TUNGSTEN CARBIDE BURS

Our tungsten carbide burs exceed stringent ISO, FDA, BSI and CE European Standards. Tungsten carbide burs are designed, manufactured and finished for optimum strength, performance and durability. The burs are brazed in the neck as opposed to the base of the head, as found in many competitive products. Our 100% carbide neck delivers optimum concentricity and strength. Our tungsten carbide burs are engineered to cut more effectively, with a greater blade contact on the tooth surface, and reduced risk of chipping or breakage. The design ensures a fast, smooth, vibration free performance, reducing patient discomfort as well as operating time. The shank of each bur is made from stainless steel, allowing every bur to be autoclaved without risk of corrosion.

Nano Hybrid Composite

This light activated Nano Hybrid Composite contains nano-sized particles, which combined with regular silica and barium glass composes a state-of-the-art nano-filler system. It is a high viscosity composite that will resist sticking to instruments, yet will have sufficient flow to adapt to the walls of the cavity preparation. It is radioopaque and provides high compressive and flexural strengths along with a low water uptake. This Nano Hybrid Composite can be used in all classes of direct dental restorations.
