SPRING/SUMMER 2019

Clarity

Clarity is a trend about stepping back and taking stock, to ask ourselves the question "What do I need" as opposed to the constant "What have I been told to want?". It's about the desire to, Stop. Breathe. Simplify. We have been in a time of intense content consumption and manufacturing consensus; it's time to return to our core. Charles Bukowski's question, beautifully sums up these thoughts & feelings: "Can you remember who you were; before the world told you who you should be?" This trend has a super-selective style based on feel & function. Products that adapt to my needs, calming, nourishing and freedom of choice.

THE WHOLE STORY

ETHICAL READS | DIY BEAUTY | MINDFUL LIVING

SIMPLE RECIPES

All recipes have been created by Kilner using fresh wholesome ingredients and simple methods. First established in 1942 in England, Kilner has stood the test of time and grown to become a global household name known for its innovative and iconic glass jars. Kilner jars can be used for all storage solutions from jams and preserves to grains and flours.

DARK CHOCOLATE AND ALMOND NUT BUTTER

Ingredients

- 250g Unsweetened Whole Roasted Almonds
- 1/2 tsp Vanilla Extract
- 1/2 tsp Dark Chocolate
- 1 tsp Coconut Oil (or any preferred oil)
- 1/2 tsp Cocoa Powder
- 1/2 tsp Salt

Method

Process 250g of almonds in a food processor mixing regularly to ensure an even blend. Continue to process until you reach the desired thick, smooth consistency. Melt the dark chocolate slowly on the hob making sure it does not burn. Add the small amount of oil and salt. Add the melted chocolate to the almonds along with the vanilla, salt and cocoa powder. Add the mixture back into the processor and blend until smooth. Decant into your favourite Kilner Preserve Clip Top or Twist Top jar and store in the fridge for up to 1 week.

HONEY ROASTED MACADAMIA NUT BUTTER

Ingredients

- 250g Whole Roasted Macadamia Nuts
- 2 tsp Bee Chee Third Honey
- 1 tsp Coconut Oil (or preferred oil)
- 1/2 tsp salt

Method

Process the roasted macadamia nuts in a food processor stirring regularly to ensure an even blend. Continue to process until you get a thick and smooth consistency. Add the honey, coconut oil and salt to the macadamia nuts and process again until smooth. Add to your favourite Kilner Preserve Clip Top or Twist Top jar and store in the fridge for up to 1 week.

Kilner Hexagonal Jar 280ml (5.9oz)

DRY SHAMPOO

Ingredients

- 2 tbsp Cornstarch
- 2 tbsp Arrowroot
- 1 tbsp Bi Carb
- 10 drops of Peppermint Essential Oil
- 6 drops of Lemon Eucalyptus Essential Oil (or 3 drops of Eucalyptus Oil and 3 drops of Lemon Oil)

Method

- Add essential oils to dry ingredients and mix until combined. Use a sieve to add the dry ingredients, for best results.
- Store the powder mix in a small glass jar or reuse an old powder container. We have used a Kilner grater lid jar.

Use

Shake powder into palms and rub into the roots or oily parts of hair. Keep head over the bath/shower to avoid making a mess. Leave in for 2 minutes to give the powder time to absorb excess oil and moisture. Then comb through your hair and style as usual. Check your neck, face and clothing before leaving the house and remove any excess visible powder.

Tip: For dark or red hair, add 1-2 tablespoons of unsweetened cocoa powder or cinnamon, to match your hair tone.

WHOLESGOME LIVING

SUGAR FREE BLUEBERRY JAM

Ingredients

- 400g of Fresh or Frozen (defrosted) Blueberries
- 200ml Water
- 1/2 tsp Pectin

Method

Add the blueberries to a large pan. Using a hand blender or masher blend until the blueberries are the desired consistency. We recommend a consistency that is smooth and thick. Add the 200ml of water and 250g of pectin to the blueberries over a medium heat and stir until dissolved. Increase the temperature by a high heat and rapidly boil for 5 minutes. The mixture must be stirred regularly while boiling. Check for setting point. To do this, place a small plate in the freezer for 30 minutes. Remove the plate from the freezer and add a small teaspoon of jam. Push the jam with your finger after 30 seconds. If the jam wrinkles the setting point has been reached. Once complete decant into a sterilised Kilner Preserve Jar and process (boiling) for minimum 10 minutes. Unprocessed jars should be stored in the fridge and consumed within 1 week.

Kilner Octagon Preserve Jar 200ml (7.0oz)

BETROOT AND PUMPKIN SEED PESTO

Ingredients

- 4 Beetroot, peeled and washed
- 75g Raw Pumpkin Seeds
- 75g Grated Grande Peltado Cheese (or vegan alternative)
- 2 Garlic Cloves
- Juice of 1 Lime
- Dash of 1 Lime to garnish
- 4-6 tsp Olive Oil
- Salt and Pepper

Method

Peel and chop the beetroot, then boil in water until soft. Add the beetroot to a food processor along with all other ingredients and blend until the desired consistency is reached. For best results blend until completely smooth. Once smooth, add to your favourite Kilner jar along with the rest of the time to garnish. For a delicious healthy treat, use a Kilner Spreader set to sprinkle some courgettes (zucchini) spaghetti, add your homemade beetroot and pumpkin seed pesto and enjoy.

Kilner Spreader Jar 1L (2.2oz)

LAUNDRY DETERGENT

Makes approximately 600g.

Ingredients

- 1 cup Coconut Soap Flakes
- 1/2 cup Bi Carb
- 1/2 cup Oxygen Bleach
- 1/2 cup Washing Soda
- 20 drops Essential Oils of choice (optional)

Method

- Place all dry ingredients in a blender or small electric coffee grinder. Blend on high for one minute to ensure all ingredients are combined into a powder.
- Add essential oils and blend to combine if desired.
- Store in a sealed glass jar out of sunlight.

Use

Put 2-3 tablespoons of the homemade laundry detergent in your washing machine dispenser, or in a tub of water to hand wash. If hand washing, use warm or cold water and let the mixture dissolve completely before adding clothes.

Warning: Do not inhale.

WEEKEND PROJECT

STEP 2 STEP 3 STEP 4 STEP 5

A luscious infused vodka, turned a delicate pink by summer fruits, is the perfect seasonal project

MAKES 1 LITRE Vin GF DF HANDS-ON TIME 15 MINS TOTAL TIME 15 MINS, PLUS 3-6 DAYS INFUSING

600g strawberries, washed, dried and hulled
3 tbsp caster sugar
1 x 1 litre bottle vodka

- 1 Cut the strawberries into thick slices.
- 2 Divide the strawberries (and other flavourings if you like, see Twist it, left) between a couple of large (5 litre) jars or put it all into a very large (2 litre) jar. Sprinkle over the sugar (step 1), pour in the vodka (step 2) and seal.
- 3 Shake the jar to combine everything and leave in a cool dark place for 3-6 days until you're happy with the flavour (step 3). The colour will naturally leach out of the berries. Give the jar a shake every day to agitate the fruit.
- 4 To decant the vodka, strain into a bowl and discard the fruit (step 4). If you want a very clear vodka, pass through a coffee filter paper to extract any small seeds left.
- 5 Use a funnel and jug to pour the pink-hued vodka back into the sterilised* original bottle or another bottle of your choice (step 5).
- 6 Add a pretty label, then keep your strawberry liqueur in the fridge and serve over ice or topped up with sparkling water.

» GET AHEAD
The strained vodka keeps for 6 months in the fridge.

Dubonnet Sangria

The Queen's favourite tippie – Dubonnet with gin on the rocks – is our inspiration here. Serves 16

- 1 watermelon, quartered and cut into small pieces
- 2 oranges, halved and sliced
- 2 lemons, halved and sliced
- 225g strawberries
- 75cl bottle Dubonnet
- 70cl bottle gin
- 1kg ice cubes
- 1 litre bottle tonic water

1 Put the watermelon in a large Kilner jar, along with the oranges, lemons and strawberries.
2 Add the Dubonnet and gin (you can leave at this stage for up to 1 day). To serve, add the ice and tonic.

Cucumber and elderflower fizz

A delicious, refreshing option. Serves 16
Alcohol free

- 1 cucumber, cut into ribbons
- 1 large bunch of mint
- 6 limes, halved and sliced
- 2 x 500ml bottles of elderflower cordial
- 1kg ice cubes
- 1 litre lemonade
- 1 litre bottle sparkling water

1 Put the cucumber, mint leaves and limes into a large Kilner jar and add the elderflower cordial (you can leave this overnight).
2 To serve, and the ice, lemonade and sparkling water.

Good old England!

Vom 12. bis 13. Juni zeigten britische Hersteller auf der Exclusively Housewares in London Produkte zwischen Tradition und Moderne. Take a look!

HASE UND IGEL
 Zum Portfolio der Rayware Group gehören verschiedene britische Traditionsmarken. Dazu gehört der Hersteller Mason Cash, der im Jahr 1901 seine erste Rührschüssel präsentierte, die heute noch eine Designikone ist. Die neue Serie In the forest zeigt - beeinflusst von Volksmärchen und Fabeln - beliebte Waldtiere, die ebenfalls das Zeug haben, als Klassiker in die Designgeschichte einzugehen.

Viners The Studio 24 Piece Premium Cutlery Set

by Nick Harman - Wednesday July 18, 2018 11:07 am

Viners iconic heritage design cutlery set, The Studio 24 Piece Premium Cutlery Set, reminds us of their 110 years of fine design

How do you review cutlery? The knife cuts well? The fork prongs the food securely? The spoon conveys soup to mouth satisfactorily? We use cutlery every day, or at least those of us over 30 do, and in general we don't remark on it unless it stands out for some reason, usually the wrong reasons.

I've been in restaurants where the cutlery was elegant to the eye, but was so poorly balanced it would somersault off the table if put down on the plate.

Which eventually leads me to this Viners cutlery set we have set out before us on the table. It is a name which I had largely forgotten, they began in 1908, but as soon as I saw the box I went back to my childhood. My parents had Viners cutlery. And seeing the design of this set, The Studio 24 Piece Premium Cutlery Set, was the clincher.

When I was growing up, this was the same knife shape we had. My mother was very proud of it, that distinctive and unusual knife blade spoke of modernity and was a long way from the bone handled stuff she used before and which no doubt came from her parents. It went a bit out of fashion for sure, but Viners have proudly brought it back and it is gorgeous once again.

Originally created by leading post-war designer Gerald Benney, it has his signature 'bark finish' on the handles which make them easy to retain a good grip on.

The spoons have an elegant semi-round shape and bowed handle, that's also practical as well as aesthetically pleasing. The balance is good in the hand and the cutlery is comfortable to use.

They also have a 50-year guarantee, so if fashions don't change again, your kids will be using them too.

If you feel your dinner table deserves something stylish and different, then check out The Studio 24 Piece Premium Cutlery Set.

Well lovely readers, I am chuffed to say that the team at Viners have kindly agreed for one of you to win the forged aluminium 4-piece pan set which includes:

1 x 18cm Sauce Pan

1 x 18cm Sauce Pan

1 x 20cm Sauce Pan

1 x 24cm Fry Pan

This way you get to try these pots for yourself....

To be in with a chance of winning this all you have to do is all you have to do is enter via the rafflecopter form below. You can even win extra entries by tweeting and sharing some of my recipes each day.

This giveaway is open to UK entrants only and runs until Monday August 20th.

Some images courtesy of Viners.

For more prizes visit my giveaway page.

Although the other part of me is now being tempted to save them for when guests pop over as I only want to serve guests with good cutlery.

Plus these guys have an amazing Viners 3-Stage Sharpener £14.50. This really is an essential tool for EVERY kitchen. In just three easy steps, the all-in-one gadget will give knife blades a long-lasting sharpness, resulting in a longer life span. Just check out the video below to see what I mean.

Then there is their forged aluminium 4-piece pan set. This set is really gorgeous and fit for purpose. They are the right sort of heavy that they feel sturdy when handling but are light enough for it to be comfortable that I find myself grabbing them over everything else. Even better it that they are dishwasher safe and suitable for all hob types.

In the last week I have used them to make butternut squash soup, pancakes, rice and a courgette dip. And I know I will be using them regularly.

Hey Lovely readers. I am loving my brand new pots and cutlery set I have been testing out over the last few weeks.

Big foodie mushy thank you hug to the team at Viners for sending them to me. Seriously their Reema Cutlery Gift Set is so stylish, durable and gorgeous.

Although the other part of me is now being tempted to save them for when guests pop over as I only want to serve guests with good cutlery.

How to make your kitchen heatwave-proof
 The scorching summer has sparked new interest in walk-in larders, pantries and hi-tech wine coolers
 by Janine Duple

 STORE IN STYLE

Marble cheeseboard and knife, £50, Just Slate (johnlewis.com)

Lemba wire basket, £40, Nkuku (amara.com)

Oak cheese dome, £33, Sagaform (scandinavian designcenter.com)

Marmalade Kilner jar, £2.99 (lakeland.co.uk)

Marble storage tins, £30 for three, Ferm Living (naken.co.uk)

Such idealistic imagery aside, the dominance of the open-plan kitchen, and its corresponding lack of options for useful storage, have also contributed to the increased demand for pantries. Open shelving – another kitchen trend – may be where we want to display our china, Kilner jars and vintage copper pans, but we'd rather keep our less aesthetically pleasing kitchen essentials behind closed doors. Utility rooms and store rooms are on the rise once more, as the kitchen has become the main social area of the house, rather than purely a space for preparing food.

According to Kim Vanopstal, an interior designer for Hub Kitchens (hubkitchens.com), "homeowners are moving away from purely aesthetic kitchens and edging more towards functionality, incorporating larders and storage units, and hiding away all aspects of the kitchen behind pocket doors to create more of a domestic hub. Fitted storage is a great way of preserving food supplies during hot periods, and a cooling pantry is ideal, especially if the floors are tiled and the walls are well insulated to protect from external elements." Nowadays, a pa

Rebecca Malyon, head of design at Neptune (neptune.com), agrees: "Nowadays a walk-in pantry or beautifully designed larder cabinet is at the top of everyone's kitchen wish list. It used to be that kitchen islands were always in the number one spot, but that's not always the case anymore. Our kitchen designers will often create pantries that occupy an entire room, and utility rooms have become pantries for customers who prefer to use them in that way."

goldfinchelson Good morning from beautiful Padstow- we had a lovely long walk along the Camel Trail yesterday (we did the full length and back- walking over 11 miles in total!!) stopping now and again to enjoy the picturesque views over the Camel Estuary. We had worked up an appetite for our meal at Rick Stein's Bistro @ricksteinrestaurants (belated wedding anniversary celebration!) It did not disappoint- great food, great service from friendly staff. Have a wonderful Tuesday! 🍷 (jars from @kilneruk Cheesecloth fabric from @bertieandfred David Austin rose from @therealflowerco) goldfinchelson Good morning- no flowers here this morning!!! I was recently, so kindly #gifted some gorgeous @kilneruk jars from The Rayware Group. Along with these were some adorable little preparation bowls from @masoncashuk These are mini versions of the original mixing bowl. I couldn't resist snapping them alongside some beautiful cheesecloth from @bertieandfred Having a brilliant Wednesday 🍷 goldfinchelson Good morning- is it Thursday already? Yesterday was such a rush- which ended with my children's end of term show in the evening. A really late night for them but it was an amazing performance from such little ones! They will do it all again this evening (I think I will let them snooze a little this morning!) in the meantime, a little beautiful simplicity with my gorgeous @kilneruk jars! #notjustforjam! Backdrop from @flatlaybackgrounds.co.uk Happy Thursday 🍷 dclutterdollies I love @kilneruk jars for storing foods as everything looks so much prettier and keeps fresher.

No spilling out all over the cupboards. Everything is neater. You can use whatever jars you like however, whatever you have around?! If you have kids, maybe you prefer to use plastic?!

They don't have to match. Not everyone likes matchy matchy. Even when they do not match they can look good but of course we like things to match where possible.

littlehouseonthecorner Anyone else tempted to book themselves a night in a hotel just to have aircon for a cool nights sleep? It's so warm here in Berlin at the moment that I'm convinced I might melt if it doesn't cool down soon! Might sleep in the kitchen tonight as it's the coolest room in our home! 😊
