Prime&Bond elect® Universal Dental Adhesive

PART OF THE CLASS II TOTAL PRACTICE SOLUTION™

The difference between reliable and redo is a thin line.

Don't misdiagnose a thick adhesive layer for voids or decay. With a lower film thickness at the resin-dentin and resin-enamel interfaces, Prime&Bond elect Universal Dental Adhesive prevents pooling in the corners of the proximal box—helping you to avoid costly redos. # Are you in compliance with CDC sterilization guidelines?

Find out at: www.dhpionline.com/solutions/practice-protection

Dental handpieces and associated attachments, including low-speed motors and reusable prophylaxis angles, should always be heat sterilized between patients and not high-level or surface disinfected.<sup>1</sup>

From 2003 to 2015, transmissions of infectious agents in dental settings, including patient-to-patient transmissions, have been documented.<sup>1</sup> In most cases, investigators failed to link a specific lapse of infection prevention and control with a particular transmission. However, reported breakdowns in basic infection prevention procedures included unsafe injection practices, failure to heat sterilize dental handpieces between patients, and failure to monitor (e.g., conduct spore testing) autoclaves.<sup>2,3</sup>

Questions to ask yourself

- I heat sterilize all Handpieces, Low-Speed Motors, and Attachments after each use.
- I understand that surface disinfection is not sufficient for Low-Speed Motors.
- I only follow manufacturer instructions for sterilization between patient use.
- I thoroughly clean items according to manufacturer instructions.
- I discard single-use items after one use and do not use them for more than one patient.
- After sterilization, I store devices and instruments in a way that does not compromise sterility.
