#MyKilnerStory

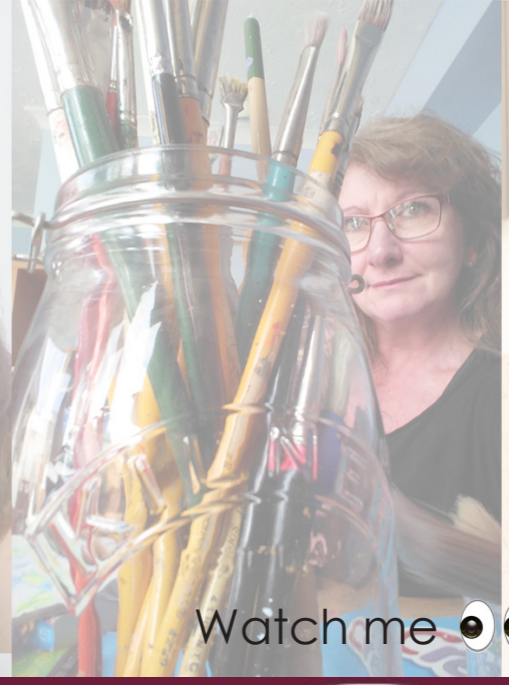

Hi Rayware team!

My name's Lauren, you may remember me from a pretty big campaign called #MyKilnerstory which was launched back in May. The competition is now closed! We've had a fantastic response from Kilner fan's around the world who have submitted their wonderful selfie's to Facebook, displaying how they use their Kilner jar. The winner has been announced and our favourite entries have been selected. Have a little look at our #MyKilnerStory video on the next page which sum's my campaign up perfectly. Enjoy!

There's plenty of room for the new and the novel in this world, but in our kitchens, we most often turn to the stalwarts and the steady. In other words, the classics. Mason Cash is one of those iconic brands we're proud to carry in our shop and keep on our counter tops and in our cabinets. Originating in the UK, the Mason Cash range and their earthenware bowls have been sought after and beloved by home cooks everywhere for the last 200 years.

Church Gresley was one of a collection of English villages at the epicenter of a flourishing pottery industry during the nineteenth century. Along with Swadlowcote and Woodville, these villages gave rise to a community of potters and artisans who were drawn to the region because of the plentiful, naturally occurring red and clay.

Mason Cash Forest Buffed Bowls

Much of the pottery from these villages, including Mason Cash, is considered "yellowware" or "crazeware", a specific type of earthenware typical to South Derbyshire and named after the yellowish hue of the local clay. Josiah Wedgwood (founder of the famed porcelain and china company) was the first to develop crazeware. In the 1790s, Wedgwood began mimicking the detailed blue relief designs found on the crust of a game pie on the outside of their earthenware. Because of local shortages at the time, a result of trade disputes during the Napoleonic wars, the elaborate pastry crusts of game pies were considered a frivolous use of flour. Instead, the Wedgwood dishes recreated the designs on the outside of their vessels to maintain the decorative element, while the contents of the game pie could be baked inside without a crust.

Do you know what to look for, and it's not just any Mason Cash pot or pan? It's not just the material, the color, the shape, the size, the look, which can vary from 18th to 19th century, but also the quality of the work.

What if you could get your hands on a dog bowl, Mason Cash will be a better friend. Ready to get better?

3 Hardworking kitchen

No dining room? No worries. Maximise your kitchen space with plenty of storage and an extended work surface and breakfast bar area

Dedicate a corner of your kitchen to a neat breakfast bar for an extra seating area

Invest in a kitchen trolley to provide more work surface areas plus extra shelving

Floor-to-ceiling shelving is the perfect solution for small or awkward spaces

Features and styling from Fibre's Styling assistants Agnes, Zsóia, Chloë and Pop. Photos: Luke Crane. Set builder: Jax Green.

Magic up the feeling of space with a few optical tricks. No matter how small your kitchen is, painting a bold, vibrant colour on one or more walls will draw your eyes to the back of the room, making it feel instantly bigger. Sneak in as much storage as possible too, to keep your kitchen looking uncluttered. Dispense with kitchen wall units which can sometimes make a tight space look overly cramped. Look instead for other storage solutions like a moveable kitchen trolley, custom pieces and wall hanging rails to keep your utensils and spices close to hand but also freeing up more room in your cupboards and on your worktops. If you're lucky enough to have windows with a view, dress them simply, allowing the outside in. Take advantage of available vertical space by adding open access storage shelves.

'Haven't got a separate dining room? Zone different areas in the kitchen with a contrasting floor tile, to accentuate an eating area'

Method
1 Tip the flour into a bowl and add the protein powder, baking powder and sugar.
2 Measure out the milk, then crack the eggs straight into the measuring jug. Give the two ingredients a good whisk until well combined. Gradually pour the wet mixture into the dry mixture, stirring or whisking as you go to avoid lumps.
3 When all the liquid has been incorporated, give the mixture a final whisk until smooth.
4 Melt a little coconut oil in a good non-stick frying pan over a medium to high heat. When it is hot, pour in one ladleful of the batter, which will spread out across the base of the pan to about 15cm wide and 1cm-1.5cm thick. Fry the pancake on the first side for 3 min, reducing the temperature a little if the pancake starts to burn.
5 While the pancake is cooking, scatter about an eighth of the blueberries in a single layer over the uncooked surface of the pancake. They will be held in place by the raw batter.

tabini with the yogurt until you have a smooth paste. Whisk in the garlic, olive oil and lemon juice and add water, a little at a time, until the dressing has the consistency of pouring cream. Stir in the chopped herbs. Season to taste with salt, pepper and more lemon juice.

Thread the courgettes and haloumi on to the skewers. Mix the chillies with the oil. Brush a little over the kebabs.

Cook the kebabs on the barbecue, brushing with more chilli oil and turning carefully every five minutes, until the courgettes and haloumi are golden-brown. Serve with the tahini dressing to drizzle over the kebabs.

Alternatively, you could try chunks of pepper or quartered mushrooms instead of, or as well as, the courgette. You could also drizzle with a cucumber, mint and yogurt sauce such as tzatziki instead of the tahini. Recipe from Riverford Organic Farmers (riverford.co.uk/recipes)

Rock a Pinny Hand Waxed Canvas Apron
Rock a Pinny's beautifully designed hand-waxed apron (shown) is not only good, it's practical, too. Made from 100 per cent cotton canvas and raw denim with antique brass rivets, it's finished with a coat of specially designed wax, which makes the apron water-resistant and helps protect you from the heat. There's also a handy pocket. Rock a Pinny also designs and creates custom aprons suited to your needs. The company, used by many professional chefs, prides itself on individually hand-made all products, which shows in the quality. £22. rockapinny.com

Willstone Kadai Fire Bowl
Hand-seasoned from thick steel to form a beautiful barbecue fire bowl with robust, hand-forged handles. Comes with a High Gothic Stand for barbecuing and a Low Gothic Stand for use as a refined and stylish fire bowl. Every Willstone Kadai is fitted with a filter system, enabling you to leave your bowl outside all year round. Also included are a grill, tongs and wire brush. Free East, Loddon, UK.

OKO Burger Press
This burger press has been designed to turn meat, poultry, seafood or veggie into uniform burgers. It features measurement guidelines for making different-sized burgers, while the non-stick inner allows for easy removal without your burger crumbling. £14. John Lewis.

Weber Chimney Starter Set
The ultimate kit for a great barbecue. Get your charcoal burning quickly and neatly with this chimney starter. It holds enough briquettes for a 57cm kettle barbecue. Set contains lighter cubes, 2kg of briquettes and rapid-fire chimney starter. £20.99. John Lewis.

Kilner Frosted Drinks Dispenser
This 5l dispenser has a frosted finish, transforming it into an elegant and sophisticated party piece. Available in a delicate colour palette of blue, purple or white. Comes complete with a clip-top lid and metal tap.

ITALIAN STYLE ROAST BEEF SALAD SERVES 4

400g thick fillet steak (2-3in thick)
2 Lollo Rossa lettuce
14 cucumber
8 plum tomatoes
4 gherkins
36 olives
4 canned artichoke hearts
8 sun-dried tomatoes
Salt and freshly ground black pepper
For the balsamic vinaigrette
5 tbsp balsamic vinegar
4 tbsp extra-virgin olive oil
1 garlic clove, crushed
1 tsp honey

Slice all the salad ingredients then mix in a serving dish.
Heat your barbecue to hot, then sear the beef on all sides, until brown (about 9 minutes on each side). Once each side has been cooked, season with salt and pepper. It is always better to season after searing, otherwise the meat will toughen slightly. Allow the beef to cool for 30 minutes then slice thinly. In effect this makes a carpaccio. Meanwhile, make the vinaigrette by combining all the ingredients.
Lay a few slices of the beef over your salad base, season again and drizzle the vinaigrette over to leave a glossy sheen. Recipe by Paul Yates, professional caterer and UK director of Monolith Grills (monolith-grills.co.uk)

Place all the ingredients in a food processor and pulse for 30 seconds until you have a finely chopped yet coarse mixture – be careful not to over-process. Set aside, seasoning with a little salt and a good grinding of black pepper.

To prepare the chicken, place a chopping board and, with sawing motion, slice through each fillet horizontally, making sure not to cut all the way through, then open out.

In a bowl, combine the garlic, sweet paprika and lemon zest with the olive oil and rub all over the chicken.

Place the chicken on the centre of the barbecue and grill for 14 minutes on each side until cooked through. Serve with the balsamic sauce. Recipe from Waitrose BBQ (recipes.waitrose.com/summer)

Achieve a nostalgic look with retro additions and hints of blue

1. Curtain call
The under-sink unit door ages fastest, so replace the latty door with a pretty gathered curtain, simply hung on curtain wire attached with hook-and-eye fittings. For a similar fabric, try the Provence Stripes, £8.50 per m, Textile Express.

2. Open shelves
Long, white-painted open shelves supported by matching brackets are a cheap and simple way to add storage. Create the look with beech brackets, £8.99 each, and white shelf board, from £5.99 for 60cm x 70cm, all Homebase.

3. Cast a light
An ornate pendant helps to mark out the dining area in an eat-in kitchen. Don't hang it too low over the table, though, or you'll bang your head! The Holmes pendant, £27, from B&Q, is similar to this one, but comes in a cool grey finish.

4. Skinny dresser
A tall piece like this gives you plenty of storage but uses up only a small amount of floor space, so it doesn't encroach too much on the room. We love the Hazelwood Home display cabinet, £562, Wayfair.

5. Painted table
If your kitchen table has taken a bit of a beating over the years, prime and paint those scuffed and scratched legs with a modern country colour that's easy to wipe clean. Try Natural Hessian satinwood, £10.40 for 750ml, Dulux.

COME ON IN!

ABOUT ME I'm Debbie Kutner, 40, and I run my own interior design company, pearlroseinteriors.co.uk. I live with my husband, Darren, 44, a chartered quantity surveyor, and our children, Aaron, 12, Sebastian, nine, and Saskia, four, in a five-bedroom extended house in north London. We moved here in 2014.

WHEN I BOUGHT IT The house hadn't been modernised since the 1970s and had a granny annex, retro orange kitchen and subergine bathroom suite.

AND NOW We remodelled and updated the entire house.

STYLE TIP Surround yourself with the things you love. I used Pinterest as my own personal notebook.
