THE RECORD
2014-2015

A Word from the Warden

‘The true secret of happiness lies in taking a genuine interest in all the details of daily life.’ William Morris

Communication in the modern world is a fast-paced, multi-channel process and there is a danger that, in our haste, we miss the finer detail. To that end, this new publication – somewhat of an experiment – attempts to bring together as many facts, figures and reports relating to school life as possible, primarily with an eye to future historians.

Inevitably, we cannot list everything, and of course the information contained herein is richly complemented and illustrated by the school website; the termly magazine, the Chronicle; the monthly E News; Teddies on TV; the pupil-run film unit, Teddies on Camera; the annual OSE magazine, Rhubarb; and our growing number of Twitter accounts.

Details matter, however, and I hope that those of you who find them fascinating will enjoy perusing The Record.

Reviews of the Year

Address by Mike Stanfield, Chairman of Governors

Welcome to Gaudy in the School's 152nd year. It's good to see so many of you here. Earlier in the year, my close friend and colleague on the Governing Body, Derek Roe, died after a short illness. He was Professor of Palaeolithic Archaeology at Oxford University, and became a Governor in 1970. He brought his sharp intellect, deep insight and knowledge to discussions on a very wide range of topics and is greatly missed. In Derek's memory, we have decided to award two prizes, both for independence of approach, scholarship, imagination and creativity. I'm at a bit of a disadvantage this morning as every time I've had to speak at Gaudy before I would email what I was planning to say to Derek and he'd polish it up for me; sadly today I have had to try to do my own polishing. Peter Oppenheimer, another long-standing Governor, retires today. He has been described by some as one of the cleverest men in England and joined the Board in 1979. He has helped the School in many ways including chairing our Education Committee and seeing us through the decision to start the International Baccalaureate programme. He was a Fellow at Christ Church and formed another link for us with that Oxford institution that dates back to our foundation.

Two people have joined the Board this year. Both have strong Teddies' connections. Georgie Dennis was a pupil here before obtaining degrees at Oxford University and the Courtauld Institute, followed by a continuing career in the arts. Incidentally, she is the first female President of the OSE Society. Caroline Baggs is known to many in the St Edward's community. She was a Housemaster's wife in both Corfe and Kendall, and stood in as HM for a term at Avenue. Her three children were educated at the School. In her professional life, she has gained wide experience and knowledge in the field of child protection. The Very Reverend Professor Martyn Percy, the Dean of Christ Church, has also agreed to become a Governor. We are pleased that he is joining us for many reasons but not least because it maintains the long association the School has had with that institution.

I am delighted to welcome Malcolm Oxley, who is giving away the prizes today. Malcolm taught here for many years and was our first Sub-Warden. He is author of the recently published new history of the School. The Warden will tell you more about this, but suffice it to say it is a fascinating and beautifully written account of the School's origins and development, and reminds me that many things change with the passage of time - and many things stay the same. The following exchange in 1990 between then Warden, David Christie, and Geography teacher and rugby legend, Joe McPartlin, indicates this truism:

Warden: Have you prepared your Geography lessons for tomorrow yet?

Joe: Warden, I prepared them in 1963.

Warden: Don't you think after 27 years you should bring them up to date?

Joe: Not really, Warden, the Alps haven't moved very far since then.

One constant feature of Teddies, in evidence from the very beginning, has been the drive and ambition of its pupils. So – what of our contemporary OSE? What sort of presence do they have in the wider world? Good exam results matter, of course, but they aren't everything. We know that you go off to the very best universities. In fact, some 85% of you will attend the most prestigious universities in this country and overseas. But what then? As we say goodbye to this year's Leavers, I want to give you a snapshot of the achievements of some of our recent former pupils.

The network of former Teddies pupils spreads far and wide, across many fields of interest. In the armed forces we have 20 commissioned officers who have served in recent major conflicts. Captain Michael Dobbin was awarded the Military Cross in 2013 for service in Afghanistan. His citation read: 'Dobbin's repeated courage at pivotal moments and cool head under fierce fire inspired his men to succeed when the odds were most against them'.

Professor Sir Brian Greenwood is a world expert in malaria. In 1995, he won a 40-million-dollar grant from the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation to establish the Gates Malaria Partnership. He is currently working on an Ebola vaccine. Jon Snow is the longest-running presenter on Channel 4 News; Mark Peregrine is Head Tutor at the Cookery School at the Manoir aux Quat' Saisons; James Price was recently named Young Farmer of the Year; record producer Hugh Padgham has won four Grammy Awards; Billy Lloyd is an award-winning designer and ceramicist; Isabel Fishlock works with fashion designers John Galliano and Paul Smith; Rob Marris is MP for Wolverhampton South West and Cameron Buchanan the MSP for Lothian. So the list goes on.

In sport, too, many OSE participate after they leave School and some have represented their country: Zoe Shipperley in hockey, James Forrester in rugby and Stewart Innes in rowing, to name just a few. Stewart won a Gold Medal in the GB men's VIII at the Rowing World Cup in Italy a few weeks ago and is in the training squad for Rio 2016. Jockey Sam Waley-Cohen won the Cheltenham Gold Cup and came second in the Grand National. A little known fact about Teddies' sporting history is that three OSE were in the winning team at the World Ice Cricket Championships in Estonia in 2008. The talents in our community are clearly many and varied.

I am pleased to note a strong sense of altruism running through everything I hear about our OSE. Tim Conibear formed the Isiqalo Foundation in South Africa in 2009 to use sports coaching to address substance abuse and mental health issues; Joe Robinson founded the charity JR4JR to support the Neurology Department at the John Radcliffe. Over the last 10 years, OSE have run over 150 marathons for charity, completed 11 ironman challenges, covered the distance from Land's End to John O'Groats 16 times and have cycled more than 37,000 miles. That's really quite something. In the 2010 London Marathon, 10 OSE set a world record of 5 hours and 13 minutes for the greatest number of people completing a marathon tied together - they raised a staggering sum of over £277,000.

A spirit of adventure is often in evidence in the exploits of Teddies people. Last year I told you about George Henry and Will Bull, who cycled from Paris to Gibraltar in a successful charity fundraising venture. On Thursday I met four Fifth Form girls - Immy Higgins, Caitlin Scott, Mia Hammersley and Alexia Demetriou - who tomorrow are planning to complete the Three Peaks Challenge, which means climbing Ben Nevis, Scafell Pike and Snowdon in 24 hours - sounds like a tall order to me. They are climbing to raise funds for Mary's Meals, the international food charity currently feeding more than one million schoolchildren every day.

It is thanks to the outstanding opportunities offered by our North Wall Arts Centre that there are currently a group of OSE enjoying huge success in the fields of film and entertainment. Emilia Clarke is world-famous for her role in Game of Thrones and stars with Arnold Schwarzenegger in Terminator Genisys. Sebastian de Souza has a major role in the TV drama Recovery Road. Flossie Pugh, who left us last year, has already starred in a feature film, The Falling, which earned her a 'Best Newcomer' nomination at the London Film Festival and Pippa Bennett-Warner is currently at the National Theatre in The Beaux' Stratagem. A week or two ago we welcomed Graham Broadbent back to School to talk to pupils about his career producing films such as The Best Exotic Marigold Hotel and Welcome to Sarajevo. Moving beyond acting to music and literature. George Fenton is composer of more than 200 film and TV scores including Gandhi, Shadowlands and Dangerous Liaisons, and has 14 BAFTA Awards, including one for The Blue Planet. George Parris set up the Carice Singers and there are at least four OSE who are professional singers. Several OSE bands are making names for themselves. The Dreaming Spires appeared on the Andrew Marr Show recently and The Glass Animals were at Glastonbury. Local group Wild Swim are writing and recording. Crime writer Robert Wilson has published 12 novels, won the Silver Dagger Award and has two television series on the go.

It is always easy to celebrate success, and of course we know more about OSE who achieve prominence than those who go quietly about their business. For our pupils, we value above all else that they find happiness and fulfilment, and so I dedicate an important moment in this celebration of our high-profile OSE to all those I haven't mentioned; to those who have worked hard, raised families and kept the Teddies spirit alive in countless ways of which we may never hear. It is also important to remember that the path to some of the successes I have mentioned may not have been a smooth one. Life isn't always easy. One of the things we aim to instil in our pupils is the resilience to cope if things don't go as expected, so when you tackle the many challenges life will throw at you, hold on to that spirit, that determination, that grit - and you will make it.

Today, we send our Leavers out beyond the Teddies community and we wish them enormous happiness and success. Certainly, be inspired by those who have gone before you, but find your own path. And don't forget to stay in touch and tell us what you do - the big successes, and the little ones - we value them all. Have a happy, successful and enjoyable summer.

Address by Stephen Jones, Warden

Gaudy once more and I am delighted to see you all here on this great 4th July – Independence Day for our transatlantic cousins...

The hand of History is clearly upon us all, as it was in September with the Centenary of the start of the First World War. The St Edward's Roll of Honour now stands (after much recent research by our archivist Chris Nathan) at over 120, and on, or near, the anniversary of every one of the OSE who fell, we have, as a school, remembered them in Chapel, or in Assembly. The first 16 are recorded in the Gaudy programme, in place of honour, and I would remember them again now.

Robert Parker	Frank Robertson
Aubrey Hudson	John McMurdo
Arthur Harding	Walter Richards
Leo Tollemache	Walter Frampton
Edward Kay-Mouat	William Cawood
Stephen Ussher	Reginald Blyth
Arthur Capell	Beverley Ussher
Alexander Wallace	John Bussell

I would also pause to remember Richard Bradley, eighth Warden, who died earlier this year.

More happily, that same hand of History is wafting around us today for I am delighted to say that we are joined by Malcolm Oxley – former History Master, Director of Studies, Housemaster, Second Master and Sub-Warden; also author of A New History of St Edward's School.

Now, there is a well-known trivia question which goes like this: Which two famous philosophers played international football? The answer being: Camus and Socrates...

(Albert Camus played in goal for the University of Algiers and competed in the North African Cup; and Sócrates Brasileiro Sampaio de Souza Vieira d'Oliveira was the name of the captain of Brazil in the 1982 World Cup; so Camus never played proper international football and Sócrates was not a philosopher... but he did have a doctorate in medicine.)

Albert Camus wrote to his teacher, Louis Germain, after receiving the Nobel Prize for Literature in 1957:

Dear Monsieur Germain,
I let the commotion around me these days subside a bit before speaking to you from the bottom of my heart. I have just been given far too great an honour... but when I heard the news, my first thought, after my mother, was of you. Without you, without the affectionate hand you extended to the small poor child that I was, without your teaching, and your example, none of all this would have happened. I don't make too much of this sort of honour. But at least it gives me an opportunity to tell you what you have been and still are for me, and to assure you that your efforts, your work, and the generous heart you put into it still live in one of your little schoolboys who, despite the years, has never stopped being your grateful pupil. I embrace you with all my heart.

Albert Camus

A copy of this letter should be kept on every teacher's desk.

In talking to countless OSE from almost any era, from 1962 to 1999, this is how they have seen Malcolm Oxley. Indeed, when Chris Jones, OSE, Governor and Chairman of our General Purposes Committee, was musing about a new history of the School to (roughly) coincide with our 150th Anniversary, he naturally thought of Malcolm Oxley – his former History teacher here. "... my first thought, after my mother, was of you" but I suspect Chris did not consider his mother for the job...

Malcolm, it is excellent to have you back today and thank you for joining us for this annual Gaudy and the distribution of prizes. Have I given the book a big enough plug yet? (We are selling it in the Quad after these speeches...!)

At this end of the year, as we approach Gaudy, I try to think about how I might sum up the School – how to express the great things that the pupils have done and achieved over the past twelve months. I start to view the School as a simply extraordinary set of achievements; just consider what has had to go right for us to get here, to this day, to Gaudy. All of the work of the grounds staff and the kitchens; all of the great endeavours by our cleaners and by our office staff; all of the organisation of the maintenance department and logistics... And over the course of the year, inevitably, the huge efforts of all of the members of this most wonderful Common Room have loomed large to ensure that we have had a successful year.

This morning in Assembly we said goodbye, as a School, to our leaving Common Room members. But there is one who is not a leaver and to whom I would like to draw attention, for he today completes fifty years of service to St Edward's – Tony Snell.

The members of this great Common Room do a truly impressive job of teaching our pupils – your children – and they do so much more as well. Academically, last year's Upper Sixth recorded the best ever set of results here with 52% of all exams at A* or A grades in the A levels, and at level 7 or 6 at Higher Level IB. The Fifth Form cohort led with an impressive 62% A* and A grade charge which was up with the best of our performances in the past.

Last year's leavers really did set a mark which will take some beating – I know that this year's leavers have been working with real zeal to reach it. What marks out last year's results particularly however, is the hidden score which we call "value added". Calculated from baseline testing in the Lower Sixth, last year's leavers put us in the top tiny percentage of independent schools where the performance of the pupils was very significantly above the expectation of those pupils. This is hugely impressive.

Academic value added is seriously important as are all academic successes – we are an academic school – which is, of course, a tautology...

A few years ago I heard Nick Gibb, the Minister for Schools, speak. He said to the assembled independent sector heads that the real problem for the government was getting the maintained sector firing properly so that every child in the country has the opportunity to perform to the best of his or her ability. “We want your DNA”, he said; “what that means is that we want your intellectual property” – “we want your schemes of work and your academic plans”.

Right there and then in the room I understood what was – at least in part – wrong. It’s not our intellectual property that sets us apart as an independent school, nor is it even the excellent value-added scores in our academic results; these things are important and impressive and real; but they are only a fraction of the story. It is the value we add to the academic programme by the rich, diverse and vibrant co-curricular programme – something set solidly into this boarding community in Oxford – and most important of all, it is the addition of ethical values in all that we do.

Even if we just look at knowledge, which these days is so instantaneously accessible to everyone at the click of a mouse, this is useless unless we have the cognitive skills to interpret it and the emotional intelligence to use it. We have been working hard in this area – not just in the IB Sixth, with its core component of Theory of Knowledge, but much more broadly – to assist our pupils in understanding the nature of their own knowledge and their own processes for learning.

In Howard Gardner’s book Five Minds for the Future – a prophetic look forward to the types of thinking our pupils need to develop in order for them to cope successfully with the world that they will live in – he says that we need to foster in our pupils:

...the kinds of minds that are particularly at a premium in the world of today and will be even more so tomorrow. They span both the cognitive spectrum and the human spectrum—in that sense they are comprehensive, global.

So, I would return to today and all that has gone so well to get us here and in such good order. And by today I mean both Gaudy as the end of the academic year, and also Gaudy as the final day of Gaudy Week. For Gaudy Week is a microcosm of the school year; in the past seven days or so we have lived through all of the joys and pressures of the past twelve months – and what a great triumph this has been. Indeed I am ever grateful to Alex Tester (and those many others helping him) who have made this week’s astonishing confection of Music, Drama, Art, Dance, Science, Cricket and Rowing – and so much more – the most spectacular ever. And I am also hugely grateful for Mrs van der Heiden’s wonderfully creative Gaudy Programme. Finally, of course, I am immensely proud of what our pupils have done this week.

So, as I have enjoyed the great variety of all that is best at Teddies, I have re-lived the whole year again. I have watched the 1st XI cricketers winning the John Harvey Cup for the third year in a row by crafting a great win over Marlborough; and again there have been more records broken:

- Highest 1st wicket partnership of 239 between Will Bull and Calvin Dickinson
- Highest partnership for any wicket in history of the school between AJ Woodland and Calvin Dickinson – 276 runs
- Highest ever individual innings – Calvin Dickinson – 181 runs

In rowing last Saturday the J14 girls' Octo won the Reading Town Regatta to make them one of the most successful Shell girls' rowing crews ever at Teddies; they were also women's J14 champions at Birmingham Regatta, Thames Ditton Regatta, and Bedford Star Regatta. The boys' 1st VIII reached the last eight at Henley despite an extraordinary number of setbacks in the run-up, and they showed true grit to beat the German champions by two lengths on Thursday.

On Sunday I enjoyed the Leavers' Music Platform at the Holywell Music Room followed on Monday by two wonderful recitals in the Warden's Rooms; last night and on Thursday there were two more first class concerts, the first featuring Lucienne Young playing the Handel Harp Concerto which reminded me of the splendid evening earlier in the year at St John's Smith Square where three of our pupils – Aaron Gruen, Horatio Holloway and Ben Swindells – played the Haydn Cello Concerto, and fully one fifth of the School were on stage to entertain the audience in one of London's great musical venues. If I may be permitted a small advertisement, I would note that the choir will be singing Evensong at St Paul's Cathedral on 28th September, hopefully followed by a drinks party somewhere.

In yesterday evening's dance showcase, the performers metaphorically travelled around the world to take in exciting locations including New York; last term we were also metaphorically dancing in New York in Fame! – enjoyed by so many – and by the same token we will return to that City for West Side Story in the autumn.

Showcasing the School this week, particularly in the arts, inevitably means that we showcase the wonderful facility that is The North Wall and I know many of you thoroughly enjoyed Terry Pratchett's Mort (with excellent performances from all the cast, but not least Sam Shuker and Max Brennan) and also Caryl Churchill's Love and Information which I look forward to seeing again in Edinburgh. I am reminded too, when thinking of our great tradition of drama here, of last year's leaver, Flossie Pugh, whose film, The Falling was released earlier this year to rave reviews. I have no doubt that she is another OSE superstar heading for the front cover of Vogue like Emilia Clark.

The visual arts have been to the fore, and if you have not seen the leavers' art exhibition (open until 4.00 pm today in the North Wall) and the mixed years' exhibition (also open until 4.00 pm in the Art and Design department), then please make a special effort to do so, for they are wonderful. This week has been a week of academic sciences with some extraordinary presentations from the Shells and some seriously dangerous rocket cars in the Quad on Wednesday. All of these things add huge value to the lives of our pupils and help to make them far more impressive young men and women for the future – this is certainly part of what Howard Gardner was talking about in Five Minds - but we know that when these pupils are in their twenties – when they are 25 years old – it is their sense of moral value and ethical duty alongside their ability to deal with people that really will matter.

On Saturday evening the boys of Tilly's slept rough for our charity, SeeSaw (so far nearly £30,000 has been raised by the School this year). This whole week we have been hosting Bongai Mwanesa, Nikki Tambirayi and Caston Nzvenga who are being sponsored by Henry Chitsenga's Such Hope charity (which we supported last year). A few weeks ago, Rev Tom Shaw organised an event in which 150 of our Fourth and Sixth Form pupils joined others from MCS and Cherwell to celebrate reading, and to encourage primary school pupils from Blackbird Leys to enjoy books. The event Readers Make Leaders was utterly inspiring for all and well worth watching on the pupil video channel – Teddies on Camera – created by Celia Hodgson and Casper Sunley in the Lower Sixth.

Here at St Edward's, our pupils, our staff and our parents – all of us here in this Big Tent – should and do value each other as people for what we can each do... and we believe absolutely that we can all do great things. This is what the School is all about.

As it is the 4th July I would end with an American story to illustrate the point I have been making. It is the true story of Bishop Bromley Oxnam of the Methodist Episcopal Church who was giving the annual Memorial Day address at the National Monument at Gettysburg. He ended his speech by reciting Lincoln's famous address. After he had finished the words, which he thought he had done well, an old man made his way forward and said: "Son, you made an awful mess of Lincoln's speech." The Bishop replied "What do you mean? I didn't miss a word of it – look at my notes." The old man replied "I don't need your notes; I know it by heart because I heard it the first time round." The old man had obviously been present when Lincoln originally delivered the famous address. Slightly nonplussed the Bishop wanted to know what had been different – why he had made a mess of it – and the old-timer explained it this way: "Abe put his hands out over the people like a benediction and said, 'That the government of the people, by the people, and for the people, should not perish from the earth.'

You got the words right, son, but you missed the message. You emphasized government; Lincoln talked about people."

At the heart of any school – and at the heart of this school in particular – are the people.

Bursar's Report

Stephen Withers Green

Projects

In June 2015, the School started the construction of a new music school largely on the site of the Ferguson Music School (Peter Bosanquet & Partners, 1962) which provided the School with 10 practice rooms and three larger recital rooms for orchestras and other ensembles. The new music school has been designed by Tim Ronalds Architects and is being built by Feltham Construction Ltd. It will contain 20 practice rooms, seven ensemble rooms, a rock room and recording studio, three classrooms, a recital/rehearsal room, a music library, various offices and a staff room. The cost of the building, excluding enabling works, is expected to be £5.4 million and the Music Department will take up occupation by Autumn Term 2016.

As the new music school will occupy the site of the old one as well as the site of the laundry and part of the maintenance yard, we have needed to supply the Department with temporary facilities in the Cooper Quad, and a series of practice rooms in the adjacent Cooper Lodge by relocating the language and graduate assistants to rented accommodation at 314, Banbury Road. The laundry has been moved to an extension of the Piggeries which it now shares with the Grounds Department. This last move has allowed the Maintenance Department to move into the space previously allocated to the laundry.

Future Plans

Having completed Jubilee House (TSH Architects, 2013), and having started the new music school this year, the School has moved forward with the next plank of its strategic plan – the building of additional teaching facilities. We commissioned the same architectural practice to develop a scheme for a new 10-classroom teaching block in the space bordered by the New Hall, Cowell's House, the Modern Languages Block, and the Work Block. This scheme has grown so that it has a second phase which involves relocating the Library, and a third that will remodel the New Hall. This project can be seen as the completion of the Quad in line with "Simeon's Dream." Those involved in the planning are aware of the sensitivities involved with this site in the heart of the School and the draft plans were submitted for review to the Oxford Design Review Panel.

We commissioned Hilary Keenlyside of Bonnar Keenlyside to produce a report on the feasibility of building a 1,000-seat concert hall attached to the new music school on the adjacent Lemon Tree and Jack fm site. The premise was that this would not only be a school facility but also one that we shared with the public, along the lines of the use of The North Wall Arts Centre. Hilary's principle conclusions were that the Sheldonian Theatre carries enormous prestige and is loved by audiences and promoters alike. They would be unlikely to abandon it for a location, however well appointed, which is not in central Oxford. In addition, there were financial and commercial aspects to consider. In order to attract a varied enough programme to be financially viable, the concert hall would have to compete directly with other Oxford venues and, even if successful in this regard, would need a significant annual subsidy to remain solvent. For these reasons, the School's Governors decided to shelve this scheme.

Other Matters

- The School's decision to replace resident house matrons with those that live out has resulted in the need for the surgery in Cowell's to be remodelled and the surgery in Sing's to be relocated to the heart of the House.
- To accommodate additional staff, the Bursary has been remodelled. As part of this project, a small meeting room has been created which is becoming an increasingly popular venue for people from all areas of the School.
- The establishment of a development office for The North Wall's outreach activities gave the School the opportunity to rationalise the space allocated to its administrative staff by taking on the lease of an office behind South Parade.
- Due to the generosity of the School Society, the Cowell Memorial Gateway has been repaired, repainted, and regilded so that the gates are now as they were when they were originally opened by HRH The Princess Royal in 1939 (see page 116). The Gateway remains wide enough for modern cars which means that the gates still do not join in the middle.
- The grounds and gardens remain as wonderful as ever. We have lost a few trees that have been, or will be, replaced. The magnolia bush that has adorned or hidden the front of the Library depending on your view has been removed, and we continue with our project to de-municipalise the grounds by the introduction of some wild flowers and by allowing some grass to be mown a little less than before.

Chapel

Rev Charlie Kerr, Chaplain

The Chapel year began with two welcome services, the first for new Shells and their parents, and, the second for new Sixth Form pupils, both focusing on the idea of what we need to flourish at school. These services and the Ad Itinerarium for Leavers are seen as significant spiritual bookends for pupils' careers at St Edward's, setting their time here within the wider significance of lives held and nurtured within the love of God. The Autumn Term gathered momentum quickly with a series in Midweek Chapel on "Sacraments – Windows into the Transforming Power of God". Each of the traditional seven sacraments was explored using the stained glass windows in the chancel of the Chapel as a starting point. On the 28th October the Chapel was full for the commemoration of the life of Derek Roe, OSE and Governor for 44 years. It was a moving occasion, with family and friends playing important parts in the service, but ultimately it felt like a joyful tribute to a man who gave so much to the School and so much to the world through his academic and professional pursuits. A service was held to mark the centenary of the beginning of the First World War and commemorated all those who from St Edward's who died. A Head of House and a Shell from each House laid a poppy on the altar, and the highest-ranking cadet from each of the services of the CCF laid a wreath. The choir sang beautifully and three soloists (Myles Docherty, Jamie Fabian-Hunt and Tom Montgomery) contributed excerpts from Housman's A Shropshire Lad set to music by George Butterworth. We celebrated the Commemoration of the Chapel on the 23rd November with the help of Bishop Martin Shaw (Retd), and he consecrated over 30 new Lower Sixth pupils as School Sacristans in a service with a little pomp and some splashing of holy water! Our usual array of festive and joyful carol services brought the term to its close.

The Spring Term sprang into action with The Very Revd Professor Martin Percy preaching at our opening Eucharist on the 11th January. Martin accepted the invitation willingly as both a parent of Joe (Upper Sixth, Sing's) and, as Dean of Christ Church, an Oxford college that holds a special place in the heart and history of our own community. Joe Percy, Martin's son, followed his father as our next preacher and he introduced the term's theme of "Beyond the Bubble" by recounting his experience of founding a charity called Open Goal to support young footballers in the Palestinian West Bank. The series continued throughout the term, with most talks being given by pupils challenging each of us to look "beyond the bubble" of St Edward's. We moved to The North Wall on the second Sunday of term for our annual exploration of worshipping God in a different place and with a different, more contemporary and evangelical style. Bubbles blew down from a bubble machine in the ceiling and with the help of Sarah Laing, one of our school nurses, we thought about how we could change the atmosphere within the bubble of our school. Confirmation once again proved popular and over 60 pupils chose to get confirmed. The first service in School was on Sunday 8th February with Colin Fletcher, the Bishop of Dorchester, officiating. A second service, in the Summer Term, was led by the retired Bishop of Warrington, David Jennings, and a Catholic confirmation service took place at the Church of St Gregory and St Augustine, led by Bishop William Kenney. These were moving and inspiring events, not only for the candidates, but also for their friends and family. On the 20th March we gathered for a Service of Commemoration for Fran Prichard, who served the school as teacher for 35 years and Housemaster of Sing's for 14 years. Those who spoke painted a vivid picture of a man who contributed so much to the life of the School, and his life was celebrated with dignity and gratitude. The term ended with a Passiontide Service of Music and Readings in a candlelit Chapel.

The Summer Term featured a series called "Give me strength" in which we encouraged pupils to consider sources of strength they could draw upon in the stressful environment of the exam term. Former Chaplain and Senior Housemaster, Andrew Wright OSE, returned to share some thoughts with us now that he is heading up the international Mission to Seafarers; it was good to see him back at Teddies. Another highlight of the term was Chapel in the Quad on the 17th May. The sun shone, a band played, the Reverend Tom Shaw preached and bricks were laid around the centre of the Quad to symbolise the spiritual foundations we need to build in our community of St Edward's. The Baptism of Carter and Lillian Appleby (children of Tom Appleby OSE) and Emily Appleby (daughter of Joe Appleby OSE) was held in the Chapel as were three weddings: Lottie Hiner OSE to Michael Baker, Laura Addison (one of our ballet teachers) to Charlie Shillito and Emma Hamilton OSE to Paul Melling. All were joyful family occasions. With the Ad Itinerarium we bade farewell to another group of Leavers, hoping that they flourish in life and carry something of the faith and peace of Chapel in their hearts as they grow.

Academic Report

Matthew Albrighton, Deputy Head Academic

Our 2015 leavers maintained our excellent record of sending pupils to the very best universities in the UK and overseas. Around 90% of those who applied through UCAS were successful, most of them (88%) taking up places at a university of their choice (either their firm or insurance option). Of those who accepted places, the vast majority (around 80%) are studying at Russell Group or equally prestigious universities. Six pupils won places to Oxford or Cambridge. At Oxford, Tacita McCoy-Parkhill is studying PPE at Oriel; Lynn Temp, Law with German at Jesus; and Camila Whittaker, PPE at Regent's Park. At Cambridge, Octavia Akoulitchev is studying English at Sidney Sussex, Lucy Azzi, Law at Pembroke and Harry Sellen, Modern and Medieval Languages at Corpus Christi. Three pupils secured places to study Medicine: Saur Hajiev at Imperial, Beth Reed at Southampton and Oli Cobbold at Manchester. The top five universities are all Russell Group: London (see page 18 for details), Edinburgh, Bristol, Newcastle and Exeter. Many pupils look beyond the Russell Group for specialised courses – this year, three pupils are studying rural and business management at the Royal Agricultural and Harper Adams Universities, and one is studying Early Years Development at Norland College. Three pupils are studying in the US: one at Dartmouth College, an Ivy League university, one at the University of Chicago and one at Columbia University in New York.

Pupils were delighted to have achieved the results they required to secure these impressive university places. A number of pupils achieved outstanding results. At A Level, Harry Sellen achieved A* A* A* A* and A* in the EPQ; and James Avery A* A* A* and A* in the EPQ. In the IB, Lynn Temp, achieved full marks – the maximum point score of 45. Only around 100 candidates in the world secure this result each year. Camila Whittaker and Octavia Akoulitchev also excelled by achieving 44. More than a third of all IB candidates achieved 40 points or more and 62% of Higher Level grades were 6/7. Of all grades achieved by our 2015 leavers – combining A Level and IB – 46% were at the highest levels: A*/A at A Level or Levels 7/6 in the IB; three quarters achieved good grades: A*- B at A Level or Levels 5 – 7 in the IB. At A level, 41% of grades were at A*/A and 68% were A*- B. In the Extended Project Qualification, now taken by most A Level candidates, 45% of grades were at A*/A.

Particularly impressive in their GCSE exams were Lucy Cobbold, Eva Cottingham-Mayall, Immy Higgins and Joe Zietman who all achieved 11 A*. Ten candidates achieved 10 or more A* and 10 candidates achieved the top grade in Additional Mathematics (A). Overall, 66% of GCSE grades were at A*/A and 89% were at A*-B.

For full lists of all results, see pages 112-115.

Cultural Report

Neville Creed, Director of Cultural Activities

Major musical events in the Autumn Term included a performance of the first movement of Haydn's Cello Concerto by Aaron Gruen and Mozart's Requiem with OSE soloists. A special service of readings and music was held to mark the 100th anniversary of the outbreak of World War 1. The Concert Band, Brass Band and Wind Band gave a concert and the usual carol services were highly successful. An Arts Day for prep schools was held and 200 visitors enjoyed working on Joseph and his Amazing Technicolour Dreamcoat. In the Spring Term the musicians travelled to London's St John's Smith Square to perform Haydn's Cello

Concerto with three pupil soloists and 'The heavens are telling' from Haydn's Creation. A vibrant production of Fame! was another highlight of the term providing opportunities for our musicians and dancers to show off their talents. The term ended with a hotly contested House Singing Competition. The beginning of the Summer Term saw the Chapel Choir performing Mendelssohn's Elijah together with the St Edward's Singers. May Day was marked with early morning madrigals sung from the roof of Cowell's. The year ended with the Gaudy Week which featured two Gaudy Concerts, Leavers' Platform at the Holywell Music Room, Close Harmony performances and the newly introduced Warden's Recitals.

Two productions were successfully taken to the Edinburgh Festival 2014 – Who's Afraid of Michael Gove (which attracted considerable media attention) and Blood Wedding. A new post of Graduate Assistant Hall Technician brought more expertise into the production side of events in the Hall and the Shell Plays saw the benefit. The autumn production of His Dark Materials in The North Wall was a huge success and the author visited and gave the cast useful insights. The Sixth Form performed their examined work in the Spring Term including Gone Girl and Love and Information - the latter also visiting the Edinburgh Festival 2015. Gaudy Week saw an excellent production of Terry Pratchett's Mort given by the Lower School pupils. The school continues to benefit from an excellent series of professional productions in The North Wall – workshops are given to those studying drama and all members of the school are encouraged to attend performances.

The Art and Design departments had a busy year mounting their own exhibitions in The North Wall and the department – one exhibition was also given by the art teachers entitled Out of Hours. Pupils visited prestigious galleries in London and New York: Tate Modern, Frieze, the Metropolitan Museum of Art, Frick, Guggenheim and MOMA. The Jewellery department was invited to Hatton Garden by an OSE to gain useful insights into the industry. A Lower School Photography competition (sponsored by Bang & Olufsen) was held and the winning entries were exhibited in The North Wall. The Gaudy Week exhibitions included an impressive Leavers' Show and many items found buyers.

The school is lucky to have a number of accomplished dancers who are beyond the Grade 8 level in ballet and they offered a delightful ballet recital at the end of the Autumn Term. The Gaudy Week Dance Showcase displayed the wide variety of dance styles taught at the school.

Speech and Drama continued to grow with a record number of entries for LAMDA exams (80) achieving excellent results (35 distinctions and 40 merits). Junior and Senior debating societies flourished throughout the year.

Sports Report

Andrew Dalglish, Director of Sport

School sport is intriguingly positioned between the ever-evolving professional sports climate of academies, contracts and high-stakes business and that of tradition, amateur values and, dare I say it, school timetables. It is however this bizarre position that makes school sport so exciting and so appealing to all those who are fortunate enough to be involved.

The academic year 14/15 was another wonderful one for St Edward's sport whereby the foundation of the past was a solid support for further enhancing the School's first class reputation. The many individual and collective highlights feature on pages 50 - 80. However the 1st XI cricket team deserve a special mention, not only as the St Edward's team of the year, but for having the most successful season on record. Other highlights include the girls' success at the National Schools Regatta in May, the rugby and girls' hockey tour to Australia in July, and - at an individual level - the success achieved by rowers Oli Knight and Hugo Marsh, and cricketer Calvin Dickinson (who played for Worcestershire CCC 2nd XI over the summer after scoring over 1,000 runs for the 1st XI).

Change is inevitable and unfortunately as we have seen with various examples from the professional sporting world, not all change is positive. However this school year saw the introduction of a Strength and Conditioning coach for the first time at St Edward's. Mark Munroe was appointed in September 2014 and tasked with ensuring that each pupil was able to maximise their physical sporting potential and at the same time reduce their risk of injury. Such a role and development is an indication of how advanced school sport has become and how valued the work 'off the field' really is. Nick Gardner took over as Master in charge of Football, Andrew Dalglish succeeded Mark Hanslip as Master in charge of Rugby and Rex Hooten enjoyed his final summer as the school cricket professional before retirement.

The fundamentals of sport do not change and at St Edward's the core values remain the same as they have always been and the sporting philosophy is well embedded. Pupils of all ages and abilities are encouraged to participate and enjoy their sport. There is a firm belief that the School's first class facilities and coaching staff provide pupils with the perfect environment in which to develop their sport and reach their individual goals. All staff are fully committed to the philosophy of development, enjoyment and performance whilst also creating a safe and supportive sporting environment.

Combined Cadet Force

Nick Coram-Wright, Contingent Commander

All three sections of the CCF had a busy year and a very strong team of NCOs and senior cadets led activities both in and out of School.

The Navy Section took advantage of warm days early in the Autumn Term and learnt to windsurf on Farmoor Reservoir. During the first Field Weekend they canoed from the school boat club into Oxford, stopping for a refreshing dip at Tumbling Bay, and then returning for supper and a fire-lighting competition by the Thames at Godstow. The second day was spent learning to sail back at Farmoor, with NCO Ed Tanner acting as lead instructor. In the later part of the term activities included building improvised shelters, night exercises on the golf course, and first aid training. During the Spring Term, Navy cadets were among the last pupils to shoot .22 on the school range before it was demolished. For the second Field Weekend, they headed down to Portsmouth to stay aboard HMS Bristol. Very high winds meant that they were unable to sail as intended but they did head out into the Solent for navigational exercises on powered craft. Cadets visited HMS Victory and the Mary Rose, were given a guided tour of the battlements at Southsea by Fiona Wickens, and visited the impressive tapestries and other exhibits at the D-Day Museum. In the Summer Term, along with signalling, archery and leadership exercises, cadets were given a three-week course in punting by veteran puntsman Tony Snell.

The Army Section had another very good year with large numbers of the Fourth Form opting for this section and many from the Fifth and Sixth Forms staying on as very effective NCOs. The Autumn Term camp at Bramley Training area was a great success despite the variable weather. All the cadets stayed out under bashas and the senior NCOs delivered the bulk of the training alongside the permanent CCF staff. The highlight for most was the night-time escape and evasion exercise. The final day was taken up by a busy rotation of basic training including weapons lessons, first aid scenarios and command tasks. The cadets returned to school with a good understanding of what the Army Section had to offer and everyone had a clear sense of purpose for the year ahead. The Spring Term camp allowed the cadets to put into practice the skills learnt over the preceding months. The focus was fieldcraft and there were blank firing exercises as well as simulated battles with laser guns (during the day and at night). Accommodation was in luxurious barrack rooms and this together with hot meals in the mess made the experience very different to the bashas and ration packs of the term before!

The prospect of an air experience flight is the reason why many pupils choose the RAF and this year the vast majority of RAF Section cadets flew at least once, either in the Grob Tutor or in a Griffin helicopter at RAF Shawbury. On the Sunday of the Autumn Field Weekend the cadets visited the Imperial War Museum in London following its recent refurbishment. The following day was spent at the Hillingdon Outdoor Activity Centre engaging in team-building challenges including indoor caving, an obstacle course that had to be navigated wearing blindfolds and a 3G swing. One or two failed to achieve the river crossing entirely successfully and returned rather damp. For the second Field Weekend the Section visited the Air Museum at RAF Cosford and then, after joining the Army overnight at Nescliffe training camp, went to RAF Shawbury, the home of the Defence Helicopter Flying School.

For the Contingent as a whole there were two particularly important events in the year: Remembrance Sunday and the Annual Inspection. On November 9th after a service in the Memorial Quad when six crosses were laid in memory of the first OSE to fall in the First World War, the CCF marched from Lower to Upper Wolvercote, joining the local community at St Peter's for their Service of Remembrance. On May 1st the Quad was looking at its finest and the Guard of Honour were on top form to welcome our Inspecting Officer, Air Commodore CJ Luck MBA, ADC, current parent and Commandant RAF College Cranwell. We were very grateful to him for his words of encouragement and for handing out the CCF awards during the Inspection.

Sword of Honour and Hopes

Award (RAF): Hugo Marsh and Oscar von Hannover (jointly)

Sultan Trophy (Navy): Ted Popham

Wakeling Stick (Army): James Chainey

Commendation Awards: Freddie Bickers, Simon Brookes, Helene Burghoff, Toby Cornish, Tom Hayes, Bart Pawley, Beth Reed, Magnus Speirs

Top Gun Trophy (best Fifth Form): Will Webb

Congratulations are also due to Hugo Marsh for successfully completing his Air Cadet Pilot Scheme - a two-week course at Tayside Aviation in Dundee, culminating in a 15-minute solo flight –and to Will Webb (Army) and Matthew Abell (RAF) who distinguished themselves during their respective Cadet Leadership Courses at Frimley Park and RAF Cranwell during the summer holidays.

Duke of Edinburgh Award

Mark Woodward, DofE Coordinator

This year 300 pupils worked towards an Award at one of the three levels and expeditions spread over all three terms. Over 75% of the Shell cohort signed up to the Bronze Award and the majority made it through to the final qualifying expedition. While there are four components to the Award, the one that most students tend to focus on is the expedition, which puts many of them outside of their comfort zone and challenges their resilience and adaptability.

In the Autumn Term the Silver groups went to the Wye valley area for their qualifying expedition and were blessed with lovely autumn weather, although the Forest of Dean tested the navigational skills of the walkers. The Gold expedition usually takes place in July, but this year the expedition leader, Keith Shindler, decided to move it to October to avoid the crowds that descend on areas of the Lake District each summer. The major drawback of this time of year can be inclement weather and it rained for the entire five days, trying both the resolve and waterproofing of the group. Once the Gold groups had all completed their expeditions successfully, their final step was to present an account of their varied experiences to an invited audience of parents, staff, assessors and students at The North Wall.

The majority of training was delivered in the Spring Term. The whole Shell year group was trained by the Duke of Edinburgh staff during the Shell Activity slot. This prepares them for the Bronze Award and also for their involvement in CCF and Life Skills in the Fourth Form.

Gold training took place over two Sundays in classrooms and then the Walkers spent an afternoon on the Ridgeway to the south of Oxford putting their new skills in practice. Ed Edwards, staff member and qualified coach, ran regular training sessions and the occasional weekend to make sure that the Canoe groups were proficient in water safety as well as camp craft skills. During the Easter holiday the Gold Canoe and Walking groups went out for their important practice expedition. The Walkers set out to the Black Mountains in mid-Wales, while the single Canoe group travelled for four days down the River Thames from Oxford.

In the Summer Term a large number of Bronze groups undertook their practice and qualifying expeditions, fitting them in between their end of year exams. This year the Bronze qualifying was combined with the Shell CCF trip to the Brecon Beacons. Most of the groups had practised in the Cotswolds and it was a real step up to venture out from Llangorse and walk through some impressive peaks to end on the River Wye at Glasbury. It was a credit to all the groups that they rose to the challenge and the Assessors were impressed by their determination and sense of adventure. When not on expedition, the groups took part in the other outdoor activities on offer during the week. The Gold Walking group also went on their qualifying expedition in the final week of term, enjoying fine June weather. Bronze and Silver Awards were given out at Assembly and twelve Upper Sixth leavers received their Gold badge or brooch at Gaudy prize giving.

Community Outreach

Rev Tom Shaw, Assistant Chaplain

St Edward's remains an outward looking community. Long-term projects like The North Wall alongside smaller projects arising from individual relationships or pupil activity create space for the mutual enrichment of the School and wider community. The St Edward's community has been encouraged to see and act "beyond the bubble" throughout the year.

The North Wall has continued to make available arts and cultural activities for the community. It promotes education at all levels and makes a substantial contribution to social equity. Last year it attracted a significant schools' audience, working with around 630 pupils in 19 group bookings from 14 schools. The project continues to demonstrate how the expertise, experience and resources of the School can be deployed for the benefit of the community. It continues to improve the school's reputation and ensures pupils have access to arts and cultural activities that promote an understanding of, and respect for, the human condition.

Several departments have been proactive in forging links with the community. The Café des Sciences outreach has been very effective. It has inspired engagement with science and increased environmental awareness. It takes an interactive lecture and activities, with themes like 'Shark Attack' and 'Coral Reef Crisis', to primary and secondary schools. The Classics department has continued to work with the Warriner Partnership of Oxfordshire primary schools to support the teaching of Greek. The PSHE department have been working with Good Lad – an organization that aims to promote positive masculinity, and in doing so, to enable men to deal with complex gender situations and become agents of positive change within their social circles and broader communities. A workshop program has been developed that can be rolled out to secondary school pupils. This is a project specifically designed to contribute toward the long-term development and social equity of the wider community.

Readers Make Leaders was an initiative run in partnership with Blackbird Leys Academy Trust (three primary schools in Blackbird Leys), Cherwell, MCS and St Edward's. It involved 300 primary school pupils and 300 Year 10 pupils. The Year 10s had to purchase a book to give, choose a poem to share and reflect on being a leader in the public space. The primary school pupils encountered role models and were encouraged and inspired to read books and poetry. It successfully bridged the social, cultural and economic divide between North Oxford and Blackbird Leys. Feedback included:

"I wish you could have come round the playground with me and heard our children talking. They all absolutely loved it - every single one of them was beaming and full of how wonderful their partners were and how much they enjoyed the morning."

Teacher, Pegasus Primary

“I wanted to say what a fantastic morning we have all had. The pupils are buzzing and are wearing their Readers Make Leaders t-shirts with pride”

Teacher, Orchard Meadow Primary

In reply:

“My sentiments exactly! It was a really lovely morning and our students got so much out of it”.

Ashley Young, MCS.

It also created space for members of staff from all schools to explore other ways that partnerships and initiatives could be developed to encourage opportunity for all.

There continued to be commitment to charitable activity. Three charities were selected by prefects and presented in a school assembly. This was followed by an invitation for all members of the St Edward's community to vote. The charity chosen was SeeSaw. The charity works to support children and young people and their families who experience bereavement.

Fundraising was supported and sustained by members of the Upper Sixth and notable individuals in the Fourth and Fifth Form. It is good to see their compassion and service have space to flourish.

SeeSaw have also secured additional funds as a result of St Edward's support. Through the networking and awareness raising at various events they were successful in securing a significant three-year grant from the Rank Foundation. Helen Mackinnon,

Director of SeeSaw, writes “Our relationship with Teddies has been so positive and as their Charity of the Year, they have raised over £34,000 for us - incredible. In all, Teddies has raised nearly £100,000 through direct and indirect means”. In addition over £15,000 has been raised for other charities. Again, this has been through both staff and pupil-led initiatives.

Elsewhere, I worked with a group of Fifth Form pupils in a group called ‘be the change’. The intention was to give them an opportunity to be cultural architects in their community and wider world. They decided they wanted to be the change in their year group. They wanted to challenge and change the social dynamic by breaking down barriers between different groups of pupils. They designed and developed ideas for a Fifth Form ‘be the change’ dinner.

At an individual level Sixth Former Joe Percy responded to a Chapel Service by applying for a £1,000 grant from Reverend Andrew Greaves to initiate a charity project in Palestine. Open Goal uses the universal language of football to offer children an alternative to conflict and occupation. He subsequently developed links with refugee camps following a school assembly talk from Computer Aid International. Joe also trained as a Good Lad facilitator.

The North Wall

Amy Walters, Theatre Manager

Home-grown Productions

This year, alongside the public receiving programme, The North Wall produced two plays, each a product of our residential outreach work.

Fast Track (October 2014) was originally written in 2012, and was developed by young writer Catriona Kerridge and The North Wall's artistic director Lucy Maycock. The production grew out of the brief to explore the impact of the recession on today's younger generation, and the project received our first ever Arts Council funding, and premiered here to near sell-out houses.

Song of Riots (April 2015) was a co-production with Swedish company, Awake Projects, and was written and directed by Lucy Maycock. Following its premiere in Oxford, the play toured Europe in the spring. In October 2015, it went on to Battersea Arts Centre in London, where it received critical acclaim in the national press, and the Stockholm Fringe Festival, where it won the Audience Choice award.

The casts of both plays featured young actors drawn from previous residential projects, and were designed by Alex Berry, an alumna of the 2011 Summer Residency who has gone on to train and work professionally as a theatre designer.

Arts Laboratory at The North Wall

The North Wall's outreach residencies for young artists, masterclasses, and collaborations with professional theatre companies now exist under one umbrella, Arts Laboratory (ArtsLab). These activities take place outside of St Edward's term time, to take advantage of an otherwise empty space. ArtsLab projects help us to achieve our core mission: to remove barriers that prevent talented young artists from achieving meaningful careers in the arts.

In Easter 2015, we ran TheatreCraft, our first ever residency focusing on emerging writers and directors. We had a huge response to the callout, reading submissions from over 100 writers and 30 directors. After a lengthy assessment process, we selected six writers and three directors, who came together to work for two weeks with two professional directors and two professional writers.

July and August 2015 saw a number of projects unfold at The North Wall. Internationally-renowned company Theatre Ad Infinitum worked on a new piece of political theatre, Bucket List, looking at the conflicts of life in a Mexican border town, as well as leading a residency with young actors to develop an adaptation of the Norwegian epic novel, Kristin Lavransdatter. Awake Projects' Christopher Sivertsen was also back in residence, working with playwright Tom Wainwright and a small group of actor-musicians on a new play.

Future Plans

In Spring 2016, to coincide with our 10th Anniversary Year, The North Wall plans to launch StageWrite, a new year-round programme for talented young writers. This will also coincide with the creation of a Writer-in-Residence post.

Other Matters

- Over the last year, the gallery has hosted 14 exhibitions by artists and art collectives from Oxfordshire and beyond, two exhibitions of work by pupils of St Edward's School, and one group exhibition of work by St Edward's School staff as part of Oxfordshire Art Weeks. We were a host venue for the inaugural Oxford Photography Festival in September 2014.
- In March 2015, The North Wall Trust employed two part-time development directors to fundraise for the outreach, production and participation strands of North Wall activities
- Once again, The North Wall was selected as a regional Partner Venue for the National Theatre's Connections Festival. Taking place over the May Leave Weekend, we organised a three-day Festival to which we welcomed around 130 young people from seven schools and youth theatre groups in Oxfordshire and the surrounding counties. The Festival comprised seven separate youth performances of newly-commissioned scripts, plus 14 practical workshops and talks.
- June 2015 saw The North Wall administrative team move to our new office behind South Parade. This will provide a permanent office space for the General Manager and Marketing Manager, a hot-desk for the development staff, and a central area for meetings with external clients.

OSE and Development

Rebecca Ting, Director of Development and Alumni Relations

The Development and OSE office runs Foundation (fundraising) and OSE (alumni relations) activities for the School, and provides administrative support to the St Edward's School Society and the Friends of St Edward's. During the year there were a number of personnel changes. Following the departure of Simon Palferman in August 2014, Viola Kerr was recruited as Development Manager. In January 2015, the Development and OSE team returned to full strength with the appointment of Laura Hill to replace Pamela Keeley-Butler as Alumni Relations Officer, and Emma Grounds to the role of Development Administrator. The office remains as busy as ever, with a full programme of OSE events in venues ranging from St Edward's to Sydney Yacht Club! We are promoting further expansion of the regional networks, more informal 'pub night' style events for younger OSE, and smaller, more specific events for networking and interest groups. If any OSE are interested in helping us take this programme forward, we would be delighted to hear from you: ose@stedwardsoxford.org or 01865 319438.

A second OSE Communications and Events Survey was carried out in the summer. 1105 responses were received, representing a quarter of those contacted. The outcomes of the survey can be summarised as follows:

- Significant and helpful feedback on events and publications
- Increased population of career and contact details on the OSE database

- 915 OSE agreed for their contact details to be shared with other OSE
- 413 offers of careers support via talks, mentoring or work experience
- 684 OSE opted to receive Rhubarb in digital form only, saving the printing and postage costs. This represents 10% of the Rhubarb print run.

The Foundation

Since its launch in 2013, the St Edward's Foundation has continued to fundraise for music and the provision of bursaries for deserving pupils who could not otherwise afford a St Edward's education.

We recruited several new members to the Foundation Board, and the group is keen to take the Foundation forward proactively in the next academic year, when the main focus for fundraising will be equipping the new Music School. We are also preparing the Foundation's first Impact Report, due for publication in early 2016. This will give a snapshot of the School's finances, and detail the Foundation's fundraising and impact to date.

As part of the Foundation's activities this year, the second Teddies 2-Wheeler, sponsored by Tinkoff Saxo, took place on 26th April. In a 50% increase from 2014, 300 cyclists took part on routes of 100, 50, 25 and five miles through the Oxfordshire countryside in aid of SeeSaw and the St Edward's Bursary Fund. It was wonderful to see so many St Edward's parents, pupils, staff and OSE cycling as well as those from cycling clubs and the local community. This year, pupils were heavily involved in the event, helping with registration and bicycle maintenance and running stalls. In total, around £10,000 was raised for the charities.

The St Edward's School Society

The subscription reforms developed by Edward Gould (Sing's, 1957-62) over the 2013/14 academic year are now in place, securing the Society's finances for the foreseeable future. Under the leadership of the President, Georgie Dennis (Macnamara's, 1986-88), and the Hon. Sec., John Wiggins, the Society has been keen to increase its visibility to pupils by sponsoring projects within the School. Over the Summer Term, and through the generosity and assistance of Hugh Pelham (Tilly's, 1980-85), the Cowell Memorial Gates have been refurbished and a new plaque installed. At the suggestion of the Corfe House Council, the Society also plans to provide two new clocks for the astroturf pitches.

The Friends of St Edward's

The Friends of St Edward's, led by Chair, Mirren Postlethwaite, and Vice-Chair, Amanda Williams, continue to provide a welcoming social forum and an engaging events programme for current parents and the wider school community. This year's highlights included a theatre night at The North Wall for Lucy Maycock's new production Song of Riots, and the fourth annual Quiz Night, which was enormous fun and raised £1917.86 for the Bursary Fund. After the May half term, a highly successful computer collection was held, providing laptops and other equipment to the charity Computer Aid.

Mozart Requiem and Haydn Cello
Concerto in C major (1st movement)
12th October 2014

This magnificent concert opened with the first movement of Haydn's Cello Concerto. The soloist, Fifth Former Aaron Gruen, demonstrated excellent technique and performed with the musical intelligence of a much older player. The St Edward's Singers, Chapel Choirs and a professional orchestra then performed Mozart's Requiem. The soloists were former pupils Megan Baddeley, Rosalie Warner, Benjamin Durrant and Edward Price who all showed individual excellence but were particularly well blended in the quartet moments. The combined choirs packed the stage and produced a thrilling sound. The large audience was treated to an exciting performance with some ambitious tempi chosen by the conductor Neville Creed.

Ballet Recital

2nd December 2014

Despite many of the dancers simultaneously rehearsing for the spring performance of Fame!, they also found time to prepare for this annual highlight of the Autumn Term. There were particularly notable performances from newcomers Sophie Urion and Kim Pushong as well as an impressive solo performance from James Buxton. Dance Scholars Lydia Jones-Parry and Grace Allen gave a memorable performance of the Sugar Plum Fairy and the finale, with vocal accompaniment from Lucy Wright, was an impressive display by the dancers. Excelling once again under the direction of Casper Sunley, the technical team provided mobile lighting effects, excellent sound and a final festive snow shower.

St Edward's at St John's Smith Square

2nd February 2015

The event at St John's Smith Square was a very special occasion, being, as the Warden put it in his opening address, a 'once in a lifetime experience' particularly for the three cello soloists in Haydn's Cello Concerto No.1, Aaron Gruen (Cowell's, Fifth Form), Horatio Holloway (Segar's, Upper Sixth) and Benedict Swindells (Sing's, Lower Sixth), and the soloists in 'The Heavens are Telling' from Haydn's Creation, Sasha Holland (Macnamara's, Upper Sixth), James Buxton (Apsley, Upper Sixth) and Tom Montgomery (Field House, Fifth Form). The Concert Band rendered Mozart's Overture to The Magic Flute with great panache before the delicately poised Cello Concerto. The Symphony Orchestra then performed the final two movements of Haydn's Symphony No.101, the ninth of his 12 'London' symphonies, before being joined on the platform by the combined Chapel Choirs to perform two anthems by Haydn, 'Insanae et Vanae Curae' and 'The Heavens are Telling'. The performances were worthy tribute to this adopted British composer, an almost exact contemporary of the church itself.

Fame! – The Musical
26th – 28th February 2015

With so much musical and dance talent at St Edward's it seemed an excellent idea to stage Fame!, the stage musical based on the popular 1980 musical film and TV series. A strong and well-balanced ensemble was selected by Lisa Elkins (Director), Alex Tester (Musical Director) and Beth Steer (Assistant Director). The dance numbers were fantastic, choreographed with great skill and finesse by Lisa Elkins and Dennis Victory, whose experience of performing in the West End production proved invaluable, and the catchy songs were led with intense energy by Alex Tester.

Leg-warmers and baseball caps dominated the scene and individuality was allowed free rein. The most impressive aspect of this show was the ability of all the performers to excel in so many different areas: dancing, singing and acting. Particularly memorable moments were Tanaka Chitsenga's elastic performance of Dancin' on the sidewalk, Emma Isola's fiery flamenco rendition of There she goes and the full cast in full swing for I'm gonna live forever. Fergus Flory showed excellent stage presence and Lucy Kellock braved illness to deliver her part with supreme confidence. There were a host of excellent solo performances but the real strength of this production lay in the security and unanimity of the ensembles – it was exhausting even to watch the complex and driven dance routines!

The band, including many pupils from younger year groups, delivered the complex and taxing score with great skill. The technical team excelled and the lighting effects were brilliant.

Athletics

Becky Bowyer, Head of Athletics

The athletics season was very successful with teams and individuals achieving remarkable results. Many new school records were set: Freddie Boyce in shot put at Harrow, Brume Otubu in the 200m at Cheltenham, Dan Brady in long jump at the County Championships, and, at Marlborough, Storm Sunderland in the 800m and 1500m, Clemmie Montgomerie in the 200m, Georgie Blanchard in the javelin, Kendall MacDonald in the long jump and Brandi Akpobome in the shot and discus. At the Achilles Relays, in a field of over 30 schools, our senior girls' 4x100m and inter boys' 4x200m teams both qualified for the finals. The girls came away with a bronze medal and the inter boys set a new school record in a superb race which earned them bronze behind Harrow and Millfield. At the City Schools our junior and inter boys' teams retained their position as City Champions and 15 of our athletes went on to compete in the Oxfordshire County Championships, collecting four bronze, five silver and five gold medals. The County Champions were Max Liddy, hurdles, Fergus Flory, 800m, Misha Kirillov, shot, TJ Robinson, triple jump, and George Henry, long jump. The Radley Multi-Events was the highlight of the season. Individual medals were won by Misha Kirillov (junior bronze), Max Liddy (junior silver), Alfie Armitage-Hookes (inter bronze), Vincent Moisy (senior bronze) and George Henry (senior silver). Team medals were also won in every age group with the inter team finishing with bronze, juniors with silver and - the greatest triumph - our senior boys winning gold ahead of Harrow and 10 other schools.

Cricket

Simon Roche, Master i/c Cricket

2015 was another hugely successful cricket season. The 1st XI won 16 matches in total and retained the John Harvey Cup, making them one of the most successful teams in the School's history. They did so by beating Marlborough, Winchester, Bradfield, Cheltenham and, of course, Radley. Other headlines include beating Oxford University by eight wickets and distinguished contributions from individual players. Playing against The Oratory, Calvin Dickinson broke the 30-year-old record for the highest individual innings with 181 and his 276 in partnership with AJ Woodland was the highest in the School's history. With joint 1st XI captain Will Bull, Dickinson put on the School's highest ever opening stand of 239 against the Free Foresters. He finished the season with 1043 runs, becoming only the fifth Teddies batsman ever to achieve over 1000 runs in a season. The bowling attack was led by AJ Woodland, Andy Wyles and Sam Kennedy but it was Rory Hipwell, a Fourth Former, who had stand out performances of 5 for 44 against Saint Kentigern and 5 for 28 against Cheltenham. At the end of a hard-fought summer, the following boys received their colours: Sam Kennedy, Will Bull, Calvin Dickinson, Andrew Wyles, Aditya Edekar, and AJ Woodland. Elsewhere in the club there were other fine performances and 10 centuries were recorded in total. Ben Charlesworth scored two of these for the Yearlings and he finished the season with a total of 587 runs. The Yearlings A's won eight games, including victories over Radley (away), Rugby, Winchester, Clifton and, rather impressively, Harrow. James Curtis helped the Junior Colts A's with 117 versus The Oratory and Tom Powell scored 106 versus Marlborough. The first-ever St Edward's girls' cricket team played well and had a close game with Bloxham.

Nick Gardner, Master i/c Football

The 1st XI's season was one of mixed results, as was seen by a loss to MCS early in the season which was turned into a win two months later. The team showed great spirit throughout what was a tough season. They were well led by Joe Percy, and benefitted from excellent performances by Harry Nicholl (Golden Boot Winner) and Jacob Scott (Player of the Season) throughout the season. A wonderful Cup run saw the team through to the Final against a strong Oundle team, and despite a strong performance Teddies lost 3-1 away from home. The boys would like to pass on their thanks to Mr Storey and Mr Pizzey for their outstanding coaching throughout the season.

Harriers

Ewan Gault, Master i/c Harriers

The Harriers' season started positively with a number of excellent individual and team performances across the muddy fields and paths around Harrow. Strong runs from second-placed Alfie Armitage-Hookes and fourth-placed Aaron Gruen helped St Edward's win the intermediate boys' race, ahead of teams from Harrow, Brighton and Coopers Coburn. In the senior boys' event, George Henry, the school steeplechase champion, used his hill running prowess to power through the field in the final lap, achieving an impressive third place.

Having trained hard throughout the harsh winter months, the intermediate boys' team started the Spring Term by winning the inaugural Oxford City Schools Cross-Country. At the Radley relays, a quartet consisting of Jeevan Grewal, Aaron Gruen, Henry Bray and Chad Moss finished in first place ahead of teams from 11 other schools including Abingdon, who they narrowly beat in an excitingly close finish. Aaron Gruen demonstrated the progress that he had made by finishing ninth out of 123 finishers at the highly competitive South East Schools Championship. It was again the intermediate boys who were prominent in the St Edward's team that competed at the prestigious King Henry VIII relays. The young team were ably led by Horatio Holloway, whose unflagging enthusiasm and array of knitted headbands made him an excellent captain. Despite being depleted by injury and illness, they managed a creditable 36th with Fourth Former Will Kelley competing admirably against much older boys.

The term concluded with St Edward's hosting a cross-country relay competition for prep schools followed by a match the next day against other senior schools. A very impressive Abingdon team won the senior boys' race, while in the girls' race St Edward's Storm Sunderland was the standout performer with the fastest leg of the day. Running on a mild March afternoon proved popular and there are plans to extend these events and hold them again next year. During the two terms in which the Harriers train, the indefatigability of the pupils and the positivity of their coaches helped runners of all abilities to achieve their own personal goals.

Boys' Hockey

Zak Jones, Head of Hockey

The 1st XI produced some fine performances beating Eton and Cheltenham away and defeating Marlborough, Stowe and Wellington at home. In their final game they beat a strong Dean Close side 5-0. In the St George's Sixes, they narrowly missed out on a quarter final place with wins over Desborough, Ardingly and Cranleigh. Charlie Shipperley led the side fantastically well and was ably supported by vice-captains Maxim Adcock and Tom Lotter. The 2nd XI enjoyed some positive results including wins against Cheltenham College, Wellington and Winchester, and hard-fought draws against Marlborough and Stowe. Strong play from the 3rd XI resulted in a fine 2-2 draw against Marlborough and there were also agonisingly close defeats against Radley and Cheltenham. The U16A's had a mixed season with some good wins, creditable draws and frustrating losses. The U16B's were hampered by injuries but nevertheless enjoyed some impressive wins. The U15A's achieved some hard-fought draws and strong wins against Bradfield and Wellington. The hard work all season finally paid off in the last two games for the U15B team as they won 6-0 against Wellington and 4-2 against Dean Close. The U15C's had a very successful season beating Abingdon, Marlborough, Stowe and Wellington with a forward line that demonstrated great agility and speed and never seemed to tire. Highlights of the U14A's season included early wins against Bradfield and Abingdon, a 4-3 victory over MCS with three goals in the final eight minutes, a fantastic team performance to beat Cheltenham 3-0 and a good showing against league winners Marlborough. The side also reached the semi-finals of the inaugural National Sixes tournament at Rugby where they lost to champions Repton. The Under 14B's had Anish Mehta and Archie Redman as crucial components of the defence and Joseph Burton was a standout player throughout the season.

Girls' Hockey

Zak Jones, Head of Hockey

A young 1st XI were runners-up in the county tournament and won the first round of the south Divisional Tournament, losing the quarter-final to Sir William Borlase. They reached the semi-final of the St George's Sixes where they were beaten by an extra time golden goal. Their season also included an impressive 8-2 win away at Kimbolton as well as victories over Oxford High, Tudor Hall, Stowe and Pangbourne and creditable away draws with Cheltenham College and Canford. Storm Sunderland was selected for the Mercia Lynx U18 and Jess Lee for the victorious U16 Futures Cup team.

The 2nd XI enjoyed a mixed season but recorded good wins against Bradfield, Kimbolton, Tudor Hall and Pangbourne whilst the 3rd XI enjoyed wins over an MCS 2nd XI as well as Stowe and Bloxham. The U16A won both the county title and the first round of the divisional tournament. They also had fine wins against Wellington, Bradfield, Kimbolton, Tudor Hall, Stowe and Bloxham and a draw with Oundle. The B team experienced a tougher season, their only win coming against Bloxham. The U15A had a difficult start to the season but went on to win their last five fixtures, beating Dean Close, Tudor Hall, Stowe, Bloxham and Pangbourne. The U15B recorded the best results in the hockey club with wins over Oundle, Bradfield, Kimbolton, Dean Close, Tudor Hall, Stowe and Pangbourne as well as draws against Cheltenham and Bloxham. The C team managed wins over Cheltenham College, Oundle and Cranford House. The U14A had many close games but their only victory in school fixtures came in their 3-0 win v Pangbourne on the last day of the season, although they also beat Kingham Hill and Rye St Antony in the U14 county tournament. The B team managed three good wins against Bradfield, Kimbolton and Bloxham and the C team also beat Bradfield and Kimbolton.

Netball

Andrew Dalglish, Master i/c Netball

The top memories for the 1st VII must include an opening day victory against Cheltenham Ladies', a nail-biting win over Cheltenham and triumph in the triangular tournament with Dean Close and Stowe. The team was made up of Lower Sixth pupils with some younger girls; Mia Hammersley (Fifth Form) and Ashlyn Dickinson (Fourth Form) played up in the senior team and acquitted themselves wonderfully. The U15B's were the most successful team and the U15A's also created an impressive record. The girls benefited from the unwavering support and commitment of their coaches including Tess Horn who joined the school as 1st VII coach. The number of girls playing netball was at its highest for some time and it was pleasing to field A-D teams at U15 and U14 level.

Rowing

Pete Rudge, Master i/c Rowing

The year was a very positive one for the Boat Club. The senior girls had some great victories at Bedford Star Regatta and, by reaching the second round at the prestigious Women's Henley Regatta, showed that they are capable of performing at an extremely high level. On the boys' side the season was dogged by injuries and illnesses but nevertheless they performed very strongly at Henley and beat Lawrenceville, one of the best crews in the USA, and the German school, Ratgymnasium Osnabruck, before losing to the eventual winners, St Paul's. The Fourth Form boys won the J15 eights event at Bedford Star Regatta and the girls were also successful at the same regatta in a four. At the Reading Town Regatta both squads won their fours' event. The Shell boys' A Octo reached the final at the National Schools' Regatta and finished 5th in the country, thus becoming the most successful Shell A crew in the School's history. The Shell girls' A crew won several events and had a particularly convincing victory at Reading Town Regatta. Tilly Catlin was selected to row for Great Britain in a pair at the Coupe de La Jeunesse, the European Championships, while Hugo Marsh was selected for the Great Britain Team at the Junior World Championships in Rio.

Rugby

Mark Hanslip, Master i/c Rugby

Rugby is still the mainstay of the winter term and as many as 15 teams were fielded on some Saturdays. The 1st XV had a mixed season with some extremely close matches and a very strong win over Radley at the end of term. The 2nd XV played with skill and resilience although they struggled to achieve results that reflected their effort. The 3rd XV had good wins and the 4th XV played with enjoyment and camaraderie. The Colts had a difficult season but the A's won convincingly over Cheltenham College, MCS and Rugby and the B's finished the season with an emphatic win over Malvern 41-12. The Junior Colts played well and the A's only lost twice during a season that included decisive wins v Abingdon, Rugby, Cheltenham and Malvern. The B's enjoyed a run of three unbeaten games at the beginning of the season and also secured a spectacular 55-0 win away at Clifton. The highlight for the C's was a 27-15 away win at The Oratory. The Yearlings teams enjoyed their introduction to Rugby at St Edward's and although they struggled to pick up many wins they showed signs of promise. The A's led Radley 14-0 in the first half, although they ultimately lost the match. The B's won against Abingdon and the C's against The Oratory.

Sailing

Tom Hunter, Master i/c Sailing

The sailing club had a great year up at Farmoor, and beyond, with many new sailors taking to the water for the first time and progressing through RYA Levels 1 and 2 while others achieved advanced qualifications. Thomas Hayes was promoted to Head of Sailing and succeeded in leading the team in regular friendly racing against Abingdon, Radley and MCS. Tom had a good understanding of the Laser SB20 keelboat that we sail and gave many of the newer sailors an excellent introduction into crewing on this high performance boat. Special mention goes to Edward Tanner and Matthew Abell who both gained their Instructor qualifications and James Colson Lake for achieving Assistant Instructor. James raced with Oliver Ferneyhough at the Itchenor Schools National Sailing Regatta in an RS Feva where they performed commendably, competing against some of the country's best junior sailors over two days of intense racing. It was a very productive year with huge amounts of progress made by everyone involved and lots of goals to aim for in terms of both RYA qualifications and racing experience.

Squash

Andrew Grounds, Master i/c Squash

It was a tough season for the boys' 1st V as there were only a handful of games where the best five players were on court - the team had to contend with injuries and some of the players were combining two sports. Horatio Scott Lyon had an exceptional Spring Term by winning the majority of his matches at Number 1 seed, reversing losses in the autumn. Fifth Formers such as James George and James Moore Stanley stepped up to the Senior level with some gutsy performances against players who had had a more significant amount of court time. Highlight wins include Bradfield and Berkhamsted with Edward Beccle coming into his own at number 2 seed. The girls' V only had a handful of fixtures this season and struggled with a lack of depth but players such as Camila Whittaker and Camille Bonini showed great commitment throughout the two terms. The inaugural Junior Girls' House Squash Tournament was held in the Spring Term to encourage increased participation in the sport, the trophy kindly donated by OSE Norman Burt (Apsley 1939-1943). The Tournament was won by Avenue with Sing's winning the Junior Boys' Tournament.

Swimming

Rebecca Clark, Head of Swimming

One of the highlights of the year took place on Friday 13th March when the boys' swimming team competed in the prestigious Bath Cup and Otter Medley National Schools Relays. It was a fantastic opportunity for the swimmers to compete in the 50-metre Queen Elizabeth Olympic Pool. In the morning session the boys swam well achieving a school record in the 4x100m freestyle relay in a highly competitive field. In the afternoon the swimmers competed in the 4x50m Medley Relay. Matt Thornton, Vladimir Farenkov, Louis Wright and Michael Tsang set a phenomenal pace, coming third in their heat, knocking just under 10 seconds off last year's time, and improving our overall placing from 66th to 11th. It was a triumphant moment when St Edward's were announced as first reserve in the final of the Dunelm Cup, narrowly missing out on swimming again.

Tennis

By Andrew Dalglish, Master i/c Tennis

The girls' 1st VI was inspirationally led by Romey Oulton. The highlight of the season was the demolition of Cheltenham and Romey, paired with Serena Lloyd, qualifying for the second day at the prestigious ISTA competition. The Under 15A and B girls' teams lost just once in a busy season and often won their matches in very convincing style. Far fewer boys played tennis but under the leadership of Adam Hahn, the 1st VI competed with schools with more extensive boys' tennis programmes. Teddies can boast of some very strong players including the three Elvidge brothers who have the notable record of appearing at some point across all teams. Greg Kratt distinguished himself by captaining the senior 1st VI as a Fifth Former and with his regular partner Jack Power he played with great maturity and class.

Susan Norton

Nick Coram-Wright

Susan carried out a number of roles at St Edward's from 2004 to 2015 and was a greatly valued member of the Common Room. Below, Nick Coram-Wright, who worked with Susan for many years in the Modern Languages Department, reflects on her time at the School.

Housemistress, Head of German, Tutor in Segar's and Sing's, Community Service Coordinator, Queen Proper and Calamity Jane; these were just some of the roles that Susan Norton played during her 11 years at St Edward's.

Susan was appointed to the post of Housemistress of Corfe in 2004. She rightly made demands of the girls but at the same time was humane, tolerant, motherly and empathetic but in no way a soft touch. Parents and their daughters appreciated her combination of common sense, experience and wisdom. David Corran, former Housemaster of Sing's, has fond memories of Susan as a fellow HM. She was "one of the most perceptive and emotionally literate people I know. She used her skill in this professionally – I know so many girls in Corfe who valued her understanding, intelligent sympathy and ability to make life better for them as a result". After five years in Corfe Susan became a tutor in Sing's with David and then moved to Segar's. Here she was admired as a wise guide, someone who was principled and whose moral compass was set firm.

Susan established a reputation in the Modern Languages Department as a versatile colleague who was as happy teaching French and German to Shell beginners as to IB native speakers. In 2013 she took over from Rachel Grange as Head of German, determined to ensure the survival of German in the curriculum.

As those of us who teach MFL know, lessons can at times feel like one 40-minute cabaret after another with bouts of wild gesticulation, exaggerated gesture and endless repetition – all in front of boys and girls with looks on their faces ranging from mild bemusement to complete incomprehension. It therefore came as no surprise that Susan was very much at home during the biennial Staff Panto. Here the mask of respectability was allowed to slip for just a few days, revealing a drama queen par excellence.

Susan has left St Edward's in order to focus her energies on establishing a language school in the south of France. There she is offering courses that not only develop the language skills of children of all ages but include cookery and fine dining alongside local culture and traditions.
