégagé l'accès à une confiance nouvelle, et s'est révélée l'identité d'une certitude intérieure, qui était vraiment la mienne, là où rien ni personne ne pouvait et ne pourrait me séparer d'Elle.

Et avec l'apaisement des ondes et le début d'une transparence, la qualité et la réalité des mouvements divers auxquels m'a vie était liée peu à peu se dégageaient de cette frénésie dans laquelle tout semblait plongé.

62.

A mesure que s'affirmait, comme un rire victorieux au-dedans, étrangère à la farce du bord cette certitude consciente d'avoir mes racines dans un sol de vérité et de pouvoir en tirer la sève et tous les courages nécessaires, et à mesure que se propageait en moi la confiance inexplicable que cette certitude procure, il semblait que les masques se mettaient à fondre ; j'apprenais à voir, et à percevoir.

Et ce n'était pas réjouissant ; c'était cru, c'était brut ; mais c'était juste.

Je comprenais aussi que cette perception n'avait pas en elle-même le pouvoir de transformer.

Et mon besoin d'Elle en grandissait d'autant.

J'avais, clairement, besoin de deux choses. D'Elle, et de temps.

Et, autrement, comme dans l'axe vertical de la Coulée, je devenais conscient de l'imminence d'un changement de Sa position ; et avec tout ce qui en moi était capable de participer à Son mouvement, ou seulement même d'en saisir un peu la portée, je priais, cela brûlait comme une prière constante, qu'il y ait un « Oui », et que s'ouvre le chemin matériel.

J'allais revenir. Avec le silence de ma question vivante, j'allais revenir.

Personne ne pourrait m'en empêcher. C'était mon choix, libre et un.

1973 approchait à sa fin.

Un soir de Novembre, je suis revenu dans l'espace physique de Sa Présence.

63.

Cette nuit-là commençait le bétonnage du fond de cette sphère dont Elle avait VU l'intérieur – là-haut sur le plateau, au centre de Sa ville, un outil matériel qu'Elle avait demandé, comme la percée d'une frontière, le support d'une coulée, un point de ralliement...

Mais j'ai dormi, cette nuit-là, sur la terrasse d'une maison voisine de la Sienne, gardé par un paon...

Le lendemain j'ai pu traverser l'étendue de terre rouge et là, au bord du cratère d'où montaient les quatre piliers qui porteraient la sphère entière j'ai trouvé, accoudé à une rambarde, tranquille dans le vacarme des machines, un frère ; et dans les yeux, comme embrasé soudain par la coïncidence d'un Devenir matériel, s'est déclaré en moi un assentiment évident : oui, je ferais aussi ce « travail », parce que c'était soutenu par Elle, parce que c'était beau, parce que c'était vrai, vibrant de Ca.

Le soir de ce même jour j'étais assis en bas de Sa chambre et je L'entendais gémir et protester, tenter encore de refuser cette nourriture et ces drogues qu'on La forçait à prendre, Sa voix menue toute seule dans ce silence, et je regardais cette foule impeccable qui gardait Sa solitude.

Et je réalisais en même temps deux faits terribles ; l'un, celui de l'énorme imposture au front recueilli qui se mouvait impitoyable autour d'Elle, cette gangue d'acier humaine embellie indifférente à Ses plaintes, à Ses cris, profitant d'Elle et broyant irrésistiblement Son travail : l'effrayante solidarité de cette imposture immaculée qui préférait garder d'Elle leur propre image victorieuse plutôt que de L'accompagner sur ce seul chemin qui vaille la peine.

L'autre, celui de ma complète impuissance ; il ne s'agissait pas de mon impuissance personnelle, mais de la « notre » ; d'un nous sans visages encore, mais un « nous » présent et témoin, qui voyait mais ne pouvait rien, qui devait seulement voir, regarder – et peut-être aussi marcher et La suivre, comme ceci ou cela ou autrement, qu'importe, c'était Elle, ce serait Elle et sans Elle il n'y avait rien.

64.

Je me rendais compte que je donnais un crédit aveugle, dans cette confusion d'expérience, à tous ceux qui avaient vécu longtemps près d'Elle, et avec Elle, qui avaient eu le temps d'être défaits et refaits dans le vrai.

Et que ce crédit, ou cette foi, ou cette croyance, c'était à l'homme que je l'accordais, oui, mais c'était à Elle que je le donnais, à l'effet naturel de Sa présence.

Et aussi que, puisque c'était donc à eux que mon crédit se donnait encore, à ceux-là mêmes qui marchaient et vauquaient, sanctifiés et impassibles, alors qu'Elle peinait seule et pour tous, au milieu d'eux abandonnée, sans le moindre signe, sans le moindre geste de leur compréhension, cernée par leur inutile dévotion, Elle ces immensités pour un seul tout petit corps qu'ils refusaient d'aider, d'écouter, alors ce même crédit les justifiait encore, leur conférait encore le mystère favorable de raisons spirituelles que je ne pouvais atteindre.

Alors c'était vraiment impossible.

Et tout se rassemblait dans une même question...

Rien n'était plus comme avant, il y avait rupture quelque part ; et pourtant, dans la vie, dans le temps, Sa Présence était la même, sinon plus active ; l'aventure s'ouvrait et grandissait.

Alors que se passait-il ? Il se passait quelque chose.

Quoi ?

65.

Là-haut sur les pistes de Sa « ville » il y avait comme une tranquille effervescence ; c'était comme une vaste symphonie qui attirait en elle et intégrait tous les mouvements.

Notre petitesse, l'exiguïté de notre conscience, ses composantes de réactions et de bribes, son bruitage, apparaissaient comme une habitude, une croûte, dont l'importance devenait très relative : on baignait dans des rythmes plus larges et plus grands, il y avait là une sécurité, et une promesse.

C'était par le corps, surtout, que l'on sentait la joie.

Ca crépitait doucement, dans la boue et la poussière de ciment, dans le martèlement de ces outils que l'on apprenait à tenir.

Il y avait cette gratitude partout, ce contentement : Elle nous avait donné quelque chose à faire, pour Elle, quelque chose par quoi on pourrait se tenir à Elle, u point de concentration et de don.

J'étais revenu depuis quelques jours à peine. Chaque soir je retournais le plus près d'Elle, je regardais, j'écoutais : la question était là, ne bougeait pas.

C'était peut-être une heure avant l'aube. On est venu m'éveiller.

La grande farce m'a pris par surprise, cette farce déjà préparée.

Et partout, sur tout, comme une onde impérative qui dissolvait le drame.

66.

Elle qui avait accompagné mille et mille fois ceux qui s'en allaient et devaient laisser leur corps, Elle qui les avait tous menés sans errer de l'autre côté, Elle vers Qui mille et mille s'étaient tournés, de reconnaissance spontanée, pour ouvrir les zones, écarter les ombres et conduire au repos, ou au pas suivant de leur marche, Elle qui leur avait appris à dissoudre la peur et passer sans heurt, les entourant de Bien, les rendant à leur vérité, Elle qui avait démystifié la mort, l'avait traquée dans tous ses recoins, l'avait chassée de la demeure en lui retirant ses droits, ouvrant les cellules du corps au sens de la vraie victoire, celle de la conscience qu'elles recèlent, Elle qui avait humblement, doucement demandé qu'on La laisse en paix, qu'on respecte au moins, si l'on ne pouvait encore le comprendre, Son besoin d'immobilité...

L'Homme ? L'humain ?

Alors « ils » ont fait cette chose incroyable.

Ils L'ont sortie de Sa chambre, ils L'ont descendue tout en bas.

Là, dans un espace minuscule, sur une marche dans une alcôve sans air revêtue de feuilles de métal, ils L'ont posée sur un petit lit recouvert d'une fourrure synthétique blanche, entouré de soucoupes de camphre et de ventilateurs, éclairé par des projecteurs rutilants.

Et ils L'ont exposée là au passage constant de la foule, jour et nuit.

67.

Dans les coulisses ils s'affairaient.
Tout de même ils ont dû attendre le troisième matin. Tout était prêt.
La boîte était jolie.
Et la radio était là, pour le message officiel et le petit historique et l'hommage de rigueur.
Un point à la ligne.

La question, elle, ne bougeait pas.
Que se passe t il ?

Il y avait, je me souviens, un point de contact avec une immense, radicale colère.
Mais tout était pris, et comme épinglé, par une paix.
Et dès que l'on bougeait, l'incendie léger de cette joie cheminait avec soi.

Une drôle de question, qui emportait tout avec elle...

68.

Que sommes-nous ?
Qu'est ce que l'homme ?

La dégringolade a pris quelques mois.

Notre habitude d'hommes est de nous situer.
Comme nous ne sommes pas conscients d'un centre réel, nous nous situons par rapport aux autres et au reste.
Nous nous appréhendons par comparaison, par comparaison nous construisons l'image de nous-même.
Puisque je ne suis ni libre ni conscient, il me faut m'allier à une identité abordable, de préférence supérieure, ou du moins plus valable en ce qui me concerne que ce que, par comparaison, je vois du monde.
Et s'il arrive que, pour obtenir cette identité préférable, je doive m'allier à un nombre, il faudra à ce nombre dont je ferai partie établir les valeurs qui marqueront notre statut, par comparaison avec le reste, et nous protégeront de la convoitise.
C'est là un processus ordinairement admis et pratiqué. Il y en a d'autres...

Ils forment en quelque sorte notre patrimoine négatif ; ce sont les membres d'une pauvreté d'être tentaculaire.
Seul dans une caverne, n'ayant pas à les vérifier, on peut prétendre sans trop d'opposition les ignorer. On met toutes ses billes dans le même sac et peut-être on gagnera une expérience authentique qui nous distinguera, à notre propre conscience d'homme au moins, dans le souvenir indélébile de ce que nous sommes encore.

Mais nous ne trouverons pas ainsi, et ne l'avons jamais trouvée, la force centrale qui peut changer l'état de la vie.

Dans Sa ville, il était proposé à notre apprentissage de trouver l'union par le travail. Le travail physique, extérieur, comme contribution volontaire à une tâche impersonnelle, et comme moyen de développer sa conscience.

Le statut de l'homme est double.
Il y a l'homme ; et il y a l'état humain.

70.

L'homme : ce visage infiniment, profondément familier, cette présence qui donne sens à la création, cette incarnation de son âme...

La sécurité révélée, le mystère animé, allumé de tendresse...

Le port, l'ancre et le havre...

L'hôte souhaité, qui détermine la place de chaque chose, et par ses mains l'extase du créé...

L'harmonie et l'ordre du séjour matériel, la résonance infaillible, le sourire reconnu...

L'hospitalier, le convivial, le fraternel...

L'homme a tous les droits que peut donner la confiance, le besoin d'être aimé et celui d'aimer...

Et l'état humain : ce croisement, cet espace...

Les tentatives infructueuses de la Nature y ont laissé leurs organes et leur empreinte cellulaire, et le souvenir de tous les états y demeure, permanent...

Les instincts de l'animal y ont cours, et les instincts de survie de toute espèce confrontée à la mort...

Les entités et les formations de la Nature et de la Vie s'y procurent voix et geste ; les dieux y ont leurs habitudes et s'y livrent bataille ; la myriade des formes de conscience y vient mendier un corps, un accès...

Et toutes les forces qui, dans quelque mesure, voudraient contrôler l'évolution, s'y engagent et y agissent...

71.

Ainsi le travail comme l'avenue la plus sûre à un état d'offrande et de réceptivité, de disponibilité au changement.

Le travail comme le moyen le plus direct et le plus accessible pour établir une collaboration active par-delà les différences.

Le travail comme l'expression la plus claire de notre bonne volonté à franchir nos limites en ouvrant notre conscience.

Le travail, non pour ses résultats extérieurs, bien que leur utilité pratique soit évidente, mais comme instrument de cohésion et de rassemblement.

Le travail, non comme imposition arbitraire, comme nécessité extérieure ou comme sacrifice, mais comme économie volontaire des énergies au service d'une transparence, et comme manifestation de notre engagement.

Le travail, non comme un devoir moral, mais comme contribution respectueuse aux lois subtiles du partage et de l'équilibre.

Et le travail comme la forme la plus harmonieuse et la plus progressive d'un choix qui implique plus que nous-même.

Et il y avait tout à faire, tout à créer, tout à manifester à l'orée de cette ville pas encore née.

Avec pour seul indispensable souci celui de ne pas laisser aux structures du passé le droit de reprendre des formes, même améliorées.

72.

Il est un effet du travail accompli dans l'esprit juste – c'est-à-dire dans la liberté offerte et dédiée d'un choix volontaire et renouvelé – que seul le temps permet de réaliser, et qui est peut-être l'une des clés pour l'évolution de la conscience matérielle : par la répétition régulière et maintenue de l'effort physique sur et dans la matière, d'un effort sans violence, orienté, d'un effort sans calcul, dévoué, la réponse de la matière change ; elle se met à absorber les vibrations nouvelles et, en les absorbant, elle les fixe, les reproduit et les répand.

Ainsi, très lentement car il est long de frayer un chemin parmi tout ce qui contredit et se refuse, s'établit une sorte d'acquis irréversible – un lieu s'imprègne de sens et le rayonne.

Et ainsi dans nos corps la répétition choisie et volontaire, et joyeuse, d'un symbole explicite de notre aspiration ou notre besoin, explicite pour notre conscience – d'une formule chargée de la perception du chemin, véhiculant pour nous la force qui nous fait grandir -, révèle et suscite l'adhésion et la participation active des composants de ce petit peu de matière que nous « sommes ».

Ignorée, la conscience dans nos corps gît comme en dessous de tous nos états, de tous nos actes et de toutes nos pensées, subissant sans recours la portée réelle de tous nos mouvements. C'est presque toujours malgré nous que les cellules de nos corps remplissent leur fonction d'harmonie et que se perpétue leur cohésion.

73.

Nous ne savons pas à quel point la moindre de nos pensées influe sur leurs opérations, fait intrusion dans leur ordre, et se manifeste ainsi dans nos corps.

Et quand nous commençons de le percevoir, alors nous touchons aussi le fait de ce miracle constant qui se produit dans la matière, de ce miracle conscient...

Comme une grande comète blanche et or Elle était venue, d'ailleurs et de tous les temps cette puissance d'être, et S'était enfoncée dans la Terre.

Nos yeux ne pleureraient pas le regret ou la honte de Sa traînée fugitive.

Elle S'éclipsait là où nous ne sommes pas encore.

Elle S'occultait là où nous manquons de conscience.

Libre voyageuse de tous les univers, liée d'amour au Besoin dont tout est la forme et le corps, Elle avait porté dans notre substance et logé dans la matière les graines et le ferment d'un grand changement, d'une nouvelle naissance matérielle.

L'homme extérieur n'était pas prêt à L'admettre.

L'homme intérieur luttait encore pour partir, et vénérât encore l'illusion de la mort.

Pourtant l'humain est parvenu aux confins de son monde.

Elle qui sait, pleine de ce qui doit venir, S'est reculée pour mieux construire.

74.

Chacun a sa manière de fuir, de ne pas devenir : on a une prédilection pour le désespoir, ou la révolte, le mutisme ou le bruit, le retrait ou la suractivité.

Mais là, devant ce qui venait de se passer, confrontés à la disparition de Sa référence tangible, l'étendue et la profondeur mêmes de la question qui se posait rendait nulle toute fuite.

C'était plutôt comme d'être passé, sans s'en rendre compte, d'une marche dont la sécurité était cette Certitude par Elle incarnée, à un autre mouvement de progression dont la seule sécurité serait l'intensité d'une question vivante qu'Elle pourrait habiter, par où l'on pourrait La retrouver, plus vrais et plus prêts.

Alors restaient sur la scène des petits hommes, des morceaux d'humain, des représentants de l'impasse, sollicités du dedans d'eux-mêmes par un certain appel qui les faisait se retrouver là, et dans leurs mains les fils d'un chemin multiple, impossible et léger, ou d'une œuvre considérable dont la responsabilité pesait déjà trop lourd.

Et rien à montrer à la foule, que les apparences d'une utopie ambiguë ou d'un luxueux idéal.

75.

Que se passe-t-il, que reste-t-il quand on n'a plus de famille, de clan, de parti, de nation, ni de but vraiment, quand on n'a plus de rival ni d'ennemi, quand on n'a plus rien à fuir ni à revendiquer, plus rien à prouver ni à détruire, plus rien à prendre ni à retenir, que reste-t-il quand on est tout nu, seul avec d'autres aussi nus sur une terre nue devant un avenir nu ?

Quelques mots résonnaient dans ce silence, encore incompris :

« Nous voulons une race sans ego ! »

Cela ne se ferait pas en un jour.

La racine de l'illusion demeure, prête à repousser au dehors au premier geste séparé.

Et elle repoussait. C'était normal.

Mais ses justifications lui étaient retirées. On commençait de voir la chose à vif, de la vivre directement, à la seconde : la séparation ; la coagulation immédiate, dans l'acte, dans la pensée. Crue, et sans fard.

Le problème.

Alors c'était maintenant : il y avait un lopin de terre ; une aide était tangible.

Il faut passer.

On était là sur ce chemin amorcé.

Et il fallait trouver, commencer de trouver ce qui, au monde, à tous les mondes, peut construire l'unité de l'être, l'unité vraie, la vérité solide : ce Roi conscient qui n'exclue ni ne divise, ne mutile ni n'usurpe, ne favorise ni n'occulte, ce Roi qui est, et répand le pouvoir d'être vraiment...

Et quand viendrait à nous le moment, aurions-nous cet héroïsme d'être d'abord imbéciles et seuls, dans un champ de valeurs déracinées, et de sourire, et de continuer... ?

76.

Depuis quelques années j'étais conscient, naturellement et sans effort, à certains moments intérieurs, d'un « nous » dont j'étais un battement et un regard, d'une évidence qui était « nous » ; parfois, en présence d'Elle, j'étais seul ; et parfois, envers Elle, j'étais « nous », ou plutôt, c'était « nous ».

Et j'aimais que cela soit laissé à ses propres rythmes ; j'aimais que la coïncidence de ce « nous » avec l'autre, avec d'autres, dans la vie, soit donnée sans la rechercher, gratuitement, tel un signe de reconnaissance pleine soudain sur le chemin.

Toute forme fixe, extérieure de ce « nous » me semblait hâtive, sinon suspecte.

Car il me semblait que ce « nous » n'était pas nécessairement la somme d'identités précises et déterminées, mais plutôt un état ou un espace naturels à la conscience vraie, un état qu'il fallait se garder d'imiter ; et que l'on accéderait à cet espace sans y penser, chacun suivant sa vérité.

Pourtant je me trouvais là ; membre et part d'un corps qui déjà commençait à s'étiqueter. Comme aux premiers moments de la formation d'un mythe qu'il faudrait un jour ou l'autre démolir et désagrèger.

Il y avait un malaise. Je sentais comme une chute de niveaux.

Ce n'étaient déjà plus des petits bouts d'homme, des apprentis du vrai, projetés dans le grand bain puissant d'une lumière qui savait et ferait, et n'ayant plus qu'une nécessité, celle d'apprendre à s'ouvrir et se donner.

Mais c'étaient déjà ces repousses de nos soi marionnettes, qui parlaient et cogitaient et collaient sur l'idéal leurs idées, et croyaient que cette ville, il fallait « la faire »...

77.

Il ne s'est pas écoulé beaucoup de temps avant que se présente à nous un premier piège, incontournable.

Ceux qui avaient été auprès d'Elle les intermédiaires pour l'élaboration des conditions matérielles, et auxquels Elle avait confié la tâche de canaliser les énergies qui s'offraient à contribuer, une fois délivrés de la présence de Son action imprévisible et souveraine, se sont retrouvés tels qu'ils étaient encore, nivelés à leur propre capacité d'être et de comprendre.

Et leur action a glissé – sans trop de peine – dans le durcissement de la différence et la prétention partielle à un idéal redevenu seulement « spirituel ».

N'ayant plus accès au véritable pouvoir du changement, ils se sont recroquevillés sur les forces moindres des vieux rôles : ils sont devenus les responsables et les propriétaires du chemin.

Sans vergogne et sans regret ils ont repris, à mi-versant du rêve, la position « réaliste » : on a compté les sous.

Et les camps petit à petit, comme un inéluctable, se sont définis.

On marchait à l'envers.

C'étaient les masques lumineux qui tombaient, retardant d'autant le moment où les masques obscurs seraient dissous.

Le grand marasme de la dualité nous reprenait dans son étreinte gluante à jamais incertaine.

78.

Et « nous », de l'autre « côté » ?

Il nous a fallu re-hisser les drapeaux, re-prendre les flambeaux, re-fourbir les codes et les lois et, pour adoucir ce labeur trop connu, adhérer à cette croyance que l'ennemi resurgi nous renforcerait et nous aiderait à construire notre unité ; riant de lui, ce vieil impuissant coléreux et jaloux qui paradait encore sur les ruines fumantes de son monde, qui en fait n'était là que pour ça : pour nous aider et nous stimuler et nous éclaircir...

Et ainsi béait sous nos pas le gouffre d'un piège plus subtil et dangereux, celui de s'en remettre à l'adversité, à l'opposition, pour éveiller notre aspiration – justifiant et légitimant ainsi, dans notre passivité, la nécessité de sa fausse réalité.

Et ainsi la méfiance – juste à côté du rire et de l'héroïsme facile – reprenait ses droits.

Pourtant, péniblement, et douloureusement au regard d'une exigence plus grande, on a fini par la remporter, cette pauvre victoire qui ne décide, finalement, que de presque rien – mais aussi de presque tout, puisqu'elle porte le choix de la direction...

Puisque ces rôles avaient ressuscité de leur côté, il nous fallut bien, avons-nous cru, reprendre les nôtres, et lutter dans les règles, pour rejeter de l'espace réservé au travail l'influence dissolvante et rétrograde, annihilante et avide du vieux mensonge auquel l'homme s'est lié.

Mais la vraie victoire – car, quelque part, elle existe, elle attend – sera d'avoir pu dans le temps, par la force de persévérance d'un choix profond et sûr, réaffirmer, pour Elle, que ce chemin-là et cet Avenir a trouvé dans l'homme sa jetée et son port, et que l'attache y tient bon.

Fatigués dans notre partage, encombrés de soupçons et de petites hontes, un certain nombre de nos images abandonnées à la bataille ou défaits par le temps, mais plus entiers pourtant par un besoin devenu plus matériel, tâtonnant à l'écoute de cette source qui renouvelle, émergeant hésitants d'un cauchemar dont les ombres se meuvent encore sur le chemin, on a peut-être rejoint la ligne de départ, un peu plus humbles par le retard... ?

Il y a ces millions d'instantanés qui ne font jamais une somme.

Et l'on vit. On est là, matériel.

La sève monte, inlassable, dans les plantes et les arbres, portant le feu qui incarne, la force qui manifeste.

Chaque cellule a son code et son parcours, chaque atome est réponse tournoyante au besoin d'être et d'être...

80.

Nos instants diffèrent ; ils sont de nature, de vitesse, de force et de densité différents, et cependant un même temps les égrène, le temps de nos corps, et là se mesure leur vraie puissance dans le devenir.

Partout où se déclare un terrain pour l'expérience, si petit ou restreint soit il, nous avons une règle, une loi ; et seul cet enfant au-dedans peut la dire...

Quand on est, on est ; c'est tout.

Il n'y a pas de « moyens », mais la grâce de ce besoin.

Et là où on n'est pas encore, alors on n'imite pas, on ne prétend pas, on ne touche pas au pouvoir : c'est l'humilité.

A ceux qui ne peuvent pas attendre de grandir vraiment et ne respectent pas la loi, nous disons « chacals ! » - faute de mots, car le chacal est une fonction, il n'y a rien à en dire - et nous tirons leurs masques ; s'ils le voulaient, ils sauraient bien que ce message est d'amour ; mais ils ont choisi de perpétuer l'illusion...

Au cours des années d'après 1973, en ce qui concerne Sa « ville », il y a eu comme trois temps majeurs, ou trois milieux simultanés, interactifs mais distincts.

81.

Le premier de ces trois milieux est celui de cette lutte, souvent ardue et mesquine, pour sauvegarder la possibilité, et préserver les fondements de cette « ville », l'authenticité de son ouverture et de son sens : cette bataille contre ce et ceux qui veulent s'en emparer et la réduire à une vitrine rentable et figée.

Le second est celui dans lequel se manifestent les travers, les contradictions et les impossibles de notre nature d'humains.

Le troisième est celui de l'aspiration et de l'effort constants pour intégrer dans le concret les termes de Sa vision et les tenants de Sa plénitude, sans les trahir ni les dénaturer, mais en s'unissant toujours plus solidement à leur sens. Ainsi ce fut d'abord la publication, laborieusement délivrée des griffes courroucées de ceux qui voulaient vendre une image et subsister de leurs dividendes spirituels incontestés, de toutes ces notes, ces observations et ces tentatives de description qu'Elle avait eu le temps de communiquer de cette mutation lente mais foudroyante, de cette nouvelle naissance matérielle, cette révélation en cours d'un divin matériel.

C'est dans le corps que l'on progresse.

La matière situe l'évolution ; elle est son lieu.

La matière manifeste l'évolution ; elle est son corps.

Nous sommes essentiellement des êtres évolutifs, et c'est en cela que l'homme diffère de toutes les autres créatures.

L'insatisfaction perpétuelle de l'homme, qui toujours l'isole et le démarque, est l'ombre extérieure incomprise de cette grande Poussée en avant, de ce vaste mouvement de révélation progressive et de devenir.

L'homme parfait, l'homme entier, l'homme complet, l'Homme glorieux n'est que le modèle qui soutient nos efforts, l'aimant de notre perfectionnement, et l'étalon de nos proportions relatives. Il est statique.

Il n'est pas notre essence, bien qu'il nous protège encore du vertige de la destruction.

82.

Nos règles, nos structures et nos lois ne sont que les moyens de contrôle et les digues nécessaires pour soumettre une nature indéfinie qui, n'ayant pas trouvé son centre conscient, se livrerait autrement à l'impulsion de mouvements trop effectivement contradictoires.

Il n'y a plus, semble-t-il, d'« espèce humaine », comme il y a des espèces animales, au sens où l'humain s'est dissocié de cet instinct d'équilibre naturel de l'espèce, qui sait reconnaître et préserver les conditions justes de son harmonie.

Et la même dissociation, ou la même perte d'instinct, tend à se produire chez ces espèces animales qui se sont laissées domestiquer par l'homme et lui ont permis, dans leur confiance inconditionnelle, de les manipuler à des niveaux essentiels.

Nous avons encore ce qui ressemble à l'instinct animal de reproduction, mais partiellement seulement et sans, justement, ce discernement instinctif des conditions favorables. Nous ne nous perpétons ainsi que parce que nous n'avons vaincu ni la déchéance physique ni la mort – parce que nous n'avons pas dépassé la nécessité de la mort inconsciente.

83.

Nous nous perpétons parce que nous ne savons pas progresser consciemment, nous ne savons pas appeler, devenir, nous ne savons pas choisir.

Notre petitesse ne sait pas disparaître ; alors elle nous étouffe et nous étrangle ; sa ténacité nous lasse et nous use jusqu'à ce que, las de nos murs et de nos ornières, nous appelions la délivrance, et accueillions la possibilité même de ne plus être.

D'autres, issus de nous-même, chair de notre chair, seront, et continueront.

Nous perpétons encore, avec une conviction diminuée, et une passivité accrue, la domination humaine sur la Terre.

Le maître du royaume de la Terre : l'homme un ami et l'hôte attendu et bienvenu, mais aussi l'homme l'étranger, l'homme l'ombre, et la Nature se rétracte, violente.

Et à présent que nous avons investi la terre entière de notre vacarme avide et que nous ne connaissons même plus, ou si rarement encore, ces moments terriens de communion reconnaissante qui nous faisaient murmurer dans nos cœurs « oh, pour ce seul instant, tout cela valait la peine... », ces secondes d'une extase simple et pleine où tout participe et se joint, la fleur, la rosée, le pourpre et l'arbre et la plaine et le sol qui bat, matériel – à présent que ces instants mêmes sont exclus de notre expérience matérielle et que partout nous rencontrons l'image de notre manque, quelque chose nous dit pourtant : « Attends ! C'est là ! Le levier, la joie... ! »

84.

Dans le contexte de cette « ville », tournant sur l'axe de cet idéal trop grand et trop évident pour l'étroitesse craintive de nos exclusivismes – cet idéal d'unité, par delà les races, les religions, les cultures, les partis, qui carillonne à toute volée l'appel impératif à devenir -, la véhémence de nos petitesse a resurgi la même, mais plus pauvre d'être dénudée.

Toute notre manière politique d'exister,

Nos subterfuges et nos vertus, nos ouvertures passives, nos lâchetés, nos rejets opiniâtres,
 Notre complaisance, notre crasse et nos refus,
 Notre insuffisance à aimer,
 Nos combats de coqs, nos ostracismes,
 Nos calculs, nos complicités,
 Nos raisons, nos indignations, nos révoltes frelatées,
 Nos plaintes et nos revendications, notre désordre,
 Nos peurs, notre misère, nos démons,
 Nos victimes, nos martyrs et nos bouffons, nos opinions, nos images, nos violences,
 Toute la foule habituelle de nos hôtes et l'insidieuse omniprésence du conflit, est revenue peupler la question.

85.

Il y a en nous, comme une brûlure consciente, la marque vivante de Son cri :
 « Le temps est venu du gouvernement de l'âme ! ».

Gouverner par le regard paisible et fort de cet être profond en nous, qui croît dans le silence et la lumière, l'incorruptible, le guerrier, le frère, le libre serviteur du Sens, le découvreur du chemin.

Gouverner soi-même et sa nature, sans contrainte arbitraire, libres de la nécessité abrutissante d'avoir à recourir aux formes extérieures de la loi, libres de la prison dénaturante des rôles.

Une anarchie claire et tranquille à la recherche constante d'une harmonie progressive, à l'écoute du changement, à la libre découverte de méthodes nouvelles au service d'un déploiement de vérité...

Et quelque part dans notre conscience à peine éveillée la silhouette imprécise d'une hiérarchie magique et spontanée, comme un organisme de vérité où chaque être irait infailliblement à son juste degré, occuperait sans errer la fonction de sa capacité, où la Force trouverait ses corps justes à leur juste place pour son action pleine, et chacun aurait, de la station unique et irremplaçable de son état, la conscience directe de l'Un et la richesse innombrable de l'unité...

86.

Et alors que se tendait en nous l'arc de cet idéal encore impraticable, rêve ou chimère ou folie, et le besoin de vivre ici sa réalité, de la mettre en mouvement dans la matière, de la vérifier et de l'éprouver et de s'unir à elle, il nous semblait en fait nous enfoncer dans l'épaisseur d'un compromis, d'être tirés par la masse d'une inertie, qui avait aussi notre visage.

Alors, la lucidité ancienne de l'imperturbable Témoin nous calmait doucement, et nous montrait les données de la tâche, et nous enseignait les rudiments d'un réalisme ouvert, au service du changement.

Car la participation et l'offrande doivent être intégrales, ou le changement ne nous concernera pas.

Le gouvernement par les autres n'a jamais été et ne sera jamais qu'un pis-aller, une violence et un compromis.

Les structures et les institutions sont les signes de notre infirmité. Les seules qui soient acceptables sont celles qui se perçoivent elles-mêmes, à travers leurs représentants, comme les instruments d'une protection nécessaire au service du développement des individus.

87.

Et l'on butte sur un premier écueil.

D'une part, et d'une manière générale, l'humanité dans son mouvement de rencontre avec elle-même en tous points, a brisé en même temps les limites des contextes naturels au sein desquels progressaient les individus ; déraciné de son milieu, exposé à des influences contradictoires, chacun se trouve dépossédé de cette protection naturelle qui l'aidait à définir ses propres besoins et priorités.

Et d'autre part, selon ses besoins intérieurs d'expérience et de découverte, les besoins extérieurs de l'individu changent ; il n'existe pas de mesure uniforme dont l'application extérieure ne soit, ne serait profondément fautive et insatisfaisante, sinon asservissante et mutilante.

Dans une société libre, libre au moins dans ses fondations comme dans son orientation, il faut donc laisser à chacun le libre accès aux ressources et aux moyens de se développer.

Cela implique que deux conditions doivent être remplies : l'une est l'engagement de l'individu à une honnêteté et une transparence dans la définition de ses propres besoins ; et l'autre une confiance de la part de tous en la capacité de chacun de découvrir son propre chemin sans accaparer plus qu'il ne lui est nécessaire, et dans le respect des besoins d'autrui.

Là se trouvent, dans la transition multiforme à une harmonie plus consciente, les termes d'un premier contrat social inévitable.

Lorsqu'on se trouve physiquement prisonnier d'une société sclérosée au point d'exercer une violence active et permanente sur la liberté essentielle de l'individu, ainsi dans le cas d'une dictature, il semble toujours qu'il n'y ait qu'une alternative à la lâcheté, la trahison et l'obéissance servile, et c'est la lutte active, le rassemblement sous une bannière et un emblème de libération qui ait le pouvoir momentané de dissoudre nos peurs et d'instiller en nous le sens dynamique du sacrifice, de la dignité, de l'héroïsme ; dans un mouvement de stimulation et de persuasion mutuelles, nous parvenons au moins à sauver notre intégrité – car pour l'homme moral, la perte du respect de soi est pire que la mort.

Il arrive que l'on atteigne la victoire, et déloge l'opresseur.

Et chacune de ces victoires est une victoire de l'humanité sur ses démons intérieurs.

Il est rare toutefois que l'on ait clairement vu et éprouvé ce qui en nous avait évoqué, autorisé et suscité la formation et la cristallisation d'une situation si extrême, il est rare que l'on ait touché les causes et les mécanismes de cette lente défaite qui avait précédé son règne.

89.

Il était une chose que l'on pouvait d'emblée comprendre aisément, puisque nous nous trouvions rassemblés là par le libre choix individuel de participer à une tentative dont le but déclaré était d'une envergure et d'une portée intérieure au moins terrestres, et cela concernait la relation des individus aux biens matériels.

Ni l'étendue de cette terre rendue disponible, ni rien de ce qui s'y développerait, s'y bâtirait, s'y inscrirait, ne pouvait et ne pourrait appartenir à personne en particulier, ni même à aucun groupement.

Aussi longtemps que nous séjournions là, nous en serions les garants et les responsables devant l'homme et devant la Force, et ce serait seulement dans la mesure de notre capacité à prendre soin de la matière et de la terre que nous nous acquitterions de cette tâche et pourrions jouir de leur utilisation.

Il y avait là un autre écueil.

Il est possible, nous l'avons vu sans tarder, d'intervenir dans le libre apprentissage de cette loi claire et ouverte, et de la transcrire en une loi autoritaire et artificielle ; et, l'appliquant à la lettre lorsqu'on le juge opportun, à des fins guère avouables, de manipuler le mouvement des êtres.

Il nous fallut donc, dès que le premier ennemi apparent fut repoussé de la scène, qui nous avait révélé ce danger, rechercher les moyens de nous garder, et tous les participants à venir, de la possibilité d'une telle manipulation.

Reconnaissant que nous étions encore incapables d'établir une hiérarchie éclairée, faute de représentants dont la nature serait suffisamment transformée pour être à l'évidence imperméable à toute partialité et tout aveuglement, nous nous sommes trouvés dans la nécessité de susciter la formation d'une variété d'organes, de canaux et de digues, dont la fonction commune serait de tamiser les choix et les décisions – mais dont l'un des effets serait aussi d'en diluer et d'en alourdir l'action.

Et à mesure que s'exprimait cette recherche, avec ses hésitations, ses reculs et ses petits pas en avant, et que se développait doucement en nous une certaine qualité d'intuition et de discernement détaillé de la nature de tout mouvement, il semblait aussi que cette grande impulsion créatrice, voyant son courant s'enfoncer dans les sables de nos méandres et s'amenuiser dans le jardin décevant de notre laborieuse aventure, s'en retournait planer tel un grand oiseau déployé, un peu impatient, à la lisière de l'expérience.

Nous faisons figure un peu timorée ; et l'on ne savait guère comment regimber les niveaux.

91.

En laissant grossir l'ombre de l'ennemi, de l'adversaire, notre contact conscient et confiant avec l'Action véritable s'était voilé.

Nous appréhendions partout le monstre à mille visages de sa résurgence imperturbable ; sa possible ubiquité drainait nos énergies et corrompait notre accord.

Le mythe de notre unité s'effritait de toutes part.

Si on le veut bien, avec un peu d'humilité et de plasticité, tout est une occasion de progrès ; les erreurs aussi.

Matériellement et pratiquement, l'organisme d'une société libre s'était précisé ; du blanc de l'idéal, par le flou de nos idées, dans la découverte quotidienne des implications du chemin, comme l'embryon d'un organisme adaptable s'était formé.

Il y avait maintenant besoin pour chacun de trouver ou retrouver son propre accès direct et libre d'influences à la force et la lumière du chemin, à la présence qui seule compte, et de passer à une compréhension plus vraie et mieux éprouvée de notre multiplicité.

D'apprendre, seul aussi, à percevoir directement les nécessités de l'unité.

92.

Il y a généralement une grande confusion à propos du pouvoir.

Nous avons élaboré, comme en tangente du problème, diverses méthodes pour identifier le dédale des conséquences d'une dissociation du pouvoir propre à l'individu : le pouvoir de choisir.

Nos cultures, presque sans exception, nous conditionnent à soumettre notre volonté consciente à toutes sortes de structures, de formes et d'images qui l'éloignent de sa propre référence vivante.

Transmissibles, ces structures sont devenues de plus en plus complexes dans le temps ; et même lorsque certaines d'entre elles sont finalement brisées ou rejetées comme des carcans devenus trop insupportables, la cause subtile de leur formation, qui justifia leur rôle, demeure agissante.

L'« éducation », nous nous en apercevons maintenant que nous sommes tous confrontés à l'universelle débâcle de nos valeurs, comme à notre impuissance à contrecarrer les effets endémiques de notre misère intérieure, était devenue synonyme d'un terrorisme intellectuel, moral et culturel par lequel nous reproduisons la même perpétuelle infirmité et nous rendions incapables de choisir.

93.

Les conséquences de cette infirmité s'éprouvent à chaque instant de notre vie, qu'elle soit « publique » ou « privée ». Elles s'inscrivent dans chaque relation, si anodine soit-elle, de l'individu à l'autre et aux autres, à l'environnement, mais aussi dans chaque perception que l'individu a de soi-même, de l'existence et du monde.

Elle, en Son ultime et libre bon sens, a tenté, parmi ceux qui s'étaient réunis autour d'Elle, d'inculquer le sens d'une « éducation » qui, au contraire, assisterait l'être individuel dans la croissance solide de son propre contact direct et unique à la vérité du monde.

Une éducation qui serait une présence attentive, disponible, en éveil, au service de la libre découverte de soi, du dynamisme propre à chaque existence ; qui mettrait à la disposition de l'enfant et de l'adolescent les éléments et les clés de connaissance physique, pratique, psychologique et spirituelle dont spontanément il exprimerait le besoin ; qui accompagnerait sa découverte du monde pas à pas, et sa reconnaissance progressive de sa propre cause profonde, de son propre choix essentiel d'exister et de participer, de ses propres moyens de remplir sa fonction parmi les autres, de contribuer à l'évolution et de servir ses buts, de s'unir à ses rythmes...

Une éducation qui aiderait l'enfant à préserver et développer sa liberté de choisir et de manifester ; qui l'aiderait à percevoir les nécessités communes réelles, dans une lumière impartiale ; qui l'aiderait à conserver, approfondir, élargir, préciser, et vérifier ses propres ressources intérieures originales, à garder le sens vivant de son appartenance à la grande Source d'être, et des termes de son propre engagement.

Une éducation qui implique évidemment, de la part de ceux qui s'offrent à en être les agents, la réalisation d'une certaine transparence, et des qualités conscientes d'attention, de patience, de discernement et d'intuition.

Dans cette « ville », nous étions alors encore loin de remplir ces conditions. Emergeant à peine nous-mêmes du réseau restreignant de la grande confusion, pervertis dans nos mouvements et ignorants de l'équilibre, encore encombrés et noués, nous ne pouvions guère prétendre à cette compréhension active et sereine. Nous étions autant de matière brute, dans un grand désordre de notions, d'espairs et de croyances, sur un terrain désert, à pied d'œuvre et sans guide apparent.

Pourtant, des enfants, il y en avait déjà parmi nous, et beaucoup d'autres sont bientôt venus.

Miroirs de nous-mêmes et rappels vivants, et constants, des conditions réelles du travail, récipiends de nos peurs mais porteurs et emblèmes de l'idéal, répondant d'instinct à l'appel de la liberté, baromètres infaillibles des mouvements des forces, et reflets immédiats de nos conflits.

95.

Par la spontanéité de leur don de soi, par la nudité de leurs réponses, et l'honnêteté de leur ouverture, par la sécurité de leur référence innée à la grande coulée de force et de présence, dans la joie intègre de leur épanouissement, comme en leur grotesque caricature de nos grimaces, par leurs peines soudaines et leur refus, dans leur besoin de mouvement et la candeur de leur rapport aux énergies, par l'absolu de leur confiance dans le monde et l'être et la vie, ils ont fait plus pour la perception vivante du chemin que toutes nos pensées et nos efforts réunis.

Dans leurs grands yeux vibrant du Possible on se retrouvait soi-même à prier, et quand leurs petits corps disaient simplement la douleur et le manque, la futilité de notre propre clameur s'éteignait de honte ; ils nous montraient, sans mots, sans calculs, l'éternelle erreur d'être dur et séparé.

En eux Son grand cri se répand, et ce regard inflexible sur l'immense besoin de vérité.

96.

Il y a le pouvoir, et il y a le Pouvoir.

Il y a notre pouvoir de choisir, que nous ne savons encore ni reconnaître, ni vivre, ni développer.

Et il y a la grande coulée de Puissance, partout dans l'espace et le temps, ce seul Pouvoir absolu, qui brûle et détruit quiconque cherche à s'en emparer.

Notre pouvoir de choisir, nous l'avons de nous-mêmes aliéné.

Nous avons fragmenté et distribué aveuglément la responsabilité de choix qui ne concernent que nous-même. Nous demandons à l'autre de représenter pour nous les termes du choix et d'exercer notre propre capacité de choisir.

Ainsi nous faisons-nous mutuellement violence.

Avec la multiplication de ce subterfuge, la distance a grandi entre ces représentations et nous-mêmes, individus.

Le gouffre s'est creusé.

L'instrument est devenu autonome ; il agit loin, là-bas, au sommet ou à quelque point figé de notre douteux édifice, ou même ici, tout près, à côté de soi, mais de l'autre côté vraiment d'une paroi d'incommunicabilité.

Et si nous cherchons d'aventure à remédier à ce gigantesque artifice, nous nous voyons forcés de le faire dans des termes généraux qui sont une absurde approximation de notre besoin réel, celui de réapprendre à choisir.

97.

Nous nous reprochons mutuellement et sans cesse, soit d'intervenir et d'interférer dans nos choix individuels, soit de s'abstenir ou d'être inefficaces dans notre intervention.

Ce n'est pas ainsi que nous trouverons la solution.

Ce n'est pas ainsi que nous pourrons déblayer l'espace de notre communication.

C'est à chaque individu qu'il incombe de rappeler et de réunir en soi-même la capacité de former ses propres choix et d'en vérifier la qualité comme la vérité par les conséquences qu'ils ont dans notre vie et surtout dans notre conscience.

Il nous faut à chacun trouver cette foi et ce courage, comme un service que nous devons nous rendre, et rendre à l'homme.

Comment pourrons-nous autrement décanter la confusion dans laquelle nous vivons, ou offrir au changement le mélange que nous sommes ?

Car notre infirmité se manifeste en tous points, dans notre rapport à l'autre comme dans notre rapport au divin, dans notre expérience physique et humaine comme dans notre expérience spirituelle.

98.

Elle est l'hydre fatidique dont nous couvrons tous les visages sur le chemin.

C'est par la projection de son ombre que nous éloignons ce qui est sublime de ce qui est ordinaire, que nous neutralisons l'harmonie réconciliante du vrai, que nous nions à la vie la possibilité et l'aspiration même de s'offrir et de se transformer.

De notre absolu besoin de l'autre nous faisons un drame perpétuel.

Nous vivons ce besoin comme une dépendance, et non comme l'espace profondément bon et nécessaire d'une alchimie révélatrice, et la sûre découverte d'une inépuisable conscience d'être.

Nous nous gardons constamment du choc ineffaçable de tout contact profond et direct qui dérangerait l'ordre exigü de notre exclusive pauvreté.

Dans cette exclusivité nous enfermons le petit nombre de ceux qui, pour des raisons similaires, peuvent en accepter les termes, et arbitrairement déplaçons le reste du monde à distance et « au dehors », posant ainsi les bornes d'une fausse sécurité qu'il faudra briser encore et encore, et souvent dans la douleur, pour grandir et progresser.

A ce « divin » généralement hypothétique nous allouons, comme à soi-même et à l'autre, une place et un rôle.

Et lorsque la réalité de l'expérience devient trop impérieuse et fracasse nos limites, nous sortons de la vie dans une folie mystique, nous devenons des illuminés de dieu, de respectables inutiles auxquels une fonction est gardée dans le drame, ou bien des sages, que leurs disciples consomment et sacrifient.

99.

Ainsi notre monde est-il devenu ce grand status quo ; nous en avons exploré, défini et masqué toutes les avenues de liberté, c'est un grand possible qui s'est clos.

Nous avons gagné le répit de quelques illusions finales, l'illusion du pouvoir et de la maîtrise par la séduction de la machine, l'illusion de l'aventure par l'explosion provoquée des sensations ou des perceptions du mental, l'illusion de la liberté par la révision brutale de nos morales.

Mais le vrai pouvoir, la vraie maîtrise, la vraie aventure et la vraie liberté d'un Etat conscient physique, intégral, progressif et ouvert, sur la Terre, dans la Matière, il nous faut, pour les trouver, évoluer.

Et il ne s'agit d'aucune évolution psychologique, d'aucune amélioration physique, que nous puissions par nos propres efforts accomplir.

Il s'agit d'un changement d'état.

Il nous faut apprendre à nous donner à Cela qui peut ouvrir le passage.

Et pour s'y donner, il faut d'abord le reconnaître et le choisir.

100.

C'est là. Ca aime et Ca veut.

On est des riens dans cette Coulée. Et pourtant, on est très importants.

Il nous faut de la confiance et de la transparence pour aider et participer.

Il nous faut être à l'écoute, et y porter chacun de nos petits et de nos grands choix, comme des enfants qui vibrent tranquillement de leurs fleurs ramassées, avec la confiance active que tout a un sens, que le grand Devenir est réalité vivante, et qu'il nous faut seulement apprendre à ne plus, désormais, nous en séparer.

Tout petit j'avais le sens aigu de certaines dualités, auxquels je semblais être particulièrement lié, et dont les pôles opposés semblaient, à valeur et intensité égales, être inscrits dans mon expérience : masculin, féminin ; proche, lointain ; humain, étranger.

Elles m'exposaient autant aux chocs de leur vérification extérieure qu'à l'étouffement de ma participation à un monde d'où les moyens de leur expression étaient absents, ou refoulés.

101.

Par la force des contradictions que ces dualités révélaient ou soulignaient dans la vie, elles m'ont obligé à chercher, à discerner, identifier et éprouver l'état qui les soutient également, et à découvrir et évaluer la viabilité de sa pratique.

J'ai plus tard appris que, dans notre passé, ce n'est qu'au sein de sociétés dont la vertu présidente n'était pas la raison intellectuelle mais une intuition plus profonde – quelque part à la jonction de la vie, du mental et de l'esprit –, que la manifestation individuelle de ces dualités particulières était reconnue et acceptée. Mais encore l'était-elle avec des précautions spéciales, et une fonction spéciale lui était-elle assignée, et un certain isolement fait de révérence et d'une crainte « sacrée ».

Il semble qu'il soit encore très difficile pour nous de simplement laisser être et jouer ces dualités, sans jeter toutes nos forces d'un côté ou de l'autre de la balance, tant elles contredisent notre sens de l'identité.

Pourtant, dans une mesure, chacun de nous porte ces dualités ; elles agissent en chaque être uniquement et nous perdons beaucoup, pour notre connaissance du monde, à les manipuler ou à les refouler.

Cette même crainte, et parfois cette terreur, de voir notre identité contredite par des forces apparemment opposées, dont nous sommes nous-mêmes porteurs, nous l'avons reportée, comme tout le reste, sur notre appréhension du spirituel et du divin.

102.

Puisque nous avons créé un « dieu le Père », il nous a bien fallu ménager un espace, plus ou moins secret, pour la déesse mère ; ou inversement !

Notre sens même du divin est tronqué, divisé.

Notre perception même de ce qui parvient à notre conscience emmurée d'une source suprême ou centrale est abîmée, dénaturée par ces mêmes valeurs.

Et ainsi pendant des âges l'esprit, ou le suprême, ne pouvait se trouver, si toutefois nous lui concédions une situation quelconque, que très loin de nous, à d'immenses distances ; et s'il semblait qu'il nous avait envoyé un émissaire, sur notre plan, alors cet émissaire devait nécessairement souffrir avec nous, partager tout notre drame, chair dans notre chair et jusqu'au bout, pour nous racheter dans l'au-delà.

Mais ici, dans la vie et sur la Terre, il ne pouvait y avoir de divin entier, puisque nous-mêmes ne l'étions pas.

Alors, peut-être, que nous commençons par nous libérer nous-mêmes ou par libérer ce divin, l'effet sera le même.

En termes de conscience, l'on verra, l'on grandira.

L'Inconnu est devant nous.

103.

Si nous Lui donnions le crédit que l'on donnerait à la fois à un frère, un ami, une mère, un amant, une épouse, un enfant, une clairière, une galaxie, un maître, la rivière, un apprenti, la foudre, le soleil, la mélodie, si on Lui rendait enfin toutes Ses formes et tout Son pouvoir et l'on se tournait au-dedans ou dans l'instant, là, simplement, vers une main, une présence, un regard...

Il y a, pour notre conscience, encore deux niveaux dans le choix, dont la confusion et le mélange engendrent toutes nos difficultés : une surface et une profondeur.

C'est le fruit que nous ne savons goûter.

Le choix profond ne peut pas être d'un objet, d'une finalité.

Le choix profond est essentiellement une orientation, l'adhésion de l'être à une direction.

Il est qualité vivante, perception d'un courant, manifestation d'un besoin essentiel.

Et Il devient, dans sa pratique, le regard et le discernement actif de ce besoin.

Il devient courage et fidélité.

Tous nos malentendus proviennent de ne tenter la pratique que d'un choix de surface, un choix entre des objets, entre des finalités qui s'opposent ou se contredisent. Ce choix superficiel fait intervenir les préférences, les opinions, les positions, les réactions, et toute la cohue de notre mental dissocié, et tout le poids de son jugement qui repose sur la dualité.

L'in substantialité de nos choix produit la nécessité de recourir à des moyens arbitraires et extérieurs pour les affirmer et les effectuer, alors que leur superficialité même les rend inaptes à traiter les causes des disharmonies auxquelles ils prétendent remédier.

Dans une aventure commune dont le fondement est la liberté au service de la découverte et de la manifestation d'une vie plus consciente et plus vraie, d'une unité progressive, l'on réalise que, tant que chaque participant ne pratique pas le choix profond et ne développe pas la perception centrale d'une direction et d'une orientation qui graduellement se révèle et s'affirme dans la vie, cette confiance collective qui seule permet une organisation ouverte et plastique aux nécessités imprévisibles du chemin est impossible, ou demeure entravée.

On se voit alors contraint de reprendre l'usage des vieux artifices, et d'avoir encore recours à cette parodie du pouvoir : l'autorité, le pouvoir de décider et d'appliquer.

On réalise que cette communication directe des êtres qui apprendraient mutuellement les uns des autres par le fait constant de leur aventure et de leur découvertes individuelles, demeure prisonnière de nos jugements extérieurs et partiels, étouffée par les images de nos manques ; et que cette richesse croissante d'être nombreux à chercher et révéler, d'être ensemble les découvreurs complémentaires du chemin, demeure réduite, étranglée par une idée sans pouvoir de notre unité.

105.

On réalise que le partage de notre expérience de l'idéal et de sa force consciente, comme de la surprise de son action, de l'épreuve de sa portée et de sa vérité dans la vie et la matière, demeure englué, stagne dans la formation d'exclusivismes et de subtiles rigidités.

Confrontés au brassage localisé de plusieurs races et de nombreuses cultures, on réalise que, tant que chaque individu présent au travail n'a pas choisi l'homme, l'universel, la conscience, n'a pas éprouvé suffisamment le besoin de ce choix qui est orientation et ouverture à un changement d'état, l'on retourne, dans l'ensemble et malgré l'évidence de l'appel, à l'ornière de l'habitude et aux complicités raciales et culturelles.

Le monde se referme, à nouveau cloisonné.

Il est impossible et insensé d'abolir les genres, les structures, les classes, les cultures, les races, tant que l'individu ne choisit pas la conscience, d'un choix profond, plutôt qu'entre ses formes présentes, dans un choix de préférence.

Le choix de la conscience et le choix évolutif sont un.

106.

Je tente ici de mettre à jour quelques-unes des leçons issues d'une expérience collective qui se poursuit, et qui n'a de sens justement que par ce qu'elle révèle à la fois des difficultés humaines et planétaires que nous vivons tous aujourd'hui et, non pas de leur solution, mais de la possibilité de leur disparition par, et dans, l'émergence d'une compréhension autre, et plus vraie.

Cette compréhension n'est pas elle-même la force qui transformera notre nature et nous fera passer à l'étape suivante, dans un autre état, matériel et conscient ; mais elle peut, parce qu'elle atteint la cause de nos faux problèmes, de nos problèmes relatifs, nous permettre d'accéder à une transparence, et à une perception éclaircie du pas qui nous attend, et de sa réalité.

Elle peut nous rendre à un équilibre et une harmonie suffisants, un milieu d'ouverture au sein duquel, ici et là et selon des critères que notre pensée seule ne peut identifier, un rapport avec le prochain état pourra commencer de s'établir. Et elle peut nous aider à défaire, et dépasser, la possibilité même de la catastrophe.

Si j'ai indiqué certains aspects de mon expérience personnelle, c'est peut-être par fidélité à ce mouvement d'éclaircissement qui va du subjectif vers l'objectif, de l'individu vers l'universel, ou qui naît de leur rencontre.

Le fil directeur qui m'a guidé ici est l'importance cruciale du choix, comme contribution à la grande Question.

107.

La pratique du choix est progressive.

On part de l'état de conscience que l'on a, dans la direction d'un état de conscience que l'on perçoit à peine ou que l'on devine, et ce mouvement même est un état qui se transforme et transforme la perception du but.

On accepte les erreurs comme les indications de l'évolution de notre choix.

On apprend à libérer la vie de ses masques de juge et de censeur, en se référant de plus en plus consciemment à la source intérieure de notre choix, en lui donnant de plus en plus notre confiance.

Un individu entier, uni, n'est plus la petite personne frontale, mais quelqu'un, qui a appris à choisir la vérité de son être – malgré les pressions et les influences de la société et d'autrui.

A chaque instant et en toute circonstance l'individu a la liberté d'un choix vivant : celui d'unir sa conscience active à tel ou tel état, telle ou telle intensité, tel ou tel besoin dans l'être, et de laisser l'orientation de ce choix imprimer les mouvements de la vie, susciter la réponse multiple des événements, produire sa propre incidence, frayer sa course ; silencieusement, et sans pensée.

108.

Elle, pour tous ceux dont le besoin d'être s'est éveillé, a manifesté et porté au monde l'objectivité d'une présence, d'une onde et d'un état de vérité.

Un état qui, si nous lui donnons la force de notre choix, peut tout changer.

Et plus nous nous en approchons, et nous ouvrons à sa portée, plus nous approchons du corps – de la conscience dans la matière.

De la Conscience une, totale et entière.

Dans cette tentative, cette « ville » qui est peut-être surtout une sorte de laboratoire où le procédé du changement est recherché, les données et les termes de la question humaine sont représentés.

Les énergies avec lesquelles l'homme s'est allié, les moyens, les méthodes et les pratiques qu'il a élaborés dans le passé pour accéder à un semblant d'harmonie, de cohérence et d'équilibre, sont aussi représentés et, en proportion de la distance qui nous séparent encore du procédé de demain, réclament leurs droits.

109.

Forts de leurs réalisations antécédentes, ils insistent pour nous garder dans la sécurité relative d'un tracé déjà parcouru.

Les disciplines psychologiques et spirituelles, les structures de la séparation, les rapports établis à l'autre comme au divin, les implications ordinaires de la sujétion à l'argent, au pouvoir, à la machine, à la science, la technologie, la médecine et à toutes les améliorations du même traitement de notre manque d'être, pèsent encore sur nos choix.

Vouloir tous les rejeter équivaut à une fuite en avant, stérile, insensée.

Se rendre à leur empire revient à se tromper soi-même et repousser ailleurs, ou loin dans le temps, la réalité du changement.

Reconnaître leur persistance et tenter de découvrir le procédé de leur ouverture, ou de leur défaite, par l'évolution de ce qui en nous leur correspond, peut prendre la forme d'un compromis difficile à vivre, mais reflète objectivement notre condition et les termes de notre transition.

La priorité est à une orientation de plus en plus consciente, à son choix renouvelé. Au besoin qui l'exprime et l'incarne.

110.

Chaque mouvement doit bien avoir sa vérité, que l'on ne peut identifier qu'en étant soi-même un peu décanté, un peu libéré, un peu plus capable de choix.

C'est dans notre utilisation des énergies que nous nous trompons.

Dans Sa « ville » nous apprenons à regarder l'argent comme une force spécifique encore nécessaire sur le Terre, dont la génération et l'usage doivent être mis au service de la création des conditions favorables à l'harmonie d'une vie plus vraie ; comme une force impersonnelle, qui ne peut être appropriée sans perdre sa vérité créatrice ; une force qui doit couler et circuler sans cesse, se transformant sans cesse et partout en formes et instruments d'une vie individuelle et collective orientée ; une force dont l'hypnotisme ne peut être éclairé et dissous dans notre conscience que par la pratique d'un usage transparent, fait de reconnaissance et de libre respect ; une force qui doit être progressivement retirée des mains de ceux qui l'accaparent et la retiennent et en étranglent ou en précipitent le flot et le mouvement à leurs propres fins, pour être canalisée par ceux-là qui sont capables d'en faire un usage désintéressé, exact, conscient...

111.

L'argent est une force subtile dont le support est physique dans son signe et sa convention.

Le respect et l'attention qui sont nécessaires à son usage vrai, sont d'autant plus impératifs pour l'utilisation et le maniement des forces matérielles dont l'homme est parvenu, dans l'ambivalence de sa recherche, à s'assurer une maîtrise relative.

Plus on s'approche de la matière, plus on pénètre dans son domaine, et plus on touche à la totalité du monde et de la vie.

Et plus les conséquences de nos choix sont générales, plus notre responsabilité est grande...

Notre apprentissage de la matière s'est fait à contre sens.

Car si notre choix et notre orientation – et notre intention – avaient été clairs, nous serions à présent illuminés dans notre existence d'homme par l'unité que la matière nous révèle. Notre conscience en aurait grandi d'autant, alors que nous avons surtout démesurément amplifié l'ombre de notre « moi ».

Le fait est pourtant que notre conscience s'est développée. Mais pour le savoir, pour l'éprouver vraiment, il nous faut d'abord nous libérer de l'obscur péril de nos contradictions.

112.

Pour bien comprendre ce que la connaissance ou l'usage vrais des forces physiques et matérielles requièrent de notre conscience, il nous faut trouver, ou retrouver, le contact intérieur direct à l'identité de la Terre, à son rôle et sa fonction véritables dans l'évolution, comme à la vérité vivante de tout ce qu'elle porte, soutient et recèle, et à la profondeur et l'intimité qui nous unissent à elle.

Il nous faut réaliser la divinité de la matière.

L'usage de ces forces peut, comme nous le voyons, conduire à un assujettissement et une aliénation de plus en plus tyranniques, à faire de la Terre un désert invivable et puant et de l'homme un désert intérieur ; ou, plus brutalement, à anéantir le corps du possible et de l'expérience.

Et il peut nous mener à une simplicité évoluée de la vie physique, à une libération du temps ; nous permettre l'exploration et la découverte de formes nouvelles plus adaptées à notre besoin d'être ; nous aider à nous délivrer progressivement de l'esclavage aux nécessités physiques quotidiennes ; ouvrir l'espace de notre expérience et nous assister dans l'évolution de nos choix.

Tout est lié.

Dans notre monde aujourd'hui, c'est le mésusage du pouvoir de l'argent qui détermine négativement notre orientation dans la découverte et l'utilisation des forces matérielles.

113.

Dans une vie commune dont le principe à manifester est une anarchie divine, une spontanéité consciente, la créativité de chaque être doit s'unir à sa vérité et en devenir l'expression.

Ce que nous appelons parfois l'art et parfois la culture et parfois la science, est encore l'expression de toutes les influences contradictoires d'une réalité fragmentée, divisée, séparée, arbitraire.

En apprenant à se référer à l'unique validité de sa propre présence au monde, l'individu redécouvre les formes en explorant ses propres affinités au créé comme au possible, et sa propre réceptivité à l'avenir.

Sa créativité se révèle alors selon des rythmes et des intensités qui lui seront particuliers ; sa communication avec le monde se précise et devient le médium de sa libre participation.

A mesure que l'individu se pressent et se perçoit comme une manifestation évolutive de la Conscience parmi d'innombrables autres manifestations, sa créativité s'unit à sa cause, emplit sa vie et son corps, dans une nouvelle relation au monde, directe et mutuelle.

L'essence de ces instants privilégiés de rencontre et d'union, ou de fusion, que l'artiste connaît au sommet de son art et qui lui procure la plénitude de l'accomplissement, ou de ces instants d'intuition blanche révélée, de communion avec les lois profondes de la matière et de la vie que le savant, le chercheur, ou l'inventeur éprouve à l'apex de son travail, est l'indication d'un état de conscience dont la créativité est une force native.

Créativité, communion, révélation, sont des mouvements de force consciente – de Conscience Force.

Apprenant à choisir, nous apprenons à discerner de quoi nous nous faisons les porteurs et les véhicules, et à exiger de nous-même une contribution réelle et non plus la satisfaction de son illusion.

Devenant conscients de notre responsabilité créative, nous connaissons le respect du monde.

La vie entière devient le champ d'un dédie ment libre et offrant.

La créativité unit le sujet et l'objet : leur accord se révèle.

Rassemblant notre capacité de choisir, nous retrouvons la créativité de notre être.

Et nous réalisons aussi que l'espace premier de cette créativité est notre propre personne, physique et vivante : le sens de l'incarnation se fait jour.

115.

La plupart des disciplines spirituelles avaient pour assomption majeure que l'objet, ou le but, de nos efforts était séparé de nous, soit par une indifférence à l'égard de la création, soit par quelque faute originelle que nous aurions commise, soit encore par une succession de niveaux ou d'états qui lui étaient étrangers ou extérieurs, qu'il nous fallait donc apprendre à franchir, dont les forces et les énergies devaient être apprivoisées ou maîtrisées.

D'une manière ou d'une autre il y avait toujours, entre la Cause et le créé, entre le divin et nous-même, entre l'esprit et la forme, une division, ou une distance, ou une paroi, ou une vaste illusion que nous ne pouvions transcender qu'au prix de formidables efforts et de terribles épreuves par lesquels notre ferveur et notre sincérité étaient éprouvées et mesurées.

La vie elle-même était un piège ou une absurdité ou, au mieux, une étape initiatique nécessaire à notre voyage.

Quelque chose a changé dans ce monde.

Le temps et la nécessité sont maintenant devant l'homme de trouver en lui-même le divin, le vrai, le conscient, de le trouver dans la vie, dans le corps et la matière ; de se libérer des formations et des intermédiaires.

116.

La Question brûle, partout dans ce monde.

Il nous faut ce courage de regarder ; de trouver.

Chacun doit découvrir sa propre religion, qui est sa propre et unique relation au divin, à l'essence, au suprême, en explorer le dynamisme au contact du monde, en incarner le sens.

C'est à chacun qu'il incombe de réaliser l'objectivité du Suprême.

Alors la fonction individuelle véritable, la raison d'être de l'individualité, auprès des autres et du monde, se révélera dans un équilibre progressif, sans violence et sans illusion.

Dans Sa « ville » nous aspirons à ce que s'établisse ainsi un milieu tout entier animé d'une réceptivité directe et immédiate au divin, et à l'avenir.

C'est pourtant dans le contexte d'une telle tentative que l'on mesure combien la liberté est encore pour l'homme l'état le plus difficile à assumer, tant nous sommes conditionnés dans notre substance même aux structures de la séparation, et assujettis au pouvoir que nous leur avons accordé.

117.

Nous demeurons ainsi persuadés que, sans intermédiaire et sans guide, sans une discipline imposée, restreignante et purifiante, une méthode prouvée, voire une pratique acharnée et une violence sur nous-même, nous ne pourrions jamais accéder à la sécurité d'une réalisation spirituelle.

Nous tendons à reformer les modèles de telle ou telle réalisation du passé, qui n'avait pourtant rien changé à la vie, et nous oublions la seule nécessité qui est de nourrir le feu de ce besoin central, ce besoin d'être vraiment, et son appel, de nous réunir tout entier dans le feu de cet appel et d'y vibrer : notre point vivant de contact au Réel...

C'est ce besoin qui est notre écoute et notre ouverture à d'autres sens, à la perception de la Force et de la Présence, c'est notre adhésion consciente à son feu qui lui permet d'ouvrir le chemin.

C'est ce besoin qui un jour nous entraînera après Elle, et nous mènera auprès d'Elle, dans l'expérience matérielle d'un Etat plein et entier.

118.

Cette « ville », cette tentative dont j'ai parlé, n'est ni une fin ni un but en soi ; ce n'est le privilège d'aucun « élu » d'y appartenir ; aucune sécurité particulière ne s'y trouve.

Elle n'a de sens que par le principe qui la fonde, qui est celui d'une unité humaine effective, par delà les barrières sociales, culturelles, religieuses, nationales et raciales qui déchirent encore l'humanité ; elle n'a de raison d'être que par la compréhension qui parfois s'y révèle ou s'y précise, et la pratique vivante de cette compréhension qui parfois, peut-être, s'y fait et s'y fera jour.

Car cette compréhension et sa pratique s'appliquent à toute situation humaine sur la Terre.

Il ne s'agit là d'aucun ralliement à un nouvel âge consommable et rentable, d'aucun remède social, d'aucune ligue, d'aucun « mouvement ».

Il s'agit d'une question, d'un appel.

Et d'un essai pour appréhender le Possible d'après, d'une nouvelle naissance matérielle.

119.

Elle, c'est Mère.

C'est à Elle que ces mots maladroits sont offerts.

Elle, ce n'est pas un gourou. Elle, C'est, simplement,
Absolument, éternellement,
Mère.

Short texts and poetry written in 1984, Auroville:

Why to die?

"Do you know why people died till now?

Because they became imprisoned by the person they had chosen to be, and they could not grow out of it, nor change it, without breaking to pieces the mould that they had built.

There was no other way.

Suppose for example that a soul wanted to experience the like of a dedicated and unselfish woman in a small country life in times of hardship. It would direct all its energies toward the formation of such a character and it would become that particular woman, down to the tiniest wrinkles of her body, to the last silent tear...

Suppose then that, at some point, it would know in its own silent wisdom that the experience has been going far enough and borne its inner fruits.

What option was left other than withdrawing from the body so formed and let its cells part and spread out?

People around would never have understood that this person they knew so well, related to so firmly and unmistakably, counted on and relied on as she was to them, would cease to function the way they were used to... Their whole world and, to some extent, their own chosen experiences, would have been shattered; or else they would have shut their inner eyes and formally declared that this woman they had known so well had now become mad, due to excess of strain and hardship, and with much commiseration and regret they would have taken this woman into a secluded place, a hospital or a mad house or a remote cave...

The soul would thus have had no chance to pass on to another experience and would have had to know this only, to be treated like a mad old lady and be made to behave such as one.

The human world became closed to her."

The flower in thy eyes.

"If I look into thy eyes,
 Merge into thy depths,
 Bathe into thy waters
 And run with thy stream and inhale thy flowers' fragrances,
 I'll know thee, the priceless ness of thee,
 The infinite unicity of who thou art,
 And I'll grow by the knowing, and be Ever grateful and ever and ever
 I'll know thou existest..."

I shall not need to know where you are or what you are doing in order
 To find you;

I shall just recall the uniqueness of that atmosphere and that Presence

And there you will be

And we shall flow within one another

You and I

Unknown and yet known so

Deeply.

It may well take me to surprising places, and Overwhelm me with states never Experienced, but there will always be
 The unique quality of your own
 Presence; there
 Will be no risk of my confusing
 Your blooms, your hills, your abyssms
 With any other soul's, and no risk
 Of your wondering who is coming thus
 At your gate
 And entering your garden.
 You will know me not by sound, nor smell,
 Not by sight, nor touch, nor taste although
 It may also be, but
 By some other sense, direct, eternal, of Recognition,
 And your response will be always an act
 Of love. »

Naissance à venir.

« Oiseaux jaillis
 De la source de vie.

Mille et mille fois elle nous a pris, embrassés, rejetés.
 Jamais on ne l'a connue.
 Les chatolements de son obscure chaleur,
 Intensités des forces qui s'affrontent
 Irréparablement,
 Cendres et fiel d'une sève trahie
 Ou caresse d'une douceur bientôt défaite, jamais saisie...
 Puis vient le temps
 De comprendre :
 D'autres instruments
 Forgés dans l'ombre
 S'éveillent,
 Tirant à leur travail,
 Insistants, injustifiés encore.

Une aspiration appelle
 Le tremblement d'ailes :
 Par une déchirure soudain perçue un bleu s'est souvenu.
 L'aimant d'un espace
 Autre,
 D'une loi qui libère, une loi sans étreinte
 Pour un souffle qui se découvre...

On ne sait pas, on a la joie.

Mais avec soi, on porte ses limites.
 Grandis dans la contrainte d'une force aveugle,

Projetés dans l'étrange immensité d'un espace indifférent
 Habité des rythmes d'une puissance libre intouchable,
 Surpris de plénitude et portés
 Par un vaste qui soutient sans répondre,
 On se découvre
 Petit,
 Noué, substance douloureuse,
 On n'existe qu'à peine. »

Musings.

"Evolutionary man is the slow, infinitely patient building of an Axis, the cooperative creation of a unified Channel for the central conscious Force of all the universes to acquire the wholeness of its manifestation...

Il y a un maximum de perfection lorsque, dans le silence et le calme, l'harmonie terrestre née du mariage de l'homme, de la Nature et de la lumière physique, se manifeste : la douceur consciente que l'homme a contribué à la réalité de la Terre, à quoi la Nature est sensible et répond.

Le prochain pas, qui verra naître la prochaine harmonie, s'accomplira par la manifestation consciente, à travers de vraies individualités libres de l'ego, de l'unité essentielle de toute la matière, de toute la substance : l'unité du Suprême.

Etre libre de l'enchaînement de la causalité, être libre de toute poursuite et de tout but, être un avec l'absolu du mouvement du Suprême : le seul chemin est, et se fait, par l'infusion progressive de plus de conscience. C'est la quantité de conscience incarnée qui motivera et produira l'évolution des formes et la réalisation divine en toute substance.

C'est d'abord la qualité de la conscience qu'il faut apprendre à discerner et percevoir, au-delà des instruments. Puis, c'est la quantité de la conscience qu'il faut apprendre progressivement à recevoir, tenir et garder.

L'homme ne peut changer vraiment que sous l'impulsion de la Force consciente, et sous la pression de sa quantité croissante. Il est impossible de changer les mouvements de la nature pour des raisons morales ou idéales. Seule la conscience peut voir la nécessité réelle de tout changement : et dans sa vision est le pouvoir de changer. »

-1985-1-1-1985, Auroville:

There was no Fire.

The rain went on all night and all of this morning, till after midday, constant, steady...

3-1-1985, Auroville:

Après des jours d'hésitation, j'ai commencé aujourd'hui de marquer les fondations pour la nouvelle maison de Krishna. Il ne semble plus très bien savoir si c'est pour lui-même qu'il souhaite cette maison, ou pour Dom, mais il insiste pour qu'elle soit construite ; j'ai intégré dans les plans les deux possibilités, d'après ses indications.

... J'ai fini de tisser un petit coussin pour Samuel, et je l'ai brodé de son nom.

... Petra est passée, errante et trempée par la pluie, tenant sa petite fille trop maigre, hystérique ; je les ai faites s'asseoir près du feu ; Ar. a essayé vainement de lui parler. Son bébé ne sourit pas : deux grands yeux qui regardent et attendent, et cette idiote ambitieuse joue les folles quand cela l'arrange, par lâcheté – ou par orgueil ?

4-1-1985, Auroville :

La situation financière à « Sincérité » reste plutôt insaisissable... rien désormais n'y est plus pris en charge par le fonds central d'Auroville et nous devons nous débrouiller principalement avec ce qu'Ar. et moi chacun recevons. Ce qui me préoccupe, c'est que je vis ici, dans ce jardin, avec quelques amis, comme je vivrais un peu n'importe où ailleurs...

... On a marché jusqu'à l'amphithéâtre, après la pluie, Samuel dans mes bras... J'aime Samuel ! Pas comme un remplacement, mon Dieu, de ma princesse, mais pour ce qu'il est... Généralement, j'aime les tout petits, j'aime être avec eux ; dès qu'ils commencent à parler, il y a déjà une distance... Avec Samuel, il y a une tendre, très douce reconnaissance...

6-1-1985, Auroville :

Parce que je l'avais un peu taquiné devant Maryse hier soir, à propos de la visite d'une autre fille, Krishna est venu à moi aujourd'hui, très vexé et dramatique, et j'ai eu droit à toutes les accusations les plus lourdes et les plus spirituellement définitives !

Alors, tout en faisant la lessive, plus tard, je pensais activement à partir, à quitter cet endroit décidément malsain et tordu... Puis, bon, il faut voir les choses telles qu'elles sont : ridicules !

7-1-1985, Auroville:

In the first sleep of the night, I was pulled back by a sensation as of someone intruding, entering, and breathing close to me... and I woke up to find that the moon was so full that it was almost scary; I got up and burnt incense; and then I realised, profoundly, this:

Seules mes propres impuretés font que tout n'est pas le Seigneur !

... Avant de partir travailler au Matrimandir ce matin, pour le coulage de béton, j'ai laissé une note à Krishna lui disant que tout allait bien, qu'il fallait seulement laisser ces trois compères à leurs affaires, l'égo, le drame et la mort, et marcher du côté de la confiance et la transparence...

9-1-1985, Auroville :

Pendant ma veille de nuit au Matrimandir, John H et moi avons passé un long moment silencieux dans une perception de la matière et du monde, si simple et si vaste... ; les pensées et les mots viennent là-dessus comme des cailloux que l'on jette...

... Ces jours-ci je dois m'occuper de la construction de la maison de Krishna – les matériaux, les ouvriers – et de l'emménagement de D.A et de sa famille à « Existence » ; je continue aussi de peindre, et de tisser avec Barbara, Akash et Ar. ; et, comme d'habitude, les uns et les autres vont et viennent. Barbara m'aide aussi à couper et redresser le fer pour les fondations...

12-1-1985, Auroville:

Only today I learnt of the vision Satprem had last September, of Auroville as a ship having ran aground, the sea withdrawing, and no one left to operate the powerful engine that was still aboard and could still take it back out of the mud to the high seas...

... Tonight we all went to watch Sonal Mansingh's performance...

13-1-1985, Auroville:

Je vois souvent en moi ces jours ci des mouvements qui n'ont pas changé, des lâchetés, des faiblesses, ou des facilités qui contredisent la présence profonde – qui en moi collaborent au bruit et à la petite mort générale...

... Nous nous orientons vers cette vie pleine et consciente dans la matière... avec des termes mentaux ! C'est encore l'égo qui essaye de « comprendre »... Mais, être « conscient »... pour quoi faire ?...

Au fond, ne plus être et être vraiment sont une même chose, pour arriver LA !

18-1-1985, Auroville :

Je crois que ce problème du temps est surtout un problème de concentration. Je crois que l'on peut appliquer cette concentration – qui est aussi prière et offrande – à quelque question que ce soit qui signale un manque d'équilibre : au lieu de laisser flotter la question ou la disharmonie dans le sillage du temps qui passe, entre ceci et cela, une chose et l'autre, on peut choisir un moment, rassembler la conscience et offrir la question ; et beaucoup s'éclaircit et se met en place. Il faut apprendre à répondre à chaque chose par une concentration plus réelle et aussi plus profonde.

... Shankar, cet hypocrite, vient de dresser une grande clôture en travers du jardin... !

20-1-1985, Auroville :

Un moment un peu critique avec Krishna : après des jours et des jours chargés d'agressivité, et d'instabilité, il est venu s'asseoir près de moi et m'a demandé de lui dire ce que je voyais... Alors j'ai essayé de lui montrer que l'obstacle, la misère, le dernier camouflage de l'égo, était cette tension désespérée et dramatique dans la volonté de toucher et de vivre la « vraie chose » ; qu'il faut offrir ce désespoir, offrir cette volonté, les laisser se défaire, et qu'alors on peut commencer de percevoir et d'éprouver ce que peut être, ce que sera le vrai service...

... C et R arrivent bientôt, et il me faut voir où et comment Krishna vivra durant leur séjour ; une solution possible est que Barbara revienne habiter avec moi, et Krishna aille dans sa maison...

22-1-1985, Auroville :

Nous avons coulé les fondations de la maison de Krishna. Je vois que son agitation constante crée une tension en moi, comme si cela s'introduisait de tous côtés...

Et Barbara aussi lutte pour ne pas être submergée.

23-1-1985, Auroville :

La visite de Rajiv Gandhi le mois prochain, le jour de Ta fête, semble se confirmer : la masse des « officiels », l'attention du public sur Auroville, la commotion générale... et l'ouverture aussi ?

26-1-1985, Auroville :

Ce matin Akash m'offre une petite pierre ; à midi Anandi m'offre une petite algue rouge séchée et durcie comme un arbre miniature ; ce soir Akash vient me porter d'autres pierres...

... Ce n'est pas facile avec Krishna ; il y a comme de la haine en lui, de la laideur et de l'orgueil qui sortent et qui le masquent, sans que rien ne se passe ; je sens une tristesse, dedans...

29-1-1985, Auroville :

C'est le silence, avec Krishna ; un silence obligatoire, presque une fermeture. J'ai besoin, moi aussi, d'une distance ; quand il m'a annoncé son désir de « prendre des vacances », j'ai vu et senti combien j'en avais besoin moi-même, combien une certaine joie et une certaine liberté me manquaient, sous ce poids constant de sa présence, et comme je souhaite retrouver une paix souriante, le silence et la grâce...

31-1-1985, Auroville :

Krishna est parti... et revenu ! Plus humble, et très doux ; et ce matin il me dit que, face à cette maison qui se bâtit, il est redevenu pour la première fois depuis qu'il est à Auroville conscient de l'enfant qu'il fut, dans le Sud du Maroc... Puis, son discours mental a pris le dessus et il a continué de parler en développant toute une « compréhension », et cela m'a donné l'occasion de lui montrer combien cette activité est lourde, pèse sur l'expérience, et sur notre relation...

1-2-1985, Auroville :

D.A est en réaction devant l'absurdité des conditions qui sont posées aux nouveaux arrivants, et de l'énormité de ce qui est exigé d'eux financièrement...

2-2-1985, Auroville :

M est en difficulté, blessée par l'attitude de G.M ; Ar. s'occupe d'elle...

.. Alors que je distribue les paiements aux ouvriers, Krishna vient se plaindre de ce que l'un des aides à la construction l'aurait provoqué par une remarque ou une expression raciste ; s'ensuit alors une longue et fastidieuse discussion avec toute l'équipe des ouvriers, et une tension s'est insinuée que je n'avais jamais jusque là connue dans mes relations avec les gens d'ici, même ceux qu'il m'arrive d' « employer »...

3-2-1985, Auroville :

Ce soir M, G.M, Ar. et moi sommes allés voir le film de Satyajit Ray, « Dévi » : un travail très épuré et intense, qui touche courageusement, presque héroïquement, à la fourche du mensonge de l'Inde – son attitude envers la vie d'un côté et la relation au Divin de l'autre : un film presque difficile à supporter tant il colle à la réalité du problème... Puis, nous sommes restés ensemble ici jusque tard... M a ce « don » de tout ramener à l'état le plus ordinaire, pour en mesurer ce qui reste ; une sorte d'intolérance viscérale de tout masque et de toute prétention, c'est très étonnant !

8-2-1985, Auroville :

Krishna a décidé de s'éloigner quelques jours, de reprendre une chambre à Pondy ; c'est mieux ainsi : Barbara a été très blessée et secouée par son attitude et sa conduite de ces derniers jours ; il ment trop, et il me semble qu'il y a maintenant presque le danger que s'installe une sorte de « split personality » (ce qu'il est convenu d'appeler je crois « schizophrénie » ?)...

10-2-1985, Auroville :

Barbara est très désemparée, comme si Krishna avait en deux jours effectivement détruit l'atmosphère qu'elle avait travaillé des mois à établir dans sa maison, avec Akash – cette maison que Krishna dit maintenant lui avoir « donnée »...

Il faut progresser : pas des progrès psychologiques, mais un progrès d'état... !

15-2-1985, Auroville :

Samuel a aujourd'hui un an. D.A m'avait demandé de l'emmener au Samadhi et, si possible, malgré l'interdiction aux enfants de moins de 4 ans, dans la chambre de Sri Aurobindo... Et cela s'est bien passé : j'ai pu monter dans la chambre en portant Samuel dans mes bras, et il a reçu sa carte de « Bonne Fête » et une belle rose rose ; plus tard, à « Existence », j'ai arrangé les guirlandes de jasmin sur le petit lit de bois que je lui ai fabriqué...

... Ce soir D.D était à « Dana » ; après 5 ans sans se voir, le contact a été bon.

18-2-1985, Auroville :

Il y a toujours ce besoin de servir ; et rien de ce que je « fais » ne semble jamais être utile, utilisé... Je pourrais écrire encore – il y a la capacité -, mais ce dernier texte a été refusé, et ne semble intéresser personne... J'aimerais pourtant, par exemple, rédiger tout un programme d'éducation pour l'Inde, particulièrement l'Inde rurale... mais, encore pour rien ?

... Je suis allé attendre C à l'aéroport ; elle est arrivée à l'heure ; Shankar se trouvait là aussi pour recevoir la délégation roumaine pour le séminaire qui va s'ouvrir à Auroville et, voyant C avec moi, il a pris son attitude amicale et fraternelle...

Nous sommes rentrés tous les deux ce soir, tranquilles, bien ensemble...

20-2-1985, Auroville :

Un premier étudiant, Franklin, Nigérien, est venu s'installer dans la maison ; il a choisi tout de suite de dormir en haut... Tous les étudiants participant à ce séminaire vont être hébergés dans les maisons ; c'est en soi un bon exercice, mais je ne me sens pas particulièrement sollicité par ce séminaire...

22-2-1985, Auroville:

A second student was brought to me, who is here to represent the Fiji Islands, of Indian origin; he moved downstairs.

Yesterday evening C was very moved by what she felt to be the inner dimension of the event taking place behind or beneath the surface of this Youth Seminar; we were at the amphitheatre till late, for the sarod performance, in the presence of Matrimandir...

25-2-1985, Auroville:

C et moi sommes allés chercher R à l'aéroport ; un R fiévreux, un peu étrange, un peu fou... Et moi, j'ai encore mal aux nerfs : cela dure depuis des jours et des jours ; les vaisseaux capillaires font mal, même la peau fait mal ; je voudrais me retirer dans un sommeil indéfini...

26-2-1985, Auroville :

Aujourd'hui la déclaration commune de tous les délégués a été présentée.

Cela a été difficile, comme un enfantement, entre les forces en présence – les intérêts politiques, les déformations... Comme un besoin psychique s'est manifesté, dans la situation terrestre... J'ai pleuré, pleuré... Et je me suis senti plus étranger que jamais envers les gens d'Auroville ! Je suis rentré ce soir épuisé, comme si tout cela s'était passé EN moi...

28-2-1985, Auroville :

A 5 heures ce matin nous étions à l'amphithéâtre ; tous les délégués, beaucoup d'Auroviliens, et beaucoup de gens de l'Ashram aussi ; et c'était beau, formellement beau et profondément beau ;

J'ai senti l'Action de Sri Aurobindo, beaucoup...

... Une surprenante altercation avec P : il avait affiché, en guise de plaisanterie, la photographie de Lénine au beau milieu de la Cuisine, et je l'ai retirée...

... Franklin est reparti ce soir.

8-3-1985, Auroville :

Coni attend son bébé d'un jour à l'autre ; je me sens concerné et j'éprouve les appréhensions qui la traversent et je voudrais être présent et utile ; il y a une affinité en moi pour ce moment unique de la naissance, de l'entrée dans ce monde « extérieur », de ce passage – comme si j'avais là naturellement une sorte de fonction ; mais il n'y a pas avec Coni et L assez de confiance.

10-3-1985, Auroville :

Ce matin, alors que je faisais le ménage dominical, Krishna est venu me trouver ; il avait regardé sa maison en construction, semblait aimer ce qu'il avait vu, et voulait que je continue et la termine, même s'il ne sait pas encore où ni comment trouver l'argent nécessaire. Lui et Maryse ont fait tout un périple dans l'Inde ; il est extrêmement tendu, intérieurement agité ; il demande à revenir ici dans la maison de C dès qu'elle et R seront repartis... Parviendrai-je à lui dire nettement certaines choses ?

12-3-1985, Auroville :

Coni est en travail depuis hier soir ; Ar. et Myriam sont près d'elle, avec L. Je suis passé un moment ce matin, mais L ne m'a pas demandé de rester ; pourtant il me semblait qu'il ne faisait pas le nécessaire...
... C, R, Barbara, Soaz, Samuel et moi avons passé la journée à Pondy ; puis nous sommes allés à la plage. J'étais préoccupé pour Coni ; puis il y a eu le mouvement psychique d'un évènement...
Juste après, nous prenions le thé avec G dans sa hutte, Samuel a renversé une tasse de thé bouillant et s'est brûlé la main méchamment ; il a fallu attendre d'être de retour ici pour appliquer des onguents qui l'ont calmé, et panser sa main... Et j'apprends alors que Coni a été transportée à Cluny vers 15 heures...
J'allais juste redescendre à Pondy quand je trouve L et Myr sur le chemin du retour : Auroyami est née à 17 heures 25 ! Ar. reste la nuit auprès de Coni...

17-3-1985, Auroville :

En fin de matinée Krishna est arrivé avec toutes ses affaires ; je n'avais pas pensé qu'il ferait cela immédiatement après le départ de C ; j'ai été pris au dépourvu, et cela m'a heurté.

Il a réalisé alors qu'il fallait laisser quelques jours s'écouler ; on est restés un long moment à chercher comment communiquer ; je lui ai dit que j'avais besoin d'une certaine indépendance pratique entre nous, dans la vie quotidienne ; il est reparti...

18-3-1985, Auroville :

Krishna est revenu, demandant à ce qu'on se voie seuls. Alors, on a pu ensemble regarder où on en était, et ce que montrait cette impasse dans notre cheminement commun ; il me semble qu'on a ouvert une porte ; j'ai senti une renaissance de joie et je suis redevenu conscient de la validité de notre lien, en Toi et devant Toi...

... John H est beaucoup mieux, maintenant qu'il a pu évacuer des petits calculs de ses reins ; et la main de Samuel guérit vite et bien...

21-3-1985, Auroville :

Jean Maslow est venu me voir ; c'est à lui que Tu avais donné le nom de « Sincérité » pour la maison que Tu lui avais permis de construire ici même, cette maison que j'ai depuis reconstruite... Je l'avais aperçu, il y a 16 ans, mais ne l'avais jamais rencontré : un homme ambigu, intéressant ; le contact est vital, mais en arrière, il me semble, il y a la possibilité d'une amitié...

22-3-1985, Auroville :

D.M m'a envoyé une invitation à lui rendre visite le jour de ma fête ; ce sera doux de la revoir !

24-3-1985, Auroville :

25-3-1985, Auroville :

Ce matin M a été empêchée de travailler à l'école, parce qu'elle est proche de moi... Qu'y a-t-il encore, Douce Mère ? Des gens que je ne connais même pas, et qui prétendent avoir eu des expériences très négatives causées par moi ! Expériences qui demeurent très mystérieuses, dont ils ne veulent pas parler... ! Ils disent tous que je suis un être hostile, qui doit être rejeté... Ils ont traité M d'idiote, violemment... Je suis aussi accusé d'avoir influencé Coni et L dans le choix du nom de leur enfant (Auro Yami, Yama le dieu de la Mort !), mais je n'ai rien à y voir ! C'est une affreuse soupe !

Ar. aussi est condamnée, puisqu'elle est désormais mon « instrument », et on vient de la renvoyer de la Crèche... !

G.M voudrait que tout cela provoque une réunion générale, et que je demande ouvertement que cela cesse.

Mais je ne suis pas G.M, et ce que je dirais ne ferait probablement qu'empirer les choses !

Enfin, cela souligne au moins pour moi la valeur et la solidité de l'amitié que quelques-uns ont le courage et la liberté d'exprimer !

Dois-je quitter Auroville, Douce Mère ?

26-3-1985, Auroville :

Je me traîne, je me pousse et me force à m'intéresser au travail, à porter des fleurs à Barbara pour sa fête...

... Finalement il m'a semblé que je pouvais écrire une lettre un peu forte au Conseil Exécutif, leur demandant que cessent ces actions contre mes amis, et que l'on modère un peu ces élans de zèle fanatique... J'ai montré cette lettre, que j'ai tapée à la machine, à M, G.M et Ar., qui l'ont aimée.

27-3-1985, Auroville :

Beaucoup du temps de sommeil se passe à propos de conduites, de comportements – « behaviours » - dans et de la Matière, allant vers la concrétisation, ou vers la subtilisation, en différents degrés, avec toutes sortes d'exemples et de situations ; mais ça ne se transmet pas dans les termes de notre réalité physique, tout au moins celle que nos sens physiques nous traduisent, nous interprètent...

... J'éprouve tout à la fois de la gratitude, une sorte d'abandon confiant, et une fatigue qui dure, qui dure, une lassitude hors de contrôle...

... Cet après-midi M est arrivée seule ici, en catastrophe, au bord de la crise de nerfs, à cause de ses difficultés avec G.M ; je lui ai tenue compagnie, puis Ar. nous a rejoints ; plus tard G.M est venu : c'est toute la question de leur couple, de leur possibilité ensemble...

Letter to the Executive Council of Auroville Trust – chosen tool, platform, spokesman or instrument of the present community of Auroville:

"This is a call, an urgent request to consider that particular 'topic' that bears my name.

And this is in a language which, although I myself find it rather unreal and often ridiculous, seems to be the only available language commonly understood, in the context of the present collective experience of Auroville, short of a poor drama in which I refuse to participate.

The problem is, as some of you may well know it, that, to put it briefly, I am held to be, by a section or a number of other actual members of Auroville, either an "asura" or an instrument of an "asuric force".

I had a few tears ago my own (bad) experience of the politics in Auroville; it was a cause of intense pain for me as well as for a few others, and bore heavy consequences on my own life – one of which being that I was brutally separated from my own child and that to this day I am prevented even to see her.

Now this, and a number of other factors, may still be seen as the complex expression of "my own problem", or of the impossibility that lies in my path – in the path of my own transformation -, as we all know there is such an impossibility lying in each person' path.

But there is a point beyond which I cannot, or may not, sit back in my corner; and that is when, in an almost systematic yet unclear and un-frank fashion, whoever else happens to be friends with me meets in Auroville, from the part of the same people, a heavy and arbitrary condemnation, refusal or, in the best cases, a coolness very close to dismissal.

I will cite two recent examples: the first occurred a few months ago, in the Paris Centre for Auroville, where someone who has been my friend for nearly fifteen years, making ready to join at last Auroville with his family of four, in a rather admirable movement of trust in what Auroville stands for, was at the last moment summoned and given a speech about me and the dangers and risks that a relationship with me would imply or cause, once in Auroville; the second one occurred just two days ago, when someone who has joined Auroville recently and with whom I am friends, was asked to leave the Kindergarten school, at the Centre, where she had begun to work, because of this friendship.

Now, what does this mean, in terms of Auroville?

How can such an action be justified, and does it not call for urgent attention on the dangers of becoming ever more fragmented and the preys to subtler forms of exclusivism, fanaticism, superstition and obscurantism, that are anywhere else the cause of such an amount of misery?

I am not going to play any games, nor seek support of any kind. If we look again at possible guidelines for Auroville – and the clearest ones (which were, if you will remember, rejected by the community) were offered by Satprem, there is not the least reason for me to be condemned, or wanted away.

No one can claim either to know directly from the only true authority we acknowledge and recognise anything that would indicate that I am “undesirable” in Auroville; neither from Satprem.

I am no unbalanced person; I am not flipping, I contribute physically and otherwise to Auroville – insofar as I am allowed to. So what?

I am “different” according to several standards of judgement, yes; I disagree, or lack wholehearted agreement, with a number of positions and stances held officially or publicly in Auroville, yes; so what?

Please, you must understand that this situation cannot go on on this track. Some sort of clarity must be reached, or at least a different understanding, truer and more real, must become actual in our lives here.

I do not know how to end, except with silence.

Divakar.

PS: Since I am at it and since, as you well know, there is no other place I can address myself to without going for a useless and sterile drama, I add another urgent practical request: I need a form to be filled by Diane P. – which I have sent to her already – so that Auragni can remain also on my Passport and able to choose, later on, the French nationality if she so desires and/or needs. I am already more than a week late. Would you please help?”

28-3-1985, Auroville :

A midi je suis allé seul m'étendre à la plage, en plein soleil. G m'a invité plus tard à prendre le café avec lui, et m'a parlé de ce que certains pensent de moi, du niveau de leurs réactions, de leurs refoulements sexuels, de leurs jugements... C'est un drôle d'homme, assez libre de l'opinion publique... !

... D.A est devenu tout à fait négatif envers Auroville, alors que Soaz, bien qu'elle souffre de la dureté imbécile qu'il lui arrive de rencontrer ici, souhaite, rester avec les enfants ; et Samuel, lui, si beau et si doux, rond et plein, tranquille et présent, qui s'est encore endormi dans mes bras...

... Ce matin Nata a quitté son corps, à 7 heures... Mon ami Nata, auprès de Toi... !

3-4-1985, Auroville :

Krishna est rentré.

9-4-1985, Auroville :

Le jour de ma fête...

Tôt ce matin Ar. m'a porté une grande brassée de fleurs ; puis je suis descendu à Pondy rencontrer D.M, comme elle me l'avait demandé : principalement, je crois, elle souhaite me confier la construction de la grande maison temple qu'elle et Johnny veulent bâtir au bord des canyons, du côté de « Forecomers » ; et c'est comme si Tu me disais :

« Reste ! Tu vois, j'ai ceci à faire pour toi, je te fais ton chemin ! »...

Elle m'a donné un plan général, et des croquis.

... J'ai reçu une réponse, à peine polie, du Conseil Exécutif : négative, bien sûr !

It reads thus:

"Dear Divakar. Your letter of 27-3-85 has been read by the Executive Council. We did not reach any practical suggestion which is worth conveying to you.

About the matter of the Passport, we checked with Diane who told us that Auragni was properly registered in the French Consulate and that she could claim French Nationality whenever she wished. Yours faithfully, for Executive Council. Alain Monnier."

... Ce soir ici, Ar., Barbara, M et G.M, Anandi, Myrtle, Soaz et Gwen et Samuel et D.A, Ruud...

10-4-1985, Auroville :

J'apprend que Pnina est revenue hier, et m'envoie ses vœux, et souhaite me voir...

... En fin de journée j'ai retrouvé Johnny près de « Forecomers », sur le terrain ou D.M veut construire ; Johnny est peu précis, et trop « spirituel » à mon goût, mais je crois qu'il y a une possibilité de confiance et d'accord harmonieux ; je suis resté seul après son départ, à regarder le lieu, à m'en imprégner...

Je ne sais pas vraiment, mais il me semble que c'est un travail que Tu me donnes, que c'est Ton cadeau pour m'aider à aller vers Toi, à marcher en Toi, et à Te suivre...

11-4-1985, Auroville:

There is a bit of turmoil in Auroville: Taï, one of the so-called "tantrics", linked with the "neutrals", has put a case, with criminal charges, against some Aurovilians in "Fraternity" and "Aspiration", and all these "pure and clear and proud" ones are now asking for all of us to have sessions under the Banyan, repeating the mantra in silence... Who will tell them, who will show them their drama, who will stop them from further cultivating this new sort of ego, this false identity derived, through Satprem, from the psychic, and from the "collective body"?

13-4-1985, Auroville:

Pnina est venue ; elle est restée dîner ; elle est restée dormir...

La possibilité d'une amitié libre, profonde, sans attachement égoïste ?...

C'est un fait qu'il m'est arrivé plusieurs fois récemment que me soit envoyée une femme que je puisse chérir aussi physiquement, tenir dans mes bras... Et voilà Pnina revenue... N'est-ce pas à moi d'assumer aussi ?...

14-4-1985, Auroville :

Avec la présence de Pnina vient l'appréhension que cela avive encore le venin de ces oppositions, lui donne de quoi redoubler d'intensité, et que cela affecte encore une fois ceux qui me sont proches ; mais en même temps, il y a la perception de combien Tu me donnes, et comme toujours la réponse vivante vient à mes besoins, et il y a un grand élan de confiance et de gratitude, avec le sens de devoir contribuer ma propre fidélité : à Toi, à l'amitié...

... Ilangu est venu, puis Gwen, et ils sont restés à jouer et à lire, pendant que je terminais le ménage de la maison...

16-4-1985, Auroville :

J'ai dû me rendre au Consulat : comme Diane a refusé de répondre pour ce formulaire dont j'avais besoin, l'Adjoint Consulaire a dû annuler le nom d'Auragni sur mon passeport ; il m'a cependant informé que, du fait que j'avais reconnu Auragni officiellement, c'est à moi que revient en premier le droit légal de sa garde, en cas de litige ; ceci évidemment me donne à réfléchir, surtout maintenant que C m'a proposé d'engager un avocat... Est-ce qu'il m'est montré quelque chose ? Je n'ai aucune sympathie pour ce type d'action ou de démarche, mais si j'étais sûr que cela est voulu pour Auragni, je le ferais...

... Ces jours-ci je me sens à nouveau travaillé, environné et traversé par des courants et des appels qui passent par des femmes – comme des formes de la Mère, différentes, distinctes, pleines aussi ; tous les mouvements déterminants dans ma vie passent pas des femmes...

... Cet après-midi j'ai passé deux heures à Pondy avec D.M, parfois en présence de Johnny mais surtout seul avec elle, à travailler sur les dessins de cette maison offrande...

17-4-1985, Auroville:

On my way to "Toujours Mieux" workshop, for the metal drawer I have ordered for Krishna's house, I passed Diane on her bike, my little one riding in her lap, her eyes blinking because of the dust; her little face was so pale; I don't think she saw me, but the message that came through to me is that she is missing me as I am missing her, and something has got to be done...!

So I stopped at the Post Office, bought an inland letter and wrote to Diane asking her to reconsider the whole thing, and to really try and see what is best for Auragni; I also mentioned that I am thinking of starting a legal procedure, but that I do not like to use these means; that I believe there is progress to be made on both "sides", and that would surely be best; and I asked her to answer...

I mailed it, praying to You "let it be as You want it to be...!"

... Je lis « Les Ressources Humaines » de Samuel Pisar : j'aime cet homme !

18-4-1985, Auroville :

Je poursuis les études de la maison de D.M ; elle m'a envoyé un autre message, très doux, pour me communiquer des détails qu'elle avait oubliés de préciser ; je suis retourné sur le terrain... Je n'ose pas croire encore : l'habitude funeste, probablement, que de belles ouvertures révèlent des portes d'acier... Alors qu'il y a cette joie qui demande à secouer, dissoudre ou faire fondre cette pesanteur de faux drame...

J'avais cru que ce travail était un cadeau, une opportunité venue de Toi pour une offrande et une concentration... Je ne sais pas ; je sais seulement que, humainement, tout me dit « Va-t-en ! » ; et, divinement, tout me dit « Perd ton ego ! Deviens sans ego ! »... Et les deux ne se rencontrent pas, ici, en Auroville, et tout semble s'aggraver...

3-5-1985, Auroville :

Je suis allé voir D.M et Johnny ce matin à Pondy, et j'ai pu passer un long moment seul avec D.M ; elle est si belle ; avec elle tout a un sens, le Sens est là... Elle me fait du bien.

Je prie seulement que je ne lui porte que de la joie.

A propos de cette histoire avec Ed, elle ne veut pas que nous en soyons affectés, mais souhaite que nous travaillions « au dessus », vers l'état d'unité véritable... Avec elle je peux offrir ce travail, et tout ce qui arrive, et arrivera, tout ce qu'il touche et touchera...

6-5-1985, Auroville :

Barbara me raconte ce matin la rencontre soi-disant fortuite qui a eu lieu à « Forecomers », chez Ed, hier, de tout un groupe de gens, à mon sujet : Ed et Mauna, Rog, AM, Edzart, P, Ruud et Johnny ; et comment nombre de rumeurs absurdes ont pu être défaits et démontées et nombre de « choses » clarifiées, et la position réelle de Ed soulignée...

C'est la fête de C aujourd'hui ; elle a 72 ans... !

7-5-1985, Auroville:

I dreamt a very strange story, the last part of which impressed me in an unusual way; a woman is with me on an airplane, but we are free to move around and even under it, as it flies down and begins to land at full speed; then it wants to take off again, but there are some kind of meshes, wire meshes, all about one side; yet the pilot keeps trying to break through them, in such a frantic and maddened way that we both must let go and return to the ground and watch; we then see the plane burst through the mesh and dive up into the sky at a crazy angle, and soon it rains glass and metal splinters, and everyone on the ground is hit and starts bleeding; but, much more than from the sight of blood and of the pain inflicted, I am struck with a terrible sorrow at something else that I see: a sort of frenzied movement of cloud and light and colour up in the sky, as if the sky itself – a deep and crucial part of the sky – was in an agony of pain...

8-5-1985, Auroville:

Ce matin Ar. et moi devons faire plusieurs courses dans Auroville ; nous avons d'abord croisé Diane, et c'était pénible ; puis, dans « Aspiration », j'ai tout à coup croisé ma petite fille, qu'Aurassi s'est empressée d'écarter ; nos regards se sont pourtant rencontrés : elle ne sait plus qui je suis, mais ses yeux sont restés dans les miens... Elle est si belle, et je ne peux ni l'appeler, ni la toucher, ni lui sourire, ni lui donner mes bras...

Alors, j'ai eu une journée difficile...

Dans ces moments-là, je connais la douleur brute, celle de l'animal, et je pourrais tuer Diane, qui refuse toute possibilité, dont l'attitude me semble folle...

Ar. ne savait plus que faire... Je lui ai demandé de me laisser seul.
 ... Il n'y a rien que je puisse faire, sans troubler la vie d'Auragni...
 Et sans respect ni estime, ni amitié pour Diane, comment puis-je agir ? Tout ce que je ferais marquerait la division dans la vie d'Auragni... Et ainsi Diane obtient ce qu'elle veut...
 Mais comme cela fait mal...
 Je ne comprend pas : c'est comme un jeu cruel et pervers...

10-5-1985, Auroville:

Barbara and I spent the entire day in Madras; we each had a lot of purchases to do, and she is getting ready for her journey west... But this city is hellish; bodies and bodies, in squalor and vacuum, soot, sweat and dust, and neglect everywhere, and money reigning over it all...
 ... I have received another letter from Jeevan (R's new name), very tender...

14-5-1985, Auroville:

This is a time when I find so much wrong with myself, so much insincerity, and such dubious ambiguity deep down, that I am amazed and overwhelmed by it, and I would tend to agree with the judgement that is passed on me...!
 ... There was a concreting at Matrimandir this morning; I did my work without joy; when I returned here, it was to find that the masons had done it all wrong in Krishna's house during my absence, and I had to have them start all over again...

15-5-1985, Auroville:

I had an interesting dream activity, in search of the proper receptacle, and the proper materials for it: it is to be like a big horizontal copper egg, in two halves, to contain fire; and I meet with Anurakta, who tells me of his work on perception, and of his search for people with whom he could share his practical knowledge – perceiving power through the activation of the charkas –, in a clear and centred atmosphere...
 Perhaps I dreamt of Anurakta as I have intended to go to him and ask him to help identify a good source of water near D.M's house-to-be...

16-5-1985, Auroville:

It seems that Diane has lately been telling people that Auragni is a little "retarded", due to my bad influence, and that if she is not able to speak properly as yet, it is due to my "grip" on her...
 I am sure, profoundly sure, that Diane is doing something very ignorant and wrong and detrimental...
 I now feel that I need people to help with this; not this cruel "sympathy" and this feeding onto my "story", but actual, concrete help... In a way I feel that Ar. is the one who is the readiest to actually do something, who has the least fear of consequences... This evening I saw that, while M is so clear and willing, G.M is quite hesitant, and I understand again that I can ask nothing from him...
 So I still do not know... If I act on my own, all alone again, it may have more of a negative impact for Auragni, because of the way people are geared to react to me...

17-5-1985, Auroville:

Mais maintenant c'est l'égo d'architecte de Seven qui vient en avant ; il est mécontent que D.M ne lui demande pas de « concevoir » sa maison, et que je fasse tous les plans sur la seule base des dessins et descriptions de D.M ; mais on est tout de même parvenus à en rire ensemble, et il est reparti plus heureux, et prêt à ne faire avec moi qu'un travail d'exécutant...

I have asked Ar. to be left alone, these days, until I am out of this ordeal, for, in the presence of anyone who is intimate with me, I cannot help asking for some kind of support and participation, even inwardly; but I only get the impression of an added mixture, of more drama, without any clear "yes"; and the I begin to resent it, which is plain stupid...!

So, better leave me alone!

... I now think the only path that is left to me is perhaps to write an "open letter to all", asking for a fair appraisal...

19-5-1985, Auroville:

Today, after the clean-up of the house – it is Sunday – I sat at the typewriter to write a shortened version of my "open call", in which I point to the ill effects of exclusivism, and ask people to understand and to help break this vicious circle and save Auragni from this misery... I know that no one ever did such a thing in Auroville as this "open call" but, at this point, not to do anything would mean, to me, that I am a coward; I also say that I am willing to answer any question, in any forum that may be elected...

20-5-1985, Auroville:

I went down to Pondy to pick up Anurakta's answers for the water-source, and to have photocopies made of my open statement; I felt also that I might as well try to put a more personal question to Anurakta, who quietly claims to be in some sort of safe contact with Your Presence (he works with a gold pendulum in the way You have taught him); I chose a formulation that had the best chances, I thought, to indicate whether the answer would be coming truly from You; I asked: "What are the options before me today?"...

Anurakta had prepared all the other practical answers, about the erection of D.M's house, the best date to begin work – he wrote the 9th of July -, and about the drilling of a bore-well...

When I had the Xeroxes ready, I felt I wanted to try one last time to communicate with Diane, before going ahead with this; I wrote to her, then, requesting her to reconsider the situation, and warning her that I was thinking of issuing a public statement... I mailed it at once.

21-5-1985, Auroville:

Anurakta's reply is very gentle, spiritually very kind, but I do not think it bears the stamp of an answer coming from You... It says that I must be here and help bring peace into the soil of Auroville...!

... My nerves are much weakened again; I feel constantly that I am pushing my limits, a step at a time, before me; I have another bout of haemorrhoids, and allergies... Whatever I may have developed, acquired, or realised appears to be fully engaged in providing me with the bare endurance I need. There seems to be no margin left.

... I have decided that if, by tomorrow, no reply has come from Diane, I shall post my statement, and... "Adviene que pourra!"...

I need no help from anyone to conduct my self-examination... but I do need help to find my princess again!

23-5-1985, Auroville:

Diane has not replied.

This morning I posted my statement, and gave several copies of it to the Messenger.

... Today is D.M's birthday: Auralice, Johnny and I symbolically marked the house on the ground.

... This evening I received a message from Jane, of "Fertile": "I trust you, I believe you..." How sweet!

I want to see it through, this time!

(This is my statement: "TO ALL: A PERSONAL CALL. 20-5-1985.

I can say that I know now, through experience, how a minority, any minority in any grouping, can be driven to acts and attitudes that are more and more wrong, desperate and detrimental and, by so doing, justify more and more the group's initial rejection, too often based on its mere inability to accept and to embrace difference. I know that it takes an extraordinary strength not to get overpowered by this process.

It is, in all human history, the exclusivism and the incapacity to accept difference that has caused the most of all misery, and still does.

People in Auroville make grave confusions.

It is one thing, and a necessity at this early stage, to offer guidelines and lay down a few basic rules and to expect everyone to respect them, but it is quite another thing to actively exclude any person on the mere basis of difference, subjective feelings, or whether or not this person fits into the superficial consensus reality of the group.

I believe there is only one exclusivism that a human being is justified in cultivating, and that is, for each individual, to want to be 'exclusively under the influence of the Divine'.

But today we have groups and clans, stands and positions; or else we have complicity, always using 'others' and 'they' to reinforce it. Yet if we look within, I am sure that we all find that none of this is it, and that it all leaves a taste of ashes.

I wish here to bring forward my own example of what exclusivism, wrongly-based, does and can do; to do so, I have to share what can be taken as 'personal' elements. But we should know there is no such distinction as we still make it in the reality that calls us.

And I have to do this because I need help and understanding. I do not mean 'sympathy' or any emotional echo. But I mean understanding in the sense of clarity of thought, feeling and action.

I have been separated by people of Auroville from my own child with Diane, Auragni, for more than two years – against my will, against my aspiration, against everything I believe in.; separated from her by people who call me an 'asura' sometimes.

And to my understanding, this is an insane statement.

I have seen people lie because of that, just lie.

I have seen how important the play of influences in Auroville is. I have had innumerable proofs that all these so-called 'clear' positions held by many people here arise in fact from very shallow water.

When Diane herself was away in Australia for four months, the winter before last, with our daughter, she would write to me every week and wait for my letters. Yet as soon as she was back in Auroville, she begun again to refuse me access to Auragni, involving even her own children to prevent me from seeing her, and asking other people to lie to me so she would be 'safe'. And this because I was still not accepted by the group-formation to which she wanted so much to belong.

Are we all sick here, do we all fall so contrary to our true aspiration that we have such a devouring need to ostracise others, and to protect our individual weaknesses and shortcomings with big words?

I call for help. I call for Diane to realise the extent of this stupidity. I call for others to realise it leads us nowhere, nowhere at all.

I want to see Auragni. I want her to know that I am there for her, and with her. I have tried everything I could, alone. I have feared, sometimes, to fall prey to violence, or to madness. I want this story to stop. I ask for a moment of reconsideration of where we stand, of what in us allows such situations to develop and fix themselves among us.

I want Auragni to be free of all that and never to hear of such misery. I want Auragni to be a child of a true Auroville, cared for by all, including me. There is something true and real between her and me. And I cannot bear any longer that the very people who have gathered to discover what Mother's Truth means in their lives are the ones who prevent me from living it. I need help.

I am willing to answer any questions, provided they are put straight to me, without ill-will, in any forum people may choose in Auroville.

For how is it that never anyone has come to tell me frankly, openly, what was held against me? How is it that I am only subject to this constant dishonest undermining?

In trust,
Divakar"

Barbara, Ruud et Akash s'en vont demain, et Deepti est venue leur dire au revoir; elle est restée assez longtemps en fait, à parler avec nous de ma situation dans Auroville, de Diane, d'Auragni... Deepti semble très lucide à propos de Diane, et de ceux dont elle désire tant l'approbation et le soutien ; elle semble voir très clair dans tout ce jeu et les mensonges des uns et des autres, dont elle souffre également ; mais elle ne m'a pas encouragé, redoutant pour moi que je ne rencontre qu'un mur impossible à franchir et, en m'exposant ainsi, ne donne à ces gens que plus de prise et le moyen de me détruire ou de me faire quitter Auroville...

... Je suis allé avec Ar. assister à la réunion générale – au sujet de « Fraternité », de la menace de nouvelles arrestations, des « neutres » et des « tantriques »... Il n'y avait pas la place de demander de l'attention sur « mon problème »... !

Diane était là. Je ne puis retenir une certaine admiration devant sa froide réussite. Malgré ses mensonges, sa petitesse et sa lâcheté, elle gagne sur toute la ligne. Elle a re-gravi les échelons de la hiérarchie, patiemment, et se trouve à la place qu'elle a toujours souhaité occuper, presque « grandie » par l'expérience... !

... On m'a rassuré aujourd'hui, en me disant que ma princesse va bien, et qu'elle est harmonieuse...

Il m'a raconté une sorte de cauchemar que M avait eu juste après que je leur avais demandé de m'aider : je venais à elle avec une grande intensité, lui demandant de faire quelque chose, et dans le rêve elle savait que ce ne serait pas bon pour elle d'obéir, d'accepter, ni même de me regarder ; que si elle me regardait, elle ne pourrait plus refuser – et elle a eu très peur et s'est réveillée, et elle a senti une présence dans sa chambre... ; pourtant elle est restée très calme, et a éprouvé le besoin de faire la part des choses et de ne tirer aucune conclusion...

En rentrant, plus tard, marchant avec Ar. sur la route, j'ai regardé le phénomène... peut-être est ce en partie l'effet d'une habitude, ou d'un acquis en moi, provenant d'un développement passé, d'émaner une volonté pour obtenir un résultat ? Un mouvement spontané que je n'aurais pas appris encore à réellement T'offrir ? Ar. et moi en avons parlé ; elle a contribué ses propres observations... Cela m'a aidé à toucher, pratiquement, une sorte de mécanisme inscrit dans mes mouvements...

... This evening Jossie, back from the hills, came to tell me of the water-falls, the deep grass in the clearings of the old forests, swimming at dawn in the misted lake...

31-5-1985, Auroville:

This has been horrible.

I am left with such disgust, such a sense of rot, in myself, and in the people here... They went at my wounds with teeth and claws and tore them open, and I was trapped in the circle of these fanaticisms...

It actually started in the morning: I had to go to "Toujours Mieux" workshop to pick up some tools I had ordered for D.M's work, and to see about having a wheelbarrow made; Thierry was there, and Jean too; Thierry began by telling me that they do not like me to come there, therefore he had not gone on with the work I had ordered; then Jean joined in heavily, attacking me viciously, saying that I had anyway no right to be in Auroville as You had told me to go away, and the fact that I had returned just after You had left Your body – this is the first time I hear this lie directly – clearly showed who I was and whom I served...

I tried at first to respond, telling him he was uttering lies, that he knew I had returned before You left, and also that You had only told me to go after Purna had played her games; but I saw that it was pointless and told him to express his opinion at the meeting; he replied that I would get nothing out of any meeting, because there were enough people who KNEW who I was and had the experience of it, and they would never change their minds about it... I left, and went to work...

I felt that, indeed, I had wasted all these years and only caused trouble and ought to have stayed away...

And this afternoon, Ar. came with me to the general meeting: people asked me to present my "case"; then Jean, Al.B, Rakhil, and some others went right ahead : how could I possibly question Your word!? You had said "No", so that was it, wasn't it!?

I tried to tell calmly the whole story of how it had happened, and what had been done to me, and how Your instructions had been reverted, and what advice had been given me... But it only got more confused.

Even someone who I had thought and believed was my true friend, F.Ga, said something absurd: according to him I had asked for the Grace to let me go! And therefore, whenever I asked You later to take me back, You refused... Then he added, for good measure, that he knew that Satprem had termed me "a little snake"...! Big J even joined forces with them, saying that this was only a just return of things as I had in the past wanted to throw her out (which isn't at all true!)...

Al.B was standing right behind me, and I heard him then say, loud and clear, that he felt and believed that I was "utterly false", and must leave Auroville... Rakhil chimed in... And both of them have been my friends...!

A few people – Myrtle, Arjun, a couple of others – tried to bring the whole issue into some perspective, but they were denied... And that was it.

There was a man there, Jeffrey, who has come to Auroville to invite us to be part of some international forum working to establish, wherever it is possible upon earth today, places where the land is held in trust for the whole earth; they have worked out a legal frame and already succeeded in Canada and in England; he spoke at length; he said that, out of his experience of what had gone on in this meeting, and in previous meetings he had also attended – and he said this with much intensity -, he had found a terrible lack of commitment to human unity, and couldn't but state it... People giggled uneasily... It was all so frightfully wrong...

I do not know...

... If I turn to Sri Aurobindo, I understand the difficulties of this process, inherent and implicit in such an attempt as Auroville, and I can accept.

But otherwise, I am tormented with doubts...

People also said that I was hiding behind Auragni, drawing pity on me so that the real issue would be ignored...

... I have struggled all these years to live by Your Grace, Your smile and Your love, fully aware of my impurity, my resistances and my trends of ego; somewhere and somehow I also have a sense of humour, and I am free also of all this soup and this mess...

There are so many aspects to it... I resent Satprem's loose tongue, and his lack of wisdom in encouraging such a "spirit" to develop in Auroville; but who I am to resent anything from anyone!? I myself seem to have contributed only division and conflict!

... But, what am I to do now?

Tous ces derniers jours j'ai pu me concentrer tranquillement dans le travail pratique et physique – ici et pour la maison de Krishna, à « Forecomers » pour la maison de D.M, et pour l'achat des terres, et puis pour m'occuper de Samuel, et de ceci ou cela... Et ce soir je reçois une lettre de C me racontant l'entrevue qu'elle et R ont eue avec D.D et Klara, au cours de laquelle ils ont beaucoup parlé de moi, de ma situation ici, du jeu des forces, de la condition ou de la mentalité que tout cela révèle, etc. Et je me sens très gêné de cette attention, d'autant plus que, depuis cette dernière crise, je suis passé dans un état où tout cela n'existe presque plus : quelque chose a changé en moi, comme si cette dernière épreuve m'avait délesté d'un poids d'ombre dans la conscience que j'ai des autres...

27-7-1985, Auroville:

G.M has received a card from M, written in Khajuraho, where she'd accompanied her ex-husband on a tour; he brought it with him, like a kid who has done a huge "bêtise"; she writes that she loves him, that she is homesick for Auroville, and is eager to come "home" to him... What to do? Both Ar. and I are very worried for her; it will be an awful shock for her when she comes and finds that G.M has joined with F, and so promptly too...!

29-7-1985, Auroville:

Soaz brings me Samuel in a rush: he's just fallen down and wounded his forehead; it is bleeding a lot and he yells till he falls asleep at her breast... I do not feel it is worth the trouble taking him for stitches, with all the additional shock it would entail... I make him a tight bandage... Soaz had been right in the next room, in Barbara's house, when it happened; she had left Samuel in Gwen's care, but Gwen isn't so careful now that Samuel has started to walk about on his own... Soaz is very tired and worried; it is one thing after another, and she does not feel up to the task with those two kids here, alone, D.A not knowing whether he wants to come back... I have been wondering a little if I shouldn't take them all with me, to give the kids a more balanced environment...

... Ar. and I looked at the last Bulletin of the Auroville Association in France... These people make full and blatant use of their close rapport with Satprem, in a way that I feel is sickening, and very detrimental to Auroville: they alone are the real ones! And, according to them, Matrimandir is now the "cathedral of nought" ("la cathédrale du néant")... What is the game...?

31-7-1985, Auroville:

There is a bit of drama with Seven who complains that I am putting far too much steel reinforcement in the pillars of D.M's house, arguing on the basis of his diplomas against my having none...!

... P.V came to me so I would sign a petition regarding an "old" Court case against about 30 of us, my name heading the list... It is so ironic that all these people who now want me out of Auroville must yet sign below my name...!

2-8-1985, Auroville:

Seven came here to see me today, under some pretext, but obviously with the wish to set things right between us, quietly; I found that encouraging...

... Ar. brings some refreshing news: it seems that Bill S has listed 5 points for consideration at the general meeting, in an attempt to lift up matters in a truer light; one of the points is the necessity to reaffirm that no collective Service can be withdrawn from any individual – and here my name is mentioned – without the full assent of the community... Perhaps Bhaga, who came a few days ago to ask me my views and understanding of the situation, has helped him to come to that...

... I received a sweet letter from Barbara; she, Akash and Ruud are staying in our house in Brittany, welcomed there by C and R; they are soon to return here...

4-8-1985, Auroville:

This morning Kanu, of the Ashram, came to see the site of D.M's house; it was good with him: the communication was clear and calm and poised; he gave a few good advices; he liked what he saw and understood my concerns for strength and stability, on this eroded land at the edge of a canyon, and his appreciation came as a relief for Johnny...

... I met with Ojha today, on the road... As usual he went on telling me that I must return to an "active life" in Auroville, and that he always supports me...! Isn't that funny...?!

9-8-1985, Auroville:

I spent a long time in my sleep – at least I remembered it more clearly this time – with the question of how to extirpate the "germ" of death from the cells; the problem remains, terrible, of the contagion: in order to transform a whole organism, a whole assembly of cells making up a single human body, and to give it enough time to receive, or become conscious of, the true life and discover the ways of the future, one should be in outer space, where particles are far apart and no other complex organisms are there, otherwise the contagion of death is infinitely too constant, and negating... And I asked then, in the dream "what if one is held and surrounded by Mother and Sri Aurobindo...?"...

... Ar. came this evening with her report of the general meeting: one of the issues was that no Service could reject any individual member without the full assent of the community; and therefore I was to be "allowed" to use the "Pour Tous" Service again; it also appears that those in "Pour Tous" who had written this declaration of rejection have now left the Service, just as it seems that some of the people who have been most active in wanting me out of Auroville are now themselves leaving Auroville... And it goes on and on...

But I do not want to go back to "Pour Tous"...

12-8-1985, Auroville:

I went early morning to the Airport to receive Barbara, Ruud and Akash; they are happy to be back, and to find the garden lush and thriving after all these rains; they have brought just a little bit of money to fix the leaking roof of the house...

14-8-1985, Auroville:

There is this worldwide explosion of concern and anxiety over this "new" machiavellic disease called "AIDS"... It is being spread in such a way as if fear – the very worst of all perversions – could ever be a help in getting rid of all the other perversions human nature teems with... But one never grows from fear...!

15-8-1985, Auroville:

Today Sri Aurobindo is 113...!

Something a little puzzling happened: I was just trying hard, while sitting at the Fire, at dawn, to firm up my resolve to banish "all desire", and particularly that stubborn desire in me to experience again an intimate friendship with a man... Soon, Samuel wanted to return here with me; we found G.M waiting for me and, next to him, Ilangu, who had simply decided he wanted to spend the day with me; I could see that G.M wasn't too happy with Ilangu's presence, but I couldn't possibly ask him to leave; a while later G.M left; others came and went; Samuel eventually fell asleep and I settled him inside, quietly; so then Ilangu was alone with me and I realised he had responded to an attraction that has long been felt between us, since the time he worked here as a carpenter; his attitude was very sweet, very candid and fine and genuine; there was a sense of given ness with him that touched me; I understood then that he was still a virgin, and felt very hesitant to delve further into a relationship with him... But through this, or in the event itself, I also felt... what...? like a tender sign from the Lord, and a smile... For the Lord alone knows what it is I am truly yearning for...!

... I experience all the time this struggle in relation to energies... It is like life, the whole of human life, is steeped into and supported by flows and currents of energy which, generally and usually, are blind, that is, not consciously aware of the Lord; they are there to sustain and fill up and enact a condition, groping and imperfect, the human condition. Without these energies, everything would fall flat, or return to some vegetal state... So the situation, for those who have become somewhat conscious of the Lord's direction in evolution, towards another, truer status of manifest material existence, is that one must learn to shift from the support of these energies onto the truer and deeper support of the Force, which they normally occult and veil. And this must be done at every step, for every movement and every activity, before there can be any question of changing them...!

And as long as we remain dependent on them, even for a very small part, we remain bound in our substance to processes that necessitate death, for death is their pole and their balance...

So, in this way, death is also the guardian of material Truth realised!!!

It is there to see that nothing that has not become absolutely Thine, pure in Thy Force, can be set free in Matter...

Thus one sees with great clarity how at the same time one needs more duration in life, in the body, in order to learn to let that shift operate, and yet the more one is prey to the necessity of death for all that is not fully transformed...

... Krishna came this afternoon, wanting me to listen to the tape of the music he had composed for today: a cry for Sri Aurobindo from a lost spaceship filled with humans...!

... This thing, this brief experience with Ilangu, hangs about me, with equal amounts of attraction and repulsion... I do not wish to fool myself and simply take it as "God-sent"... It would rather be that You let me now and then reap the results of my active desiring...!

I do belong to Thee, yes; but it is obvious that I still retain "I ness" and still affirm "my" needs... And if I ever make the "right" choices, it may not be for the truest of reasons...!

16-8-1985, Auroville:

Plodding on... I feel acutely the need of a physical renewal, as in those periodic cleansing rituals ancient societies used to practice...

19-8-1985, Auroville:

Today I had to acknowledge simply that I miss Auragni, and that I feel her inwardly calling me, in some way... F has been told that she is not happy and also that Diane is considering going back to Australia...

... This afternoon David N, visiting us at the site, told me he'd just been witness to a heavy scene about me, at "Pour Tous", between Jean and Ramesh, Jean forbidding Ramesh to ever let me have a basket again, and Ramesh reminding him of the general meeting' decision; and it seems that Ramesh quit his job...

... I have decided to write to Satprem; nothing personal, but about Auroville...

20-8-1985, Auroville:

Une longue communication de Satprem à Auroville est mise à la disposition de tous aujourd'hui, une copie chez Piero et GI, et une autre copie à « Fraternité » ; il s'agit en fait d'un entretien de Satprem avec Sujata, enregistré et transcrit par Sujata, à propos de la situation présente d'Auroville, et des suites et effets de la lettre de Luc où, depuis sa position de secrétaire et d'intime de Satprem, il déclarait qu'Auroville était « finie » ; et c'est ainsi qu'un certain nombre d'Auroviliens ont récemment décidé de quitter Auroville, qui serait passée au service du mensonge, etc.

Je suis allé lire ces 8 pages dactylographiées ce soir : un langage très simple ; c'est l'individu, c'est chacun qui doit trouver au-dedans le pouvoir et la capacité de marcher, et de vraiment progresser, et c'est seulement ainsi que les forces vives de l'avenir seront tirées, sollicitées, déclenchées, et se multiplieront... Satprem, avec ces mots, rétablit une perspective, gentiment mais fermement, et rappelle à chacun que c'est justement en marchant que l'on réveille et provoque l'adversaire et le dévoile, et d'abord en soi-même... Cependant il laisse aux mêmes individus qui croyaient pouvoir de bonne source condamner Auroville, le loisir de continuer de croire que ce sont eux qui sont sincères, que ce sont eux seuls qui portent la flamme de l'aspiration véritable ; il les admoneste, et leur rappelle encore la Révolution française, mais ils demeurent les « élus »...

... Enfin, le message de cet entretien m'a fait un peu de bien ; je me sens plutôt idiot maintenant d'avoir envoyé ma lettre juste ce matin... Mais ça ne fait rien... !

(Août 1985, entretien de Satprem avec Sujata :

Satprem commente avec Sujata les dernières nouvelles d'Auroville : les réactions soulevées par la récente lettre de Luc à Serge, où Luc laisse entendre que pour Auroville, c'est « trop tard » ; ce qui incite 13 Auroviliens à quitter Auroville...

Satprem : « La belle avance... !

Cela me rappelle ce que Mère m'avait dit en... je ne sais plus, en 70 ou 71, en parlant d'Auroville. Elle avait dit : 'La sincérité de la réalisation doit être telle que les éléments indésirables sont obligés de s'en aller...'

(Riant) Alors on arrive à une situation inverse !

C'est triste. Quelle bouillie...

(Silence)

Ce que Luc a écrit à Serge (j'ai lu cela il n'y a pas longtemps), c'est vrai ; mais c'est une vérité linéaire et mathématique. C'est comme cela (geste en ligne droite et mince), c'est vu en ligne droite mathématique. C'est vrai, ce qu'il dit. Mais la vie est rarement linéaire et mathématique : elle a des creux et des bosses et des abîmes et... et des grâces. On n'a pas le droit... je comprend bien pourquoi Luc a écrit ; il voulait secouer probablement ces Auroviliens, n'est-ce pas. Enfin... chacun voit les choses à sa façon, et il y a une utilité. Donc certainement, l'acte de Luc a eu une utilité. Seulement, comme les apparences sont toujours mensongères, les gens regardent juste la ligne et ils ne comprennent pas quel est le but derrière : ce que cela veut faire surgir à Auroville.

Mais on n'a pas le droit, à mon avis, de dire qu'une chose est 'finie', a 'échoué'... On n'a pas le droit de dire des choses totalement négatives sans proposer une solution positive. Sa négativité est réelle, n'est-ce pas, il a beaucoup de raisons de le dire... Et quand on regarde Auroville, c'est un peu attristant.

Ce qu'ils ne veulent pas comprendre (ce que j'ai essayé de leur faire comprendre pendant, combien ? - douze ans...), ce qu'ils ne veulent pas comprendre, c'est la nécessité d'un progrès intérieur : ils veulent faire des progrès extérieurs. Et le progrès intérieur, c'est difficile. Et si l'on ne veut pas faire le progrès intérieur, on se détruit. Les apparences peuvent être vivantes, mais on se détruit.

C'est l'histoire de Shantiniketan, n'est-ce pas : après le départ de Tagore, quel effort y a-t-il eu pour que ça vive ? Ils ont vécu de ce que Tagore avait créé, avait posé. Mais quel effort y a-t-il eu pour créer, vivre, progresser ?

A l'Ashram c'est la même chose - c'est pire. Alors les choses se fossilisent, deviennent une institution : elles ont toutes les apparences de la réussite, de la reconnaissance officielle... Shantiniketan est un grand, grand... je ne sais pas quoi, mais c'est une espèce de coque vide, vide et délabrée. L'Ashram a des apparences superbes, mais c'est poussiéreux et mort : la rivière a passé ailleurs, le courant a passé ailleurs. Si l'on ne veut pas faire l'effort... (ça alors, on peut dire que c'est mathématique et vrai !), si l'on ne veut pas faire l'effort, on se condamne.

La seule chose que Mère m'ait montrée... Ils disent : 'je ne suis pas au courant', ou 'je ne reçois pas l'information juste' – qu'est-ce que j'ai besoin d'information ? Ce n'est pas une question d'information ou 'd'information fausse'... c'est tout informé !

Sujata : La vérité vous est montrée, n'est ce pas, avec des images.

Satprem : Les gens peuvent penser ce qu'ils veulent, X, Y, Z pensent ce qu'ils veulent, cela ne me regarde pas ; mais moi, Mère m'a montré une seule chose, c'est ce bateau, avec ce moteur formidablement puissant qui était encombré de toutes sortes de choses invraisemblables, qui n'avaient rien à voir avec le bateau. Alors le moteur ne marchait pas, ne tournait pas, n'est ce pas. C'était un de ces gros blocs moteurs, et c'était encombré d'un bric à brac impossible qui n'avait rien à voir avec le moteur – et personne ne le mettait en route. Ca, Mère me l'a montré. Et puis la marée qui reflue, et la boue au fond. Bon, cela, c'est montré. Ca, c'est la situation vraie. Alors ils peuvent raconter tout ce qu'ils veulent, ou pour, ou contre – on me montre exactement ce qui est juste, ce qui correspond à une réalité. Eh bien la vérité, c'est qu'on ne met PAS le moteur en route. Ca, c'est la vérité. Et c'est la racine de toute l'histoire d'Auroville : s'ils ne mettent pas le moteur en route, ils se condamnent à mort, c'est évident ! Mettre le moteur en route, ça veut dire vraiment faire le progrès intérieur et la véritable chose. Pas des allées, des plantations, et des conseils exécutifs, des résolutions – pas tout ça ! Le moteur, cela veut dire, vraiment, la puissance intérieure – qui est formidable. Qui est FORMIDABLE. Et c'est cela dont ils ne se servent pas. C'est ça, le mal d'Auroville. Alors s'ils ne veulent pas s'en servir, ils vont à la fossilisation... réussie, n'est ce pas, ils seront comme à l'Ashram, ils réussiront très bien !

Mais personne ne met le moteur en route ! Ca, on me l'a montré – alors je ne le discute pas. C'est un fait. C'est le fait d'Auroville. Le reste, ce sont des histoires.

C'est cela qu'ils ne veulent pas comprendre : c'est la nécessité du progrès intérieur – du vrai progrès, celui qu'aucun copain ne peut voir, n'est ce pas : personne ne peut voir ça, il n'y a que Mère et Sri Aurobindo qui peuvent le voir. Pas des choses qu'on 'montre'. Et cela, c'est le vrai progrès, difficile, ardu ; et puis l'ennemi montre toutes les dents et les griffes dès qu'on veut faire le progrès. Ce n'est pas commode. Ils sont très tranquilles parce que, justement, l'ennemi n'a pas mis de griffes dedans. Il les laisse proliférer : 'allez-y, mes petits, allez-y, faites de jolies choses...'

Sujata : C'est-à-dire qu'il n'y a pas l'effort pour sortir du domaine de l'ennemi ?

Satprem : Non, il n'y a pas d'effort dans le vrais sens intérieur qu'on est à la fin d'un monde, que l'homme est en train de disparaître, n'est ce pas – de disparaître. Il s'agit de savoir si quelque chose de cette humanité va survivre et se transformer ou bien si un être nouveau (par quel moyen, je ne sais pas), si un être nouveau se manifesterà. C'est cela le problème. Sri Aurobindo a dit : 'Si l'homme ne veut pas se dépasser, il sera dépassé ; un être nouveau viendra et prendra la tête de l'évolution.'

Eh bien, c'est la phrase clé de ces quatre milliards et demi d'ignorants qui vivent sur la terre – c'est pourtant la clé de leur destin à tous. Et c'est la clé de cette bande de petits Auroviliens qui ne comprennent pas la Grâce qui leur est donnée. Alors qu'est-ce qu'ils veulent ? Est-ce qu'ils cherchent vraiment à dépasser l'homme ? Ils cherchent à l'améliorer, ils cherchent à mettre des petites peintures, des petits temples, des petits comités, et puis 'on a la reconnaissance de celui-ci', 'on a Monsieur Rajiv qui est avec nous', 'on a Monsieur...', enfin toutes ces idioties – qui sont en train de périr, justement, et de périr partout.

Alors ils vont demander : mais qu'est-ce que cela veut dire, 'dépasser l'humanité et faire l'être nouveau ?' Eh bien, il faut MARCHER pour le trouver ! Ce n'est pas donné, ce n'est dans aucun livre ! Il faut marcher, il faut faire des pas. Et dès que tu fais un pas, tu vois l'Ennemi qui sort ses griffes et ses dents, et qui est là. Alors là, tout de suite il est là. Tout de suite. Et tout de suite, on est sur le chemin. Tout de suite. On est sur le chemin, automatiquement – c'est la chose la plus merveilleusement automatique, ou abominablement automatique (comme on veut), qui existe. Il faut simplement vouloir comprendre cela, qui est le nœud du problème : cet être nouveau, le faire, le fabriquer – comment ? Alors on se dit... (si l'on aime Sri Aurobindo ou si l'on comprend un peu Mère), on se dit : bon, Ils savent ; donc il y a un moyen, donc il faut le chercher. Et comment ? Et COMMENT ? Et COMMENT ? Eh bien, ils n'auront pas besoin de poser la question trois fois avec un peu de sincérité, parce que dès la première fois, l'Ennemi sera là pour les griffer à la figure.

C'est cela, mettre le moteur en marche.

Il n'y a pas besoin de livres. Tous les livres possibles ont été donnés – il y a besoin de se mettre en marche, c'est tout. Dès qu'on veut faire le pas – un pas, un tout petit pas -, tout vous saute à la figure. Parce que l'Ennemi, il comprend très bien de quoi il s'agit. Tout vous saute à la figure – alors là, vous pouvez dire : ah, bon, je suis sur le chemin. Là, ça commence. Ça commence. Parce qu'il y a la Grâce formidable qui est là aussi – qu'ils n'ont pas utilisée. Il y a cette Puissance formidable qui est là, dont ils ne se sont pas servis. Et ça, c'est la vie. C'est la vie automatique. C'est la VIE, tu comprends ? C'est la vie d'Auroville. Tout de suite : ça vit. Autrement, c'est de la poussière. De la poussière dorée et institutionnalisée – comme à l'Ashram. Ils ont été, ces pauvres, ils ont été contaminés les uns après les autres par toutes sortes de 'poutchis'. Et les plus terribles, ce sont les poutchis de l'Ashram. Ca, les microbes qui se sont transportés de là, hein, et qui vont à Auroville, ils sont sérieux ! Et ils ont de jolies apparences (geste séduisant), et ça a de si belles idées, et c'est si noble – les imbéciles ! Ils ne comprennent rien au chemin. Et surtout, ils ne comprennent pas la puissance des forces qu'ils déclenchent en essayant de faire ce petit progrès. Ils ne comprennent pas que les individus sont de tout petits masques pour des forces FORMIDABLES. Alors ils peuvent mettre en branle une Grâce suprême, et ils peuvent mettre en branle la pourriture... oui, celle du monde justement, qui veut tout bouffer. Ca a des apparences merveilleuses, n'est ce pas, tout a l'air de coller si bien – et puis tout se décolle, tout craque.

Le progrès... il faut marcher, il faut marcher, il faut se casser la figure. Il faut mettre en branle les forces. Alors on comprend. On comprend sur le vif ce que c'est – ce qui se passe. Et cela, c'est le cœur d'Auroville – enfin, cela aurait dû être le cœur d'Auroville, justement, sa puissance. Mère disait (Mère savait, n'est ce pas), elle disait : 'C'est la seule chance d'éviter une guerre mondiale'

Alors comment une petite bande d'olibrius comme cela, dans un coin, peut-elle éviter une guerre mondiale ? Ils ne se sont jamais posé la question ? Ils n'ont jamais compris ce que cela veut dire ? Ils ne comprennent pas qu'ils sont vraiment les petits pantins de forces si formidables – dans les deux sens. Ils ne veulent rien faire... Extérieurement, ils font des tas de trucs, ils font des tas de discours aussi.

Enfin, c'est... Ils ne mettent pas en branle les forces. Ils ne donnent pas à la Grâce divine l'occasion de se manifester. Ils font comme à l'Ashram – ils ont été corrompus. Invisiblement corrompus par ces gens de l'Ashram. Ils n'ont pas compris le boulot que Sri Aurobindo et Mère ont fait au milieu de ces cancrelats... qui ont tout bouffé : ils ont fait un festin de Mère et de Sri Aurobindo – ils les ont boulottés – tout ! Alors, maintenant, on va à Auroville parce que là, on a plus d'aise, on a plus de 'liberté', on peut...

Sujata : C'est pourquoi Mère disait qu'Auroville n'était pas assez loin de l'Ashram.

Satprem : Oui, de l'Ashram. Ils ont été corrompus par les gens de l'Ashram. Et ils ne se rendent même pas compte !

Ils ne se rendent même pas compte.

Mais enfin, c'est inutile de dire : c'est ceci, c'est cela – de faire des accusations extérieures. Le fait est là : le fait qu'ils ne se servent pas de la Puissance qui est là. Et pour cela, il n'y a pas trente-six méthodes, hein !

Alors, à quoi ça sert d'être négatif et de dire : 'Auroville est perdue' ? Qu'est-ce qui est perdu ? Il faudrait faire une distinction, d'abord, entre Auroville et les gens qui sont dedans – d'abord. Auroville, c'est quelque chose à venir. Mais les gens qui sont dedans, c'est quelque chose de présent. Alors on peut discuter tout ce que l'on veut sur les modalités d'Auroville – on s'en fout, n'est-ce pas, c'est l'affaire de l'avenir. Ce qu'il faudrait discuter, ce sont les modalités internes, et la sincérité des gens qui sont là – leur capacité de mettre le moteur en route. De le mettre en route pas pour faire des 'réformes' d'Auroville, mais pour faire des réformes de leur propre nature.

Alors, bon, quitter Auroville, qu'est-ce que cela veut dire ?

Pour moi, 'l'institution Auroville', ou le grand Auroville avec un grand A, pour moi c'est une affaire secondaire. L'affaire essentielle, ce sont les individus. Parce que c'est de ces individus que dépend l'autre : l'Auroville, A majuscule.

Et l'Auroville 'A' majuscule telle que Mère l'a vue, formée, conçue, c'est là-bas (geste loin devant), il faut y aller. Et le problème, ce sont les individus qui sont là. Alors il faut distinguer entre la collectivité d'Auroville, et les individus d'Auroville. C'est pour cela que dire aux individus : il n'y a rien à foutre... autant dire qu'il n'y a rien à foutre avec l'homme ! Parce que nulle part il n'y a à foutre avec les humains. Justement, ils ne veulent pas faire de progrès. Ils veulent s'en remettre à la Médecine, à la Science, aux Lois, aux Constitutions, à la Police, au Clergé, aux Ashrams, aux... ils veulent s'en remettre à tout, sauf à eux-mêmes – sauf à leur propre moteur.

Alors la question 'Auroville est perdue' et tout cela, pour moi, cela ne veut rien dire. Ou bien 'est-ce qu'Auroville réussira ?' – je ne suis pas prophète : ce qui sera, je n'en sais rien. Ce que je regarde, ce sont les individus. Et la vérité du problème, c'est cela, c'est ce moteur, c'est cette Puissance qu'on met en route – ou qu'on ne met pas en route.

Bon.

Mais il y a une logique simple, c'est ceci : à quoi sert de ficher le camp, alors que des forces conjuguées... peuvent... peuvent s'aider, peuvent, justement, se multiplier – la capacité individuelle peut être multipliée, n'est-ce pas. Alors le fait qu'on est plusieurs à vouloir quelque chose... Si les meilleurs éléments d'Auroville se retrouvent isolés à... je ne sais pas, à Paris, dans un coin d'Himalaya, bon, ils pourront peut-être faire leur progrès individuel, c'est possible... Mais tout de même, à Auroville, il y a une chance, c'est quelque chose qui a été intérieurement (je ne dis pas extérieurement), qui a été intérieurement formée par Mère. Alors il vaudrait mieux que les quelques-uns qui sont sincères conjuguent leurs forces ; mais 'conjuguer', cela ne veut pas dire former des comités, n'est-ce pas ! Cela veut dire que, silencieusement, sans même le savoir, chacun de ceux qui sont sincères, automatiquement et invisiblement va aider les autres : les forces se multiplient, n'est-ce pas, se conjuguent. Tandis que cela ne sert à rien de partir. Cela ne sert à rien, d'être négatif.

Il y a un certain nombre d'éléments qui sont là, et qui sont sincères – eh bien, qu'ils poussent davantage leur sincérité.

Ils vont se retrouver sur le pavé de l'Occident, ou sur les routes de l'Himalaya, ou que sais-je, et... pfft ! Quoi ? A quoi ça les avance ? Il faut la construire, Auroville, il faut la construire du dedans. Sri Aurobindo n'a pas arrêté de le dire : le monde nouveau, il se construit de l'intérieur. Alors qu'est-ce que cela veut dire ? Ils ne se posent pas les vraies questions ! Moi je me suis usé les pieds à me poser des questions ! Je les ai posées, tu sais, en bouloignant.

Ce n'est pas la question de changer d'endroit, ni même que chacun change le travail qu'il fait (que ce soit, je ne sais pas, planter des cacahuètes ou... je ne sais pas ce que font les uns et les autres), ce n'est pas la question de changer leur travail, c'est réellement une question intérieure. Et individuelle. Leur action extérieure peut être ce qu'elle veut – elle sera nécessairement imparfaite parce que tous les hommes sont imparfaits, et nécessairement ils se heurteront à d'autres ego parce que le monde est plein d'ego. C'est comme cela. Mais tout change à partir du moment où réellement on... on décide : mais voyons, Sri Aurobindo a dit cela : 'Si l'homme ne veut pas se dépasser, il sera dépassé ; un autre être viendra et prendra la tête de l'évolution.' Ils ne comprennent pas la... le Sésame... Ils ne comprennent pas ! Ils ne comprennent pas qu'il y a des clés formidables – ils ne s'en servent pas. On est au moment où toutes les clés sont là (geste sous la main), c'est une Grâce sur la terre. Et ils ne s'en servent pas – quoi, qu'est-ce qu'ils en font ? Qu'est-ce qu'ils en font, de cette Grâce formidable, qu'est-ce qu'ils en font ? Ils veulent 'arranger' Auroville, c'est ridicule – on n'arrange pas Auroville, on n'arrange pas... ça n'a aucun sens, d'arranger Auroville. Ce qui a un sens, ce sont les individus qui FONT DEVENIR Auroville. Auroville n'est pas. Elle est dans... (geste au-dessus). C'est une possibilité. C'est comme l'âme : chaque individu, chacun de ces quatre milliards et demi d'ignorants naît avec une âme – mais qui s'en sert, de l'âme... Elle est là, comme ça (geste au-dessus, un peu loin), et il y en a combien sur un million qui pensent, qui savent qu'ils ont une âme et que cette âme a un pouvoir ? Combien ? Eh bien, à Auroville c'est la même chose : il y a l'âme d'Auroville qui est là... quelque part (geste)...

Mais si l'on ne met pas le moteur intérieur, il n'y a rien : ça reste là-haut (geste), c'est tout. Ou alors il y a une caricature, comme à l'Ashram, comme à Shantiniketan, comme partout, toutes les institutions. En Europe... en France, ils sont partis avec des mots magiques qui étaient vraiment des mots très merveilleux il y a quelques siècles : liberté, égalité, fraternité – c'est beau, tu sais, c'est beau, il y a de quoi faire brûler des cœurs. Ce sont quand même des Français qui ont crié ça. (Satprem contemple les trois mots) Liberté... Egalité... Fraternité... Ah ! la République a bien réussi en France, hein ? Elle est belle ! Alors, qu'est-ce qui reste de toutes ces choses ? S'il n'y a pas la puissance intérieure, il reste des masques grotesques.

(Silence)

Ce n'est pas la question d'Auroville, c'est la question des individus qui sont là, et de leur capacité de faire le progrès réel. Alors on pourra reparler d'Auroville.

Le progrès, ça veut dire quoi ? Que tout se casse : c'est ça, le progrès. C'est très difficile, le progrès. Si tout va bien, c'est qu'on n'y est pas du tout... !

(Silence)

Il faudrait conjuguer les forces. Il n'y a pas beaucoup de temps – il n'y a pas beaucoup de temps. On m'avait montré vingt centimètres d'eau sous la quille – c'est peut-être la quille du monde. Il n'y a pas beaucoup de temps. ET vraiment il y a une puissance si formidable qui est là – qui est là, comme ça (geste sous la main). Qui en veut ? Seulement, ça brûle, hein ! ça brûle ! Oh ! ce n'est pas difficile de se mettre sur le chemin : on s'en aperçoit tout de suite ! On s'en aperçoit tout de suite, on vous le fait percevoir tout de suite.

Donc, les quelques-uns qui comprennent un peu, il faudrait qu'ils comprennent encore plus profondément. Ça, ce serait plus efficace que de s'en aller à Paris, à Berlin, au Kamchatka ou je ne sais où ; ça, ce serait le vrai chemin. Et il n'y a pas besoin de former des 'équipes spéciales' : c'est un boulot individuel, n'est-ce pas ; et c'est ça, le vrai pouvoir d'Auroville – qui n'est pas. Qui est là, qui attend. Alors, la 'perte d'Auroville', vraiment, cela n'a aucun sens pour moi : ce sont des choses de l'avenir – je ne suis pas prophète. Mais son présent, ce sont des individus. Et cela, c'est l'affaire de chacun – ils comprennent, ou ils ne comprennent pas. Mais en réalité, ce sont eux qui tiennent la clé du moteur d'Auroville. C'est tout.

Il n'y a pas autre chose à dire : c'est l'essence.

Sujata : Vous avez dit tout à l'heure que ce pouvoir formidable qui est là, comme ça, 'brûle'... Qu'est-ce que ça veut dire exactement : si c'est non utilisé, ou... ?

Satprem : Si c'est non utilisé, il ne brûle nullement ! Il vous laisse à toutes les forces qui sont là – il vous laisse être bouloité par tout le reste, c'est tout. C'est une grâce, cette puissance – une grâce difficile – mais si l'on ne s'en sert pas, si l'on ne veut pas l'appeler, elle vous laisse à la bouillie générale du monde, jusqu'au jour où : plouc, c'est fini, et puis voilà... on recommence. Mais si l'on appelle la Grâce, si l'on se met en route, alors là c'est du feu... ouf ! C'est du feu, et c'est une bataille. Là, on comprend tout – on le comprend automatiquement. Tu sais, il n'y a pas de discours à faire, il n'y a pas de livres à écrire : on le comprend sur le vif. On comprend la réalité de l'Enjeu, les forces qui sont là – l'ABOMINATION qui est là. Et la Puissance merveilleuse qui est là (geste côte à côte). Mais l'abomination, elle sait vous montrer comme elle est méchante...

Le chemin est automatique. Automatiquement on met les forces en branle. Il n'y a rien de plus 'enfantin', si je puis dire. Sri Aurobindo disait 'le Supramental s'expliquera de lui-même'. Eh bien je t'assure qu'il s'explique très bien de lui-même ! Il n'y a pas de discours à faire. Seulement, si l'on ne fait rien... eh bien, vous ne faites rien : vous avez un joli nom, tu vois, et puis votre joli nom ira en poussière, et puis voilà. 'Liberté, Egalité, Fraternité', c'est une farce, n'est-ce pas.

Alors j'espère qu'Auroville ne sera pas une farce, c'est tout.

Mais Auroville n'est pas. Auroville, c'est ce que les composants le feront devenir. La situation interne d'Auroville, je la connais bien ; ce qui se passe à l'extérieur, c'est la bouillie habituelle, avec des plus et des moins, mais enfin cela ne m'intéresse pas – ça ne me déçoit pas ni ne m'enthousiasme. Mais les individus, les éléments du Travail, qu'est ce qu'ils foutent ?

Depuis douze ans que Mère est partie, eh bien toi et moi, on a peiné, et on a marché, et on ne savait pas où mettre ses pieds... Eh bien, c'est ça le progrès : on ne sait pas où on va, et c'est peinant.

Qu'est ce qu'il y a à dire d'autre ?

Tu as quelque chose à dire ?

Sujata : Ils ne font même pas l'effort...

Satprem : Mais oui, je n'arrête pas de le dire, n'est ce pas.

Depuis le début, depuis dix ou douze ans que j'essaie de leur dire : attrapez cette Puissance, attrapez Ça, attrapez la vraie chose.

Mais c'est la seule chose qu'ils n'attrapent pas.

Ils ne comprennent pas que, réellement, on va dans le noir – on va dans le noir, et c'est blessant. Je ne sais pas... j'ai tellement usé, usé, usé des peines et des chemins comme ça, sans rien comprendre, sans rien savoir. Et pourtant, tu vois, c'était de marcher qui importait, c'était de se casser la figure qui importait. Il n'y a pas de livre pour ça, il n'y a pas de recette pour ça. Il faut mettre la Puissance en route, c'est tout. Et alors, tout le reste découle. Tandis qu'ils font l'inverse : ils veulent 'bâtir' Auroville sans mettre en route la puissance intérieure, alors c'est une farce, c'est un mensonge. Et ça, c'est beaucoup la pourriture de l'Ashram – beaucoup ! C'est l'Ashram qui les a contaminés. Enfin...

Ils veulent faire une petite humanité 'proprette'. C'est cela, leur idéal le plus sublime. Proprette, et puis décente, avec un bon nom, et puis on a de l'idéal, on fait une jolie ville, c'est 'l'unité humaine' – une belle petite humanité toute proprette, là. Eh bien, ce n'est pas ça.

Une humanité proprette, ce n'est pas possible, parce que l'humanité est faite pour être dépassée. Elle est finie, l'humanité, elle est en train de crever. Alors c'est là, le prochain pas. Mais le prochain pas, personne ne le connaît : il faut le faire.

Et alors, on met en branle les forces. C'est tellement fantastiquement automatique.

On met en branle les forces – tout de suite. Tout de suite ! Dès que vous voulez faire un bout de... un centimètre sur le vrai chemin, alors là vous êtes attaqués : tout de suite l'Ennemi montre ses vraies griffes, ce qu'il est. Et tout de suite il y a la Grâce qui est là (geste côte à côte). A ce moment-là on est en route. Alors on commence à voir tout le Jeu ; on commence à comprendre le Jeu du monde.

C'est la seule chose que j'avais à dire : ça ne sert à rien de changer de pays. Il faut changer de manière d'être. Et l'opération est aussi difficile que pour un vieux poisson de sortir des eaux et d'inventer des poumons. C'est aussi difficile. Il ne s'agit pas de changer d'idée, hein, il faut changer de manière d'être.

(Silence)

Il y a comme... quelque chose de Mère qui dit : 'Tout de même, encore du gâchis ?' Mère n'aime pas le gâchis. Alors pourquoi gâcher des forces, encore ? On peut encore essayer de le leur dire...

Voilà, il n'y a rien à dire. Moi, ça me fatigue de parler – je ne suis plus dans ce monde-là... »

I feel the Force again, and I am at once grateful and anxious...

Let it stay, and not leave me again, let it act and burn and work and break and dissolve and churn, and bring the peace and silence; with it the world, and all life, all existence make sense; without it, nothing does...

The moral censor in me tells me this is not possible, as I must first give up all desire, sincerely etc. But my experience is the other way around: when it is there, present and active, all desires simply go to ashes, and only then, in its Presence, comes the joy of surrendering, of being taken apart and remoulded into whatever it sees...

... Ar. tells me of another stupid, pretentious letter from the French Association... I find that there is an obtuseness, a thickness...
C'est la bêtise qui est l'élément commun à toutes ces attitudes...
We have to laugh!

On his way to the airport to receive M this morning, G.M stopped here, seeking encouragement... And this evening, Ar. and I were walking back from the Green Belt, G.M stopped his taxi, alone, to say he'd botched it all and M had gotten down at "Sincerity"; it had turned very sour between them; she was waiting for me...
So I spend the evening with her, trying to dissolve the drama, by letting her see the various elements and the different levels; she then decided to go to "Dana" and pack the rest of her things, and she asked to come back here, either at Ar.'s or in C's house; I drove her to "Dana" late tonight, stayed with them for a moment, and left them...

Krishna this morning refused to lend me a ladder which I needed... What is this game he keeps playing with me? I do not know. But, on a plain human level, I find it rotten, and I find him opaque...
... There is a funny "side effect" to the Pressure that has become active again – or of which I have become aware again -: a layer has risen up, which I did not know and had not experienced as yet; it is a layer all imbued with violence, or in which violence is a "native" expression... Does it come from another, distant life? It is quite foreign to me now, in this present make-up; but I find myself, at odd moments, and quite simply and "naturally", ready to punch and knock down the first person who will cross me...!

M and G.M have been trying to reach some clarity, but it doesn't seem to work out...; they come now and then to see me, and sometimes separately, but what can I do? I am responsible for that too...!
M has now moved to Ar.'s...

But, to bring it out, to put things in their place, I also need to be dynamised, accomplished, fulfilled...

In this life I have long felt that, in human terms, it is as if I have no destiny. And this is not easy.

But I have a true destiny, in the sense of a function which I must unite with, a manifestation of the Presence... And this is in the Lord's hands!

... Today, fleetingly, I saw my own true physical self: my face, in profile, and the top of my body; almost the same features, nearly the same eyes, but full, a contained strength, a wholesomeness...

... All day, and especially this afternoon and this evening, there is an inner flow, with the potential of an intense sadness, as an expression, or a misinterpretation of the opacity that remains between That, its Presence within, and its tangibility to the body – particularly in relation to people, to others: the superficiality of what goes on between separate beings becomes so... inadequate, and so noisy, so messy... With the least imbalance in the energies, with the least weakness in my awareness, with the least veiling of that contact I need so much, I begin again to see things, Auroville, and our situation here, in a crude and critic light, and the sensation returns of a zoo, or rather of a sort of weird pathology Museum, and I can't stand anybody anymore...! I would scream for some human beauty, some human harmony; I could scream for the sight of just one person who is in harmony...

Sitting at the Samadhi this evening, I saw Pranab and a few others: they all looked to me like monsters, deflated monsters, wrecks or shadows of other beings, depleted, abnormal, grotesque; and we here are sometimes looking the same, prisoners of our self-created formations, stuck...

27-9-1985, Auroville:

I have been given a work that consists mainly in watching; it solicits attention and care, but nothing much else... I could surely yoke myself to some creative work as well, by disciplining the daily time so I could paint again, for instance; but it seems to be just a trick, now, an illusion, in the sense that it makes no difference to the capacity to BE when nothing external happens, when no energies – with their own purposes – are invited in or through one: death remains, separateness remains... What I need, what I thirst for is to open to the movement of Your Force, to be drilled by it, so that... Your creation takes place...!

But when I begin to feel, to experience something of it – and to hope that it may have a bearing or an intent on this existence –, it dwindles away, and leaves me groping after its trace, fixed in the perimeter of my own limitations; and I am reluctant to go into the currents of habitual, un-offered energies...

I don't know... It is surely Yours to decide, and I can't complain... It is probably just the ego, part of it, which misses the thrill...!

28-9-1985, Auroville:

No news from anywhere, neither from Auroville, nor from inside myself... Have You given up on us, on "me"? 30-9-1985, Auroville:

It seems that Your touch is back with me... But in relation to others I am caught between two states, a strange helplessness and sadness, which is quite overwhelming when those others are somehow close to me, as I feel then that I ought to have something to give them, to manifest for them... I often think that perhaps I must only learn to move deeper in it, with more confidence, dropping all pretence at a reasonable and ordinary appearance, un-threatening, because this sadness has also the character of a semi trance state – my ability to speak is very diminished, and to formulate even the simplest statement becomes difficult; I don't know; I dislike so much, and feel so ashamed, to impose this sadness upon others... And the funny thing about it is that, as soon as I am alone, it changes character and becomes just a silent yearning that borders on a sort of ecstasy, with how tangible the contact is and how intense the yearning...

Is there – is there not – someone on the earth, at this time, whom I can cherish and hold and discover Your way with? I feel so sorry to have nothing to contribute, nothing to offer... Sometimes it seems to me that the right relationship with the one right person would be the key to my living offering, and all the rest would follow...

But it's alright: I am facing the wall, and knocking at Your door; I do not wish to escape. I only pray that this may be a real facing, a real knocking, on the real door! I do not doubt the way, but I doubt myself, my own validity and my own experience...

3-10-1985, Auroville:

One very vivid dream last night, as if from another life: I am with a friend and we are witnessing - and at times trying to help - the defence and defeat of a village fortress, in the olden times; the attacking army is at the end using huge charging animals that look like lamas or camels, with long dark hair; the place is up on a plateau, with high mountains nearby, and the village itself is like a beautiful maze of lanes and work areas, with much sweetness to it... I love my friend and it hurts so much when he too must go, and he leaves me...

This was followed, perhaps, by an interesting activity that brought out some old initiatic itineraries, in Corsica, that are somehow connected with the existence of Auroville now...

... Nothing went smoothly today: just confusion and delays... And to add a cause of unease, I received a telegram from E.B asking me to pick her up at the airport on Monday: for her to come back to Auroville in her present mental condition would seem like sheer stupidity... but, what do I know? I lack the clear impulse to telegraph her back not to come; so I do nothing...

5-10-1985, Auroville:

All that felt real has gone behind the veil, and I am just moving along, in nowhere, emptily moving just because that's how it is here; one moves, and rides, and pretends...

Perhaps You see no possibility in me, and I just have to grope through this shallowness that life will provide...

I get upset at myself and at the way of things... This afternoon it happened with Janaka too: the least hint of "spirituality" revolts me now: spirituality is gone, it is a farce, or it is just another miserable way to store one's experience so that one can build a "higher" persona; but within that, there is nothing, nothing that makes any real difference...

You alone have the capacity to make a difference, to realise the world, and to focus it true. And That chooses.

And so if none of it is going to take place right here, in what "I" am, then no amount of gymnastics of any kind will alter that fact...

There is You and only You...!

... I learned today that, despite Satprem's letter, Coco and Rakhal have decided to leave Auroville...

7-10-1985, Auroville:

I feel physically vulnerable; there is an extreme sensitiveness whenever I go out of the area...

I am taking more and more distance from an aspect of the experience here that I would call the pathological dimension, as regards the necessary change in our human condition; I cannot stand anymore this display of "flips" crowding onto Your way - including my own "variety"!

But I have to acknowledge too that my nervous endurance seems to be deteriorating: there are many energies which, at the least contact, create havoc in my own aggregate...

... Ar. has kept me some dinner; she says that she is now worried about M, about her psychological state: M is taking more sedatives, and that cuts her off from her own capacity to respond to the difficulty, while it numbs her pain; G.M is, I am afraid, cornering her into a nasty situation...

8-10-1985, Auroville:

I have now learned of Shankar's decision to leave Auroville; perhaps it will make some people happy, but not me: even though I am far from supporting his manner, still, he is a brother; and to leave, at this point, seems to me just another symptom of... as Satprem puts it, our incapacity to start the engine of the ship...

... I don't know... I am afraid not to progress, not to move, not to BECOME: it frightens me, it scares me...

9-10-1985, Auroville:

There seems to develop a sort of deepening crisis, at many levels; and it is more and more absorbing; the questions involve more and more of "me"... Time is passing, and I look and look, and I don't know: I don't think it is despair anymore – there is too much gratitude for that now; but, what is before one?

It is only when the action of the Force makes itself felt, unmistakably and beyond any need for physical proof, that all this questioning ceases...

Tout le jour je me suis senti si mal, si intensément mal, dans le physique, dans la vie et dans la conscience ; comme l'incarnation d'une impasse : être une impasse... Et il y a ce besoin d'aimer, d'une ouverture pour aimer, d'un support vivant pour apprendre à aimer, à couler dans le monde, avec le monde nouveau...

Ce sont des mots : alors que l'expérience est presque insupportable dans son impossibilité. On pourrait hurler ainsi.

Et, en fait, il y a comme un espace en arrière, un espace qui est le contrepoids de la condition humaine, où l'on hurle, sans cesse... Et c'est terrible.

Il n'y a pas de chemin.

Sans Toi, sans la Force, aucune expérience n'a le pouvoir de faire la différence, de révéler un autre Etat, vivant enfin...

Et j'ignore, finalement, pourquoi il m'est parfois donné de Te sentir, et parfois cela m'est refusé...

13-10-1985, Auroville:

Sunday... Gnanivel came to see me; this was sweet, but it put me late in my cleaning of the house; then E.B came: I am refusing to be her crying place; she has to make it straight, or return to France; she left her passport and ticket with me for safekeeping...

... I had planned to go down to Pondy with Barbara; but then Ar. was uneasy about it, Soaz brought me Samuel, who wanted me to stay, G.M came to ask me "permission" to go and wish Shankar's birthday (!); on and on... I should have paid more attention; but, leaving each to their drama – M to hers, Ar. to hers -, we took off...

And on the way down – I don't know, I was not alert, and Barbara was talking to me, and I was emotionally held with my having left Samuel crying -, just as we rode past Jipmer, a small girl jumped and ran out onto the road: like an arrow she came in the front of the bike... I did all I could to swerve and avoid running over her, and I think that is when my front brake snapped, and we skidded and fell sideways, and the whole weight of the bike came on my leg...

Then, it was rather extraordinary: Barbara got up unhurt, without a scratch; the little girl got up and was at once taken away by on-lookers, and a small crowd immediately gathered around us; everybody was extremely gentle, reassuring me that the child was unharmed and telling me to leave, and showing concern about my knee: my pants were torn out and one knee was scraped raw... The bike was a little damaged, dents and broken pieces, and it took me some time to start it again. We left and rode into town. We were both quiet. I was very much touched, and feeling that this should not have happened, should not ever happen... I must be really off the track, really wrong, to allow for such violence to intrude...

We did our shopping, both stunned, and had dinner in a restaurant...

Returning, I found a letter from Ar., confused and resentful... I wrote her a long and firm answer: it is time to move on...

I was half awake throughout the night, the scene of the accident repeating itself from different angles, along with some other symbolic situations...

... Today is G.M's birthday; he came to spend an hour with me early afternoon; then Soaz brought me Samuel and I took him with me back to "Ravena"; I told Janaka that I would not go ahead with the alteration he and D.M have been pushing for and that I wanted to have nothing to do with it; I handed him a letter I had prepared for D.M, stating in effect my refusal to follow what they term as a "spiritual progress"... This may look like blackmail on my part, but it isn't, because in fact I am ready to leave, almost too ready...

15-10-1985, Auroville:

Une curieuse expérience dans la nuit : il y a eu une sorte de catastrophe, précédée d'une guerre stupide – comme un dernier acte d'arrogance de l'homme devenu conscient de la nécessité de changer -, et c'est une débâcle générale de tous les survivants, la nuit, dans l'océan ; c'est un chaos terrible, percé de lueurs ; des foules se débattent sur des épaves, des débris de constructions qui flottent épars ; je me trouve là, lié à quelques-uns, et je ne cesse de montrer qu'il faut aller seul, sans supports, et nager librement, sans peur de ce qui est dans les profondeurs de l'eau ; et nous avançons à la nage au sein de ce tumulte, nos corps parfois couverts de créatures sous-marines, dans cette étrange clarté de fin du monde... Au moment de la guerre, déclanchée par la stupidité des dernières convictions, j'observais à distance, et je voyais la seule issue possible, sur le front de mer, et de loin j'apercevais tel ou tel se détachant de la folie générale et se dirigeant aussi vers l'océan ; et je crois que j'y guidais C aussi...

And there was a strange dream with Diane and Auragni too: I find them in a big house, in "Aspiration"; a house quite full of funny people, all working gaily; there is a sort of on-going conference; when she sees that I have no aggressiveness towards her, Diane accepts my presence and becomes friendly; and then Auragni wakes up: it is not that she recognises me but... somehow she awaits me, and when I touch her, it is like a bursting, and we both hug each other so completely, without a thought, almost madly...

This evening I had very clear moments with D.M and Janaka, at their place in Pondy; I shall go on with the work... 17-10-1985, Auroville:

The situation with Ar. is precarious; she has a hard time accepting the opening up of our relationship, and I do not know how to help... She came with me to "Ravena", then to Pondy, after the Puja. While we have lunch she tells me how violently resentful at me she becomes when she cannot see me as much as she needs to; that she cannot stand this any more and she is thinking to move away from "Sincerity"... There is a kind of threat implied in the projection of such dramatic move, but I do not mind now; I just want to walk; my need to walk has grown: wherever, in whatever way, this life must grow into You; make me walk...!

19-10-1985, Auroville:

I had a very interesting and complex dream-experience; it seemed to occur at several levels simultaneously: I enter and begin climbing inside a very intricate house, very luminous, with many storeys; at first it seems I am climbing down; there are symbolic objects arranged in certain ways, and the general pattern seems to be repeated, with variations, at each storey; it is all very colourful and quiet at the same time, vivid and full; after many such levels, it begins to be that I am climbing up rather than down ; and, with a sort of mounting joy and alert liveliness within me, I also begin to try and levitate, as I do in some of my dreams when I shift my centre of gravity and move in the air. Then I enter vast rooms, that are empty except for paintings or illustrations on their walls, very rich in colours, all relating to an epoch long gone, extremely evolved – and it has much to do with the inner reality of the American Indian. At one point Samuel enters after me and runs toward me in one of these vast rooms, all so joyful... Yet at the very same time all this happens, it also seems that I am making a very difficult and intense physical journey, filled with obstacles and psychological stress, on a lorry...

... I wonder now: if instead of this Kali Yuga we would live in Satya Yuga... I presume death would still occur...: would we still aspire for transformation...?

Because I can see that, say, in my sattvic parts, I suffer from this twisted world and I yearn for one of straightness – "Ritam, Satyam, Brihàt..."; and perhaps this very suffering, or this very yearning, is itself too self-satisfied, and it keeps for itself a part of the offering I need to make to That, to the new world...

I was supposed to drive with N over to some stone-quarry...

We were hardly on the road that my clutch cable snapped... But N kept focussed and had it replaced in no time at all and we drove off; the place was actually farther away than I had thought, in the area of Gingee – a large group of rocky hillocks, extremely silent, and filled still with an ageless atmosphere, as if one was stepping on pathways that belonged simultaneously to very ancient times, into a deep permanence of India... We placed our order and rode back at night, and I spent over an hour with D.M and Janaka in town, while N had his meals on his own, going over sketches of windows, cupboards and benches... I let N drive on the way back; I liked this little trip, and his self contained sweetness was helpful...

Early this morning Ojha came to visit here, and I had to drive him back home later... He and his family are moving to Brindavan, where a set of rooms have been made ready for them; Myrtle and her kids can now return to their house, but one needs first to assess the damages and do the necessary repairs... We meet there later in the day: the house is filthy, like a dirty camping ground; what with an army of useless servants who had no care for the place itself, the house has been badly neglected...

Incidentally, Ojha told me today that Diane had been asked by "some people" to quit her work in the Auroville administration so that she would take better care of Auragni...

... G.M came to see me at "Ravena", fully drunk, asking me to come and see him – he had left a note yesterday but I had not gone... So I spent part of the evening at "Dana" with him and F, who seems to be able to take him as he is... There was quite a drama in the Green Belt, though, with fires being set to some huts and several thefts being committed in the evening; we had to go there and try to help; but the reactions and responses on display, by the Aurovilians residing there, were not exactly... a joy to see...!

Il me semble assez indispensable de trouver soit une relation privilégiée, soit un ensemble de relations créatif, dans le sens de la Force : qui s'offre à la Force comme terrain d'action et de transformation... Il me semble qu'isolément c'est trop difficile de faire le pas nécessaire – comme s'il fallait être stimulé ou dynamisé pour trouver la densité du pas à faire... Mais Auroville n'offre pas à présent cet ensemble de relations ; et la relation unique et privilégiée qui me rendrait réceptif... semble m'être refusée...

Je comprends mieux pourquoi l'homme s'accroche ainsi à ses passions et ses ambitions ; par-delà même la satisfaction de l'ego, cela demeure encore la seule manière de se mettre dans le mouvement du devenir.

Car si tout cela s'arrête ou s'annule, l'on a alors à faire avec le sens d'une telle incapacité, ou d'une vacance si absolue, que peu d'êtres, me semble-t-il, sont capables de supporter...

... Je voudrais tant me tourner physiquement vers Toi, Douce Mère, mettre devant Toi toutes ces questions et recevoir de Toi, plus que des réponses, l'état de conscience, la conscience qui les contient... J'éprouve tant le besoin d'être travaillé, brûlé, transmué par Ta Force ; mais je vois aussi que, tant que l'ego subsiste, l'action de la Force est encore mésusée ou détournée dans des intensités qui satisfont l'ego...

Alors parfois je me demande si, pour parvenir à brûler et dissoudre tout cet ego, il ne faudrait pas mieux vivre des situations et des circonstances plus extrêmes, plus extérieurement exigeantes et plus révélatrices...

Every night seems to contain a mine of elements, but it is not clear what one is to do with it or about it... Two distinct instances, last night: there is this extraordinary woven cloth, so very beautiful, in a material I have never seen before, at once loose and sturdy, and interwoven in it, in Japanese characters, is the word "Peace"... And then I am in Brittany, in the shop of an old sage who knows the secrets of the Mont Saint-Michel, the reality of the forces represented there and their relations to the Hindu gods; and his own grand-daughter is there, whom I meet and want to stay with me...

... I tried to go and visit with Barbara at her house... But, I can't connect any longer; not only have I nothing to say, but, in general with people now, when there is not the presence of aspiration, or of some intensity of need, I feel utterly disconnected, unrelated... The whole thing of "meeting", of sitting together becomes unclear and pointless...

The one thing that still draws a response in me is when there is some sexual energy emanating in a diffuse manner, as is often the case with men here; but that is my particular trouble, the thing I am not able yet to dissociate from...

... I see most of human existence as mechanics, now, the mere mechanics of living in a shallow state of awareness – the mechanics of drawing on and being drawn on by, forces and energies which, once exposed, cease to be convincing...

I can't get past the realisation that, unless and until another Life comes forward and manifests, even expressions of the psychic presence are bound to be misused and swallowed up... I seem to be growing into some kind of frozen stone and it scares me sometimes, but there is also a perception of being slowly shifting into a position that... would connect to the other side of the Veil, but here itself – as if one would eventually wake up in a reality that is filled, with That, right here... And that only then will everything be reconciled and our very existence be justified...

With the work at "Ravena", we are getting into more and more details as we proceed, and it makes one giddy sometimes, seeing that Janaka must go back and forth, sometimes twice a day, to communicate between D.M and I; but there is a real process in it too, each of us being faced with one's rigidities and preferences...

And in this way I am becoming increasingly involved, as if this external construction was also the means of substantial progress for each of us and for us together... It is quite beautiful...

... But I am still stuck with this sexual energy; it sits there, itself and unchanged, and quite unwilling, and it seems to be only through lack of opportunities that I remain "a good boy", so to say...: protected despite myself, kept apart...

... I go through many states in a single day... Sometimes I feel so exposed, almost endangered; or there are sudden difficulties that crop up, and they are not mentalised; and flows of contact; and periods of dullness that are hard to bear...

In the moment to moment experience, I seem to have come beyond the point where known, or even anticipated notions, could provide an explanation for the mysteries of the difficulties and fluctuations that occur; these notions, as when I read Sri Aurobindo, remain valid from a general point of view; even their validity seems to grow; but in the hour, seemingly left alone and groping from state to the next, crossing currents, losing ground, finding a flow, being dropped the next minute, one must, one has to, develop another, yet unknown, ability to orient oneself... I don't know...

... It has been a while now that I frequently feel, physically, a kind of disgust, or acute unease with myself. It has variations: from the sense of being stuck with a form that does not evolve according to what I now feel to be the truest or the most necessary; to a yearning for the presence of youth, that is now gone and yet not gone, but for something fuller, more complete, luminous and rich, that is not yet there...

... There is at the same time the sense that the necessary changes are so considerable, so formidable, and the way to go so... immense... and yet too there is this sense of immediacy: that it may merely be a question of reaching, of stepping over and into... a true world... Both, simultaneously, are there...

Des choses, des états qui passent... et les contradictions de cette Auroville viennent dans ma conscience comme autant de questions, et d'impossibilités... Cette séparation qui se creuse entre différentes parties d'Auroville, différentes approches : je le vois, je le sens, et je n'y suis nulle part... il ne reste qu'une sorte de chemin très mince qui, dans ma vie à présent, se manifeste par ce travail avec D.M et Janaka, vers quelque chose de plus grand, de plus vrai, de plus réel...

Mais il y a ce qui me reste de vie « privée » ou « personnelle », qui ne semble pas progresser ; les rares relations qui me sont données ne semblent pas correspondre à ce que je ressens être mes besoins... Et je ne sais pas comment marcher : j'essaie, mais cela ne sembla pas bouger...

Je suppose que je réaliserai plus tard pourquoi il en est ainsi : Auragni qui est là-bas, tenue dans l' « autre Auroville », et ici près de moi personne, à part Samuel, en qui je puisse couler...

Not much progress today... It rained throughout the morning while I cleaned up the entire house. Gnanivel came and stayed a long time: I am not sure what he feels or what he has in mind or even of how aware he is, but he seems to give it importance, and it is very sweet and quiet with him... I tried to work more on that painting I have started, thinking to offer it to L, but I am not satisfied with it... I did the laundry; Samuel had his bath with me here; Ar. came for her hair-cut...

I spent the evening in town with D.M and Janaka, about the construction; but I felt a little sad: as if all this tension to do the right thing, to overcome resistance in oneself regarding each detail, so that there is no distortion or disharmony in the materialisation... appeared now in a poor light, or as if some interest or some concern in me had snapped; it was less of a discovery, less of a revealing process... But later D.M and I were able to communicate in more general or inner terms, and that was good...

M and G.M came and told me that C's house had been broken into last night – or perhaps it was early this morning: I did hear sounds from there, through the rain, but I'd thought it must be M returning from Dana and didn't give it more attention... Few of M's things were stolen, and a big empty suitcase, but apparently none of C's things... There has been some heavy raiding all over the Green Belt... It is always this almost repulsive sensation of intrusion, of someone entering the atmosphere with an alien will, and I can't help resenting a little the confusion that M lives in as an opening for this to happen...

It stuns me sometimes, what an opportunity is given us here to open and to use all the time of life for the real thing, when anywhere else we would be bound by necessities that veil, delay, obstruct and oppress...

... It rained only at noon and the work at "Ravena" could go on all day. D.M has sent me a note to let me know how she has often felt that Diane is projecting a lot of bad will on whatever I do, experience or touch, and that I should not keep any material connexion with her, such as the aquamarine stone I wear on my neck, and that this might be the cause of those bad dreams I have been having...

6-11-1985, Auroville:

In my sleep I saw and experienced a large gathering, at the Banyan tree, and the condition we are in as a collectivity: people were arriving late, and there were forces of disintegration active among us – them -, and the place in each of us for the central Force was not clean, not ready, it wasn't kept alive and offered...

... Samuel was with me all afternoon at "Ravena"; we took N home on our way back; and that is where I am disturbed: the attraction is very strong, this yearning in me to let go and melt in the arms of another man I can turn to, is so intense and so imperious, and it goes so far back and so deep that I am quite helpless in the face of it whenever it is triggered back through an actual contact in life... I suffered hell in the years of my adolescence because of it and later on I had to keep struggling with it and balance it with complementary or even opposite experiences, but I have never been able to totally disengage myself from it, to step back from the phenomenon itself... This seems to be the thing that still detains me, would detain me even in death: I know it, I understand it, and yet I am still as helpless before it...

... A few times, straight out from the centre like a direct ray of song, a free utterance of the mantra has come – not in search for control, but as a simple expression of a free state... I so much sense the absence of an active conscious atmosphere, progressive and creative of the Way – as used to be Your physical atmosphere –, and how much this is what I truly want, and how steeped I am now in the inertia that veils or hampers it... And I can't even ask for Your help in my nature, so much I am identified with its separate yearnings...

9-11-1985, Auroville:

I have sometimes this need or yearning to shift perspective and to look at our condition from another angle: we are glued to Nature's ways of channelling energy through the centres, and vitally the process is so thick and gross and inevitably mortal... And it is like I am at the same time aware, but in fleeting, un-caught seconds – just a sense, or instant sight, almost a sensation – of the state that is waiting to come forward, waiting for room to be made, for an assent that will be substantial enough, and how it will amount in fact to a very slight shift of position... And then the entire, crude process appears so ridiculous, so comic, so childish too, and awkward; and there is, in that instant perception, like an echo of a loving, radiating, free laughter, but it has also a quality, to our sense, to what we are now, that is... a little frightening, scary, that inspires awe... And yet one senses too that this is what one truly is: that I truly am one such being, over "there" and yet here, hidden, knowing and loving and seeing... and awe-inspiring for whatever in oneself has not let go of this human condition...

I doubt my own life... And I see us, I see people ageing around me, and the stuff of life in them has remained the same: just as pointless, hollow and uninhabited as it ever was – or perhaps even worse because, with their mental aspirations or ideals they may have imposed on themselves restrictions and orientations that have deprived them of experience and left them with choices that are in themselves powerless to change, unless they would have followed them far enough to reach another state... It scares me...!

12-11-1985, Auroville:

The rain has abated a little, but there is now more wind – which can turn nasty now that all the tree roots are in saturated soil and the branches are heavy with water and may break easily...

... Tency has been helping with the preparation for the boring of the well, and now that the big rain seems to be over, the equipment may arrive any day with the crew from Pondy...

... There is some difficulty with the making of the "vitrail" window in the form of Sri Aurobindo's star: D.M is concerned with drawing and realising as perfect a thing as can be done with Your help, while she cannot move by herself and cannot see the materials physically and must cope with our reports and descriptions, which are unavoidably biased even with the best of our good-wills... She had asked me to work out all the proportions as per the rules given by the Ashram – by Pavitra I think – and, now that it is ready, she feels that the central square is too large... I can see the arrogance, or rather the false assurance in me, that distorts or may distort the manifestation of something that aspires to express a high perfection; and parts of the complex mechanism that brings it out... but it seems so pointless and worthless: I think she is wrong to entrust me with this work, and yet, deep in me, I also know that it is right that I do this for her and with her... I just am so aware of how impure and unprepared I am...

... Ar. is being very unhappy and feeling miserable just now; I know she feels that she needs to be with me in order to progress, and it is cruel that I do not, cannot feel the same... I am myself in need of such a relationship, which would make the way alive, and give it dimension... But I do not find it with her... Then what?

If I could be free of all affective yearnings, perhaps I could take the plunge by myself – in You, with You –, having left any expectation, in human terms... I am not there yet, and time passes, and the years go by, and when it will come to be old age and all the lower energy will cease to flow, then there will be no more chance of opening the substance to the Change... This life will have been a waste and an absurdity... And I can't stand waste; I don't think anything affects me as much as waste...

... I spent the whole evening with D.M in Pondy; she wanted to tell me more of how she feels about my connexion with Diane and my princess Auragni, and about the stone I still wear around my neck (Diane's only gift ever); she thought she would ask me to give it to her, and she herself would call Diane and return it to her, asking for Your help in the act so that all the hatred in Diane would be dissolved; and that, on my part, I must truly offer Auragni to You, directly and completely...

It still surprises me that she can feel so strongly about it all... I sort of dissuaded her to act on this line, mainly because I would not wish to see her so exposed; but I also said that truly I do not know... I gave her the stone. She wants to offer me another one...

She also told me she has realised how much she missed being in Auroville; but "Ravena" won't be ready for another year at least: what to do, then... I offered the house here, though it is not at all equipped for her needs... Mother, what do You see, what do You like? Will You make it clear?

 ... This afternoon after the work at "Ravena" I had tea with N at his "house": where he lives is actually worse than a shack in a slum; his mother-in-law has given him, his wife and their two children, this "shelter" where there is no air and no light and hardly any room to stand, damp and dark and filthy... And that is their life... And I have no idea how we can communicate, on what basis; through what experience, and yet there is current between us which I had not, so far, felt with anyone from this pool or background...

I am struggling with this feminine part in me which, as they say, "falls in love", head over heels; and I don't want to fight it as I used to, by drawing the wrong force: I want to learn to offer it to Sri Aurobindo, because I know He truly understands the genuineness of that yearning, behind the ignorance of the movement, that a man can sometimes experience for another man...

Perhaps if I could be given to live a mutual, free, sincere relationship, at this point in this life, then I would be able to offer it all and move into You, with gratitude; because it is in my nature to offer in gratitude more than I fight and strife...

Last night in one of my dreams, there are small children in my care, and Samuel is one of them; and suddenly he slips from a high branch of a huge tree, where we have gathered: he falls slowly, while I call You all the way, and he lands quietly onto a pile of sand...
 And Samuel was so sweet today...

... I went too late to the Kitchen this evening, there was nothing left; I saw Myrtle a moment; S, when I passed her, told me mysteriously that she had come to see me yesterday night, but I wasn't there... and it struck me, there and then, that in Auroville today she is the only woman with whom I have a physical, simple and healthy contact, and she is perhaps the only woman who is physically beautiful, in a full and generous way; why she came, she didn't say, and I didn't ask, didn't think of asking...!

... M brought me a letter from Ar., very straight and sober, saying that she now feels to break up our relationship and has decided to move from "Sincerity" to help her do so, but that she needs and wants to preserve our true contact; it is beautiful the way she puts it, and I want to thank her for it...

... This morning I heard that Muthu, a young guy staying at "Utility" had just died in a road accident; and that Volcan had died a few days ago, from an extended fast...

19-11-1985, Auroville:

There is a bit of strain with all the confusion of details and things to organise at the same time, at "Ravena"; and this morning I reacted to some comments made by Janaka and... it was merely demonstrating the accuracy of Your description of anger, as a movement of an unregenerate and obscure vital...! It is fortunate, though, that some inner distance always remains tangible enough and one can watch and laugh at it as it happens...!

... But sometimes a certain amount of anger can be a psychological support to get rid of confusion in one's own nature, it seems... I am having a rotten temper today, but it has made me see, for instance, how my precious N is just a kid playing ignorantly with his smile, showing off and unaware of what he is within, only aware of his tiny seductive power and only interested in himself, without a care for any commitment; it has helped me too to move away from more words and endless explanations with D.M... But through it I also see, as tonight in the Kitchen, the terribly self-satisfied shallowness of many people here who please themselves with the sensation of being part of a "spiritual adventure of a new kind", when their own problems are in fact of a very ordinary nature...

20-11-1985, Auroville:

This evening, after the work at "Ravena", as Samuel and I have our bath together here, as it has become our daily routine, I feel again what a lovely kid he is, and how our relationship seems to strengthen of itself and to grow more real with time; and it is Your gift; at least that is how I experience it...

Then E.B came, in a state again; and when she goes past the point of wanting to be set back straight, then I worry that no one will be able to help her...

21-11-1985, Auroville:

I just spent an hour with Ar. at the amphitheatre; she'd come earlier to ask me if we could talk; she wanted to tell me of her "decision"... But of course, just sitting together quietly, she was happy again and could no longer see the point of leaving "Sincerity"...! She had even thought of asking Arjun and Deepti to trade houses with her... but I could not sense that this would have a sanction; it is not clear to me anyway that she must leave. But then she mentioned that a few nights ago she'd had a nightmare and awakened from it scared by something she felt was coming from me, and she had an explanation for it: that I was angry with her – which I know I wasn't...! So, in that sense, and if that sort of confusion persists, then obviously it would be better for her to cut the contact... I do not know...!

22-11-1985, Auroville:

This desire, this yearning is still there... How did Sri Aurobindo go past and beyond that? What did it become in Him? I so wish I had been born earlier and known Him physically...!

23-11-1985, Auroville:

No call to speak of my "aspiration" these days... I am a mere puppet! It is just "N, N", which, how lucky for me, happens to be a most beautiful name for the Divine... It's "being in love", like a young girl but worse, if only because I am a man, and 36 years old! It is ridiculous, I know; I am caught, I know; yet it is also sweet and bears its own delight! A tormenting, disquieting, unsettling delight, but a delight all the same; and I can laugh about it! It does not really bother me as long as I have "things to do", places to go, circumstances to respond to, or when I read Your Agenda... But as soon as I am by myself, I just want to hold him, to feel his warmth with mine, a purely animal comfort, and also a wanting to let go of the flow of emotion that is stuck in me, in a free gesture of physical tenderness... There!

And there is every reason against it – would it only be social consideration, or for the sake of the work at "Ravena"; but the one factor that stops me is the fact of his not coming forward, not responding in a clear or definite way... There it is, Mother! I am not hiding it from You anymore than I hide it from myself... What worries me is that this stupid, imbecile breach in me will never heal, will never close in this life, and that I will not be able to move beyond a point...

... The drilling crew had hit a fault in the sub-terrain, just below the top water table, and they have been working since yesterday night at sealing it with clay, so they could continue deeper towards the second aquifer; they finally succeeded in sealing it, this afternoon, at 38 meters depth...

Something... You...? ...has made it a good day today, with a promise of light...

Already yesterday night, before sleep, I touched a sort of mechanism, which became concrete and tangible, something I can work with, to achieve inner freedom and living sincerity; and today I could start learning how to handle it quietly...

... This evening I went to D.M in Pondy; she had prepared a gift for me, wonderful: she'd had the gold band removed from the aquamarine that Diane had offered me years ago, and in its place had had set for me... a sapphire! (This sapphire has been with me a long time). She herself fixed it on my necklace chain... She had also prepared for me a new tape of Abdul Karim Khan... She then spoke a long time on Science and Medicine today, and how it has become the stronghold for the Adversary... I am grateful for her, Douce Mère...!

26-11-1985, Auroville:

Such days are an enigma to themselves... On the one hand, nothing works and every move is met with delays or breakdowns and every instrument fails; and on the other hand, there is much energy, and a sort of placid trust... There is not at all the sense that this entire material resistance means we have to stop what we are doing or that we are doing it wrong... The well, for instance, turns out to be an exceptionally good well, with deep cavities and faults in the sub-layers that are huge reservoirs of clear water... And yet it is one obstacle after another: the "Abri" tractor broke down; G's tractor broke down; then on the way to a village where there is a man who might rent us his own tractor, the Yezdi broke down... It was past 6 pm when N and I finally returned to "Ravena" along with that tractor and its driver (somehow, without my trying for it, he and I spend a lot of time together, and this too is mysterious, considering the psychological havoc it causes in me!); and later, returning from a quick trip to Pondy to buy petrol and diesel, I skipped on the sandy canyon road and fell, bike, jerry cans, Narayana and all, and burnt my leg on the silencer and broke a pedal... I have never experienced before such situations... It seems sometimes that I am being connected to confusions and encounters with Matter that are not my own: the state I find myself in at present, in relation to Matter, is one that I have seen, over a period of time, occurring in Janaka, for example, and in a different and more drastic way, in D.M... And I sense that I must try and assimilate it well and deeply enough, before it gets worse... It is as if a certain protection which I had learned to keep physically around me since I came back, 12 years ago, is now proving insufficient; or rather, that I must learn it all over again, in a more complete way... I saw this evening how I yielded to confused energy and began to react stupidly...

28-11-1985, Auroville:

I got rather distressed by the haggling over money; I was ready to send away tractor, N and all, moved almost to tears in the face of this miserable game over cash, pulling and bargaining; I tried to feint anger, but the emotion was stronger... In the end we settled for a price, and the "Abri" tractor, now fixed, will come back to work with us: Ramachandran had a very sweet and loyal response when he saw me I that state... I like these people; but I want the work to be straight and honest...

It is strange: I can still feel the tears rising...

... The well has been drilled down to 107.5 meters; the crew will have to ream it to 14" before placing the 6" casing in, which will only reach a 48 meters depth... I don't know why I write all that down; it's like I am being pushed into this material mind...

... With N it has cleared up a little; I am up against the state this civilisation has reached, and how it is rooted here; simultaneously I find myself increasingly drawn to it and, at some fine physical levels, assimilating it all in my own body and its rhythms; and yet having to fight its obscurities, the lies and twists that have become ingrained in its substance...

This year particularly I am aware that there is in my physical and subtle being a movement taking place, which I don't know how to define, but one would say that, on those levels, I am becoming "Indian"... It's been twelve years now that I have not gone anywhere, and in a fine psychological way, within the body itself, it is a fact that I can now sense quite clearly...

... Janaka and I chose a spot for a temporary house for D.M, Auralice and him, which we may start building very soon, as D.M is becoming more and more uneasy and unwell in this airless house in town...

... Tonight I had to go and see Ar., who had left me a dramatic message, and try to cheer her up, and take away the gloom and the shadow from this attachment she nurtures for me... I spent nearly two hours at her house, and I don't know that it served a purpose: she is not even trying to surrender, in herself, this attachment! She says, and I understand, that she can only feel whole, quiet, centred and open when she is with me, and that without a living contact with me she feels lost, or else she would have to be in an entirely different set of circumstances, living another life on her own...

Anurakta's room in Pondy has changed and evolved; the atmosphere in it is densely packed with that high crystal power I know well, that can fill objects offered to it; I liked it a lot more this time than the last time I went. I fetched from him his findings for the Institute' well...

1-12-1985, Auroville:

While I was cleaning the house this morning, N came to see me, under the pretext of ordering fencing materials so we could start planting tomorrow, when the soil is still damp.... I gave him breakfast. He talked at length about the fears or frights "Tamil people" have of the dead ones, and how he has himself several times been attacked, since he was a child; that they – the dead people – always tried to enter like air, or else by pushing through his legs, and bring about a sort of possession, or chronic fright, which only the temple swamis know how to exorcise, through dances or ritual beatings... And how frequent and part of the ordinary life these things are... Then he expressed the view, commonly shared, that we – the foreigners – lived here because here we didn't have to work as hard as in the West and could live the way we wanted...

This gave me the measure of a sort of unbridgeable gap between us, a fact which seems totally impossible to change – and how stupid it would be to even try to change it... And yet, all the time, there IS a communication, of which both are aware one way or another, and it runs deep...

... E.B came and called me down, in a terrible state of affective need... And what am I to do, when I myself, at times, feel just about the same way...!? It is all so ridiculous, and yet so very much the stuff of life... I had to send her away after a while though, with as much gentleness as I could muster...

... Tency came to let me know that the compressor test in the well of "Ravena" was done and showed an exceptionally high yield – about 16,000 litres an hour: a magnificent well!

4-12-1985, Auroville:

Today I had only time to go and watch, with Samuel, the end of the concreting at Matrimandir; and it was so beautiful to see so many of us up on the structure, in the evening light, working... But when I went up, I at once got a heavy wave from Piero, which put me in a great tension; it acted in my body like a tetanus thing, all my muscles ached from it, and I went back down and left...

And this evening, when I related this experience to G.M, he told me that Piero has been talking very unpleasantly, for sometime now, about "Ravena", and about my work there, with people around him, especially with Giov... And I understood, then: Piero's jealousy and spite at not having been consulted as an architect and planner, etc... And it explained what I had felt yesterday, in Toine's office: I had gone there with the plan of "Ravena" to discuss details of electrification with Toine, and Giov happened to be there too, and when he looked at the plan, I had felt soiled, and had regretted not to have had the reflex to protect it... This is this harsh, stony little mental ego that draws its energy from the Work, sucks it from the Fire in order to subsist and persist and impose a bit longer the rule of its shallow understanding and judgement... And the vulgarity of these attitudes, of these people...

... Tency came this evening to bring me all the receipts, vouchers and statements for the bore-well; it has been good with him, to work as a team during those past two weeks, and he too is, I feel, happy about it... And this well has now proven to be one of the two best wells in the whole of Auroville, drawing not 16 but 50 thousands of litres an hour...!

5-12-1985, Auroville:

E.B came to find me at "Ravena" this afternoon, in a miserable condition... It is a little frightening to see a person who has met You and received so much from You being now so closed, blocked to any and to all physical help and yet moving rapidly towards a sheer physical dead-end... At least that is how it appears to be... I refuse it; but I also cannot help; I am not capable of helping her, although she does seem to find some support, some security and a bit of sanity by being near to me from time to time...

8-12-1985, Auroville:

Ar. wrote to me this morning; she is again in that state of frustration, obscure attachment, dependency, anger and fear, and I just don't know how, or whether at all, to respond to it... In my experience, I have only known the pain of attachment when sexual desire was threading itself into it; yet there seems to be other types of attachment, as I must believe Ar. when she describes her states – and I set apart my experience regarding Auragni, which I do not think can be termed as mere affective attachment...

9-12-1985, Auroville:

Tency told me this morning how it went for the new well at the Institute: Piero had refused to alter his plans in order to accommodate for Anurakta's findings for the best location of this well; he had instead insisted that it must be done where he had decided, declaring that he had no confidence in "those methods"; and Tency had given up and gone along, and the boring crew had worked where Piero had wanted; and that now they had drilled down to 200 meters and still found no water, which means that they will now have to gamble and tap into the deep aquifer... Piero is so damn sure of his little rational mind and so set in his positions...

10-12-1985, Auroville:

I do not find I am making any progress these days; time passes in a sort of cosy physical ease, the material enjoyment of the pure light of day, of its cool glow, and of being part and instrument of the realisation of a beautiful dream...

... Clearing up a pile of mail and papers, I read through some of my old journals, from 1977-78... And it scared me a bit: how long, how many years will it take before room is made for a temple, and for a concrete, living change and Presence...? And it almost seems that at the time there was more aspiration in me than there is now...! The atmosphere in Auroville was certainly different: we were still somehow trying, and experiencing the sense of a shared adventure; and so much of that is gone, now. It is very different... But also, it's like all words have become very misleading...

13-12-1985, Auroville:

When I got up this morning – it was grey and drizzling and warmer -, I realised that E.B was walking around the house waiting for me, and I had to tiptoe out till I was ready to face her... I could see then no other solution than demonstrating a severe and brutal attitude to jolt her out of this delirium and hearing voices she was lost into; she was also physically ill with diarrhoea and I gave her medicine before sending her away... But I am acutely aware that there is no one around – and I doubt there is any one in the Ashram nowadays – who would have the ability to see occultly what is eating at her and to help her get rid of it, or at least to understand what she must do... She repeatedly complains of voices entering through the back of her head, and of abrupt bursts where she loses all sense of proportion and gets hooked up by the top, her feet dangling in the air, in a whirl of interpretations and formations... Being myself so ignorant, I choose to keep addressing her as my sister, who is being nasty or stupid and self-indulging, but it is clearly not enough...! She responds to it in the moment, and is better off for a while, but once by herself she does not have the inner space to go on fighting...

In this sort of situation one feels so inadequate and so profoundly ignorant and impuissant... Psychology isn't sufficient; gentleness does help, but solves not...

14-12-1985, Auroville:

Being half-way is being in nowhere' land, and worse: parts are resolved and ready to receive, or to enter; other parts are still hooked onto the ignorance and not giving up their separate sense... I feel almost ashamed of all that is given me, when there is such misery in people, in beings... I feel ashamed of what even to myself appears to be more harshness in me towards people... I have seen that most people, when they reach a certain point in suffering, starve for human warmth and proximity more than for anything else and... it doesn't seem to be that way for me... I can, and do starve for missing relationships, but, when I suffer, I starve most for the harmony of the Presence...

It's like today, after this episode with E.B, I felt in a mess and all mixed-up and open to distressing perceptions of the general condition, sick with impuissance and soiled, and what I most needed was to recover, like a plant, in a harmonious and private context; the contact with people wouldn't help then, but only aggravate...!

E.B came to me late this morning, haggard and scared... D had just confirmed to me that she no longer wanted her in her house, and I realised that this couldn't last much further, what with her not eating properly and not sleeping, being out of sedatives, she might go at any moment over the border... So I started to arrange for a taxi and worked to convince her she must move out of Auroville and perhaps go back to France for a while, to catch hold of the work she must do in herself quietly and patiently, so as to become able to return here again... It was tough to get her together enough to pack up a minimum; then it was also tough to find a place in Pondy where she could stay, and tough to have to leave her there alone... G.M came down to pick me up so I could get back to the work at "Ravena", and he and M will go this evening to bring her the correct medicines... Later I went to see Arjun and a few others to ask them to visit E.B often during the next few days; and then I'll see how to arrange for her plane ticket, although I'd rather wish she would open to Your help and Grace and find the time and place here, in India, to recover and rebuild herself anew, with a clear purpose and a central understanding...

Douce Mère, E a besoin de Toi; il n'y a personne d'autre que Toi qui puisse l'aider...
Mère, on est si misérable, on est si petit, et on est si laid... ! C'est terrible!

15-12-1985, Auroville:

I am looking again at this question of multiple personality; through E.B's difficulties, as through G.M's, as through mine, each in different ways, I can see that this is to some extent a real danger on this path, as long as the psychic being has not been able to unify all these threads and facets through surrender... There are moments when the step between multiple personality and split-personality is very short and frightfully easy, almost tempting...

It is a fact, of life and of consciousness, that no human being is ever just one person: each of us must integrate and harmonise many different personalities and identities; yet this is never, initially, a haphazard or arbitrary assemblage; there is for each of us the central possibility of gathering all the threads that present themselves in one's experience. But it is also clear that this can be truly done only through yoga, through conscious surrender of the ego in each and all of these parts... I am quite aware for instance that as long as ego and desire are not surrendering to the central purpose and orientation, one remains vulnerable to contrary pulls and conflicting yearnings, and to the resulting tensions...!

Perhaps for the first time so consistently, I now feel the need to do some tapasya... But I don't know how to organise myself practically; I can only think, at the moment, of making one hour available for japa and concentration, as a start... But I have to move; I have to make a step, to make my offering more active and substantial... I can't stay like that on and on, this is too ridiculous, pointless and absurd...!

16-12-1985, Auroville:

I seem to be solicited a lot by other people's problems... But this is filled with little snares for one's vanity...!

The atmosphere in Auroville, probably, is not good; it sure is not good enough! And it seems that wherever and whenever it can slip off and go wrong, it does and it happens!

Kenneth is having troubles again, this time externally triggered by his house having been broken in, in a rather weird fashion; he needs people to stay near him: he came here to ask for help, just as I was listening to G.M's accounts of another dramatic meeting at Matrimandir; we both agreed to go and spend tomorrow night with him at his place... (It seems that both Arjun and Piero have gone very far into a nasty exchange and that Piero is being particularly silly and dishonest these days)...

... This afternoon at "Ravena" with Samuel has restored me somewhat... It seems that I have no resources when people pull too much; I have not learned yet to draw from above as it goes, and so I need harmony, physical and material harmony, to get back together...

18-12-1985, Auroville:

I think I could actually write a book about any of these days... Instead, I just throw some laconic notes!

But it is a constant and tangible learning, and I can't complain! All the troubles only arise from the resistance of the ego to give itself up, to "abdicate" as You say, it is obvious...!

... I took Ar. down to town this evening, so she could do her shopping, and I went to see E.B. She has been given some more appropriate medicine by a French doctor from the Consulate, and she had slept well, and was better able to communicate... We ended up having dinner the three of us; she has practically accepted now the necessity to return to France, and her reservations are being made, but she is also frightened. Later there was a moment of clarity, when she could express her need to receive and to feel a clear indication of what she is meant to do at this junction; and I had then to withdraw my own pressure, so as to let her call and to call with her; for, if she can open to You again, everything is possible, and she could even find the way to stay here, or in Pondy... But I still have the impression it would be less risky for her to go back to Europe for a while, until she can manage without medication, rather than remaining exposed to all the tensions here...

I left at dawn, to pick up Jagannathan at his house and drive with him over to Kilyanur, half-way to Tindivanam, to meet with Elumalai there and impress upon him that he must now finish, one way or another, this land matter... It felt freezing cold, and a radiant mist was laid all over the fields, far into the distance, towards the red slow powerful globe of the rising sun; it is wonderful to be up and about at this time of the day now...

N brought me a message from D.M and Janaka: there is apparently some "problem" with the roof of the small temporary house, about which she wants to talk to me this evening itself, before I meet E.B... I have to get over a feeling that D.M is somehow being very whimsical... It doesn't help that I feel this way!

... I found E.B in a very improved condition; we had dinner together and she was harmonious and well-poised, simple and tender; it is not yet clear, between the Consulate and Mondial Assistance, how she will travel to Madras tomorrow, but she knows I am ready to go with her if need be...

... G.M has received a telex from Vincenzo, saying that he can have a 6 months contract from January, back in Sudan; he wants to go; he believes it is necessary for him to pull out, that this may be the only way to come out of the impasse he's been in...

26-12-1985, Auroville:

I got tired of G.M and M's story coming to me day after day; now that G.M has decided to go back to work in Sudan, and M has now decided she will go to France, the whole thing feels like ashes... I went alone to the Kitchen, to be away from them and from Ar., who is again coming every day; but when I returned, both G.M and M were waiting for me; so I had to tell them frankly how I felt about it all... It is always the same with me: either I am too open and too available, or else I withdraw too much and cannot maintain even basic warmth and welcome...

30-12-1985, Auroville:

I have now seen more clearly what it is that makes it difficult for me to be at all times available to Ar., and it is very simple: her consciousness, her awareness, does not reach; it nests itself and wraps itself around a part of "me" only, and this is not and cannot be my base in life...! In that sense, the woman who reaches the most centrally is D.M...

... This trip in the Madras city has been tiring and tedious; Jagannathan is no better than me there; he is scared of the traffic, doesn't know his way around and is treated like a peasant by the street people; we managed, though, to do most of the purchases...

... It seems, and it feels like, until You came and brought the Will for Transformation, nobody, no one at all, had ever considered the task it meant, its enormity or complexity or immensity; it's like, up until then, all revelations, all intuitions, and all knowledge, were obtained or received from a certain threshold on the way upward, so to speak, but never anyone had attempted even just to measure the scope of the work to be done so that the Divine could become manifest in Life and in Matter... It feels as if there had only been so far a sort of "mystic bavardage", which was satisfying as long as one was not committed to a real, actual change, and it now appears as mere pretence and hollow words... But actually calling the Truth, calling the Divine here itself in our very substance, one begins to sense what it means, at all levels...

It seems that the more the central need is rooted, anchored in integrality, and the more one is confronted with all that prevents, with all the "impossibles" inherent to our condition and substance...

To take but one example, that of attempting to truly communicate with another human being, another individual consciousness, raises such an amount of issues and reveals such a complex reality...

... I want to become able to follow in Your steps, Mother; anything that can contribute to my growing capable of that is and will be welcome, whatever it may be...

For humanity, I am useless. For the Divine, I am useless – for opposite reasons, it would seem... This point of consciousness "I" am is an absurdity, and will remain an absurdity, as long as it does not belong entirely to You...

... On the way back I was praying, intensely, to the edge of tears: "Mother, Mother, give someone I can love wholly; You had Sri Aurobindo, Sri Aurobindo had You, You must understand... It is not possible to walk Your Way without the experience of the support of love..." Praying, and praying... I belong to You, I have given myself to You again and again; I cannot go away searching for "my love": my love is in You, it is with You, it can only come from You... Mother, Mother, do not let me dwindle into an absurd contradiction of all You stand for... Make it right, so that I can grow into You, and not be a shadow...

C is sweet and young as ever... while R is obsessed with his new toy, a video camera, and sceptical and unquiet...

... The more I look for people with whom to communicate and the more frustrated I become and the more the sense of being isolated grows – while, in truth, it is with You, it is with the Lord within that the communication exists tangibly and is meant to become more and more conscious...

I have often seen that I may experience a conscious, wordless communication with someone's inner being, but it only translates in the outer consciousness according to the realisation that is there, or to the outer being's traits and habits; rarely does it ever correspond, and only in fleeting moments of gracefulness...

... Externally I am stretched out; it is very taut at the moment; part of me complains, but I also know gratitude, because I sense Your teaching hand and pressure and Your watchful presence...

I do not understand how real equanimity is meant to develop here; there may be a form, or an aspect of it in my daily life, but it is mere appearance, because in fact I go from one state to another, from this moment to the next: joy, ease, fatigue,

And yet the problem remains of how to be resilient enough to keep the sense of perspective, and allow for where others stand, in relation to that central need...

... After the work at "Ravena", I took C for a walk into the canyons... There and then, as if in response to my need for a tangible support, an incarnation, something of You became concrete: Your eyes of light, Your physical presence, and... our true relationship; and it did not come as a striking "experience" between moments; I only realised, slowly almost, that it was there, that it IS there, and that it is real, it IS You and it IS me...

A puzzling Sunday... I had finished the clean up of the house and had just applied henna on my nails (I discovered it was the best fungicide), when I came to visit with me, after long; and I guess the henna saved me from another intimate encounter I would have regretted; but he stayed for a couple of hours, very quietly, while others came and went... Soaz came with a grumpy Samuel, to get the moped keys and, when she made to leave with him, he cried so much that I understood that he wanted, or needed me to keep him, instead of him coming to me; so I took him in my arms and he became quiet at once, and Soaz left, and he gradually fell asleep, completely still, on my lap... In the evening when Soaz came back to fetch him he cried again, not wanting to leave me, and it was disturbing because it felt deep... But she was determined, and carried him off forcefully; the entire episode left me sore...

Sometimes there seems to be like a major theme to the many dreams of one night; last night it was perhaps about friendship; there was along activity, rather meditative, about the laws of friendship, and of geometry and philosophy, and the living practicality and usefulness of well measured and honest philosophy; and this was related to a search into the Tamil reservoir of inner culture... And then I spent a long time with Krishna: he came to me with good food that he has collected, despite A's warnings and condemn of me as an "evil force" with all the "proofs" she can think of; still he comes to me with messages and with all the things he wants to put in my safe-keeping, as he has decided to leave again, for some time; and at the last moment he turned into his deeper self, gathered his energies, and realised all he went through, and we meet again, and we hug one another with all our love resurrected and flowing again and secure; we are by then among a large crowd and people begin to stop and watch us and they are touched and as if contagioned, and something begins to happen at large, triggered by our embrace...

... I am reading, on C's request, a book called "Moksha", written recently by an Indian psychoanalyst, Sudhir Kakar, as she wishes me to tell her about it so she can progress in her own work... In spite of the fever I want to "Ravena" as usual, but returned mid-morning, and was surprised to find I waiting for me... And so it happened, even though there is simply no way we can consciously communicate; there is such a sweet abandon in him... It was more of a parody, awkward and so limited; yet the range of emotions is there, and it is straight and real and lasting...

And then Kenneth came, asking if he could stay in C's house for some time...

Then Ar. came and wanted to accompany Samuel and I back to "Ravena" for the afternoon; I said, alright, but I apprehended the confusion it might create: I cherish these afternoons alone with Samuel, this is the one relationship I have where I feel happy and alive and willing... A child of 2!

11-2-1986, Auroville:

I was at "Ravena" till 5pm; Forrest and Marti came – a weird couple – to investigate about large birds swarms in the area, as they want to produce a "scientific report" before some Government officials in view of preventing the building of an airport very close to Auroville land; they were so insistent that I had to sit and talk with them for a while... And then G.G and S came to visit and I had to show them around... Then I drove down to Pondy to buy some gifts for Samuel's birthday, this coming Saturday...

... The thing is that I do not particularly "like" people, at least those who are in Auroville at present – I find it scary that Auroville attracts only this sort, rather than individuals who are more open, more harmonious; and I definitely dislike what happens between people here... I wish individuals would come who have already tested the limits of human experience, who have discarded dishonesty and pretence and yet have known to preserve a will and a love for harmony and are ready to mature into a need for You...

But I guess it's just that I feel lonely, or deprived...!

12-2-1986, Auroville:

Some nights are such bursts of dreams... In one, Ar. has somehow managed to bring, as a surprise, Auragni to me; she recognises me, with her deep, lake blue eyes, lovingly; but I meet the light green eyes of Diane and it is like a shock, as if those of a viper; and then confusion invades and falsity tries to block the way, with people lying about me and fabricating stories about my present life, and even Ar. gets caught by it... In another, I live in the city and there is a man, very sweet and very gentle, who lives in the same street, and I know he will be waiting for me, and I need his affection, I need to give that part of me... In yet another, there is a complex development with "my" workers: I find that Devaraj has broken into C's house and I catch him, and beg him not to lie, not to lie; and the scene turns into a much larger and complex event, where a large number of "workmen" are let loose, without support or orientation, and they turn to the wrong route and begin to die inwardly, and I cannot help because I am alone to see it, and I go mad and desperate and I walk endlessly in the streets of this great and beautiful city, crying for You, crying for Your world, and calling and calling...; and then I meet Shyama and M, both much more beautiful and light and harmonious, with a joy full of fun in them... And on and on...

... I am doing my night-watch at Matrimandir; I feel very tamasic, at present, inwardly inert and dull; but there is also the sense of preparing...

Outwardly the work at "Ravena" is what animates my daily life, and then there is also my relationship with Samuel; and there is the harmony of "Sincerity", of the house and the garden, of this solitude... But nothing deeper seems to move, not even to stir...

In relation to Auroville, I seem to have lost all contact, but for that painful status quo concerning Auragni: that just hurts, and nothing, nothing has changed; only time has passed, and Auragni has grown, she will soon be 4 years old! And it's like, really, my life as an individual is an utter failure...! So, either I have not understood my lesson and am merely resisting, or else there is something deeply wrong in this Auroville I terms of its relationship with You and the guiding Force... The question remains with me, unaltered...

14-2-1986, Auroville:

Aujourd'hui j'ai lu dans Ton Agenda quelque chose qui m'a semblé recéler, ou contenir, la clé vivante qui peut m'ouvrir le chemin et me libérer de certaines mauvaises attitudes et contradictions, quelque chose dont je peux faire une loi pratique : quand Tu tentes de décrire l'expérience du Seigneur qui avance et, à mesure de Son besoin évolutif, retire de la manifestation ce qui ne correspond plus à la plénitude à venir ; et combien, en s'unissant simplement à ce mouvement essentiel et constant de Sa Conscience, les contradictions, les drames, les peurs, et toutes les ombres sont dissoutes... C'est le Seigneur qui marche et qui constamment Se réalise en avant, reprenant en Lui-même ce qui n'est plus nécessaire, révélant de Lui-même ce qui le devient pour une plénitude toujours progressive de Sa Manifestation...

... De la confusion ce matin, et de la mauvaise humeur de ma part ; trop de détails matériels à régler à la fois, ici et à « Ravena », avec cette hâte à terminer la petite maison temporaire pour le jour de Ta Fête, afin que D.M et Janaka puissent y emménager : tout le monde fait son possible et ce sera peut-être prêt, je ne sais pas encore...

... Soaz m'a apporté un Samuel tout sonné par la fièvre et le rhume ; je l'ai emmené avec moi à « Ravena » sur le vélo et, une fois arrivés, il s'est endormi dans mes bras, parmi le bruit du travail et les ouvriers, et cela m'a donné des heures d'immobilité réceptive...

... La question d'Auragni est à nouveau présente dans ma conscience active, et je ne sais pas pourquoi ; la situation, pour moi, reste la même : je n'accepte pas, je n'ai toujours pas accepté ; tout au fond de moi la douleur est la même, la blessure est la même, l'incompréhension est la même ; ce n'est pas « juste » ; ce ne peut être vrai. C'est tout. Alors, pourquoi une telle situation est elle tolérée par Toi, je ne sais pas ; je ne comprends toujours pas...

15-2-1986, Auroville:

This morning, with Soaz, I took Samuel to the Ashram, and up into Sri Aurobindo's rooms; this time again I managed, even though all children below 5 or 6 are strictly forbidden to enter, and it went well, in calm and poise...

16-2-1986, Auroville:

Je ne sais vraiment pas où j'en suis. J'éprouve beaucoup d'antipathie envers ce que je manifeste, ou plutôt envers mon incapacité à contribuer quoique ce soit d'utile, humainement ; je suis gêné, oppressé par l'étoffe de l'ego dans mes mouvements, qu'ils soient internes ou apparents, et je doute profondément de la qualité de mes choix et de la validité de mon expérience d'Auroville, à contre-courant et en marge, rejeté et moi-même rejetant.

Il n'y a qu'une « chose » qui me réconcilie : lorsque la brûlure de Ca est présente et active, le nectar de Ca, le Fait de Ta Présence.

Mais ces temps ci je ne suis conscient que d'une terrible insuffisance, et d'une solitude sans issue...

... Guide-moi, Douce Mère... !

Il est bien possible que j'aie fait une erreur énorme en revenant à Auroville, il y a près de 13 ans. Je n'en sais rien. Je suis incapable de trouver comment faire le moindre pas en avant, je suis incapable de marcher sur Ton chemin...

Je suis conscient d'être né, cette fois ci, pour un travail difficile, et j'ai absolument besoin de Ta Lumière, de Ta Force, de Ta Présence, inconditionnelle.

Je n'aime pas Auroville, cette Auroville ; il me faut bien le reconnaître : je ne crois pas à ce qui s'y passe, du moins pas dans les termes par lesquels les gens se situent à présent. Mais, de mon côté, je ne puis rien y apporter, ne serait ce que par le fait que, dans ce contexte, un doute essentiel a été posé sur mon existence même...

Et pourtant, honnêtement, je constate que je suis gardé ici, tenu ici, par le Seigneur au-dedans et au-dessus...

Douce Mère, je ne sais pas : quelles qu'aient été mes fautes – nombreuses, et peut-être graves -, aujourd'hui je suis prêt à aller où Tu le veux, et à faire ce que Tu veux ; du moment que c'est Toi, Toi vraiment... Me montreras-Tu ?

Il y a un tel malaise dans ma conscience ; et pourtant, en même temps, la gratitude... !

17-2-1986, Auroville:

It is, I suppose, another crisis... It's like something keeps telling me intently, almost violently, that I am not at my place, that I am wrong to be here: that I shouldn't be here at all and that I can't "aspire" for the Truth and remain here at the same time, since, to begin with, the Truth didn't want me here at all, etc... I have wondered – but this isn't really interesting – whether this hasn't been activated again when, on the day of Samuel's birthday when we went to Sri Aurobindo's room, we passed Al.B, who was receiving his own red rose for his own birthday, Samuel in my arms... However, this crisis had already started then, so its real cause is definitely not there...

... John H. joined me at dinner, in the Kitchen, and he later rode with me down to "Ravena" to check on the overtime work at the small house; we are trying to make it for this coming Friday, but it is quite demanding on all the men... John H told me that Sujata has written some kind of essay on You, or on the Agenda, and the first of 8 Volumes has just come out...

... I don't know what I am meant to do; I cannot see well. My life, my existence, is a burden, and it will remain so as long as I have an ego; I want You to be, instead of me; but probably – certainly – I am not sincere enough... And I am prey to the same perpetual torment: not having ever any possibility to verify with You directly whether there is any truth in this formation that I am an adverse being and that I should never have come here...

Everyone is alone with and before the Supreme, yes!

But then there is another level or aspect to the question: whether, in Your love, You were seeing that the truest way for me was not to be here at all, but away from here, and then it would have only been through the misleading ego's insistence that I returned and stayed on for all these years... And whether, now, when I ask You and ask You and ask You, it is still possible to show me the way, whatever it may be...

18-2-1986, Auroville:

I bought Sujata's book (it is the first Volume of a series of 6 Chronicles about You), and started reading it. It is obviously written like a story for children, probably in order to reach a wider audience, both here in India and in the States... I am always disturbed by something in their presentation – Sujata and Satprem's - of themselves as the only two beings who have understood You and Your Work... Even if that was totally true, it would still not be up to them to say so...! And I would say that the truer it is and the less they should feel the need to state it... This is truly disturbing...

19-2-1986, Auroville:

I have finished reading Sujata's first Chronicle, and it leaves me wondering a little; I don't know, Mother... I know You like it all to be said in the simplest way, as a beautiful story for children to know and feel that their deepest and truest dreams can and will become real here on earth; but there are some subtler aspects there, and this is not a presentation that makes me feel completely at ease or happy...

... I have been considering the possibility for me to go away, back to Europe, for an indefinite period of time, once the main house at "Ravena" will be completed, that is, in a year or so, and find out quietly what is really the Lord's Will for my life – and then, if and when I would return here, there would be no room left for this questioning...

Les derniers meubles et caisses sont arrivés dans le petite maison qui vient d'être terminée, et D.M et Janaka y ont emménagé dans la journée ; l'atmosphère, je crois, y est bonne.

J'ai été touché par l'énergie que tous les ouvriers ont bien voulu donner pour que tout soit prêt... Mais aussi un peu bouleversé par la découverte des jalousies, des tensions et des ressentiments qui, par la pudeur innée de ces gens, n'apparaissent qu'à contrecœur et avec une sorte de souffrance enfantine ; et je crains que j'en sois en grande partie responsable, pour avoir laissé se créer cette situation entre N et la plupart d'entre eux ; c'est pourtant lui qui probablement en souffre le plus...

Et il y avait une tristesse en moi aujourd'hui devant cet état de choses et cet état des relations humaines, quel que soit le contexte, et devant ma propre ignorance...

Je vois bien les défauts et les petites choses de chacun, mais que puis-je y faire ? Rien, évidemment ! Alors, il me faudrait mieux garder les choses strictement dans le domaine du travail pratique et matériel, où mon rôle est précis et bien défini et où les ouvriers sont des ouvriers d'abord...

22-2-1986, Auroville:

This morning D.M called for me at her new house, and we spent a happy moment together; she and Janaka are so relieved to be back in Auroville, and they love the house, and the garden, and the whole place...

23-2-1986, Auroville:

At dinner John H told me about the direction the administration of Auroville is taking: a full Government Takeover of the land and assets in 1987, with full and permanent control through an organisation that must be solid and reliable – and all the bureaucracy and the rigidity... What to say? And Roger A is pushing for his "discs" on the shell of Matrimandir...

I don't know... To look, to listen even just a little, these days, to what seems to be happening, is discouraging and depressing...

It is better to remain occupied with what comes directly to one's experience, and see where that leads...

24-2-1986, Auroville:

I began my work day at "Ravena" grouchy and grumbling: this ugly aspect, resenting any disruption or interference in my "hold" over the scene; but the objective part of it is that Janaka must understand, now that he has moved there, that I cannot keep 40 men together with a minimum of harmony and efficiency if he goes on issuing separate instructions whenever he needs something to be done... But I was also lazy, and nobody was concentrated, and there seemed far too much to be done yet for us to be ready for the concreting of the main slab on Wednesday as planned; besides everyone had their mind onto the festival in Pondy, and yesterday had been the day of the elections in the villages around, with quite a lot of bad fight in which most of them had been involved...

Then I had to go down to Pondy myself, to the Bank and also to pick up M, who had gone there for G.M's bike; I met her in a café, and her attitude was at once so irrationally and bizarrely aggressive, and divisive, that it turned out quite sour; something quite unclear must have been brewing in her for some time, of which I had not been aware... But it triggered a movement of almost brute anger in me, which I had to hold separate by sheer will; so, returning without her, I decided to immediately bring to her place the old Radjut bike, which I left there, in "Dana" with a note, and I walked back here. Ar., who had been there in the café with Ritam and watched the whole incident, was also very surprised...

In town, I also met Deepti, who told me with more detail and first-hand information what is going on about the Government Takeover and the call for the proper organisation in Auroville to respond to the needs, sharing with me her own views and feelings, which I always appreciate, about this situation; there seems to be a lot of divisive energy running through Auroville at the moment; and then there is also this ugly and dishonest battle raging at Matrimandir between Piero and Arjun over books and accounts...

But I saw today that I probably miss being part of a whole order of circumstances in my daily life, which would allow me to work more closely on my own responses to such movements of anger when they are thrown around... I always tend to isolate myself, wanting Your Force alone to burn it all directly; but I do not call for it with enough sincerity, and so therefore it all remains half-hidden in its lair...

25-2-1986, Auroville:

I have been searching all day in Pondy for a mixer machine I could rent; finally as a last recourse, I resolved to try here in Auroville, at the Institute, and I met L and then P.E who is in-charge there of the day to day work; after some hesitation, he accepted to lend their machine, although he is well aware that both Cristo and Piero, who are hierarchically above him, have vowed permanent enmity toward me...! Now remains to be seen how to transport this machine over to "Ravena" tomorrow without it being noticed...! That is how it goes!

I bought a nice painted image of the god Murugan to preside over the concreting; the men wanted it to perform a puja, so here it is...!

... I received this evening an unsigned invitation to read some of my poems, among other guests, at a soirée in the Auroville Library on the 28th; this is, I suppose, a gentle gesture from some quarters – the “Fraternity” people had refused two of my poems for publication once they learnt I was the author... Anyway, I answered as gently that I did not believe much in reading one’s poetry in such contexts...

26-2-1986, Auroville:

Sometimes I feel nearly drowned into some kind of thick milieu, with this material work at “Ravena”, between all this mentalised matter, the tools and machines and equipment and the working of them, and the weight of these 40 men’ energies... By now I have become aware of what goes on beneath the layer of smile, what goes on between and among them all, and it is nearly as suffocating as anywhere else... And at present with the tides of politics struggling and ebbing back and forth all over this area of Tamil Nadu (DMK, a party rather inclined towards fascism, has won in most places), there is a degree of gloom in the general atmosphere...

This morning, though, the mixer machine was delivered safely; practically unnoticed... And I should say that things went rather well; I had to go back to town with Jagannathan to find another vibrator and get diesel, and got sunburnt on the way... I couldn’t rest at noon, as Kenneth came and sat and talked nonsense for a full hour... This afternoon I decided with the bar-bender to add a few more steel bars to the reinforcement, so he will have to stay overtime to finish it all... When I saw that everything was as ready as it could get in these conditions, I let everyone else go home; we shall do the puja tomorrow morning.

... At dinner, I had a conversation with Ruud about the Matrimandir shell and the meeting that is to take place tomorrow with Roger A...

Mother, I do not feel “entitled” to, but I pray that You look at it all and put Your pressure for the right thing to emerge, out of this tamasic confusion and blur of opinions and influences...

Do not let Matrimandir alone, please!

It must grow of itself, simple and evident, filled with the power and presence that come directly from the Supreme, and fulfil its function here, which we are far too small to encompass and can only tamper with if allowed to...!

A « Ravena » nous avons fait la puja à 9 heures hier matin et commencé aussitôt le bétonnage...

Plus de 258 sacs de ciment, 22 heures de travail intensif continu, avec des interruptions de 15 ou 20 minutes ; il était midi quand, 27 heures plus tard, nous avons fini.

J’ai appris beaucoup.

Je suis rentré ici épuisé, les pieds rongés par le béton, et j’ai dû passer une heure à me nettoyer... Debout les pieds dans le ciment frais à vibrer pendant 27 heures ou presque tout en m’assurant que tout se déroulait bien, avec 60 hommes supposément à diriger... Mais c’est Autre Chose...

Ar. et John sont venus aider toute la nuit, et c’était doux ; Narayana est aussi venu, assez longtemps.

D.M était contente ; et elle m’a invité ce soir à venir manger la nourriture qu’elle a elle-même préparée...

J’aurais beaucoup à dire, je crois, mais je suis comme hébété...

Aujourd’hui est la Fête d’Auroville.

Je ne sais pas quel est mon chemin...

It is mainly through Ar., and sometimes through John H, that I get reports on the present events and meetings in Auroville; and it is not encouraging: there seems to be much hiding and covering up and twisting, and the whole issue of the Government Takeover is being worked at, disguised or arranged or dressed up so as to appear presentable...

... I am having a hot bath for my feet: they do look spectacular, swollen and greenish, and they hurt! My hands too are sight, but they don't hurt half as much...

2-3-1986, Auroville:

Last night I was trapped in a Western city unknown to me, and I must run and run, having grabbed the spooked iron bar the low man had wanted to kill me with, and I hold it as a help to run faster, with longer and more forceful strides across the city, leaving my pursuers behind; and little by little I realise that there is a friend along with me, and when he is really there, physically, everything turns and becomes easier and friendlier...

... It is Sunday; Hans came to see me at home: he would like me to come along, sailing away on that small sailing boat that is anchored near "Sri Ma", off and around Africa, and later travel to the USA together; that is, if I was willing, he would be ready and happy... It touched me, his whole way of simply hinting at things, his clear eyes, his rough and beautiful presence... But, for the moment, I am clearly bound and held here...

... Martha has written to Ar. – and to me, in fact – about those poems of mine that had been refused by the "Fraternity" group for publication in a compilation of Auroville's poetry; it is a gentle and straight statement, and she herself has resigned and withdrawn when the issue came up; I answered to her this afternoon...

4-3-1986, Auroville:

When I woke up this morning, I didn't feel too clear or too sure about "doing" anything in relation to the general situation in Auroville; but in that particular state, almost subliminal, between sleep and wakefulness, there are also elements of cowardice, laziness and false guilt... Later in the morning I thought of going to Myrtle's and share with her my sense of a practical action one could take; and on my way I happened to meet U and we talked spontaneously and I could find again that there is a like perception in the same few people who do not get deceived and who carry a like need in them... U too is searching for some indication of whether anything at all can be done, and I found this encouraging...

... Myrtle was apprehensive, as she does not feel strong or intrepid enough at the moment to face any hostility, to take the backlash that any such open commitment would be likely to invite, but she wanted to think more about it all...

... Ar. told me that the abrupt turn-about in M's attitude was caused by her belief that I had interfered in her relationship with G.M and she now held me responsible for their separation...

... I looked closely at the proportion of ego in my movements, and my actions – as in that text I have prepared as a possible statement; and I prayed again for it to be burnt away, as much as I can endure it...

I see now that ego is the disease of the soul. It is no longer of any use. It must go, it must melt, abdicate, everywhere and in every part: it is ugly and false and hard; it twists, it causes confusion and disharmony; it feeds the shadow. It must go.

5-3-1986, Auroville:

I took Jagannathan with me to "Tapoloka" to see with Myrtle the carpentry work she needs to have done; Deepti was there, "by chance"; but I felt it was meaningful, and strengthening; I found with her a support to my sense of the necessity to somehow try and counter this present manipulation of the direction of Auroville; she, being directly involved as a member of the "Executive Council" and having participated in the work in Delhi, could tell me many things she has seen and witnessed, and it all confirmed a lot of what I had sensed. She read my draft of a statement and was touched, but she also felt that my name would only bring a hostile reaction to whatever was said or tried; then both Myrtle and her felt that perhaps they each could ask a few people whom they knew are feeling uneasy with the present trend and orientation to also write their views, and these statements could then be grouped together and made available at "Tapoloka" as an open contribution and offering. In this way the positions expressed could not be dismissed as caused by my influence; they would have to be considered...

6-3-1986, Auroville:

This evening Barbara made some heavy, loaded comments on how she found Myrtle strung up and uptight, and I felt again the same web being weaved: everything I do will be interpreted in the same way, according to the same formation, and now I will be "seen" as possessing and using Myrtle and, if she collapses, I will be held accountable, with one more victim to my score...

... I had to cope with a revolting scene this afternoon at "Ravena", with this contractor for the shuttering materials we had rented out: those attitudes that are so totally and darkly and inertly in contradiction with the Divine's Presence in Matter... And seeing this amidst all the lies and the deceit that I am made to "discover" among the men I work with, I nearly cried...

... D.M and I had an epic moment this evening; out of some misunderstanding over measurements for the windows and balustrades upstairs, we clashed like two flames... And a moment later we were kissing and laughing...!

7-3-1986, Auroville:

I keep remembering this dream Sujata had, years ago, in which Sri Aurobindo had told her that she would have to keep the aspiration alive and burning for a thousand years...

It is as if one could find nowhere any support or any response for the need of That which You have incarnated; it is as if each one was left with the impossible and incommunicable responsibility of holding, alive and vibrant within oneself, unknown, the contact with That...

But perhaps it is only my ego that prevents me from finding the like response in others, in life itself, I don't know...

Today I am adrift; external things don't hold my attention, and I have to force myself to feel concerned with the pace and rhythm of things...

9-3-1986, Auroville:

I am reading again Savitri's pursuit of her love into the realms of Death, and her battle with Death itself, and I find hardly any response in myself to her claims for eternal, puissant and victorious love... And on the other hand I seem to know the tricks of Death, but as if from another standpoint... This question of my own opening to Love has been there for years, and still it is an enigma... And this shows me crudely, and intensely, the proportion of ego in my inner condition.

But I find that I am aware of and relate to a Love whose nature is almost alien to any of the images a human being can conjure of it.

I responded to the presence of that Love in You, once You had gone past a certain threshold, which I cannot define, of total surrender to Something that, at last, could incarnate unhampered by the very ideals and forms man had always referred to...: Something so other and yet so totally essential, far beyond all emotion and yet so central to all that is...

I seem to be waiting, waiting for some call or response from somewhere, some place or some level – where beings are more evolved, or capable of embodying more consciousness, and by their presence I could at last pull out of this inertia that binds me still to these recurrent formations and habits... It's like, here, I can see all the strings that make people think and feel the way they do, and there is no unknown here, there is no discovery, and there is no way...

10-3-1986, Auroville:

Again and again I find myself, at night, in New-York; Manhattan, the water-front, and the city seen from the air...

A strong rain came this morning and now the soil is softly drenched and the air is sweetly warm...

Since yesterday I have this intense, overwhelming physical need to... "make love"... What to do? I just want a nice girl, a lovely body: not a monster like the women in Auroville, but a sweet and warm and lovely woman, and to make love with her... I can't help it, it just doesn't move, it doesn't change, it is there... I am nearly 36 years old and I am still full of that energy and, when on no other level do I communicate well with anybody, at least there I know I can communicate, and I miss that, I miss not being able to do so... And I resent the absence of womanhood here in Auroville...

... Myrtle is going ahead with our "idea" and she has informed AL.B and the "Executive Council" this morning; so far there are only 4 statements available: apart from mine, there is hers, there is U's and there is John H's... She plans to post a notice informing that these statements expressing another point of view than the one officially presented are being offered for consultation... I had thought that perhaps these statements should better be left unsigned so that people can relate to the views and positions expressed without any personal bias, but U, it seems, felt strongly to sign, so we all ended up signing and we have now to fasten our belts against the return wave...!

... I blew out at Ar. this evening; I felt that she misses the point entirely, as regards Auroville today, and it suffocates me to have only her company, when it does not communicate beyond a certain level; it makes me want to yell, sometimes, and today it burst and there were tears and spite and anger and reproach...

11-3-1986, Auroville:

In the night I woke up crying, from a dream of Auragni: I was with G.M in another place; we had travelled; we came upon a group of the French people, and among them were M.H and Subir and P.G; somehow they got to trust me a little, and one of them felt to call Auragni nearer so that I could see her and perhaps meet with her; but I was frozen, and I saw that she was wearing glasses; I saw that my princess had been stifled and had withdrawn deep within; I saw the creature of their group-formation, and I walked out, desperate; I began to crawl on my hands and knees up a long street to get away from it all, and it was painful and arduous and I was at my limits; and then I realised that Auragni had come after me, that she had seen me crawling absurdly... I sat up on a bench and opened my arms out to her and she rushed in and it all came out: how she had been feeling all these years, deep within herself, and I get to crying, crying, crying endlessly... She was now in my arms and we could now begin...!

... I asked, during the day, why, what for was coming to me this flow of formulation concerning the present Auroville issue – a flow which feels like one of truer knowing; and it seemed that the answer was for me to write it down and to make it available, without any fuss. So, this evening, I sat down and wrote for about two hours: four pages. I shall see tomorrow how it feels and if it is possible to have it typed...

12-3-1986, Auroville:

I have been going through states that are living questions, which are themselves questions, if not contradictions; I can sense some indispensable progress I must make, but... I am just not making it...!

I received two sweet letters today, one from O.P and one from G.M

Myrtle came early this morning to tell me that she had finally posted the notice, although she had almost given up, feeling our attempt rather futile in the face of all the "conversions" that have occurred in the past two days; yet, she decided, we must still try...!

13-3-1986, Auroville:

Ar. came, in tears ; she'd had a hard time at Matrimandir in the morning, and she needed to talk about her affective needs, about "us"; always we return to the same point: she can't turn to another person because my presence dominates her consciousness, and she wants to give herself to me only and, she says, in comparison, all other relationships seem flat and partial; and I cannot turn to her in the same way, because to me she is not the full person I need... What to do?

... I don't have much energy, nor interest, for "Ravena" at the moment: Janaka's funds are being held up in the States and there is an imbalance in the atmosphere as it is not clear on which footing we must go on; the men feel it, and do not relish the prospect of having to seek another job, and there is an undercurrent of subtle competition so that I will keep some rather than others; this isn't easy...

14-3-1986, Auroville:

This whole present issue in Auroville does not feel good at all... Will You not do something about it? Will You not show Kireet, or Satprem, how to break through it? I saw a terrible image this afternoon when I went, late, with Samuel, to join the General Meeting: the image of a ridiculous and frightful masquerade, with all these

"Aurovilians" up on a podium, seated on metal utility chairs in a circle, a big photograph of Your "Salute to the Advent of Truth" at the back, and that sensation or impression of death, death killing all joy, death on the voices, and no push, no call for victory... But Samuel was babbling along so loud in the echoing auditorium that I had to withdraw almost at once and gave up trying to surmount what I thought was perhaps mere negativity on my part... No! This can't be it! This is a bad, bad joke!

And this evening Ar. herself returned beaten, hurt and awed by the solidity of the obstacle, of the contradiction... Yet, in the morning, she had been filled with hope when she'd heard P.A, at Myrtle's, expanding upon the proposal he wanted to make for the organisation of Auroville as he had intuited it from the very symbol of Auroville and its physical pattern as You have drawn it... To me it had felt as a rather insufficient, mentally based enthusiasm; that he was merely carried away by one of these keys of harmony that Auroville provides, which cannot come to life as long as we do not begin consciously from the centre, within ourselves... But Ar. said that at the meeting P.A was fully crushed, along with the rest...

Yet, perhaps, there is still a chance, as there are enough individuals now who do not feel at ease and who may go on searching and probing and delving, and this perhaps will be enough to reverse the trend...?

... I received "Le Nouvel Observateur": it is the same all over the world; treachery and many new ways of lying are creeping in all the issues, in all contexts...

Burn me, Mother, burn me, burn all that is not real, relentlessly, there is no other worth in living, today...

15-3-1986, Auroville:

Last night in one of my dreams, I was with children, and I met a young girl who had been hit by a disease of the cells when a very small child, and whose body had not developed properly; she could not speak either, but her presence and her eyes were intensely centred, and she became very dear to me...

... I am upset with my own responses: for almost everything, in almost every situation, it is the smallness, the narrowness, the cramped ness of a nature that lacks wide receptivity and offers only self-conscious and twisted attitudes... Either I should be tossed and thrown about and shaken up by a variety of extreme situations, or else it should burn up in flames... But nothing happens!

There is sadness too, before this human mush – this indigence...

I had to lay off eight more workers today, and it is not an easy thing to do; there are many factors at work, if one looks; and yet they appeared to take it better than I do!

The uncertainty in life may be a means for progress, but one wishes it would be replaced by a more harmonious way...!

... Myrtle told me this anecdote at dinner: K.T had come to her to borrow the statements so as to Xerox them and take them to Delhi, and forgot them at the Secretariat! And then he phoned there and got Al.B, and asked him to pass them on to Pala who was then to return them to Myrtle..., who hadn't yet received anything!

16-3-1986, Auroville:

Douce Mère, je crois que j'aurais besoin que Tu me donnes une discipline à suivre, quelque chose à quoi m'accrocher, pour construire une réponse dans ma substance.

Je ne parviens pas à éprouver le mantra « officiel » ; il y a un mantra qui me vient quelquefois, depuis longtemps, et qui pour moi est chargé de Tout Ce qui doit venir... Mais je ne suis sûr de rien ; j'ignore si c'est d'une telle discipline qu'il s'agit ou bien si, pour moi, la question est de rester ou de partir...

Je suis tiré entre deux extrêmes par rapport au mode de vie ou à la mentalité qui domine ici ; soit un extrême vital, c'est-à-dire un retour à une intensité plutôt désespérée à travers des relations sexuellement libres, soit à l'autre bout – « bout » pour le moment – le besoin profond, et le manque aigu, d'une sorte de communauté « gnostique », et d'un mode de vie tout entier offert et activement soumis à un travail de transformation par-delà toutes notions de « bien », de morale et même d'idéal...

Par rapport à la vie qui est partagée ici, je me sens de plus en plus aliéné, étranger, incompatible ; je n'ai ni l'énergie ni l'enthousiasme pour me donner à cette sorte de partage...

I am out of tune; I need more, one way or another... I have no heart for this state or this condition, a little enlightened, trusting life and enjoying a certain harmony, while making mild efforts at achieving some unity of purpose; I can feel that one only needs, in order to adapt to it, a simple opening in the heart, and a sort of simple joy that accepts the conditions of the moment, makes no fuss and is able to relate; that very joy that is itself a bridge to connect individual solitudes, in a context that is somewhat open and graceful... But I don't have it and I cannot find it in myself; the more I would try, and the more incompatible I would get...

... Il me semble ressentir à présent comme le fait d'une bifurcation pour Auroville : d'un côté un chemin se présente qui peut être relativement harmonieux dans une sorte de tranquille ignorance et bonne volonté, mais qui s'en va tracer une courbe terriblement longue ; et ce serait une Auroville acceptée et protégée par le Gouvernement de l'Inde, comme un lieu privilégié sur la terre de l'Inde où, sous des conditions qui devront être définies assez vite, l'on peut s'établir et s'offrir à travailler à la représentation d'une certaine unité humaine.

Et de l'autre « côté », ou presque dans une autre dimension de l'expérience, un autre chemin, inconnu, qui repose entièrement sur Ta Force, c'est-à-dire sur la capacité progressive à s'y donner, à la percevoir et la servir ; où, dans un même contexte, de nombreux niveaux, ou degrés d'évolution pourraient s'imbriquer, depuis le plus extérieur, le plus visible et le plus abordable au monde ordinaire, jusqu'au plus intérieur, au plus discret, mais aussi au plus accéléré, bénéficiant ensemble d'un milieu et d'un environnement protecteur suffisamment éclairé et orienté...

Et il me semble que si ce second chemin, pour moi le plus essentiel, est occulté, ou repoussé ailleurs ou plus tard par le premier, alors je ne pourrai plus rester ici, car je me sens incapable de m'ajuster, de m'adapter à cet idéal de vie qui nivellerait et réduirait les possibilités d'évolution et l'action de la Force...

Je sens beaucoup que ce « choix » est maintenant dans la balance... Mais certainement c'est là un sentiment très ignorant ; car, « qui » ferait ce choix ? Quel serait l'agent vraiment déterminant ?

Quand je songe à partir et que je me projette dans une situation quelconque loin d'ici, il me semble qu'en fait ce serait bien pire ; ou bien je serais incapable et devrais dépendre d'un seul ordre de circonstances, ou bien, isolé, cloîtré, je piétinerais dans un demi vide effrayant, sans espoir...

Mais si Auroville s'engage dans le premier chemin, il s'ajoutera une fausseté de plus : celle de prétendre à un idéal qui, en soi, me laisse indifférent, ou incrédule : j'ai trop touché les racines des misères et des contradictions de l'état humain pour croire encore qu'une simple bonne volonté humaine, même dans des circonstances tout à fait privilégiées, peut avoir le moindre effet tangible sur la condition humaine en général. L'utilité d'une telle entreprise me semble se situer exclusivement sur le plan d'une ouverture mentale à la nécessité de dépasser et transcender les facteurs sociaux et culturels et raciaux et ainsi de réduire leur emprise sur la vie même, c'est-à-dire la démonstration locale qu'il est possible de vivre en paix sur la terre, si toutefois les conditions matérielles sont assez bonnes...

Mais, dans mon expérience, cela me semblerait devoir être, plutôt que l'objet d'une recherche, l'un des résultats ou l'une des conséquences naturelles d'un autre Travail, plus intégral...

Mais la question demeure : s'agit-il d'un choix de la Conscience, étant données les conditions générales maintenant – et alors ce serait par fermeture et résistance que je serais incapable de m'adapter à cette étape du Chemin ; ou s'agit-il d'un manque de réceptivité locale, dans cette Auroville physique, qui aurait pour conséquence inévitable la réduction du champ de Travail, la diminution des fonctions de l'instrument « Auroville », et cela pour un temps indéterminé ; et si dans ce cas Tu conduiras ceux qui en ont besoin sur un autre itinéraire physique qui devra s'ouvrir, quel qu'il soit... ?

... C'est en marchant ce soir que ces questions se sont présentées, et j'ai eu besoin de Te les écrire...

Sans Toi, Douce Mère, il n'y a pas de chemin... !

18-3-1986, Auroville :

Ce matin, « on » m'a donné des réponses, qui sont toutes dans un même sens de pratique, de progrès et de marche, et qui me ramènent à une même, simple nécessité... C'est venu à travers Ton Agenda et à travers une entrevue avec D.M, entrevue intense, chargée, vibrante, à la fois orageuse et souveraine, durant laquelle nous nous sommes faits pleurer l'un l'autre et nous avons ri aussi, et où son attitude centrale, plus encore que les mots et le besoin de Vérité, m'a rendu à la confiance...

Mon Dieu, quel imbécile je suis, et quel nœud pas joli !

Ce qui me fait honte et me décourage à la fois, c'est que cette patience, ou cette compassion, ou cette compréhension qui apparaissent nécessaires en regard de toute cette petitesse et cette pauvreté que nous sommes, semblent aussi absolument hors de portée, et pratiquement surhumaines...

Mais peut-être c'est encore un faux problème ; peut-être y a-t-il simplement un seuil à passer, à partir duquel on bascule dans une perception, un discernement et une collaboration essentiellement autres, et qu'alors il n'y a plus le moindre effort de tolérance, de patience ou de compréhension à faire... On voit, on sait, on agit selon les rythmes d'une Vérité qui contient tout, qui est en tout et partout – et on n'attend plus rien de personne... S'il en est bien ainsi, alors je peux sentir le besoin de grandir dans cette direction...

19-3-1986, Auroville:

I am quietened; either I have given up my concerns or else the situation has somehow evolved, I do not know...

At "Ravena" we have removed all the posts and shuttering, and the space of the house now revealed is extremely beautiful and noble and... evident!

... Samuel has a cold and is feverish and he stayed in my arms the entire afternoon; at Myrtle's, on the way back, she wanted to tell me at length about Kireet, things she has heard both in the past and recently regarding his relation to You and to

Your Work and his own action... I don't know; I find that when one follows this sort of "impressions", one soon finds oneself not only inhabited but also surrounded with varying degrees of adversity... And what's the point of that?

Practically and in effect, one has only the field of one's daily experience to cultivate true discernment and evolve true reliance...

20-3-1986, Auroville:

Many of the activities I remember having in my sleep are too complex and have like their own internal language and significance which do not translate into our mental terms; for instance last night, I was somehow made to see examples of disorders in the body – it began with a case of inflamed blood vessels and varicose -, and their collective healing through the communication of a convincing harmony on all the affected points, and there were like illustrations of the relationships between these points...

21-3-1986, Auroville:

Last night I was involved in or identified with an ancient tragedy: it was the story of a woman, the last of a dynasty of puissant people who, betrayed by the strength in her blood, pushed her son's life in a way he could not endure and realised her error only as he was about to die; then she brought him to "us", so that he could die a reconciled and peaceful death, while she went away on her own and died a hard, terrible, solitary death...

... I have today realised the obvious...! It is up to me: either I trust and accept that my inner being has shown me indeed the mantra I can use, the mantra which corresponds to my needs, and this mantra is effective, that is, it has the power to dislodge and illumine all the movements that are contrary to Your Presence, and I truly want You and my prayers, my aspiration and my call are sincere... or they are partial, wavering and uncertain and I better not ask for any such discipline... Because I have seen how little prepared I am to truly, really offer and let go...!

22-3-1986, Auroville:

Ma condition individuelle, et depuis longtemps en fait, peut se résumer ainsi : un vide, où subsistent encore quelques attaches (qu'elles soient virtuelles ou actives ne fait qu'une différence minime) ; un vide, par conséquent, qui ne peut pas encore être un appel pur, et donc ne peut pas encore commencer de recevoir la vie nouvelle, ou la vraie conscience vivante...

C'est tout.

C'est ce manque de sincérité qui me garde comme emprisonné dans un « nulle part » malaisé, pauvre et inutile, une contradiction permanente de ce qui doit être...

23-3-1986, Auroville:

I read again this passage of Your Agenda where You explain how You had reached the point – in 1963 -, where it became imperative to discard the sort of acute discernment that was mainly concerned with what must change, what is still part of the great Deformation, and to concentrate instead exclusively and actively and creatively on the vision of what must be...

And I looked and wondered: I have not got the slightest notion, nor a single positive impression of what must be; and yet I can very well understand the necessity to concentrate thus, rather than weigh upon, dwell upon all that is now wrong and false...

25-3-1986, Auroville:

Last night I saw a very big and powerful and fantastic sort of hurricane, but it was all orange, of that deep orange of the sannyasin's robe, with streaks in it of grey and brown, a formidable moving mass of wind and orange dust whirling and advancing on the land of Auroville...

26-3-1986, Auroville:

Samuel is still unwell, with a kind of near-chronic bronchitis, and he has worms in his intestines, and he is grumpy and whimsical and he complains, and suddenly he is all smiles again and he lays back and is sweet for a moment... It is rather depressing to be so impotent before these "natural" attacks on such a sweet little body, so vulnerable...

... At my night watch, I sit near Matrimandir, listening to a tape of Your Agenda; John H has just left; he has told me of the situation at work, with both Piero and Arjun hardening their positions... But it is so in so many places on earth today, on the very verge, it would seem, of an explosion, whether in South Africa, in Central America, or in the Near and Middle East...

... You know, Mother, I have felt today that I want to say this, to affirm this, to stand on this: I belong to You – I belong to You – I belong to You...!

27-3-1986, Auroville:

I am told that, according to Al.B, I am "behind" the opposition, within Auroville, to the Government projected organisation... What is funny is that I dreamt of him again last night and it was very open and almost tender between us, as if this unreality of the ego's barriers had melted away... while in fact he must be fuming against me, along with a few others...!

29-3-1986, Auroville:

There is the faith, inside me, that, one day of this life, I shall be truly Yours... Today it is 6 times 12 years that You Two first met, this time...

30-3-1986, Auroville:

On my way down to town I passed, midst the cramped traffic, coming slowly the other way, my princess, with Diane, on Diane's moped; I had a good look at her: she was blinking against the dust while shouting about something she was seeing; she was well tanned and full and strong and looked healthy; she didn't see me, I think, and anyway she could not have recognised me... I had conflicting emotions for a moment; then I told myself to be happy because I could at least see for myself that she is well and cheerful and growing healthy and strong...

31-3-1986, Auroville:

Myrtle today told me that Al.B has managed to pen a clever covering letter to be sent as an introduction to the statements that K.T has planned to take to Delhi and show to Kireet, and it says that these statements represent only a handful of people, while the large majority of the Aurovilians was actually happy about the Government Takeover...

...It's like I am in a perpetual crisis, and yet nothing ever seems to come out of it: a kind of status quo, and never any breakthrough...

2-4-1986, Auroville:

Narayana sat with me for part of my night-watch; he asked me to start working again every day at Matrimandir and to organise a new team with those who are available and willing... But I don't know how I can practically manage to put several hours daily at Matrimandir, as I am keeping Samuel every afternoon and wouldn't stop doing that... Yet, is that Your answer to my prayer to be used...?

4-4-1986, Auroville:

Ar. wanted to know how I wished my birth day to be set, next week; but I do not want to think about it; I just wish it would be Yours, truly Yours... Perhaps one day, one year, I will have something worth giving; but at present, nothing is really established and so, there can be nothing to celebrate; this, I told her, is how I feel...

8-4-1986, Auroville:

More and more I feel as if non-existent: rather, existing merely as an inertia and a resistance; a lack of response to the awareness of Your Presence...
I gave taken up drawing again, every afternoon; and this evening, once more, I forgot the time and was too late for dinner at the Kitchen...

9-4-1986, Auroville:

Il y a à la fois le sens d'un état d'être, très proche, très abordable, tout à fait simple et conscient de Toi, conscient de Ca ; et, à la faveur de toutes petites circonstances, la réalisation évidente, indubitable, de l'énormité du changement nécessaire pour que cet état devienne vivant et manifeste...

11-4-1986, Auroville:

Blank: the demolition goes on...

Outwardly I find it difficult to have no proper work or defined activity, as a frame for the daily progress; to merely make others work – to "supervise" – while doing nothing physically myself...

12-4-1986, Auroville:

I need the days to recover and recuperate from the nights!!! There was a period last night when I went into a sort of "pondering" the niceties of pseudo spiritual imagery, while in actual terms the process of undoing the physical ego implies practical questions which are far removed from such representations... But perhaps this is only because I am hardly even a "beginner"? I tend to see and feel that the very first necessity is the concrete and direct intervention of a Power different in nature, so that the opening of the physical consciousness does not become a feast for all the opposing ignorance in Nature - this was, I guess, triggered by the bite, one more bite, by a cockroach, obviously mischievous, intentional... -, a Power that is protective and incarnating at once...

... The US Navy is again cruising towards Libya; it is as if Reagan was actively pushing and provoking a situation that would enact all the threats of today' world...

13-4-1986, Auroville:

Every night, for part of the night, I go into adventures, improbable, novel-like situations with people and in places I do not know; last night, one such place was a sort of power plant, located on a sandy rise near to the sea, very green with beautiful grass and a harmonious arrangements of hedges, and there on that sandy stretch almost fully surrounded by the ocean, are kept white sheep and white geese...

... N came to fetch me at dawn and we drove over to the village of Pattai, to a place that is still beautiful, despite the falsity of today' Tamil society, and vibrant with India's deeper reality, to attend the marriage ceremony of Jaïmurthy; the scene was interesting, and Jaïmurthy held himself very straight and very clear; and I was happy to have come, for his sake and the sake of friendship; Janaka also came with Auralice; with N it was sweet, the way he was sort of openly declaring, with pleasure and confidence, our relationship...

14-4-1986, Auroville:

There is the sense of a persisting adversity, either in me or using me, pressing against me, taking my life, my existence as a support; and the sense of being increasingly cut from the others, from people and from life itself - it would seem by my own choice, but that choice is determined by this impossibility I seem to represent; the sense of being less and less able to communicate, at simple life-levels, with others... In my experience I am aware of no intermediate levels of communication between the flow of sexual attraction, on the one hand, and at the other end the flow of consciousness between beings who are given and belong to the making of the new creation; while everyone I know seems to be naturally able to move between these two ends or extremes... This gives a sense of solitude that is sometimes hard to bear, when compared to a creative situation of having someone to love, someone to cherish, with an interchange to evolve and a rapport, active and alive, with the world through that relationship... This is my ego veiling, obstructing, weighing, deforming...

... D.M had asked me for dinner, to see with her and Janaka about some details in the finishing of "Ravena"; we fought again, this time over the issue of "tradition"; and of her lecturing me; and, as every time, it dissolved into smile and laughter and the trusting awareness of one another; and the rest of the evening together was very quiet; Auralice performed some dance steps she had just learned, and I bathed for a while in an atmosphere of simple and genuine human harmony, seeing too how Janaka is a happy man, and a fine one too... What have I done to be so hardened to life, so wholly incapable of living...?

15-4-1986, Auroville:

The US have raided and bombed Tripoli and Benghazi in Libya last night. I heard part of Reagan's speech: the perfect incarnation of that insane moral righteousness that still stands valid for so many forces in today' world... It is useless at this point to expect any one of these politicians to utter the truth: not one of them can be honest anymore, without blowing apart the entire apparatus... But India has pronounced against the US action...

I heard the news at 10 am: it is of course alarming; but somehow I also feel that this blunt stupidity, through all these confused issues, has the merit of being frankly what it is, no more and no less! Perhaps a lot of quick readjustments in the balances will take place and the perception of the world situation will evolve in unforeseen ways, allowing for new energies to flow...?

It struck me, at the Kitchen tonight, how already a subtle alignment has occurred: there are those who rejoice over Reagan's stance and fully approve of it... And, once more, there are no surprises here!

... I took Samuel with me to see D.M; he is alright now, and it is good with him, although it is also obvious he goes through affective phases and is, in his own way, aware of his father's absence, of Soaz's questions, of my place near him, and perhaps even of their projected journey back to France – Soaz has received their tickets, but without any return fares, and she has begun to panic at the thought that her parents may intend to try and keep her and the kids away from Auroville...

16-4-1986, Auroville:

I listened to the news on the radio, after the afternoon rest, and I felt like trying to write down some short essay on the general situation today, and the necessary steps to be taken to help the Change, by the Western countries; but I had no time to go beyond the introduction, as Soaz soon brought Samuel to me, and I drove back to "Ravena" with him and, later, to the beach, where he was quite happy and freely moving today, a joy to watch and be with...

17-4-1986, Auroville:

This morning I decided not to linger in "Ravena", once I had given all the instructions, and to return here early, without any moral sense of guilt, to go on with the writing of that short essay I intend to send to Jean Daniel, the main editor of the "Nouvel Observateur", which I have now titled "Un Appel à l'Ouest"...

18-4-1986, Auroville:

Samuel is doing very well now. But I can already feel that... it will be hard for me to part from him, and I will miss him... And how will it be when, and if, he comes back...? But anyway, it is all Yours!

19-4-1986, Auroville:

I seem to have spent a long time, in my sleep, with You, and Satprem, and the Agenda team in Europe – and there were more misunderstandings, and there was Your constant love, always ready to pour, to soothe, to clear the way...

... I want to help the undoing of the ego here, everywhere here in what I am; I can see and sense and feel how happy an egoless state must be! Happy in a true sense, of trusting, living, fulfilled surrender, beyond illusion, time and death, beyond all circumstances; and that really then one may begin to serve You and know Your company...!

21-4-1986, Auroville:

I have made a failure of trying to discipline myself today! And now I am completely lost; I don't know which way to turn, what to try...

... As John H put it, at dinner today, to be useful is to do Your Work! He certainly does!

As for me, I am not optimistic as to where I stand in relation to this truth... Perhaps I may do Your Work ten minutes a day, when I am collected and centred at "Ravena"; that is all it requires at present; and that means that for almost 24 hours I am nowhere; and I realise there is nothing and no one to blame but my own ego!

I also realise, with a growing shame, that Truth IS Joy; necessarily so; and it follows therefore that I cannot be aware of Truth, since I am rather effectively shut against Joy!

I am in the condition of one who drags himself on and on, without the least sense of being rooted in the Flow, of having an origin in Joy; everything under the immediate surface comes to the same for me: there is a sort of utter indifference, deep down...

I do not know; no words fit.

I just wish You would give a work to do, whatever it may be. I am unable to get rid of the ego without You. Only You can do it.

... I have finished reading "Om", by Talbot Mundy: a nice story of wisdom; it touches and moves me, but leaves me all the more irresolute; it is as if, somewhere, I feel as old as the world. And, without You to gaze at, without You to follow into a density of Presence, I feel like an endless, interminable waiting. Waiting. Waiting. Just enduring the obligation to live, to exist. And clinging to shreds of beauty, of harmony, physical harmony, so that it is bearable...

22-4-1986, Auroville:

I have been looking and looking, and it seems to me that I can formulate two things.

One, that there is in me, or I truly am, or I exist by and from, a true force of manifestation; by its very nature, it wants to manifest; but this want, until I am freed from the ego, creates problems, because first one must discern what must not be manifested (and that takes time), and then one must become aware of what truly needs to be manifested now (and that too takes time) and be integrally surrendered to it... And I can trace that issue all through my life, at all levels.

And then there is the second thing: what is truly my aspiration to, for, or toward? What is it that triggers it, or fires it, or sustains it, or calls it? For I have no motivation, and no aspiration really towards anything, except for One thing...: This whole world, the whole experience of it, the whole becoming of it, the entire range and gradation of realities it gives access to, ultimately make no sense whatsoever unless there is an opening, in Matter itself, directly to the Supreme – and if this is, as I feel and believe, the way You have come to open, Mother...!

And then all the rest becomes quite secondary, and almost irrelevant; whether it leads to being, to love, to unity, or to something else, matters little...! Because, from that "point" on, it is the Supreme who is present and conscious, and whether from this side we can, or not, mark any number of His attributes, makes little difference, after all...!

But putting those two things together, alas, does not make this present life valid in itself. For, the passage between this present state and That One seems so obviously to require an impossibly long process (long in terms of a human life) of... what... undoing, burning away, melting, dissolving, without death, that, to live the present moment, and the next, and the next, and respond and answer constantly within limits, becomes all the more an impractical, and absurd, necessity...

25-4-1986, Auroville:

I don't know at all what to do with life...! This "I ness" is so cumbersome, so boring too, and so obstructive, vain and pointless; and yet it sticks, and persists...

I think the only moments when I am alright is when I lie down and read Your Agenda; then also when I am contemplating some physical harmony, and there is this sort of peculiar ecstasy I am most familiar with...

And then there are all these moments when, for reasons I ignore, the pressure of the Force is no longer tangible... But, when It is there, or when I am aware of It, then everything and every moment is part of It, is embraced by It...

26-4-1986, Auroville:

I now suspect that my ego is largely behind this want to "progress", to advance, to "become" this and that, to monkey its way on – while, perhaps, everything is just how it has to be, and one simply has to wait, one is here to wait, in humility, keeping one's commitment actual and thorough, without expecting anything "in return"...

Yet everything is infinitely clearer and more valid when... I can feel You, feel the Force pouring, active, burning and melting...

Ego... the ego... hiding even forward, and profiting by the unknown, mimicking, adapting so well, so "subtly"!

Sometimes when I look at it thus, I think it is better to lead an ordinary life, simply, until, unheralded one day the Force picks you up, gathers you back in Its fold and sends you forth into the new world...

The problem is, though, that I am not sure I could lead even an ordinary life at this point...!

27-4-1986, Auroville:

The weight of having to carry and assume one's separate existence is crushing...

Sometimes I fear that I am far out on a very wrong path... And yet, as long as I experience a growing comprehension of Your Agenda, it cannot be that wrong...!

I don't know, don't know, don't know...

28-4-1986, Auroville:

An oddest episode last night: a woman I know has given birth to seven twins! And, although I am not their father, they turn to me, and I begin to look after them too; this is taking place somewhere like Brittany, near the sea...

... Samuel did not want to stay with me today, he preferred to go to the beach with the other kids and Soaz; it is also, I feel, that we are both preparing for the "separation", in about 3 weeks; otherwise it may be too abrupt...

30-4-1986, Auroville:

In one of my "dreams" last night I saw a very interesting painting, at the centre of which is an empty armchair, in a perfect peace, charged with the Presence...

Texte d'une lettre ouverte adressée à Jean Daniel, au "Nouvel Observateur".

« Monsieur,

Je me permets de m'adresser à vous, et à la tenue et à l'intégrité dont vous faites preuve, avec l'espoir que vous voudrez bien considérer cette contribution, sous une formulation qui pourra paraître simpliste à certains, d'un « appel à l'Ouest », rédigé avec les moyens du bord.

Vous serez peut-être sensible au fait que, étant dans la position de quelqu'un qui d'une part est géographiquement éloigné et d'autre part ne dispose d'aucune lettre de crédit, d'influence, n'a rien accompli de notable et ne possède aucune qualification particulière, mais a quelque chose à communiquer à la lumière des événements qui agitent le monde à présent, je n'ai pu songer qu'à vous comme le forum possible pour partager une compréhension qui me semble aussi urgente qu'essentielle.

Etant abonné de votre journal depuis de nombreuses années, et bien que je déplore intensément une certaine vulgarité de ton qui nuit beaucoup à la clarté et à la précision de l'information et à la possibilité de progrès collectif que représente cet hebdomadaire, et que je puisse me demander parfois par quelle gymnastique vous-même parvenez à justifier votre caution à cet état d'esprit très falsifiant, j'ai pu constater toutefois, avec estime, que dans vos éditoriaux vous tendez constamment à vous exprimer du plus haut de votre conscience.

Alors, comme beaucoup d'autres je le crois, j'aimerais tant que cet instrument dont vous avez la maîtrise puisse servir à dire un peu plus et un peu plus fort certaines vérités nécessaires, à s'engager un peu plus avant dans la prise de conscience – inévitable, mais évidemment moins brutale si un peu partout l'on apprend à collaborer, à ne pas y faire obstacle – du sens de notre temps présent, sur la terre.

Alors que je vous écris, dans toutes les agglomérations humaines il est probablement question de l'action menée par l'Administration des Etats-Unis contre la Libye du Colonel Khedafi.

Les sympathies divergent, les mouvements viscéraux se heurtent à des perceptions plus globales ; la conscience de la quasi-impossibilité de nos jours et dans les termes ordinaires à être politiquement honnête, est en conflit moral avec l'apparente nécessité d'agir... Et ainsi de suite.

Mais ces événements ont ceci de remarquable qu'ils symbolisent et expriment très ouvertement le problème majeur auquel les pays de l'Ouest doivent maintenant faire face, et auquel ils doivent apporter la vraie réponse, celle qui dégagera le chemin d'une évolution terrestre coopérative.

Car il y a une autre voie que celle qui consiste à opposer sans répit les morales et les cultures sur un champ de bataille planétaire.

Il est une leçon radicale que l'Ouest doit apprendre vite : c'est que le temps est passé des ingérences, des interférences et de l'expansion d'une nation quelle qu'elle soit aux dépens des autres.

Le milieu dans lequel nous évoluons a changé. Les conséquences du moindre faux mouvement ont leurs répercussions immédiates à tous les niveaux de vie, partout sur la planète.

Le temps de l'interférence est révolu.

Mais surtout, le temps est révolu de toutes les morales et de tous ces codes de conduite qui justifiaient l'interférence.

Il est indispensable que les pays de l'Ouest, c'est-à-dire ces pays qui ont atteint un seuil d'autosuffisance et sont en mesure de permettre une qualité de vie à chaque membre de leurs communautés, fassent le constat lucide et compréhensif de la situation et se déclarent volontaires pour pratiquer de nouvelles orientations.

Ici je souhaiterais souligner les données majeures de ce constat, et tenter de formuler les indications des changements nécessaires qui leur correspondent.

Il n'y a eu et il n'y aura jamais qu'un Alexandre.

Désormais la complexité formidable des données à résoudre pour la conscience humaine contemporaine est si évidente qu'il est devenu tout à fait inutile de vouloir se garder d'une éventuelle ambition totalitaire et dominatrice par une quelconque des parties concernées.

L'interdépendance des problèmes posés est telle qu'une domination effective de la planète par quelque groupe humain que ce soit est devenue irréalisable, à moins d'un anéantissement plus que partiel de sa population.

Or le moyen le plus concret et le plus rapide de prévenir définitivement une telle éventualité est justement de renforcer et d'encourager à tous les niveaux la communication et les échanges entre tous les groupes et sociétés humains, de telle manière que chaque individu devienne rapidement conscient, dans son expérience quotidienne, de cette même complexité et de sa réalité évolutive.

Il est donc profondément nécessaire de miser sans réserves sur les potentiels de cette communication planétaire et d'accompagner activement, de manière souple, attentive et éclairée, toutes les prises de conscience qui en résulteront.

Dans le même ordre évolutif, il est souhaitable que le mélange des races se produise de manière croissante et de plus en plus diversifiée, à la condition de respecter le choix libre des individus.

Cela est souhaitable pour une raison très simple, dont quiconque a longtemps vécu au contact et en présence d'une culture entièrement différente de la sienne pourra témoigner, et c'est que seul le corps est capable d'intégrer les différences dans une résolution vivante.

Il faut aussi considérer attentivement et sans parti pris la réalité évolutive du pouvoir financier. C'est là une donnée cruciale, car elle est indissociable, de nos jours, de toutes les autres.

Il est un principe fondamental qui doit être établi de manière irréfutable : c'est que l'argent ne doit pas servir à faire de l'argent.

Le pouvoir financier doit être utilisé exclusivement aux fins et au service de la qualité de la vie – qui est synonyme de la qualité de la conscience. Toutes les autres utilisations de ce pouvoir sont soit des déviations relatives de cette vérité essentielle, soit de graves contradictions qui multiplient sans cesse les obstacles à une manifestation progressive de l'harmonie sur la terre.

Si l'Ouest donne à ce principe la place et le rôle de critère déterminant pour ses choix et ses orientations dans tous les domaines, nous verrons pratiquement que les grandes impasses qui font l'objet de tant d'études et de débats ont en fait une voie de résolution, difficile certes, mais juste et profondément évolutive – qu'il s'agisse de cette fameuse « aide au Tiers Monde » qui n'est hélas qu'un alibi et un masque, ou qu'il s'agisse de l'armement de pays en conflit, ou des divers fléaux de la civilisation industrialisée, tels le chômage ou les conditions de vie des « immigrés »...

Il est par ailleurs impossible à quiconque de nier honnêtement le fait de l'influence déterminante du pouvoir financier sur l'orientation des recherches scientifiques en général.

Or l'utilisation éclairée du pouvoir financier dépend directement d'une capacité de compréhension vraie de la situation évolutive de la terre.

Que nous le voulions ou non, que nous soyons ou non à même d'en mesurer l'ampleur et la portée, nous sommes tous à la fois les témoins et les participants de l'émergence d'une nouvelle conscience ; nous vivons les affres d'une nouvelle naissance.

Or nous pouvons aider.

Le pouvoir financier doit être mis au service de cette nouvelle naissance.

Supposons que les nations de l'Ouest deviennent rapidement capables de se rassembler dans le soutien d'une résolution commune pour une proposition terrestre énonçant clairement et distinctement les orientations pratiques qui auraient des conséquences mondiales, dans l'immédiat comme à terme indéfini...

Toute proposition terrestre valide issue par les Etats de l'Ouest devrait nécessairement inclure les termes de la conduite à tenir en cas de conflit ou d'affrontement en n'importe quel point de la planète, et prévoir l'éventualité d'un conflit où l'une ou les parties concernées demanderaient officiellement l'intervention de forces armées efficaces.

Or il apparaît à tout examen attentif qu'une telle intervention ne pourra être réellement utile qu'à certaines conditions : - elle ne pourra avoir pour objectif que celui d'arrêter l'affrontement destructeur qui a lieu ;

- elle ne pourra prendre place qu'à la demande expresse et sans équivoque de l'une ou des parties concernées, dans ce même et unique objectif ;

- elle ne pourra émaner que d'une formation inter nationale, ou plutôt a nationale, c'est-à-dire établie par un consensus mondial et ne dépendant aucunement d'affinités entre différentes nations ;

- son choix ne pourra en revenir ultimement qu'à une Commission également formée par consensus et après examen impartial des données de la situation en question, sur la base d'informations, d'évaluations et d'études recueillies en permanence ;

- les armes employées devront être sophistiquées, au sens d'une précision et d'une efficacité maximales, dans le même objectif de faire cesser l'affrontement dans un délai et avec des dommages minimaux, bannissant entièrement et radicalement l'usage d'armes qui peuvent avoir des effets nocifs sur le milieu et l'environnement.

Ainsi, pour prendre l'exemple d'un Etat au moment de définir son budget, ses dépenses en matière de défense et d'armement seraient formidablement réduites à une contribution à la force d'intervention dont cette Commission serait la dépositaire et la gardienne.

C'est-à-dire que, pour ne mentionner que ce domaine de l'armement, un formidable potentiel d'énergie créatrice serait libéré et rendu disponible pour le service d'une aventure évolutive humaine et terrestre.

Evidemment ces orientations impliquent nombre d'actes courageux face auxquels l'Ouest ne cesse de louvoyer et de tergiverser, mais jusqu'à quand ?

Ainsi, tout trafic et vente d'armes doit être activement exclu de la vie humaine ; toutes les industries qui collaborent à la destruction doivent se recycler dans la manufacture d'objets et d'outils utiles à la recherche progressive de la qualité de la vie terrestre.

(Et ici il faudrait tout de même relever la multiplication des signes et symptômes de la banqueroute, ô combien salubre, des techniques et pratiques d'espionnage international.)

L'aide des nations qui ont atteint le seuil de l'autosuffisance pour celles qui sont en difficulté doit procéder selon des principes et une éthique nouveaux ; il n'est plus question de charité, mais de coopération et de respect.

L'aide, le service rendu, doit intervenir sur la seule base d'une requête clairement formulée, et sans conditions d'aucun côté.

Elle mettra l'accent sur le partage des connaissances, la maîtrise des techniques et du savoir, plutôt que sur les biens matériels, sans y mêler aucune influence idéologique.

Elle s'efforcera sans cesse de favoriser l'accès pour tous à ce que Samuel Pizar nomme « les ressources humaines ».

Elle n'interviendra en aucune manière sans requête préalable dans l'évolution, si ardue soit-elle, d'une culture ou d'un peuple donnés, mais s'appliquera constamment à soutenir tous les échanges sociaux et humains à tous les niveaux d'activité.

Elle s'intéressera, en tous points du dialogue permanent qui pourra ainsi s'établir, à mettre les moyens justes à la disposition de tous ceux, individus et communautés, qui sont à la recherche d'une qualité de vie et d'un progrès de conscience.

Elle donnera son plein soutien à toutes les recherches des moyens pratiques d'utiliser intelligemment et dans un respect total de l'intégrité de la terre toutes les ressources matérielles et naturelles, en ayant à cœur ce principe fondamental selon lequel, de là où l'on prend, là il faut donner.

Ces propositions ne manqueront pas d'apparaître « utopiques » à ceux qui, de par leur propre confusion, sont en retard dans leur évaluation des temps présents.

Il en est d'autres – et c'est là l'un des faits de la bataille intérieure qui se livre en tous points de la conscience humaine – dont les intérêts et les attachements immédiats sont évidemment menacés par de telles orientations.

Mais c'est là où nous en sommes, et il incombe particulièrement à ceux qui peuvent le voir de contribuer toutes les énergies dont ils disposent pour amener l'Ouest à la pratique de ces vérités.

Les circonstances de la terre entière crient cette nécessité.

Le terrorisme, qui est l'objet aujourd'hui de cette campagne « magistrale », ne peut être dissous qu'en en traitant la cause.

Et cette cause réside dans l'impossibilité vivante où se trouvent actuellement des millions d'êtres humains de constituer un corps de valeurs adapté au déferlement d'une conscience terrestre, puisqu'ils sont privés du milieu et de l'environnement indispensables à cette démarche.

La conscience de l'humanité, comme sa substance, est une, et ce qu'elle crie, ici ou là, doit être entendu.

Ce qu'elle crie n'est pas les mots employés, n'est pas les idées galvaudées.

Ce qu'elle crie est le besoin vital, impératif, de l'espace nécessaire pour opérer une mutation harmonieuse à un état planétaire.

L'Inde, pays où je vis moi-même depuis près de quinze ans, est une représentation bouleversante de tous les maux qui nous accablent et frappent aux portes de notre conscience.

L'Inde qui, malgré, en dépit de et avec toutes ses contradictions, tient pourtant le rôle d'un espoir et d'un exemple pour nombre de peuples et de nations en difficulté.

L'Inde qui a le courage et la détermination de représenter la voie du non-alignement, alors qu'elle-même souffre gravement de la succession d'ingérences et d'interférences qui ont grandement contribué à sa propre division.

L'Inde, dont la réalité profonde a été défigurée par la partition survenue au lendemain de son Indépendance, et qui n'a pas encore pu évoquer, en elle-même, la force véritable qui la rendra à son identité. André Malraux l'avait bien vue, cette vraie unité de l'Inde, dans le conflit qui précéda la création – elle-même un autre compromis douloureux – du Bangladesh.

L'Inde qui a compris qu'elle doit trouver directement les forces nécessaires à sa survie et à son accession à ce seuil encore incertain après lequel elle pourvoira à l'intégrité minimale de chacun des membres de sa vaste communauté.

Combien la tâche lui serait facilitée, en termes réels d'évolution, si aucune de ces « puissances étrangères » ne poursuivait ses propres intérêts fallacieux dans son environnement immédiat !

Combien de situations terrestres, de conflits et d'impasses n'auraient ils pas enfin la possibilité de parvenir à leur propre résolution évolutive – quelles que soient les épreuves que la morale confuse des Occidentaux leur fasse redouter – si les puissances des nations « développées » s'engageaient à pratiquer la juste attitude ?

Et quelle richesse d'expérience n'en résulterait-il pas pour chaque individualité !

Je suis bien conscient que, d'une part, les « bonnes idées » ne manquent pas et que, d'autre part, pour prendre l'exemple de la France, le jeu des forces est tel que les énergies de bonne volonté vont au seul effort de neutraliser les effets d'attitudes étroites et exclusives, ou du moins semblent devoir le faire.

Mais il faudrait peut-être suivre une autre démarche, qui consisterait dès maintenant à clamer et répéter inlassablement ce que sont les véritables nécessités des temps présents, jusqu'à ce que l'on soit entendu.

Qu'importent les dénominations, momentanées, dont ceux qui parlent clair sont ou seront affublés.

Ce qui compte est de communiquer une compréhension et les éléments d'une orientation pratique effective.

Il serait bon de noter, pour ceux de l'Ouest, avant que par une ironie du sort ils se trouvent dépassés, que de telles propositions sont déjà partie intégrante de la démarche et du discours de certains pays dits « non-alignés ».

Et que la balance des forces est en train de changer irrémédiablement.

Reste que, en comprenant, en adhérant, en prenant des initiatives transparentes, l'Ouest peut énormément réduire le coût en souffrance du travail évolutif et contribuer formidablement à la circulation libre d'énergies nouvelles et d'une harmonie globale.

Vous dénoncez avec persévérance et ferveur ce que vous considérez en France comme une remontée du racisme, et vous tentez de mettre en garde contre la variété de ses masques.

Mais le phénomène même de cette « remontée » indique simplement que la civilisation et la culture occidentales, avec toutes leurs prétentions d'universalité, n'ont pas pu devenir le médium pour les résolutions des différences raciales.

Même la morale la plus haute ne peut qu'imposer le contrôle d'une tolérance active sur des mouvements dont nul n'est à l'abri, tant que nous n'avons pas réalisé concrètement, dans le corps, que toute la substance humaine est une, et que la conscience est un continuum qui ne connaît pas de barrières.

Cette réalisation fait pression sur nous tous, où que nous soyons.

Nous pouvons aider à son incarnation.

Négativement, nous pouvons nous abstenir de toute surenchère et reconnaître simplement que, dans l'état actuel de notre conscience, d'une race à l'autre nous ne nous comprenons pas toujours ni en tout.

Et créativement, nous pouvons et nous devons encourager et aider de toutes les manières possibles et à tous les niveaux la circulation et les échanges d'énergie, sur des bases intègres et non ambiguës qui respectent profondément le droit de chacun au respect de soi-même.

Dans toute l'histoire connue de l'humanité, trois états ont parfois été capables de transcender les différences autrement insurmontables : l'amitié, l'amour et l'expérience spirituelle véritable.

Transcender, mais pas transformer.

La transformation n'aura lieu vraiment que dans une conscience du monde tout entier, dans le corps et la matière.

J'ignore évidemment ce qu'il adviendra de cette « lettre ouverte », comme je ne puis que conjecturer sur la nature de l'accueil qui lui sera réservé.

La raison me dicterait de ne rien espérer.

C'est donc une tentative déraisonnable que je vous prie néanmoins d'accepter, si vous voudrez bien juger vous-même de ce qu'elle vaut.

Comment terminer une telle lettre ? L'on peut toujours s'adresser un sourire !

Divakar (né Français, résidant en Inde), le 17-4-1986. »

Entretien de Ch.J et F.J à propos de la lettre ouverte à Jean Daniel, enregistré en Novembre 1986.

ChJ – « Bon, je t'ai passé la lettre de Divakar à Jean Daniel : ce qui m'a frappée quand je l'ai lue, c'est que c'est un peu un cri ?

FJ – Oui.

ChJ – Ce qui m'a frappée aussi, c'est que, bon, je suis d'accord entièrement avec tout ce qu'il dit ; et qu'en certains passages, au niveau de ce que tu appelles l'exigence morale, vous êtes vraiment jumeaux ! Enfin, je veux dire que ce qu'il dit m'apparaît évidemment un peu abstrait ! Je pense que... qu'il essaie de pratiquer !

FJ – D'accord.

ChJ – Ca m'a frappée. Je ne suis pas étonnée que Jean Daniel n'ait pas répondu, à cause du début, qui est un peu naïf !

(Rires)

C'est-à-dire quand il dit qu'il y a une certaine vulgarité de ton, à laquelle Jean Daniel donne sa caution, quand on connaît Jean Daniel qui a ses qualités, mais qui est un écorché vif, il ne peut pas pardonner cela ; je veux dire, je pense que la non-réponse est assez...

FJ – C'est-à-dire qu'il y a même une contradiction à ce propos, parce que d'une part Divakar lui dit qu'il y a une certaine vulgarité de ton, et lui reproche en quelque sorte de donner caution à ça, et d'autre part il lui dit qu'il a la maîtrise – je ne sais plus où c'est : oui, qu'il a la maîtrise du « Nouvel Observateur »...

ChJ – Je pense que Divakar, quand il parle à Jean Daniel de lui, il parle de ses éditoriaux, et il fait une différence entre les éditoriaux de Jean Daniel, qu'il apprécie beaucoup, et le reste du journal, qui est... bon !... quelquefois.... !

FJ – Je l'entends bien ! Mais c'est au reste du journal qu'il reproche une vulgarité de ton, et il s'étonne que Jean Daniel n'y remédie pas ; alors je pense que Jean Daniel n'a pas le pouvoir, n'a pas la maîtrise, justement, contrairement à ce que suggère un autre passage de la lettre ; en fait, je pense que c'est beaucoup plus complexe que ça, et que l'on n'est pas tout à fait le patron, bien qu'on soit le rédacteur en chef, même un des principaux actionnaires aussi ; mais enfin, non, ce n'est pas si simple...

ChJ – Sur le fond, est-ce que tu es d'accord avec ce qu'il dit ?

FJ – Sur le fond, d'une part je suis totalement d'accord en ce qui concerne le sens, l'orientation ; et d'autre part j'ai été très, très intéressé par le fait que, pendant presque toute la lettre, Divakar s'adresse à Jean Daniel pour lui parler de la géopolitique en quelque sorte, c'est vraiment à l'échelle de la planète ; et que tout d'un coup, vers la fin, il parle de ce que nous pouvons faire là où nous sommes, et, si tu veux, il me semble que... on doit en effet clamer, que c'est dans le sens qu'il indique d'un bout à l'autre de la lettre qu'il faut aller, même si c'est impossible actuellement : il faut en parler, il faut le dire et le redire. Je ne pense pas que ce soit praticable aujourd'hui, justement si on le situe à l'échelle de la planète, parce qu'il y a beaucoup trop de contradictions, beaucoup trop de puissances en jeu, beaucoup trop de forces diverses, et que nous ne sommes vraiment pas en mesure d'agir sur ces forces, d'agir de façon concrète sur des forces qui sont, en elles-mêmes, assez incohérentes ; mais en revanche je pense que c'est en effet toute une attitude qu'il s'agit de propager peu à peu, cela étant, sur un autre plan, celui qui est signalé vers la fin de la lettre ; je pense que nous pouvons tous quelque chose dans l'immédiat, dès maintenant, là où nous sommes.

ChJ – Lui à Auroville, et toi dans ton travail, chacun là où l'on est, et dans ce que l'on fait...

FJ – C'est ça, voilà ; je ne sais plus très bien où sont ces lignes, mais... ah ! oui : 'Cette réalisation fait pression sur nous tous, où que nous soyons... nous pouvons aider à son incarnation...' Où que nous soyons : et ça c'est sûr, nous pouvons aider à son incarnation – on ne peut pas l'incarner à l'échelle de la planète, actuellement c'est tout à fait impensable ; je dirais, par contre : c'est un peu, si tu veux, la différence que je fais quand je parle de l'esprit d'équipe ; un service entier, une centaine de personnes ne font pas équipe, ne peuvent pas faire équipe, mais peu à peu on peut propager l'esprit d'équipe au sein de ces 100 personnes, tu vois... Eh bien, peu à peu on peut propager à l'échelle de la planète à force de le dire et de le redire ; c'est pour ça qu'il a raison de s'adresser à un hebdomadaire d'idées comme ça, on peut propager une certaine revendication, une revendication d'ordre moral, et ça ne peut pas s'exprimer encore en termes de revendication pratique, parce que c'est impensable...

ChJ – C'est ce qu'il dit d'ailleurs dans un moment de sa lettre – 'ce que je vous dis va vous paraître idéaliste ou utopique'... je ne sais pas ce qu'il emploie comme terme ; c'est vrai au niveau, donc, de la planète, et comme tu dis il faut être en avance pour propager ça, il faut être idéaliste et utopique ; et, au niveau de l'incarnation, être relatif et quotidien...

FJ – Voilà ; et local, tout à fait ; mais je crois qu'il y a deux manières de se faire reprocher d'être utopique – de toutes manières dès que l'on dit des choses comme ça, on se le fait reprocher ; même je dirais, quand on parle par exemple d'agir là où on est, eh bien, les gens vous disent 'à quoi ça rime !?', puisque tout le reste continue de faire pression sur nous, même ça, tu comprends ; mais enfin, je dis qu'il faut quand même bien arriver, pour soi-même, à situer les deux plans et se dire que... même le mot 'utopie' n'est pas si vilain, d'ailleurs ! Moi, je suis près à l'accepter... Mais se dire qu'il y a deux utopies, si tu veux, superposées : il y en a une qui concerne l'ensemble de la planète, bon, et il faut aller dans ce sens, mais on ne peut y aller qu'en modifiant les attitudes, et ça, les médias peuvent y aider, s'ils le veulent bien, si certains des hommes qui y travaillent font propager ça, là où ils sont ; c'est toujours la même histoire, même pour ça, il faut agir là où on est, avec les armes que l'on a, avec les moyens que l'on a. La deuxième utopie, c'est quand on se met au travail là où on est, pour faire bouger les choses ; et même dans la pratique alors, eh bien, ça doit finalement aller vers une transformation de l'ensemble ; c'est une utopie aussi, enfin je veux dire que rien ne prouve, rien ne prouve que ce soit possible, mais en même temps c'est la seule chose qui soit à notre disposition ; et finalement les deux plans se rejoignent parce que, même quand il s'agit de propager une attitude, on est bien obligé de commencer par faire ça là où l'on est ; ça aussi, c'est nécessairement restreint, c'est-à-dire... à moins que tout à coup Messieurs Reagan et Gorbatchev ne chantent en chœur un psaume de réconciliation, en disant que tout ce qui a été fait jusqu'ici est absurde ! Non, le problème c'est ça, faire là où l'on est, d'une part pour faire gagner du terrain à une certaine attitude, et ça c'est l'exigence morale ; et puis, là où l'on est aussi, on peut déjà faire bouger les choses, pratiquer les choses, et ça c'est ce qui me semble le plus urgent, fondamental même, je dirais...

ChJ – Alors, en dehors du fait de la maladresse, disons (dans le début de la lettre), justement, pourquoi est-ce que l'Observateur n'aurait pas publié cette lettre ?

FJ – Parce que, si tu veux, d'abord la lettre est trop longue : aucun journal, aucun hebdomadaire même – une revue à la limite, oui, peut-être une revue, c'est un texte à la dimension d'une revue, pas d'un hebdomadaire -, parce qu'il aurait fallu justement que ça leur soit présenté comme un truc à deux niveaux, que ce soit bien clair pour eux ; parce que, tel quel, comme ça, les 9/10 du texte leur paraissent utopiques au premier sens du terme, ils oublient le 10^{ème} restant ; mais le 10^{ème} restant est peut-être le...

ChJ – Mais ça, je me demande si ce n'est pas un problème qui se pose à tous ceux qui sont depuis longtemps à Auroville, et qui d'une certaine manière ont perdu un peu un certain contact pour savoir ce genre de choses ; si on s'adresse, tu vois...

FJ – Je ne crois pas que ce soit ça, parce qu'en fait, moi, je suis très, très saisi par la connaissance au contraire des problèmes internationaux ; non, non... non, là, je crois que c'est très clair, c'est quelqu'un qui est dans le coup...

ChJ – Je parle au niveau concret : ce que tu viens de dire, que si on veut être publié dans l'Observateur, il faut faire court ; sinon il faut s'adresser à une revue, tu vois, au niveau pratique...

FJ – Ah oui, d'accord ! Et puis je crois qu'il faut aussi aider les gens à se repérer rapidement dans ce que l'on dit, parce que sinon ils sont tentés de balancer ça – 'oui, ça c'est vraiment une utopie totale', et... je pense qu'il faut le leur pré digérer un peu...

ChJ – Il faut faire le travail de journaliste !

FJ – Oui, oui... Ce qui me paraît sans doute le plus fort dans tout ce texte, c'est ce qui concerne le rapport à des races différentes et à la nécessité d'une diversification, d'un mélange de la diversité, comme ça, et en passant par le corps, et ça, ça me paraît extrêmement important ; et chaque fois qu'il revient à deux ou trois reprises là-dessus, je crois que c'est capital, ça. Pour le reste évidemment, il y a des propositions qui seraient très intéressantes en ce qui concerne le problème des armements...

ChJ – Il faut avoir des pouvoirs...

FJ – Oui, je pense que vraiment il y aurait là des thèmes à propager, comme on disait tout à l'heure, qui seraient à mon sens bien supérieurs à ceux que manipulent, que manient, que proposent les écologistes, les verts, et d'une certaine manière, d'une manière aussi très semblable, les anti-militaristes, car la vue des anti-militaristes est très courte, très, très courte, et les écologistes aussi, à mon avis... Là il y a une morale par-derrière, une morale globale, cohérente... Moi, ce texte me paraît excellent. Il faudrait certainement pour qu'il ait des chances d'être publié ailleurs, il faudrait le remanier et le raccourcir, je pense, et le clarifier au niveau des intentions : c'est ça, surtout ; parce qu'il risque de créer des malentendus, tel quel. Mais, sur l'exigence morale en effet, je suis totalement d'accord, et sur tout ce qu'il dit, encore une fois, au niveau des différences entre les uns et les autres, la nécessité de les mettre en rapport, de les prendre en compte, et de les vivre charnellement, je dirais...

ChJ – Moi, je trouve que c'est un très beau texte...

FJ – Oui, oui...!"

5-5-1986, Auroville:

Nervously and physically I seem to be rather low, dragging on... I bet that, should I see a doctor, he'd find a number of things badly wrong; but then there's no point to it; it is something else... More and more I am learning to dispense with vital energies; and so, externally, I lose personal interest in most of what presents itself and I feel also less able to cope energetically with any of it, unless there are no interferences and I can find my own rhythm... I do believe that I am being taught: despite all the drawbacks, the blank and bleak moments of helplessness, I feel a growing trust in that process...

8-5-1986, Auroville:

I have a hard time with the heat this year; often my eyes are burning, my scalp aches and my skin itches, and all the small blood vessels seem to want to burst at the seams, and I only feel alright at home, drawing or painting or reading... As there is no imperative need for me to stay at "Ravena" very long, I have no guilty feelings, for the moment...!

9-5-1986, Auroville:

Back from "Sri Ma" beach where I took Ar. and Samuel this afternoon; the time is drawing nearer when he will leave, with Soaz and Gwen, back to France: just one more week. I took many pictures of him today. I do not know what is best for him. I cannot insist one way or another... But he has been such a gift for me...! For which I am so grateful.

... The wind has turned; it is 38° in the shade...

11-5-1986, Auroville:

If I lie outside at night, on the terrace, I keep starting and jumping awake as cockroaches and big black ants come to bite me, really as if "on purpose"; if I lie inside behind the screens, it gets stifling hot and I am soon drenched; if I let one screen open, then I have half of both problems at once...! So I must get one of these bamboo beds, to move out of reach of these creatures: it is uncanny how they seem to know the exact moment when to bite, just as I am sliding over into sleep, and they always go either for the face, or the waist or the sex... This sort of behaviour doesn't help in feeling "one with Nature"!

12-5-1986, Auroville:

Samuel had a little fever today. I must control my emotions about him... It is not easy to accept that he is going, going away, even if it really turns out to be for 3 months only; but I must be careful, so that there is no pull between us and he does not suffer, in his own way, from the separation...

13-5-1986, Auroville:

I was with D.M a moment today; I am always happy after seeing her, it's like with her there is the right sort of energy, an energy that comes from You, and is rather un-mixed, and... it helps!

... Reading, drawing, fixing a jade stone in my carving of a peacock for D.M, I don't mind this pottering about in the house...

14-5-1986, Auroville:

In the middle of the night I had a sexual dream, which triggered a volcanic release of semen; this hadn't happened for a long time... I had changed my orientation last night, trying to sleep with my head to the East; I wonder whether it is connected?

... There have been a few clear moments today, and a lot of groping within a grey and senseless life zone, feeling unused, displaced, and close to something unhealthy in terms of a way of life, with no given stand, no simple, straightforward function, no one to give to, no situation to help create: only "me", "me", that ego, that greyness, that stupidity and that weight dogging on and on, and no flame, no aspiration – or not enough of it... And yet, clearly, it is up to me! Your Presence is available, You are there, I just have to stand up straight and step on, but I am sleeping...

... I read passages of the text I had written in 84; I still do not understand why it was not, it is not supported, why it has to lie unused, when all my experience in writing it was of being exceptionally centred and integral under the flow of the Force... There is still this weird sensation of being encased as if in a glass shell, unable to communicate because of that transparent wall all around me...

... I took Samuel to "Sri Ma" again; it was so good to be just the two of us... I wish there was a woman here whom I could love the way I love Samuel, when I am just content watching him, tendering him, flowing in simple affection and that sense of physical harmony, grateful for his own unselfconscious purity...

Il me faudra peut-être écrire à propos de l'équilibre des énergies. C'est un problème quotidien, permanent, qui n'est pas personnel. Il est sûrement coloré par mes propres déformations comme par mes propres aspirations, mais il est humain et terrestre. Et le fait d'être à Auroville souligne avec acuité cette quasi impossibilité pratique d'atteindre à un équilibre, là, dans ce domaine, qui ne soit pas constamment remis en question, si l'on a en soi le besoin de se donner à Ton Travail de Passage. Il n'y a qu'un moment où cela ne compte plus du tout, où cela n'existe plus, c'est quand le psychique et le corps sont unis dans un même élan, une même prière, une même expérience... Tout le reste du temps, on traîne un malaise, le sens de ne pas être à sa place, ou d'être inadéquat d'un côté comme de l'autre, et de ne justifier en rien les privilèges reçus...

... This was my last day with Samuel; Ar. came with me this evening to their house in "Existence"; I brought all the gifts, and I played with Samuel until he was fully quietened and fell asleep... I don't see the point for him to go back there, to that world; but I have never felt entitled, or guided, to interfere. And perhaps things may yet come together with D.A, his father. But I prayed to You to take care of him, to make of this journey the best for him!

17-5-1986, Auroville:

I couldn't focus my attention on anything external today. I just wanted to cry. And, this afternoon, when N looked at me and saw clearly what was wrong – that Samuel had gone –, I did cry...

There is the experience I have never had, never truly had, and without it all the rest is terribly lacking: it is the experience of the joy to be, the joy of existence...!

Many times I just have to say: "if only existence could be taken away from me, or me from it...!" It is not that I want death either: I have no "sympathy" towards that! And if the Lord keeps me alive, for reasons I can't fathom (it appears so pointless to me!), then I shall endure: this is clear. But it is all so dull and... ungracious, when one cannot refer actively to a centre of joy...

I seem to hold together on the mere strength of a need for beauty and harmony; in life, I know of nothing that can hold me the same way, except, when it is given, a relationship such as I have had with Samuel...

18-5-1986, Auroville:

I spent a long time in my sleep with Nature: there were trees and plants and creepers, in a wonderful garden, and I was made aware of all sorts of surprising relationships between them – for instance the relationship of a small creeper lodged in the moss between the huge branches of an old, old tree...

... It keeps coming to me, each time more cruelly underlining the uncertainty, that perhaps what I miss most as a basis for progress on the path is what will be there if and when I find the right woman, that this is Life, not life in a vital sense, but Life with a capital, Life with the joy of being manifest, with the fullness of purpose...

I can apply myself to a number of disciplines and strive to progress in a number of ways, all of which are valid in their own rights, but the impulse, the foundation and the very force of the progress do not seem to be sufficient. I miss the poise, the balance, the space wherein I can truly be at peace with myself and with the world, with life and existence, because it is all there, virtually perfect, and the dynamics are in place...

It seems to me this has nothing to do with desire, or vital dissatisfaction; it is more basic and wider at the same time.

On the one hand, I trust that this will be given its right answer, through You; on the other hand, because of my past and of the strange contradictions that have surrounded me for so long, I doubt that anything will ever come in place in this life, without You directly putting it right. And that doubt is frightful, in the sense that it throws the shadow of a perpetual pointlessness on the way...

... D.M sent me some fruits; I was to go to her this evening, but she is not feeling well. About two days ago, she and Janaka asked me to find a male cat, russet coloured or tiger striped, so that they would have help against the rats in their house; and tonight, as I walked back from a quiet stroll over to the amphitheatre, I heard the desperate meowing of a kitten coming from the woods near here; I stopped and called softly, till it came to me; and I saw, in the moonlight, that it was the right colour; I took it with me and fed it and found that it was indeed a male, of a lovely fauve and grey colouring, and grey-green eyes; and it is now getting accustomed to this new situation, exploring the terrace and making lots of useless sounds... I just hope it will let me sleep:

I go through the day with no clear sense of direction, no impulse one way or another, no sense of whatever I may or may not be doing, except for those moments when comes the need to concentrate, to gather whatever energies I am aware of into an active offering of concentration, the only need that is meaningful...

All the questions about having some organic function within a larger whole, are coming again and again, but everything now, everything can be summed up in one single Necessity: devenir conscient de la joie d'être au centre de tout, ce point du Suprême qui seul valide tout le reste, toute la manifestation et tout le labeur...

I am like a parched, hardened soil that thirsts for one thing only: Joy, the Joy of Being...

Sri Aurobindo, often I turn to You, nowadays, with the need of You, with the need of the Two of You...

This is all so absurdly tedious...

I don't like to moan and complain: I don't want this "I" at all!

Somewhere, not very far, I know also that I am free. And I am aware too of a certain, partial delight...

An odd dream-experience last night: I am looking for Ina at "Brindavan", and some strange people steal my cycle, and I go searching for it through different workshops, storerooms and courtyards, and nearly get into a fight with workmen who are lying to me, and finally I find the man who has hidden my cycle, and this man is dying, and he has such a poor, awful karma, and I realise I am there somehow to help him, to assist his dying, and it is a terrible process which I try to make less of a hell...

And then, at another moment in the night, I find myself with the statues of Easter Island, and particularly with a large number of them that are hidden, smaller in size, and are figurative of the different racial types on earth...

We are so conditioned by the supposed duration of a human life-span, with its predetermined phases, and this programming one way or another twists all our experiences and, if it cannot alter or affect their nature when they are high or central enough, it does twist their effects...

24-5-1986, Auroville:

D.M is not well ; I sense that it is somehow connected – although she has said nothing at all – to what I have pointed out in my letter to her the day before her birthday; since then I have felt, in some peculiar fashion, that I was as if carrying some of her own shadow... But I do not have faith in one's mentally delving into these areas: all this is meant to be offered, through and in each of us; it is not to be pointed out for one's own selfish satisfaction...!

... I took N to his new house and had coffee there with his wife and kids, as it now sometimes happens; this relationship seems to hold and gather substance as it goes; it seems to matter in a truer way, and there seems to be a kind of internal or inner melting...

... This morning my body rejected a big worm, an intestinal worm I suppose; it must have been 7 inches long... I had suspected there were worms, because of this constant fatigue, this weariness all the time; normally I tend to attribute this difficulty to keep going to the inner workings, their complexity and intricacy; I also know that I have anaemia since childhood, and that may partly explain the fatigue; but I know now with certainty that there are these creatures feeding on my organism, and it feels wrong, and I want to do something about it; but I don't know what is to be done actually, apart from swallowing these heavy chemicals they make nowadays... Perhaps my body was enabled to reject this worm after yesterday' beer?!!! We are so steeped in ignorance!

N came to pick up the money I was keeping for him for his cycle; he said he now doesn't want to go through the temple ritual of walking on burning embers, during this festival (it also involves a week long of special pujas), as he feels that I do not like it; but I wonder about exerting such pressures; however subtle, on him to change his life: it is not right. Yet I just couldn't be enthusiastic about this whole ritual, which I can't help feeling as a kind of slavish submission, under the guise of 'tradition' to a kind of dark cloak that wants to keep the people's lives in tamas and squalor, on a mere survival level... And perhaps there is something in N that has driven him to seek my friendship as a support for moving and growing out of it... But how can I trust my own movements when there is desire in me...?

A striking dream-experience, last night: it is a big house, where I am living with other people; some of the rooms, the important rooms, suddenly get invaded with huge insects, entering in rows and lines, very wilful and organised, ugly insects; once they are established they make obeisance to some dark invisible presence; then I felt impelled to act and, first with shyness and self-distrust, then surprised by the clarity and strength of my own voice, I went into each occupied room and sang the mantra, slowly, distinctly and loudly and, in one room after another those insects either retreated and left, or they disappeared... It matters to me that I have used the mantra thus: it is important, and I am grateful...

... Sometimes during the day, I let my mind form the conception of a country given to be organised, an utopia, and how to govern it, how to lay down its rhythms and flow – like a story to be told to children... I still do not understand how a situation like Auroville's can manifest something truly different: it is either too cramped and limited, or too loose and too open to influences, unless there would be a strict hierarchy with incarnate Truth at its centre, and profound and exacting commitment from each of its members. While, it seems to me, if one would start from a vaster area and a more complex situation, and have the power to determine, to an extent, the whole organisation, that could bring about the right conditions...

I am sitting in a Pondy restaurant by the ocean, recovering from having passed, quickly, my daughter, seated in front of Diane on her moped; I just had time to see that Diane has cut my princess's hair very short, like hers; it didn't feel right; she must have seen only my back, as I drove by... What, Mother, if my daughter had a deep intuition of who I am, and yet I would remain alien, a man in the street, just because they won't let me turn to her...? What, Mother? I have not accepted it, You know! I have not forgiven Auroville for being able to do that to someone, to anyone. It happens to be me, but the lie is the same, the deep, essential outrage is the same; and all the pretence, the terrible futility that goes with it...

Last night, in one of my "activities", I was driving a sort of spaceship over the land of another living planet, abandoned or uninhabited; there were problems of survival there, and with a few others we must first begin to cut down some trees that have gone crazy and lost their balance; water was there too, but a different kind of water...

... Tonight over dinner at the Kitchen, Ar. tells me something which she has known for some time, and that is that Diane is now living with Sylvain, and these news made me rather happier; he is one of the very few French men, on that side of Auroville, who has retained some humanity, and I always have felt a good, spontaneous contact with him; I like him, without knowing much of him, and I have the impression that he cannot do any harm to my little one and that he will know only tenderness towards her, and she too must like him. For Diane also, I feel it is rather a sign of progress that she would appreciate and trust a man like him...

I asked Myrtle when she'd like to go for dinner, as I had promised I would take her out before she leaves for the US; but she replied in a negative and almost defensive manner, and it was puzzling... People, women mostly, are ready for anything when they feel there can be some passion, some commitment at the affective and emotional level, but they very seldom go for friendship alone, unless they have a role in it, such as confidant, or adviser, or motherly refuge... With B it has been similar; she wanted an intensity, even if it had to be only "spiritual"... But when one looks at it, it actually comes down to a sort of bargain...

In this fashion, one after another every relationship seems to fall away, and none reveals itself that would be superior, or more real, or truly valid...

Less and less do I experience what is called "sentiment"; there are different sorts of unease, different degrees of lightness or opacity; sometimes, rarely, there is the sense of being at home with someone; but most of the time, I am incapable of contributing anything within those patterns, and impuissant to bring out anything truer...

... For this painting I am working on at the moment, I really wish I had more technique, because I am doing it for You – like the one I did about two years ago – and when there is something like that, something like a movement towards You, it is in itself fulfilling... If I would go more fully into painting, as I am sometimes inclined to, I would have to make a choice: to open to waves of inspiration, endless streams of colours, relationships, patterns and textures, and perhaps work on several paintings at once, till I develop some kind of specific stamp that would itself filter and select; or else I would have to take as a discipline only subjects, whether abstract or figurative, that carry an experience of You... Right now I wouldn't know which way to go. The main thing, or priority, would be to first unbridle myself, to get flowing, to cease being constricted about it, to quit fearing the waste of it...

I seem to have completed the main work on that painting of Your Samadhi; I still have to inscribe Your mantra on it, on the base of the "Service tree". Of course, I am not satisfied with it... I painted it all bare, without flowers, as I believe You would prefer it to be: it is for You only...

... I have bought an interesting book, written last year by a woman from New Zealand, about the inner reality of the people called "Maori"...

These days I am not able to work with the mantra, simply because there is too much resistance to the naked awareness of the Presence – not an ill-willed resistance, but more of a need to assimilate, to grow without tension...

I have been wondering about that twist – real or formative, I do not know – within my heart: that thing that has made people recoil from me, distrust me, or condemn, judge and fear me. Lately I have been praying to the Lord to rid this being of that "I", of any and every poison. I believe I now understand how this came to lodge here, and what it exactly is; but it has driven me to form defences and barriers that have then become obstacles on the way, and I need to be rid of it all now...

Janaka asked me to take him down to Birenda this morning, as he couldn't function properly: he had woken up with a numb arm and weird sensations all over his body, and both D.M and he were very concerned...

And later I went with B to help moving Ruud out of the Hospital; I went ahead, back to Pondy, to find some suitable lodgings so he could rest for a while in a comfortable space, and found a room at Goyle's, and we settled him in late afternoon... I had some more errands to run, and we ended up having dinner in town, B, Akash and I...

Every circumstance is an occasion to assess the progress one has to make; it happens all the time. What I miss, though, is the very life of the experience, that which changes one's energies. Women in general seem to have an easier access to that level of experiencing, when they have conscious and developed inner beings, and I wish it was spontaneously there with me as well, instead of looking at it from within or from above... It is in that respect that I sometimes miss a relationship, a complex interchange that could knead one's responses anew... But I know very well that what I truly seek must come directly, it must be a direct breakthrough, and for that I must become aware of the Universal at the life-level, and learn to open there, to receive there, and to experience there...

J'ai fini aujourd'hui de lire le livre de Kere Hulme ; ce livre m'a bouleversé ; il est si rare de rencontrer des êtres qui vont jusqu'au bout les yeux ouverts – et plus rares encore sont ceux qui peuvent témoigner, avec respect : c'est une grande offrande à l'amour de toute conscience... !

... C'est une impasse qui s'approfondit et s'étend de tous côtés... Il me semble à présent qu'il n'y a qu'une issue véritable à cette formidable absurdité, et elle se trouve quelque part à travers, ou au cœur, ou de l' « autre côté » de la Matière...

Un brin d'espoir me frôle quand j'ai l'impression que, peut-être, par la peinture (ce type d'activité physique) je pourrais me concentrer dans cette direction, ou cette écoute... Quant à la vie même, c'est un poids ; et ce n'est vraiment qu'un poids...

... A « Ravena » ces jours-ci je dois lutter contre la tentation de tout laisser, de me retirer tout à fait de cette scène ; tout me semble un tel artifice, fastidieux et laborieux... je ne sais pas ; je ne sais pas...

This morning at "Ravena" I talked to Janaka, asking him and D.M to take more interest in the work, and to provide me with the required precisions in time, as I have been feeling I was holding on to very little and it had become hard for me to keep looking after it all, while sensing that D.M was withdrawn... A while later, D.M called for me; she admitted that, even in herself, it had been as if something was trying to stop the house, and she knew she must focus and be actively aware again; she too has been in a deep crisis... We sat together for a long while, clearing up many details; and she eventually started laughing again...

I don't know what's happening, in what sort of process I am caught. I woke up today with a sort of realisation that what is amiss with me is that, because of some obvious vital defects I have been afflicted with, I was made to distrust my entire vital being, to the extent that I have become more and more divorced from it : and now I just cannot cope any more... I need a healthy, balanced and trustworthy vital so that I can relate, to circumstances, and to things as well as to people...

Today also I had one of these open glimpses into the state of life and consciousness (of un-consciousness, I should say) that more and more dominates this country and its peoples: ugliness absolute and tamasic chaos are spreading day by day, and people become smaller and smaller; and it weighs terribly. One usually tried and avoid seeing it ; it is already enough of a task to balance out in oneself this inertia that prevails all around... These glimpses are almost terrifying...

I have not gone abroad for the past 13 years or so; so I do not actually know. But I don't believe it is everywhere as bad: this complete, utter carelessness and disregard...! And sometimes I am just tired of being only a "vella kara", a "white skin", a "foreigner"...

I have no idea how one can be "happy" in this world! The more it goes, the more imperative it becomes to reach the One Supreme Joy – as all the rest seems to rot on itself faster and faster...

... Jagannathan and I went to Villianur, to a frightful area - dirt and smoke and chaotic, noisy ugliness everywhere, the living nightmare of this human world that does not even have the monstrous majesty of a western metropolis, a plain tide of cement and bricks, dirt and iron and offensive flesh like a huge vomit to feed sub-humanity... We had to go and check on the manufacture of the bricks I had ordered for the completion of "Ravena"...

... I received another letter form Pnina: she is feeling quite intensely lost; the situation in Israel is another facet of this earthly hell... Is there anywhere a message of joy?

Is there any way for this world to be drawn back into some sense and some harmony, without a major cataclysm?

The impasse seems to only grow more complete...

I have seen several times recently what material unity actually implies, in one's body. And again today I had a small, trivial example of it, when I saw, at work, one of the helpers who'd had a severe migraine for the past couple of days, and he looked quite strained, and I had a movement of sympathy: immediately I felt his headache as mine! I had to shut it off, but it is striking: the immediacy of it!

So, which way to go?

You seem to have "surrendered" and "left"...!?

Who am I, who are we, who is any of us, to think one can try and follow in Your steps?

And yet, there is nothing else that makes sense!

17-6-1986, Auroville:

Stray examples of what I seem to be doing at night: I am with the large golden king cobra that lives here near the house, trying to protect him when a large crowd comes in, intent on doing some major work; I must protect him even against N, whose instinct is to try and kill him, and even from people of Auroville, who have fear but do not want to show it... And then I am involved with the story of a woman who becomes the favourite of a very great man after a hard life alone on her own... And then I meet a strange child, a prodigy, the son of Hilde, who tells me he was Hilde's first son who died before she met Tency, and this child is a very moving person, very sensitive, who has some difficulties, according to human standards, to coordinate, but who responds beautifully when one is open and aware – even his size increases as one communicates with him; John H is out walking with him when

I meet him... And then I am with another child, a very special child who, in moments of trance-like experience, looses or secretes, through his mouth and nose, a strange substance – I have already seen this substance in several such “dreams” – that is jelly-like in colour and consistency, and no one knows what this substance is, it also comes from the lachrymal glands, and I keep wiping the child all through his experience...

18-6-1986, Auroville:

For years I have been holding on to a bare minimum of joy.

I know from experience that one cannot survive, cannot exist without somewhere a thread of joy. For me it's always been just, just enough to go on, and again and again it is like a force of resistance, or of oppression, that goes out to kill it all, and again and again that sliver of joy surfaces back, it peeps back again, just enough, a glimmer of Presence, a shimmer, that holds me together... Yet I find, as it goes, that there is a growing need to unite with joy, probably because I now sense more tangibly that, in order to transform all that mass of resistance that lies below the normal awareness, one must have a tremendous endurance: and I find that endurance must be fed with joy...

... At “Ravena” these days, every time I find enough confidence to move freely, and contribute even a tiny creative gesture, D.M responds with a negative statement, and it dies off, and I'm left hanging, between tears and anger and the impulse to quit. Today again it happened, about trees I was planting – they were not those she wanted, and there were more misunderstandings... But what it is exactly that she wants from me, I do not understand...!

... I have started to prepare a new painting, which I saw while riding my cycle and concentrating, of just Your Face, white against white, all in white light... I have no idea how to do that, but I shall try!

19-6-1986, Auroville:

Today I found in Your Agenda something which may be the answer to my present question: You say that, as the consciousness grows and realises more and more what is truly missing, and the body yearns more and more for Divine Love, to which Matter as a whole has been closed until now, then it takes enormous courage, a sort of heroism, You say, to go on, to continue to exist without it, knowing only that one must be thoroughly prepared in order to become able to receive and hold it...

I understand that. I have no mystic sense of exaltation in my nature toward what people nowadays call “Divine Love” but, deep down, I believe that I know a little what it truly is, and that is perhaps what I put in the word “Joy” when I use it within myself and before You...

Somewhere I can well accept the necessity for being prepared; it is just that, in the meantime, one feels so absurdly poor and useless; terribly useless, yet still taking place and consuming energy, and responsible for whatever one manifests; without anything really to give...

D.M called for me this morning, to see together about more details; then it came on to the garden aspect, where a series of misunderstandings has occurred; I was reluctant to talk about it, as I felt that they – D.M and Janaka - actually did not need me for that part of the work; but then D.M did what always gets me unhinged, she came on me with some "Sri Aurobindo said" things, and I blew up, loud and clear...!

We had then an epic scene that lasted for about two hours, and it went like 5 minutes! There was humour in it too; and somehow, I don't know what really happened, but we three felt rather ridiculous and we laughed, and I felt closer to them again; and, strangely, instead of feeling ashamed at my outburst, I felt lightened, as if a weight had been lifted, a heavy mantle...

23-6-1986, Auroville:

I attended for a while the special general Meeting that had been called; there was, I found, a quiet humility in some persons, something that was rather new; the issue presented was the need to seek together for some format through which, as a "community", Auroville could begin again to practice at least some of its purposes...

25-6-1986, Auroville:

Today my whole metabolism was off-balanced, I don't know why; I had lots of vertigo, and several times I had to struggle so as not to black-out; my heart aches, and there is this soft tingling in the left arm, etc.

... This morning I prepared a large envelopes with two nice children books in it, which I want to send to Auragni for her birthday, without a word, so that Diane can feel free to say whatever she wants when offering them to her... Then, on my way to "Ravena", I also dropped in the Messenger box the note that I have decided to write to Sylvain, and I felt as if pushing through some subtle barrier: that's when, I think, my heart-beats started to go off, I got tension from that. Yet, within myself I could not trace any negative indication that I should not do that; but it has obviously put me up against a rather massive resistance: I expect nothing from it, though, I leave it all to You...

... D.M called me to see some more details, and it was sweet and rather happy; but Janaka is now extremely tired; he is not doing well at all and this has become worrying. He is getting very thin and strained, and his ankles have swollen up, and his arms sometimes go numb...

26-6-1986, Auroville:

My sending of this invitation to Sylvain (my note was mainly to invite him for a quiet talk) has made a sort of breach into what was both a barrier and a protection, and tensions I had moved away from are now back around me... This enables me to appreciate the fact that, most of the time, that is, when I do not feel impelled to walk out and expose myself (a foolish thing probably), I am left very quiet by people; in this, I believe, and whatever their own reasons, they respond to a higher "Reason"...

Perhaps then, this is all a "closed episode"? I don't understand anything!

The only things that make sense to me, that speak to me directly, are Your experiences in Your Agenda... Nothing else seems to ever fall in place, to ever be right, to ever make sense... All the rest is a groping and a wandering into the unlit areas of physical life and consciousness, where nothing is evident but for the flowers and the birds chirruping and hopping away...

Last night I was involved for a long time in the monitoring of a small city' revival; its economy, the points of power-generating, the use of energies, all in a spirit of silent and caring study: the relationships between energies, the distances, the rhythms, and the architectural harmonies and the distribution of the flows; it was very interesting, and the criterion seemed to be always a measure of the degrees of joy and ease...

... Ajneyam Auragni is 4.

There has been no sign, no reply from Sylvain, and no sign either from that side, from my princess, and no contact whatsoever. We are thus kept apart, and for how long? But I want no drama in me. I want Your Way, even if and when I understand nothing...

... Ar. had a small accident today, and I felt at once there was a connection, as there'd been so much tension around me; she fell with her Moped on the way to Bharat Nivas, slipping in the sand; she couldn't recall anything special before that, in her or about her, she had been quiet, undisturbed; and when she landed suddenly in the dirt, bruised and scraped, she was stunned; she at once came to me, like a child, so that I tend her surface wounds, and we could laugh about it...

... Janaka is feeling miserable physically, with numbness in his limbs; he could hardly walk today and he is exhausted. It is alarming, as he is shouldering all the daily load of looking after D.M's every need and the house and Auralice; without him up and about, D.M is totally helpless.

... I seem to have at last finished a large painting I had started perhaps two years ago: it is of the cosmic Egg, that has cracked, letting out flames of coloured light into the flaming light of the psychic ... I can't say exactly what it stand for, but I have a strange regard for this painting...

... The lesson I gather from these last two days – with this last attempt to establish some contact with Auragni's life – is that I must keep to my own, and really and truly trust that law that whenever there will be a necessity for me to move or act I shall be made to know it directly, without my interfering... It is indeed a lack of trust in me: I believe this to a point, and then it becomes a mental belief, not a living faith, and its opposite presents itself as well, that I must also "contribute" and "make steps", and it plays havoc... Whenever I shall have to make a step, in Your terms, I shall know it unmistakably: it will not be in the same domain; it will not be confused with "goodwill, participation, "striving for harmony" and what not... It will be clear: a clear, integral necessity...

In my sleep last night, there was a large collective work-out, and I'm very glad to be getting fit again; there are many Auroville people quietly joining, without any fuss, each one guided by a clear need, and we, or I, practice rising above ground, learning to work with the force of gravity, but I am still too corrupt and I can rise a little and stay off the ground, but I cannot move up and away as yet... And this is followed later by another scene, something about my own impurity, strangely expressed: we are roving in a city, there two or three friends with me, and it is a special day, there are celebrations everywhere, there are collective prayers being held, and meditations; we enter a kind of large church, very richly set, and a service is going on; I go straight to a chamber, where I am on familiar ground, and then, as the priest is uttering the words, suddenly from behind a screen, prototypal animals come out and jump down among the people, each with a special function and intent and then, at one point, a black powerful dog comes straight at me and sniffs me, moves around, and for some reason I cannot figure, comes back at me barking loudly, and catches hold of me, with a firm and controlled grip, and pulls me out of the place...

I was busy gluing some of the paintings I am working on, late morning, when Kenneth came in; he talked and talked, but there was a genuine sense of friendship between us, and I felt glad he had made the move to come over. After dinner Ar. and I went over to Bharat Nivas to watch a video (this is a graceless means of communication, which I have so far avoided) that promised to be interesting: "the Deer Hunter", with Meryl Streep, Robert de Niro and other very good actors, about the terrible trauma thousands of young people underwent in the Vietnam war: this is quite a moving work, which may have helped at least some of those "veterans" to integrate and move beyond the experience...
And now, quite late into the night, Ar. came to call me: her house had been broken in while she'd been out, and her loud speakers had been stolen...

2-7-1986, Auroville:

In the night a she-dog came to deliver 6 puppies right by the house; I had to decide what to do about them this morning... The first "instinct" is to respect all life, to let things be, not to interfere. But when I returned from "Ravena" later in the morning, something else came to me that felt more real, given our context, but also demanded more from me: I chose then to drown them all. I put them in a bag. I would rather have left one alive for the mother, but I asked around and no one knew where she belonged, and we cannot afford more dogs here. So I carried them over to the pond; their eyes hadn't opened yet; I plunged the bag into the water, slowly, and concentrated quietly; this was a strangely calm and sweet experience: for just a few seconds they seem to panic a little, then they shifted over and back into the rhythm which they had just left at their "birth", the rhythm they had known within the womb; I looked at my watch; I saw that for nearly twenty full minutes, they went on moving very quietly and naturally – twenty minutes...!

Then I asked Rad to bury the bag in a freshly dug pit.

While I was drowning these pups, I was turned to the Lord, and to that reality that supports the laws of manifestation; I was turning to that with the awareness of the world as it is, with its disharmony. It was calm and poised.

... Today I finished reading "The City of Joy" (a recent book on the work of Christian missionaries in Calcutta); I can appreciate what this stands for, but those motivations could not move nor guide me, not out of insensitiveness or indifference, but... You stand so far beyond that...!

It is good, though, to be reminded of all these ways and all these efforts towards a living truth...

Last night Ar. was robbed again ; this time the guy came in even while she and Ritam were asleep upstairs, and tried to take the tape-recorder, entering through another window; Ar. didn't hear anything right away, but reacted slowly and clumsily, and the guy had time to run away; we all went there, but it was too late... So today I bought whistles for every house!

It is difficult. There is a strain, a restlessness: to have to exist, minute after minute, while being cut off from the Supreme... It is all a matter of energies on this side of things: one must carry oneself at all times, and the more so as one withdraws from the usual human tricks of getting attuned to vital energies and striking a bargain with them...

Alright, I am supposed to know that what is needed is to surrender one's ego and let the Lord take over, and then one ceases to worry... Or so goes the lesson...!

Leaving Jagannathan with the lorry to go and collect the bricks, I went and bought myself a book, the last of Carl Sagan's, in which he expounds on his conviction about the existence of other conscious beings somewhere in this material universe; as he is well up to date on the latest progresses of most sciences, it makes for a very informative reading...

... I returned "home" feeling rather desperate about the human condition around here – this part of India at least, is in such a complete mess!

I don't know how to say... Always stand before me the doubt, a doubt as to whether perhaps I was misled when I chose to return here in 1973, and there is like the sense of a curse acting on parts of my life – while at other levels this very curse is really and truly a Grace.

But it seems that this aggregate I am can never come whole...

... Jagannathan came back this evening... without the bricks; he'd met with more troubles from that Chettiar, who is really below the human: a sort of viscous dirty lump of devious consciousness...! So I'll have to go there tomorrow again...

... Suhasini sat with me at dinner; G.G is due back soon; I couldn't give what she needs to a girl like her; at moments I could, but not the life she needs...

I am made more and more aware of the stuff that is woven into the physical consciousness of the people here – of what causes which effects and consequences, and where lie the roots of the rather monstrous condition they are in, all the superstitions and fears and formations and influences that play in every moment of their lives; and the more I see of it, the more I tend to feel that it is rather hopeless... at least for this generation it seems that not even intensive education could change a iota of it; this generation seems to be doomed. Perhaps those who are now born, in the midst of this chaos, will have to reach for another sort of survival, and from that a change will become possible, without some catastrophe... Being white, and European-born, whatever takes place in my bit of substance and consciousness is of no consequence and can in no way affect or contribute to the general substance and consciousness here – and I wonder often about the sense of being transplants, a colony of transplants... It isn't easy...!

... There is something in me, something conscious, that greatly suffers from disharmony; disharmony in myself first of all, but in a general way from the artificiality of this material existence, from all these intermediaries that are felt as so many interferences and deforming agents; and I haven't found the way, yet, to accept it all so that it can be offered for the change...

This morning was my weekly Kitchen duty; I was a little tense for a while, because I had decided to try and do something about the mess this place has been in lately, and for that I first had to talk with Sylvano; I made my observations and suggestions when he came, and listened to him describing the difficulties he has in collecting enough money around to merely keep things going and to what he thinks and feels of the situation in Auroville; and everywhere one looks, it is an absurd, unwholesome and disharmonious situation, no doubt, whether at Matrimandir, or in the general distribution of energies, or in the running of Services; in the smallest necessities of daily life as in the larger issues nothing seems to make much sense in the way of progress... (Every time I hear Ar. tell me what goes on at Matrimandir, I want to hit the wall!)

But what is the alternative before one? To keep to oneself more and more? To me this work at the Kitchen is my last link to a community life... Or else, to jump back into the fray, and to try to fight and to contribute?

... I have nearly finished reading Carl Sagan's study, "Contact"; I am very attracted to this experience of meeting the material point where time and space zero in and instantly become at once a threshold and a channel; I feel that it meets with Your movement, and that it concerns each of us tremendously...

This has been a peculiar day; it is today exactly 10 years ago that D.M fell off the scaffold at Matrimandir...

I was just about to start with the Sunday clean-up of the house when N came with a message from D.M: Janaka had fainted and was now so sick that he couldn't handle anything and couldn't look after her; so I must replace him. I went back and forth the entire day, till Janaka had rested and felt a little better, in the evening...

14-7-1986, Auroville:

Today Janaka was a little stronger, and they needed me for a while only; I joined the concreting at Matrimandir for part of the morning. There are two levels left to the top of the structure for the shell.

... I stayed the evening with D.M and Janaka, who has too much pain in the leg still to do much more than hopping from bed to chair, and I had dinner with them and Auralice came home late, and I so I stayed on, once more, till everyone was tucked in bed... These three beings have chosen to live together so completely – partly due to D.M's physical condition, but also because they feel that they are progressing best this way; they have no privacy, no individual space; they share every moment of life and seem to enjoy it, even after all these years... I see that, I see movements of different natures; I have questions, and I have respect, and I have hesitations; but on the whole, I find it very valuable.

Yet I do wish, oh how I wish, that D.M would walk again now, soon... 10 years...! Hasn't she learned now whatever was there to learn from that experience? Can't she be helped to move now to another stage?

15-7-1986, Auroville:

Back from "Ravena" late morning, I started on the paintings of both Your Symbols... Later, something happened which made me sad, and worked in me the rest of the day: Krishna came by and called me out, to "see something in the garden"; I went with him to the small cactus garden we had built together, and he said he had felt recently that he would like to have "back" the large stone we had laid at the centre of it, a stone which manifests a sleeping dove, a very beautiful pattern, that has really been the soul of this garden... I said "well, I suppose that if you don't love this place anymore, then you might as well take the centre of it, its soul, and there'll be nothing left...!" He agreed, with a weird smile. He really wants to go to the end of this divisive process: this is how he sees the clarity he wants to prove! It didn't hurt right away; the pain came later, slowly, from deep, and it rose...

On my way to "Ravena" in the afternoon, I nearly cried; but I had other matters to attend to. When I had time later to ponder it, I saw that this was going to throw the place here off-balance, and that he'd better then take everything from around here that carries even a little of himself in his experience, so that I too could see more clearly where things stand, and recreate a harmony that will be protected from such intrusions and claims...

Jagannathan and I made another useless trip to Kottakuppam to see the Village Officer; I don't know, this whole mass of woven intermeshed dishonesties, corrupt actions, political sidings and grabs for money and status...: we are still trying to purchase that land next to "Ravena", but there is no record that stands scrutiny, it is all a mess, and it feels that nothing can possibly ever come right, out of such a world...

22-7-1986, Auroville:

There is some happiness in me this evening; D.M often puts me in the right place, by her own centeredness, her truthfulness, and the authenticity of her striving... I spent a long time with her this morning; she is having a hard time and, while talking quietly after our work on drawings for the door carvings, she made an opening for me to express a few questions regarding the effects on her condition of some exclusivism that I have often seen at play; so we looked at it together, and at the whole process she has been committed to since her "accident" 10 years ago... Her sincerity always radiates; and I am grateful...

I had some unusual moments last night in my sleep – unusual for me: I am with a few friends, in a gleeful state, and we are breaking and dismantling engines and machines, going round old disused workshops and factories, and, with power in our hands, we are like kids kicking useless balls, demolishing everything, and there is wide silence abroad...

24-7-1986, Auroville:

It impresses me how little I seem to be able to bear, how quickly suffocated and oppressed I become whenever, for some reasons, I cannot be physically in my own atmosphere...

I see so many elements and so many movements, little disharmonies, little lacks or little excesses, and all sorts of mechanisms; I see so much the stuff that makes the days and the lives, and how it interacts with the beings' inner aspirations... I see how we create our own environment, or rather how our environment is one accurate, detailed and exact outcome of what we are at the moment...

D.M sent for me urgently at 5 am this morning; Janaka had fainted again, and he couldn't stand, couldn't move, was vomiting bile and feeling cold and giddy, even when lying down...

I found D.M very depressed and worried, and feeling abandoned to her helpless physical condition; the atmosphere wasn't bright!

But in either of them there is that trust and that love for You and that sense of humour – a need to be worthy of You and to serve You at least a little...

So I spent the entire day there, helping them both physically, working on reviving Janaka – these two crippled bodies, in a mini-chaos of things and animals to tend to, with meals to prepare, and the main site to look after as well...

D.M felt very much the urge to communicate to Satprem – the only being she could turn to, today, for some conscious help; she wrote the text of a telegram and I later asked Ar. to post it to Luc in New York...

... We found a practical way, finally, to end the day without a drama: I took Auralice in the evening to Bharat Nivas for her to watch a video, returned here to shave, bathe and change, and be alone for a moment in the peace You have given me, and then I picked up Auralice again and we went back to "Ravena" and I put them all to bed and stayed there for the night...

I have been asking, almost crying: "Why all this, Mother, why all this?" And I do not know the answer, if there is one; but I feel that You are not anywhere in particular, but rather that You are within each of us who cares, and perhaps even whether one cares or not, towards the Supreme... oh! I don't know what words could begin to say what is being perceived: it is so simple, and yet so difficult to live...!

25-7-1986, Auroville:

D.M had a very difficult start today, feeling at first very desperate; but after some hesitations we figured together that the best would be to get N, who is the gentlest and also the cleanest of the permanent workmen at "Ravena", to help out and take turns with me from tomorrow on; because it has become evident that it will take time for Janaka to recover, and I cannot possibly look after them both, and the animals, and the house, and the construction work and be available 24 hours... So it is now clearer how one can help, without any one of us getting too much of a charge or burden: I'd had a few terrible moments when I just knew that I would have to say I couldn't cope, all alone...

Vers 9h30 ce matin, à Yercaud, où B, Ruud et Akash, en compagnie de la sœur de Ruud et ses enfants, ainsi que du cousin de Ruud et de son amie, étaient allés – très stupidement – passer quelques jours de « vacances », Ruud a subi une soudaine attaque cardiaque, qui l'a emporté.

Il ne s'était absolument pas préparé à ça. Il avait même refusé, assez évasivement d'ailleurs, de faire le travail intérieur qui lui avait été présenté comme nécessaire au cours des dernières semaines ; à un niveau plus psychologique, il s'est aussi laissé dévorer par la formation de la « famille », et la présence lourde et obscure de sa sœur...

B a dû se débrouiller seule sur place, pour parvenir à ramener son corps ici : elle a dû faire un voyage terrible, dans un taxi bondé, pendant 7 heures de route, Akash et elle et Narasimhan et le corps de Ruud et 3 autres individus de Yercaud qui lui ont extorqué de grosses sommes d'argent...

Beaucoup d'entre nous ici, Auroviliens et villageois, nous sommes organisés pour que tout soit prêt et que le corps de Ruud puisse être gardé sur un lit de glace jusqu'au lendemain...

B a ramené le corps vers 22h30. Nous l'avons alors lavé, vêtu de blanc, étendu sur la glace parmi les fleurs...

C'est le moment qui m'est venu le plus terrible.

Je n'aurais jamais pu, jamais voulu, jeter la terre.

Ca ne va pas comme ça. Nous devons faire Ton travail.

This evening when I came home I found, stuck to the door, a mysteriously blank message addressed to Krishna; as I am aware that he is at present very unhappy, in his heart, and I have been wondering if, and when, I should go to him, to bring him back the book of African pictures he had left with me, this message on my door seemed to be a little sign; so, on my way to B's to wish her good night, I stopped by Krishna's house and called hi; he responded with a mixture of desperate, sarcastic and demanding violence, mocking my "infinite love" and threw back the book over the wall... I know that he has become obsessed with a sense of isolation, with a devouring need to love and manifest, and an enormous formation of racial division... I felt then so utterly inadequate, because instinctively, since that time he hit me and wanted to kill me, I recoil from his physical violence and it throws me off-balance. I left, and calmed down...

Then I spent a long while at B's with her; Deepti and Arjun were there too, waiting for me to arrive so they could leave (we all have been keeping B company)...

I wonder about many things...

... You gave me a sweet surprise: Krishna came, briefly, beautiful, smiling and tender, to apologise; we hugged each other.

Tonight I went to B, to spend that moment which she expects me to share; she showed me the "messages" that Anurakta has received, purportedly from You, concerning Ruud. They are okay.

31-7-1986, Auroville:

I am sleeping like a log these days. I could sleep many hours longer. I do not feel in harmony when I cannot assimilate thoroughly, and in silence, such intense experiencing...

Janaka is having a very tough and troubled time. It is like he is only half in his body; he has lost all sense of body centring, he does not know where he begins or ends and he keeps repeating "I am lost, I am lost..."

And sometimes he doesn't get the words straight either; it is terrible.

He gets painful twitches in the right side of his head, and this afternoon I had to make him breathe with my hands for a long time and keep him going...

D.M at times is confident that what he is undergoing is part of Your work and belongs to it and will lead farther on Your way, and at times she is hysterical and becomes very confused, trying anything that comes to her mind, calling You, calling Satprem out loud...

I have been trying to actively centre and be open to Your Force, since neither D.M nor Janaka has any experience of it physically, but, as Janaka says, "nothing works..."

And then he yells for help, help, and we are holding him, and he doesn't even know it.

Birenda came, towards the evening, and D.M asked him to stay overnight.

Sometimes in me comes again this formation that I am bad, that I am connected to the worse influences, and then... I think that perhaps I shouldn't be near Janaka, perhaps I am making a block; perhaps I prevent help to come... or what?

... There are moments when I feel that this situation is an impasse, and what can D.M do?

Is it a play with death that has entered the atmosphere, or is it a challenge and a battle waged with Your Help and Will and Force? Or is it an expression of the thinning out of the barriers, an erosion of the illusion that separates both worlds?

Sometimes when I hear D.M calling You, I do not understand to whom she calls, nor why she has to call, as if You were far... It sounds hollow to me, like a play...

But if I centre and refer to That directly, then everything is different, and what I cannot understand then is why D.M and Janaka are so ignorant and unaware...

1-8-1986, Auroville:

Janaka is, I think, at the limits; in the morning it had become peaceful – I'd felt I could simply try to centre and channel some peaceful, as a service to You; but then Birenda came to visit, and wanted us to take Janaka to the Hospital; he was all exercised about it, because he'd become frightened and, I guess, did not want to bear any responsibility; mainly to calm him down (both D.M and Janaka wanted nothing to do with hospitals), I told him to bring a doctor if he wanted...

With Janaka himself, it comes and goes: parts of his body become numb or inert, and then respond again; he is extremely weakened, and he's lost so much weight that, tall as he is, I can now carry him in my arms as I carry D.M... But even though it is so very hard, every chance is taken by him and by her for that wonderful sense of humour...!

The doctor came, eventually, around 5 pm; I think he was at once very afraid and deeply moved; he refused any payment and sort of ran away backwards, once he'd done his examination and pleaded with Janaka to get admitted into Jipmer Hospital for complete check-up and immediate treatment; he first said that this might be a case of infection that had got to the brain; but, once outside, he mentioned that infamous modern ghost... I wondered, what is the use of opening to all this naming and fixing? D.M is adamant that Janaka must remain here in Auroville...

My concern is how long, how far we can go on, practically, without any help; N was exhausted this morning, and confused... I have asked J.L to help me, or at least to look for someone in Auroville who could, and take turns with N at night; he said he himself isn't available, but promised he'd try to find help...

2-8-1986, Auroville:

Midst all the night activities, there was one of a different character: there was a very strange and very complex, multi-levelled and multi-layered place, that was made up to express and enact, like a game that anyone could play, the forces that concur to animate the experience of being manifest...

... I have so much to assimilate and no time for it... Today I got some anger at D.M over her extensive, overwhelming emotional and "wisdom-oriented" movements: she was making it so complicated to feed Janaka that I ended up doing it all myself, but I was angry, and it altered the atmosphere; she found me hard and she cried; somehow though, this brought in a kind of challenge to which each of us three had to respond truthfully, and it seems to have brought Janaka back to some sense of physical harmony...

... D.M has surrendered all her ideas and judgments regarding medical help: she just wants him to heal, and fast, one way or another. This perhaps has eased some tension.

Then the idea came to call for Dhruva (Ar. had mentioned him to me), and Janaka wanted to try. So I sent for him, and it was good; I was glad to meet the man I saw this afternoon: he was very calm, did not try to formulate any diagnosis, and was actually quite puzzled; we gave him as complete a picture as we could, and Janaka himself talked quite a bit to describe what he'd been through... Dhruva left with the promise he would try and figure the kind of help that ought to be given. Later Birenda came back, and this time he accepted the choice not to go to any Hospital...

3-8-1986, Auroville:

In my sleep last night I had some difficult moments looking at a sort of direction, or drive – or bent – that is powerfully inscribed within D.M's situation itself and that, to all my sense, is wrong, wrong, and yet can also be felt as true: it is not false, it is wrong; like the wrong truth, or a truth at the wrong place. And I resist being pulled along... Somehow I almost wish You would relieve me of it all, house and work and care – and let others see it all for themselves: I have tried to communicate to D.M, but it does not work...

... I have been feverish all day, with weakened nerves, and an attack of piles, and it all says: "rest, rest, have a couple days off...", but no one comes forward; J.L hasn't come back with any help... I have asked Ar. to try and find Bill S and explain to him the situation...

There are moments when I just want to leave it all... D.M is a terrible brain-washer, and she has no peace, and her very own situation, having people to move her and move for her, is a kind of monstrosity; Janaka, for nearly 10 years now, has done any and every thing she asked... I suffocate sometimes, and sometimes it quietens and there is communication at the level of deep, living truth, and I learn much. But most of the time I sense a lack of peace, of inner silence and surrender, and an odd assortment of values that takes up too much space...

5-8-1986, Auroville:

This morning I was so obviously unwell that D.M kept very quiet, and asked me as little as she could; also, Bill S came, on my request, and he said he was willing to help and probably could find one or two more people to take turns with him... So this afternoon D.M and I figured out the most practical schedule for the days to come, and we told Bill S about it this evening.

Quand Tu me rends un petit peu conscient, dans Ta Paix qui regarde et embrasse et discerne et travaille, alors je suis comblé.

J'ai – il faut – tant de chemin encore pour qu'une transparence et une disponibilité réelles de tout l'être soit établies...

Il y avait ces quelques mots : « Tara, c'est Toi qui fais... ! »

... B et d'autres avaient choisi de se réunir auprès de la tombe de Ruud en même temps que sa famille le ferait en Hollande, le 12^{ème} jour après qu'il ait quitté son corps ; B m'avait demandé d'être là.

Je suis allé en avance, et suis resté à l'écart, voyant et sentant plus que je ne pourrais dire... Quand c'est conscient, c'est à la fois très simple et très dense de sens, et les mots tirent l'expérience hors de son état réel et puissant...

... Ed et Bart ont aussi pris des tours de relève à « Ravena » ; si cela peut durer ainsi, j'ai quelque chance de me rétablir, en prenant un peu de repos dans la journée... Mais, pour D.M, c'est bien difficile de se trouver ainsi exposée ; chaque personne représente pour elle un nouveau travail, alors qu'elle est déjà si fatiguée et anxieuse.

7-8-1986, Auroville:

I am not too well: the whole area at the bottom of my spine is tight, inflamed and painful and I can hardly bend; there is still some fever too, and my intestines are running amok...

It might have been impossible this morning, but for Krishna bringing me a sort of cataplasm based on belladonna to lay on my spine, and with this on I was able to move...

I could sleep a few hours midday, though, and I tried to get my bearings.

8-8-1986, Auroville:

This evening D.M decided, after much hesitating and questioning her own intuitions, to try that Ayurvedic medicine, which is a nut called "Anacardia" in Latin, that grows in the Himalayas; it took some special preparation, and Janaka swallowed it bravely, surrendered as he is to D.M...

... Gupi and J.L have also taken some shifts now; I had to introduce J.L to the scene today, and together we worked with and for Janaka, and I was glad to have him there, he is dear to me; with Gupi, I am reluctant towards what comes through as a sort of folkloric of... You know, the perfect apparatus of goodwill, cheerfulness, unconditional surrender and trust in the Grace in the face of every difficulty: such a model attitude broadcast at every moment... I know, I have contacted a psychic being there too, a child of Yours, but I can never take his ambulatory advertising number...! So I keep quiet and somewhat distant, but I like him well enough, despite what all he threw onto me in the past, in relation to my princess...

9-8-1986, Auroville:

D.M has a lot of shakti; but, in her untransformed parts, it becomes a tyranny. Yet she is my sister, and You have put me there!

... Janaka is perhaps very slowly improving, reviving; I feel that he is still searching for some direction as to what he is supposed to do next, how he is supposed to serve; he wants and needs D.M to be given at last the power or the means to undo that that terrible physical condition; while D.M wants him to get back on his feet so he can take up again his work with her.

To me there is not enough space in this situation, in the way it is set, for a real change to occur. But there must be trust, and they are both calling, and the situation itself is a call. Just like the name of this place, "Ravena": the cry of the soul...

10-8-1986, Auroville:

Last night there was an episode about time, and the arbitrary rule that prevails, the insistence on everyone wearing a watch, and I am refusing this sort of coalition to make people mark the time linearly, exclusively one way, thus remaining under the influence of the same old power...

... I am aware that every moment is an opportunity for one progress or another, and I am grateful for all that I am given... This story, though, isn't making enough sense, isn't making full sense; I am not happy with Janaka's attitude at present: he does not care enough... I don't know; perhaps it is just the difference in our natures, his being quite far, on the spectrum, from mine...

11-8-1986, Auroville:

Last night, at some point, I had a vehicle, rather like a horse-cart, that must be pulled by a huge and beautiful animal; I don't know its name: it has a long graceful neck; it has something of a horse, but also of an elephant and of a giraffe...

... The thing of having several people taking turns near Janaka and D.M does not work very well, and I end up having either to organise it myself or asking N to fill in the gaps... Gupi came part of the afternoon, but mostly talked; D.M was looking very dignified; I don't know: I can't stand anymore any "spiritual" attitude; it makes me want to break things apart, to blow it...

12-8-1986, Auroville:

I do not understand how to progress in the nights. It's like there is a strong energy in my body – it isn't really "sub" conscious – that translates the information directly into live formations, circumstances, people and scenes; it cannot be just one individual: rather, energy is felt as central everywhere, seated in each body, recreating forms, and almost an objectivity, out of information received... And the first part of the night is usually just that... While the second part is usually more complex, a mixture of processes; last night for example there was for some time an interesting sequence, in a composite place: a small baby boy has come to me, who looks a little like Satyavan, plump, alert and tender, and a little mischievous, and together we dance, it is tuned as if for a Rio de Janeiro carnival dance, it beats in my veins, with a quiet physical joy and rhythm; people are there, sort of tsiganes or gypsies, who have settled around my house, in their own rights...

... This evening D.M was rather desperate; she does not feel capable to go on much longer in this situation, and yet she has no choice but to bear with it, or go crazy... Janaka is like frozen in a strange and unusual silence – but it may just be also what his body needs to rebuild itself without sequels or damages?

13-8-1986, Auroville:

This morning I didn't even try to note down the things of the night; I feel so weary of these hundreds and hundreds of nights that remain devoid of any progressive clue or help or substance, and contribute nothing to the way, to its discovery, to the becoming, or at any rate nothing I am aware of; and yet, I'd rather remember than not!

... Janaka was more alert this morning, and full of humour; but as the day wore on, he relapsed into this strange, almost vegetative presence...

... I could spend a while at the concreting at Matrimandir, and with John H, who is to take a shift with Janaka from today on...

... B had called me for dinner tonight; she and Akash are on a "special reinforcement" diet, and it bears results; they've both put on some weight, and they sleep better and looked rested and calm. Ruud's book has just come out: it's been well done and has quality to it, and it will certainly be very useful, even, I believe, in Auroville.

14-8-1986, Auroville:

Janaka had fever again; D.M had decided to stop giving him the nuts – the Ayurvedic medicine -; but then he wouldn't drink enough, until, this evening, I managed to let him see the choice he had, and to make him drink more so that the fever could be fought down...

... I find myself confronted with the ugliness of death, and wanting all the more our bodies to learn how to receive light, conscious light, so that they can become progressive and responsive to the true becoming – and all the more annoyed and upset by all the attitudes or posturing, the spiritual attitudes particularly, that do not collaborate in that direction...

And then, often these days, I “think” of my princess, and I miss a living relationship with her, and I miss news, any kind of news, of her...

15-8-1986, Auroville:

I went at dawn to the amphitheatre, for Your Birthday, Sri Aurobindo... I stayed there only a short while: it was a small, too modest fire; there’d be so much to burn!

Today I had to fight, in myself, with a mixture of anger, ego-assertion, helplessness, and shame not to be able to help truly – anger, anger at attitudes that do not help bring the conscious Being down, down into Matter; anger at that fever that struck at Janaka yesterday and weakened him again so much; anger, trying to direct it in some constructive way... I got into nearly forcing Janaka to drink, to drink...

... Nothing is worth the trouble, as long as there is ego... And there is ego between the Two of You and “me”: the distance is ego... It’s just that I haven’t grown yet to the point when You will direct me to my true dynamic place, wherein I shall have my own direct unquestioned living relationship to the Two of You, on all levels...

Still, I love You: this is love.

16-8-1986, Auroville:

This continuing contact with D.M and Janaka’s lives and experience is making me quite impious...! It would turn me into an atheist, if that was possible!

To me there are excesses of “spiritual orientation” that are so unreal, and so close to superstition, or religion. But with them it is not at all so obvious; it is something else: it is a sort of self-purring into a status of “we are devoted to the Divine; our lives are to serve the Divine and to grow into Him...”

I just don’t know how to pinpoint what makes me angry: by reaction, I’d behave like a street lout! There are mouthfuls of beautiful words at every possible, and impossible, occasion... I’d have to relate one entire single day in detail to show what I mean... There is no lack of humour, though, and a rather sweet reservoir of self-deprecating humour at that; still there is something there that keeps disturbing me, moving me to react...

I am tired, too – from not having the time to let go, to let it all be assimilated and integrated in my own awareness, this awareness that You have been making grow, in “me”... Instead I go on, on a sort of nervous strength, filling all the gaps that call me... But I cannot complain, I do not complain: I learn through it...!

17-8-1986, Auroville:

There are small, short-lived bits of experience that come now and then and are part of a complex development of awareness; I don’t know if I should try and discipline myself to write them down as they come; it seems to me that what matters is how much they allow for one’s becoming more real, more conscious and more free of ego – and on that score I can’t say there is much progress: I keep reacting, reacting, over and over again...

Because, as things stand, the alternative to reacting would be suppressing, and I don't want that; with more time by myself I could at least try to offer it all, instead of having to react; but the time isn't given, and so I offer my reactions instead...! Praying that they can serve a little of Your Purpose!

This evening I said frankly and rather brutally to D.M what I thought. She blew up; and then she cried a lot; and then it was calm.

But I truly don't know that I am doing any good there, and often I feel that I should be removed; that perhaps I am merely arrogant and very ignorant in front of more truth than I can take... I don't know: it is hard to know as long as there is ego!

... Today Janaka has vomited twice, and D.M has now decided to let him choose whatever he wants to absorb from now on – a good step, I think...

18-8-1986, Auroville:

I feel a little uneasy telling Ar. so freely about the situation at "Ravena", day by day; I do so in humorous terms, both so that she feels I am sharing with her, as she is helping so much anyway, and so that I too may turn the fatigue and the weight into a lighter process... Still...

... Big J came on to me today, the poor woman; she wanted to find some support for her projection onto Janaka, or else perhaps she wanted to be relieved of that pull in herself; and I had almost to lie to her, as I knew that Janaka didn't want her at all to focus on him or on "Ravena", telling her that he was now alright; it is a half-lie, and I don't like that, and I resented being put in that spot. But he certainly has been open to strange people, before...!

... Janaka vomited again today; but he is getting a little more alert, and some things are cleared. D.M and I had another heavy scene, ending with more laughter, and Auralice joined in as well... It is a mad house, but a sweet house, everyone in it living for the love of You...!

... It seems that Narasimhan Rao, JRD Tata, M'Bow and Kireet are coming to Auroville this Saturday, to "take a decision", and that Rao intends to meet with the "Neutrals" before the General Meeting takes place... I don't believe in this: worse, I smell a rat!

19-8-1986, Auroville:

Janaka, I think, is silently working through the blocks; his physical presence is returning, but he still has much trouble keeping food in and functioning...

20-8-1986, Auroville:

I know much of this fatigue is entirely due to my own stupidity, because I let myself drown in the noise of the physical mind; I absorb so much nonsense, agitation, confusion, so much concern over food and body functions, and material details, that this physical mind is all agog and in chaos; and I just try to remember how quiet and open to silence it was...

... There is some effervescence in the general atmosphere of Auroville and a small whirlwind is causing people to move like puppets, with the coming visit of all these VIPs who are supposed to determine the destiny of Auroville...!

21-8-1986, Auroville:

I have copied in capital letters the statement I have written last night, for the members of the Advisory Council, who are coming on Saturday to Auroville.

Last night Janaka had some sort of attack that demolished the progress of the last few days; his left side is once more inert; he was very depressed when I came in this morning and D.M was desperate and feeling abandoned by You...

... This evening Gupi came to help for a good while, and the two of us did some intensive care on Janaka, and later he went to sleep quietly, relaxed, the energies flowing better...

"The brief statement that follows is written by an individual (resident of Auroville for many years) and is not the result of any group or collective consultation; yet it hopes to reflect the inner conviction of many, and it is offered as an attempt to stand for the objective reality and worth of Auroville.

Please accept it as a humble contribution to your search, work and service.

Thank you,

"21-8-1986.

As regards Auroville, it is essential to have an active trust in the wisdom of the Mother.

It is She who has created this possibility She has named Auroville, and in its very foundations She has clearly and unmistakably set it apart from all human formations, and even from Her own formation of the Sri Aurobindo Ashram.

There must be a place like Auroville on the earth.

In our hearts we all know why it could only happen on the soil of India.

It is true and a fact of its progress that Auroville has met, after the Mother's "disappearance", with severe contradictions, and that help and understanding have been needed and received from such human agencies as the Government of India, in order to face certain dangers. And whoever cares for Auroville is and will remain grateful for that help.

Yet for all contradictions to be truly cured it is ultimately and effectively the Mother's Force alone, the Force of the True Consciousness, that will act and be victorious through an actual change of our nature.

For Auroville to serve the Mother's purposes, it must keep its unique identity.

It must be protected, sustained by our aspirations, and cherished.

Its relationships with all willing agencies must be encouraged in their creativity.

But its unique status, of which the Charter is the one and only formulation given by the Mother, must be absolutely respected."

22-8-1986, Auroville:

I am puzzled with what is given me to experience; for as long as I can remember, every night of my life, I have been swimming in the sub-conscious planes, watching, watching, for no purpose that I can comprehend... And now it is in the day-time as well... Last night, for instance, I was made to experience, for what seemed like hours, a terrible activity and situation, looking after the decomposing body of Ruud, with some of his consciousness still alive in it, as a sort of brotherly help he asked for... And day after day, for weeks now, I am made to attend all the bodily functions of Janaka and through it all I carry a kind of tenderness which has always been deep in me for the "lowest" end of life in Matter, and the sense of Thy Presence there, of it being Thee, belonging to Thee.

But, as with Janaka's condition, it is all a sort of continuous battle against uncertainty, absence or lack of awareness, and the possibility of defeat, of undoing, of one more waste...

On the other hand, here in Auroville, things that I hold to be true I cannot contribute – such as this statement, which, I feel, is true and faithful to You; I would not be allowed: I am excluded by those who are in charge of Auroville's affairs and think all the worse of me...

23-8-1986, Auroville:

Sometimes, as today, I recoil from the sense of a comedy being played – the comedy of our emotions, our sentiments, our goodwill, the comedy of the spirituality as the one of the materialism: comedy all, because it is mere noise and confusion of our ignorance, before the silent Awareness we lack so badly...

... Today' events, from what Ar. came twice, gently, to tell me, and from what Ed reported to us at "Ravena", Tata, Rao, M'Bow and Kireet are happy and comforted by what they have found here in Auroville...

... There is a level of harmony, to which most people here seem to tend and be satisfied with when they reach it, in which however I do not, and cannot, believe... It relates to this fixed image of Your benign smile: "let my children be at peace and have goodwill..." I don't know; it throws me off. Or rather it is the sense of one's own insufficiency, inadequacy that throws me off.

Mother, make me conscious, make me conscious...!

24-8-1986, Auroville:

It has rained well this evening; a good deep rain, and everything is fresh and cool and washed clean; it will be easier for C and R's arrival tomorrow...

25-8-1986, Auroville:

C, R and I returned from the airport at 3 pm, all 3 very tired...

When I went back to Ravena this afternoon with Janaka's apple-juice, the first thing the workmen told me was that N had had another intestinal crisis – he's had this several times, rolling in pain and sometimes falling unconscious: they'd had to take him to the Health-Centre, where Kamala had treated him with homeopathy and spoken of some necessary operation... I'll have to see her about it; it shocked me: I guess I am overly fond of N... But it is also the fact that there is, or there appears to be an accelerating propensity towards disintegration or defeat in that situation – I was counting on N to take shifts every afternoon, as we can hardly find any one to replace me in the middle of the day...

... I found Janaka more articulate today, and quite sharp, but rather bereft of any hope, in his profound humorous fashion. It is D.M who is in more trouble now also; she is becoming ill from the stress and strain adding on to her paralysis; she gets hysterical and very fatigued and her body is threatening to give in to one disorder after another: this is a crazy spot we are in. They both call You all the time, beg

You to come and to help, and... I don't understand! They call You, D.M especially, as if You were far, hidden, out of reach...

26-8-1986, Auroville:

Janaka had a very difficult time after I'd left late morning, and vomited a big worm that must have lodged in his stomach; he probably may accept to take some medicine to purge his organism from such hosts; he had fever too, and much pain in his legs... For D.M it is extremely taxing... P.M came, also during my absence, to tell them that Satprem had received their telegrams and wanted, or perhaps it was Luc who wanted, more information; perhaps Satprem will be able to see something useful?

C stayed near me a long while at noon, and showed me all the sweet things she had brought, and gifts from C.E. and from FJ and ChJ, and handed me a letter from Soaz saying she has chosen, with some sadness, not to come back to Auroville now, and to work, and to come and visit later on with Samuel... I could have cried; but I kept it still... Not to see Samuel... I don't know: it may be right, but it's like... what is the point?

28-8-1986, Auroville:

I had a little time for some work in the garden, and to have tea with C. I can't give her much time and I feel bad about it, but perhaps it will ease a bit; although, judging from today, things are rather extreme: D.M isn't well at all, and Auralice came home with swollen tonsils...!

... So far Janaka hasn't responded to the allopathic anti-parasite treatment, and I can't help feeling it is all getting worse and worse; and why...? Why all this? Sometimes D.M asks me to say what I "see" or "feel", but I can't. She knows so much, she gives herself so completely, she does such a fine job near Janaka with her purity of love... but she is not aware!

30-8-1986, Auroville:

This morning D.M freaked out; she blew up at You, stridently. She is so stretched. She held it against You that she and Janaka must go through this constant torture without any help... I kept quiet, and it all calmed down... Sometimes it is good to yell...!

... Perhaps I comprehend some things, perhaps I don't... Often I find myself on the edge of a "crisis of faith"; but, as I see it, it comes from the surface, from others, from the atmosphere, and it knocks at my door, and the door is wide open, and I let it pass, without much concern... it is no more a matter of faith: and that is what is difficult to explain, because at the same time I am obviously as un-transformed as anyone else!

31-8-1986, Auroville:

There was a heavy scene this morning at "Ravena" when D.M refused to give Janaka the allopathic medicine prescribed by Datta, having read on its label that it was carcinogen to mice... She threw it all out, uttering curses and blowing up at half the world, and nothing was done... Through that small incident, small but charged and intense, I saw more tangibly what, to my present awareness, seems to be basically wrong, or lacking there; and I also felt very uneasy with these curses, and the whole expression of a certain line of tapasya that I now sense as old and barren and contrary... It made me withdraw; and, later, a deeper pain surged, bringing tears...

Somehow, the more I go on living, the simpler Your Work appears to me... And very often it is not the way people tend to see it, or expect it to be and to manifest.

I don't know what words to use for it, but perhaps it is something like that: Your Work is to channel true consciousness into the living substance of those care and thirst for it, and every drop of true consciousness is a "more" into the world and the human condition and implies, necessarily and automatically, a corresponding change in our nature. Therefore we can only open to and receive a drop of it when we are ready to change in proportion. And You have Yourself opened the way; You have Yourself offered material substance to the Action, towards an integral change in Matter: You have called It down to the very foundations of the world...!

All the rest is old, useless nonsense.

A drop more of true consciousness means that we become different, and more aware; and there is no end to this becoming! Only, there is first a beginning, beyond our mental status.

What I see lacking in D.M and Janaka's approach is that it is "spiritual" and their field is the physical; while, it seems to me more and more, Your field is... consciousness, being, becoming, through and through, and Matter is where Consciousness must recover Itself... This looks like a mere play of words, and I wouldn't try such a formulation with D.M: it would become at once an argument. But I do sense a concrete border there, and the necessity to go over it, beyond it...

1-9-1986, Auroville:

It all went wrong when I went to "Ravena" this morning; I was late, having to cycle over, and I burst at D.M when she vetoed, in what I felt a petty way, the use of Janaka's bike, and the things I'd wished to be able to communicate to her truly all came out in words that betray them, and D.M went into arguing and alternately crying and self-pitying and complaining that she is now all exposed and all what she holds true is being mocked at, and she is left with nothing at all... I can't even be angry at myself, there is no use... I am just too small, far too small, to communicate truly, to contribute...

... I did go back to "Ravena" this afternoon, with some reluctance and apprehension; D.M and I tried to talk quietly, but she has blanked at some level I cannot break through, and it comes down to further arguing and preserving some sort of self-image... Yet we somehow patched up, I guess because of that deep affection between us that remains untouched whatever else takes place. And I saw that, because I hadn't cared this morning, things were all in disorder... I don't know... I need That, That, That...

2-9-1986, Auroville:

This afternoon, on Ed's initiative - and D.M being very confused as she often is -, a young doctor from Jipmer came to visit Janaka while I was away, and made it seem his diagnosis of a stroke, hemiplegy and thrombosis; he advised that he be admitted in the Hospital for a several weeks treatment, failing which Janaka might have multiple attacks and irreversible damage... When I returned, I found them struggling out of this fearful formation; D.M was revolted and fighting the fear...

Yet today we tried the first part of an Ayurvedic treatment to get rid of these parasites - which that doctor considered as irrelevant -, and it worked well enough.

I don't know; it is more difficult to try and quietly perceive the right orientation when there are waves upon waves of anxiety, helplessness, suffering, and so much advice and so many ideas... What one may quietly perceive doesn't have the assertive strength to dominate the rest; it wants a quiet receptivity as well!

Mentally I do not know at all what is to be done...

... Ar. asked me today what I "thought" of a proposal she's had of going to earn money in Abu Dhabi as a secretary for several months... It's like more and more, and from all sides, all the notions and values You had cleared away for Your Work with us are surging back, not brutally but very softly, very "normally", proving themselves right as they regain lost ground... But one can say nothing for someone else, one can only remain watchful and cling to You within, and that's all...

4-9-1986, Auroville:

D.M and Janaka have received a short answer from Satprem, at last:
"We love you."

5-9-1986, Auroville:

I am not doing it right, not with the workmen at "Ravena", nor with D.M and Janaka; it went quite wrong with Jaïmurthy today: he'd done a mistake, something that implied the misuse of his responsibilities, and I learned it, but it was through N who is also behaving foolishly; there are all these jealousies brewing, these prides, and all these lies, and I am nowhere near to finding a position that would make everyone feel right; or perhaps it is impossible, I do not know...

And Janaka had a heavy bout of fever this afternoon, and vomited a huge amount, and there were white things in his urine, and D.M was hysterical and J.L, who had replaced me till I returned, was helpless and very sorry.

And I don't know where to stand. When I leave them in the evening, I feel almost like a traitor, abandoning them. Yet, what to do?

The more I go and the less difference I see between "madness" in any of its forms and the body's diseases: they all arise out of a loss of balance, and that loss of balance seems to be always caused by either a wrong attitude or an insincerity... In Janaka's case it would have been a wrong attitude... But there is also, and perhaps most importantly, D.M's condition and her experience of the last ten years, which is... maddening!

6-9-1986, Auroville:

D.M was in trouble this evening, in more trouble than usual; she had a strong fever and was shivering uncontrollably under five blankets when I came in after the pay and the accounts at 5 pm and it took a while to get her warmed up and relaxed...

... This cannot go on much longer; John H has dropped out, Ed refuses to come more than twice a week, Bill S had a heavy argument with D.M, and N is getting overwhelmed and sometimes afraid - not to mention how much more can D.M and Janaka endure...!

9-9-1986, Auroville:

There is this impression of being taken up, occupied, invested, invaded and pulled by or into a reality that makes insufficient sense in terms of awareness - or perhaps it does, I don't really know... It certainly shows me a lot on this question of objective versus subjective, and on the nature of true consciousness...

11-9-1986, Auroville:

I was told that Satprem has recently announced, to someone in Auroville I think: "Mère arrive...!"

Whatever happens, it is the ego that must go, be undone and yield to the concreteness of truth... I thought to You: would You be then "their property", the property of all those who label themselves "Satprem's faithful followers"? Would You, could You enter there? You are too big, Mother, much, much too big...!

But any of these thoughts could not even be there at all if there was no ego left: there would be no question; there would only be Your Touch on the unified stuff of my consciousness...

13-9-1986, Auroville:

I found at the airport a book I had not read yet of Jane Roberts, "Adventures in Consciousness"... D.M had asked me to send another telegram to Satprem – she'd had a big fright this morning when it looked for an instant that Janaka was gone -; but the airport had no telegraph service, so I asked C to send it tonight from Bombay...

14-9-1986, Auroville:

To me, very often, D.M and Janaka's relating to You amounts to superstition; they have both made the choice to rely exclusively on You for the reality of the body, in such extreme circumstances, but they are not aware of Your Presence and they do not have, as sometimes D.M acknowledges, a conscious basis of experience to sustain that choice...

I cannot help. There may well be some occult problem behind that nasty fever that keeps coming and rising in Janaka's body, demolishing every time whatever small progress was made and pushing his consciousness out, or in weird positions in relation to the physical sheath; and I have no clue as to who, around here, could help...

... It seems to me that Janaka is also full of very mixed notions towards karma, guilt and justice, and I often catch glimpses of attitudes, these days, that are quite unhealthy and wrong... It is often as if there was some malign will behind all this to make them both go mad...

This morning D.M freaked heavily, and screamed for a long time, because Janaka would not swallow some potion, and she couldn't bear it any more...

I have considered alternatives, but none is clear; where could Janaka be taken, and who among us would take care of him when D.M herself needs constant care?

... I had a moment of depression this morning: C and R's leaving made like a hole in the tension, after the strain of trying to be available to them as well during their stay...

15-9-1986, Auroville:

Today was perhaps a better day for Janaka; I made contact with this Ayurvedic Doctor Rao and he visited this afternoon and found an infection of the kidneys which was causing the fever, and we started this evening a new treatment to control the fever and fight the infection; he said also that the damage to the left side of the body included half of the brains and part of the head, but that this was not irreversible and there were chances to revive it all once the infection was cured... These findings somehow lightened the atmosphere, and we were all cheerful this evening, teasing Janaka who was making all sorts of funny sounds in reply; it is helpful to know what it is we are fighting against...!

This morning was also interesting for me personally, because I found that I was able to pass calm physically, while centring on Your Presence, with my hands – as I have always been able to put a child to sleep, the same seems to happen with Janaka, and it makes me feel grateful...

Just after midnight, Li Mei and Gupi had their baby boy.

19-9-1986, Auroville:

D.M sees what goes on in Janaka as a battle between the dark and the true; I see what she sees but I comprehend it in a different way, not as an opposition; it is rooted in a different space. To me, each of them in a particular way is steeped in notions that I find often shallow and misleading, about karma, truth and falsehood, and about Your Work and our position in it...

Sometimes I just want to say "good bye" to all of this soup, however "luminous" a soup it may be... But I stay on because I feel there are behind all this, still imprisoned but clear and pulsing and vibrant, a true and genuine Need, and much beauty and commitment...

Dr Rao came again this evening at my request, and this time D.M got more of a resolve to administer these medicines to Janaka and ignore or break through that rather nasty game that part of him is sometimes playing...

20-9-1986, Auroville:

Janaka has refused to continue with the Ayurvedic treatment. So, this is one more "secondary help" out of the way... But he was also somehow quieter today, and D.M cheered up. It is then in Your hands only...? I do not know how much of their awareness is needed for Your Action to be effective; I know nothing. But the situation itself, regardless of its causes, is now just one obvious call...

Yet, how many human beings on earth at this very moment are in such extreme physical misery...? Something else than the fact of it must be involved, something which I can only term awareness...

21-9-1986, Auroville:

Janaka sleeps a lot, has much less pains and is much less agitated; the fever has also decreased and only comes briefly...

22-9-1986, Auroville:

Through Gupi, and my own petty foolishness, I was reminded this evening of that pain that has only been buried inside me, of the separation from my princess; for Gupi, who had played his part and acted against me, seeing me as some adverse being, has now too a baby...! Will he then understand how hollow were his words, in the face of this reality? I can't stand his secure "truth of attitude", his constant loud singing of the mantra, his cheerful "positive" goodwill... Even though there is someone there whom I can love, it all exasperates me; I went out while he was massaging Janaka's body, and the pain, unnoticed at first, came back up, as if a whole life of mine, unaccomplished, unfulfilled and almost killed, had come back into focus... But it is alright, for I am also grateful for the solitude that has been mine, and the harmony I have found through it...

... I am happy – "happy" isn't the word, the feeling is richer and deeper and quieter: whenever I am back in "Sincerity", the house is a living welcome, the garden is a sweet wonder, so alive, all within You...

23-9-1986, Auroville:

I often wonder during the day whether I must go on "helping" in this way... Is it really a help? What is truly needed, wanted there?

I tend to say, within, that if no marked progress soon, I shall have to quit, so that something central to the situation will have to move...

Yet, day after day I go back obeying the call, and with a certain gratitude too because, still, even if it is misery, it is Your Domain, it is one place where You are actively, unquestionably needed and wanted...

... Tonight D.M asked me again what I see; I could only say that the only practical means I know is to centre in the flow of Your Force physically so that all disorders may be dealt with directly and harmony is re-established, with an acquired awareness... But, what do I know?

I know, because I have had the repeated experience of it, that Your Force exists, and that It can act as Harmony, and that It is the vehicle of the true Consciousness: that much I do know.

... I have nearly finished reading Jane Roberts's book; at several points she unknowingly describes, quite strikingly, some of the experiences You have had, and even suggests a framework for understanding them in their real perspective; it is very interesting to find that someone, without any other influences than that of their own direct experiencing, is able to put in their own words so much of the reality of the true consciousness, and to communicate it at large with such simplicity and well-founded trust...

24-9-1986, Auroville:

My heart is all unsettled again; there is a funny, uneasy pressure all around it and, whenever the physical mind looks at it, the panic rises... I feel it is connected with the recent events here, with Ruud particularly: the grab of death, like claws, wherever in our physical consciousness we have remained unoffered...

25-9-1986, Auroville:

This morning I had a fight with D.M. It would take a book to really describe all the elements at play there; but I was tired already, and became more tired from the sound of her constant preaching to Janaka and his constant moaning to her in response; and then Janaka asked me to take him upstairs – a crazy proposition, practically; but it induced my saying something which I see as quite obvious, and that is that they are too mixed up in their relationship and this creates a block and diverts the needed energy; at this, D.M dramatically and violently reacted against me, Janaka freaked as well, and I got upset in return, and then Bill S came in...!

I left rather abruptly, upon D.M saying to me "don't come back...!", thinking to myself that this perhaps may help, that this situation may require a brutal change so that this block is shaken off and Janaka is awakened to a clearer choice...

I didn't know whether I would return at the "normal" time; I distrust this capacity in me to cut off, to pull out, to withdraw: it is too extreme. But I can also see that I cannot either continue like that indefinitely...

Of course, D.M soon sent me the apples for Janaka's juice (which I had forgotten) along with a note saying "à tout à l'heure!"...

... I don't know what I must do. I guess the first priority for me is to find the position or attitude from which I can go on working with them without getting personally affected or led to react; the problem lies precisely in the difference between a real position and a range of "attitudes" that soon call either for fresh air or for demolition...!

It wasn't easy for me to return there this evening; D.M tried to talk, but I am not able to break through her confusion... How to help? How to serve?

26-9-1986, Auroville:

Janaka had a high fever this evening. I sent for Dr Rao. He said that the condition had worsened and the "disease" was now affecting the heart; he also said that Janaka's inner being was now detaching itself from his body... However he was willing to try and give him another treatment, and we had him swallow six doses of Ayurvedic medicine to control the fever...

As soon as I reach there in the morning, I go under! It is such a weight and I am so ignorant; I don't know even the beginning of a response to it all...

And nothing goes well: the hut is invaded by white ants; and Jagannathan has been acting funny and didn't come at all today (he came this evening and I took him to Janaka and he accepted to continue working...).

... My heart is still acting funny... Sometimes I have perceptions that seem valid, but it is all so partial; even when it feels like a more conscious perceiving, still it lacks the strength to manifest, the strength of conscious evidence... I revolt against all these semi-truths; I revolt against so much of this entire story, even around You... I need, I want That to manifest, and to finish with all our approximations...!

It is a jungle...!

27-9-1986, Auroville:

There seem to be several levels overlapping here, or one behind the other as if in a transparency...

One is the diluting, dissolving effect of death, of physical death, on all the ideals, spiritual notions and beliefs, on all that, in one's awareness, is not purely conscious, isn't transformed, become solid and real. And that covers a lot!

Perhaps behind that is this action of the Force that undoes and erodes and dissolves the false reality of death itself.

And behind that is the active but immobile, perennial experience of a position that is neither here nor there, and simultaneous: perhaps the true physical where the Two of You now are? This true Matter that hasn't yet manifested?

And alongside, or parallel, or as a stir or movement all around, is the sense of chaos and confusion, due to the lack of unification in the being, to all these parts and elements that are not centred and have no cohesion and therefore are bound to pull in different directions and extend the disorder and falsity, when and if the physical security is taken away...

28-9-1986, Auroville:

Last night I couldn't sleep for several hours; my heart was too tense and my pulse was awfully fast; it went on and on and it's still that way... But it makes me work on myself! I am thinking, these days, of writing a note stating how I want things to be done if I leave the body; I just don't relish the prospect of a mess such as Ruud left behind him; I refuse to impose that on others. I want it neat, clean and un-dramatic and non-public, with no room for interpretations...

30-9-1986, Auroville:

This afternoon came one of the worse crises there ever was since it all started; D.M couldn't take it any more: a very high fever rose again in Janaka's body, and his valid side was agitated with cramps for hours; his heart was affected too; it took till 9 pm to fight it down...

... I do believe it is an unquestionable truth that each one creates their own circumstances, and that it is only once is aware of this that one can truly begin to offer it, to a Consciousness that can embrace it all and make it evolve into a truer manifestation... Thus logically I ought to move past sentiments and even the sense of duty and solidarity, however hard and horribly convincing the false reality of this present misery may be... But isn't there more to it? I feel there is also something very wrong, as if something was actively engaged against Your Work, causing this mess... These two beings who truly want to be Yours, they can't be let down...!

1-10-1986, Auroville:

What is it? There is movement, in the sense that no two days are the same, but there is no progress, only alterations... The fever came again this evening, but it was somehow less dramatic, mainly I think because D.M was more together... Janaka understands, is aware, but does no inner work; he moans, and shouts, and calls D.M or whoever is near him...

Guy, who comes twice a week to replace me mid-day, does not want to take more shifts; J.L has withdrawn for the time being; Bill S comes only once a week and refuses to do more; same with Alan; I only have N and N to rely on, and that because they are paid for it...

4-10-1986, Auroville:

There appears to be an evolution in Janaka's condition: through the Ayurvedic treatment his body seems to be getting a hold on the process of recovery, and so D.M is perking up, and the atmosphere is tat much lighter...

5-10-1986, Auroville:

I didn't like Janaka's face today; it had these brown hollows under the eyes and an ashy colour, and his heart is struggling; and Rao is away till Tuesday; we can only go on with whatever decoctions and pills he has prescribed; D.M is beyond fatigue...

7-10-1986, Auroville:

I don't know... Janaka is having such a miserable, agonising time... day after day, night after night... the fever keeps coming at him, gnawing nastily, and now besides the heart, the respiratory tracts are affected; Rao had a small accident and has not come back; nothing flows; Alan too had an accident and couldn't come today... I do not understand...!

And I also doubt my own contribution in all this; I cannot tune in to the sort of calling for You that D.M is putting out: my "faith" seems to be of a different nature, and so I often wonder whether I am not obstructing their atmosphere rather than helping... Mother, I do not know!

... I have this question, or this confused need to be aware on both "sides" at once, a need that was always there but has grown more concrete and almost physical in the past few weeks, through what happened to Ruud and what is now happening to Janaka...

... For Janaka it would be so absurd to go now, a huge waste, a defeated yielding to disorder and disharmony; on the other hand there is the situation created by D.M's condition that lies in front like an obstacle, something that he does not feel up to any longer... So for any opening to come at this point it must be for both of them...

11-10-1986, Auroville:

I was the entire day at "Ravena" because no one came to replace me; in the evening my heart went off again and a cramp settled around it: it is too much material disharmony...

12-10-1986, Auroville:

Am I an obstacle to help coming their way? Because of what they think of me, perhaps people do not want to come and help? Only Guy seems to care enough...

And D.M told me this evening that P.M had indeed said that I should go; this is probably why I got these thoughts in the last few days... Perhaps he even believes that I am responsible for Janaka's predicament? But D.M tells me that I must stay, and that it is my fault if people are against me, because of my own harshness and intolerance...

Change me the way You want, that is all that I ask...! And take me away if I am an obstacle! Only You must bring help!

14-10-1986, Auroville:

Janaka's body has given way, this morning at 9.50 am, at the Ashram Nursing Home.

I had left him less than an hour before that, when Larry had come to replace me by his side.

I had not been back home for very long when N came to inform me. People had already gone to "Ravena" and told D.M. I knew then that I had to go and try to be with her.

When I reached the hut, there were many people there; she had been seated on the back porch overlooking the small enclosed garden I had made for them.

I went to her after a moment, and we were left alone.

She said she must go at once, go and be with Janaka; she must not delay, she must not leave him alone... She asked me to carry her over to the edge of the canyon, so she could throw herself down its cliff; then she asked me to take her away somewhere and give her kerosene so she could burn herself... What could I say to her? She is my sister and I have to be, to try and be what she needs most, and she cannot see herself alone now, alone and depending on others' willingness to care for her...

Then, she realised, in her frantic urge to join Janaka, that the plants of Datura we had planted – for the name You have given to their flower, “Tapasya” – were bearing fruits: and she would only have to swallow several of them, seed-pods rather than edible fruits, and that would be likely to take her to the other side.

She asked me then to seat her near enough to the plants, and I did. She herself plucked a bunch of them and started to eat them up. We were still alone; everyone else was in the front of the house or outside of it.

But later on, as people started to move around and come to her, it became confused; she told someone, perhaps more than one person, that she had taken the Datura; I was among the others then; I felt that I had done all I could by her and by Janaka; the “community” was there now, and my role was perhaps over... At some point she must have agreed that she should try to vomit, or be helped to vomit the poison she had ingested; and the rest of the afternoon was spent trying to make her body reject it, but to no avail.

Yesterday, as Janaka’s condition had got so critical, D.M had finally accepted to call for “ordinary means”, even if that meant taking him away.

Datta came, then. It was late afternoon. He accepted to admit Janaka right away in the Ashram Nursing Home.

We took him in a van.

Datta and his staff settled Janaka in a separate room and plugged him onto the whole apparatus; I stayed alone with him all night; he remained mostly comatose, but there were a few moments of conscious acknowledgment...

Why did I feel relieved that he was finally out of the atmosphere with D.M at “Ravena”? I still couldn’t believe that such a tedious, painful and maddening agony over so many days would lead to waste and death only; still I could not believe that the entire thing of their joint offering, of their living commitment to build “Ravena”, would end up in a waste...

I still was confident we would come out of this.

When Larry came in the morning to replace me, I was so very tired; I didn’t feel very clearly; I was perhaps overwhelmed by the need to rest; so I left Janaka. I left the Nursing Home. I came back home.

And soon after that, he left his body.

I now feel that the answers will be long in coming.

D.M’s father, whom she had loved so very much, had died on the same day...

... I had to see to so many details of organisation then; to prepare for Janaka’s body to be laid in the big house, to have a box made ready, to select the spot in the garden for the burial...

I returned to “Sincerity” much later... I didn’t see D.M again.

15-10-1986, Auroville:

D.M left her body last night, some time around 11.30 or 12 pm. No one is sure.

They had taken her in a van to bring her to Jipmer Hospital and try to flush the poison from her system, but when they reached, she had already passed. The Hospital staff tried to revive her. It was too late.

Because it was legally a suicide, her body was to be autopsied. And so it was forced to undergo one more, ultimate misery.

David N brought her body back, wrapped like a mummy, this afternoon.
We laid it next to Janaka's.
Both wrapped in flowers.

Janaka's burial had been fixed for the evening. Fred insisted that D.M's body must also be buried at the same time. Many people had been informed.
The boxes were made ready. The pit was dug out.
Larry and I set them into the pit, and placed a large painting of Sri Krishna as a child, at the heads, facing east.
It was 6 pm when the soil was thrown over them.

I had promised D.M never to take her to the Hospital, and I failed. I had not realised that all these people would then be there, asserting their "authority"... In their ignorance, they forced another horror upon her.
But perhaps there is also something in Auroville that refuses the event of death itself: recently, there was Gandolf, and then Ruud, and now Janaka and D.M, and each somehow had to "die" away from Auroville...

I have begun to feel that I must try and complete the main house at "Ravena"; this seems to make sense, from many angles. And there is a sort of deep commitment that has developed in the workmen as well; this ought to be brought to fruition, if only to heal what this drama has hurt... When I went back at dawn to day, I found that several of them had stayed there on watch the entire night, while no one from Auroville had...

16-10-1986, Auroville:

It is all working itself out in my active consciousness now; I can see how the mind, or some of the mental processes at least, have a role to play as instruments to the higher consciousness... Things I knew or "felt" behind thoughts and emotions, in a wordless way, I can now "understand"; information collects and falls into place, filling the blanks... I see now what formations and barriers of energy were there...
... I have felt that I must, as far and as thoroughly as possible try and re-establish harmony there.

It is as if D.M and Janaka, having had neither the time nor the will to consider anything beyond their own present predicament, left the entire load of material details and things behind them, uncleared, and that I am the only person it seems who can bring some order into it. And I am willing to do it. That mess, that chaos, that drama, must all be absorbed and give way for the harmony they had both aimed for...

Their burial place is quiet.

I need to go to the end of this sorting out, so that all harshness is burnt out...

18-10-1986, Auroville:

During the day, as during the night, there is a kind of active meditation, concentration and sorting process all at once, on D.M and Janaka, about them, sometimes with them. There are all the gradations of experience that, in them, were bound within the circle of fate...

... For me there is a strange feeling; in a sort of impersonal way I feel still committed to their offering in terms of that place, the unfinished house, and the mass of their belongings and all the traces of their struggle, of their striving and their aspiration. And I also feel, I don't know exactly how to put it, as if not entirely welcome; it may have to do with my own hardness towards what I felt to be unreal in their approach, and this may have hurt them a bit...? This part is still unclear. And then I do feel too, very simply, that D.M is with me, in the same way, my sister and friend, asking me to help, to do, to remain close, not to let them down...

19-10-1986, Auroville:

Whenever I pass Aurovilians, their eyes move away... it is only the villagers who offer naturally some warmth and sympathy...!

Just now I am over-sensitive to these formations against me; for, somewhere deep – in my ego, I guess – I have accepted the possibility that whatever I touch, whomever I come close to, becomes unhappy, or goes wrong, or falls into misfortune...

I can reason this out; I can move above and see it all as part of the general falsity and artificiality of things as human beings experience them.

But there are those moments, such as now, when it seems to me, when I feel I could well use some understanding, some conscious understanding; or, at any rate, some sort of tenderness and trust, it is then that I am most vulnerable to those formations.

And besides, I am still into a kind of battle; even in physical terms, in my own organism, there is still that disorder around the heart; and, whenever I am not centred enough, comes the sensation of a dark doom, of having been plunged into some dark, wrong, negative process; and I know that I must move out and away, inwardly, from it.

I have been so close, so entirely close, to something that was really wrong, that sheltered seeds of fate and death: for it was wrong death; it wasn't death that comes as a necessity when the soul has moved as far as it could in one given body. There was a choice.

Only You could show me the absolute Supreme behind it.

I need You, Mother, I need You.

... I stayed here most of the day, cleaning up the house and doing the week's laundry, and fixing myself a new necklace to hold my locket – its cord broke the day of Janaka and D.M's passing, and I decided yesterday to take from D.M's things those 12 tiny gold beads, along with the red leather she had offered me.

I went to "Ravena" around 5 pm and stayed a while; feeling depressed and disoriented; there was sadness there. N couldn't even smile at me. And I looked and looked, wondering what I am going to do with the whole thing... I want to complete it as their offering. But is it going to go to Auralice...? I feel I would find support if I knew for sure that this place would be utilised for Your Work, in a material sense: if there would be kept there all Your books and all Sri Aurobindo's books and Your Agenda, and the place would be used for reading and resting in a dedicated atmosphere of quiet concentration, of opening to You through Your works and the notations of Your experiences... It seems to me that this alone would make enough sense; and with this orientation I could go on.

I must speak of it with Larry (he is Auralice's father and as such represents now the "family") when he comes to meet me tomorrow; otherwise I do not know... It has been too much of a drama, too much of an absurd absence of guidance...!

20-10-1986, Auroville:

Larry came and stayed for about two hours; we talked about what comes next, and how to proceed with the house, and with all the things and belongings; I told him how I felt, and he seemed to understand. Then I helped him to draft a letter to Janaka's family, and I offered to write an account of Janaka's illness from the beginning.

... I had an early dinner alone at the Kitchen. The "white" Aurovilians feel, if anything, further away while, in a non-mental way, I find myself closer to the "Indian" population; it is a strange phenomenon: I find that they know more with their hearts, directly; the "whites" judge with their minds and then if at all, open their hearts; but it is nothing like the straight, almost un-conscious contact and smile from the Indians, which then, afterwards, may eventually get clouded over by the thought' evaluations...

21-10-1986, Auroville:

I seem to have spent much of last night dancing, re-adjusting and re-opening to free movement and to rhythm, to the flow of dance; and also centring, until the sense of direction was revealed anew...

... I was working on my leather necklace at home, this afternoon, when a beautiful person came, a young German man, a newcomer; he'd come for a practical reason, but the contact was good, clear and deep, and we spent a couple of hours; he stayed for supper with me. He is a man who has a peculiar realisation: he has realised the static side of the Divine behind the mind, and it is a very tangible presence in him; he exudes it and is overwhelmed by it in a quiet and steady way, and doesn't see any point to try anything at all; he is only looking for a balanced way to go on living physically. He has a good quality of humour too, and a fine sort of inner joy; he doesn't know why he is here in Auroville; he is reluctant towards what he senses as a shallow, compulsory invitation to some unclear work of transformation. Yet he is here; he has been driven here through odd ways, and I felt that he had in him already what could make the rest truer than it is with most people here... if only he would open to Your Grace! He was obviously surprised and happy to find this contact between us. And it made me see how much I am still sort of starving for a friend...

22-10-1986, Auroville:

Besides quite a few unanswered questions, it is at the level of energies that I have most difficulty; I feel like I have been stretched and strained, over a good period of time, near to the limit, and the release has come from the wrong way: not the joyful fulfilling release, but the release of defeat, nonsense and absurdity...

And whatever it was that I was aware of being taught, is now hidden behind a veil. When I look at "Ravena" feeling for a way to remain committed to its building, to the establishment of a good, open environment and harmony, I see it as a place dedicated, as D.M and Janaka saw it from their perspective, to the True, the Right, the Vast – Satyam Ritam Brihàt – and used for Your Work. I see it practically as a place of rest and concentration, in peace and harmony, where all Your writings would be kept available, and Your Agenda could be read and listened to, and there would be a feeling of being at home, without any personal colouring...

I talked about this to Larry again; but he is mostly concerned about Auralice now, and he agrees to the idea as a second priority, but he doesn't feel it; he has no experience of this place at all, nor of its inner foundations.

...I ate dinner alone at the Kitchen. I miss a friend; I miss someone to communicate to, with... another consciousness, another point of awareness, to dynamise what has collected within me...

23-10-1986, Auroville:

Sometimes in my physical consciousness, very concretely, I feel like a sponge: thirsty, thirsty for the Force, like a dry sponge, to absorb it, to be permeated by It – and that, without It, it is death, it is defeat, it is this absurd nonsense...

I need You so much, Your Presence, Your patience, Your loving care for progress, birth and growth...

... For a few minutes this afternoon, it felt that they were both just next to me, just in a slightly subtler version of the same situation they had been in, so that they could still make the progress they'd had to make, and that now things were a little clearer to their consciousness, and they were also more sheltered... But I do not wish to feed on imagination or approximations.

... I don't know what's next. On one hand I can feel some gratitude if that work at "Ravena" remains with me for a while longer, with a purpose within Your embrace. On the other hand I fear a little that it will only make me more isolated...

... This morning I sent a note to P.M asking whether they would pass on a letter from me to Satprem... I've had no reply as yet.

Mother, the more I go, the more Your solitary work feels heroic to me; truly, formidably, enormously heroic...! And I need You so much...

27-10-1986, Auroville:

I started to write a letter to Janaka's sister. I know nothing of her but I thought that, if I am to complete the work at "Ravena", she must on her part help getting the needed money... When the rain had stopped this afternoon, I went over to show this letter to Larry; he liked it and added a few words of his own.

28-10-1986, Auroville:

Looking back at the whole process with D.M and Janaka now, I also feel – and this is a way of seeing that seems just as valid or, at any rate, that cannot be overlooked dismissed – that I have been a rather perfect instrument for the wrong possibility; I see that clearly: every one of my own attitudes made me the perfect prey to fit just so into the wrong mechanism. I am so dumb, so very dumb...!

29-10-1986, Auroville:

I am treading along in a mire of tamas... No response anywhere in my scene, no aspiration, no nothing... And the woman in me is out front with her needs – I want to be owned, to be claimed...!

... I bought a book on contemporary physics; this part of my mind is way down buried under layers of rust; I have to read every sentence at least twice, and still I stand agape... These people seem to be mainly like gymnasts of the intellect; only, sometimes, some of them hit upon an intuitive prehension of the reality, and these they labour like ants to fit into an acceptable framework and logic... But I intend to try and persevere!

Tamas, tamas, and the sense of being pinned down to a stupid, tiny, cramped, rigid, hollow and dolorous self; among many other such shadows...

1-11-1986, Auroville:

I have been trying to wake up today from under this tamasic surrender to old demons, and to stop accepting the formation of sexual desire in my mind. I know what to do, so I cannot complain. I just got under it the moment I was released from the tension... flat, the wrong way...!

This is Deepawali Day, with the sad sound of crackers in the distance muffled by the immobile cloudy wet sky...

... I am trying to discipline myself to read this book "The Cosmic Code", which is a description of the modern physics as they stand today, with their background evolution; it is tedious and I have given up on mathematical notions, but I begin to gather the trend of it and to feel more concerned as it joins and meets with some impressions and inner perceptions or experiences...

... Ar. brought me a letter she'd found at the Kitchen for me. It is from Ina, a sort of "love-declaration", if I am not mistaken, and I really don't know what to think of it...! I don't suppose I should let myself get involved again with another woman, however much I may respect or feel friendly towards her, unless it is unmistakably clear and evident that she is "the one"! I'm wary because I can see that I'd be quite willing, at this point, to let go physically, for whatever it's worth... And if that would imply collaborating to another drama, it's definitely not a good idea!

2-11-1986, Auroville:

A quiet Sunday here, reading this book on quantum physics; it becomes more familiar and tangible, but I wish the man would be right here, with his knowledge, so I could ask directly the questions that have risen while reading and for which he has provided no answers...

This, together with the experience of death – the fact of its persistence – has taken me back, as if after a full circle but a little more conscious, to a state I have known many times in the past, a state which is somehow like an anchor, a point of silent questioning, of a need removed from all needs... I used to slip from that state into a trend of desperation but, this time, experiences have come together, and I have found a breath, an ultimate, in the presence of the One, the Supreme...

There is no certainty in it – in the sense that one would know where one goes.

The only certainty is – and this is total security – that, whatever is next, wherever from the used rounds of the Manifest or the senseless strivings towards the Non-Manifest, He will move, the secret is buried within Him alone, exclusively. The secret is nowhere to be found, in no realisation past, present or future that can ever be attained. The secret IS secret; it is up to Him only.

I am hanging in some void... When I listen to or read Your Agenda, or when I meditate on a particular question or aspect of the reality, it is alright; but I cannot decently do only that...! It is at the energy level, in life itself, that I cannot find my way. It is in relation to life, to people, that I am lost. And nothing comes to give a clue, to make a sign that I could follow...

... I find myself back to the same point, incapable to relate to the people here, having no activity that I can share with anyone, and feeling alien to the spirit in which things are being done in Auroville...

Larry and Auralice came by; Larry wants us to send some of Janaka's things to his family, and he was looking for some papers too. He is planning to send Auralice to the US for her schooling, in a few weeks. He also said that he now feels inclined to come and "participate" in the work at "Ravena"; I don't know what he exactly means, there is always some confusion around him...

... I met Ed; we talked about the money he owed to Janaka; I suggested that, as he seemed to be reluctant to let go of this money, he could use it for the purchase of the land adjacent to "Ravena" which we couldn't get cleared before Janaka's illness...

... I have been listening to Your Agenda... I am beginning to accept that You could give only one relationship such as the one You gave to Satprem, and that therefore he is the only one now equipped to really try and follow You; because one simply cannot, without having received that from You. One can "understand", one can feel within and above, one can become conscious and try to collaborate but, without a solid, constant, direct, manifest relationship with You, I don't see how one can ever... How to say? I am beginning to accept it – that is, not to revolt – but I do not yet grasp the consequences, the implications for the way...

I find harmony in my relationships with things, with objects, with Nature, even with animals, but, with human beings, it is mostly a weight, and a cause for despair...! Yet, I can't go on living that way! Something has to change with me! There's an affective knot that must be loosened...

I painted till night fell. I had dinner at the Kitchen, and Su, John H's sister (who has recently arrived) joined me there. I like her and spontaneously respect her, and I feel that it makes sense for her to have come to Auroville...

Today was N's birthday. We went down to Pondy as I had promised, and watched half of a bizarre South-American movie and had dinner in a restaurant, quickly, in a noisy room, and sat for a while by the ocean, and I gave him his present, a small silver locket with both Your symbols on it, for him to wear around his waist... I would want to hold him and kiss him and feel his warmth with my body, but I do not want to "take", I do not want another absurdity...

9-11-1986, Auroville:

Ar. had dinner with me, and it was sweet with her: she is my good friend. I met Su briefly, John H's sister. There is something between us, a contact; but, on her side, I can feel it is made of much attraction, and I don't know what to do with it. I respect her and am open to her but, right now, I feel too surrounded with what my unresolved affectivity lets build up, and there is Ina hovering, and there is Ar. always, keeping watch, and there is too this yet undecided, undefined state with N...

There is some unclarity with Larry, who went to "Ravena" in my absence, to "check" the work and question the men about me... Jaimurthy told me about it; he was feeling so bad...

11-11-1986, Auroville:

I tried to talk to Larry again today; we spent about two hours in a restaurant in town; but he does not really understand. And so I am left alone with the task of trying to manifest what D.M and Janaka had dreamed, without any understanding on the part of Auroville... This morning too, Larry had brought Yaap and Ulla, whom he has invited to come and live in the hut at "Ravena", and it didn't flow well at all; Yaap couldn't even look at me... I know that if they move in, it will become "their" place...

... I feel rather useless: Larry is so "normal" and so well in his place in the official, public and social reality of Auroville, every one of his movements is "understood" and calls sympathy, he cares for all the right things, etc. And what do I have to stand by? A relationship with D.M and Janaka that no one knows anything about, on the background of my "difference" and of all the formations about me ("not the most popular person in Auroville", as Larry said)...

It is striking that just one of these innumerable experiences, for someone who wouldn't know where they come from, could become the pivot and anchor for a spiritual realisation – which could in turn become the seed for a teaching, or even a religion...

13-11-1986, Auroville:

Su, John H's sister, came by herself, just after 5 pm, to have tea with me... Later, I invited her to stay and have some dinner with me at home; I like her as a person, and I feel good with the quality of her presence. I feel tense, though, because it obviously could easily veer into a closer relationship, and I can already see her attachment and all she would have to go through, and I don't relish the prospect...! On the other hand, I can't very well refuse an opportunity for me to open up a little, to relate; I can't just become a wild, unapproachable freak sitting in his territory behind a barrier of formations... I don't know what to do...!

14-11-1986, Auroville:

When I came back from "Ravena", to paint, I found that Ar. had left me a letter: the whole problem of our relationship had risen again, through Su's visit; so I spent nearly two hours in the afternoon with Ar., and we talked very openly and quietly, and it was good; I like it when we can communicate this way, when it is open to progress... Later this evening, she had to admit to her jealousy, and we could laugh – we can always find our way to laughter, and that is what is so good with her...

15-11-1986, Auroville:

It feels like I am a living mistake... I have considered going away, not just from here but from the whole thing... There is a practical impossibility with the way I am built... which is not being put together, whether from my own efforts or by You: it remains the same, on and on...

I read in the Auroville News that people want to turn "Ravena" into a sort of Nursing Home... I might as well hand over the whole thing to Larry and quit... And then there's nothing here for me, nothing I can participate in; I shall be stuck in that unreal isolation, trying to go on painting – for which I have no real talent –, groping on for no result, endlessly forming a block in the atmosphere of Auroville...

... I feel like a monster: not in the sense of being "bad", but of being some anomalous freak, helplessly itself, and condemned by its very fixity to go down the drain into a side pocket of reality where such "things" are kept in the universal harmony with a label reading "couldn't evolve"...! An interesting fact of history, probably rich with clues and indications... for others!

There would be, there is, though, one prayer, one request that I wish to address to You: it is that, whatever may be my actual condition, it is not allowed to cause others to suffer any more... Because it isn't fair; and it makes that much more impossible, unviable, when I know that others are adversely affected; it makes me want to withdraw from life – and, if I believe You as I must, this is the worst idea to entertain...

16-11-1986, Auroville:

I seem to be losing the security that I'll ever be pulled out of these vicious circles I was thrown into at the beginning of this present existence... What is the point of knowing all I know, of being Yours in my consciousness, of feeding on Your sustenance hour after hour for all these years, what is the point of having all these books, of bathing into the stream of Your Agenda again and again, what is the point of it all when I am unable to live or to experience a single harmonious and profound relationship in the human world, where all the issues and questions are gathered?

... Often these days I wonder what would be my conscious orientation if I were to leave the body now; where would I head to? The impression came that I somehow wouldn't consider myself pure enough to go to You, and I would wander away, supposedly "on my own", letting worlds and attractions fall away, searching in my own silence towards some response that would at last make enough sense...

I know that I can let go of everything once I have set myself to it... it is only here, in the area of yearnings and incompleteness, that I get stuck, helplessly trying to bring opposites together...

... Su came; it is her birthday today. She wanted to spend a moment with me. It is plain that she is affected by our encounter; she came to ask for two things: one, a hug; and the other, that I take her one day to Mahabalipuram to visit the temples there... I don't know what to do; it is crazy: here I am hitting against a block when I try and follow my own yearnings, and at the same time evoking in a woman I have only met twice such a deep emotional evolution, and making my best friend, Ar., churn with frustration and jealousy... It is crazy, indeed...

N came late this morning, with a bruise on his eye... He said that Saturday night, after he'd left me, he went home to find that both his children were down with fever and acute diarrhoea and his wife crying; he'd taken them to Koot Road to a doctor, and, while cycling back in the middle of the night, they were assaulted by 4 men who had pulled a string across the road, and he was robbed of what was left of his pay...

... I had dinner with John H; then, Su and her friend, a heavy-built easy-going American girl from the Guest-House, joined us and we went to sit at the amphitheatre, watching the moon rise. I enjoyed being with John H, as we don't see much of each other these days; it was 7.20 pm when we all saw suddenly a huge star slide all the way down the sky, very near; I do not understand what kind of star it was, or whether it was a fragment of meteorite; just above the tree-line it split into two large and one small flaming parts and it all vanished, with a peculiar movement... It was 13 years exactly that Your physical heart had stopped beating...

19-11-1986, Auroville:

There is a strange sensation today, as of being at once on the verge of, and missing something...

Also I have opened again to the "classic" sexual vibration; it is a whole life in itself, in its own right. It is the type of life that Henry Miller explored, which has several times come close in my existence like an alternate possibility; it is not at all mixed with affectivity, as when I am drawn to a man friend; it is itself and it has its own joy and its own energy; it is neither dark nor gloomy nor hard, but it is endless: it is a sort of infinite, and it goes through women almost regardless of particulars, opening at each individual contact... This aspect does not cause a conflict as such, as the other aspect does; I could just tune into it when it comes, and my concerns would only be practical... While with the other aspect, when I get under the spell of an attraction towards a man, it stirs up all my affectivity...

Ar. brought a copy of the book that has been made by a team of Aurovilians, under Kireet's direction, for educational purposes throughout India, "The Aims of Life"; it is beautifully done, with a fine quality to it, and I was happy to see and touch it, and I found it encouraging...

... John H and Su sat with me at dinner; then John H had some work at Matrimandir and I offered to Su to go and sit at the Amphitheatre again; and quietly I told her what I had wanted to say about my circumstances, and Ar.'s involvement, and the fact that I want to remain alone – and that I am a tough person to deal with for a woman; and having said all this, that I didn't know what it actually meant in terms of our relationship, but that it surely made no difference to the friendship we had found between us.

She seems to understand. I appreciate her; the possibility of a physical encounter remains. I see that it is still a release and a breath when I can relate this way to a woman; I can't deny it when the possibility is offered.

Throughout the day I have been experiencing physically the sweet soft pressure of Nectar from above – and yet I have been mainly preoccupied with the matter of sexuality, and what to do in my responses to it

Ar. has asked me to accept that she must experience the sexual dimension of our relationship, to honour her yearning for that expression. The problem for me there is that her physical presence does not match, does not elicit the movement in me that would make it simple...

... When I went back to "Ravena" this afternoon, I found Yaap visiting the place, as a future owner, with Th and Peter; I felt so uneasy about it that I tried to avoid meeting them. Then Larry also came, and I told him how I felt, and it moved and gladdened me when he candidly confessed to a similar feeling... And we now both hope that something will happen that will change their plan and Yaap himself will drop the idea...

23-11-1986, Auroville:

Last night I had a most unusual episode, which I took notes about when I got up (I haven't paid so much attention to my dreams lately): it was a intense, strange story, which I at once watched as an invisible presence and incarnated as each participant, between a man and a woman who is, most often, his daughter, but sometimes also his beloved; they are adults, and they have now met after years of painful and hard separation, and they re-discover one another through the physical climbing and treading of rocky slopes and precipitous paths, slippery and very treacherous, with an entire itinerary of risks and daring and many moments of deep emotion when the man, in his re-found cherishing, draws a protective line on the ground all around the prone body of his beloved – his daughter then, whom only one other man will be able to truly relate to...

... Su came today to ask me whether I was still backing my previous offer for her to stay at C's house when she must leave the Guest House, the 3rd of next month; I said "yes". I can't withdraw this offer only because of Ar.; and, besides, she is John H's sister and my sense of hospitality must prevail.

... Over dinner Ar. and I had some comic dialogue over the present conundrum: what are we to do with these physical desires and yearnings... And I am considering now letting go of some walls and letting Ar. experience with me what she had yearned to for so long, but I want her to see it lucidly, as it might also worsen the pull of attachment; I know very well what it feels like to be denied, though, and I find that perhaps I must try and give her that release...

Ar. walked back with me; she said she needed to have intercourse and asked me to be more inviting, less inhibiting; I confirmed that I was open to it if she felt it could be helpful; it is true that I am now open to it, but I do not want it to cement our relationship, to fix it...

There is a little crisis at "Ravena" among the men; the focus is on N, out I guess of jealousy and spite, and the men are quite nasty with him, and he suffers when he responds to it and he suffers when he doesn't; he hadn't come to see me here for a few days, because some of the others were teasing him that he came to me like a dog; he cried when he related that to me... He began to smile again, afterwards, and we planted the saplings together, and he said sweetly that he'd come to have breakfast with me tomorrow.

Between the rain showers today we have begun levelling the ground around the graves. I intend to build a bench at their heads, under the Kadamba tree, and perhaps engrave just their two names and the dates...

The work in the house is going well, and rather fast; and I worry as the days go by and no reply comes from Janaka's sister and family, as I shall soon be at the end of the money here. I pray that this dream of theirs is helped into Matter; it would be such a sad waste if it had to be abandoned so close to completion...

... N did some masonry today, very well, and he was like a kid with his small team, apprehensive and then jubilant to have done it, and what did I think of it...!

I found that I could not really give Ar. what she wanted, unless, plunging back into that state, I could also find my home in her... And I was not finding it... She became more relaxed and more deeply tuned, but I couldn't carry her all the way, as I couldn't find a secure and wide enough space for me to abandon myself...

1-12-1986, Auroville:

This is a bizarre point I am at: it would seem I could easily, from there, move into quite an ordinary life, and let the curtain fall over aspiration and conscious orientation, and just go with the current and accept it all... I saw that, by opening to Ar.'s need and participating to its momentary satisfaction, I opened again to that level of communication and relation... This morning at "Abri" for instance, stopping to have my tyre blown, I met this beautiful girl who has been living with B.B for quite a while now, and who is probably by far the most lovely feminine creature around, and there was an immediate response, and I could sense the possibility of cherishing her, almost of "owning" her; and I don't feel any warning, or any pressure, it is simply as if all aspiration had gone...! It has withdrawn, in wait, silent and immobile, and in its stead there is a kind of quiet gaze, rather sweet, over it all...

... I had a moment of reacting again, this afternoon, when Ed and Yaap came around the place, looking at the land, at the garden, at the work we have done in the canyon, without ever giving even a sign of acknowledgment in my direction, with that sort of "owner of the place" attitude, the future resident taking in the size of his domain... But I only want D.M and Janaka to be there, and Auralice, and that's all! But for these people, D.M and Janaka are "dead"; so they move in: simple! But it is wrong!

Yet this afternoon, when Auralice came by with Mukta, I sort of gave up: just the way Auralice takes it all in her stride, it shows me that, well, this is life, it is open, and I cannot interfere, nor try and impose a will or a pattern; I can only let it be, however mediocre or unresponsive it may be...

2-12-1986, Auroville:

I had an odd dream of G.M's dog, last night: I find Yappu somewhere near B's house, in sheer agony, all swollen up, dying; but when he sees me, something deep and invincible stirs up in him and, "miraculously", while Akash watches from a distance, he gets the strength to move up and stand on his legs and he aims towards me, landing in my arms and licking my face; while he does that, all sorts of sickening smells and juices are spreading over me, but I hold him until it is alright and the entire thing is gone, dissolved and he is safe and alert again, such a very sweet dog...

... Ar. wanted to spend the night with me again, but I blocked it; even though I am now quite open, ready and willing to experience sexual intercourse again and again, practically at any time and for its own sake, regardless of any other considerations, still, I can't see what good it is going to achieve for her – not to mention for me! Because it is not to her as a individual person that I turn, and so she is bound to get frustrated with me...

... A house was burnt last night at "Fertile" and Carole got her hands and forearms injured, and she has lost all of her and her kids' belongings...
