DRINKS
and how to
MIX THEM

A FEW WELL-CHOSEN WORDS

With the aid of this priceless volume you can give your parties that variety which some wag has called the spice of life.

Before committing you to the not-very-tender mercies of the explosives described hereinafter, however, we would leave a few assorted hints with you.

The spoon is unfriendly toward the highball. Use it sparingly. Let the carbonated mixer do the stirring.

A dry cocktail is one with little or no sweetening. All cocktails should be made with fine ice. The finer, the colder. They must be drunk at once.

A mixing glass holds 12 ounces. A jigger holds 2 ounces. A pony holds 1 ounce. The correct highball glass holds 6 ounces, and requires a pony of liquor. "Old Fashioned" glasses also hold 6 ounces, whereas medium bar glasses hold 12 ounces and cocktail glasses 2.

Simple syrup is made by boiling two pounds of granulated sugar with one pint of water.

And now — — — — — PROSIT!

—THE PUBLISHERS

BIJOU

That's the French word for jewel, Hortense. You'll think it's a sharp-cut diamond. Boy, how it scratches!

Two parts dry Gin
One part Italian
Vermouth

One part Chartreuse
Shake vigorously with fine ice

BISHOP

A drink with truly revivalistic fervor!

Dash of Chartreuse
Two parts Scotch
One part orange juice

One part Italian
Vermouth
Shake with fine ice

BLACK STRIPE

You're just too hard to please if this one doesn't have you writing letters to the newspapers. The molasses provides a truly unique flavor.

One wine glass of
St. Croix Rum
One tablespoonful of molasses

Stir in small bar glass
Fill with shaved ice
Add dash of nutmeg

BLUE BLAZER

Here's a very, very swell winter drink—if your Mother let's you play with matches. Better put this drink first on the program, or you may have to replace your house.

Small teaspoonful powdered sugar. Dissolve in wine glass of boiling water

Pour in silver-plated mug. Fill another wine glass with Scotch Whiskey. Ignite whiskey. While it is blazing, mix it and the syrup by pouring them four or five times from one mug into the other. The effect will be one of liquid fire—both to the eye and the palate

BOSTON

Are we ever surprised at Boston? And we always thought it was such a nice, well-behaved town! This one is bad—if you want to stay sober.

Four parts dry Gin
One part Italian Vermouth well shaken with juice of one-quarter orange

Juice of one lime
Two sprigs of fresh mint
Shake with ice and serve

BRANDY AND SODA

For them as likes their likker and likes it clear.

Into a tall tumbler place
One pony of Brandy

A few pieces of ice
Fill with plain soda

BRANDY COCKTAIL

Great stuff for reviving any dead horses you may have about the place. The undertakers' lobby at Washington is trying to have a ban placed on it.

A mixing glass half-full of fine ice
Two dashes of gum syrup
Two dashes Peyschaud or Boker's Bitters

One jigger of Brandy
Mix and strain into cocktail glass
Add a piece of twisted lemon peel

BRANDY SANGAREE

You could use ale, sherry or port, of course, as you probably will.

Use a small bar glass	One teaspoonful of sugar
Two lumps of ice	One wine glass of Brandy
One-half wine glass of water	Stir well and add a dash of nutmeg on top

BRONX

You'll care less and less and less as you sip this. It's a favorite in New York.

One-half part French Vermouth	Jigger of orange juice
One-half part Italian Vermouth	Ice, shake and strain into a cocktail glass
Two parts Gin	Garnish with slice of orange

BROOKLYN BRIDGE

This is how Steve Brodie got his start.

One part Italian Vermouth	One part white of egg
One part dry Gin	Two dashes orange juice
	Shake well with ice

CAPE COD RAINBOW

You'll see a generous assortment of rainbows if you take on too many of these. A beautiful drink to look at . . . but rattlesnakes have charming colors!

Two oz. Split Spirit or Gin	will sink to bottom of glass
Fill glass with cracked ice	One tablespoonful Creme de Menthe laid carefully on top
Pour in sweetened lemon juice, orange or grapefruit juice	Twist a slice of lemon peel and hang over edge of glass
Dash of Grenadine, which

CARELESS LOVE

It's easy to make and easy to take. But don't let that fool you. Thar's dynamite in them ingredients, pardner.

White of one egg	One part Gin
Teaspoonful simple syrup	Ice, shake and strain into cocktail glass
One part Absinthe

CHAMPAGNE COCKTAIL

This is for the party whose success you want to insure. Nothing can go wrong after a round or two of this. Or if it does, you won't mind at all.

Put into a long, thin glass one lump of cut-loaf sugar, saturated with Boker's Bitters	Fill the glass three-fourths full of cold Champagne
Add one lump of ice	Stir with spoon and serve
A fair sized piece of lemon peel

CHAMPAGNE JULEP

It would be irreverent for us to comment.

One lump of sugar	Add slice of orange and a few berries
Long spray fresh mint
Pour in Champagne slowly and stir gently

CHAMPAGNE PUNCH

This is the recipe for four. Better cut it down a bit if you plan to drink the entire lot yourself.

One quart Champagne in glass pitcher	Four slices pineapple
One-fourth pound sugar	One wine glass strawberry syrup
One sliced orange	Dress with fruit. Serve in goblets
Juice of one lemon

CHARLIE HORSE

The athlete's delight. It either cures or causes Charlie Horse—we forget which.

One part Gin	One part Sherry
One part lemon juice	Shake well with fine ice

CHATTANOOGA DEW

Direct from the mountains of old Tennessee. When properly aged, good Corn runs Bourbon a close second.

One part Corn	Drop in cherry
One part Maraschino	Shake well with fine ice
One part lemon juice

CHERRY BLOSSOM

Don't neglect to serve at least one round of Cherry Blossoms. There's a reason.

White of one egg	raspberry syrup and orange juice
Same quantity of dry Gin	Shake well with fine ice
Three dashes each of

CLOVER CLUB

We recommend this the next time you entertain the Friday Afternoon Sewing Guild. The lady who can still thread a needle after two drinks wins the Grand Prix. Also good for corn-husking bees.

One part Gin	Frappe and strain into cocktail glass into which has been dropped a maraschino cherry
One-half part Grenadine
Juice of half a lime
White of one egg

COFFEE COCKTAIL

The trick about this mixture is to try to find the coffee. We looked for one whole week-end, and then it dawned on us that the name is just smart sales promotion on the part of the coffee trust. Clever, these Brazilians!

Fill mixing glass half-full of fine ice	One pony of Brandy
Add one teaspoonful of powdered white sugar	Shake thoroughly and strain into a large cocktail glass
One fresh egg	Grate a little nutmeg on top
One pony of Port Wine

COLLINS (TOM)

This is a blood-brother to John Collins, the British version of this famous drink.

Juice of small lime or half large lemon	Three or four lumps of ice
Three ounces Gin	Shake and strain into tall glass. Add plain soda
One oz. simple syrup

COLONIAL COCKTAIL

Nothing used to please George Washington better than a good ole Colonial—unless it was a good new one. Spill two drops on the kitchen floor before drinking. If it does not burn, drink quickly and exhale the smoke.

Two parts Gin
One part grapefruit juice
Dash of Maraschino

Ice, shake and serve in cocktail glass

CREAM FIZZ

Here's an old-timer whose long popularity is richly deserved. Try it—when the party wears of cocktails.

Pony of Gin
Juice of one lemon
Teaspoonful simple syrup
Teaspoonful fresh cream

Ice, shake and strain into
small bar glass
Add a dash of plain soda

DAQUIRI

Another one that works on mice. In fact, this is celebrated in the Mother Goose Rhyme,

Daquiri, Daquiri, Dock
The Mouse ran up the Clock

Equal parts Bacardi Rum
and lime juice

One teaspoonful powdered sugar
Shake well with fine ice

DIDI COCKTAIL

Di-Di, as everyone but you knows, is baby talk for dear, dear. Drink a few of these with the boys some night and the one thing your wife will not say is Di-Di.

Two-thirds Gin
One-third rhubarb juice

Garnish with sprig of crushed mint

EGG NOG

Positively good for what ails you. The best medicine we've ever taken, bar none. Some like this hot.

Use shaker
One-half glass of milk
One raw egg
Two teaspoonfuls of
powdered sugar

One pony of Brandy
Ice, shake vigorously and strain into tumbler.
Serve with grated nutmeg on top

ELECTRIC EEL

So named because of the shock it gives you.

Fill mixing glass half-
full of fine ice
One part Gin

Two parts Jamaica Rum
Dash lemon juice. Mix and strain

EUREKA

Science now believes that after all it was not really the principle of the lever, or the law of gravity, or the something, which Archimedes discovered. It was this drink that made the grand old Grecian chortle: "I have found it!"

Two dashes of lemon juice
One dash of orange juice
Two parts of dry Gin

One part Grenadine
Shake with ice and serve

FISH CLUB PUNCH

The inspiration for the phrase, "Drink like a fish!" This is a one and one-half gallon recipe for eight people.

One-third pint lemon juice	One-fourth pint Peach Brandy
Three-fourth lbs. sugar, dissolved in water	One-fourth pint Jamaica Rum
One-half pint Cognac	Two and one-half pints ice cold water

FIVE FRUITS COCKTAIL

If you don't happen to have Five Fruits, try Four Fruits, or Three Fruits, or no Fruits. It's equally good. (The recipe below makes six cocktails.)

Two ounces Five Fruits	Put into cocktail shaker
Nine ounces Rye	with ice—shake well and
Juice of three oranges	strain into cocktail
A few dashes of Angostura Bitters	glass

GIN BUCK

Simple, yes, but oh, how potent!

One jigger of Gin	Stir in glass half-full of
Juice of one-half lemon	fine ice and fill with
	ginger ale

GIN MARASCHINO

Here is a great favorite with the ladies. And why not!

One part Gin	Fill glass half-full of
Three dashes simple syrup	cracked ice
Four dashes Maraschino	Shake and strain into
Juice of half a lemon	large cocktail glass and
	fill with charged water

GIN SOUR

If you want to drown the taste of the Gin put in a whole lemon. Or if it's the lemon taste you don't like . . . .

Juice of half full-bodied lemon	Fill glass with finely
Generous portion of Gin	cracked ice, stir and
Heaping teaspoonful powdered sugar	serve

GOLDEN FIZZ

Ask any old-timer about the refreshing goodness of this fine old drink. Silver Fizz is made by taking the white, instead of the yolk of the egg.

One wine glass Gin	Three dashes lemon juice
Yolk of one egg	One dash lime juice
Teaspoonful powdered sugar	Ice and fill glass with
	charged water

GRAPEFRUIT HIGHBALL

Sure, this is a little different. But don't try to tell us it's the grapefruit juice which makes the party successful.

Use large bar glass	Fill glass with cracked
Two ounces Split Spirits or Gin	ice and garnish with
One full can grapefruit juice	crushed mint

HARVARD COCKTAIL

One of many recipes for this famous drink. Way down East they used to make a Freshman take four of these without drawing a breath. A college diploma meant something in those days.

One part Gin
Dash of Curacao

Ice, shake and strain into a wine glass
Fill glass with Grenadine

HAWAIIAN

Be very, very careful with this one. It induces in your guests an uncontrollable desire to join the marines or open a chop-suey joint.

Two parts Apple Brandy    A bar spoon of sugar and
One part pineapple juice    dash of Maraschino
Juice of one-half lemon    Shake well with fine ice

HELL-RAISER

We're talking to you like a father: drink this in small sips. Otherwise you can expect to wind up in the station-house. At that, you'd probably sing yourself out, you little rascal.

One pony Gin
One pony Scotch
Whiskey
One-half egg
One pony of lime juice

One-half teaspoonful of
powdered sugar
Ice, shake and strain into
small bar glass

HIAWATHA

The Indian word for "Let's have another."

Fill mixing glass half-
full of fine ice
Two parts Scotch
One part French
Vermouth

Dash of Bitters
Add olive for luck
(you'll need it)

HIBERNIAN

Reserve this one for St. Patrick's Day. It'll show you where all the snakes went when the good Saint drove them out of Ireland.

Two parts Gin
One part Creme de
Menthe
Ice, shake and strain into cocktail glass into which has been dropped a green cherry

HIGHLAND FLING

Ho-hum. Have you read any good books lately? (Oh, yeah?)

Two dashes Orange
Bitters
Two-thirds Scotch
One-third Italian
Vermouth

Fill with ice, mix and strain into a cocktail glass
Serve with olive

HOT SCOTCH

A variant of Hot Toddy. It's a fine cure for colds; even if you haven't got a cold, you feel better after drinking this.

Two lumps of sugar in a little hot water
Several cloves
One wine glass of Scotch

Add hot water to fill glass
Squeeze and drop in lemon peel

HORSE'S NECK

This just goes to show that the Early Bartenders never studied physiology. What better name can you suggest? Or you? Or you?

Use large bar glass	Add a few lumps of ice
Peel lemon in one continuous piece	One teaspoonful powdered sugar
Place in glass with one end hanging over the rim and the balance spiraling to bottom	One pony Gin
	Fill glass with ginger ale

HOT SPICED RUM

Here's the drink that's brought many a good ship around the Horn, back in the old days of canvas. But you don't have to be a sailor to like Hot Spiced Rum.

Use tumbler	One teaspoonful mixed spices
Two ounces Jamaica Rum	One small lump of butter
One teaspoonful powdered sugar	Fill tumbler with very hot water

HOT TODDY

Recommended for those who can't sleep nights. We imbibed a few one Thursday evening and didn't arrive at the office until the following Tuesday afternoon.

One part Brandy, Whiskey or Gin	water, stir thoroughly and serve in medium bar glass with
One part boiling water	Nutmeg grated on top
Add Brandy to boiling

IRISH GUARD

Notice the prescription below is for four only. That's all right. After a round or two you'll think you're a whole regiment of guards. You'll make enough noise to prove it, too. Just ask the neighbors the following morning. Or better make it the second morning afterwards.

(For Four)	Whites of four eggs
One tumbler of Gin	Juice two oranges
One-half tumbler Creme de Menthe	Juice one lemon
	Shake with fine ice

JACK ROSE

Ask any old-time New Yorker about this one.

Place cracked ice into shaker	Add dash Grenadine
Equal portions of Applejack and Gin	Serve in cocktail glasses

KNICKERBOCKER

An old favorite with habitues (look up under "H") of the Knickerbocker bar. Need we say more?

Four parts St. Croix Rum	Flavor with raspberry and pineapple syrup
One part each of orange and lemon juice	Shake with fine ice

MANHATTAN

Simple:

Two parts Rye Whiskey	Shake well with fine ice
One part Italian Vermouth	and strain

Not so simple:

One part Rye Whiskey	Ice, shake and strain into
One part Italian Vermouth	a cocktail glass in which
One jigger Curacao	a maraschino cherry has
Two dashes Bitters	been dropped

MARTINI COCKTAIL

This ranks well to the fore as an appetizer—and has for nearly a half-century. If you prefer it dry, use French instead of Italian Vermouth.

Half a mixing glass full of fine ice	One-half jigger of Italian Vermouth
Three dashes of Orange Bitters	A piece of lemon peel
One-half jigger of Tom Gin	Mix, strain into cocktail glass

METROPOLITAN

This, we submit, is the real explanation of the migration from the country to the city. Try to take a jug of moonshine out of the hay stack and tie this one.

Two lumps of ice in a small wine glass	One pony of Brandy
Three dashes of gum syrup	One pony of French Vermouth
Two dashes of Boker's Bitters	Mix, take out the ice
	Add a small piece of lemon

MINT JULEP

Hyah, suh, is a beverage! Yo' ha'd-drinkin', ha'd-ridin' forbeahs, suh, drank this. The lucky dawgs.

Into a large glass filled with shaved ice:	Add one and one-half wine glasses Bourbon
One tablespoonful of sugar	Stir well. Dash with Jamaica Rum
One-half wine glass of water	Decorate with a few sprigs of mint by planting the sprigs, stem downward, in the ice
Three or four sprigs of fresh mint	around the rim of glass
Crush till mint flavor is extracted	Dress with fruit and serve

OPALESCENT

You won't be able to pronounce the name when calling for the third round. But just say: "Fill 'er up again." Thereafter, bang your mug lustily on the table. If your host is a gentleman, he'll know what you mean. If you're the host, you'll just be out of luck.

Juice of one-half lemon	Dash of Grenadine
Add twice as much dry Gin	Ice, shake and strain
Dash of cream	Put sprig of fresh mint in glass

OLD-FASHIONED COCKTAIL

Add up another, Charlie, to the list of good old things; Old violins, old cheeses, old friends, old-fashioned cocktails, et cetera.

One lump sugar dissolved	One jigger Rye
In one-fourth glass water	One piece of ice
Two dashes Angostura	One piece of lemon peel
Bitters

PARISIAN POUSSE CAFE

We could hardly wait to get to Paris when we first heard about this one. In fact, we didn't wait.

One-half glass	Layer of Creme de
Maraschino	Menthe
Carefully add the yolk	Fill the glass to the brim
of an egg	with Cognac
Tablespoonful of Vanilla
Cordial or Curacao

PINEAPPLE BRONX

You'd be surprised to know how many people like pineapple when served in this way.

Two parts dry Gin	Slices of pineapple in
One part Italian	glass
Vermouth	Ice, shake well and strain

PINK LADY

All right, go ahead and drink this. But don't say we didn't caution you. It's a mighty smooth drink, y'understand, but — — —

(For Four)	Juice of two oranges
One tumbler of Gin	Juice of one lemon
One-fourth tumbler	Dash of sugar
Grenadine	Mix with ice in shaker;
Whites of four eggs	drink before it settles

PLAZA

Stay close to a lamp post after imbibing.

One part each of Gin,	One piece of fresh
French and Italian	pineapple
Vermouth	Ice, shake and strain
	into cocktail glass

POM POM

So called because your guests will forthwith start playing the childhood pastime of the same name. You'll find difficulty in pulling them away from this drink.

One part Gin	Two dashes Bitters
Two parts Italian	Ice, shake and strain
Vermouth	into cocktail glass

PRESIDENT

It requires a great man to drink this down with grace and savior faire. We once served it to a Vice-President, but he couldn't take it. Since then, he's been trying very hard to become a President because he wants to try this drink again.

Equal parts of Bacardi	Dash of Curacao
Rum and Italian	Ice and stir very gently
Vermouth

RIDING CLUB COCKTAIL

You've heard the saying "He's riding for a fall." Well then! This is the recipe that made the saying. A good polo player can drink a helmet full of this. But maybe you aren't a good polo player.

Mixing glass half-full of fine ice	A small barspoonful of acid phosphate
One dash of Angostura Bitters	One jigger of Calisaya
	Mix and strain into cocktail glass

ROCKING HORSE

So named because of the gentle swaying motion it imparts to the body after three rounds.

Fill mixing glass half-full of fine ice	Dash of Orange Bitters
Add one pony Rye	Dash of Curacao
One pony Gin	Mix and strain

RYE WHISKEY PUNCH

Grab a beaker of this when someone starts a story you've heard several times before. One of three happy results is sure to ensue: (1) It will sound like a new story, (2) It will seem funnier than ever before. (3) You won't care anyhow.

Shaker three-quarters full shaved ice	One-half wine glass water
Two heaping teaspoons-ful powdered sugar	One wine glass Rye
Juice of one-quarter lemon	Shake: strain into punch glass. Decorate with fruit and serve

SARATOGA COCKTAIL

Here's a favorite of 40 years' standing. Or maybe "standing" is not quite the exact word.

Equal quantities of Apple Brandy, Italian Vermouth and Dubonnet	Flavor with orange juice Ice, shake and strain
---	--

SAZARAC COCKTAIL

We personally recommend this one when traveling, before traveling and after traveling—or when no traveling is contemplated.

One pony Rye Whiskey	Ice, shake and strain into cocktail glass into which has been dropped a sprig of crushed mint
Three dashes Absinthe
Tablespoonful simple syrup
Three dashes Bitters

SCOTCH HIGBALL

The younger generation are likely to specify ginger-ale instead of seltzer.

Drop a lump of ice in a highball glass	Scotch, then fill up with seltzer
Add a limited quantity of

SHALUTA

Pronounced "Saluta" until the fifth round.

One part "Dago Red"	One part lemon juice
One part Gin

SHANDYGAFF

We wouldn't drink this, personally—but if you think you're so good, try it for a chaser.

One part ginger ale

One part beer

SIDE CAR COCKTAIL

Concentrated French nitro-glycerine. Look around for a lamp-post before swallowing.

Three parts French Brandy

One part lemon juice
Shake with plenty of fine ice

Two parts Cointreau

KIDDY-CAR COCKTAIL

So called because it makes you feel childish.

Three parts Applejack

Shake with plenty of fine ice

Two parts Cointreau

One part lemon juice

SMASHES—WHISKEY, BRANDY & GIN

Smashes are to the North what juleps are to the South. A great drink in the good old springtime, or good old summer time, or even good old winter time.

One teaspoonful powdered sugar

One ounce water

Few sprigs freshly picked mint

Press the mint into the sugar and water to extract the flavor. Add cracked ice, one wine glass full Brandy, Whiskey or Gin. Stir thoroughly and garnish with fruit. Serve with a straw

SNAG-TOOTH NELL

Ah, these advertising dentists!

One part Gin

Juice of one-quarter orange

One part French Vermouth

One cube of ice

One part Italian Vermouth

Stir and serve in bar glass with slice of orange

SOUTHERN

Down South they hand one of these to the visiting Yankee. If he can still stand up after taking it, they welcome him with true Southern hospitality. If he can't, they ship him back north of the Mason-Dixon Line.

Bourbon Whiskey

Dash of Benedictine

Dash of lemon juice

Ice, shake and strain

Dash of Grenadine

STINGER

Our pet bee took a sip of this once and threw a jealous fit.

One ounce White Mint

Mix with ice and serve in cocktail glass

One oz. Cognac Brandy

STONE FENCE

Guaranteed to make a rabbit spit in your bulldog's eye.

One wine glass of Bourbon or Applejack

Two or three lumps of sugar
Fill up glass with Cider

TARTAR

The direct cause of the Bolshevik Revolution. We recommend that you drink this through a straw—better still, a metal tube—in order to keep as far away from it as possible.

Use mixing glass half-
full of fine ice
One part Vodka
One part Sherry

One part French
Vermouth
Shake carefully and strain

TEA OR COFFEE ROYAL

To bring out the real flavor of coffee, tea or what-have-you, merely dunk in one of the ingredients you favor. Serve as hot as you wish—it will seem even hotter.

Into a cup of tea or coffee stir a pony of Rum, Brandy, Whiskey,

Gin or whatever you have in that line
Sweeten if preferable

TOM AND JERRY

We'll bet you peeked at this one before perusing (reading, to you) the preceding pages. This will pull you through anything—from rickets, through homesickness, to knot-holes.

Use small bar glass
Pony of Brandy, Rum or
Whiskey
Add one well-beaten
raw egg

Two teaspoonful
powdered sugar
Stir thoroughly and fill up with boiling milk
Grate nutmeg on top

TOP SIDE UP

An old German tradition is associated with this explosive. If you wanted more, you returned the empty glass to the table. If not, you threw it over your left shoulder into the fire-place.

Fill mixing glass with
fine ice
One pony of Kummel
One pony of Gin

Two dashes of French
Vermouth
Shake well and strain

VERMOUTH COCKTAIL

There are a half-dozen variants of this famous drink. The recipe below is one of the best, we think. Substitute French for Italian Vermouth unless you like 'em sweet.

Mixing glass half-full of
fine ice
Two dashes of Boker's
Bitters

One jigger of Italian
Vermouth
Mix well and strain into
cocktail glass
Add piece of lemon peel

WHISKEY COCKTAIL

Be extremely careful not to drop this one. Even if it doesn't explode, you'd have a new rug to buy, and you know how times are.

Mixing glass half-full of fine ice
Two dashes of simple syrup
Two dashes of Peyschaud
Bitters

One jigger of Whiskey
Mix, strain into a cocktail glass
Add a small piece of twisted lemon peel

WHISKEY BLOSSOM

Somebody told us "Whiskey" is from the Gaelic, and means "water-of-life." We just thought we'd mention it.

One part Italian Vermouth	Two dashes pineapple juice
Two parts Scotch	Shake well with fine ice before serving
Two dashes lemon juice

WHISKEY COBBLER

Another great favorite of the good old days. In fact, this drink is why they were called "good old days."

Into a large glass pour One and one-half wine glasses Scotch	Two teaspoonsful pineapple syrup
One teaspoonful powdered sugar	Fill with shaved ice. Stir well; dress with fruit and serve with straws

WHISKEY SOUR

You can't go wrong with this one. Figuratively speaking, that is. The Whiskey Sour has been the favorite of many a generation. 403

Shaker two-thirds filled with shaved ice	One wine glass Scotch Whiskey
One tablespoonful sugar	Shake well, strain into glass, fill with charged water
One-half lemon
One slice orange

SOMETHING EXTRA

We're just softies, we guess. But somehow, we can't turn you loose without at least a couple of suggestions in re the morning after.

CHOCOLATE COCKTAIL

We'll gladly issue you a rain check if this doesn't help greatly.

Break a fresh egg into a mixing glass half-full of fine ice	One teaspoonful of fine sugar
Add one dash of Bitters	Shake well and strain into a cocktail glass
One jigger Port Wine

SHERRY AND EGG

The original eye-opener. So necessary to Englishmen that the Magna Charta required it be served in the jails.

Use medium bar glass	One wine glass Sherry
One raw egg well beaten

GIN FIZZ

Here, to make a long story s., is indeed a pick-up!

Juice of one-half lemon	Strain into glass with fine ice, fill with carbonated water
One-half spoonful sugar
Jigger of Gin

While Whiskey Sour is not necessarily a morning-after drink, you'll find it a great comfort on such an occasion. So, too, is the Old-Fashioned a goodly pick-up drink. Recipes for both are given elsewhere in this book.
