A JEWEL BY THE SEA

Often unpolished, with many rough-cut edges, Portland nevertheless still warrants the moniker given it by native son Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, one of America's best-loved poets. Follow the bright beacon of Portland Head Light to shore where this gem awaits.

Welcome to the Greater Portland Casco Bay Region.

AUTHENTIC - BY NATURE

Our hip metropolis, created from the still-planted roots of a prominent fishing industry and working waterfront, offers a natural authenticity unlike that of most urban centers. Despite its popularity as a visitor destination, ours is an inherently real place with real people going about their business, surounded by the incredible natural beauty of our forests, fields, and waterways. With its heady mixture of artistic and outdoor adventure, our region is stylish and sophisticated, yet remains genuine and unpretentious, a place where grey flannel and plaid flannel coexist companionably. And underlying the latest tech, fashion, and culinary scene is a deep sense of continuity. We invite you to experience the character of a region that blends the present with a very special past.

ARCHITECTURE

With unwavering attention to landmark preservation, Portland has maintained an historic urban landscape with a modern sensibility. The city is replete with fascinating architecture and the means to delve into its past, with guided and self-guided tours of Portland's historic neighborhoods. Although the area was settled in the 1600s, much of the city's historic architecture is Victorian, built after the devastating Fourth-of-July fire of 1866 leveled most of the city. History is also kept alive with museum homes and maritime museums chronicling the emergence of the area from a trading and fishing settlement into one of the nation's most active seaports.

WATERFRONT

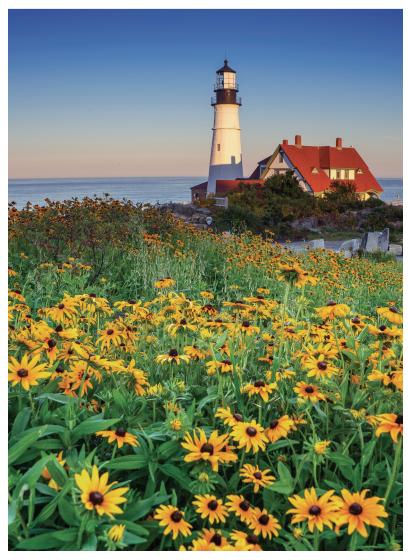

Jutting out into island-studded Casco Bay, this region offers some of the best water access to islands, lighthouses, beaches, and historic forts in Maine. Greater Portland is home to seven lighthouses, those silent testaments to Maine's enduring connection to the sea and a favorite of photographers from around the world. On a stroll through the Old Port, one of the country's most successful warehouse revitalization efforts, you'll hear the squall of gulls and the low moan of bell buoys while you smell the salt brine that wafts off the bay. Portland's waterfront is still very much a working port, an integral and thriving part of the local economy, which is one of the authentic aspects that visitors find so appealing. In Portland, you're never far from the sea and its changeable influences.

VISUAL ARTS

Portland's official Arts District runs along a stretch of Congress Street, but the city's flourishing art scene knows no bounds. Traditional landscapes, which have been the foundation of Maine art, now share the limelight with cutting-edge contemporary work in a wide range of media. The venerable Portland Museum of Art, celebrating three centuries of art and architecture, is known as one of the best art museums in New England, and the Maine College of Art is a respected art school whose affiliated Institute of Contemporary Art presents innovative works by influential national and international artists. On the first Friday of each month in Portland, and the third Friday in Freeport, artists open their studios to the public and you can take a self-guided tour. Follow the Maine Art Museum Trail to experience a magnificent array of works at the state's seven leading art museums.

PERFORMANCE ARTS

Performance arts also energize the Greater Portland region year-round. The summer skies are filled with concerts and the Old Port comes to life at night with an eclectic mix of live music in its pubs and concert halls. Portland has its own symphony orchestra, choral arts society, professional theater and dance troupes, even a repertory opera company. In Freeport, free outdoor concerts in Discovery Park offer an exciting musical evening. Greater Portland is the perfect combination of small-town intimacy with a heavy dose of large metropolitan culture.

OUTDOOR RECREATION

Casco Bay's flourishing arts scene is complemented by an abundant variety of outdoor recreational pursuits so accessible that you can kayak, bike, golf, or swim all day and still have time to take in dinner and a show in the evening. Within 10 minutes of downtown Portland you can glide in a canoe through an Audubon estuary, swim at a state beach, bird watch on a nature sanctuary, and photograph Portland Head Light, the oldest lighthouse in Maine. Hike a wooded trail through autumn foliage to discover a hidden waterfall. Ice-skate in Deering Oaks Park or cross-country ski alongside the ocean in winter. Every season of the year offers its unique pleasures and Maine is lucky to have seasons that each delights the senses.

CUISINE

Visitors are now coming to Maine from around the world for its great food and fantastic restaurant scene, as much as for the unspoiled landscape and beautiful scenery that have long been the mainstay of the region's appeal. Bon Appétit magazine once dubbed Portland "America's Foodiest Small Town" in recognition of the excellence achieved by our chefs, restaurants, and food purveyors. We're so proud of our food scene that we've created an event to celebrate and share it. Harvest on the Harbor, a multi-day culinary festival held each fall on Portland's waterfront, draws foodies from near and far.

FAMILY FUN

Greater Portland is fun for the whole family, so don't leave the kids at home. They'll love the hands-on exhibits at the Children's Museum and a ride on an historic streetcar, steam train, or Model-T at one of the region's transportation museums. Baseball, hockey, and basketball fans will find big-league entertainment at minor-league prices at one of Portland's home-team games. From amusement parks to wildlife parks, agricultural fairs to folk-life festivals, there are so many things to entertain active kids of all ages.

AUTHENTIC ALLURE

It's all right here: great dining and shopping, hopping nightlife, outdoor recreation, historical and cultural attractions, and stunning natural beauty. Its small scale, accessible waterfront, Old World ambience, and youthful vibe have propelled Portland to the top of many national lists of best places to vacation. But you won't have to give up the quintessential Maine coast to enjoy all that Greater Portland has to offer — islands, lighthouses, beaches, and surf crashing on the rocky shore are all in proximity of Portland's vibrant, historic downtown. Portland, Maine Authentic – By Nature.

FACTS

POPULATION: With a population of 234,000, the Greater Portland area is home to almost one quarter of Maine's total population. The population of the city of Portland is 66,300.

CLIMATE: The sea tempers Portland's climate, giving the coast milder winters and cool summer breezes. For detailed weather history and forecasts when planning your trip, visit a National Weather Service site.

WARDROBE: During the summer, lightweight clothes are advisable. But don't forget your favorite sweater for evenings and for cool ocean breezes. In autumn a heavy sweater is usually sufficient. For winter months pack a parka and boots to keep warm. Dress is usually casual throughout the city.

PARKING: Mon-Sat 9 am - 6 pm. $1 per hour at most meters. New parking pay kiosks accept credit cards and coins and dispense tickets that can be used at all metered spots in the city and moved with your car if you change parking spots. Prices at parking lots and garages vary from $5 - $15 per day. Portland Winter Parking Info: 207-879-0300

AREA CODE: The area code for the entire state of Maine is (207).

PETS: Many hotels warmly welcome your vacationing pets; refer to grids on pages 77-87 for pet friendly accommodations.

SMOKING POLICY: Maine's smoke-free laws ensure that all indoor settings, open to the public, are smoke-free including restaurants, bars, movie theaters, and malls. Common areas in state parks and historic sites are also smoke-free, and include beaches, picnic shelters, snack bars, and restrooms. In Portland all city-owned parks, playgrounds, athletic fields, trails, beaches, and open spaces are smoke-free. Throwing tobacco litter on the ground is prohibited and results in a $100 fine. smokefree.portlandmaine.gov

ALCOHOL POLICY: Maine has a very tough alcohol policy. Persons must be 21 years old to buy or consume liquor. Identification is often requested. Hours of legal service are 6 am to 1 am. OUI laws are strictly enforced.

Authentic — BY NATURE

Go 10 or 15 minutes in any direction and you'll doubt you're anywhere near Maine's largest metro area. Set like a jewel in the crown of Casco Bay, Portland is unique in its position as a major cultural center that equally embraces its natural environment.

Both surrounding and within Portland, parks and preserves allow access to the tranquil natural beauty that Maine is renowned for. Seascapes abound, from the sandy beaches of Cape Elizabeth and Scarborough to the leafy trail vistas of Wolfe's Neck Woods State Park in Freeport. Across the harbor from Portland, Bug Light Park offers an unimpeded view of the city's skyline and the harbor's many watercraft, while the granite breakwater at Spring Point Ledge Lighthouse literally takes you out onto the bay.

Altogether, seven lighthouses in Greater Portland offer their stately profiles to avid photographers. The region's best known landmark, Portland Head Light, sits majestically in Cape Elizabeth's Fort Williams Park, where surf crashes upon granite shores and open fields are perfect for flying kites. Pack a lunch for the beach or stop by the Lobster Shack at Two Lights where your picnic table is close enough to the sea for the ocean to tickle your senses. For an idyllic afternoon, hop on the ferry and bicycle around one of the islands, each an intimate neighbor of Portland yet a world away from the city's bustle.

Pristine country and forest landscapes lie within striking distance of the city. From the top of Bradbury Mountain in Pownal you'll gaze over a carpet of autumn-hued trees and New England homesteads. Cross-country ski on the groomed trails at Pineland Farms in New Gloucester, where some of the best local cheeses are crafted from cows that graze happily on hundreds of acres of pastoral grasslands. Discover native wildlife and plants as you navigate a canoe through the state's largest marsh in Scarborough. Tee off at a variety of beautiful courses open to visiting golfers, and pick apples, pumpkins, and berries at local farms.

Wildlife watching has long been an interest of Maine visitors. In Portland you aren't likely to catch a glimpse of North America's tallest land mammal, the moose, but you can get a close up look at bears, mountain lions, lynx, moose, and other species at Maine Wildlife Park in Gray. The park also has trails where you may encounter free-roaming wildlife. Bird watchers can grab binoculars and head for sanctuaries in Falmouth and Freeport or Baxter Woods right in Portland. Join Odyssey Whale Watch on an expedition to see the awe-inspiring denizens of the sea or charter your own onboard adventure with Casco Bay Custom Charters.

With the ocean in its front yard and lakes, rivers, and mountains within easy reach, Portland is a city with an urban spirit complemented by a natural soul. Whether you're out for a day of shopping, visiting museums and galleries, or touring historic sites, you're never far from places of pure, scenic beauty; it's one of the reasons we call Portland "Authentic - By Nature."

Portland on TOP

Time and again Portland is listed as one of the top places to vacation from amid destinations in the northeast, the United States, and even worldwide. Here are a few of the recent accolades, which keep expanding to include everything from scenery to lifestyle.

Coziest City in America

In any season, Portland is the top spot to get cozy! This coastal region is perfect for snuggling in the winter, watching the tree lighting in Monument Square, or curling up with a special someone in the summer to watch fireworks by a beach bonfire. Multiple coffee shops provide comfortable settings to nestle into for work obligations or for finishing up a favorite read. –Elle Décor, Jan, 2015

Top 10 Oceanfront Cities

Lighthouses lining the rocky coast add to the beauty of the crashing waves and sandy beaches of Greater Portland. The area combines a striking landscape with a rapidly-growing commercial city while maintaining the roots of its maritime heritage. Enjoy kayaking, bicycling, or even a ferry ride along the coast to see the paradise Portland has to offer.

10 Most Inspiring Cities for Photographers

Home to one of the most photographed lighthouses in the world, it is no surprise Portland is a shutterbug's idea of perfection. Historical buildings, cobblestone walkways, coastal beaches, and beautiful parks create a unique balance between a thriving business city and a scenic tourism destination. Portland is a city with many stories, each told one photograph at a time. -Printaholic, Jan, 2015

Best Places to Live and Work as a Moviemaker

Portland is home to many creative thinkers, artists, and musicians—and movie makers are no exception. Successful Hollywood actors, like Anna Kendrick and Patrick Dempsey, are native to the area. Maine offers an assortment of seasons and settings and a supportive film commission allowing auteurs more control and creativity to successfully produce films. The Preacher's Wife and See Girl Run are but a couple of films to use Greater Portland as a dramatic backdrop.

10 Prettiest Cobblestone Streets Across America

Portland's Old Port section of town is known for its authentic cobblestone streets that predate many of its 19th century historical red-brick buildings. Inviting restaurants and upscale boutiques line these picturesque walkways where, in summer, tables fill with diners enjoying the Old World charm of irregular cobbles and Victorian lamps. These rustic pathways transport you back in time as you explore the Portland of today. –USA Today, Oct, 2014

14 Best Startup Cities in America

Mainers may be accustomed to their traditional ways, but high-tech innovation has taken off in Portland. With resources that support startups and entrepreneurs—such as the Casco Bay Tech Hub, Maine Center for Entrepreneurial Development, and Startup Portland—Maine's largest city is fertile soil in which to develop and grow a business. There is no better place for an entrepreneur to engage in a new startup then right here in the inspiring surroundings of Portland. –Popular Mechanics, Feb, 2015

13 Greatest Destination Food Towns in America

Dining in Portland you will experience traditional entrées that speak to the culture of Maine but also cuisine aimed at a more adventurous palate. Wake up to the smell of coffee brewing on the corner of every block, grab lunch fresh from the sea at a local lobster shack, and splurge on a three-course dinner at a creative contemporary restaurant overlooking the water. Wind down with a tasting of beers from local breweries, or treat yourself to ice cream or gelato at one of the parlors offering unique Maine flavors like lobster claw, maple walnut, or blueberry sorbet. If you want to experience a variety of delicious local cuisine made with only the freshest of ingredients, Portland is the place to be. -The Huffington Post, Nov, 2014

PLAYING

Whether you're planning a family trip, a romantic getaway, or traveling with friends, we've got abundant options for creating fun-filled days and nights. You may run out of time but never things to do.

The Portland art scene rivals that of cities much larger in size and features the world-renowned Portland Museum of Art, a resident symphony orchestra, numerous art galleries, and professional theatre. Portland also boasts an impressive selection of venues in which to enjoy local and internationallyacclaimed musicians and performers.

Greater Portland is also steeped in history and offers many ways to explore the past such as trolley tours, guided walking tours, and lovingly restored museum homes. Maine Maritime Museum in Bath is devoted to the state's rich maritime history, and the only active Shaker community in the world welcomes visitors to its New Gloucester farm, founded in 1783.

With our region's proximity to the sea, there are naturally plenty of things to do on and around the water, from narrated cruises to sunset schooner sails, exciting kavak excursions to lazv beach afternoons. But don't miss the mountains with superb downhill skiing, plentiful wildlife, thrilling whitewater rafting, and fishing and swimming in crystal clear lakes. Golf enthusiasts will find numerous beautifully situated courses, either beside the ocean or amid the mountains. Maine is "The Great Outdoors," so get out and enjoy it!

There's also plenty to keep the kids busy, from a new science center to wildlife and amusement parks to the alluring world of antique trains, planes, and trolleys, even their own Children's Museum & Theatre. You'll score great indoor adventure at Bayside Bowl and Easy Day Bowling, and experience the fastest go-kart racing in the state at Maine Indoor Karting, where adrenaline is always in season. And Portland is home to three professional sports teams so there will likely be a hockey, basketball, or baseball game that will hit a home run with the family when you visit.

The excitement peaks at fairs and festivals throughout the summer and fall: be sure to check the calendar istings on pages 50-52 for special events for you and your family to enjoy.

City Fun, Island HOPPING

No visit to Portland is complete without venturing out to one of the nearby Casco Bay Islands. Dine at a fine Portland restaurant, stay in a comfortable hotel, then get out onto the sparkling waters in a number of fun and affordable ways.

The Casco Bay Lines ferry offers daily trips to seven of the nearby populated islands as well as sunset and moonlight cruises, and a sunrise cruise for early risers.

Peaks Island, a commuter neighborhood of Maine's largest city, is only 15 minutes away but feels like a world apart. Rent bicycles or kayaks, or simply take a leisurely stroll through the lovely town streets lined with gift shops, cafes, and ancient elm trees, which survived the blight due to their secluded island location. Visit the Fifth Maine Regiment Museum, built in 1888 as a memorial and reunion hall for veterans of the 5th Maine Regiment, and now maintained as a Civil War and local history museum. Top off the day with drinks or dinner at the Inn on Peaks Island, a stone's throw from the ferry back to Portland.

Chebeague, the largest of the Casco Bay islands, can be reached by a leisurely 1 $^1\!\!\!/$

hour ferry ride from Portland or a 15 minute jaunt from nearby Yarmouth. The island contains many Greek Revival homes that were built by the "stone sloopers," men whose ships carried granite for many of the nation's most spectacular monuments and churches. Play a round of golf on the nine-hole golf course and have lunch at the Chebeague Island Inn, which offers great food and a spectacular panoramic porch view of the ocean.

Looking for an authentic old-fashioned schooner sailing experience? You can enjoy sunset cruises on the bay provided by Maine Sailing Adventures and Portland Schooner Company, both located next to the ferry terminal. For a tasty and educational evening, join sommelier Erica Archer of Wine Wise who offers fine-wine experiences as part of some of the evening schooner excursions. Or take the ferry to Great Diamond Island for a romantic dinner at Diamond's Edge.

And for a great family excursion, head up to South Freeport for a trip with Captain Tom Ring on Atlantic Seal Cruises, bound for nearby Eagle Island. Eagle Island was the summer home of Admiral Robert E. Peary, the first man to reach the North Pole. The magnificent home has ocean views on all sides, lovely indigenous flower gardens, and is filled with Peary's belongings. Captain Tom will show you seals playing on nearby rock outcroppings and even pull a lobster trap or two on the way back.

No matter which adventure you choose (and we suggest trying them all!), once back from the islands there is so much to do in Portland, including a visit to the Portland Museum of Art, which has assembled some of the best paintings from many of Maine's museums into one fabulous summer-long show. Artful COLLECTION

Highlights from Maine's most-renowned museums will be on view together for the first time from May 21 through September 20, 2015 at the Portland Museum of Art.

Art and culture has defined the identity of Maine ever since artists began visiting Monhegan Island and trekking up Mount Katahdin. This magnificent environment and the art it inspired has captured the public imagination for centuries, and to this day a growing number of visitors from around the world continue to affirm that Maine's galleries, studios, and art museums are unlike any in the world.

The Maine Art Museum Trail is comprised of seven leading museums offering a dazzling array of collections, from ancient to contemporary. Directors' Cut: Selections from the Maine Art Museum Trail lets us see these museums through the eyes of their directors, who have specially curated selections of Maine masterpieces from their respective museums' collections. The artists and artworks presented in this exhibition embody quintessentially Maine ideals of fierce independence, innovation, and selfsufficiency, as well as a strength of character that is built from admiration and respect for the rugged and unspoiled qualities of this land.

This is the Maine that inspired Berenice Abbott, Marsden Hartley, Winslow Homer, John Marin, Louise Nevelson, N.C. Wyeth, and Marguerite Zorach. This is the Maine that continues to inspire contemporary artists Ahmed Alsoudani, Lois Dodd, David Driskell, Lauren Fensterstock, Robert Indiana, Alex Katz, Richard Tuttle, and Jamie Wyeth.

Directors' Cut: Selections from the Maine Art Museum Trail shares the rich cultural legacy of our state while providing a platform to highlight the visionary artists of our future. The world holds an enduring fascination with Maine, and the art displayed at this exhibit helps demonstrate why.

If your visit doesn't coincide with this special exhibition, you can make your own pilgrimage along the Maine Art Museum Trail Museum, exploring Maine's spectacular coastline, countryside, and urban landscapes. The journey will take you from Portland's panoramic waterfront, to historic downtown Bangor, to Rockland and Ogunquit with their lively shops and galleries, to the campuses of Bowdoin, Bates, and Colby Colleges. Each museum community offers unique opportunities to discover shops, cafés, galleries, historic architecture, theatre, music, and other cultural attractions that make each destination a special pleasure.

Winter's REWARDS

Mainers have figured out how to pack the coldest months of the year with a warming cheer and so many ways to get out and blast away the chill!

One of the first ways to add seasonal charm to your visit is to take a horse and carriage ride in the Old Port with carolers on street corners and museum homes all dressed up for the holidays. Then visit the North Pole with a ride along the waterfront on the Polar Express. Bundle up and grab a hot chocolate or cup of joe from one of our many local coffee shops as you view the historic beauty of Portland's Victorian legacy.

As a low-cost alternative for finding great culture, Greater Portland is hard to beat, with a rich profusion of professional theater and dance at a fraction of the cost found in other cities. Enjoy live music at intimate venues like the State Theatre and One Longfellow Square, and innovative artistic performances from jazz to Broadway show tours presented by Portland Ovations inside elegant Merrill Auditorium.

If you're itching to get moving, join Portland residents for some urban skiing. The Eastern Promenade and Green Belt trails cater to runners and walkers, cyclists and skateboarders in the warmer weather and, alternately, fans of cross-country skiing and snowshoeing in the winter. On particularly snowy days don't be surprised if you see errant skiers forgoing the trails and instead taking to the streets. Downhill skiers can find solace at one of Maine's many ski mountains like Sunday River in Bethel and Shawnee Peak in Bridgton.

All that brisk winter air is sure to whip up an appetite; reward your outdoor excursions with hearty winter fare and curl up beside a fire at a cozy inn. When you're ready to people watch and socialize, take bar-hopping to a new level and experience an ice bar—great blocks of ice are carved into eye-pleasing configurations from whimsical characters to sculpted piping systems that keep your drink cool as the liquid sluices into your ready glass.

To maximize your appreciation of Maine's winter wonderland, plan your vacation to coincide with one of the winter festivals put on in Portland, South Portland, Freeport, and Westbrook, each a special program of crowd-pleasing activities, games and competitions from chili and chowder cook-offs to ice skating and sled-dog races. When it comes to winter getaways, Portland is one of the best values in the northeast. Come embrace winter like a local with culture, spectator sports and, of course, snowscapes to keep you glowing.

Something's BREWING

Whether you ride the Beast of the y'East tour bus, join a hash run, or strike out on your own, be sure to explore Portland's prolific scene of microbrews, spirits and viticulture.

The growing breadth of craft beer, wine, and distilled spirit producers is astounding, but in an era of discerning drinkers it takes creative flair and a competitive edge to flourish. Maine is at the forefront of this beverage boom and Greater Portland offers some of the most accessible, palate pleasing imbibing opportunities around.

In the area fondly referred to as y'East Bayside, family owned and operated businesses like Rising Tide Brewing and Maine Craft Distilling garner a following with favorites like Daymark, a pale ale, and Fifty Stone Whiskey. Just off the Portland peninsula Allagash Brewery, New England Distillery, and a growing number of up-and-coming breweries are another hub of liquid refreshment. Then there's the Old Port, home to hot spots like the Sweetgrass tasting room where quintessential Maine ingredients, like blueberries and maple syrup, flavor dessert wines. It's also where the granddaddy of Maine beer producers, Shipyard Brewery, resides.

If you're pressed for time, the best way to visit the widest variety of these businesses is to join a tour. The premier touring companies, for lovers of libation, are the Maine Brew Bus and Maine Beer Tours. Get a behind-the-scenes look at the fermentation processes and tools of the trade as guides offer an informative and entertaining dialog to complement your experience. Oh, and there's plenty of samples too!

Portland Beer Week is an event that celebrates beer culture taking place in late autumn. Increase your beer knowledge exponentially as you enjoy special beer and food pairing menus at bars and restaurants throughout the city. Collaborations between breweries, home brewers, and local coffee roasters ensure there's new and tantalizing tastes at every table. The Craft Beer Cellar on Commercial Street carries a commendable selection of award-winning local brews bottled and canned to perfection. You can peruse their wares and continue expanding your beverage horizons or find a few favorites to take home.

There's something new brewing every season, so to stay on top of the latest buzz, we recommend repeat visits. The fourth weekend of October, the waterfront is hopping with food, wine, and beer aficionados celebrating the vibrant culinary scene at our annual Harvest on the Harbor—come see what's on tap!

Fabulous Family OUTINGS

This is the way to create lasting memories for your kids—from simply enjoying a beautiful park together to action packed adventures, here are some ways to enjoy Maine as a family.

TAKE THE TRAIN to Old Orchard Beach and hop on one of the thrilling rides at Palace Playland that overlook the ocean. Soak up the sun on the seven mile stretch of sandy beach, and watch professional fireworks light up the sky every Thursday night.

DON SKATES to engage in a Portland tradition since the 1900s—gliding on the pond at Deering Oaks Park, an elegant oasis of nature on the edge of the Portland peninsula.

VISIT EARTHA and marvel at the sheer size and fantastic engineering of the world's largest revolving and rotating globe, located at Maine's cartographic company, DeLorme in Yarmouth.

WALK OUT the 900-foot granite breakwater at Spring Point Ledge in South Portland to tour a real working lighthouse, and watch sailboats, ferries, cruise ships, and oil tankers ply the waters of busy Portland harbor.

GET A CLOSE-UP VIEW of flora and fauna at the Maine Wildlife Park with over 30 species of Maine wildlife, trails, and a full season of special events on tap.

FLY A KITE at Bug Light Park in South Portland where kids can run around on 4 acres of plush, sea-level grass surrounded by magnificent views of Casco Bay and Portland's waterfront.

HAUL TRAPS with Captain Tom aboard the Lucky Catch as he guides you through the daily routines of a Maine lobsterman, and enjoy close-up views of lighthouses, forts, and seals.

EXPERIENCE THE THRILLING RIDES

at northern New England's largest family-themed amusement and water park, Funtown/Splashtown USA, home of many circuitous rides, slides, pools, and Maine's only wooden roller coaster.

GET ACTIVE at Pineland Farms where you can tour a working farm and creamery, and enjoy a world of outdoor activities, from cross-country skiing to mountain biking, upon 5,000 acres of beautiful woodlands and fields in New Gloucester.

CATCH THE EXCITEMENT at a home game of one our professional sports teams—the Portland Sea Dogs (base ball), the Maine Red Claws (basketball), or the Portland Pirates (hockey).

EXPLORE THE BLOOMING Children's Garden at Coastal Maine Botantical

Gardens where children use their imagination for play and discovery, delight in the wonders of nature, and enjoy fun and educational activities.

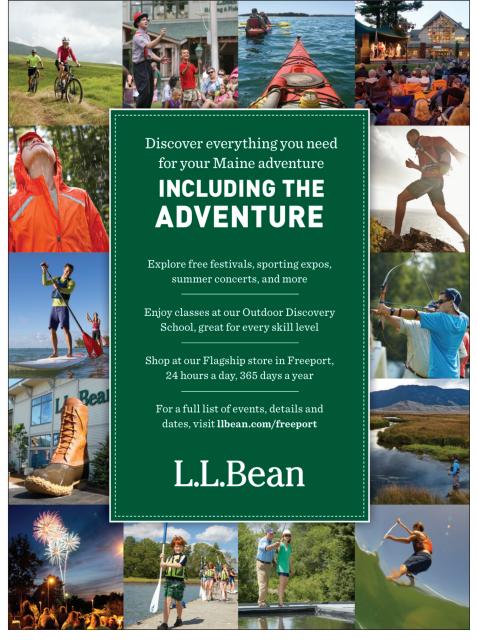

VISIT LENNY, the world's only life-sized chocolate moose, weighing in at 1,700 pounds, at Len Libby Chocolatier in Scarborough, and indulge in their quality homemade chocolate and candies.

TAKE A FUN and informative land or sea tour (or both!) of Portland via trolley, tour boat, duck boat, or fire engine—most leave from Commercial Street at regularly scheduled times.

IMMERSE YOURSELVES in Shaker life and history at Sabbathday Lake Village as you tour the only active Shaker community in the county, visit its museum, and observe crafts workshops and demos.

ALL ABOARD! Take a trip back in time on antique narrow gauge steam trains at Boothbay Railway Village, the Wiscasset, Waterville & Farmington Railway Museum in Alna, and Portland's Maine Narrow Gauge Railroad, or on a restored streetcar at Kennebunkport's Seashore Trolley Museum.

DINING

Long known for serving the freshest of lobster and seafood, Maine has now gained a national reputation for its innovative restaurants, craft beers, and growing number of award-winning chefs.

Culinary tourists from around the country are making pilgrimages to partake of the creativity of world-class chefs who have settled in the area and shaped an epicure's paradise. The southern Maine region has a startling number of restaurants, but it's their quality not quantity that's got everyone buzzing.

Greater Portland's dining scene targets all personalities and tastes, from sophisticated restaurants to funky, artsy cafes. Breakfast is one of our specialties; early risers can start their day dockside with the fishing crews at Becky's Diner or at the retro Miss Portland Diner. For dinner, enjoy views of Casco Bay from restaurants that line the harbor or soak up the ambiance of venues tucked away inside beautifully restored historic buildings.

Many of Maine's restaurateurs are proud to be part of the authentic farm-to-table movement and primarily use fish, meat, organic produce, and naturally grown fruit that come from local farmers, fishermen, and suppliers. You can't walk down the street in Portland without bumping into several ways to treat your taste buds, which is why Maine Foodie Tours now offers culinary walking and trolley tours, so you can sample delectable foods while getting a behind-the-scenes look at the craft makers and their industry.

In the past couple of years, a fanciful fleet of food trucks has emerged on the Portland scene, serving everything from tacos to cupcakes; fast food is definitely more fun when discovered outdoors from these mobile urban eateries. Ethnic offerings are also prolific with new restaurants fusing modern interpretations with traditional Middle Eastern, Mediterranean, and Asian cuisines.

Harvest on the Harbor, a celebration of Maine's culinary creativity, takes place the 4th week of October on the Portland waterfront. Join us for four days full of scrumptious edibles, cooking demonstrations, and over 150 wines, beers and spirits to sample. Whenever you visit, make reservations to ensure you can experience the food and ambiance at the dining spots that most intrigue you.

We saw an ad in Uncle Henry's: "100 Pounds of Sea Glass For Sale"... that's all it said. We called. Then we visited. She was delightful. She said she and her daughters, and then grandchildren, had been picking up sea glass on the beaches around her home forever.

The walls in her basement were lined with two types of coffee cans and glass jars. Some with mixed colors, some filled with solid colors. It was beautiful. This was the definitive collection of Maine sea glass. We met her asking price and bought it all.

The bracelet is real silver. The sea glass is securely set in handmade frames. Toggle clasp with adjustable length, fits everyone.

A really pleasant mix of colors. Every bracelet is different. Each bracelet is guaranteed a nice bright blue. (Blue is rare and we have it because it's from a lifetime collection.)

Out on the TOWN

Whether you're checking out the live music scene, or dancing the night away on a neon-lit club floor, Portland's nightlife combines the energy and accessibility of the big city with the congeniality of a small-town community.

Along the lively streets of the Old Port you'll find waterfront bars, such as the Irish pub and restaurant Ri Ra, where visitors can enjoy a beer while observing lobstermen surveying their catches. The Arts District, affectionately referred to as "Uptown" by locals, offers a myriad of venues in which to discover a local band or attend a themed party. Uptown Portland is undeniably a more artsy part of town, whereas the Old Port is plain entertainment and energy. Uptown Portland mingles dance clubs with artist talks, community events, film screenings, and theater events; the Old Port invites visitors to drink, dance, and bring in the summer, the weekend, or a vacation.

Near Exchange Street, the Old Port's main thoroughfare, experience beer gardens and microbreweries with an old-world feel such as Bull Feeney's, with its turn-of-thecentury Irish pub décor, and Gritty McDuff's where you can choose from a variety of fine ales, all brewed on site, while people-watching from a cozy booth. For live music any night of the week, and fresh off-the-boat "pub style" seafood, visit Andy's Old Port Pub. Dockside, Portland Lobster Company also offers nightly live music; grab a cold one at their outdoor tented bar and enjoy some of the best views in town while the night fills with foot-tapping sounds.

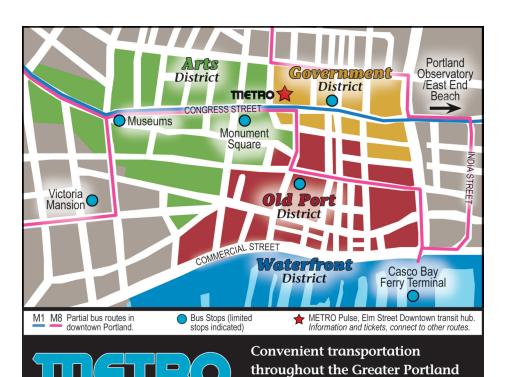

If a quieter evening is what you're after, the Top of the East at the Westin Portland Harborview Hotel offers spectacular views of Portland in a romantic atmosphere. Plop down in a comfy armchair and enjoy a cocktail while seated by a floor-to-ceiling glass window, the lights of the city in full-view. Another great spot to sip in comfort is MJ's Wine Bar where you can also enjoy live jazz every Thursday and Sunday night.

A short stroll from the Westin takes visitors to the Uptown scene—artsy bars with a more urban feel, a variety of music and art venues, and gallery openings. At the Dogfish Bar & Grille, the live music is mostly acoustic blues and jazz, and the atmosphere is casual and laid-back; art lines the walls and old records and record-players invite visitors to wax nostalgic. Local 188, or "local" as it is affectionately referred to by the ...well, locals, epitomizes the rare character of this city's nightlife: there is small-town community here but the décor, the food, the liveliness, hints at big-city life, at a worldliness that is unmistakably urban yet authentically Portland's.

In the peak summer months don't miss the Thursday evening Alive at Five free concert series in Monument Square where you can enjoy popular bands as the summer sun wanes. Use the grid on the opposite page as well as the Free Outdoor events listed on page 52 to help you choose the right entertainment for your night out on the town.

TRAVELING

It's easy to get here and easy to get around once you arrive, and you'll be pleasantly surprised at just how close we are — just two hours north of Boston and less than four hours from Hartford.

Airplane arrivals and departures average 100 daily, many of which are non-stop flights. The following domestic commercial airlines serve Portland: Continental. Delta. JetBlue. Southwest. United, and US Airways. Flight and airline contact information is available at portlandjetport.org. The airport is conveniently located just three miles from downtown, and many hotels offer free shuttle service. Rental car. taxi. and limousine services are also available at the Jetport.

Portland has become a popular cruise ship stop, so your next visit could be planned around a vacation at sea. Cruise ships dock right downtown, letting passengers disembark to stroll the Old Port or take a narrated city tour or shore excursions to the villages of Freeport or Kennebunkport. Travel to and from Nova Scotia on the new Nova Star ferry service.

For motorists traveling from northeast cities, access by auto is a breeze on Interstate 95. Greater Portland is also serviced by national and regional bus lines, offering numerous routes to Maine. Or you can ride the rails to Maine, on the "Downeaster," Amtrak's passenger service between Boston and Brunswick, with stops in Wells, Saco, Old Orchard Beach, Portland, and Freeport.

Once here, you will find the region easy to navigate with very little traffic. The Metro bus system offers convenient public bus service from outlying areas to downtown, and Casco Bay Lines provides regular ferry service to the nearby islands. Portland Trails maintains a network of bicycle and pedestrian routes throughout the region such as the Greenbelt Trail on which you can reach several parks in South Portland.

Set Your SAILS

for Portland, July 18-20, 2015

It is with a fierce pride that Mainers preserve the rich maritime culture that has been an intimate part of their history for hundreds of years. For three days in July, the Iberdrola USA Tall Ships Festival will transform Portland's waterfront into a floating pageant as some of the finest and most unique sailing vessels in the world parade, moor, and welcome visitors aboard.

In the early 19th century, Maine built more ships than any other state and continued to do so until the emergence of steel ships in the 1890s. Maine's dominance in the shipbuilding industry came about for three reasons: the presence of large forests of shipbuilding timber; Maine's 3,000 miles of tidal coastline, suitable for building vessels and launching them into deep water; and a large workforce of highly skilled tradesmen. Maine was responsible for 75 to 95% of the four, five, and six-mast schooners built on the East Coast from 1870 to 1899.

Over a century later, the billowing sails of majestic wooden sailing ships continue to capture the hearts of so many. It was in 2000 when the last fleet of tall ships moored along Maine's coast as part of OpSail Maine; since then Portland has eagerly awaited their return. In addition to the schooner Bowdoin, currently owned and operated by Maine Maritime Academy, and the Portland-based Harvey Gamage, there are numerous domestic and international tall ships expected to make an appearance.

Event participants can tour these amazing sea crafts, and meet with their crews in a convivial festival atmosphere. Select ships will even offer visitors brief ventures into Casco Bay. For tickets and more information visit tallshipsportland.com. Come sea!

SHOPPING

It's easy to see why so many people add shopping to their list of reasons to come to Greater Portland; from handcrafts to haute couture, the pleasures of unearthing unique items and plentiful bargains are numerous.

The Old Port district of Portland is lined with one-of-a-kind boutiques featuring authentic Maine-made and imported goods. Stroll the cobblestone streets, duck into a café, and smell the salt air roll in from the bay. You'll find shops and galleries occupying revitalized warehouses with exposed brick and beams: sometimes the stores themselves are as unique as the wares they display! Portland has specialty shops for dog lovers, vintage collectors, those who love to cook (and eat!), and for connoisseurs of all types of art and handcrafts.

The state's largest shopping center, The Maine Mall, is located in South Portland with over 140 of your favorite stores and restaurants. The surrounding mall area contains many smaller shopping plazas and eateries, and all of it is just 10 minutes from downtown Portland.

Several Greater Portland stores have become destinations unto themselves such as DeLorme in Yarmouth, where you can view the world's largest rotating and revolving globe while checking out the most up-to-date navigational products. At L.L. Bean in Freeport, one of the most well-respected outdoor outfitters in the world, you'll find all the gear and clothing to make your outdoor adventures comfortable and successful. Take advantage of free in-store clinics on everything from birding essentials to basic kayaking strokes.

Searching for a great souvenir of your visit? Bring home a touch of Maine with a piece of exquisite tourmaline jewelry fashioned from beautiful gems unearthed in the state's western mountains. Or an earthenware mug or bowl inspired by Maine's natural land and seascapes. Or specialty honey products, from wine to lip balm, made from local bee hives.

Outlet shopping has become a major-league sport in Maine with Kittery at the state's southern entrance, and Freeport, just 20 minutes north of Portland, offering scores of designer and name-brand outlets.

Before your visit, check out visitportland.com for shopping coupons to extend your dollars. And be sure to leave some room in the car.

"Belt tied, not buckled. And other things you should know about style."

Unlike fashion, style is a subtle thing. It's a certain something that compliments a man's personality and makes a statement without being conspicuous or inconspicuous. It's about fabric and fit; ties tied properly; trousers that break just across the top of your shoes. And jackets that allow the right bit of shirt sleeve to show.

LIVING

Greater Portland's safe environment, beautiful landscapes, and vibrant arts and food culture combine to create a treasured quality of life for residents and visitors alike.

Portland consistently makes top-ten lists of best places to vacation, and is also appearing on "best of" lists for families, green living, and outdoor lifestyle, even earning a recent ranking from Travel & Leisure under Best Cities for Hipsters. We're not surprised.

An old seaport city on a fresh new trajectory fueled by the creative economy, Greater Portland has been attracting young entrepreneurs who find the progressive region large enough to be interesting, yet small enough to develop a supportive community.

You can connect with some of the creative, energetic people who are planting roots in our region on Creative Portland's website, liveworkportland.org, an invaluable source of information and resources for current residents and those considering a move. From neighborhoods and housing to investment and business incubators, the site provides ideas on ways to fit your interests and talents within our community.

The Portland region is growing and diversifying rapidly. In addition to the old-time Mainers and their Down East humor, you'll find new communities of residents from Eastern Europe, Africa, and Southeast Asia, as well as transplants from other US regions. Portland's small size encourages community involvement and makes for a quicker transition once you decide to call this region home.

The Economic & Community Development divisions of towns and cities in Greater Portland can aid you in transplanting your business and family to Maine; find contact info at greaterportland.org. If you've already decided to relocate, or you're contemplating a move to the Greater Portland area, our local service professionals will make your transition smoother. Also, for your visits, see the rentals on page 71 and the accommodations on pages 77, 79, and 83 marked for hotels that specialize in

If you're here for a visit only, the service listings on pages 64-66 may still include something you'll need during your vacation.

The Towns of GREATER PORTLAND

Greater Portland is comprised of more than the state's major urban center. The metropolitan area is surrounded with vibrant communities that accent and complement Maine's largest city.

The creative, natural hub of Maine.

PORTLAND is a city that works hard and plays even harder, all in a relaxed setting. Though smaller than some of its east coast rivals, this little city has a world-class dining scene, a truly magnificent art museum, and plenty of places to play outdoors. And that's without even leaving the peninsula.

Take a stroll through the historic streets of downtown Portland and you might find your stomach rumbling after just a few steps; on every block, there is a new culinary pleasure awaiting you. Whether you're seeking a classic lobster roll or the latest foodie trend, you'll have no trouble finding it here. It seems there are new places to graze popping up daily, offering everything from hyper-local cuisine to rustic pub fare. Want to dine at the restaurant of a two-time James Beard Awardwinning chef? You can do that here, too.

Once you've sated your hunger, it's time to feed the mind. Historic buildings abound on the cobblestone streets. In the summer, live music never seems to stop in Monument Square, and you can always enjoy a concert at one of Portland's many music venues. First-time visitors to the Portland Museum of Art will be blown away by the collection of American and European art. To truly soak in the cultural offerings, be sure to check out a First Friday Art Walk, where artists line the streets and galleries open for business. You can chat with a local artist, buy paintings straight from the source, or just enjoy the carnival-like scene.

For the serious shopper, there are many places to fill your closet. Fashion in Maine is a funny thing, often defined by L.L. Bean boots and nautical wear. But there's more to it than that—just stroll through the Arts

District and the Old Port to visit a myriad of local boutiques offering sophisticated modern designs and fun lifestyle products. Much of what you'll find in Maine is locally-made: from pottery to jewelry to clever T-shirts displaying that famous Maine sense of humor.

Finally, no visit to Portland would be complete without a day spent outdoors. Hop a ferry from the Old Port for the short ride to Peaks Island, or just stroll along the breathtaking Eastern Promenade with summer views straight out of a Seurat painting. The authentic working waterfront is worth a visit; grab a seat at one of the many outdoor restaurants and watch as boats arrive and depart or wend you way down the wharfs to see fishermen unloading their catch. A truly bike-friendly city, cyclists will find that trails stretch all the way from downtown up onto the mainland and feature sweeping views of the harbor. Or if you would rather take it slow, grab a coffee from one of our expert roasters (Portlanders love their local coffee) and join the locals at the Saturday morning farmers' market in Deering Oaks Park, where the people-watching is excellent and the fountains truly lovely.

Island life. It's a phrase that holds an almost mystical amount of power. Who among us hasn't wished for our own private island? While you may not be able to buy a plot of aquatic land, you can find your own paradise on Maine's beautiful, serene, and pristine islands.

Scattered throughout the Atlantic Ocean is a seemingly limitless number of islands, running all the way from southern Maine to the northernmost tip. While devoted sailors can spend years exploring our islands, many tourists prefer the lovely archipelago in Casco Bay for its accessibility and natural beauty. Serviced by the Casco Bay Ferry Lines, it's easy to visit the CALENDAR ISLANDS, as this smattering of sea-surrounded lands is called. From the small wonders on LITTLE DIAMOND ISLAND to the sprawling community on 25-square-mile CHEBEAGUE ISLAND, this region encompasses a wide variety of beaches, towns, scenic vistas, and charming seaside homes. With literally hundreds of islands to choose from, it's not always easy to pick your destination.

Fortunately, ferry services narrow down the options significantly. PEAKS ISLAND, Little Diamond Island, GREAT DIAMOND ISLAND, LONG ISLAND, Chebeague Island, CLIFF ISLAND, and BAILEY ISLAND are all on the Casco Bay route, though it is possible to access other islands through private boats and shuttle services. For a truly special dining experience, make a reservation and grab a ferry to the Inn at Peaks Island, Chebeague Island Inn, or Diamond's Edge on Great Diamond Island. Enjoy fresh seafood surrounded by the waters of the Atlantic as the sun sets over Portland—what could he better?

If your calendar allows a little flexibility, plan on visiting during one of the Casco Bay Islands' wonderful events. In the summer, visitors flock to Chebeague for the annual Chebeague Chebang festival, a Fourth of July celebration complete with live music, lawn games, and loads of food. Book a stay at the beautifully restored 1920s Chebeague Island Inn and enjoy the sunset, cocktails, and ocean breezes from the wraparound porch.

For a more rustic experience, head to Cliff Island, where the roads are dirt and cars are rare. Like all the Casco Bay Islands, bicycling is very popular here, and this diminutive landmass is easily explored on two wheels. If you find yourself craving a lobster BLT after all that pedaling, you can sate your appetite at the seaside market.

Chances are good that you'll find Portland's island communities so charming that you want to extend your stay past one day. Fortunately, there are numerous inns, B&Bs, hotels, and house rentals. Whether you want an outdoor adventure, complete with a campfire, or you are looking for old-world charm, the Casco Bay Islands are set to deliver a rare and memorable experience.

This is classic Maine.

There are few places better suited to enjoy the quintessential pleasures of lobsters and lighthouses than CAPE ELIZABETH and the neighboring community of SCARBOROUGH. While the state offers many other attractions, it's impossible to deny the persistent draw of these buttery crustaceans and regal structures. Cliché? No way.

Known throughout the state as premium places to live, both Cape Elizabeth and Scarborough are safe, peaceful communities for their year-round residents. Yet vou don't have to hold a moose-marked license to enjoy the quaint homes and quiet streets. Visitors to the area will be struck by the calm beauty of Cape Elizabeth's rolling hills and Colonial-style homes. Scarborough, once known as "Owascoag," or the "place of much grass," holds a similar appeal. Gentle marshes turn slowly into sandy beaches, and boardwalks provide a place to slow down and enjoy the scenery. Scarborough Beach State Park and Crescent Beach State Park are both great places to spend an afternoon, and unlike much of Maine's coastline, these beaches are covered in soft, comfortable sand. And while we can't claim the water is warm, at 60 degrees and over, the Scarborough shoreline is a nice place to take a refreshing dip on hot summer days.

Slightly more famous than its southern neighbor, Cape Elizabeth is an affluent area filled with rich history and striking scenery. Take a horseback riding lesson, pick your own strawberries, or just spend a day at the beach—this lovely little town has it all. Several state parks adorn the coastline, including Two Lights, where those looking for lighthouses will be bowled over by the views. Fort Williams boasts beautiful, historic ruins, and one of the best-known lighthouses in Maine and America—Portland Head Light. Walking trails are in abundance at both locations, and offer sweeping views of the sea (and a bevy of photo ops!). Outdoorsy types will also enjoy a visit to Scarborough Marsh Audubon Center, where you can watch seabirds swoop and dive through their natural habitats.

Of course, the sea air does tend to make one hungry, so it's fortunate that some of the region's best dining can be found conveniently close to the shore. Whether you're looking for traditional beach fare or more traditional fine dining, you won't be disappointed. Bite into Maine and the Lobster Shack can fill your lobster roll cravings, and Sea Glass at Inn by the Sea is the perfect place to enjoy a romantic meal. The Black Point Inn out on Prout's Neck, where Winslow Homer painted, features fine dining and cocktails on the porch.

Whether you're looking for equestrian activities or a trip to the apple orchard, Scarborough and Cape Elizabeth have everything you might want. This is, as they say, "the way life should be."

Our most diverse town.

SOUTH PORTLAND encompasses two distinct aspects. On one side of town, a transportation and shopping hub vibrates with energy, while on the other side, lighthouses and beaches offer peaceful relaxation. Visitors who come to Maine by air will inevitably get their first glimpse of the Pine Tree State in South Portland and there are many fantastic attractions on this side of the Casco Bay Bridge, starting with the Portland International Jetport's striking collection of outdoor sculpture art. Yes, just outside this state-of-the-art airport is a series of beautiful pieces made by Maine artists like Jay Sawyer and Wendy Klemperer.

On the off-chance your luggage didn't make it through with you—or maybe you just want to snag a new suit before sunning yourself at the beach—you'll find everything you need nearby at the Maine Mall. Conveniently located near a number of hotels, this is the largest shopping mall in the state of Maine. Filled with national retailers and specialty stores, vacationers will find everything they need under one roof.

After you've stocked up on swimsuits and outdoor gear, put your purchases to work in one of South Portland's lovely parksor just check out the beautiful campus at Southern Maine Community College. While you're there, be sure to stop for a picture at Fort Preble and another at Spring Point Ledge Lighthouse. A 900-foot breakwater leads up to this historic structure, creating a truly majestic bulwark against the sea. Take a stroll (or better yet, bring your bike) on the historic Greenbelt Walkway, a three-mile paved trail that provides views of the bustling harbor. Another great green space is Mill Creek Park where fragrant roses burst into life come summer, and in the winter, ice skaters can be found making frozen tracks on the pond.

Salt-water junkies can slip into the Atlantic at Willard Beach, one of the city's few free public beaches located in one of Maine's hippest neighborhoods. After enjoying the sand and surf, take a short drive to Bug Light Park. Those unfamiliar with Portland Breakwater Lighthouse— or as it's more commonly known, Bug Light—will be charmed by this small lighthouse which sits at the end of a pink granite breakwater. First constructed in 1855, the graceful design has been guiding view of the dramatic city skyline. It's all just a hop, skip, and a bridge away from the City of Portland.

רוון -828-1117 www.portlandhilton.co ships to port for decades. On a sunny day, you'll see plenty of kite-flyers enjoying the ocean winds. Take a moment to contemplate the monument to the World War II Liberty Ships which were built on the current park's site between 1941 and 1945. Finally, before heading out of town, be sure to check out the coffee shops, cafes, and stores in Knightville; business is booming in this lesser-known neighborhood. Or enjoy a fabulous meal just around the corner at Saltwater Grille where the quality of dining is matched by the unobstructed

Travel a bit west of Portland and you'll be surprised at how quickly the sea-soaked air turns cool and green. Touched with the tranquil beauty of inner Maine, yet still within shouting distance of the sea, the towns of GORHAM and WESTBROOK are thriving, backed by rich history and packed with character.

If you're looking for quaint New England charm, you couldn't have picked a better region. Historic buildings abound in these sleepy towns, from lovely old churches to stately libraries. Mills once stood along the rivers—Westbrook can count both the Presumpscot River and the smaller Stroudwater River within its boundaries—turning the flowing water into a source of energy and a fuel for industry. Agriculture was always important in these inland towns, and it remains so to this day. Just stop in at a local orchard to pick some apples or grab a pumpkin and you'll see what we mean.

If Portland is the metropolitan hub of the area, Gorham is the cute little college town. There may not be much nightlife, but those seeking higher education need look no further than the University of Southern Maine, an institution that helps thousands of students advance their careers and pursue their dreams every year. And, as with any college town, the school also enhances the intellectual life of the community. From coffee shop discussions to gallery openings, the influence of the university is felt throughout the town.

If classrooms and lecture halls aren't on your itinerary, you can still feed your mind at the Gorham Historical Society & Museum. Visitors will enjoy the University of Southern Maine Art Galleries, and theater fans can stop in at Acom Productions, where they offer acting classes for children and adults, or catch a theatrical, dance or musical act at the intimate Westbrook Performing Arts Center.

When it comes to outdoor exploring, there are ample choices. There are multiple parks in the area, from the well-groomed and popular Bicentennial Park & Skate Park to the more isolated trails that run along the river. In the winter, ice-skating is a popular pastime, as is cross-country skiing. In the summer, you can take a dip at the public pool in Westbrook, or bring your fishing rods up to Highland Lake. You can also rent kayaks and stand-up paddle-boards from the City of Westbrook and enjoy a beautiful stretch of the Presumpscot River between Saccarappa Falls and the historic Elms on your own or on a guided tour. Snowmobiling is also a popular activity, thanks to the wooded trails and gently rolling topography.

After all that skating and skiing, you're bound to work up an appetite. Despite the old-fashioned architecture of downtown Westbrook, the area is buzzing with great places to eat and shop. You can get anything from spicy Indian to comforting Italian cuisine at the local eateries. But if you want cold beer, head to Gorham, where the nationally acclaimed Sebago Brewing Company can be found. Order a Maine-made brew and hearty pub food before heading out for your next adventure.

Drive along Route 1 a few minutes north from Portland and a few minutes north from Portland and you'll soon find yourself in the pretty coastal town of FALMOUTH. Just a short jaunt north of that is YARMOUTH, and even farther along away up the coast is the little slice of Maine known as CUMBERLAND. With salt-water views, acres of forest, and easy access to islands, this region is popular among vacationers and locals alike.

Somewhat hidden gems, these towns offer many unique recreational opportunities. Follow road signs for Falmouth Foreside just north of Portland on I295 and enjoy a walk around Mackworth Island just beyond the bridge. You'll find a surprising settlement: fairy houses, built by children out of found natural materials.

Continue north on Route 1 in Falmouth and turn onto Route 88, one of the most beautiful drives in America. Stop into Town Landing Market in Falmouth Foreside and walk down the hill to Falmouth Town Landing, offering spectacular views of the harbor. Continue up Route 88 to explore Cousins Island, easily accessible by car. From here, you can hop a ferry to Chebeague Island, or stay to wander around the state parks and public beaches on the mainland.

With this much coastline, it's only logical to have top-notch seafood spots, but if you really want to sample the best of the ocean's bounty, visit Yarmouth during the third week in July, when the annual Clam Festival takes over the town center. The family-friendly event features plenty of clams and chowders, as well as amusement rides for the kids.

While we're on the subject of events, there is also a great town fair in Cumberland. One of Maine's largest agricultural fairs, it's a very cool way to learn about the farmland culture, which played a huge part in the formation of this community, as you chow down on some delicious fairground food.

Missed the fest? No worries, there are plenty of places to eat and shop open year-round. Antiques are particularly well represented in these cute little towns. Charming main streets look particularly picturesque in the fall, when the leaves begin to change color. Another amazing attraction is Eartha, the world's largest rotating and revolving globe, located at the DeLorme headquarters in Yarmouth.

Finally, after you spend some time admiring this supersized globe, head out to Gilsland Farm, an Audubon nature center in Falmouth where you can see earth's bounty close-up. It's the perfect way to connect with the environment before heading back into town for a hot coffee or local brew.

and offers plenty of opportunities to get out and enjoy the sunshine. Outdoorsmen and shopaholics will be equally comfortable vacationing here, which is just one of the many things that makes Freeport so unique.

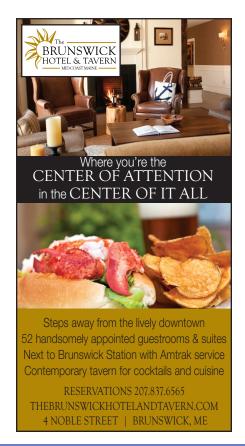

Driving into downtown Freeport, it's impossible not to notice the vast and bustling strip of restaurants and stores, many of which occupy historic homes and buildings. National companies like Tommy Hilfiger and Cole Haan offer great fashion at factory prices alongside a mix of locally-owned boutiques. Whether you are searching for dress shoes or a sundress, you may find a new favorite on Main Street, or just around the corner.

While many visit L.L.Bean to stock up on boots, sweaters and jeans, Freeport is also home to the L.L.Bean Outdoor Discovery School, which offers seasonably priced classes in everything from snowshoeing and fly-fishing to kayaking and paddle boarding. In the summer, L.L.Bean hosts its Summer in the Park live music series, hugely popular events that are free and open to the public. Various themed weekends devoted to outdoor sports and hobbies are offered throughout the year, as are more specific and family-friendly events, like the Freeport Fall Festival, Sparkle Celebration in December, and Flavors of Freeport in February.

Of course, outdoor adventures aren't limited to the center of town. Venture a few miles east and you'll find yourself in the calming green acres of Wolfe's Neck Woods State Park. Beautifully maintained trails meander through forests, into a picturesque salt marsh estuary, and along the coast. It's a great place for bird watching, family outings, and ocean side hikes.

But perhaps a craggy climb is more your style. If so, there is always Bradbury Mountain State Park located close by in POWNAL. Summit this peak and see the sea from an entirely new perspective. Hiking trails to the top range from easy to intermediate level, and true thrill-seekers will love the well-planned system of mountain biking trails. Nothing gets the blood pumping quite like a two-wheeled careen down a Maine mountain!

After all that hiking, biking, and shopping, you'll probably need to fuel up. Foodies will be happy to note that Freeport has plenty of great places to eat—while the freshest of lobster and seafood are plentiful, neither your curry cravings nor your dumpling desires will go unsatisfied. Spend the night in an elegant B&B or iconic New England Inn and wake up ready to explore some more of this vibrant, historic village. •

Maine is a vast state with an abundance of natural, cultural, and recreational pursuits; from the inlets and harbors of the south, to the winding, wooded trails of the north - Vacationland awaits.

Breathtaking coastal scenery and long stretches of sandy beach characterize the picturesque villages of the South Coast region. Old Orchard Beach offers fun for the whole family, with a traditional boardwalk and amusement park. Dine at award-winning restaurants in Ogunquit, and shop at the Kittery Premium Outlets, antique shops, and local boutiques. Four seasons of activities include festivals, cruises. summer theater, and Christmas Prelude.

Farther up the coast, you'll discover delightful villages, glacier-carved peninsulas, and the grand panoramas of our Mid-Coast and Downeast regions. Take in a summer show at the renowned Maine State Music Theatre in Brunswick, view the vintage collection at Owls Head Transportation Museum, and take a ride back in time at the Wiscasset. Waterville & Farmington Railway Museum in Alna. Explore the charming coastal towns of Boothbay Harbor and Camden where lobster boats, sightseeing tours, and quaint shops abound. Experience Maine's natural beauty on the meandering paths of Coastal Maine Botanical Gardens and delve into Maine art at the Farnsworth Art Museum and Wyeth Center in Rockport. Take in stunning views from atop Cadillac Mountain in Acadia, Maine's only national park, and visit the nearby resort town of Bar Harbor which boasts an assortment of acclaimed inns and B&Bs. Create a Two-Nation Vacation with a trip to Nova Scotia, Canada aboard the Nova Star ferry departing from Portland.

From the colorful wild flowers of spring to the stunning white snowscapes of winter, Western Maine is a region of great scenic beauty and outstanding recreational pursuits, from fishing and whitewater rafting to skiing and snowmobiling. For history, visit Poland Spring Preservation Park and Sabbathday Lake Shaker Village, the only remaining Shaker community in the country. And don't miss autumn's colorful show as you explore the other Gems of Route 26 and experience the closest casino to Portland, exciting Oxford Casino, in the nearby Lakes & Mountains Region.

YEAR 2014! HISTORIC HOTELS OF AMERICA

The Premier in Luxury, Comfort and Elegance

Discover a unique historic getaway at The Portland Regency Hotel & Spa, where modern comfort meets old New England Charm.

All of our rooms and suites feature complimentary Wi-Fi, plush bathrobes, flat-screen TVs, iPod docking stereos, room service, luxurious marble bathrooms, and premium bedding. Guests will find lovely architectural flourishes, such as alcoves and turret windows, which have been carefully preserved from the original 1895 armory building. Let us pamper you with nightly turndown service, complete with chocolates on your pillow, and morning coffee or tea delivered directly to your door.

Cross's atermelon Patch Maine Tourmaline

A heart of pink, a rind of green, Held secure by curling tendrils of precious gold.

In October of 1972 the most spectacular gem find in North America, and the largest find of gem tourmaline ever, occurred here in Maine. Notable within this find were huge watermelon crystals, many more than 8" in circumference. From an archival crystal collection held all these years, our jewelers have created this watermelon patch of tourmaline with curling vines of gold.

> Colors, shapes, and sizes vary in infinite and fascinating combinations. For a sampling and preview see our website at CrossJewelers.com We look forward to your visit so that you may select your favorites.

> If you can't wait, (and who could with such a collection?) give us a call.
